THE SIKHS IN CANADA

The Times has received a copy of The Aryan, published in Victoria, B. C., to champion the cause of the Hindus in Canada.

There is a suggestion of Oriental shrewdness in the selection of the title of this journal. It reminds the English reader of the common ancestry of the Hindus and Europeans; and, though the time is very remote when the founders of the Hindu race dwelt together in Central Asia, the fact remains that the Hindu is not a Mongolian, and recent being bracketed with the Chinese and Japanese.

But the editor of appeal to his fellow British subjects. He quotes this assurance given by the late Queen Victoria: "We hold ourselves bound to the natives of our Indian territories by the same obligations of duty which bind us to all our other subjects."

Still another reason is given for the appeal in behalf of the Sikhs in British Columbia. It is the record of their service at the time of the Indian Mutiny, and since that in British India, in Asia and in Africa.

Moreover, Sir Andrew Fraser, who knows India so well, has said that Canada's treatment of the Sikhs is outrageous.

The Aryan points out that a Japanese has only to show $50 on coming to Canada, while a Sikh, a British subject, must show $200. Yet the Sikhs today have $2,000,000 invested in British Columbia, and have proved themselves capable of quick adaptation to the conditions of life in Canada.

They ask now that they be permitted to bring their wives to this country.

Dr. Sunder Singh, the special champion of the Sikhs in Canada, points out that they are not like other people in India—their idea of God is different. He says: "The home life of the Sikhs approaches the home life of the Christian more than any other religion in the east, according to Mr. Macauliffe, who has made a life-long study of the Sikh religion. He has even advocated the British government fostering the Sikh religion in India." Again Dr. Sunder Singh says: "The Sikhs are a very law-abiding people. They have served under the British flag in Tirah, Tibet, Afghanistan, the Sudan and China, and are at present serving near the northwestern frontiers of India and Persia. The question which the Hindus in Canada want decided immediately is that their wives and children be allowed to enter this country just as all the other immigrants enter. Even the Japanese and Chinese are allowed to bring in their wives and children. The same applies to Italians, Greeks, Syrians, Doukhobors, etc."

The Aryan quotes Rev. Dr. John Wilkie of India as saying in Toronto, in reference to Canada's Hindu policy: "We are playing today upon the top of a powder magazine."

Anything that tends to sever the bond that holds India as a part of the British Empire should be taken seriously. The bond holding India today is the confidence the Hindu has in British fair-play and justice. The standing army of 200,000 is made up mainly of stalwart Sikhs, who, if they were to rise up tomorrow, could sweep us out of the land." Dr. Sunder Singh declares that Canada's action is shaking this confidence in British fair-play, and asks: "Is there any process of law or regulation which can be directly or indirectly used to strip a loyal British subject of his inherent right to travel or dwell in another part of the British Empire? If treatment of the Sikhs in Canada is helping, in fact, fanning, the unrest in India."

It must be said that in the presentation of the case the Aryan marshals strong arguments. One cannot consider them without a feeling of sympathy for his point of view, and a feeling that the appeal for British fair-play to British subjects cannot lightly be thrust aside.

Here's hoping that February will behave better.

The revenue of Canada continues to show a large increase, a further indication of continued prosperity.

The following from the Ottawa Journal might be applied to some other cities: "You may hack down expenses, and cut off a mill, but by New Year's we'll find we're overdrawn still."

The separate school question threatens to cause a rupture between the Ontario and Quebec factions in Mr. Borden's following. He sowed the wind, and the whirlwind is coming.

More than 1,200 immigrants are en route to St. John. They will go west. The time must soon come when the east will get its share. To that end the energies of those having influence and authority must be bent.

There is said to be some talk of adding another story to the jail. It may be hoped that nothing of the sort will be considered at present. There ought to be some way of providing a prison farm, and until that matter is dealt with the other can wait.

Today's civic election contest in Montreal is being waged with great bitterness. A group of dissociated aldermen who were defeated in 1910 are again seeking office. A Citizens' Association has named them and denounced them, and called upon all good citizens to vote against them. The majority of the newspapers are also opposed to these men, and the outcome of the struggle will be awaited with great interest.

It may yet be necessary to send a civic delegation to Ottawa to help Mr. Hazen make up his mind about Courtenay Bay. The winter is passing, and there is no sound reason for delay in making the announcement of the government's intention.

The mere fact that some millions of dollars will be spent at St. John in development work would not in itself indicate rapid growth, but along with this there is coming a general development of the whole province, which will very materially help to build up this city. City and province will advance together.

A German newspaper attacks U. S. Senator Knox as a bitter enemy of Germany. These German editors are very fierce persons this winter. The gains made by the Socialists appear to have ruffled their temper. One of them wants the Kaiser to declare war on general principles and locate the enemy afterwards.

The challenge of Sir Wilfrid Laurier in relation to the South Renfrew election will appeal to the people generally as fair and reasonable. "We ask no favors," observed Sir Wilfrid. "If the government wants to oppose Mr. Graham, let it do so. But we ask fair play. We ask them to play the game fairly. We ask them to give him what is his right, the chance of election at the hands of the electors."

The Standard this morning gives a list of prospective candidates for commission-erships. It includes the names of seven aldermen and an ex-alderman. The citizens who voted for a change in the form of civic administration will probably also vote for a change in the administrators. At all events, they should give no pledges to candidates at this stage. St. John wants the new system inaugurated by five of her very best men, who have only the city's interests at heart. It should be possible to get them.

The strike in Lawrence, Mass., seems likely to end soon, as a result of the determined action of the state authorities. Two deaths have already resulted from the conflict between the strikers and his lieutenant are in jail. It is amazing how quickly a state approaching anarchy can develop in one of these factory towns which has a large foreign population. The Lawrence affair will doubtless go on the record as another strike that failed because the strikers were not wisely directed.

In a Bulletin issued by the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa, Mr. Arkel, the assistant live stock commissioner, has this to say about Denmark: "It is a recognition of fact that compared with Canada, in the production of milk and bacon, the Danes are at a disadvantage through rate of rent for land and through cost of feed. Denmark, too, is a very small country, (about as big, taking the point of view, as the Baltic islands, as New Brunswick), and yet she has been able to obtain the best of the argument in competition for trade with Great Britain. The enterprise of the government in co-operation with the farmers has made this possible, and an income of millions of pounds annually has consequently resulted to the country."

The late Hon. B. F. Pearson was a man whose delight it was to deal with large business concerns and projects for development. He was not always successful in his ventures, but he was always busy at his task. He was not an old man when the end came, but he had accomplished much, and his death is regarded as a public loss. Mr. Pearson was descended from a distinguished family of loyalists. He received a good education, and began the practice of law, but the allurements of the more active world of business soon drew him away, and he became identified with the promotion of industrial enterprises, not only in Nova Scotia but in Mexico, the West Indies and South America. He was successful in politics, and as a publisher of newspapers. Withal he made a wide circle of personal friends, who sincerely regret that he has passed away from life.

WINTER MORNING.

(By M. B. Randall, in the Canadian Magazine.)

Hail, Morn, all white unweathered, and crowned with grace Of the soft-fallen snow! Through windless night, Unhasting, and with ease, from its great height

Each winged flake sits settled to its place; And each with each conspired to change the face Of things familiar. Now the morning light

Reveals a world transformed to our sight; Wherein of what we know is not a trace. The flush of dawn, through a bewildering haze, Its filmy draped transparencies doth bring;

And trees so lately black to wintry death Of leaves, are blossoming as if 'twere spring; And all renewed seems life, in this new world Of crystal purity, upon the earth.

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE

Few people are careful enough in regulating the clothing to meet the changes of temperature. And until more attention is given to dressing suitably there is little chance to check the increase of the great white plague.

By unduly exposing the throat and chest, by wearing thin shoes, by insufficient protection to the body, by passing quickly from overheated rooms to the chilly outdoor air-cold air are contracted and too often neglected until serious developments arise.

Avoid colds by every means possible, and if so unfortunate as to contract a cold, check it quickly by using Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

The reason is not far to seek. Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is no mere cough mixture. It is a medicine of thorough and far-reaching action on the human system.

It is not a mere relief for coughing, but a positive cure for the cold itself. It loosens the irritated inflammation, soothes the irritated bronchial tubes, and brings about thorough cure.

HE HAD IT. Two weary troops met after a lengthy separation, and sat down to compare experiences. "Where yer bin?" asked one. "Course yer ain't!" replied the other. "I've been laid up with influenza." "Influenza? What's that?" "Well, I don't know that I can exactly explain it. It takes all the fight out of yer. You feel sort of tired like. Don't seem ter want ter do anything. Why I've had that disease for the last twenty years," exclaimed the first speaker, "but this is the first time I have ever heard its name." Woman's Power Over Man Woman's most glorious endowment is the power to awaken and hold the pure and honest love of a worthy man. When she loses it and still loves on, no one in the wide world can know the heart agony she endures. The woman who suffers from weakness and derangement of her special womanly organism soon loses the power to sway the heart of a man. Her general health suffers and she loses her good looks, her attractiveness, her amiability to awaken and hold the pure and honest love of a worthy man. Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N.Y., with his power and prestige as a woman, has prescribed and cured many thousands of women. He has devised a successful remedy for woman's ailments, the assistance of his staff of able physicians, has prescribed and cured many thousands of women. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a positive, specific for the weaknesses and disorders peculiar to women. It purifies, regulates, strengthens and heals. Medicine dealers sell it. No honest dealer will advise you to accept a substitute in order to make a little larger profit. IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and strengthen Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

NOTED SURGEON STORM CENTRE

Sir Victor Horsley Stands Out Against 25,000 Confreres

SUPPORTS LLOYD GEORGE LAW

His Career One Triumph After Another in His Profession—Active Advocate of Teetotalism and Has Published Book on It

(Times Special Correspondence)

London, Jan. 29.—Sir Victor Horsley, probably the foremost of British surgeons and formerly one of the most popular, is at present one of the most exercised among the members of his profession, for he has had the courage in the face of the active opposition of a large section of the medical men of the country, to come out openly in support of Lloyd George's insurance law.

Already 25,000 doctors have declared they will not serve under it and there are undoubtedly thousands of others who, making no declaration of their views, are nevertheless opposed to the sections of the new law which apply to their profession, and require men to give cheap treatment to those insured by the government.

Sir Victor has received many honors and titles during his busy life that the initials that he can place after his name almost exhaust the alphabet. He is the son of J. C. Horsley, a member of the Royal Academy, known as "Clithero" Horsley because he refused to paint from the nude. In 1883 he passed his first examination as a medical student and since then he has never failed to pass a test.

He became a pioneer in the field of brain surgery and his name is world-wide fame when he accomplished the first successful operation for the removal of the section ganglion.

Since then he has gone from one triumph to another. Patients flocked to him from all parts of the world and he became one of the wealthiest of English practitioners. Now he lives in Cavendish Square, the most fashionable second-hand "doctors' London"—that slice of the city owned by Lord Howard de Walden and including Harley street and Wimpole street.

He is an active advocate of teetotalism and published a book called "The Human Body" which attracted wide attention. He has also taken a prominent part in the defense of vivisection.

GOSSIP OF THE LITERARY FOLK

C. K. Chesterton, Writer, is Bulky Constable of Beaconsfield

A MILITARY AUTHORITY

Sir Frederick Maurice Was Pre-eminent in Military Theory and the Brains of Most of British Expeditions of Last Half of 19th Century

(Times Special Correspondence)

London, Jan. 27.—How would you like to be arrested by G. K. Chesterton? Many English admirers of the author of "The Napoleon of Notting Hill" would not mind it, but the thing is quite practicable. You have only to go down to Beaconsfield, the Buckinghamshire town which has been Mr. Chesterton's home for the past two years, and sing in the high way and bye-ways, when it will be the author's duty to arrest you.

I can vouch for this, for when motoring through the streets of Beaconsfield recently, the following official announcement, written large on a notice-board on the side of a cottage, met my eye:—"The justices have given peremptory orders to the parish constable and other peace officers of the district, to apprehend all vagrants, beggars and wandering minstrels within the limits of this parish."

Now, strange as it may seem, the parish constable of Beaconsfield is no other than G. K. Chesterton. He was elected to the office, I believe, actually by popular vote, though it may have been by vote of the parish council—a year or more ago. It would be a beautiful thing to see Mr. Chesterton "apprehending" a strolling minstrel, or even a beggar or a vagrant.

The probability is that the prisoner would go free after being entertained by his captor, and Homer's laughter from the latter, at the nearest inn, and soon after would serve either as the subject of one of Chesterton's paradoxical essays or as the central figure of one of his topsy-turvy stories.

By the way, should anyone whom Mr. Chesterton desired to arrest, resist, the author presumably would sit down on him, when all resistance would be ended, for, as you may have gathered from his pictures, Chesterton is surely the "greatest" of British writers, in bulk, if not in intellect.

MEN'S FURNISHINGS DEPARTMENT.

most treasured was the Chesney gold medal bestowed on him in 1907 by the Council of the United Service Institution, and which only he presented one before, to Captain A. T. Mahan.

If Sir Frederick Maurice had an established reputation on how to make war, Norman Angell, author of "The Great Illusion" is gaining one on how to end it. Angell, who is the manager of a London newspaper in Paris, is now on a short visit to London, and a few days ago made a remarkable speech showing how the modern complex relations of the countries of Europe.

Angell's speech showed that he was more familiar with his pen than with his tongue, and for the most part he spoke haltingly but he brought forward some novel and vivid points. Conquest, he declared, is no longer a profitable business. "Modern wealth has become intangible—you cannot steal it to any great extent." This he showed by a frank example. Thus, if Germany seized the Bank of England, the only result would be that its German equivalent would have to close its doors.

Finally, in these days of wars and rumors of wars, it was pleasant to find him so fully on the subject. "Hard working," he said, "and the hardest part of hard working, hard thinking, will lead finally to a European peace as secure as the peace that now binds the five nations within the British Empire." The reason that he gave for this was that in time, we should cease to be an affair of passion, as the nations learn self-control, a lesson that he firmly believed they would learn sooner than we expected.

"Oh, I don't know," said the American. "I guess we can better that. Why in my camp in the Rockies, when I go to bed I just lean out of my window and call out: 'Time to get up! wake up!' and eight hours afterward the echo comes back and wakes me."—Ladies' Home Journal.

A CONVENIENT ECHO.

An American and a Scotchman were walking one day near the foot of one of the Scotch mountains. The Scotchman, wishing to impress the visitor, produced a famous echo to be heard in that place. When the echo returned clearly after nearly four minutes, the proud Scotchman, turning to the Yankee, exclaimed: "There, now, ye canna show anything like that in your country."

"Oh, I don't know," said the American. "I guess we can better that. Why in my camp in the Rockies, when I go to bed I just lean out of my window and call out: 'Time to get up! wake up!' and eight hours afterward the echo comes back and wakes me."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Nine young women teachers, because of the fear of a depletion of school forces due to leave year, sent affidavits to the superintendent at Ogden, Utah, swearing that they will not marry during the year 1912. They were promptly elected.

Without Extra Cost What Would You Most Like in Your Own Home?

An attractively furnished home adds greatly to your domestic life. You can make your house as cozy as you desire without it costing you one cent. By the Asepto plan you can get all kinds of house furnishings, clothing of every description, china, cut glass, silver-ware, jewelry, watches, boots and shoes and hundreds of other articles free.

We would like to talk with you personally of the Asepto Factory to Family Plan.

It is simply a matter of changing to a more economical way of buying your household supplies.

It is possible for you to get free as a premium from us any article you may select whether we are carrying it in stock at present or not.

FOR INSTANCE

Suppose you desire a piano, we do not sell pianos but we can arrange to enable you to get one as a premium, or any other selection, say a fur lined coat or a handsome set of furs. In fact we will arrange to supply you with any article you may name. If it is high priced you had better start at once. Come in and talk the matter over with our Mr. Gray at the store Corner of Mill and Union Streets and you will then understand how easy it is.

REMEMBER: that the first consideration with us is quality, that our price is no higher than that charged by any reliable dealer and in addition you save 20 per cent. on all purchases made in our store and you will see by article 2 in this ad. how it is possible for us to do this.

There is no Mystery About Our Premium Plan.

We manufacture about 600 lines of our own and they are the goods that we are forcing the sale of. To sell these goods by the usual plan is to send away travelers and carry on expensive advertising, etc. which will cost over 40 per cent. We have discontinued all advertising except what applies to our store, and are taking our travelers to the office of the assessors, and let the purchaser of goods from us 20 per cent and making the other 20 per cent ourselves. Is this not a good business proposition?

On lines that we sell that are not of our own manufacture, we give the consumer about all of the profit, through our coupons, but we do this in order to have in our store sufficient lines of steady consumption to enable a family to secure coupons fast enough, to enable them to get many articles of value in a short time free. So you see that our plan is the only one that really solves the cost of high living and still gives us a living margin.

Many years ago Mrs. Trainer's husband died, and two years ago Mr. Shanahan's wife died. Mr. Shanahan came east and looked up his former lover, and they were married in this city. The promise of thirty-five years ago was again sought, and the wedding set.

MORNING LOCALS
William Higgins, colored, who was arrested here on a charge of assault, is wanted in Kentville, where he escaped from the jail while awaiting trial on burglary charge. Chief of police Davis of Kentville came after him yesterday and returned with the prisoner this morning.
The rector, wardens and vestrymen of St. John's church were hosts at a pleasant reception in the church schoolroom last evening. A pleasing programme was rendered, refreshments were served and the members of the congregation were given the opportunity to inspect the recent church improvements.
The C. P. R. liner Empress of Britain, Captain Murray, from Liverpool, is bringing over 200 passengers to this port, and the Lake Michigan from London and Antwerp has close to 300.
The carpenters and Joiners' Union decided last evening to contribute to the expense of carrying out the suit of a British Columbia carpenter, under the workmen's compensation act, to the privy council. It was reported that the contractor for the new government wharf at West St. John, will pay $3 a day when he starts work in the spring.
Ralph Preston, of 294 British street, employed in Simms' brush factory, was taken to the hospital last night, with his arm nearly severed, it having been caught in machinery in the factory yesterday.
It was recommended yesterday at a meeting of the building committee of the county council that another story be built on the jail. Should this plan be adopted bonds will have to be issued to provide money. Some of the members of the committee are in favor of establishing the jail on farm rather than enlarge the jail.

Try This Home-made Cough Remedy
Costs Little, But Does the Work Quickly, or Money Refunded.
Mix two cups of granulated sugar with cup of warm water, and stir for a minute. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (fifty cents worth) in a 16-ounce bottle; then 't' the Sugar Syrup. Take a teaspoon every one, two or three hours. You will find that this simple remedy has hold of a cough more quickly than anything else ever used. Usually ends a spasm-torn cough in 24 hours. Sore throat, too, for whooping cough, croup, chest pains, bronchitis, and other throat troubles. It stimulates the appetite and slightly laxative, which helps and eases a cough.
This recipe makes more and better sugar syrup than you could buy ready made for $2.50. It keeps perfectly and costs less.
Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in quinine and all the natural pine elements, which are so healing to the membranes. Other preparations do not work in this formula.
This plan of making the syrup with sugar and sugar syrup (or strained honey) proven so popular throughout the States and Canada that it is often imitated. But the old, successful formula never been equaled.
Guaranty of absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded, goes with this. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not send to The Pinex Company, Ont.

FARMING DOES PAY

How the President of the Nova Scotia Association Has Made Things Go

President Woodworth, who is acceptably conducting the meeting of the Farmers' Association in Yarmouth is a fine example of the Nova Scotia farmer, who has applied scientific methods successfully to his calling. Starting with practically nothing he is now one of the most prosperous farmers in the province.
He made his first start in life as a teacher, holding a B. license, in 1875. He taught and studied for five years and saved enough money to buy a small farm, which he started in life. He bought a small farm of twenty-five acres, in 1888, paying therefor $200. He planted fruit trees and proved the farm generally and made a good living. His farm is now valued at $8,000. In 1891 he bought a larger tract of 20 acres of bush land and fifty acres of old run-out hay land. Mr. Woodworth planted 1400 apple trees, and the orchard property is said to be worth $600 an acre. He has paid his way through life and has now a snug bank account of $5,000, while his father's farm, which ten years ago was worth $3,000 is now valued at $2,000.
Mr. Woodworth's experience should answer the question: "Does farming pay?" During the past year he has received $4,000. He has 215 boxes of choice fruit for display purposes by the Canadian Exhibition last season.
In addition Mr. Woodworth has brought up a family of ten children, all of whom he has taught at the agricultural college this year. Although Mr. Woodworth is an up-to-date, progressive and enlightened farmer, and is thoroughly enthusiastic over the agricultural prospects in Nova Scotia.

PRESENTATION TO MR. KYDD

A pleasant incident was observed at the office of William Downie, general superintendent of the C. P. R., yesterday afternoon, when the departure of G. A. Kydd, chief clerk to Mr. Downie for some years, was marked by a presentation of mementoes. Mr. Kydd was presented with a watch and chain which he received at the hands of Mr. Downie, as a tribute from the staff. Last night a young general superintendent, L. Atchinson, the new chief clerk, J. Brennan, claims acquaintance with Mr. Kydd, and expressed regret at the departure of Mr. Kydd and the latter responded graciously.
Miss Catherine Convery, who had been nurse in the employ of the family of George H. Earle in Philadelphia for fifty years, left her savings, amounting to $4,000 to buy a house for the care of the children. She had attended them all from the time they were born and said she wanted them to remember her.

HAD VERY BAD COUGH.

Tickling Sensation in Throat. Could Not Sleep at Night.

A bad cough, with that distressing, tickling sensation in the throat, is one of the most aggravating coughs a person can possibly have.
Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup will quickly stop that tickling in the throat, which causes the dry cough that keeps you awake at night, for the simple reason that it is so rich in the healing virtues of the Norway pine tree, it cannot help but do otherwise.
Miss C. Danielson, Bowman River, N.S., writes: "Last fall I had a very bad cough and a tickling sensation in my throat. It was so bad I could not sleep at night, so I went to a druggist and told him I wanted something for my cold and he advised me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup which I bought and after taking one bottle I was completely cured. Let me recommend Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup to anyone who suffers from a cough or throat irritation."
Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is put up in a yellow wrapper; three pins tear the trade mark; price 25 cents. Manufactured only by The P. M. Millburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

WAS SO RUN DOWN

COULD NOT DO ANY WORK. Thought She Was So Far Gone Nothing Could Cure Her.

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS Made Her Strong and Healthy.

Many women get run down, and are unable to look after their household duties, owing to their nervous system becoming unstrung, and when this happens, the heart starts to work in sympathy with the nerves. In Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills is combined a treatment that will cure all forms of nervous disorders, as well as act on the heart itself. Mrs. F. McFadyen, Brookfield, Sask., writes: "It is with the greatest of pleasure I write you stating the benefit I have received from using Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. This spring I was so run down I could not do any work, and one day a neighbor advised me to try your Pills. I told her that I thought nothing could cure me, as I was too far gone. But she told me to get a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, which I did, and before I had finished them, I began to improve and when I had finished the one box I was as strong and healthy as any person. QUEEN MARY AS HER OWN MILLINER

Her Majesty Proficient in the Making of My Lady's Head Wear

LONDON SOCIETY NEWS

Queen Mother's Only Piece of Jewelry Miniature of King Edward Set With Black Pearls—Gossip of Canadians in England

(Times' Special Correspondence)
London, Jan. 30.—Many people are wondering whether or not Queen Mary will take more kindly to the rather larger kind of hat which she has been wearing in India.
"Her hat pins are one despair," said one of her ladies-in-waiting to me the other day: "I must confess they suit her face and her hair-dressing admirably, but their lack of style is deplorable. You know, really, if she were stylishly and smartly dressed, she would be quite a good-looking woman."
"Very few people are aware that her hats, if not actually trimmed entirely by herself, are always made and these who needle and thread and alters it. As a girl, she trimmed all her own hats for everybody wear. Her mother, the Duchess of Teck, gave her a small allowance which had to cover such minor items as these, and the shop in Kingston where she was wont to make her purchases as a girl is still in England.
"The general effect of the queen-then Princess of Wales—suggested a hat-trimming competition for the men of the party, which she included her husband and the late King Edward. Queen Mary applied the materials and the men completed their hats. Their son, the Marquis of Stafford, discovered that King George had won the first prize. He himself was so much pleased that he insisted on wearing the hat for quite a long while, much to the disgust of his small sons and daughters. King Edward's attempt was adjudged to be so awful that it was not nearly considered."
The Queen Mother
Though Queen Alexandra has not modelled one stitch of her mourning—she is in deepest black from head to foot—she has been busy in sewing little for the strict retirement in which she hid herself after the death of King Edward. "Just now she is at Sandringham," "her grandchild—her son, the Duke of Devonshire, is devotedly attached—during the absence of her parents, and she has just given orders for her favourite room at Marlborough House to be re-decorated. "The only piece of jewelry that she wears is noted with joy by her intimate friends and attendants, as a sign that the first sharp bite of winter has not yet set its teeth in the soft skin of her face. When she first returned, there after leaving Buckingham Palace, she could hardly bear to stay very long in the rooms where she had spent so many happy years as Princess of Wales. "The wall-paper, curtains and carpet are an extremely pretty and delicate shade of grey. Here and there in a sofa, cushion, vase, or some of the draperies, there will be touches of silver, white and a little black, to prevent it being too monotonous. Although it will be a charming, restful room, and, besides, we make the best possible background for Her Majesty's valuable collections of old silver and cut glass, and the masses of violets which are always found in her apartment. It is said that these neutral tinted rooms are to be extremely popular this season. "The only piece of jewelry that Queen Alexandra has allowed herself since the death of her husband is a bracelet containing a beautiful and like miniature of His Majesty. The picture is set in a circle of exquisite black pearls, which the queen herself took the greatest pains to match, and is fastened to a plain band sometimes of black lid and sometimes of black velvet with a black gem-stone set for anything in the way of gold or silver the queen mother will not wear. "This quaint idea has set a fashion among some of the widows of the day, who have had similar miniatures of their husbands made to wear on their wrists. "The agent-general, Doctor P. Pelletier, is a widower and the duties of hostess in London for the present province fall upon Mrs. Beynon, who is well fitted by training for such a sphere. A daughter of the late M. U. Thibaudet of Quebec, she is a member of an old French Canadian family which has been associated with the province for many generations. She is a widely travelled woman and her journeys have led her extensively over Europe and America. She is much interested in politics and philanthropy. Among other visitors are: H. B. Pennington, of Winnipeg, and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. P. Parker of Toronto, who are at the Curran Hotel. Incidentally it is interesting to note what an increasing number of socially prominent Canadians now stay in strictly West End hotels rather than in the Savoy, the Waldorf, the Cecil, and those whose names of Montreal friends call "down town." "The only piece of jewelry that Queen Alexandra has allowed herself since the death of her husband is a bracelet containing a beautiful and like miniature of His Majesty. The picture is set in a circle of exquisite black pearls, which the queen herself took the greatest pains to match, and is fastened to a plain band sometimes of black lid and sometimes of black velvet with a black gem-stone set for anything in the way of gold or silver the queen mother will not wear. QUEEN MOTHER'S ONLY PIECE OF JEWELRY

Miniature of King Edward Set With Black Pearls—Gossip of Canadians in England
(Times' Special Correspondence)
London, Jan. 30.—Many people are wondering whether or not Queen Mary will take more kindly to the rather larger kind of hat which she has been wearing in India.
"Her hat pins are one despair," said one of her ladies-in-waiting to me the other day: "I must confess they suit her face and her hair-dressing admirably, but their lack of style is deplorable. You know, really, if she were stylishly and smartly dressed, she would be quite a good-looking woman."
"Very few people are aware that her hats, if not actually trimmed entirely by herself, are always made and these who needle and thread and alters it. As a girl, she trimmed all her own hats for everybody wear. Her mother, the Duchess of Teck, gave her a small allowance which had to cover such minor items as these, and the shop in Kingston where she was wont to make her purchases as a girl is still in England.
"The general effect of the queen-then Princess of Wales—suggested a hat-trimming competition for the men of the party, which she included her husband and the late King Edward. Queen Mary applied the materials and the men completed their hats. Their son, the Marquis of Stafford, discovered that King George had won the first prize. He himself was so much pleased that he insisted on wearing the hat for quite a long while, much to the disgust of his small sons and daughters. King Edward's attempt was adjudged to be so awful that it was not nearly considered."

between the South Renfrew vacancy and the others Mr. Borden had allowed. This vacancy was made for a purpose, and it never happened before that a Canadian government had refused this way for an opponent to come into the house.

"We ask no favors," observed Sir Wilfrid. "If the government wants to oppose Mr. Graham, let it do so. But we ask fair play. We ask them to play the game fairly. We ask them to give him what is his right, the chance of election at the hands of the electors."

Carvell Scores Borden. Mr. Carvell rose to take exception to Borden's reference to Mr. Low having drawn his indemnity to the end of December. By order, the account of the house had handed all the members' cheques for the full month at the beginning of December. This was done on authority and every member had received his cheque.

Mr. Borden rose angrily. "I stated what I knew had occurred, and I had it verified," he retorted. "What have you to say concerning that?"

"I say, as I said before," retorted Mr. Carvell, "that it is mighty petty and small politics the prime minister of Canada is trying to play."

Mr. Borden jumped up. "I regard that remark as the highest compliment I could get," he shouted, while the Liberals laughed.

C. P. R. IMPROVEMENTS ON LOCAL SECTION

The importance of the St. John to Vancouver section of the C. P. R. has been recognized by the decision to install on the 90.25 miles of track the Hall Signal automatic block signals at a very large cost. This will be the most extensive automatic installation of block signals in Canada and it is significant that out of a total of 192 miles of track, including 33 miles of double track on which the C. P. R. is installing these signals, that nearly one-half of the track to be so equipped is in New Brunswick, the other sections being as follows:

Romford Junction to Sudbury, 3.2 miles single track and 3.8 miles double track. West Toronto to Bolton, 21.6 miles single track. Place Viger to St. Therese, 20 miles double track. Montreal Junction to Brigham Junction, 34.5 miles single track and 9.5 miles double track. Edlington to Streetsville, 12.9 miles single track.

Style 'K' top post signals, with the arms working in the upper quadrant and three positions, will be used, and the work of installation will be begun in the spring. The signals will be in the ground. On the Canadian Pacific the signal colors are green for proceed, yellow for caution and red for stop. The signals will be arranged to stand "normal danger," and the apparatus and construction will conform to the specifications of the Railway Signal Association.

The Canadian Pacific has also ordered 23 ten-wheel locomotives and 8 freight locomotives from the American Locomotive Company and will build 50 ten-wheel locomotives and 25 switching locomotives at the company's shops.

HON. B. F. PEARSON DEAD Passed Away at Halifax at Age of Fifty-seven After Remarkable Business Career

Halifax, N. S., Jan. 31 - Hon. B. F. Pearson, who has been actively ill for some time, died at half-past nine o'clock tonight.

He was born in Minasota, Colchester, where his father, Frederick M. Pearson, a shipbuilder, one of the leading business men of Truro in Nova Scotia. Few of the dominion's house of commons, had a country home near which had passed three generations of the Pearson family.

B. F. Pearson, of the fourth generation, has been not only a legislator but a member of the government of his native province. His great-grandfather, Colonel Pearson, the first of the family in Nova Scotia, was a distinguished South Carolina United Empire Loyalist, who served his king in Lord Rawdon's regiment, and came to Nova Scotia at the close of the American revolutionary war.

Mr. Pearson was born on April 4, 1855. He was a comparatively young man, yet he had probably accomplished more in the way of important business than any other man now living in Nova Scotia. Few of his age in Canada have as much of practical achievement to their credit.

From Victoria Academy he went to Dalhousie College after an interval spent in settling his father's business in Truro. In 1881 he was called to the bar of Nova Scotia and almost immediately thereafter went into partnership at Halifax with Hon. Otto S. Weeks. His success as a conceiver and promoter of extensive industrial enterprises was notable.

A Great Industrial Promoter. In 1893 he conceived and promoted the Dominion Coal Company and in 1899 was organized the Dominion Steel Company. In 1895 he promoted the Halifax Electric Tram Company, in 1899 the West India Electric Tram Company. In connection with F. S. Pearson, of New York, he organized the Cape Breton Electric Company, and assisted in the organization of the Cape Breton Electric Company.

Not content with these and many other undertakings of a similar character he entered the field of journalism and purchased the Morning Chronicle newspaper in 1899, of which his son and law partner, G. Fred Pearson, is managing director. Later Mr. Pearson purchased the Daily Sun, of St. John, which he sold after managing it for a number of years.

Mr. Pearson entered provincial politics in 1901, when he was elected for Colchester. In 1906 he was re-elected and in that year he entered the provincial cabinet as a member without portfolio. He served a term as president of the Nova Scotia Bar Society. He married in 1875 Julia Reading, daughter of George Reading, prothonotary of the supreme court for Colchester. The daughters are Mrs. F. B. McCurdy, Mrs. T. G. McKenzie and Miss Ethel, at home, G. Fred Pearson is a son.

Board Has Interesting Talk Over Service Pipe to Carvell Hall - General Matters

Alderman Scully, Hayes and Elkin spoke in favor of granting Mr. Carvell's request, and the engineer said that it was time to put a stop to householders doing as they liked in putting in their water pipes. The law said that, as a superintendent, should direct the laying of all pipes, and the rule should not be trilled with. He said that other householders on the same line would suffer from scarcity of water if Mr. Carvell were given the larger pipe. Now Mr. Carvell was canvassing the aldermen instead of doing what he had told him.

DOUBLE TIE IN THE N.H.A. LEAGUE RACE

Montreal, Feb. 1--With the Wanderers downing the Canadiens in the most roughly contested game of the season and Quebec on home ice plucking victory from an abandoned hope, over the seniors, the complexion of the N. A CHEERING STATEMENT

No Financial Worries to Spoil Happy Days of the R. K. Y. C.

The annual report of the R. K. Y. C. for the year ended on January 31 shows the club to be in a most satisfactory position financially.

Receipts: Balance on hand, Jan. 31, 1911, $ 236.45 Current receipts, 3,028.34 Total, $3,264.79

Expenditures: Club House, $1,010.00; Furniture, billiard tables, piano, 651.42; Irvine property purchase, 700.00; Current expenses, 1,229.31; Balance on hand, Jan. 31, 1912, 66.07

The club has no debts, bonds, stocks or mortgages on their property, everything being free of encumbrance.

On Wednesday evening a large audience assembled in the Temple Building, Main street to witness the installation of the officers of Court Ouagondy No. 152.

The installation was presided over by an excellent programme of vocal and instrumental music with addresses.

Those taking part were: The Victoria street orchestra, Judge Cockburn, H. C. G. Grass, H. V. R. address; A. T. King, vocal duet; Miss Lillian Bromfield and Lizzie Leek, piano duet; Master Gerald King, vocal solo; Miss McCuskey, vocal solo.

Refreshments were served during the evening. Chief Justice Murray in a most complimentary fashion, praising the officers and those taking part in the programme for their assistance.

The proceedings closed with the singing of the national anthem with orchestral accompaniment.

There was a very interesting debate at the Every Day Club last evening on the question whether moving pictures are beneficial or injurious.

The large number present declared the winner. The debate lasted nearly two hours and was greatly enjoyed by all.

The club now has probably the best dressed stage to be seen in any hall in the city.

William McCuskey worked every evening for over two weeks painting a special set of scenery, and Percy Warren painted and put up a fine drop curtain.

Other members lent assistance in the work, with the result that the stage now presents a handsome appearance.

The members also cleaned the walls of the hall and will decorate them and varnish the wood-work.

All this work is done with coat to the club, except for materials.

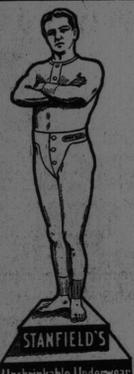

Walter C. Allison has presented to the club a dozen chairs for the platform.

Charles L. Bustin a piece of furniture, H. P. Hayward a bust of Robert Burns, and Mrs. Thomas J. Pood two handsome pictures for the wall.

The club's minstrels are now organized, with a small orchestra to assist them.

The membership of the club is growing every week, chiefly by the addition of young men.
