Communications.

To the Editor of the Maritime Farmer:

Sir,—I have received the Capital of the 21st inst., containing the editorial of your recent issue, and I am sorry to find that you have been misled by the subject to drop; but I cannot pass in silence, my questionings, in the same article, concerning the authorship of the letter, which in compliance with my request, you courteously published in your paper of the 20th inst. I consider that in his remarks he has thrown out ungenerous and unjust insinuations against the FARMER, the standing and respectability of which Journal should insure it against the suspicion of concocting a discreditable or mean act. I do not consider that the editor of the MARITIME FARMER, or any other person, would force my name to the editor of his own composition. I had asked Mr. Nason to write to the Capital, and I am sorry to find that he has kindly done it, I being ill at the time, and unable to attend to the matter, but in justice to myself and friends, I feel that I must personally take up the subject. The letter in question emanates from my own brain and pen, and expressed my sentiments, and no other person is in any way responsible for it. If they were hard words, the subject demands such. If the editor of the Capital failed to see the truth of my remarks, I assure him, I heartily feel the point of my mistake! I had not been pictured in the columns of his paper before the friends of my youth, and in my native city, as the personification of wickedness, and an object of commiseration, being in such a position, and I am so fully placed in such a position, that every one knew me and my antecedents, was to me no disgrace.

Perhaps I should not expect the editor of the Capital to appreciate or enter into my feelings in such a position; but my friends, the public, and the general community, I have always held my good name as of greater value than riches. "Who steals my purse, steals trash; but he who steals my name, steals my self." I am sure that which does not enrich him, and makes me poor.

I examine the Capital from intentionally doing me a wrong, nor do I bear the editor any malice, for, as I know we are all liable to make mistakes, but I did think he had shown injudicious haste in publishing a mere suggestion; and a great lack of judgment, for a journalist, to say the least, in giving me such undesirable notoriety on an uncertainty, and in a case which has excited much interest, and alarmed my friends in New Brunswick, without having first investigated the matter, which could easily have been done. And I would not have thought him so unwise, as to have questioned the authorship of the letter vindicating myself.

Hoping this unpleasant subject will be permitted to drop, without further controversy.

I am, Sir,
Yours with respect,
MR. MARGARET J. GRAHAM,
New York, June 20th, 1883.

FREDERICTON, N. B., July 4, 1883.

Fredericton's Claim Conceded.

We have the very best authority for announcing that the new Maritime School for the Maritime Provinces, to be established this Autumn, will be located in this city, and that at least one hundred men of the Canadian standing army, will be stationed here in connection therewith, the whole to be under the command of Lieut. Col. Munnell, late Deputy Adjutant General, for New Brunswick. Ever since provision was made at the last session of Parliament for this departure, we are led to believe, that strong pressure has been brought to bear upon the Government by almost every town of importance in the Maritime Provinces, to secure the school and its attendant, St. John particularly urging its claims with peculiar force, but the Minister of Militia, Hon. Mr. Oron, and the Government, recognizing the facilities this city already possesses, for all the necessities of the institution, justly conceded our claims, and the result is as we have stated.

The establishment of the school, and the organization of a permanent military force here, means a large addition to our population; it means an expenditure annually of thousands of dollars, and it will give our own young men an opportunity, if they wish, of entering the military service, and furnishing them the means of procuring, if they desire that only a military education. All classes will cordially welcome Col. Munnell and his staff. A more popular officer we never placed in command, and we have every reason to believe that the Colonel fully reciprocates the kindly feeling borne him by our citizens, and will be as well pleased to resume his residence here, as the people of Fredericton are to welcome him back.

The Dominion Celebration.

As we anticipated, when taking into account the enthusiasm with which the citizens of Fredericton entered into the preparations for celebrating the anniversary of the Dominion natal day, our fair little city covered itself with glory on Monday. From every point of view, the occasion was one of grandeur and interest, and the attendance of visitors was even beyond expectation, and the entire programme of the day was carried through without a hitch. Our friends from abroad returned home delighted and surprised at the proportions the demonstration assumed, and our own people, each and every one, felt the success that attended their efforts. While congratulating the citizens of Fredericton, and the very efficient committees who acted on their behalf, we do not forget the valuable assistance received from St. John, Carleton Place, Woodstock and St. Stephen. The unanimity with which the representatives of the different towns displayed in contributing to the day's enjoyment, was one of the most pleasing features of the celebration.

To our friends, however, headed by their Chief, we feel it due to say, belongs the entire honor of originating the affair, and the central figure in raising the most essential element—the financial means—were Chief Engineer Lippert and D. J. Stockford, who on more than one occasion have worked hard and successfully to provide assistance for the Fredericton public. His Worship Mayor Fisher, who bore himself most gracefully throughout the day, and his Chief Engineer and his Assistant, Mr. Geo. H. H. C. Rutter, Mr. Samuel Owen, Mr. C. A. Sampson, Mr. Alfred Edgecombe, Mr. C. L. Richards, and numerous other gentlemen whose names we could mention, all worked hard to make the occasion the grand success it was, and they were happy in procuring the assistance of such a notable individual as Mr. A. G. Gorman, whose presence, with his assistants created much amusement, and of Mr. Geo. A. Fraser, the gallant commander of the 17th Regt., and of Mr. Henry Green, whose connection was more particularly the Fire Works display.

I am satisfied that the celebration on Sunday surpassed any like effort ever before seen in Fredericton. There were more visitors in the city, there was more enthusiasm; there was better order; the representation of provincial people was more general, and the arrangements of the day were more fully carried out than on any former occasion of the kind. Commencing with the Polymorph display, and ending with the fire works, the day programme was pleasing throughout.

Death of Sir Albert J. Smith.

Sir Albert J. Smith, after an illness extending over the past year, died at his residence, Dorchester, on Sunday evening. He was born in Westmorland County in 1822, educated at the County Grammar School and married in June, 1863, the daughter of J. W. Young, Esq., of Halifax, N. S. He was called to the bar of New Brunswick in 1847. In 1852, he was elected to the Legislature for Westmorland County, was a member of the Executive Council from 1856 to 1863, when he retired from the government. He held the same office in his own administration in 1865. He was delegate to England with the late Judge Fisher in 1868 on the subject of the International Railway; to the same country with the present Chief Justice Allen on public business in 1865, and to Washington with Hon. Messrs. Galt (now Sir A. T.) Howland and Henry on the subject of reciprocal trade, January, 1866. He sat in the Local Legislature until Confederation, when he was elected to the House of Commons in 1867, and continued to represent that county until last year, when he was defeated by the present member, Mr. Wood. He was sworn of the Privy Council and appointed Minister of Marine and Fisheries, 7th November, 1873, and in 1877 represented Canada before the Fisheries Commission, being knighted for his services in that connection. The remains of the deceased gentleman were interred at Dorchester yesterday afternoon.

We hope the Capital in view of Mrs. Graham's second letter to the MARITIME FARMER, will be more than satisfied that it did not lay a trap for her, which it has not yet laid the same of fairness to make proper restitution. It was a sufficient injustice to her to spread abroad a most painful report, but the Capital with unblinking honesty, was first letter to inform her that Graham's first letter was a forgery. We leave this point to be settled by Mrs. Graham, who apparently is quite satisfied to rest herself against the Capital in a newspaper correspondence. Within a short time the Capital has been successful in placing in a false and painful position, the residents of this City and County. Mr. McLaughlin, Graham's agent, we presume, intentionally to injure the Capital, from a disregard of any foundation for the reports it so falsely. Lamentable, as is the unreliability of our contemporary's news columns, it might be excused in a measure if after being corrected, it showed a disposition to atone for its blunders, but it is particularly in the Capital that we find this done, but issue after issue heaped injury upon insult. Its information in the McLagan and Graham matters, were scarcely less reliable than the statement published through its columns recently, that there could be a military parade here on Dominion Day.

The Halifax Mail in commenting recently on the Continental Exhibition prize list, makes some amusing remarks on the awards to be given for game birds. It says that, "in all 40 prizes will be given to those fighting birds. The prize list is supposed to be made out by the Board of Agriculture whose president is William Elder, Esq., M. P. P., Provincial Secretary of N. B. We regret to see a tender to cock fighting in so excellent a man as Mr. Elder. Mr. Elder has been able to conceal this weakness hitherto. We suppose that he has kept a number of game birds in a back room of the Telegraph office, and has fought them when his editorial brain demanded relaxation. It is probable that Mr. Elder's disputation commenced before he had taken a field of chess with a Frenchman. To destroy the Potato bug, 'London Purple' is highly recommended. The following formula is given for its use:—Mix into paste and then add water in the proportion of three gallons to each ounce of 45 lbs. of the Purple. Stir well and apply by sprinkling with a white or fine water-sprayer, taking care not to drench the plant, but only to cover it with a fine spray. A pound of London Purple costs less than a pound of Paris Green and is twice as bulky; but in the proportions given above it would not cost a field of chess with a Frenchman. It is sold cheaper on account of its being a waste product in the manufacture of some of the aniline dyes. Its active properties are due to the arsenate and arsenite of sodium contained in it, and is just as deadly a poison as Paris Green.

The honorary degree of D. O. L. was conferred on Lieut.-Governor Archibald and General Laurie at the Executive offices of King's College, Windsor, N. S., last Thursday.

DEATH OF SIR ALBERT J. SMITH.

Sir Albert J. Smith, after an illness extending over the past year, died at his residence, Dorchester, on Sunday evening. He was born in Westmorland County in 1822, educated at the County Grammar School and married in June, 1863, the daughter of J. W. Young, Esq., of Halifax, N. S. He was called to the bar of New Brunswick in 1847. In 1852, he was elected to the Legislature for Westmorland County, was a member of the Executive Council from 1856 to 1863, when he retired from the government. He held the same office in his own administration in 1865. He was delegate to England with the late Judge Fisher in 1868 on the subject of the International Railway; to the same country with the present Chief Justice Allen on public business in 1865, and to Washington with Hon. Messrs. Galt (now Sir A. T.) Howland and Henry on the subject of reciprocal trade, January, 1866. He sat in the Local Legislature until Confederation, when he was elected to the House of Commons in 1867, and continued to represent that county until last year, when he was defeated by the present member, Mr. Wood. He was sworn of the Privy Council and appointed Minister of Marine and Fisheries, 7th November, 1873, and in 1877 represented Canada before the Fisheries Commission, being knighted for his services in that connection. The remains of the deceased gentleman were interred at Dorchester yesterday afternoon.

We hope the Capital in view of Mrs. Graham's second letter to the MARITIME FARMER, will be more than satisfied that it did not lay a trap for her, which it has not yet laid the same of fairness to make proper restitution. It was a sufficient injustice to her to spread abroad a most painful report, but the Capital with unblinking honesty, was first letter to inform her that Graham's first letter was a forgery. We leave this point to be settled by Mrs. Graham, who apparently is quite satisfied to rest herself against the Capital in a newspaper correspondence. Within a short time the Capital has been successful in placing in a false and painful position, the residents of this City and County. Mr. McLaughlin, Graham's agent, we presume, intentionally to injure the Capital, from a disregard of any foundation for the reports it so falsely. Lamentable, as is the unreliability of our contemporary's news columns, it might be excused in a measure if after being corrected, it showed a disposition to atone for its blunders, but it is particularly in the Capital that we find this done, but issue after issue heaped injury upon insult. Its information in the McLagan and Graham matters, were scarcely less reliable than the statement published through its columns recently, that there could be a military parade here on Dominion Day.

The Halifax Mail in commenting recently on the Continental Exhibition prize list, makes some amusing remarks on the awards to be given for game birds. It says that, "in all 40 prizes will be given to those fighting birds. The prize list is supposed to be made out by the Board of Agriculture whose president is William Elder, Esq., M. P. P., Provincial Secretary of N. B. We regret to see a tender to cock fighting in so excellent a man as Mr. Elder. Mr. Elder has been able to conceal this weakness hitherto. We suppose that he has kept a number of game birds in a back room of the Telegraph office, and has fought them when his editorial brain demanded relaxation. It is probable that Mr. Elder's disputation commenced before he had taken a field of chess with a Frenchman. To destroy the Potato bug, 'London Purple' is highly recommended. The following formula is given for its use:—Mix into paste and then add water in the proportion of three gallons to each ounce of 45 lbs. of the Purple. Stir well and apply by sprinkling with a white or fine water-sprayer, taking care not to drench the plant, but only to cover it with a fine spray. A pound of London Purple costs less than a pound of Paris Green and is twice as bulky; but in the proportions given above it would not cost a field of chess with a Frenchman. It is sold cheaper on account of its being a waste product in the manufacture of some of the aniline dyes. Its active properties are due to the arsenate and arsenite of sodium contained in it, and is just as deadly a poison as Paris Green.

The honorary degree of D. O. L. was conferred on Lieut.-Governor Archibald and General Laurie at the Executive offices of King's College, Windsor, N. S., last Thursday.
