LIBERAL MEETING

Annual Meeting of Northumberland Liberals

HELD THURSDAY.

A Small Number of Delegates Present and Little Business Done.

The adjourned annual meeting of the Northumberland Liberal Association was held in the Temperance Hall here Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, President Wm. Kerr of Chatham in the chair.

Under the order of business, Reports of Officers, Mr. Robt. Murray, Sec. Treas. read the report of the President and Secretary, included in which was a report of the patronage committee showing who had been appointed to positions on the L. C. R. and other officers throughout the county. This report was ordered to be filed.

The election of officers resulted in the election of Geo. Watt, President, and W. C. Winslow, Secretary. President Kerr was nominated for reelection but refused to accept and Robt. Murray was nominated for reelection as Secretary, but was defeated by Mr. Winslow by two votes.

At this point considerable discussion took place as to who were eligible to vote. In taking the chair, Mr. Watt made a neat speech, thanking the association for the confidence placed in him.

Ex President Kerr was called upon and made a stirring speech, calling upon all the members of the Association and the Liberal party to unite and they would be assured of victory, but just as long as they had dissentious in the party they would be defeated.

On motion of Mr. W. S. Loggie, M.P.P., it was—
Resolved. That the association deems it inadvisable to appoint any patronage committee, expecting as a matter of course that John Morrissey, M.P.P., the defeated Liberal candidate will be recognized in place of the committee.

The motion provoked considerable discussion. Other routine business was transacted, and the meeting adjourned to meet again at the call of the president.

INTERESTING EVENT.

McLellan-Phinney Wedding at Methodist Church Thursday.

The Methodist church was the scene of a very happy event at four o'clock Thursday when Miss Annie, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Phinney, George street, was led to the altar by Mr. Robert Wilkinson McLellan, a prominent and rising young lawyer of this city. Nearly a hundred guests were in attendance at the church which was filled to overflowing by a large and interested crowd of spectators, the event having been looked forward to for a considerable time.

The church was handsomely and tastefully decorated with potted plants and beautiful showers of cut flowers, presenting a lovely scene. The full choir was present, Mr. Harrison presiding at the organ and rendering appropriate music.

The invited guests occupied seats reserved for them in the centre of the church. The following gentlemen acting as ushers, Weyland Porter, A. A. Shute, Ralph Clark, R. B. Hanson and A. M. McLellan. Promptly at four o'clock the bride entered the church leaning on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage. She looked very charming in a gown of white satin with overdress of white acordeal and pleated chiffon covered with real Lier lace. She wore a white tulle veil and orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of cream roses. She was attended by her friend, Miss Florence Howson of Amherst, who looked attractive in a dress of white embroidered crepe de chene with chiffon applique yoke made over white taffeta. She wore a white picture hat with large feather and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

As the bride entered the church the choir rendered with good effect "The Voice that breath'd o'er Eden" The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. W. B. McLellan, of the British Bank.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. A. Rogers. The choir rendering "How Welcome was the Call" during the ceremony. The bridal party left the church to the strains of the wedding march played by Mr. Harrison. They drove to the residence of the bride's parents where a reception was held and the bridal couple left on the six o'clock train for a wedding tour through Upper Canada.

The large number of costly and elegant presents in silver and cut glass which the bride received testified to her popularity. Frederick Glenoe.

HYMENIAL.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Russell presented a very pretty appearance last Wednesday evening on the occasion of the marriage of their daughter Mary Ingram to Mr. Frank Albert Pennant of Victoria, B. C.

The room was beautifully decorated, the work being done by Miss Russell's friends among whom she was a great favorite. One of the chief attractions being two floral hearts under which the young couple stood.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Henry Aron, Pastor of St. James' Church, on a few of the bride's relatives and friends being present. The bride looked very charming in a gown of white silk voile, over white silk, wearing a veil and carrying a bouquet of white roses. Her two nieces, her only attendants, Misses Dorothy and Nan Nicholson, as flower girls, looked very sweet in dainty muslin frocks carrying baskets of pink carnations.

During the evening the Orange band discoursed sweet music on the grounds.

After supper, the young couple went to the station, where they boarded the "Maritime" for Dillenburg, and showers of rice and the best wishes of their friends. Mr. and Mrs. Bennett returned to Newcastle on Saturday where they will spend a few days before starting for Victoria, their future home. We regret that they are going so far away from us, but wish them every happiness on their journey through life.

The bride received many handsome and costly presents, among which was a handsome travelling case, with fittings, accompanied by the following address from choir and friends of St. James' Presbyterian Church:—

DEAR MISS RUSSELL,

It seemed good to us as you are about to leave us to enter upon another sphere in life, that we should place on record our some of love at your departure. The unstinted devotion you have ever shown towards the various Congregational Institutions and particularly towards the choir makes this loss a very real one to us. We believe however that our loss will be others' gain.

Kindly accept the accompanying gift in recognition of your many services and with it the heart felt prayer that God's richest blessing may attend you throughout your future life.

The following is Miss Russell's reply:—
To the Choir and friends of St. James' Congregation:—

Please accept my heart felt thanks for your kindly wishes and for your valuable and highly appreciated gift. While I have been with you the services I have rendered have always been voluntary ones for the Master, and while working among you they have ever been pleasant duties. Although I am going so far away, and entering upon another sphere of life, I shall ever retain pleasant memories of the time spent with you.

Very sincerely yours,
MARY RUSSELL.

CIRCUIT COURT.

Judge MacLeod opened the Circuit Court at Newcastle on Wednesday. John Fleming was indicted for stabbing John Miller at the firemen's dance in Chatham, and the compassionate Grand Jury found a true bill for common assault only. In the case of Laurence MacDonald, captain of the ferry steamer Lady Dufferin, charged with assaulting a peddler, named Peters, a true bill for common assault was found. It appears that Peters presented a return ticket that had been given to another man, and that MacDonald tore it up and forcibly ejected Peters for refusing to pay. The only civil suit on the docket was settled out of court. The petit jury disagreed in MacDonald's case, and he was held to bail, $100, to appear at the next court. Fleming was found guilty by the jury, and was pardoned by the judge, who bound him over, on his own recognizance, to keep the peace for two years.—World.

The Fredericton exhibition will be officially opened at three o'clock on Monday afternoon, September 21st, by Major General, the Earl of Dundonald, C. V. O., C. B., commanding Canadian Militia. A special programme is being prepared for the event and it is expected that a large concourse will be in Fredericton on that day.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union of New Brunswick will hold their annual convention in Newcastle on the following dates Sept. 29th and 30th and Oct. 1st. Delegates are expected from all parts of the province.

Public evening meetings will be addressed by Mrs. Nellie G. Burger, National organizer from Missouri U. S., and also by her husband of Convention.

ROBBERIES.

Two Places Broken into and Goods Stolen

JOHN O'BRIEN & CO

Lose a Quantity of Fur and Dry Goods Last Monday Night

As the fall advances some dishonest person or persons are no doubt endeavoring to lay in a winter supply of goods they may require and petty robberies are becoming common.

On Monday night Sept. 7th Mr. Geo. Stothart's stable was entered and a set of driving harness, together with a bridle of another set and some pieces of harness were removed.

Monday night seems to be a favorite night as again on Monday night, September 14th, the rear store of John O'Brien & Co. was entered and a quantity of fur and dry goods removed.

Entrance was effected by breaking a pane of glass in a window and removing bar which kept it down and thus entering the back store or ware room. The party or parties had to climb up on a shed in order to reach this window and the probability is that there were more than one implicated in the robbery and they must have had some vehicle to remove the goods as about two hundred dollars worth is missing. They did not gain access to the inner store as the door between was securely locked.

This robbery was committed by some one who knew the premises thoroughly and know doubt know just where to find the goods needed.

Some of the furs were found under the sidewalk near P. J. McEvoy's store, yesterday.

REDISTRIBUTION.

Bill Was Taken Up in Parliament Today. Mr. Monk and Sir Wilfrid on the Subject.

OTTAWA, Sept. 9.—The Redistribution bill was taken up this morning in the House of Commons. On motion to go into committee, Mr. Monk, the acting leader of the opposition, reviewed at length the proceedings before the special committee, which had the question of redistribution under consideration. He said that while the house had laid down the principle of adhering to county boundary lines it did not in his opinion go far enough and other general rules should have been adopted. In the West there were no county boundaries. In regard to the redistribution of Quebec he made no objections, and there was no difficulty about the changes in that province. But in respect to Ontario there ought to have been more extensive guidance from the house than mere adherence to county boundary lines. Some rule should have been adopted for redistribution within the county when it required more than one member. In this regard he complained of the division of the County of Waterloo into north and south Waterloo, and presented the house with a map of the division. He was not satisfied with the division of Middlesex. He said that the work of the county was a gerrymander.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that he waited with patience to see if Mr. Monk had anything to offer, he sat down without saying whether he was for or against motion to go into committee. There was no objection to the bill being referred to the committee. The committee was unanimous in respect to Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick, Quebec, Northwest Territories and British Columbia. In Nova Scotia there was only one objection to one constituency, in Ontario the committee was unanimous in 39 constituencies out of 56. No committee could satisfy everyone and it was for them to go into committee on the bill and consider any changes that were proposed. Mr. Henderson (Halton) talked generally on the bill.

Another club woman, Mrs. Haule, of Edgerton, Wis., tells how she was cured of irregularities and uterine trouble, terrible pains and backache by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"A while ago my health began to fail because of female troubles. The doctor did not help me. I remember that my mother had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound on many occasions for irregularities and uterine troubles, and I felt sure that it could not harm me at any rate to give it a trial. I was certainly glad to find that within a week I felt much better, the terrible pains in my back and side were beginning to cease, and at the time of menstruation I did not have nearly as serious a time as heretofore, so I continued its use for two months, and at the end of that time I was like a new woman. I really have never felt better in my life, have not had a sick headache since, and weigh 20 pounds more than I ever did, so I unhesitatingly recommend Vegetable Compound."—MRS. MAY HAULE, Edgerton, Wis. —$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

Women should remember there is one tried and true remedy for all female ills, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Refuse to buy any other medicine, you need the best.

is a most interesting and important scientific field. The chief work of the school will be to train teachers in this department of learning and skill. Those who take this course will be obliged to take Physics, Chemistry and biology in the University. The Chemistry and Physics of cooking, of rusts, stains, etc., will be studied and also the yeasts and moulds under the microscope. In the University a new department has been organized in Commerce and Finance. After a student has taken his diploma in the ordinary business college he will proceed to study higher commercial problems in Political Economy, Contract Law, Banking, Foreign Exchange, Commercial Geography, International and Corporation Law Accounting and Modern Languages far enough to enable him to take charge of the Foreign Correspondence in an office. The value of this course to a young man entering the world of business today can scarcely be over-estimated, especially if during his vacation he gives himself to active business.

Arrangements are being made for special courses of lectures by leading business men of the country. This will make a very notable feature of the course.

Just as notable an advance is in the organization of the McClellan School of Industrial Arts in connection with the Science department of the university. Drawing, descriptive geometry, carpentry, wood turning and metal working will be taught. The addition of this work to the usual Science, Mathematics, English, and Law of the Arts course, will enable Mt. Allison to carry students through the first two years of the courses in Mechanical, Electrical, Mining, Civil, Chemical Engineering and Architecture, while he is winning his Bachelor of Arts degree. He will be able therefore in six years from entering college go out into professional life with two degrees, B. A. and B. E. The work of this department will be carried on in four stories of the new science building. The old lodge has been raised on its foundations five feet and this gives a basement with 12ft. ceiling. Altogether it will make the most spacious Science Hall in the Maritime Provinces.

His marriage was a failure, wasn't it?

Canada The Country.

MONTREAL, Sept. 9.—The annual meeting of the New England Waterworks Association was opened here this morning. President Charles K. Walker, of Manchester, N. H., replying to Mayor Cochran's address of welcome, stated in most emphatic terms that Canada has a greater country than the United States, principally owing to the vast wheat fields of Manitoba and the Northwest, where grain is so easily raised compared with the United States districts, where so much irrigation is necessary before anything can be raised. The people of both countries, said Mr. Walker, were just beginning to realize the greatness of Canada, and instanced the fact that vast numbers of Americans had crossed into Canada last year. Formerly in one town he was acquainted with there was a large proportion of Canadians; now not one Canadian can be found in the place.

COMING VISITORS TO CANADA.

There is to be a meeting of the Chambers of Commerce of the Empire at Montreal during the present summer. Several hundred members of English Boards of Trade are also delegates from other portions of the Empire will there meet to discuss commercial suggestions of great national importance. After the meeting is adjourned, the British delegates will visit the Canadian North West and will be shown the future granary of Great Britain and Ireland. They will inspect the mills at which is produced the now celebrated Ogilvie's Flour and will be able to see for themselves why the Prince of Wales chooses Ogilvie's as the flour to be used in the Royal Household.

MISS HELEN CONNELL.

Our readers will peruse with feelings of sympathy the following piece of poetry, written by Miss Helen Connell, on the death of her beloved father. Miss H. Connell has been for years partly deprived of her sight, but as her eyes closed to the light of this earth, it seems that her young heart has increased its power of tender and elevated sentiment. Simple as these verses may be in their form, they are beautiful by the elevation of the thoughts and sentiments they express. May God bless the child, who in the sad hours of her partial blindness can write such interesting lines. Miss Helen Connell is the young maiden who took first prize some years ago in a literary contest among all the pupils of our schools, both Catholic and Protestant.

ON THE LATE FRANK J. CONNELL'S DEATH.

By His Daughter.
In August, ninety-seven,
A father left his home
To seek in western regions
Some wealth in golden loam.
His wife, and his four daughters,
Kissed him a fond good-bye,
"Parting makes hearts tender,
More closely knots the tie.

Then followed weekly letters,
Exchange of daily life,
When distance lies between us,
The pen helps bear the strife.
Just ten short months had vanished
In June, of ninety-eight,
God called the youngest daughter
Beyond His golden gate.

Far in the Rocky Mountain
With snow-capped peaks ahead,
That father read the letter:
"His youngest child was dead!"
Back came his lonesome answer:
"I pray God give me grace,
To meet in my home-coming,
My baby's vacant place."

The future is not ours:
Could brave hearts bear the pain?
Were they to know, that we're on earth
They'd meet loved forms again!
But life is full of trouble,
We all must sorrow breast,
And birthdays were remembered,
By that father in the West.

He loved to write home, letters
Of daily life in camp,
And oft described the Sunrises,
The mission priest's long tramp.
And wrote that non-believer,
In that far western soil,
Respected, and well-treated
The Holy Man of God.

"And I," wrote that fond father,
"Serve the Holy Mass,
And visions of my boyhood
Quickly come, and pass,
I see the town of Chatham,
The scene comes back with joy—
I serve in its Cathedral,
As Bishop's altar boy."

"I have the brightest record,"
He fondly used to say;
"I served twelve Holy Masses,
One blessed Christmas day"—
"And here, the scene is different,
The mass is just the same,
We praise, adore and worship,
The Source, from which it came."

Again, the month is August,
The year, nineteen and three,
The sixth, with happy thoughts of home,
A pleasant note, wrote he.
The ninth—his heart had failed him—
The men in camp were awed,
Far from home and dear ones,
His soul went back to God.

Well thought of by the campers,
To all, he was a friend.
In sadness and in sorrow,
They mourn his sudden end.
Home, flashed the awful message—
There—not one tear could flow—
What four hearts felt that moment
God alone can know

At home, the Sunday following,
The funeral bells were rung,
Midst light of funeral tapers,
The solemn Requiem sung
The kind words of the pastor
Gave sore hearts much relief,
God bless the Holy priesthood,
In times of joy and grief!

Then to Saint Mary's graveyard—
God's peaceful acre blessed—
Where lie two little daughters,
His form was placed at rest.
Five angels are in Heaven
To meet and greet him there;
Four hearts are left to mourn him,
To wait the meeting fair.

Oh God, we all are pilgrims,
Our daily prayer shall be
That we may meet our dear ones
One day, my God with Thee.

BLACKVILLE.

BLACKVILLE, Sept. 7.—Messrs. John and Edward Vickers, who have been in Maine for the past few years, are visiting their old home here.

Mr. George Gailey and family of Marysville are visiting relatives in Blackville.

Mr. Henry Swim, of the firm of H. & F. D. Swim, Doaktown, is in the village this afternoon.

Mrs. Anne Delaney of Antigonish, N. S., is visiting relatives in Blackville.

Miss Carrie Wetmore, who has been in St. John for the past few weeks, returned home on Saturday last.

Messrs. James Nulty and John P. Keogh leave here this evening to attend St. Francis Xavier College, Antigonish, N. S.

Fenton McCormick leaves Wednesday evening with a large crew of men for the Quebec lumber woods, where he will conduct lumbering operations for John R. McConnell of Marysville this winter.

The Gibson & Company's saw mills finished the season's sawing last week and are now closed down.

Labor Day was quite generally observed here. Most of the stores were closed, and many took advantage of the beautiful weather to enjoy a day's outing.

The Sunbeam Mission Band of the Presbyterian Church held their annual picnic this afternoon on the grounds overlooking the Bartholomew river, and the youngsters enjoyed themselves to the limit.

The election for Councillors for the parish of Blackville will not take place tomorrow, as required by law, owing to the failure of the parish clerk to post notices of same in proper time. It is understood that a special warrant will be issued by the Warden of the County and that the election will take place about the last of this month. Very little interest is being taken in it so far.

The Willing Workers Circle in connection with the Presbyterian Church intends holding a necktie social in the hall on Sept. 18th, which will no doubt be a very enjoyable affair.

A ten dollar bill of "The Confederate States of America" was passed on one of our merchants one day last week.

Building operations are being carried on very extensively in Blackville this summer. Among the houses in course of erection and contracted for are one for J. Hudson Underhill, one for Thomas McLaughlin, and one for James H. Dale. Extensive repairs are also being made to the Presbyterian church. The old spire has been torn down and a new one about twenty feet higher is being erected. The whole building is being underpinned with stone, roof shingled, and is to be newly painted inside and out. The repairs when completed will cost in the vicinity of six hundred dollars.

What might have been a serious conflagration was narrowly averted this evening. A large hanging parlor lamp that was used to light the lodge room in the upper story of the public hall set fire to the lathing above it and burned quite a large hole in the ceiling before it was discovered. Fortunately the hook holding the lamp burned out allowing the lamp to fall, before the lodge meeting had closed, otherwise the hall and adjoining buildings would likely have been destroyed. Mr. R. M. Grindlay was standing directly under the lamp when it fell and received a rather bad knock on the head. Gleaner.

Anice made a face at her image in the glass, saying as she shook a dainty fist at it: "You idiot! Why don't you make yourself look as ugly as you feel?"

"I think, my dear," Aunt Margaret said, sticking her head through the open door behind, "it is because vanity is a trifle stronger with you than apprehension. You think you don't want to marry Charley Cliffe. I know you don't want him to find you a fright."

"Isn't it horrible, being so vain, with one's whole future in the balance?" Anice said, trying hard to be tearful. Aunt Margaret only laughed. After a little she said with twinkling eyes: "I have always thought vanity was among the heaven implanted instincts which help to save women from themselves. Now I am sure of it."

"What do you mean?" Anice cried. "Surely you don't say that, think I am shamming?" Again Miss Gordon laughed and said: "Not consciously, my dear. The truth is I think you resent the fact that you have no choice in this made to order match."

"Well, wouldn't that gall any girl with the spirit of a mouse?" Anice demanded. Miss Gordon looked thoughtful. "It is unfortunate, as I see it," she said. "That, however, does not alter facts. Instead of cultivating a hostile mind, you had much better be fair. Remember, it is not the young man's fault. The blame, if blame there is, lies wholly with old Mme. Boynton. She wanted her fortune to go to you two, her step-grandchildren, the sole descendants of her two husbands. Besides, I think she reasoned that as Charley, whom she petted, would certainly marry somebody, it was just as well to put him in the way of marrying you."

"So if I say 'No' he gets the whole fortune, whereas he may relinquish me and keep two-thirds of it," Anice said. "Aunt, I have the greatest mind to stain my face and dye my hair red and wear a grass green gown and a yellow stock."

"A rainbow would become you ever so much better," some one said, stepping through the door—some one tall and slim, with merry eyes and firm, muscular hands. He went straight up to Anice and kissed her upon both cheeks, saying: "Stars and garters! What a beauty you have turned out to be! Why didn't I come straight to see you? Nan, dear, I'm in the confessional. I've gone and courted another girl without ever giving you a chance!"

"Oh, how jolly!" Anice cried. "With all that nonsense out of the way I am awfully glad to see you. I remember you as a real nice boy ever so many years back."

"I think you were a tartar, and I know you were ugly," Cliffe said, his eyes twinkling. "That's why I made up to the other one. What have you done to yourself? The girl I left behind me was sallow and scrawny and green eyed, with no hair to speak of, and fingers like talons!"

"And just up from six weeks of fever," Anice interrupted, shaking a mop of yellow brown curls at him. "I have spent an hour a day ever since forgetting how I looked just then. If I had known how faithfully you remembered!"

"Well, what?" Cliffe asked as she made a tentative pause. "Oh, nothing," Anice returned. "I almost said I would have made myself live up to your recollections."

Cliffe laughed, then ran on: "Now that under our granddam's nightmare of a will we have duly arrived at years of indiscretion let's settle money matters out of hand. I'm going to relin-

This Boy was Weak and Languid

His parents became alarmed and used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food with splendid results.

Mrs. GEORGE F. BRISBIN, Lake Street, Peterboro', Ont., states:—"One of my children, a boy of about fifteen years, did not have good health for a year or more. He seemed to have no energy, was weak and languid and suffered from nervousness. The doctors said that he was growing too fast, but we became alarmed about him, and began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It was not long until we noticed a great change in his condition. His appetite improved, he had a better color and soon became stronger and healthier. He is still using the Nerve Food, and we are perfectly confident that he is improving right along under this treatment."

quish you in the presence of witnesses. You may marry whom you please for all of me. I shall also give you half the money."

"Oh, I think you are a dear!" Anice interrupted, dimpling all over her rosy face. "And you'll stay here a month, and we'll be the best comrades going. You'll tell me all about your sweet heart?"

"On one condition," Cliffe broke in. "That you get engaged to somebody before I go away."

"You are a trifle unreasonable," Anice said with a softly brilliant smile. "I want to be free—free as air for six whole months—before I even think of bondage."

Comrades the two became, comrades so close and congenial Miss Gordon looked after them sometimes with eyes that were not quite clear. "They were made for each other and will find it out too late," she said in her heart. Anice up Royal Top to watch the sun go down. It was Indian summer weather, with all the air full of warm haze and dead ripe autumn scents. They went slowly, he leading toward the girl all up the long slope. At the top he dismounted and held out his arms to her, saying a little huskily: "Come! I will carry you to the very tip of the rocks."

Anice felt him tremble as she slipped into his arms. Her own heart beat furiously—she was beginning to find out what his presence or his absence would mean in her life. But she smiled back at him bravely when at last they stood hand in hand upon the craggy pinnacle. The sun sank, a globe of crimson, filling the whole world with rosy radiance. In that transfiguring illumination Anice had the face of an angel, serene, transparent to inner light. Cliffe laid his hand softly over hers and said very low, "It is hard to go down from all this to utter darkness." As he felt her shiver faintly he went on, "Anice, must a man suffer his whole life long because of a mistake?"

"I do not know what you mean," Anice said untruthfully, turning away her tell-tale eyes. Cliffe caught both her hands. "I think you do know," he said. "Anyway you know we love each other. Now, the question is, What shall we do?"

"Easily answered—for you," Anice said, her lips trembling. "You are going away—to keep your pledged word!"

"But you and my heart? Dare I leave both behind me?" Cliffe said very low, his voice thrilling strangely. "I could not love thee, dear, so much loved I not honor more," Anice quoted almost under her breath. "We—we are comrades," she ran on a little tremulously. "Comrades stand by each other, keep each other up to the mark!"

"Comrades indeed and sweethearts and shall be plighted lovers," Cliffe cried, catching her to him in a breathless clasp. "Anice, darling, forgive me. I deceived you. I said I had courted another girl and spoke the truth. But it was with the understanding that she refuse me. I had your picture, dearest—even that had taken me captive—but I knew you well enough to understand how little chance there was of making you love me if I appeared in the light of a necessary evil. I kept it up thus long because—well, because I wanted to find out how well you loved me. Dear heart, sweet one, say you forgive the comrade who tricked you because he feared to lose you."

"I do not see anything to forgive," Anice said, nestling to him with a little happy smile.

Sol Smith Russell and the Dog. Sol Smith Russell was once forced to accept the hospitality of a family where table manners were unknown and coarseness prevailed. The people were liberal hearted, though, and treated the actor generously.

For every favor received, for each dish passed or question asked Mr. Russell responded with a "Thank you" or other grateful acknowledgment.

This constant "Thank you" annoyed the host and his family. In desperation, they finally asked Mr. Russell to omit it.

"Impossible!" said the actor. "I was taught to be grateful. A good habit is as hard to break as a bad one."

"Nonsense!" exclaimed the man of the house, humiliated by the rebuke. "Nothing is impossible!"

"Very well, then," said the comedian, using his famous nasal drawl. "You first prevent your dog from wagging his tail for food given or kind word spoken; then I will omit my 'Thank you.'"

"I won't cut my dog's tail off for you or nobody," said the man as he affectionately patted his dog's head.

"Yes, your dog and I belong to the impossibilities," concluded Mr. Russell. —Boston Post.

A Wonderful Dream. It was in the days of Philip the Good, duke of Burgundy, that a cobbler mounted a royal throne. As the duke was traveling one night to Bruges he came upon a man stretched upon the ground sound asleep, and bade his attendants carry him to the palace, strip off his rags and place him, robed in fine linen, in his own bed.

When the man awoke next morning he was addressed as "your highness" and astounded to find himself among such rich surroundings. In vain he protested that he was no prince, but a poor cobbler; they asked him what clothing he would wear, and at last conducted him, splendidly dressed, to mass in the ducal chapel. Every ceremony was observed throughout the day, the cobbler appeared in public in his new role, was received on all sides, by command of the duke, with deep respect, and ended his brief reign in the palace with a grand supper and ball.

When presently he fell asleep he was re clothed in his rags and taken to the spot where he had been found when this providential joke was conceived. Waking in due time he returned home and related to his wife what he took to be his wonderful dream.

Silly Billy From Bolton. In a certain town in the north of England there is a man known by the name of Silly Billy. Not feeling well one day, he sent for the doctor. After examination the doctor asked him if he would take a note to the Model Lodging house and he would give him sixpence. So Billy, not liking to refuse, said he would. But on the way there he came across a street sweeper whom he knew. He told the sweeper where he was going, but he said if he would take the note he would give him threepence. So off he went and gave the landlord the note, and he found the following written:

"Give this man a bath and keep him in till tomorrow morning, and I will call and see him."

So the following morning the doctor came and was shown into his room. Looking at the man, he exclaimed: "This is not the man I sent!"

"No, it's not, and I'll pound Silly Billy's head off when I see him!" the sweeper replied.—London Telegraph.

The Kilt in Canada. The retention of the kilt as the dress of the Scottish regiments is not to be made an election cry in Canada after all. It would not have been the first time that the Garb of Old Gaul has figured as a "plank" in a political platform. The Highlands have been more than once agitated over the more suggestion that the phibag should make way for the trousers on the soldiers from the north.

Controversy, indeed, has always been more or less busy with the kilts, and one of the few things which have been placed beyond dispute is that it is a healthy garb. When the Fraser Highlanders landed in North America in 1757 it was proposed to change the dress on account of the cold winters and hot summers. The officers successfully opposed this, and were ultimately justified by the Highlanders being the healthiest soldiers in the army.

In the campaign in Holland in 1794, some regiments lost as many as three hundred from disease, but the Black Watch, which had three hundred recruits in its ranks, had only twenty-five casualties, including the killed in battle.—London Chronicle.

Rest Your Feet. The feet really need far more rest than it is usual to grant them in these days of hurry and scurry and tight shoes. Few people have any idea how injurious to health and temper, to heart and brain, an uncomfortable feeling about the feet is. Indeed, in warm weather, the wearing of sandals has been best for both old and young. The feet of children should never be cramped. They may be injured mentally and physically for life by such a practice. Make a rule never to wear heavy shoes or boots. Always keep a pair of nice soft house shoes, and get into them as quickly as possible after you return from walking or cycling.

If you have an hour to spare in your own room, take off your shoes and stockings both, and bathe the feet in cold or warm (never hot) water, whichever is most agreeable to the feelings. Keep the feet naked while you rest on a sofa, read your paper, and sip your coffee. The best stockings or socks are lambs' wool, and they should fit as well as a glove. Never have them too loose or too tight. If you can always keep your feet nice and comfortable you will add years to the term of your life.

QUEBEC MONCTON EXTENSION.

In looking over Hansard for August we notice that Mr. Kaulback of Lunenburg, N. S., raised an interesting point so far as Newcastle is concerned.

That gentleman advocated the utilization of the I. C. R. from River du Loup, and then the Temiscouata road to Edmundston, then a new line straight from Edmundston to Newcastle and thence utilize the I. C. R. to Moncton.

An examination of the map will show the proposed route is almost straight line. Again, if the road is taken to Chipman it would form an angle, and a divergence which would be saved in taking the line from Edmundston to Moncton via Newcastle.

Mr. Kaulback further stated that by going from Edmundston you will reach Newcastle almost as quickly as you reach Chipman and the distance from Newcastle to Moncton is only about 70 miles. The road from Chipman to Moncton would be considerably longer than if it ran direct from Edmundston to Newcastle and thence by the Intercolonial to Moncton.

This is a matter which our citizens should take up at once and endeavor to impress this route on the minds of those who are endeavoring to legislate this great undertaking to a successful issue.

Newcastle needs a man to look after its interests and such a man would have to be as powerful as Hon. Peter Mitchell was in his day, as it was due to that gentleman's state-manship that the north shore is served by the I. C. R.

Oh for a Peter Mitchell to look after our interests at this later day.

A GOSPEL OF DECENCY.

"I want to see men decent; I want to see them act square; I want to see them walk in the light of thought and deed; the gospel which he preaches has in him a convincing example. And what better doctrine could a man preach! 'Be decent, be strong, be fearless and have joy in your living.'"

Whatever else Roosevelt is, he is true, strong, virile, clean in thought and deed; the gospel which he preaches has in him a convincing example. And what better doctrine could a man preach! "Be decent, be strong, be fearless and have joy in your living."

The influence of a man who can preach and live like that cannot but make for the strengthening of the American people. Roosevelt today is a greater force in his country than many of his predecessors who, mentally, may have been more eminent. The people know and understand him as men understand a man. It is impossible that the machinations of politicians can shake him from the place he has won in the public confidence and appreciation.—St. John Star.

DALHOUSIE FAIR.

Fair in Aid of New Convent: A Grand Success—Over $1000.00 Realized.

Dalhousie, N. B., Sept. 11.—The bazaar held by the Roman Catholic congregation during the first days of this week was the greatest affair of its kind ever held here. The intention at first was to hold the fair in the new convent, but it was found that it would inconvenience the contractors, and the committee decided to hold it in the town hall.

The place was nicely decorated, and with the very fine weather a great many visitors came from Campbellton, Balmoral, Charlo and Jacquet River. Every night the hall was crowded. Supper was served every evening in the hall, admitted by all to be the best ever obtained at a bazaar in this locality; this part of the fair was under good management, and too much praise cannot be given those who contributed and helped to make this a success.

Those who had charge of the refreshment, ice cream and candy tables were complimented on the way in which their departments were handled.

A very interesting feature of the bazaar was the five cents vote election between two popular young ladies. The candidates were Miss Matilda Jolicoeur, of St. Joseph, Lewis county (P. Q.) who has been visiting her sisters, Mrs. Leon Sanson and Mrs. Louis Allan, of Dalhousie, and Miss Annie Murphy, the popular Irish R. C. teacher of the Dalhousie Superior School, whose home is in Jacquet River, Restigouche county (N. B.). Great interest was shown in the election every evening as the votes were received. Both young ladies proved to be strong candidates, and until the poll closed it was impossible to tell what the result would be. Miss Murphy was the successful one, polling 6,099 votes or, in cash, $394.50. Miss Jolicoeur received 5,791 votes or, in cash, $287.55; majority for Miss Murphy, 308. Both ladies shook hands to the admiration of all their friends, and Hon. Mr. La Billois, acting for Rev. A. A. Boucher and his parishioners, presented each candidate with a beautiful gold watch as a souvenir of the great work they had done for the good of education. He said he was requested by the ladies to thank their friends for the noble manner in which they had worked for their respective sides. Mr. La Billois said that, speaking for himself as a public man, it spoke well for the future that the nuns who had been expelled from France found ample protection in an English province and, pointing to the picture of Edward VII which decorated the walls, he said we need never fear when we have such a man as king.

The net receipts of the bazaar were $1,003.

Why do you folks in Miramichi keep so quiet? Why do you not try and start some industry such as a large chair factory, and a lot of other things and keep your young men at home. New Brunswick is away ahead of Maine for lumber, minerals and fisheries and it is to be had there you only sawing a few spruce deals. Miramichi has millions of feet of the best hard wood to be found anywhere and still it is left to rot. I have seen more lumber on the Miramichi waters than all the mills would saw in a hundred years. For years I scaled lumber on all the Miramichi waters and know what I am speaking about. CHATHAM.

CHATHAM, Sept. 11.—The home of John McNaughton, Black River, was the scene of a very pretty wedding Wednesday afternoon, when his daughter, Maggie, and Mr. Hugh McLeod, of Picton, Co., N. S., were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. They were unattended and the ceremony was performed by Rev. John Robertson in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. The happy couple then drove to Chatham, where they took the train for New Glasgow, their future home.

The garden party at Longville on Wednesday, in the interests of the Presbyterian Church there, was a grand success, over $300 being realized. A number of Chatham folks either drove or went down by boat in the afternoon.

Miss Agnes Wilson entertained a number of her friends on Thursday evening. Dancing was the principal amusement. Supper was served about midnight.

Miss Jane Mitchell, sister of the late Hon. Peter Mitchell, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Watt.

Miss Helen McKenzie left on Wednesday for Halifax Ladies College, Miss Stoddard for Sackville.

Miss Lyon, the organist of St. Mary's Church, has returned from a holiday trip to Charlottetown, P. E. I.

Archdeacon Forsythe and Rev. Mr. Wilkinson of Bay du Vin exchanged pulpits on Sunday.

Mrs. Piper of Fredericton is visiting her old home in Chatham.

BLACKVILLE.

BLACKVILLE, Sept. 11.—On Saturday evening about 1937 a man was seen by Mr. Lyons, proprietor of Mr. Lyons's branch store, who is situated on the corner where the station road meets the highway, and later he was seen to lift the window of the store office and enter. Mr. Lyons saw a man and fired a shot and presently the burglar was seen to emerge by the window again, and as he was leaving Mr. Lyons gave him a parting shot, but whether it took effect is not known, but he got a move on and eluded the view of the store office. Mr. Lyons thinks he knows who the fellow was. The extent of the burglary is not known, but Mr. Lyons thinks there was nothing much taken. There was no money in the store at the time.

Messrs. Woodward of Alberton started this morning on a hunting trip accompanied by their party, Mr. J. McDonald. We regret for the American gentlemen a successful and pleasant trip as they have secured the services of one of the best guides in this part of the province.

Messrs. Woodman and McDonald have also left this morning for a two weeks' hunting trip.

BATHURST.

The weather during the past week has been simply delightful, so much so that we hear many say, "it is now that we are getting our summer." Better weather for ripening the grain and harvesting could not well be imagined and the farmers are hoping it may continue.

Nearly all the large vessels, sailing ships and steamers of the summer fleet up to date have been loaded and cleared. The last steamer clearing on Thursday, there yet remains a German barque loading, and probably more to arrive. It has been rather a busy season for the mills and shipping houses so far, and no doubt they would be glad of a little loosening of the tension. Considerable logs yet remain in the beams to be sawed up, however, and our season is not too long to get through all of them.

We regret to say that as far as we can learn there is, up to this date, no improvement in the cod fishery. The Jersey firms report that it has been one of the poorest seasons on record. No doubt this is an off season, for there appears to be no fish in the minds of the fishermen that these valuable fish are getting scarce, the only thing is that the fishermen cannot catch them on account of the large number of dogfish, which as reported before, have appeared in greater numbers than ever seen on the fishing grounds. We are informed that the same condition as regards scarcity prevails on the coast of Cape Breton and Nova Scotia and that the catch will be much below the average in these places also. This is a serious loss not only to our fishermen, who depend so much on this stable trade, but to the merchants as well.

As usual at this time of year, large numbers of young men from Gloucester, particularly young Acadians from the Eastern part, are starting for the lumber woods in Quebec and further afield. Nearly every train from Tracadie, Shippegan and Carleton brings a contingent, and we hear that several hundreds have already gone. This means a season for woods work all over the Dominion may be true, but as wages are good in Gloucester this season, it seems a pity that our men should go away. One good thing about this class of exodus, however, is that they generally receive all return in the spring, bringing back the bulk of their money to be spent in improving their farms, so it is not so bad as it they were going to stay away. As reported before, quite a number of our young men, particularly from about town, left a few weeks ago with the harvesters for work in Manitoba. We have seen letters from several of them, and it appears they all got work at once, and so far are fairly well contented. The trip and knowledge they will gain of Western methods of farming and doing business will no doubt be of great benefit to all of them, and we trust they will all return to their homes and settle in Gloucester county, which they will perhaps find as good as any land they can find.

As reported in the St. John papers, the disappearance of little child named Arsenault, from a field near Peter's river, where she was playing near her grandmother, caused great excitement in that locality and among of men and women were out scouring the woods in hopes of finding the little one. There is a rumor in town today that the child was taken by an aunt to Campbellton and the fact was only discovered on Saturday.

PERSONALS.

Mr. Herbert N. Molloy, an old Bathurst boy is shaking hands with hundreds of old friends in his native town, Mr. Molloy, who is located at St. Paul, Minnesota, where he has been for several years, is the possessor of a splendid system of cold storage. He built all the cold storage plants in use by the great shipping firm of Gordon, Bros. & Co., from the Atlantic to the Pacific. These plants cost from twenty to thirty thousand dollars each, and give excellent satisfaction. Besides his work for this firm, Mr. Molloy has built hundreds of refrigerators and coolers in the Western towns, and along the great Northern and Northern Pacific lines. He is well known as the great Jim Hill himself. His many friends here wish him continued success and hope he will visit his old home more frequently in future.

Miss Helen Bishop is visiting friends in Sussex.

Miss May Chapin, who is studying nursing in one of the hospitals near Boston, and who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. A. J. H. Stewart in Bathurst, returned to Boston on Friday being accompanied as far as St. John by Mrs. Chapin.

P. Flott, manager at Carleton for C. Robin Collas & Co., spent Thursday in Bathurst on business.

Messrs. Frank Melanson and Michael Power, Jr., two of our popular young men, having decided to spend the winter in Boston or vicinity, left on Saturday. We understand Mr. Melanson has secured a position at Lowell.

Mrs. R. D. Southwood of Bathurst is absent on a prolonged visit to the West, having visited Toronto, Niagara Falls, JANEVILLE.

We are enjoying a few days of beautiful fine weather at present. If it had come a few weeks earlier it would have saved the farmers quite a lot of trouble in sowing the hay.

The crop of hay is a great deal better than it was for many past years. There appears to be a double amount of hay this year than last but it will be all needed to supply the farming.

Messrs. O'Donnell and Battimer are in to Lugus Lake causing out a place for manufacturing the lumber.

Mr. John Smith of Tracadie told Janeville a short visit last week.

Messrs. D. J. Macdonald, L. Ellis, G. Macdonald, W. Smith and R. Smith, who are working with Chapman's mill in Tracadie, spent the week amongst friends along the shore.

The grain crop looks splendid, and has every prospect of a good crop. The potatoes and turnips also look well, there has been a better crop this year than we have had for many years previous.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Cane visited Inverness for a few days last week.

A large crowd is working at the new Methodist church frame every day. It is going to be quite a large building and will be finished in the latest style.

Mr. James Macdonald drove to the city on Wednesday last.

We regret to hear that Mr. Ephraim Scott, who has been dangerously ill of Typhoid Fever is slightly better now.

Mr. William, C. C. paid Bathurst a visit on Tuesday.

A large crowd from Janeville and Salmon Basin and also from Bathurst, drove to the picnic at Clifton on Tuesday, 8th, for Episcopal Church. It was held at the Orange Lodge. There was a very large crowd and about $140 dollars were cleared.

Mr. Wesley Dull spent last week with friends in Janeville.

The Carleton Railway Co. are kept busy at present and have a hard time to supply cars. The lumber from the lower end of the country is being hauled up for the fall shipment.

Mr. Morley Roy spent last Sunday in Janeville.

A. J. W. McKenzie is on a trip through-out the County setting up Bindery's of which he has sold quite a number this fall.

Mr. Murray Morrison has got his barn newly shingled this summer.

Mr. Henry Barry left several weeks ago for Niagara Falls where he intends staying the winter.

The roads are in splendid condition for wheeling and there is a great number of bicycles on the road every day.

Miss Minnie Dempsey is spending several months at her old home in Janeville.

Messrs. Fred Rush and Cecil Grey spent a few days in Janeville last week.

A. E. Chapman is fitting up the building on his farms. He has quite a stretch of wire fencing put up.

The Souvenir of the Advocate is very nice and the publishers deserve credit for it.

Blenders and Packers of Tiger-Indo Ceylon Teas.

Dear Sirs: Our choice at home of Tiger Tea is grade—A—$3 per lb. Is it true that the tiny dried, whitish balls in Tiger Tea give it that fine delicate flavor? We used to drink China Tea years ago, but prefer the Tiger Tea in 1lb. packets, as it looks cleaner, and because Tiger Teas are prepared and packed by machinery instead of by the nasty sweaty hand-treatment as in China. The pretty blue and white label is enough to make one wish to taste a cup of Tiger Tea. The tiger paws on the label show how strong the Tiger Tea is.

I am very glad to send you this letter about Tiger Tea, and if you wish I might send you a sketch of a tiger which would perhaps be fiercer than the tiger on your label. The rich cherry color of Tiger Tea pleases everyone, and I hope that you will always keep the quality of it as good as it is now. I enclose the 12 cards required and tell you truly this is my own handwriting.

Every Canadian should buy a 1 lb. packet of Tiger Tea, for, besides the good quality, we know that the work of blending, labelling, boxing, packing, etc., is all done by Canadians in St. John.

My age is— my last school teacher was—
Hoping that this letter will win a Tiger Tea prize,
I am respectfully yours,

MANAGEMENT OF THE ILLUSTRATION POULTRY STATIONS.

The criticism in the House of Commons on July 29th of the illustration poultry work of the Dominion Department of Agriculture was principally due to the fact that in Government business the fiscal year (July 1st to June 30th) is used for the public accounts, instead of the calendar year (Jan. 1st. to Dec. 31st.). For that reason, necessary expenses incurred during the months of April, May and June in equipping an Illustration Breeding Station with houses, incubators, brooders, eggs for hatching, etc. were shown in the report of the Auditor General before the house, while it was not possible to show in the same report the revenue derived from the sale of the chickens during the fall and winter, and which revenue will appear in the next year's report. This operated most unfairly against the Bowmanville, Ont. Station, which was established in the spring of 1902. The expenses of installing the station were $225.29 and the revenue shown in the report was only 66 cents. The revenue derived from the sale of the Bowmanville after the 1901-02 year closed amounted to $326.84, so that this amount also should be added to the 66 cents shown in the report. It is learned that of the $326.84, $105.94 was paid to the station by the Wm. Davis Co., Toronto, Ontario; $166.60 by Mr. Henry Gatehouse, Montreal, Que. and $27.25 by farmers in the vicinity of Bowmanville for pure bred cockerels and pullets for the improvement of their flocks of poultry.

The other Illustration Breeding stations were effected in the same way. The chickens at the Holmesville station were sold last year for $551.14. The chickens at the Bonville, Que. station realized $593.17. From the latter station two hundred and thirty-six pure bred barred Plymouth Rock chickens were shipped to the farmers of Maritime Province and sold at fifty cents each. These pure bred cockerels and pullets proved very satisfactory, and requests have been received by the department of agriculture for more pure bred chickens this year. Aside altogether from the practical work that the Illustrations Poultry Stations are conducting and which is appreciated by the farmers of Canada, the revenue and expenditure account of the poultry Division shows that the chickens reared at the stations pay a good profit above cost of feed and interest on the investment. The men in charge of the stations are farmers, and are thus able to impart poultry knowledge most satisfactorily to other farmers of their locality; they address Farmers' Institute meetings and make exhibits at Agricultural Fairs; the financial and educational benefits to the farmers derived from the men in charge of these poultry stations is far in advance of the amount paid them in salary.

Within the last few years the consumption of chickens has increased in Canada: the price realized for plump chickens has advanced. Both the increase in consumption and advance in price are due to the business of crate fattening chickens. The chickens that realize the highest price today are chickens that are fattened and prepared for market in accordance with the directions issued by the Department of Agriculture. Chickens from the Ontario and Quebec Illustrations were sold a few days ago to Mr. Henry Gatehouse for twelve cents per pound, live weight and to the Canadian Produce Co., Toronto, Ont. for eleven cents per pound live weight. These are profitable prices that can be obtained by any farmer shipping the same quality of chickens to Montreal or Toronto.

The method of killing the chicken by dislocating its neck is different from the old-fashioned way of wringing or twisting the neck. When the chicken's neck is dislocated, and the head is pulled from the neck in the manner described in the bulletin Profitable Poultry Farming, the loose, unbroken skin of the neck forms a sack into which the blood of the chicken flows. The body of the chicken is as well drained of blood as if the head were cut off with an axe, the market appearance of the chicken is improved by killing by dislocation, the flesh of the chicken is more juicy and edible. On the contrary, when chickens are killed by twisting the neck, death results mainly from strangulation. The body of the chicken is not freed from blood on account of their being no space in the neck into which the blood can flow. The appearance of the flesh of the chicken that has been killed by twisting its neck is reddish and blood can be plainly noted in it. In several cities in Canada a law is in force prohibiting the sale of chickens that are killed by twisting the neck. Hence, the senselessness of the ridicule by certain members of the House in debate regarding the detailed directions in Profitable Poultry Farming for killing the chicken by dislocating its neck, and the absurdity of making the statement that dislocating the neck and wringing the neck are one and the same thing.

Watering Plants.

Watering is an exacting labor, and yet half of it is usually unnecessary. The reasons why it is unnecessary are two—the soil is so shallowly prepared that the roots do not strike deep enough; we waste the moisture by allowing the soil to become hard, thereby setting up capillary connection with the atmosphere and letting the water escape.

See how moist the soil is in spring. Much it so that the moisture will not evaporate. Much it with a garden rake, by keeping the soil loose and dry on top. This loose, dry soil is the mulch. There will be the moisture underneath. Save water rather than add it. Then when you do have to water the plants go at it as if you meant it. Do not dribble. Wet the soil clear through. Wet it at dusk or in cloudy weather. Before the hot sun strikes it renew your mulch or supply a mulch of fine litter. More plants are spoiled by sprinkling than by drought. Bear in mind that watering is only a special practice; the general practice is to so it and maintain the ground that the plants will not need watering—Country Life in America.

LOOK ON THE BRIGHT SIDE

The sufferer from nervous exhaustion is generally blue and discouraged. He looks on the dark side of things and fears partly, locomotor ataxia or insanity. Ad this is changed by the persistent use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, which gradually and naturally rekindles and revitalizes the wasted nerve cells and instils new vigor and energy into the whole system.

He who brings ridicule to bear against truth finds in his hand a blade without a hilt.

Your new brother is the cleventh child in the family, is he not? asked the caller.

Yes, ma'ma, said the little girl. Have you named him yet?

I think we're going to name him Jerusalem. That's what papa called him when he was born.

Miss Giddy (viciously)—My new gown is a dreary—very light gray veil.

He (practically)—Ah, yes; very pretty, I'm sure. But doesn't gray soil easily?

It is a queer coincidence that the matrimonial word united also spells untied. Birth, marriage and death are the three life stages of man, or rather they used to be. Nowadays there are five stages—born, engaged, married, divorced, died.

The Japanese Acrobat's Trick.

The little Japanese acrobat, in his short robe of black embroidered with gold dragons, walked slowly up the slanting wire cable to the very roof of the circus tent. There he paused a moment, and then—swish, swish—he slid smoothly and gracefully down the steep wire to the ground. Evidently his voice above the loud applause, an old circus man said: "That sliding trick has never been learned by a European. It's a trick that the Japs alone do. If you watched our little friend you noticed that he always kept the wire between his big toe and the second toe. When he slid, the wire was between his toes. That is the way the Japanese learn to walk the wire, but we English and Americans can't learn to walk in that way because our toes have not the same suppleness and strength. Our toes, confined for generations in unsuited, tight, heavy leather boots, have no muscle and no mobility. To slide down a wire requires well developed toes first of all. We, therefore, can't match the Japs in this showy, telling and difficult feat."—Philadelphia Record.

The little blind girl was writing a composition on the rabbit and, never having seen a creature of any sort, inquired of her teacher whether the rabbit had a tail.

Yes, a small one, none to speak of answered the teacher.

This is the way the little girl introduced the matter into her composition:

The rabbit has a small tail but you musn't talk about it.

The teacher—What were Noah Webster's last words?

The Scholar—I don't remember just what they were, but I know they all begin with the Z.

It was in a restaurant, and the young wife looked anxiously at her husband as he devoured portions of lobster salad.

I wish you wouldn't eat that, dear, she urged. You know it never agrees with you, especially at night.

It doesn't, but I don't care, he said as he tackled a huge mouthful. It's my turn to take care of the baby to-night, anyhow.

Mrs. Greene—Well, she'll get herself into trouble if she tries her coaxing little way on either of my hired girls.

SALMON CHANGE THEIR WAYS.

At Least Some People Have a Theory That They Do.

The salmon fishing has been only fairly good this year, says an end of July correspondent at Gaspe Basin. Anglers have been doing well up the rivers with rod and line. Indeed, some of the finest fish seen for years have been taken this season with the fly.

But about here that is not known as fishing. The fisherman who is a professional means nothing when he speaks of fishing, and it is the netting of salmon which supplies the markets of inland cities and leaves money with the fisherman.

Some of the old hands give a whimsical kind of reason for the failure, comparatively speaking, of the fishery. "It's a change of religion as has come over the fish," grumbled one old salt. "It used to be that the salmon had some kind of a notion of keeping the Sabbath day holy, but now I'm lost if they haven't all turned Seventh Day Baptists."

It would be mentioned that, according to law, all nets at the mouths of salmon rivers must be lifted at night fall on Saturday, and not put down again until daybreak on Monday.

"Just get up on the bank where you can look down into the water on Sunday and see the shoals of big fellows a-breaking off the Sabbath by crowding on all sail and getting as far up the river as possible," the old salt went on. "It's my belief as the biggest of the fish just hold Sunday school all week, off the mouth of the river, and only travel on Sunday."

Inquiry shows that the idea is prevalent that the lordly salmon is gradually learning better than to persist in posing his aristocratic nose into nets, to his own undoing. Experiments made by restless lads also go to show that the big fish do congregate at the mouths of streams before sailing in, and some little success has been met with in ground fishing for them with crabs and young lobsters.

This will be news to those who know the salmon best, for it is pretty well understood that this fish abstains from all food from the time it tastes fresh water until it reaches the sea again, after its summer outing.

The flies wherewith anglers beguile salmon to come to gaff are probably taken from sheer light-heartedness or from a collector's rage for pretty things. But if it should prove that the fish haunts about the mouths of fresh water openings and may be coaxed to take bait there, there will be great rejoicing on the part of the great array of anglers who cannot afford to hire a salmon river, but will be glad to take chance of getting fast to one of these noble fish in the open sea.
