

THE EVENING TIMES, ST. JOHN, N. B., MONDAY, MAY 8, 1905

THE EVENING TIMES.

ST. JOHN, N. B., MAY 8, 1905.

The St. John Evening Times is published at 19 and 21 Canterbury Street, every evening (Sunday excepted), by the St. John Times Printing & Publishing Co., Ltd. A company incorporated under the Joint Stock Companies Act, 1885.

THAT NEW BERTH

The question of the dredging for the proposed new steamship berth at Sand Point is one that needs to be settled without delay. It is no light task to construct a pier 300 or 400 feet long in a harbor, where a timber face of so great a height from the bottom must be put up. With timber at hand, and all the free available, it will tax the energies of contractors to complete the wharf and warehouses in time for next winter's business. And we are told by the Canadian Pacific officials that unless there is a new berth their huge new steamers will not be sent here for cargo next winter.

The city waits to hear from the federal government with regard to the dredging. A favorable reply is expected. The construction of the berth is a national as well as a civic necessity, and will not in any way interfere with future arrangements looking to the conversion of St. John into a national port. The city will still continue the situation and be in a position to negotiate. It might be well to remind the government once more of the urgency of the case.

SPECULATIVE ENTERPRISES

The provincial government will, no doubt, look carefully into the proposed solid silver proposition before deciding to guarantee the sum of $75,000. It is, of course, desirable for the government to encourage any project which will advance the commercial interests of the city and province, and we would all like to see an eight-story warehouse erected here if there were a reasonable certainty that it would not be a losing speculation. The fact that the promoters are confident that the province will not be called upon to make good the amount of the guarantee is not conclusive evidence that the scheme is all right. The Central Railway gave to equally rosy dreams a few years ago.

The Times, in common with all the citizens, likes to see money spent for the improvement of the trade of the port, but the government as well as the corporation which it should have some guarantee. If success really depends upon the guarantee of a certain amount, the request is a reasonable one; but there should be some guarantee of success. Speculation, with the limited funds of this province, would not be justified. The too cheerful optimism of politicians sometimes leads to an expenditure which the results prove to have been unwise.

THE PROBLEM OF REFORM

The activity of a number of the clergy here of the city of late in relation to the habits and pleasures of the people, and to the restrictive or prohibitive measures which should be taken for the purpose of reform, has attracted a great deal of attention. Naturally, also, it has by contrast raised another question. Some people think too much, some people violate the law. Some people go to entertainments that should not be tolerated. Accepting all this as the truth, and admitting the existence of much that tends to demoralize the mind inevitably turns from the question to the reformer who makes it, and asks this question: What have you to offer to the people who are suffering this process of demoralization?

Have we quite got away from the idea that a church is a place where we make preparations and receive training for use in another world? Do the churches get in sleep enough touch with the life of today and the problems of today? Do they reach out and down to the lonely and struggling soul that is too much absorbed in the troubles of this world to care very much about the possibilities of the next one? Is religion as preached and practiced regarded as a welcome mandate to love and serve one's fellow men, or as a means of escaping certain disagreeable experiences in the hereafter?

These questions are bound to present themselves to the thoughtful mind whenever it contemplates existing conditions, and especially when religious teachers actively concern themselves with public matters of late in this city.

It is not for a moment contended that they are not acting within their rights, or that evils complained of do not exist; but it is obvious that repression is not effective reform, and that there must be something more. Do the churches afford it? Do they by their atmosphere and practical work appeal to and attract? If not, why? Is it because of too much of what George Eliot styled "other-worldliness?"

Take an illustration. In a city church on a recent Sunday evening the minister preached a sermon on an eschatological subject on which opinion is sharply divided. Those who believed as the speaker believed did not need the sermon. Those who did not so believe would not be convinced by his argument. He did not come within a thousand years of the problems that vexed the minds of his hearers. Possibly to some, who had no problems, the sermon might serve as an intellectual tonic, or stimulate a gentle self-complacency; but to the troubled soul there was no message.

By contrast, let us take another illustration. In another city church the preacher took no particular account of dogmas.

His message was simple, direct, and all embracing. "God is love, and to love is to serve." "The spirit of God is upon every man who loves and serves his fellow man." If all of us in and out of the churches could get close enough to that ideal, the next world would take care of itself, while this one would need less of reproaches, penalties, and the churches have larger congregations, because the members would be in closer touch with each other and with the life around them, while every sermon would be a message of love and a call to service.

The following despatch from Detroit should interest those who object to the possession of an American engineer in St. John: "Dr. George Chene of Windsor and Dr. G. W. Robinson of Scarborough were today appointed house surgeons of St. Mary's Hospital for two years. Dr. Chene is a graduate of Toronto University, the medical and surgical staff of St. Mary's is now entirely Canadian, Dr. McLean, head surgeon, being a native of St. Mary's, and Dr. Moloney, assistant, of Forest, Ontario." There are many doctors in the United States, but here are four Canadian doctors in one United States hospital.

For the information of eager financiers it may be observed that the bond market is dull. The New York Commercial says: "Should it prove true, as a Philadelphia paper asserts is the case, that the underwriters of the $100,000,000 Pennsylvania bond offerings will be obliged to take up the greater part of the issue, the fact would not be surprising, in view of the recent heavy demands of the year for investment funds. The May circulars of the bond houses admitted a certain degree of dullness in the bond market and probably were merely acknowledging a condition which set in some time before."

Concerning the defeat in the New York state senate of a New York City bill providing for eighty cent gas, the New York Commercial says: "There was beyond all question an underlying bond conviction in the senate that each a price rise so low to permit reasonable dividends—and, in consequence, would work an injustice to thousands of innocent investors in local gas company stocks who are themselves advocates of lower gas prices for the product. The expected has happened."

The news of the death of Mr. Geo. McLeod is lamented with general regret. Although living in comparative retirement for a number of years, he is remembered as a prominent figure in the life of the province and the dominion during stirring periods of our history. The death of Mr. S. Hayward, which is announced today, removes one of the most successful New Brunswick wholesale merchants, and a good and worthy citizen.

An exchange observes that an encouraging sign of the times as regards general financial conditions in this country is found in the fact that business failures in Canada during April were 58 in number, and $407,076 in amount of defaulted indebtedness, while in the corresponding month of 1904 there were 91 failures, with liabilities of $981,179.

When the members of the provincial legislature go on a visit to the consolidated school at Kingston, the city should make provision to send the John board of school trustees along with them. Possibly it might result in making them up to a sense of certain needs of the schools of this city, to which they continue to be cheerfully oblivious.

It is announced that accommodation has been booked for 285 members of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association excursion party, which leaves Montreal on June 9 for England, by the steamer "Victorian." The tour of so many energetic business men in the old country should prove of great benefit to both countries.

The present is a time which calls for wise counsels among shipping men and ship-laborers.

COMING TO THE WORK

It is a tribute in itself to any production these Lenten days to see the Grand well filled and the audience much pleased, as was the case at the presentation of "Sweet Clover" last evening. This bright and interesting comedy-drama was new to Chatham, but it made good! All the flattering advance press notices with which it was heralded, the plot is somewhat unique and depicts pleasantly from the threshold path of so many performances. The whole thing is intensely human and satirical in its pathos and sentiment of the audience throughout. The company was an excellent one, and their work was well done—Chatham Daily Times, March 28th. This great company will be at York Theatre week of May 15th.

GRAND DRAWING FOR PHEOBON W. The drawing for Pheobon W. under the auspices of the Shamrock Amateur Athletic Association, promises to be a great success. The prizes are now coming in very fast. All winning tickets are required to be made return, as soon as possible, as the drawing takes place on the 23rd of this month.

CAN WE MAKE YOUR SUIT FOR THE 24TH?

If so it will be thoroughly well made; will fit well; will have proper style, and will cost you from $3 to $5 less than if you order it elsewhere. You'll have to order at once though. You'll be shown a fine assortment of Imported and Domestic Cloths to select from. See our west window.

Men's Suits to measure, $12.00 to $25.00
Men's Pants to measure, $3.50 to $7.00

J. N. HARVEY, Men's and Boys' Clothier,
199 and 201 Union Street.

Chocolate Boots for Children and Misses.

Children's Chocolate Lace Boots, Sizes 8 to 10, $1.35
Misses' Chocolate Lace Boots, Sizes 11 to 2, $1.60

This is a fine kid stock, chocolate shade, spring-heel, Blucher styles, a good fitter, good wearer and a nice dressy summer boot.

The McRobbie Shoe Co., Ltd.

GOETHBURG SYSTEM

Canadian Senate Discussing Its Introduction in Canada as a Solution of the Problem of Intemperance—Two Addresses in Its Favor.

An interesting discussion on the subject of temperance legislation was begun in the senate at Ottawa on Thursday last, and will be resumed on Wednesday of this week. It was introduced by Senator Beatty, Montreal, who favored the following resolution:—"That in the opinion of the senate the British Goethtburg experiment and the establishment of public house trusts in England have materially advanced the solution of the temperance question and of the social reform problem, and that the time has arrived when like experiments should be made and like public house trusts established in Canada." The Montreal Witness thus reports the speech of Senator Beatty: "The senator said he desired to call attention to a social disease which attacked the nation, and which he believed should be dealt with as a matter of public health. He had recently seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the victim open to temptation to intemperance, destroying the mind and memory, destroying the will power, taking away domestic affection, promoting dissension and strife, and often ending in suicide. He had also seen an article by a French gentleman which had given the best view of the social reform problem, and which would give the writer a picture of the ravages of the disease, leaving the

THE EVENING TIMES, ST. JOHN, N. B., MONDAY, MAY 8, 1905.

Tea Sets! Dinner Sets!

Some of your friends may visit you before long. Wouldn't it be wise for you to purchase from us a nice Tea or Dinner Set of Dishes, or a new Toilet Set for your spare bedroom? Good goods and low prices.

F. BURRIDGE, 255 King St., St. John West.

DEATH OF GEORGE McLEOD

Leading Lumber Dealer Passed Away Early Yesterday Morning --- For Many Years He Was Prominent in Politics and Business.

George McLeod, for years one of the most prominent men in New Brunswick as a lumberman, shipowner and politician, died at his home, 81 Orange street, and by his death the city loses a valued citizen, and the province an enterprising and honored man.

About a fortnight ago he was stricken with apoplexy. At first he gave promise of recovering from the attack, but within the past week his condition became so serious that hopes of recovery were practically abandoned. His death removes a man who had long occupied a commanding position in the industrial affairs of New Brunswick, and who, a quarter of a century ago, was regarded as one of the most vigorous and effective political campaigners in the maritime provinces.

He was born in Richibucto in 1835, the son of William McLeod, a leading lumber merchant. He studied law and completed his course but never practiced. Instead he became identified with his father in the lumber business, and was one of the most successful men in the province. He was interested in shipping also, and in one instance owned a large vessel. Mr. McLeod was naturally a wealthy man but in 1897 he met with reverses and he had not been active in business of late years. He at one time owned the largest of the outposts house stands and also the old customs house building, which marked that spot in the anti-confederation days. The building he rented to the government. Later, on the birth of the Dominion of Canada he and other members of the Halifax, who were interested with him in the matter, sold the building and lot to the Canadian government.

Mr. McLeod was particularly active in politics. He supported the late Sir E. T. Tilly during the campaign for confederation in 1874 he entered parliament as the representative for Kent. This was during the Alexander Macdonald administration of which he was a supporter. In the general election of 1882 he was defeated in Kent, but in 1885 he contested the constituency of St. John city against Sir E.

SUNDAY BLAZE

Building at the Corner of City Road and Gilbert's Lane Guttled Yesterday Morning.

Fire broke out in the meat store kept by Leonard O. Peters at the corner of City road and Gilbert's lane about 2 o'clock Sunday morning and practically gutted the shop and the upper floors occupied by Robert Thompson, fireman in the electric light works. The alarm was sent in by a reporter from box 412. While crossing Haymarket square he heard a crash and then saw the shop front a mass of flame. The plate glass front had collapsed and the flames were catching the woodwork of the floor above. No. 4 hose cart was soon on the scene and with the assistance of several I. C. E. employees and the fire department, the fire was quickly directed against the flames. No. 3 hose and engine, No. 4 engine, No. 5 salvage corps and the North End chemical also responded. The chemical hose was taken into the meat house, which is occupied by the owner of the two, Mrs. William H. Hall, her daughter, Mrs. Fraser, her son, Reginald W. Smith and his wife and family. Another hose was also run to prevent spread to the second building.

The premises in the shop was quickly subdued but the fire had a good hold in the upper story and attic and under the eaves and it became necessary to use the axe freely. The stream from the chemical was also brought into the upper story and it became necessary to use the axe freely. The stream from the chemical was also brought into the upper story and it became necessary to use the axe freely. The stream from the chemical was also brought into the upper story and it became necessary to use the axe freely.

The best Starch does the best ironing. Colman's Starch is liked best by those who iron finest.

See that Colman's Name and Bull's Head are on the box.

COLMAN'S STARCH

Large supply free on request from your grocer or from Frank Major & Co., 44 St. Paul Street, Montreal.

GRAND FALLS

GRAND FALLS, May 6.—The Grand Falls and Drummond Agricultural Society met in the school house on the Tobique on Saturday, and transacted important business. The society arranged for the distribution of seed, and will purchase more seed.

Yesterday was observed as Arbor day in the school house in Victoria county. In the morning the pupils sang the national anthem, and the principal, planted a few trees in honor of the day.

William Wilson returned yesterday from Houlton, Me., where he has been all week attending the trial of the Boulanger (or Baker) brothers charged with burglarizing the store in Presque Isle of 8000. Their arrest in Grand Falls was effected by Mr. Wilson, and it will be remembered the prisoners afterwards tunneled through the stone basement of the jail and escaped.

The Boulanger brothers were on Thursday morning and returned to the jail on Saturday. The trial will be held on Saturday.

Bourgeois made a new cutting about 40,000 feet of deal every day, and when the new gang is started, which will be in a few days, the output will be greatly increased. Bourgeois' drive on Little River is making fair progress, and the logs will probably reach the mill within the next ten days. The total cut will exceed 3,000,000.

Boys' camp at St. John men are in town today, guests at the Curious House: R. A. Mitchell, J. B. Andrew, J. H. Scribner, J. B. Kerner, and Frank Mack. The boys of the Royal Bank of Canada, St. John, are making arrangements for a week's appearance at the company in the open house here. There is some talk of the young folks organizing a golf club, and using part of the commons for the links.

Last year an effort was made to organize a Civilian Rifle Club in Grand Falls, but it failed. Some forty names of applicants were obtained, the matter fell through. This year, Mr. Mayor A. J. Macdonald, in order to perfect the organization, obtain the rifle and ammunition, and secure a suitable range for practice. J. C. Boutwell, who has been in Houlton the past two months, where he has business interests, arrived home last night on a visit to the links.

Extensive forest fires have been burning in this neighborhood during the past few days. Last night a fire broke out in the forest near the mill, and it was extinguished. During the night the thunder storm of the season was experienced.

The recent rain has caused the river to rise several feet, and the prospects for successful stream-draining are brightening.

About 2,500 Yards of GENUINE JAP SILKS, 33c. Yd.

Special Sale Tomorrow.

1,000 Yards of Habutai Plain White Silk, 27 inches wide, and excellent for Waists, Graduation Dresses, Children's "Sunday best," etc., - - 33c. Yd.

1,200 Yards White Corded Silk and Black Corded Silk, "straight" colors, and therefore especially desirable. A very pretty cord effect, - - 33c. Yd.

Some Colored Lace-Striped Silk, in a most delightful combination of Stripes, Rich Waistings, Costume Lengths, etc., also - - 33c. Yd.

Sale Starts Tomorrow IN THE SILK ROOM.

MANCHESTER, ROBERTSON, ALLISON, LIMITED.

King Street. Germain Street. Market Square.

S. ROMANOFF, 695 Main Street.

THORNE BROS. Style. Quality. Price.

We are always in the front rank—the Latest, the Very Best and Lowest.

A Good Derby Hat is the Semi-Dress or Business Hat. Price $1 to $3. Soft Hats $1 to $3 each. Stetson's Hats $5. Our celebrated "Scott" Hat, the pride of London and New York, $4.00 each. See one of our windows for Children's Headwear.

THORNE BROS., Hatters & Furriers.

REMINGTON BILLING MACHINE

Is a Revelation.

It prints in two colors. Invoicing done faster than by the pen and always legible. Does correspondence equally as well. The following well-known firms in this city use them:

- Baird & Peters, (3)
- W. F. Hatheway & Co.,
- Geo. E. Harbour,
- T. H. Estabrooks,
- Ames Holden & Co.,
- J. M. Humphrey & Co.,
- Andre Cushing & Co.,
- Cushing Sul. Fibre Co.,
- James Fleming & Sons,
- T. B. Barker & Sons,
- Canadian Drug Co.,
- W. H. Thorne & Co.,
- Schofield Bros.,
- Maritime Nail Works,
- James Pender & Co.,
- International Harvester Co.,
- of America,
- Scovill Bros. Co. (Oak Hall)
- W. H. Hayward,
- F. E. Williams & Co.,
- St. John Business College.

Write them and see what they say about it.

BAILEY & PATERSON, 30 Main Street.

Have You Seen Them? WHAT?

Carpets dusted or renovated by our process!

Nothing Used by Us to Injure the Nap or Pile of your Carpet

This We Guarantee.

The Most Delicate or Worn Carpet Can be Cleaned Without the Slightest Injury.

Just try us on one is all we ask.

UNGAR'S Laundry, Dyeing and Carpet Cleaning Works, Ltd. Phone 68.

DRESSY MEN will find interesting shoe studies here. Our stock is new and bright and includes all the LATEST STYLES AND SHAPE IN FASHIONABLE FOOTWEAR. We invite inspection and promise satisfaction if you purchase.

W. SEARLE, 359 Main St., North End.

GILBERT LANE DYE WORKS. LACE CURTAINS cleaned and done up EQUAL TO NEW. Carpets cleaned and beaten. Dyeing and scouring.

MACAULAY BROS. & CO., City Agents.

DR. A. A. STOCKTON

His Speech Described As Parliamentary Debating of the Highest Level.

Dr. Stockton's speech on the autonomy bill has won him his high place among the members of the House at Ottawa. The Toronto News correspondent was greatly impressed, and wrote as follows to his paper: "Then came Mr. Stockton, the junior Conservative member for St. John, N. B. Mr. Stockton is a large, well-made man, with white hair and beard. He has been unwell for some time past, and for days at a time he has been House without saying a word. Always attired in a formal frock coat, he looks the embodiment of gentle dignity, asking only a peaceful life. But when Mr. Stockton has made a speech, as now and again he has, members turned in their seats and reported and gallery members lunged over the railings, realizing that a man who had the parliamentary power was there—not the lawyer, not the journalist, not the professor, but the parliamentarian, the man who touched the keynote of the House of Commons, who did not appear to it, or leave it, but simply commanded its attention by his debating power. He has a bell-like voice, which makes him heard in the farthest gallery, and disdaining long notes and quotations, he transfers his argument straight from his own mind into the intelligence of his auditors. "In a few minutes after the rose last night the Opposition benches were full all about him, and the government side steadily filled up. It was the tribute of both sides to the man who debates in the manner common to the best traditions of parliament in its best days. The gentlemen disappeared and for an hour he subjected the government, and particularly the minister of justice, to a steady stream of argument, enveloped by bursts of the most stinging sarcasm. "Mr. Stockton's speech was parliamentary debating of the highest level as regards matter, manner, and confidence, and the House recognized this by an outburst of cheers when he took his seat."

The correspondent of the Montreal Witness said:—"Dr. Stockton's speech stirred his party friends to a high pitch of enthusiasm, and was undoubtedly one of the most spirited and well-thought-out contributions to the debate."

WELCOME SNOW

It Is Worth Millions to the Farmers of the Canadian West.

A Winnipeg despatch of May 4th said: Winnipeg today has been transferred from summer to winter, and the city is covered with a mantle of the "seasoning," and the rapidly increasing in thickness. The fall of snow has been heavy, and the storm is expected to be general, and to be relieved with gladness by the farmers of the West as moisture was badly needed. The thermometer is above the freezing point, and the snow is soft. The soil very dry and seeding is completed. The snow is worth millions of dollars to the Canadian northwest.

ONTARIO CROPS

The Season Is Distinctly Backward All Over the Province.

Correspondents of the Toronto Globe in the chief centres of the province send reports covering the condition of fall wheat, pasture and clover lands. From the reports it appears that the season is distinctly backward all over Ontario, that there is a serious lack of moisture in most localities, but that the wheat and clover crops are in the winter in very good condition. With rain and sunshine from the present time onward there will be a much better fall wheat crop than was harvested last year, when great areas were ploughed up because of winter killing.

FISHERY REPORT

NOVA SCOTIA. Digby—Herring plenty, lobsters fair, cod, hake and haddock scarce. Yarmouth—Cod and halibut very plenty; lobsters plenty, haddock scarce. Lunenburg—Cod and halibut fair; haddock—Fair; catches of cod reported. Antigonish—Cod and halibut fair. Musquodoboit—Lobsters plenty. Antigonish—Lobsters fair, cod and herring scarce. Guysborough—Herring fair, lobsters scarce; no cod or haddock. West Arichal—Light catches of lobsters reported. Arichal—Herring, haddock and lobsters fair. St. John's—Herring and lobsters fair. Discoups—Herring very plenty; lobsters fair. St. Ann's—Herring very plenty. West Arichal—Herring and lobsters fair. St. John's—Herring and lobsters fair. Discoups—Herring very plenty; lobsters fair. St. Ann's—Herring very plenty.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND.

Malpeque—Herring and lobsters fair. NEW BRUNSWICK. Esquimaux Pt.—Herring plenty, lobsters fair. QUEBEC. Port Daniel—Herring plenty, lobsters fair, no cod. Herring and lobsters fair. Newport Point—Herring very plenty; lobsters fair. Grand Paboe—Herring plenty, lobsters fair. Grand River—Herring plenty, lobsters fair. Percé—Herring fair, lobsters scarce, no cod. Pt. St. Peter—Herring and lobsters fair. All branches dull at Port Hood, Margaree, La Tour, Rivy, Bay, Port Malouin, Whitehead, Salmon River and Steadford de la Pêche. Hail obtainable at Pannuro Island, St. Mary's Bay, Queensport, Bras D'Or Lake and Cole Harbour, Guysboro Co.

Young fishermen—"I tell you, marriage takes all the poetry out of a fellow. 'Tisn't it a failure."—Town and Country.

Hints to Pipe-Smokers.

Always fill a pipe with a little light in the center of the bowl and light this. Get a good light, but have it all out in the middle. Try this with Rainbow Cut Plug Smoking Tobacco and you will find it works well.

USE OF ALCOHOL

It Is Steadily Increasing in Hospitals—Simply a Poison.

Sir Frederick Treves, surgeon to the King, addressing a temperance meeting lately, declared that alcohol is simply a poison which ought to be under the same restrictions as other poisons. This is no new doctrine, Sir William Hall, who was the King's physician, in addressing a temperance meeting, has declared that alcohol is a poison which ought to be under the same restrictions as other poisons. This is no new doctrine, Sir William Hall, who was the King's physician, in addressing a temperance meeting, has declared that alcohol is a poison which ought to be under the same restrictions as other poisons.

OBITUARY

Alexander Read

Chatham, May 6.—Alexander Read, one of Chatham's oldest and most respected citizens, died early this morning. Decades of years in his old age and had been in failing health all winter. Roy Fairbank, of the Royal Bank of Canada, St. John; Harry Matthews, of Montreal, and Mrs. C. C. Bruce, of St. John's (N.B.), are his grandchildren.

Captain Harvey

Pilot R. Cline, sr., has received word from Bombay to the effect that Captain Harvey, of the Essex-Clanfer boat Etoile, died there last month from injuries. No particulars were given. The Etoile was in St. John's last December under Capt. Harvey's charge and loaded here for South Africa. Mate McAfee is a St. John man. No particulars as to how the captain was injured were received.

Thomas O'Brien

Thomas O'Brien died Saturday at the residence of his sister, Mrs. Julia Kane, 20 Sheriff street. He had been ailing for some time. Mr. O'Brien was forty-nine years old and unmarried.

Mrs. Joseph Greer

The friends of Joseph Greer will regret to hear of the death of his wife, which occurred on May 4 at Lynn (Mass.). Mrs. Greer was Miss Elliott, sister of Wm. G. Galt of this city. Besides her husband she leaves four children and three brothers.

NEW BRUNSWICKER KILLED

James A. Barford, of Bethel (Me.), was killed on the Grand Trunk railway on May 7th. It is thought that he was struck by a engine a few miles west of Bethel. A bottle containing a pint of alcohol was found near the body. Barford was lying on the track, and the engineer and fireman on the engine noticed him, but not in time to stop the engine before they passed over him.

Barford was a native of New Brunswick and went to the States 15 years ago. He had been married and about a year ago divorced.

PHYSICIAN'S PNEUMONIC TALK. For sale at drug stores, or a simple bottle free of charge if your druggist does not have it in stock. Write Dr. A. A. Stockton, 170 King Street West, Toronto, Ont. Dr. Stockton has written on the Cause and Prevention of Pneumonia and Bronchial Troubles and is a daily in Dr. Stockton's extensive practice.

ROBINSON'S CONFECTIONERY 177 1/2 Union St. Choice of Confectionery. 177 1/2 Union St. Choice of Confectionery. 177 1/2 Union St. Choice of Confectionery.

GOOD BREAD & PASTRY & CAKES ROBINSON'S CHOICE OF CONFECTIONERY 177 1/2 Union St. Choice of Confectionery. 177 1/2 Union St. Choice of Confectionery.

THE EVENING TIMES, ST. JOHN, N. B., MONDAY, MAY 8, 1906

USE OF MOTOR VEHICLES
They Are Taking a Leading Place in Commercial Transportation in Great Britain and on the Continent—A New and Important Industry.

(From Rubber World for May.)
The April issue of the British Trade Journal (London) contains a singularly comprehensive article on "Motor Vehicles for Commercial Purposes," in which the production of such vehicles is referred to as an important new British industry.

We Paid $100,000
For Ligozone, Yet We Give You a 50c. Bottle Free.

We paid $100,000 for the American rights to Ligozone; the highest price ever paid for similar rights on any scientific discovery.

Kills Inside Germs.

Ligozone is not made by combining drugs, nor is there alcohol in it. Its virtues are derived solely from gas—largely oxygen gas—by a process requiring immense apparatus and

MORNING NEWS IN BRIEF.

Local

William E. Mason, who has been manager of the St. John branch of the Canada Permanent Loan Co., has been promoted to the management of the company's business in the province of Saskatchewan, with office in Regina.

Mr. Mason will leave for the west in a few days. Both morning and evening services were held at the St. John church yesterday afternoon.

There was good music at the meeting in the Seaman's Institute last night. A concerted session named G. Ash addressed the men.

Track Master Geo. Seaman of the L.C.R., accompanied by a large gang of men and the steam crane from Moncton yesterday, laid the new track for the new bridge to replace the old one.

At the meeting of the local council of women Saturday afternoon, a resolution was adopted for the purpose of making arrangements for charitable institutions was effected.

The finance committee of the city council Friday afternoon voted $20,000 for the General Public Hospital. They also voted the Alma House grant of $17,000 and will ask the government to vote the council the power to appoint the commission that manages the alma house.

A pleasant surprise party was held on Friday night at the home of W. J. Curry gathered, as he was leaving the neighborhood, to express their regret at his departure.

During the month of April 3,700 bonded entries were filed at Ottawa. Regina leads the list with 1,111, or nearly double that of April last year.

Fourteen steamers reached Montreal yesterday, thus opening the shipping season with a brisk traffic.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier is to become a member of the C.M.B.A. and will be inaugurated at Ottawa by Rev. Fr. Burke of P. E. Island.

A passenger named Dutton on the Dominion Line steamship Ottawa, which arrived in Montreal yesterday from Liverpool, committed suicide on the way out.

There is an epidemic of measles in Hamilton, Ont., which shows no signs of abating. One hundred and fifty-nine new cases were reported during the past week, and it is estimated that at least one hundred more cases have not been reported.

COOPER'S THATCH (Minneapolis Tribune).

"May the saints preserve ye," said an old woman who had been a quarter by Representative Cooper, of Wisconsin, "an' may every hair of your head be a candle to light your way home."

"Well, it won't be a candle-dogged torchlight procession at that," Mr. Cooper said, "as a man of your age should be able to find his way home."

COAL
Scotch Hard Coal and American Hard Coal.

Scotch Soft Coal, Broad, Cove, Springhill, Old Mine Sydney, Reserve and Pictou.

GIFFON & CO., Smythe St., (near North Wharf). Tel. 676.

Dry Hardwood—Sawed and Split $2.00 per load and upwards.

GEORGE DICK, Foot of Germain St. Telephone 1114.

ABERDEEN HOTEL

Home-like and attractive. A temperance house. Newly furnished and thoroughly renovated.

A. C. NORTHOPE, Proprietor. CLIFTON HOUSE, 74 Princess Street, and 114 and 143 Germain Street, St. John, N. B.

Royal Hotel, 41, 43 and 45 King Street, ST. JOHN, N. B.

W. E. RAYMOND, H. A. DOHERTY, Proprietors.

Victoria Hotel, King Street, St. John, N. B.

D. W. MCCORMICK, Proprietor.

THE DUFFERIN, E. LeROI WILLIS, Proprietor.

KING SQUARE, St. John, N. B.

PROFESSIONAL G. G. CORBET, M. D.

159 Waterloo Street, St. John, N. B. Electrical and X-Ray Treatment. Telephone 614.

FRANK P. VAUGHAN, ELECTRICAL ENGINEER AND CONTRACTOR.

5 Mill St., St. John, N. B. Telephone No. 319.

WOOD'S PEPPERMINE, The Great English Remedy.

It is a positive cure for all forms of Croup, Whooping Cough, Sore Throat, Hoarseness, Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, and all other ailments of the Throat and Lungs.

THE 2 Popular Brands of SCOTCH WHISKIES

Buchanan's "Special Quality" and "Black and White."

Telephone Subscribers. Please add to your Victoria.

FOR SALE. One 2500 lbs Howe Scale suitable for warehouse use.

E. S. STEPHENSON & Co., Machinists Nelson St., St. John, N. B.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the first general meeting of the shareholders of John E. Moore & Co., Limited, will be held at the office of John E. Moore & Co., in the City of St. John, N. B., on the sixth day of May next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon.

IS THERE A MATTER TO WHICH YOU THINK PUBLIC ATTENTION SHOULD BE CALLED? TELL THEM ABOUT IT.

RAILROADS. INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

On and after SUNDAY, Nov. 20, 1904, trains will run daily (Sunday excepted) as follows:

TRAINS LEAVE ST. JOHN, N. B. 8-Express for Halifax and Moncton, 7:00 6-Mixed train to Moncton, 6:30 4-Mixed for Moncton and Point de Chene, 18:15

TRAINS ARRIVE AT ST. JOHN, N. B. 7-Express from Sussex, 9:00 10-Express from Moncton, 18:50 8-Mixed from Moncton, 18:40 2-Express from Halifax, 18:40 1-Campbellton, 17:40 10-Express from Moncton, 17:30 11-Express from Moncton, 17:30

As the LOWEST ONE WAY FIRST CLASS FARE FOR THIS ROUND TRIP, April 1st to May 1st, 1906, is $12.00, return until May 2nd, between all Stations, Montreal and East.

CANADIAN PACIFIC Easter Excursions.

General Public Rates. Tickets on first, April 20th, to May 1st, 1906, for the lowest one way first class fare to Montreal plus one way return to St. John, N. B., between all Stations, Montreal and East.

For further information apply to W. H. O. MACKAY, St. John, N. B., Agent of the Railway.

ROYAL HOTEL, 41, 43 and 45 King Street, ST. JOHN, N. B.

W. E. RAYMOND, H. A. DOHERTY, Proprietors.

CLIFTON HOUSE, 74 Princess Street, and 114 and 143 Germain Street, St. John, N. B.

Recently Renovated Throughout. Special attention given to summer tourists.

ABERDEEN HOTEL, Home-like and attractive.

A temperance house. Newly furnished and thoroughly renovated.

A. C. NORTHOPE, Proprietor. CLIFTON HOUSE, 74 Princess Street, and 114 and 143 Germain Street, St. John, N. B.

Royal Hotel, 41, 43 and 45 King Street, ST. JOHN, N. B.

W. E. RAYMOND, H. A. DOHERTY, Proprietors.

Victoria Hotel, King Street, St. John, N. B.

D. W. MCCORMICK, Proprietor.

THE DUFFERIN, E. LeROI WILLIS, Proprietor.

KING SQUARE, St. John, N. B.

PROFESSIONAL G. G. CORBET, M. D.

159 Waterloo Street, St. John, N. B. Electrical and X-Ray Treatment. Telephone 614.

FRANK P. VAUGHAN, ELECTRICAL ENGINEER AND CONTRACTOR.

5 Mill St., St. John, N. B. Telephone No. 319.

WOOD'S PEPPERMINE, The Great English Remedy.

It is a positive cure for all forms of Croup, Whooping Cough, Sore Throat, Hoarseness, Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, and all other ailments of the Throat and Lungs.

THE 2 Popular Brands of SCOTCH WHISKIES

Buchanan's "Special Quality" and "Black and White."

Telephone Subscribers. Please add to your Victoria.

FOR SALE. One 2500 lbs Howe Scale suitable for warehouse use.

E. S. STEPHENSON & Co., Machinists Nelson St., St. John, N. B.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the first general meeting of the shareholders of John E. Moore & Co., Limited, will be held at the office of John E. Moore & Co., in the City of St. John, N. B., on the sixth day of May next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon.

SUNDAY SCHOOL POWERFUL SERMONS

Meetings in St. David's and the Douglas Avenue Christian Churches Yesterday.

The second annual Sunday school tour under the auspices of the New Brunswick Sunday School Association was opened yesterday afternoon in St. David's Presbyterian church.

Rev. Dr. Bechman said we do not as a rule appreciate our blessings till they are taken from us.

Since Eden the battle between God and man has been in progress and the hosts of God are gaining ground, and Christ holds dominion over sin.

It is not time for us to close up our ranks and attack the foe in such a vain and unheroic way.

The Philistines saw only Goliath; but David looked up and took his power from God and was victorious.

The new pastor of Calvin Presbyterian church, Rev. Allan Stewart Reid, B. A., D. D., preached powerful sermons at his first service.

At that time we thought that this was "about the limit," but we knew not the prolific resources of the town we live in and the inhabitants thereof.

At that time we thought that this was "about the limit," but we knew not the prolific resources of the town we live in and the inhabitants thereof.

At that time we thought that this was "about the limit," but we knew not the prolific resources of the town we live in and the inhabitants thereof.

At that time we thought that this was "about the limit," but we knew not the prolific resources of the town we live in and the inhabitants thereof.

At that time we thought that this was "about the limit," but we knew not the prolific resources of the town we live in and the inhabitants thereof.

At that time we thought that this was "about the limit," but we knew not the prolific resources of the town we live in and the inhabitants thereof.

At that time we thought that this was "about the limit," but we knew not the prolific resources of the town we live in and the inhabitants thereof.

At that time we thought that this was "about the limit," but we knew not the prolific resources of the town we live in and the inhabitants thereof.

At that time we thought that this was "about the limit," but we knew not the prolific resources of the town we live in and the inhabitants thereof.

At that time we thought that this was "about the limit," but we knew not the prolific resources of the town we live in and the inhabitants thereof.

At that time we thought that this was "about the limit," but we knew not the prolific resources of the town we live in and the inhabitants thereof.

At that time we thought that this was "about the limit," but we knew not the prolific resources of the town we live in and the inhabitants thereof.

At that time we thought that this was "about the limit," but we knew not the prolific resources of the town we live in and the inhabitants thereof.

At that time we thought that this was "about the limit," but we knew not the prolific resources of the town we live in and the inhabitants thereof.

At that time we thought that this was "about the limit," but we knew not the prolific resources of the town we live in and the inhabitants thereof.

At that time we thought that this was "about the limit," but we knew not the prolific resources of the town we live in and the inhabitants thereof.

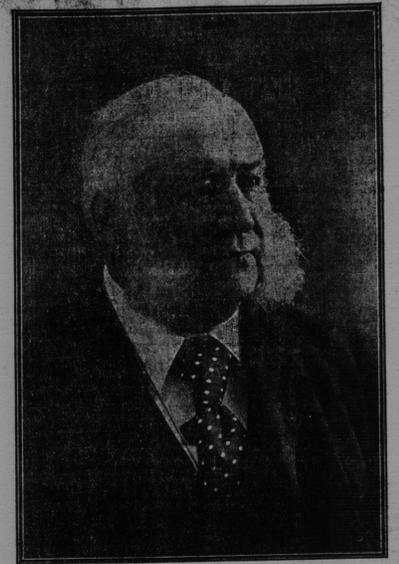

THE EVENING TIMES, ST. JOHN, N. S., MONDAY, MAY 8, 1905.

CALENDAR.
Of Honor and Temperance of N. B.
Wednesday, May 3, 1905 every Tuesday
Thursday, May 4, 1905 every Tuesday

NEWS FROM NORTH END

Minor Notes
Alfred Durrant, of Quebec, is the guest of Harry Warner, Main street. Mr. Durrant has recently returned from a trip to Southern California, where he went on account of poor health.

THE LATE GEORGE McLEOD

BRETHREN IN UNITY

Aid. Lewis and Aid. Macrae in a Tiff at This Morning's Meeting.
An illustration of the deep and abiding affection which the members of the city council hold for each other, and the utter harmony prevailing between the members of that body was afforded at the meeting of the water and sewerage board this morning.

THE DEATH OF S. HAYWARD

One of the Best Known Wholesale Merchants of St. John.
Profound regret was universally expressed today when it was learned at noon that S. Hayward, president of the S. Hayward Company, had passed away.

HALIFAX IS DETERMINED

To Deprive St. John of the West India Service.
OTTAWA, Ont., May 6 (Special).—Mr. Pickford, of Halifax & Black, who has got the shipping service between Halifax and the West Indies, is here today interviewing the representatives of St. John and Halifax in regard to the proposed change in the sailing, which will cut out St. John and two or three islands in the West Indies.

A RAILWAY DISASTER

Express From Halifax Is Off the Track, Engineer White Under the Engine.
Word was received at the I. C. R. office, here that train No. 25 left the track at Evans' siding, midway between Dorchester and Sackville. All the cars left the track except a pullman. The engineer is pinned under the engine. No one else is hurt.

MORE HOPEFUL ABOUT THE LOGS

Reports from Up River—An Unsavory Case in the Police Court.
FREDERICTON, N. B., May 8 (Special).—Mrs. Charlotte Thompson was arraigned in the police court this morning, charged with keeping a disorderly house. Evidence was taken and the case will be resumed tomorrow.

VERY SUDDEN DEATH

Patrick Ryan Died of Heart Failure on Brussels Street.
Death came suddenly to Patrick Ryan, an aged resident of Gilbert's Lane, shortly before nine o'clock this morning.

THE ANTWERP STEAMER

HALIFAX, N. S., May 8 (Special).—Steamer Norden from Antwerp and St. John's, Nfld arrived here at noon today. The vessel left here today for St. John to save two weeks to Montreal.

MONTREAL STREET RAILWAY

MONTREAL, May 8 (Special).—The proposed issue of $1,000,000 bonds by the Montreal Street Railway has been postponed for the present.

POLICE REPORTS

An overcoat, found on Curran street, awaits an owner at the Central police station. The police report a dangerous hole in the sidewalk on Prince Wm. near Britain street.

PERSONAL INTELLIGENCE

Rev. C. P. Hamilton, of Central Nocton is in the city today. Harold Hatfield, formerly of this city, but late of Amherst, leaves tonight for New York.

SILKIN OPPORTUNITY

In view of the predicted "ilk summer" a sale of genuine Japanese silks is being held by M. R. & A. Ltd. are today advertising a sale to commence tomorrow when plain white, plain black and colored silks are to be the attraction. Read the low price in the advertisement.

Local News.

Steamer Mantinea arrived at St. Lucia Saturday from Norfolk.

Only one man sought protection at police headquarters last night.

Battle line steamship Triba arrived at Harbour yesterday from Savannah.

Battle line steamship Pyra called from New York for Miramichi yesterday (Sunday).

James Farris of Fredericton, arrived in the city today on the Atlantic express.

Frank Milligan has been promoted to be captain of the St. David's Marine Corps, owing to the resignation of William Malcolm.

Henry Peterson was the only drunk brought in by the police on Saturday last. He was in court this morning and sentenced to a fine of $4.

The adjourned meeting of St. John District Lodge No. 1, O. T. W. will be held in the Omega Hall, Germain street, Tuesday evening the 9th inst. at 7.30 o'clock sharp.

The Holy Ghost and the yacht Cocoon is still at anchor in port at the west end. All day yesterday the strangers held services on board the vessel. There is nothing new to report.

If you relish first-class butter, and would like to get it at a saving call at W. A. Carter's store, Prince William street. We will give you the good kind and you are welcome to test before you buy.

The funeral of the late Thomas O'Brien, took place this morning from his sister's residence, Sheriff street. The body was taken to St. Peter's church, where Rev. Father Bergman, conducted a burial service. Interment took place in the Catholic cemetery. There were no pallbearers.

Annie Taylor, Annie Burns, Clara Morrison and Henry Forbes, charged with fighting together on Charlotte street Thursday afternoon, were in court this morning. They were found guilty and remanded till this afternoon. Morrison deposited $20 for his re-appearance.

There were no new developments in the case of the ship laborer's demand for higher wages. The men are working at the new rate of 40 cents an hour. The matter will be fully discussed tomorrow evening at the meeting to be held in the Board of Trade rooms.

Our lady readers will notice with interest the grand reduction sale announced in the advertisement of Mackay Bros. & Co. in this evening's Times. This firm has not wasted all the season has passed to make this great reduction on this season's tailor made costumes for ladies, but take this early date for clearance sale.

The Epistolar minister held their regular weekly meeting this morning. There was a good attendance of the ministers at the various churches. Epistles were read and sermons preached. Rev. Dr. Spence of Ottawa, who preached in Fairview yesterday, was present as was also Rev. Dr. McLeod of Fredericton.

The Methodist ministers met in weekly session this morning in Ontario church parlors. Nearly all the churches were represented and suitable business transacted. President Hamilton who had been so long absent, attending the conference gave an account of his trip there. Rev. Mr. Hayward reported 10 members received into Fairview St. Methodist church yesterday.

DEATH OF HIRAM T. GIGGEY

Hiram T. Giggey, who for the past ten years had been mate on the steamer Magie Miller, died this morning at 7.30 o'clock. Mr. Giggey had been in poor health for the past six months with heart failure, and was very low about three weeks ago. He was thought to be improving, and his sudden demise this morning will be heard with much regret by his many friends.

Mr. Giggey was 49 years of age, and leaves a wife and brother to mourn their loss. The funeral will take place on Wednesday.

RUMOR OF STRIKE

It was reported this morning that there was a strike threatened among the laborers employed by Messrs. Mackay and McVoy in the new water works extension. It is stated that the men demanded a 25 per cent. raise, and that they would go with Messrs. Mackay. It is thought probable that any such demand was made on the contractors. It is thought that the men would not be so easily intimidated, and that they would not be so easily intimidated.

MACAULAY BROS. & CO.

Great Bargains in Ladies' Tailor-made Costumes. SALE COMMENCES TODAY.

The Waists, Jackets and Skirts of these Costumes are newest up-to-date cut and finish, all made from fashionable Tweeds and Cloths, and just the pick of this season's styles.

We have not waited till the close of the season to make this great reduction sale, but take this early date to clear our whole stock of Costumes, and give buyers an opportunity to secure these suits at great reductions during the height of the season.

$9.85 for $13.00 Costumes; $10.75 for $15.00 Costumes; 13.25 " 18.00 " 18.25 " 25.00 "

$20.75 for $28.00 Costumes. Over 50 to select from. Come promptly to the sale and secure your size in Costume.

MACAULAY BROS. & CO.

The Attractions of Our Stores Are Their Low Prices. D. A. KENNEDY, 32-36 King Square.

Follow the crowds to this sale of Dry Goods. Nothing like the values ever offered in this city. Every dollar's worth of Goods Must be sold during the next three months.

Great Bargains for Tuesday: White Lace Curtains; Ladies' Fashionable Corsets; Great Dress Goods Sale; Men's Shirts and Drawers, 75c. per suit; Men's $1 Regatta Shirts for 75c; Needles, Elastics, Buttons, half price; Muslin Frilled Curtains, 60c. pair; Floor Rugs, 25c-35c, 50c. each; Steel Safety Pins, 2 cards for 3c; 25c. Men's Bras for 19c. pair. Big Sale of Cashmere Hosiery.

SILK REMNANTS

We are going to sell all our Black and Colored Silk Remnants at Half Price. The lengths range from half yard to five yards in length. Any persons who can make use of Remnants of Silk will do well to inspect this lot.

THEY WON'T LAST LONG. Colored Wool Henrietta. Regular 65c. goods, 44 inch wide, at 50c. per yard, in Cardinal, Scarlet, Pale Blue, Brown, Fawn, Riseda Green, Moss Green, Pink, White Cream and Black.

For House Gowns, BLOUSES, CHILDREN'S DRESSES, and general wear there is nothing better. Fcy Braid Trimming and Allover Laces in great variety. At

ROBT. STRAIN & CO., 27 & 29 Charlotte St.

GLOBE CLOTHING STORE

Important Sales Now in Progress. Men's Fancy Worsted Suits from $8.00 to $12.00. Men's Stripe Tweed Suits " 5.00 to 8.00. Men's Mixed " " 6.00 to 10.00. Men's Black Worsted Suits " 8.00 to 15.00.

Special attention called to the way these Suits are made and Trimmed. All Suits Tailor Made. GLOBE CLOTHING STORE, 7 and 9 Foot of King Street. F. A. CASSIDY, Supt.

SKIRTS. SKIRTS.

This is the best line of Skirts we have ever offered you. We guarantee every one to be a perfect fit and make. They are all new and up-to-date materials and style. They are all goods you want and at prices you'll pay.

Black Skirts, seven and nine gore, some plaited; also Flaring Skirts, trimmed with pipings of same material and buttons. $2.50, $3.50, $3.65, $3.75, $4.75. Colored Skirts in navy and light fancy materials, suitable for summer wear. $3, $3.25, $3.45, $3.95. Misses Skirts in Fancy Cloths, tucked and trimmed with buttons. $2.15 and $2.25.

SHARP & McMACKIN, 335 Main Street, North End

You Are All Interested

People moving would do well to give us a call. Our goods and our prices are right. Our special lines will interest you. Why not give us a call and save at least ten per cent?

CHAS. F. FRANCIS & CO., 241 Charlotte St., 72 Mill St.

A Special Sale of Dishes TOMORROW.

All Dishes at REDUCED PRICES during this sale.

PEOPLES' DEPT. STORE, 142 Mill St.

Best Value Ever Offered. We make the $5.00 Gold crown best

Teeth without plates $5.00 Gold crown in the city. Gold fillings from $1.00 Silver and other fillings from 50c Teeth Extracted Without Pain, 15c.

Consultation FREE The Famous Hale Method. Boston Dental Parlors, 40-42 State St., D. M. MERRILL, Prop.