JOHN CLARK, of Wisbeach, had the misfortune to lose a pocket book containing $65 on Fair Day. He drew the money from the bank and was going to Strathroy to take up a note that was due. He had the money when he purchased a ticket at the station, but shortly after arriving at Strathroy he missed the pocketbook. There was a retired note in the pocketbook that would identify the owner and enable the finder to return it if honestly inclined. NEW yard wide silks in all the wanted shades, also shot effects.—SWIFT'S. THE concert in Taylor's Lyceum on fair night drew a big crowd. The Jones family, character singers and dancers, made their debut before a Watford audience and were well received. Their many humorous songs and sayings kept their hearers in roars of laughter, and Harold's song "I'm the Guy" fairly brought down the house. Mr. Will Meldrum is an old favorite in Watford and was just as popular this time as on his previous visits. The program was a long one and all were sorry when it came to an end. THE Harvest Thanksgiving Services in Trinity Church on Sunday last were fairly well attended. The interior of the building was profusely and tastefully decorated with flowers, fruit, grain, plants, etc., the work of the young ladies of the congregation. At the morning service the pastor, Rev. S. P. Irwin, preached to the young people. After the sermon over fifty members of the church gathered around the holy table and partook of the sacrament of the Lord's Supper. At the evening service the Rev. Horace Snell, rector of Thornedale, preached an able and inspiring sermon from the words: "When thou hast eaten and art full, then thou shalt bless the Lord thy God for the good land which He hath given thee." (Deut. 8-10.) The discourse was listened to with rapt attention by all present. The music given by the choir at both services was well rendered, and thought by many to be the best heard in that edifice for some years. A large collection was taken up, which goes toward the mission work of the church. PILING goods in stock for the last two months. No room for any more. Come and see the best stock west of London.—SWIFT BROS. LAST SUNDAY Thanksgiving services were held in the Congregational Church. At 11 a.m. Rev. Stevenson, the pastor, preached to an attentive and appreciative audience, taking for his text the words of St. Paul in II. Cor. 9:7, "Every man according as he purposed in his heart, so let him give; not grudgingly, or of necessity; for God loveth a cheerful giver." In the course of his sermon the clergyman said that "the true giver in blessing others will always be a large receiver of blessings." The giver is a

WATFORD FAIR STILL BIGGEST AND BEST

THE THIRTY-SEVENTH ANNUAL SHOW THE BEST OF THE LOT

Immense Crowd of Spectators— Splendid Display in all Departments— SATISFIED EXHIBITORS AND ENTHUSIASTIC PATRONS

The East Lambton County Fair held in Watford on Thursday and Friday, Oct. 3rd and 4th, like its predecessors for the past 36 years, was an excellent agricultural exhibition. People from all sections of Lambton and surrounding counties attend this fair for the purpose of seeing the latest and best in live stock, agricultural products and ladies' work, and they are never disappointed. The weather on Thursday evening was very discouraging, the fine rain that started in the afternoon made the outlook gloomy, but Friday morning opened warm and pleasant, and developed into one of the brightest days of a season that has been somewhat shy on fine days. The arrival of the London Pipers at 8.45 was the signal for the opening of the day's amusement. Their inspiring music, seemed to get everyone interested in the proceedings of the day, and there was no limit to the quantity of music given. At the grounds the show of horses and cattle was large and a crowd of admirers of fine animals was constantly around the ring and stalls. The show of sheep and hogs was not very large but some choice animals were shown. In the fruit and vegetable tents were exhibited some very large and pure vegetables and fruits, especially apples. Some sugar beets, squash, cabbage of monstrous size demanded attention, and the tent was crowded with interested spectators all day. In the main building up-stairs was an excellent display of manufacturers and ladies' work, and there was some very keen competition in this line as a result of the prize list which was published. The platform performance was presided over by the general president Mr. Farrell, and Dr. McGillicuddy, J. F. Elliot, H. Laird and the President had charge of the races, which resulted as follows:—

The local implement men were kept busy showing the advantages of their wares.
Autos were not allowed within the gates. A good idea considering the immense crowd.
Now let's all pull together to make next year's fair still better and more popular than ever.
Exhibitors who note any omission or error in the prize list are requested to notify the Secretary.
The officers and directors were untiring in their efforts to please and give every exhibitor a fair show.
No wet weather insurance this year for East Lambton. Old Probs was in a smiling mood on Friday.
The Watford Silver Band and the London Pipers provided a plentiful supply of good and inspiring music.
John McKeercher made an excellent display of harness and other goods just inside the west entrance.
Decker & McIntosh had an aermotor in operation on the grounds, which came in for a good share of attention.
The hotels did a good business and the employees were kept on the jump furnishing meals and refreshments for the visitors.
Provincial Officer Acton, of Sarnia, was present and helped to keep the track clear of people while the races were going on.

One elderly lady, who has passed her 72nd birthday, took 14 first prizes, 7 second, and 10 third, out of an entry list of forty.
Two pieces of fancy work, with ticket 14 attached, have gone astray. Will the person holding them kindly return to the Secretary.
In the judges' book for light horses the number 58 has got mixed with 88, consequently in some places W. Annett should read S. Shepherl.
Miss Hagle took the prize for Best Lady Driver, and not W. Annett, as mentioned in the prize list on page two. There was a mixup of figures in the judge's book.
The ocean wave was well patronized and furnished amusement for the grown-ups, but was not as popular with the children as the old-time merry-go-round.
The decorations by the merchants and others made the town look quite gay. Flags were in evidence everywhere except on the municipal building and the public school.
If the visitors who remained around the stores getting bargains had gone up to the fair ground the gate receipts would have been augmented several hundred dollars.
The government judges of live stock were loud in their praises of the excellence of the horses and cattle shown, and surprised at the large quantity of stock exhibited.
The cold, drizzling rain that fell on Thursday evening put a damper on the enthusiasm of the directors for the time being. But, oh! What a difference in the morning.
Sarnia and Petrolia sent large contingents and a goodly number also came from London to see the big display and meet old friends. Forest and Strathroy were also fairly well represented.
The committee of directors will meet on Saturday, October 19th, to examine the prize list and make any necessary changes and additions, after which the prizes will be paid by the Treasurer.
The booths did a land office business and had a bunch of money to bank next morning. The sun was excessively hot for October and the heat made good business for the soft drink and ice cream vendor.
There were 34 entries for Swift Bros.' Special for the best penmanship by public school child. Chester Cook won the first prize, and Henry Rivers the second. Principal Shrapnell did the judging.
During the races an accident occurred to Mr. J. Stone, driver of Little Maud. The animal stumbled when turning into the home stretch, and horse and driver rolled completely over. No serious injury was caused.
The crowd was a very orderly one. Not a quarrel or scrap of any kind to mar the day. In the evening a few young bloods got to talking rather loudly, the outcome of slightly excessive interior decoration, but everything ended happily.
There was plenty of opportunity to get rid of your surplus cash on the midway, where there was something to please everyone. The Mamie Ha Ha Snake Charters did a good business but the performance was not very elevating.
Secretary Kenward had one of the busiest days in his life. He was here, here and everywhere supplying desired information and straightening out any little misunderstanding that cropped up. And then he had quite a little chore counting the money in the evening.
Swift Bros.' display of furs, new coats and suits was crowded with admiring ladies, and hundreds were unable to get close enough to see the beauty of the goods shown. Mr. Dimond Swift had charge of the display, and was kept very busy answering questions relative to the goods.
Some of the best dancing ever given at the Watford Fair was that of little Gladys Comber, of London. This year on the platform in front of the grand stand. She was equally at home in horrippe, jig or highland fling and got a hearty round of applause on each appearance. Little Daisy George, though much smaller, was equally as good an entertainer.
T. Dodds & Son's paper bag cooking demonstration attracted an eager crowd. The demonstrator, Mr. Frank A. Smith, illustrated this art of modern domestic cooking and explained the advantages over the ordinary pot and pan drudgery now in use. He also showed how to bone a fowl and make some appetizing dishes by a new method. A McClary range was used for the cooking.
Harper Bros.' display of Mason & Risch pianos attracted considerable attention. Their large show space gave them an opportunity to show and explain the merits of that time and gas-saving make of instrument, and several interested spectators there and then decided that when they purchased a piano it would be a Mason & Risch, the piano with a purity of tone that makes it so much admired by music lovers.
The baby show, as usual, attracted considerable attention, but there were only four entries for the prettiest child. This important event was under the supervision of Director Gilles Monroe, and Mrs. Brock and Mrs. J. D. Moore, of Petrolia, acted as judges. The first prize was captured by Ethel McJennette, the nine month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

All the numbers were well rendered.

MOTHER OF LARGE FAMILY

Tells How She Keeps Her Health—Happiness For Those Who Take Her Advice.

Scottville, Mich.—I want to tell you how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash have done me. I live on a farm and have worked very hard. I am forty-five years old, and am the mother of thirteen children. Many people think it strange that I am not broken down with hard work and the care of my family, but I tell them of my good friend, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and that there will be no backache and bearing down pains for them if they will take it as I have. I am scarcely ever without it in the house.

"I will say also that I think there is no better medicine to be found for young girls. My eldest daughter has taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for painful periods and irregularity, and it has helped her.

"I am always ready and willing to speak a good word for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I tell every one I meet that I owe my health and happiness to your wonderful medicine."

—Mrs. J. G. JOHNSON, Scottville, Mich., R.F.D. 3.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and today holds the record of being the most successful remedy for woman's ills known.

The Summer Rain Fall.

According to the figures compiled by the local observatory in South London, the rainfall during the past three months, July, August and September, has been phenomenal. The figures this year are nearly double those of last year. During the three months of 1912 the total rainfall was 15.13 inches, compared to 8.04 inches for the same months last year. More rain fell in August of this year than July and August together, last year. Also, more rain fell in any of the three months this year than in the months of July and September of a year ago.

Keep your promises, no matter how trifling they may be, if you want people to have confidence in you.
 You need feel no loss of self-respect when you find yourself unable to cope with another man's theme.
 It is wicked to go around with a face which indicates that life has been a disappointment instead of a glorious joy.
 It is an excellent thing that a man's actions should often be so much better than his right to live and play the man.

 A congregation raised the minister's salary from $500 to $600. He objected for the following reasons: "First, you cannot afford to give me more than $500; second, my preaching is not worth more than $500; and, third, I have to collect the salary myself, which has been the hardest part of my labors among you, and had I to collect the additional hundred, it would kill me."

The Largest Described Snake.
 Speaks in his narrative of the journey to the source of the Nile describes the largest snake that has ever been seen by man. "I shuddered," he says, "as I looked upon the effects of his tremendous dying strength. For yards around where he lay grass, bushes and saplings—in fact, everything except full grown trees—were cut clean off, as if they had been trimmed with an immense scythe. The monster when measured was fifty-one feet two and one-half inches in extreme length, while around the thickest portions of its body the girth was nearly three feet."
Looking Ahead.
 It was the first night of a new play. "I say," remarked the author to the manager, "that scene shifter over there is a most peculiar looking fellow."
 "Yes; he's an Eskimo," said the manager.
 "An Eskimo! What on earth made you take him on?"
 "Oh, I thought it would be a comfort to see one happy face if the play turns out to be a frost!"

Farm and Garden

TURKEY GROWING TIME.
 They'll Be Fine Along About Thanksgiving or Christmas Day.
 Turkeys can be grown with less care and attention than any of the domestic fowls except geese. But unfortunately on almost all farms turkeys are allowed the range of the farm, no matter how large, and this causes trouble. In the first place, they are apt to make their nests where they are hard to find, and after the young ones are hatched they will be over too much territory to be good for the little ones before they are a month or two old. After that time unlimited range can be allowed unless they are disposed to go into places where they may come to harm, says a correspondent of Farm Progress.

A FINE SPECIMEN.

 To raise turkeys in the way that causes least trouble and always insures the raising of the largest flock is as follows:
 First fence off with a small meshed high woven wire fence—say seven or eight feet high—several acres of land. It is better if some of the land is covered with brush of almost any sort and, if possible, some open land and running water on it. In such inclosures, if there are good places for them to make their roosts, the turkey hens can make their own nests and sit on their eggs where laid.
 And when they have hatched the hens and young ones can remain in the inclosure and roost there and be fed there till the young ones are three months old. With the same arrangements along these lines we formerly raised large numbers of turkeys at a minimum cost and sold them at a fine profit. After they got half grown and had become edible we trained them to come to the houseyard and roost in a large tree to save them from possible poultry thieves.
 We have always fed our very young turkeys on crumbled hard boiled eggs for a few days and afterward well baked corn bread and a little wheat, then cracked corn and finally whole corn.

THE HOME PARTNER.
 A seldom mentioned but most important member of an agricultural partnership is the woman. If she wasn't on the job to keep the household in order and the food supply coming regularly and plentifully, the present day serious disturbance over the high cost of living would be replaced by a starvation panic that would paralyze, for once she quit the job the hired man and the foreman and the "big boss" would all hit the pike for the nearest town or city in short order.—Long Island Agronomist.

Gleaned From Law Books.
 In the great majority of the states two witnesses are necessary to the validity of the will, in a few states three witnesses are required, and in a few others, where the will is written entirely in the handwriting of the testator, no witnesses are required. Some states require the addresses of witnesses to be inserted after their names, and this is good practice even where not required.
 The law of New York and probably of others provides that each owner of two adjoining tracts of land, except when they otherwise agree, shall make and maintain a just and equitable portion of the division fence between such lands unless one of such owners shall choose to let his lands lie open to the use of all animals which may be lawfully upon the other's lands and does not permit any animals lawfully upon his premises to go upon lands so lying open.

 The public holidays that have become firmly established as such by custom are Christmas, New Year's, Memorial or Decoration day, Fourth of July and Thanksgiving day. These a man working by the month may claim as holidays without affecting his salary, excepting, of course, in cases of necessity where his services are required on such days in order to avoid or prevent loss to the employer.—Breeder's Gazette.

GOLD ON A BIG SHIP

How Bullion In Transit Is Guarded on an Ocean Liner.
LOCKED IN ROOMS OF STEEL.

After the Treasure Is Safely Stowed Away There Is Little Danger of Its Being Stolen During the Voyage. Shipping and Checking the Kegs.
 The natural assumption would be that in the safeguarding of the treasure which the various countries are constantly sending one another by the big ocean liners there would be required the vigilance of many men. This, however, is not generally the case, since, once the gold is stored away in the rooms set apart for that purpose on the big ships and the vessel is well out at sea, no armed guards are necessary.

Taking the specific case of one liner sailing under the British flag, we find that it has two strong rooms, the smaller of the two being in close proximity to the captain's office. This one compartment has no doubt sheltered gold enough to pay the cost of the liner many times over. The walls, the roof and the ceiling are lined with two inch steel plate, and the room contains nothing in the way of fixtures save shelving. The locks, which are of the double variety, are rendered still more secure by steel bars covering the keyholes, and they are provided with massive padlocks. The strong rooms, being in the most frequented portion of the vessel, where persons are passing them at all hours of the day and night, thus receive the best protection, after all. There are two sets of keys, one of which is retained by the agent in charge of the consignment of gold and the other of which remains with the captain.

In the case of the British vessel mentioned there is another and larger specie room, situated next to the provision department. This is about twelve feet in length by four in width. It frequently happens that both strong rooms are filled to their utmost capacity, and on one occasion this liner carried some $50,000,000 in gold bullion packed in small kegs bound with steel hoops.

Gold usually is brought to the vessel on which it is to be shipped the day before the date of sailing, and it is stored away carefully before passengers embark. It arrives at the pier in ordinary trucks under the guard of armed men. The customary method of getting the gold on board is to haul the kegs up an inclined chute to the deck by means of a hoisting engine, but this method is not followed invariably. Sometimes each keg is placed in a sling and carried on board by men detailed for this service.
 The receipt given by the steamship company sets forth that so many kegs have been received for shipment, not for any stated amount of gold to the value of so much. The kegs bear the government seal in many instances, and in such cases, when they have been safely put in the strong room, the iron doors thereof are sealed with government wax, the impression being broken only when the official on the other side comes to receive the gold. The kegs are checked thrice—when they are taken from the trucks, when they reach the gangway and when they are placed in the strong room.

Although no armed guard stands by the strong room, two men watch the room constantly so long as the ship is in sight of land. As a matter of fact, there is little danger of any one stealing gold in transit on a ship. It would be necessary that he should shoulder a keg weighing some 200 pounds and vanish with it without being seen. Masters of vessels declare gold is the safest cargo of any to handle.

The total weight of one consignment of gold shipped by the British vessel in question amounted to something like 28,000 pounds, or sixteen tons, and the freight charges amounted to $12,000, or, roughly speaking, one-eighth of 1 per cent. Specie thus shipped is insured at its full value.—New York Press.

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY. An eminent scientist, the other day, gave his opinion that the most wonderful discovery of recent years was the discovery of Zam-Buk. Just think! As soon as a single thin layer of Zam-Buk is applied to a sore, such injury is insured against blood poison! Not one speck of microbes has been found that Zam-Buk does not kill! Then again, as soon as Zam-Buk is applied to a sore, or a cut, or to skin disease, it stops the smarting. That is why children are such friends of Zam-Buk. They care nothing for the science of health. They know that Zam-Buk stops their pain. Mothers should never forget this. Again, as soon as Zam-Buk is applied to a wound or to a diseased part, the cells beneath the skin's surface are so stimulated that new healthy tissue is quickly formed. This forming of fresh healthy tissue from below is Zam-Buk's secret of healing. The tissue thus formed is worked up to the surface and literally casts off the diseased tissue above it. This is why Zam-Buk cures are permanent. Only the other day Mr. Marsh, of 101 D'Arny Ave., Montreal, called upon the Zam-Buk Company and told them that for over twenty-five years he had been a martyr to eczema. His hands were at one time so covered with sores that he had to sleep in gloves. Four years ago Zam-Buk was introduced to him, and in a few months it cured him. To-day—over three years after his cure of a disease he had for twenty-five years—he is still cured, and has had no trace of any return of the eczema! All druggists sell Zam-Buk at 50c. box, or we will send free trial box if you send advertisement and a 1c. stamp (to pay return postage). Address Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

OVER-WORKED KIDNEYS

Cause. Rush of Blood, Fullness, Dizziness.

J. T. Chetland, the well-known railway engineer of Hamilton, found the strain always resting upon men of his occupation vastly intensified by a tendency of the blood to rush to his head, and often at times when clearness of vision and great steadiness were demanded. Finding some difficulty in bending—a stiffness with pain having settled in his back, it occurred to him that his kidneys might be at fault. This was a happy idea, for by it he not only got rid of the pain but many other troubles as well. I took a full dose of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and was glad to note that some obstruction of the kidneys, which I had lately noticed, was at once relieved. The flushed appearance of my face gave way to a more rational color and there was a perceptible improvement in my appetite. Dr. Hamilton's Pills certainly act splendidly upon the blood, removing heat and fullness and that sort of dizziness that makes a man at the throttle wish when it seizes him that he were elsewhere.

No medicine gives such unquestionably good results for stomach, liver, and blood troubles as Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they are mild, certain, and always curative. Refuse any substitute. All dealers sell Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c per box, or The Catarrhose Co., Kingston, Ont.

SCRAPING AN ACQUAINTANCE

By
HORACE SLATER

When Leonard Tremaine came home from a trip abroad he found that his father had given up his residence in the heart of the city and moved out on to Mount Prospect avenue, where every house commanded a view and every yard was a garden. Leonard reached his new home in the summer, finding the verdure full blown and the surroundings delightful. On the afternoon of his arrival he saw from his window across a hedge that separated his father's place from one beside it a young girl watering some flowers. She being pretty, the flowers being pretty, the grass being green, the sky blue and the clouds white, young Mr. Tremaine, sitting straddle on his chair with his arms resting on its back, showed no disposition to turn away from the charming picture.

The girl showed no evidence of being aware that a young man was watching her. She went on watering her flowers, now and again stopping to pull up a weed or break off a dead twig. Mr. Tremaine was tempted to cough to attract her attention that he might get a better view of her face, but he knew that by doing this he would scare her away. So he kept quiet, enjoying the picture, drawing in its sweetness as the bee sucks honey from the flowers.

At dinner he asked his mother about the occupants of the house next door and was told that a Mr. Thorne lived there with his wife and daughter, Violet. The mother was an invalid, and possibly this was the reason she had not called on her new neighbors, though her daughter appeared to be old enough to perform such duties on behalf of the family.

Leonard Tremaine, who was a quick thinker, regretted that this call, which under the circumstances might have been expected, had not been made before his arrival, for he foresaw that if such duties were relegated to the young lady as soon as she knew there was a young man in the family she might be deterred by maidenly modesty. But Leonard was not a man to worry about a small thing like that, for the girl being in close proximity, he could easily scrape an acquaintance.

A few days after his arrival he was putting on the final touches to an afternoon toilet of immaculate white throughout when, glancing through his window, he saw Miss Violet in the main flower garden behind the house again working among her flowers. Leonard, after a last glance in the mirror, went downstairs, out through a side door and back toward the garage. Unfortunately for him, the hedge between the rear portions of the two places was rather high and cut off the young lady from his view. This was discouraging, for how could he make an excuse to address her when he couldn't see her?

After looking about for awhile in the garage, considering how he might break through what hedged him from the young lady, he went again into the yard and stood looking in the direction he supposed her to be, wondering if he dare look through a break in what separated them, when suddenly a stream of water came over the top of the hedge and deluged him. From a beautifully starched young man he was transmuted into limps. The stream was immediately turned away, but not before the linen it had momentarily rested upon had been made ready to a new laundering.

Mr. Tremaine ran into the house and up to his room, where, while he was getting out of his wet clothes, he saw through the window Miss Thorne in her garden playing a hose on some plants that had been scorched by the sun. She seemed much interested in her work and oblivious to the fact of the reception she had given an admirer who had gone out for the express purpose of making her acquaintance. Leonard paused, with his wet shirt pulled half over his head, and remarked:

"I wonder if she did that on purpose. How could she have seen me with the hedge between us? Yet all she had to do was to turn the stream over it with a good chance to hit me. How unconscious she looks—the very picture of innocence! But you never can tell what a girl is going to do. She was either very careless or she has the impishness of Satan in her. At any rate, she has upset my plan and relegated a spick and span suit to the laundry."

So ended Mr. Tremaine's first attempt to make Miss Thorne's acquaintance. The next time he saw her was at her window putting on a hat with enormous white plumes in it, evidently preparing to go out. Desiring to examine her countenance face to face he ran downstairs, waited in the hall till through a side window he saw her leave her house, then he opened the door and reached the gate just as she passed it. She turned upon him a momentary indifferent glance and pursued her way without showing the slightest concern. Leonard wondered if that were the first time she had ever seen him.

Miss Thorne drove an automobile, played tennis—there was a tennis court in the rear of her residence—and was quite expert at golf. One morning Mr. Tremaine saw her go out in her automobile. It was raining, and the streets were muddy. Leonard took an umbrella and started down the street to make some purchases. Miss Thorne's auto was a white one, and looking ahead, he saw it coming. Thinking that by making a crossing he would meet its driver, he started from the curb and stood waiting for her to pass in front of him. She did so, guiding her auto so near him as to send muddy water from her auto's wheels all over him.

"By Jove," he exclaimed, "she did that on purpose! And now I know she turned the hose on me on purpose too. I'll make her pay for this."

He finished the crossing and stood swabbing the mud off his face, his hands, his clothes, with his handkerchief till it was dirtier than the rest. Then he turned and went home to get into another suit. On the whole, his efforts to make the acquaintance of his next door neighbor were not attended with success. He made up his mind that since his fair enemy could not be reduced by an attack in the open he must work from behind defenses.

Had Leonard not understood the idiosyncrasies of the opposite sex he would have abandoned his efforts either in a huff or in despair. As it was, he prepared to bombard the lady's heart as well as her person. He would not pour water or mud upon her. He had a scheme worth two of that. He hunted the town for a toy mortar to send out ammunition by means of a spring. Not finding anything large enough to suit his purpose, he had one made. After fixing it once he could pull back the spring till it was caught in a notch, drop in new ammunition and fire it again. Having seen that it was good, he brought it home and prepared for action.

From Mr. Tremaine's window he could look down on to the Thornes' rear porch, the latter fronting eastward. Miss Thorne was accustomed to come out on to the porch about 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Sometimes she sat in the garden; sometimes she walked on the porch reading. Early one afternoon Mr. Tremaine gathered his ammunition in his room and, planting his mortar at his window, awaited his enemy's coming. At the usual time she appeared, strolled for awhile over the rear grounds, then, returning to the porch, sank in a cushioned wicker chair, took a book from a table beside her and began to read.

Tremaine, who had his weapon charged and sighted, let loose the spring. He had practiced after nightfall and got the range. Suddenly Miss Tremaine found herself deluged with pansies. She had not recovered from her surprise before another charge reached her, this time lilies of the valley. She glanced up at Tremaine's window just in time to see a couple of dozen fuchsias leave it and descend upon her. Then her fair face broke into a smile. The last and more effective charge consisted of roses. Then Leonard put his head out of the window and, smile for smile, addressed his enemy:

"Pardon me, but I thought I would like to make your acquaintance."
"Very happy, I assure you. Won't you come down?"
"Delighted."

In a few minutes Mr. Tremaine was seated beside his new friend, chatting with her as familiarly as if he had known her for years. He told her that he knew the first wetting she had given him was intentional. For awhile she denied it, but since he was disposed to take it good naturedly she finally confessed, adding that she turned the stream over the hedge at random and happened to strike him. She seemed to regret spattering mud on him, but said she was unable to resist the temptation.

This was the beginning of an acquaintance between Mr. Tremaine and Miss Thorne which continued during that summer on the tennis court, in the garden, anywhere, everywhere on the lady's premises and sometimes at the Tremaines. What the rest of the story will be or whether there will be any more of it is not yet known. Nevertheless its beginning shows conclusively that if a man and a maid live next door to each other the man is no more likely to be observing the maid than the maid is to be observing the man. And in this instance the sterner sex appears to be the gentler. It would never have done for the man to drench the maid with water, though it was perfectly proper for the maid to drench the man. But observe the masculine retaliation. Instead of water he fires peas.

FIRE DANGER AT SEA.

How Flames Can Sweep the Inside of Even a Metal Ship.

The danger from fire on a transatlantic liner is more serious than is generally believed. It is much greater than the danger from collision and is becoming more and more dangerous with the increased outlay upon luxury and display. The main structure of the ship and most of its essential parts are of metal, but many of the fittings, nearly every feature of ornament and every trapping of luxury, are highly inflammable.

No one who has not been aboard the Spanish wrecks at Santiago can conceive how fire can sweep the inside of even a metal ship. Admiral Cervera described to me the experience on board the Teresa in these words: "The second shot that came on board set us on fire. The fire main was damaged. Soon we were unable to cope with the fire. It swept through her from bow to stern. There was not a space as big as the palm of your hand where life could have been sustained. An insect could not have lived on board. We had to get overboard or be burned."

It is true the Spaniards had not cut out their woodwork and thrown overboard all unnecessary inflammables, as we had in the American fleet, but the inflammability of one of their warships was much less than that of a luxurious ocean liner.—Captain Richmond Pearson Hobson in Engineering Magazine.

PINEAPPLE PLANTS.

They Do Not Die After Fruiting, but Reproduce Themselves.

Pineapples do not grow on trees. Imagine a plant four feet in extreme height from the ground to the tip of leaves, a single stalk at the surface, but dividing at once into swordlike blades or leaves, fifteen in number, from the center of which appears a stiff, upright stem, at the top of which is the fruit. This stem is short, and the crown of the fruit when fully grown is a foot or more below the points of the leaves.

At the end of a year and a half from planting each plant produces a single fruit, even as a cabbage plant produces a single head. But the pineapple does not die after fruiting once. Down on the stem below the fruit and among the long, narrow leaves a sucker appears. If allowed to remain this will soon become the head of the plant, and within another year it will yield another fruit. This process may go on for a term of years. In the meantime, however, other suckers will make their appearance.

These are broken off, and when stuck into the ground they put out roots and become other plants. Thus a single pineapple plant may produce a dozen or more others while it is yielding fruit from year to year.

The Intruder.

A certain boat coming up the Mississippi one day during a flood lost her way and bumped up against a frame house. She hadn't more than touched it before an old dorky rumped his head up through a hole in the roof, where the chimney once came out, and yelled at the captain on the roof: "Whar's you gwine wid dat boat? Can't you see nothin'? Fust thing you knows you gwine to turn dis house ober, spill de old woman an' de chill'en out in de flood an' drown 'em. What you don't out here in de country wid your boat, anyhow? Go on back yander froo de co'nfields an' get back into de ribber whar you b'longs. Ain't got no business sev'n miles out in de country foolin' roun' people's houses now!" And the boat backed out—

WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN

Women who suffer with disorders peculiar to their sex should write our Association and receive free the advice of a physician of over 40 years' experience and a skilled and successful specialist in the diseases of women. Every letter of this sort has the most careful consideration and is regarded as sacredly confidential. Many sensitively modest women write daily what they would shrink from telling to their local physician. The local physician is pretty sure to say that he cannot do anything without an examination. Dr. Pierce holds that these wasteful examinations are generally needless, and that no woman, except in rare cases, should submit to them.

Dr. Pierce's treatment will cure you right in the privacy of your own home. His "Favorite Prescription" has cured hundreds of thousands, some of them the worst of cases.

It is the only medicine of its kind that is the product of a regularly graduated physician. The only one good enough that its makers dare to print its every ingredient on its outside wrapper. There's no secrecy. It will bear examination. No alcohol and no habit-forming drugs are found in it. Some unscrupulous medicine dealers may offer you a substitute. Don't take it. Don't trifle with your health. Write to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, President, Buffalo, N. Y.,—take the advice received and be well.

Mr. Hugh McLachlan, of Mosa, complained that water on Townline had been diverted and was now an injury to him. Council agreed to visit locality.

Wm. Shagg, sr., asked that a culvert be put in on 12 sideroad, con. 10, to replace one broken down. Left to Commissioner.

Darvill—Monro, that James Robinson be paid the sum of $6.67, being two-thirds value of one lamb killed by dogs.—Carried.

Monro—Fisher, that Council open as a Court of Revision on the Smith-Patterson drain by-law. The Reeve in the chair.—Carried.

Declarations taken. Twenty appeals.

Mr. Ingram, solicitor for the Canada Southern Railway Co., objected to their assessment. Besides assessment for culvert across their right of way, they were assessed $233.50 for 16 acres of land, while lands adjoining were assessed at $2.30 per acre. If we were assessed as these lands the assessment would be about $40 or $50. We ask that our assessment be reduced to about $100.

F. E. Lovell said, assessment too high, do not use drain, it is only a cutoff and otherwise no good to me.

Henry Ormeron said, ditch costs too much, no one south of railway wants it. I have 40,000 tile in and all drain to 4th con. drain.

Andrew Atchison said, could not use this drain without crossing two farms to the west. I am assessed too high entirely.

Wm. Loosemore said, I do not want drain at all.

Wm. E. Warden said, drain is no benefit to me, the sideroad drain is all I need. I want all my assessment struck off.

Hugh Kennedy said, my 50 acres in 3rd con. were not assessed before. Parts of lot 12, con. 3, are not assessed and yet they empty water in ditch. Lot S half 10, con. 4, is assessed too high. T. H. Lovell gets off too easy.

Hugh Leitch said, drain no benefit to me. Cannot use it.

D. A. McIntyre said, when this drain is completed we still have to maintain the 9-10 sideroad drain. I ask that this drain be referred to another Engineer as Mr. Code has given conflicting reasons. Lands in 9th concession should be assessed.

Thomas Muggan said, drain no benefit, payment for bridge insufficient, would not pay for plank for cover. If more water is brought down, will sue for damages yearly.

Robert Clark said, drain will be of little use to me.

Mrs. M. Coleman said, drain no benefit to me. Should have two bridges.

Oliver Burgess said, I am only allowed $39 per acre for land taken for drain, this is unfair, allow me $50 per acre and I will be satisfied.

J. N. McVicar said, have plenty of outlet without this drain, let those that want it pay for it.

John Hudson said, drain is no benefit to me. Allowance for damages too small.

John S. Elliott said, he was assessed too high.

M. C. Zavitz said, he was assessed for 30 acres to this drain when 15 acres of it formed another way, the balance into Totten drain.

George White said, I am not allowed enough for old drain, should be allowed more. Do not wish to block drain.

Wm. Totten said, water all runs to 9-10 sideroad and I am assessed too high. There should be a drain that they are allowed too much for. I am assessed too much. I am assessed too much.

Fisher—Annett, that Court stand adjourned till 3 o'clock p.m. of Saturday, the 26th October, 1912, and that ordinary business be resumed.—Carried.

Annett—Darvill, that the Clerk be authorized to charge on Collector's roll each of the telephone subscribers, a rate of 50 cents per month, from the time they had connection with Central until 1st September next, when the debentures will be issued and all can start evenly to pay off the indebtedness in 1913.—Carried.

The following estimate of the expenditures for 1912 was submitted, viz:—

To meet grant of $300 to each school section.....	$ 6042 50
To meet amount asked for by country Ward.....	5696 26
To meet amount needed before taxes are levied.....	2000 00
Drainage funds overdrawn.....	2000 00
To amount needed for new bridges and culverts.....	3000 00
To division appropriations.....	1500 00
To gravel for roads.....	1000 00
To officers' salaries.....	1000 00
To Township's share of drainage rates.....	800 00
To special grants.....	500 00
To unforeseen expenses.....	500 00
Total.....	$ 24038 76

By-law to levy the annual rates was then introduced and read.

Monro—Sutton, that the by-law to levy the rates be filed in with a rate of two and one-tenth mills for county purposes, two and three-tenth mills to meet the payment of the $300 grant to each school section, and a rate of four mills for all township expenditures, a total of eight and four-tenths mills on the dollar. That by-law thus filled in be read a third time and finally passed. Carried, read and passed.

Sutton—Annett, that Council do now adjourn, to meet in the Village of Inwood on Saturday, the 26th day of October, 1912.—Carried.

W. G. WILLOUGHBY, Clerk.

"TIS WELL TO KNOW A GOOD THING"

said Mrs. Surface to Mrs. Know-well, when they met in the street. "Why, where have you been for a week back?" "Oh, just down to the store for a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil" and Mrs. Surface, who hates puns, walked on. But she remembered, and when she contracted a week back there was another customer for Electric Oil.

Suburban Obsession.

The grass—I have to cut the grass! Amid the host of cheerless years, That make a round of country life This is the cheerless, by jings! I have the Jacqueminots to spray, The hedges to clip—may, do not scoff— The bean to pole, the peas to hoe, And when I plan an evening off It rains and rains and rains, and then I have to cut the grass again!

But there will come a time all right In some far summer ere I pass When, bent beneath the weight of years, I shall not have to cut the grass. And if at last the summons be Not to some verdant realm of bliss, Bid to dry and bladeless hours, A hotter suburb 'e'en than this, (They say there's one), why, bah and tut! At least there'll be no grass to cut!

—Judge.

An Unfortunate Abbreviation.

Cardinal Gibbons was discussing Gilmore and his band.

"Gilmore," continued the cardinal, "was famous for his playing of Mozart's 'Twelfth Mass.'" On one occasion he played it in a North Carolina town; and next day the local paper announced that he "rendered with great effect Mozart's 'Twelfth Massachusetts.'"—Popular Magazine.

Regularity

of the bowels is an absolute necessity for good health. Unless the waste matter from the food which collects there is got rid of at least once a day, it decays and poisons the whole body, causing biliousness, indigestion and sick headaches. Salts and other harsh mineral purgatives irritate the delicate lining of the bowels. Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills—entirely vegetable—regulate the bowels effectively without weakening, sickening or griping. Use
