NOT AN ORDINARY STRIKE. "This is not a strike in the ordinary ense of the word, but a stand for the principles of liberty, justice and right Redress cannot be obtained by brute force, but only by appeal to the reason and judgment of our fellow-citizens. This meeting is of great importance, and every worker in Pennsylvania and Ohio, and, indeed, the whole world, awaits the result. What shall it be? What may be said here tonight, what may be done in Wellsville within the next few days, may alter the destiny of our country. It may result in the preservation of institutions founded blessed and sustained by past generations, or they may be overthrown and destroyed. Should I say nothing further, this should be enough to show the gravity of the situation in Wells-ville. "There is no doubt that the capital ists are as anxious to see the trouble settled as are we. They have much at stake, but they will keep within bounds of the law. At the same time, they will lose no opportunity temptation in your way, hoping that you will do something which will make trouble and lose you the goodwill of the people. For this reason, if for no other, I ask you all to be careful and cautious and do othing wrong. Do not drink, above all things. I repeat. The first bad break at this point on the part of the workmen may mean the beginning of the end. The employers are already at work trying to break the strike. They will try you

OF INTEREST TO STRIKERS

All Eyes Are Now on Vandergrift and Duncansville.

Union Delegates Are Trying to Get Men There in Line.

Machinists Quit Work at Reading-Lake Sailors Threaten- A Sweeping Injunction.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 19.-While Wellsville, Ohio, was the pivotal point around which interst in the great strike was concentrated yesterday on account of the large mass meeting held there, two more points are on the map to which all those interested in the strike are now looking. These points are Vandergrift, Pa., and Duncansville, Pa. At Wellsville the situation remains practically unchanged, or, if there is a change at all, it is in favor of the mills going shortly into full operation. Manager Smith claims to have 40 men at work and he says he will have a complete force by Monday.

DEVELOPMENTS ANXIOUSLY WATCHED.

Developments at Duncansville are anxiously watched. A delegate from this city went there last night with the intention of organizing the men, and if he succeeds they will all go not understand the magnitude of the out, which means that every plant of the American Steel Hoop Company will be idle. At Vandergrift the situcorporation had in reserve a fighting ation is still favorable to the comfund of $200,000,000, or, as it was put pany, and although the amalgamated to us, a reserve to bolster up the stock people are not leaving a stone unturn-

LAKE SAILORS THREATEN. Bay City, Mich., July 19.-Grand President Ryan, of the Lake Tugmen's Protective Association, has arrived here from Duluth, and after ference with the local branch of the association regarding the employment of non-union men on the tugs of the Michigan Log Towing Company, of which Capt. James Davidson is president, presented a demand to the company that all non-union captains and engineers be replaced by union men by 10 o'clock Saturday morning. Capt Davidson, was informed that unless his company acceded to the demand the entire fleet of lake vessels owned by himself individually would be tied up, through the refusal of union tug men to handle his vessels. Capt. Davidson says he will take the matter under advisement and announce his decision Saturday morning. A SWEEPING INJUNCTION. Derby, Conn., July 19.-Judge Edwin B. Gager, of the supreme court of New Haven county, has granted one of the most sweeping injunctions ever issued from a Connecticut court. The peti-tion as filed by Attorney Frederick W. Holden at the instance of the Farrell Foundry and Machine Company, whose machinists struck on May 20 last. The injunction restrains the strikers from in any way interfering with the new men employed, from boycotting, intimidating or annoying them by noise, from congregating, posting pickets or doing anything striking employes frequently do when new men are brought in to fill their places. The hearing on the permancy of the injunction will come up at the September term of the superior court.

FIVE DROWNED BY CAPSIZING OF SAILBOAT.

Awful Catastrophe in Waters of Long Island Sound.

The Steward and a Woman Passenger Were Alone Saved.

Owner of the Yacht and His Daughters Among the Lost-Sudden Squall New Haven, Conn., July 19.-Five persons were drowned in Long Island

Sound yesterday afternoon by the capsizing of the yawl-rigged yacht Venitzia of Philadelphia, at a point five miles east of Sandspont, near the New York and Connecticut line. Only two of those on board the yacht were rescued. The drowned are:
Arthur C. Colburn, owner of the yacht, and his daughters, Ida and Annette Colburn, all of Philadelphia. Captain Flint, of Brooklyn, N. Y., master of the yacht, and a sailor unknown. The others on board the ill-fated craft, Mrs. W. G. Sprankle, of Philadelphia, and daughter of the owner of the yacht, and Steward James Shanbridge, of New York, were rescued by the tug Gertrude, after clinging for two hours to the bottom of a capsized long boat. The yacht left Delaware city Monday morning, bound for Newport. Yesterday morning it started from Tompkinsville, the intention being to put into Blackrock,

Conn., last night and take on board Mrs. Sprankle's husband, who was ex-HOW IT HAPPENED.

According to the story of the steward, the accident happened between 3 and 3:30 in the afternoon. The weather looked very squally, and the stewsails including jibs, staysail and topsail. Steward Stanbridge says he was jibs and felt the boat heel over. He rushed on deck and was about amidships when the craft capsized. When he found himself in the water he at-tempted to grasp one of the sails which lay on, but found that it was sinking, and he then swam for the yawl's tender, which was bottom up. As he was supporting himself at one end of the boat, Mrs. Sprankle, who is an expert swimmer, caught hold of the other end and they balanced themselves thus until the tug Gertrude appeared and the attention of those on board was attracted by the shouts. When picked up both were thoroughly exhausted, but have partly recovered this morning.

DROWNED IN THE CABIN. The steward saw nothing of the others of the party after the disaster and believes that some were carried under by the sails and rigging, and that others were drowned in the cabin. After the tug reached the city this morning Mrs. Sprankle was taken to a local hotel and will await there the arrival of her husband. The yacht Venitzia was built in 1880, in Mystic, Conn.,

QUAINT FORMS OF OTHER DAYS

fered Much and Made Sentence Light.

London, July 19 .- The trial of Earl Russell began at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, and was carried on with all the quaint and middle-age ceremonies. The arguments lasted one hour. Both the Earl and Countess Russell their counsels pleaded they did know they were doing wrong, but had acted on the best legal advice obtainable in Nevada. The Peers reached their decision after consideration of the case lasting twenty minutes. The scene in the royal gallery, temporarily converted into a court of justice, when the lord high chancellor, Lord Halsbury, who had been appointed lord high steward for the occasion, took his seat upon the dais and the quaint ceremonial commenced, was most picturesque. The hall was a magnificent blaze of color, produced by the robes of the peers, the academic robes of the judges and the brilliant uniforms of high state officers. Although the House of Lords was not represented in its full strength, about 200 of Earl Russell's peers attended his trial, and made an imposing array as they filed into the hall, two by two, from behind the throne. Lord Salisbury, the premier, brought up the rear of the procession, and was almost unnoticed as he took his seat near Lord Halsbury. Immediately beneath the latter's dais sat the ten judges in their gorgeous robes, surrounded by a phalanx of lesser legal luminaries. On either side of the judges were ranged five benches filled with peers, whose rank was distinguished by the varying number of rows of ermine and gold lace on their scarlet mantles. The benches reserved for peeresses were ed with diplomats and their families, including the United States ambassador, Joseph H. Choate, and the secretary of the United States embasty, Henry White.

SERIES OF QUAINT CEREMONIES. Mollie Cooke, otherwise Mrs. Somerville, Karl Russell's present wife, enthe benches occupied by members of the House of Commons. She appeared no more concerned than the other witnesses of the interesting scene.

The court was formally opened by a series of quaint ceremonies, and the exchange of stately phrases prescribed in the ancient legal procedure. Beside Lord Halsbury, in his earl's robes and a full-bottomed wig, stood Gen-eral Sir Michael Biddulph, Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod, and William

"charges and commands all manner his to keep silence on pain of imprisonment." Another official, on bended knee handed the commission to the lord high chancellor, who, while handing it back to another kneeling clerk, said: "Let all be uncovered while the commission is read." After the necessary formalities, Earl Russell was conducted to the bar. He was dressed in a gray suit and wore a red tie. He calmly surveyed his judges and his peers. Then a clerk riage. Earl Russell said he proposed of parliament cried loudly: "John to remarry Mollie Cooke as early as Francis Stanley, Earl Russell, come forth and surrended to bail or forfeit recognizances." Black Rod, bedecked with medals and in uniform, approached the bar, which was raised as the earl drew near, and surrendered Earl Russell. Upon reaching his appointed seat, Earl Russell stood leaning against table, and then made obeisance three times to the lord high steward. He remained with bowed head until the latter addressed the accused. Then the indictment was read by the clerk, who concluded with these words:

GUILTY OR NOT GUILTY? "How say you, my lord, guilty of felony, or not guilty?" Before Earl Russell could answer, his counsel objected to the indictment, on the ground that the alleged offense was committed outside of the dominions of his Majesty King Edward.

During the course of the technical and the tiresome argument by the earl's counsel, the prosecution summoned Judge Corler, of Nevada, within the bar to confer on certain points raised in counsel's argument. After the reply of the prosecution to the argument of counsel for the defense, Earl Russell, in a voice scarcely audible, pleaded guilty.

His counsel then addressed the house in mitigation, pleading the accused had acted upon the best legal advice obtainable in Nevada, that the offense was merely technical, and that Lord Russell then addressed the house in the same strain, saying the decree obtained in the United States gave social sanction to the new marto remarry Mollie Cooke as early as possible. Concluding, he said that he had acted in ignorance, and with no intention of willingly defying the law The peers retired to consider their verdict. When they had reassembled the lord high steward called for the prisoner. The whole house rose its feet when the lord high steward proceeded to deliver the judgment.

KING'S RIGHT TO LEGISLATE. After intimating his opinion relative to the defendant's plea that the court had no jurisdiction in the matter, that King Edward had a right to legislate for his subjects all over the world, Lord Halsbury commented on the historic name of Russell. While the crime could not be passed over, said the lord high steward, at the same time there were several mitigating circumstances. Lord Russell had passed through long periods of troubles; he had experienced extreme provocation and suffered much torture. In consideration of, and as a result of these circumstances, their lordships, not desiring to inflict the full penalty upon Lord Russell, had unanimously decided that justice would be satisfied by his being imprisoned in Holloway prison for three months as a criminal in the first divi-Lord Russell then passed out of the house in company of the yeoman usher of the black rod. Near the door of the house, Mollie Cooke joined her husband, and before he was removed to Holloway prison the couple were allowed to confer in a room near the royal gallery.

The commission was then dissolved by the high lord steward breaking his wand of office, and thus dispersed. In anticipation of the arrival of Lord Russell, the officials of Holloway prison have prepared for his reception rooms formally occupied by Wm.

T. Stead, the editor, and members of the Jameson raiders. It is a com-modious apartment, in which his lordship can be supplied with his own food and wines.

The World-Renowned

COMPLEXION SPECIALIST

Says:

The complexion is usually at its worst at this time of the year, and if it is neglected too long, the skin gets so bad that it causes much unhappiness. You can save yourself all this unnecessary trouble if you will use now one or two bottles of my FACE BLEACH, which draws out of the skin all impurities which disease and discolor it.

My FACE BLEACH is today used by thousands of ladies throughout the land, whose complexions it has made perfect. I will personally guarantee to every lady that there is no preparation that will improve the complexion as my FACE BLEACH improves it. If you are troubled and worried over a complexion filled with freckles, pimples, blackheads, moth patches, eczema, sallowness, all redness or roughness of the skin, and wrinkles that are not caused by facial expression, get my FACE BLEACH at once and get rid of them. I only wish I could meet every lady in London, whose complexion is not all that it ought to be, and have a good talk with her so that I might advise her how to secure a good clear complexion. I could not advise anything better, anything more beneficial than my FACE BLEACH. But as I cannot meet you all, I would suggest that you get my book, "How to Be Beautiful," which my agents, Cairneross & Lawrence, 216 Dundas Street, will give you FREE. My book is simply invaluable to every lady who desires a clear and perfect complexion. MADAME A. RUPPERT.

We hope that Mme. Ruppert's patrons will be guided by what she suggests and get a full treatment of her FACE BLEACH this time, and give your face, and neck too, a thorough clearing of all impurities of the skin.

We will present to every lady caller FREE, Mme. Ruppert's book, "HOW TO BE BEAUTI-FUL." We have a full line of Mme, Ruppert's Toilet Preparations in our store, and we will be pleased to show and explain their merits to every lady interested.

OF DISCUSSION.

Lord Rosebery's Letter on the Companies On Top in the Firemen's Strike. Liberal Party.

London Experiencing Terrific Heat— Chinese Deadlock—Bloody Riots in Spain—Cable Notes.

London, July 19.—Lord Rosebery's letter dealing with the present position of the Liberal party is the leading topic of discussion, but its ultimate effect cannot yet be gauged. The Liberal imperialists appear to be embarrassed and disinclined to adopt Lord Rosebery's implied advice to break away with the remainder of the party. On the other hand, the anti-war Liberals, although criticising the letter as mischievous, are generalpleased, because they believe Lord Rosebery has excluded himself from future leadership. The ex-prime minister's friends do not share the latter view, believing that he is willing to accept a suitable invitation, although he would not reassume the leadership of the Liberal party under the old conditions. The letter is universally regarded as making the position of Mr. Herbert Asquith more difficult when he speaks at the much-boomed dinner on Friday. Sir Edward Gray, who is one of the strongest vertebrae of the Liberal imperialists, made an important speech last evening. He frankly but not bitterly, declared that Lord Rosebery's attitude was dangerous, if not an impossible one. If he wished unity in the party he ought to use his influence to achieve it, a view which Sir Edward's audience loudly applaud-

TERRIFIC HEAT. London, July 19 .- The heat yesterday exceeded all previous records of the season. The entire absence of any breeze added from 10 to 15 degrees to the 87 degrees recorded by the official thermometer, and indication point to a further increase of the stifling temperature. At Bisley the shooting contests are proceeding in the sun at a temperature of 142 degrees. The pro-longed drought over the country threatens to be the most serious yet experienced. The water supply of Manchester is already cut off from three at night until five in the morn ing, and the streets of the city not be water after this week. Similar conditions are threatened in other localities, and many factories are clos ing in consequence of the exhaustion of their reservoirs.

CAUSE OF CHINESE DEADLOCK. London, July 19.-In the House of Commons yesterday the parliamentary secretary of the foreign office, Lord Cranborne, informed a questioner that the difficulty which caused the deadlock among the ministers of the foreign powers at Pekin, had reference the collection of revenues, marked for the purposes of the indemnity, and that the negotiations at Pekin were still in progress.

BLOODY RIOTS IN SPAIN. Saragossa, Spain, July 19.—Gen. Cavero, a Carlist, was killed and nearly 50 other persons were wounded in encounters Wednesday between Catholice and Free Thinkers in Saragossa. The offices of the Noticiero, a Catholic newspaper, were wrecked. The fight Philip, where a jubilee celebration was ganization. being held. Shots were fired by anti-Catholics. Subsequently the Catholics marched through the streets armed with revolvers and knives, further viclence resulting. The authorities confined themselves to exorting the people to remain calm and to protect threatened persons and property.

Sugar Beets.

The weather so far has been favorable for the growth of sugar beets, but nature only does her share of the Beets properly planted and well attended are looking well, but the success of the crop depends a good deal on the cultivation they receive in the next few weeks. The dryer the weather, the oftener they should be cultivated to help retain moisture, and cultivated shallow so as not to disturb the small roots; and care should be taken not to break the leaves, as they are the lungs of the plant, through which it breathes. Sugar is composed of car-bon, hydrogen and oxygen, drawn from the air through the leaves, and unless the plant has a good top, the chances are the beets will be of poor quality The land should be kept clear of weeds. The more attention given to the crop the better. Of the twelve samples I had grown last year, the best sample was well cultivated and kept clean. It yielded over 16 per cent sugar, 91 purity and worth about $5 50 per ton. The TABLE OR COFFEE CREAM X - 20c Per Quart

Hy and worth about $5 50 per ton. The poorest sample was weedy, and not properly attended to. It only yielded 11 per cent of sugar and 76 purity, and not worth over $3 a ton, if a factory took them at any price. There is from 75 to 100 samples grown in the county this year, and I trust the result will soil is adapted to and our farmers willing to grow sugar beets, which are yeld-ing large profits in Michigan and other sections of the country. If sugar beets year. The consumption of sugar doubles every fifteen years, and the increase in the production of an and the increase in the production of an analysis of the production of the prod crease in the production of cane sugar is very little. The world has to depend on its sugar supply coming from beets. Of late years the chemical process of separating the saccharine from the non-saccharine juice of the beet has CACOUNA, the Cooling, separating the saccharine from the become so perfect that no difference can be found between sugar made from can be found between sugar made from sugar cane or from sugar beets. The METIS, the Magnificent, quality is exactly the same. As our section of the country is well adapted to growing sugar beets, which yield BIC, the Beautiful a large profit, why should farmers coutinue to raise wheat, which is grown at a less, and send it out of the country to pay for sugar that should be grown at home. It behooves our business men of capital to create a market for sugar beets by the erection of a large sugar place to erect a sugar factory that sevhalf the capital for the erection of a sugar factory, if the city and country will raise the other half.

HAVE A LITTLE THE BEST OF IT.

Firemen Who Belong to United Mine Workers Will Not Be Ordered to Go Out.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 19.-The third day of the stationary firemen's strike found the situation about the same, although President Mullahy, of the strikers' association, reported large gains in the Lackawanna region. This was denied by the operators, who claimed the situation in the upper portion of the coal fields was a little better than Wednesday. While all the mines that were idle in the Wyoming region Wednesday were idle yester-day, the companies seem to have slightly the best of it. They have increased the number of firemen at a great many of their collieries.

STONED BY STRIKERS. Some non-union firemen at the Maltby collieries of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company were stoned by strikers and breaker boys as they were changing shifts yesterday morning, and several were hurt, but none seriously. No shots were fired. The company has sent men to guard the mines and prevent rioting.

WILL BE ORDERED BACK. Scranton, Pa., July 19.-The executive board of district No. 1, United Mine Workers' Association, in special session here yesterday afternoon, adopted a resolution providing that all stationary firemen, members of the mine workers' organization, who have quit work because of the strike of the international association of stationary firemen shall be ordered back to work at once by District President Nicholls. Many of these men have already deserted to join their trades' organization. The action yesterday afternoon clearly defined the position of the United Mine Workers of America, and

Pittsburg, Pa., July 19.—A dispatch last night from Monesses says: "in spite of all efforts to the contrary the tin mill here is still running at full time, and as far as present appearances indicate it promises not to be affected in the slightest by the strike. The 800 employes are satisfied with the voluntary advance made by the com-bine and will continue to work nonunion. There are reports of a special meeting to be held with some of the officials of the Amalgamated Association and of an effort to be made to have the plant closed down next Monday, but it cannot be verified. Of the 500 striking steel hoop men, many have left for their homes, as they are of the opinion the contest is to be long and bitter. The hoop mill is closed down with the exception of twenty men who are making some needed re-

Why Not Arbitrate?

The fight goes on between the Amalgamated Association of Workers and the Steel Trust. A huge strike of this sort may do infinite damage to manuindustry in the United States before it is settled; just as the big engineering strike of a few years Great Britain is conceded to have given the United States the chance of which it quickly availed

What both parties to the contest in Great Britain should have done was to submit their differences to arbitration. What Gen. Sherman once said about the destructiveness of modern warthat arbitration was the only alternative remedy worth considering-applies with equal force to industrial war.

We do not sweepingly prejudge in regard to this big strike. Probably there never was a strike in which all the right was on one side and all the wrong on the other. The Trust says a demand is made on it to coerce its non-union men into joining the union But President Shaffer denies this. "The thing that we insist on," he says, "is that the men be released from the contracts now binding them to belong to no labor organization, and be allowed to join our association without being discharged, as has been the rule hitherto in the non-union plants of the American Sheet Steel Company."

No non-union man should be coerced into joining a union; but neither should he be fettered by a contract binding him not to belong to a union. Some of the plants operated by the trust are worked by union men; other plants are worked by non-union men. at about the same rate of wages, and the Amalgamated Association asks the scale to be signed by the Trust for all the mills, non-union as well as union, in order to prevent discrimination in to be able to state in an omniscient manner the exact balance of right and or in the views held by the oposite sides. The point we desire to make is that the matters involved in this strike are eminently such as seem to call for settlement by arbitration. If it is possible to hold an effective voluntary arbitration, the big dispute ought to be capable of early settlement on an equitable basis; if it is not possible to agree to hold a voluntary arbitration, that impossibility would be another argument in favor of the New Zealand method of compulsory arbitration in industrial disputes. The State, that is, the public, the people as a whole-have some right to be considered as well as the immediate disputants in a strike.

The Text Book Question.

The Conservative press headed by the Toronto World, are raising a particular howl over what they choose to term the "school book monopoly." The World, especially, by its action shows what a great fuss can be stirred up over little or nothing. Two years ago a board of arbitration was appointed to inquire into the alleged evils in connection with the sale of text books. The members comprising this board were James Blain, librarian of the Toronto Public Library, as representative of the government; Richard Brown, wholesale book manufacturer, representing the publishers; and the third man was Judge Morgan. The following excerpt is from the report of this committee:

"An examination into the prices charged in the United States for school books of a kind almost identical with those forming the subject of this reference, has satisfied us that the prices of Canadian school books far below the prices obtained in the United States, and that the edu-cation department of Ontario has exercised extreme care in dealing with each work as to the retail price thereof, so that the public has obtained the books at lower prices than could have been obtained under any other system than the system of authorization now adopted by the department, and this system, while it fully protects the public and secures priced school books, appears to be reasonably fair to the publisher."

This was the conclusion after a session of fourteen days and the examination of twenty-one witnesses. The prices of all the public and high school text books were found satisfactory, with the exception of the high school drawing course, where it was recom mended that the price should be reduced from 20c to 15c per copy. Probably in no other province or state can text-books be obtained so cheaply as in the Province of Ontario. The government, while giving the preference to home publication, has not done so at the expense of the patrons of the schools. For instance, a text-book in Greek has been introduced in our moral problem will be of greater imcollegiate institutes, which is the work of a celebrated Greek scholar, Dr. industrial problem, so far as it con-

Goodwin, at one time professor in cerns the form, will doubtless adjust ition and report this time through Harvard University. We give this existence itself. The most prominent phase at their London weekly, "The Red Letample as showing that the aim, at least, of the Education Department has been to combine as good quality as is consistent with a very moderate has been given the preference to home patronage in manufacture, where it was necessary in the public

Canada's Progress.

The best indication of the progress and prosperity of Canada in recent years is found in the statement made by the Deputy-Governor of the Canadian Company, who presided at the annual meeting of that organization in London, the other day. Among other things, he expressed the greatest satisfaction that land sold last year at $28 92, which was valued by the ompany at but $23 83 an acre in 1894. There had been a great demand for the ompany's lands in the townships of Sombra and Dawn. The land there had been taken up by a class of men who had little capital, but who were thoroughly acquainted with such conditions of farming as were necessary then, and who were engaged in clearing the land. The deputy-governor said the chief complaint from Canada was the dearth of farm hands. This is a dearth that can be in part remedied if the British people will aid in having the emigration from the motherland diverted onto Canadian farms, instead of being taken too often to swell the numbers of the commercial rivals of the old land as well as of the Dominion. This is a matter to Examination Answers.

At present there is a small force of men, some located at the Department of Education in Toronto, others at the various examination centers throughout the Province, engaged in reading the papers of the thousands of candidates who have written on the departmental examinations, ranging from the entrance to the high schools to honor matriculation into the universities. These men sit day after day during the oppressive months of July and part of August estimating the value in marks of the multifarious answers submitted. It is verily a monotonous task, and we can imagine the examiner conning over to himself the strain that emanated from the brain of Hamlet: "The times are out of joint. O cursed spite, that I was ever born to set them right." But he is relieved of this righting process, and is enabled to hold out favor of the non-union plants in dull by the occasional bit of juvenile humor displayed at intervals in the answer papers. We give the following answers which we understand were recently written out by pupils in the New York

> "'The Autocrat of the Breakfast Table' was written by R. W. Emerson, and its general plan is to produce perfect etiquette at table. "Persephone was the gardess of the gates of Tartarus. She is said to have been girded with a mantle gorded with > "The Pilgrims were a religious sex that did not believe in the doctoring of the Church of England.

> "The only means of communication the colonists had was on horseback, and in this way it took quite a long for a letter to get to Europe. "The Five Nations were the Senecas Oneidas, Onondagas, Mohawks and Tomahawks. "The habeas corpus act was an act compelling the relatives of a dead person to produce his corpse in court should a dispute arise.

"Italy embraces the Po and the Island of Sicily. The capital is Constantinople, on the archipelago. Rome used to be. It contains a cathedral named after Peter the Great, who founded it.'

Whether this exuberance of youthful ignorance is the harbinger of that wit which has characterized the Yankee. or whether it is the first indication of budding genius, we will leave our readers to judge. We think, however, that about the only inference that can be legitimately derived is that more training is necessary to counteract the vagueness of ideas that will be found characteristic of many, perhaps the majority of adults as well.

The Pan-American Congress.

A Pan-American Congress is to be held in the city of Mexico next October. Perhaps Central and South America want to find out incidentally when the United States intends to adorn them with a status analogous to that of Cuba and the Philippines.

The Congested City.

Census statistics furnish us important studies in the domain of social attainment. The census bulletin of the and country growth, shows that while towns have grown faster than rural sections, the rate of increase of urbane population has not been so marked as that shown by the census of 1890 for the preceding decade. Out of the rapid development of population sociologists find many problems of a moral, physical and industrial nature. The revelation of conditions in the slums of the great cities show the urgent need for reform. The extension of the areas of large cities, which is made possible by the electric railway, if not exactly affording a solution for, is at least mitigating to a certain extent the evils arising from a congested state of population. The conditions which surround city life are perhaps better regulated now than ever before. Henceforth the portance than the industrial one. The present is the scarcity of agricultural labor. But as machines have already factories and foundries; and the tour supplanted labor, a readjustment in methods will right things, should the price, and also to show that quality | scarcity of labor become at all serious.

South African Dutch Learning English.

Recent discussion in the British Parliament, combined with happenings in the disturbed regions of South Africa, have not supplied any indication that the war will be over at a very early date, though we all hope that the cessation of the hostilities may be brought about very soon. After the war, what? We would not be surprised, if the population is discreetly handled, to see the territory, cursed though it has been by the ravages of the struggle, speedily settled, and the people at an early date happy and contented under supreme British rule, but with a system of local self-government such as we enjoy. They are a brave race, with not a few good traits, but they will require discreet management, and the politicians may as well cease their wrangling, and get down to conciliatory methods. Even now there are evidences that the mass of the people are inclined to regard the new conditions as just what is suited to them. The Diamond Fields (Kimberley) Advertiser, in its special correspondence from Clerksdorp, recently had the following: "It is really wonderful how the Dutch have taken to education. The public school is thronged with Dutch children, all learning English which the people of Great Britain have Under the old regime no child of given but little attention, but it is very Dutch parents was allowed to learn English at the public school, but now that English is open to them they gladly avail themselves of the privilege, and there are hundreds of Dutch now learning English in Klerksdorp alone. There have been more slates and school books sold here during the past six months than in the previous six years." If in Klerksdorp, why not in one hundred and one other centers of population in the territories? The experience is a most satisfactory one.

> It is not within the financial ability of the average man to buy war ships these days. The British War Office announce that the new battleships which they are to put on the high seas before next midsummer will cost $6,500,000 each, and the cruisers

The right of a woman to her husband's estate when he dies intestate without family has been sustained in the North West Territorial Legislature, where a law has been passed giving the wife, under such conditions the whole of her husband's estate. In England, the estate up to $2,500 only goes to the wife.

Stop Smoking.

[Cumberland (Me.) Times.] Innumerable complaints have been made to the trolley people about the smoking nuisance on the cars. While the habit is enjoyed by the men, it is extremely offensive to the olfactory nerves of the women. In other first class cities smoking is prohibited on the street cars, and a measure to that effect should be adopted here by all means.

The Disastrous Strike. [New York Journal.]

According to the judgment of the market at the close of business yesterday the securities of the United States Steel Corporation were worth about $30,000,000 less than before the outbreak of the strike. That is a fact that is well calculated to increase the respect of Mr. Morgan and his companies for organized labor, and to show them that a strike is not a thing to be lightly incurred if it can be honorably avoided.

DURHAM

A Description of This Ancient City-Sluggish Social Life-The Holiday Week.

In England one constantly finds the very old and the very new side by side, although one hears constant complaints that in London where the tide of modern life surges very strongly, new things and modern improvements (?) are sweeping away much that is old and interesting, there are still many places that retain much of their ancient character, and have still an antique tone and color. These words are written in the city of Durham, one of the most ancient centers of culture and religion in the extreme north of England. It is beautifully situated on the banks of the River Wear, about fourteen miles from where that stream finds its way into the North Sea. The city is about the same distance from Newcastle and Sunderland, two busy commercial centers, and it is surrounded by colliery vilages, which are, however, sufficient distance away not disturb ttoo much the steady stream of its own life. That Durham is beautiful for situation many who have never been in it can testify, the travelers on the northeastern route to Scotland have a magnificent view of the cathedral and the river banks as their train passes over the viaduct just outside the station. A little while ago I heard a gentleman question whether the monks and ecclesiastics of long ago were really so very wise in their choice of sites though he really gave them greater credit by saying that they made the situation beautiful by their cultivation and buildings. Then it was that Durham, Whitby, and similar places came to my mind, and I remarked that they did not create the hills and streams that form such an important feature in their situations.

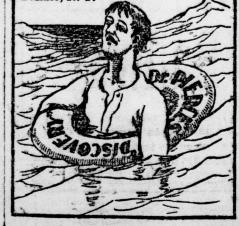

DURHAM

seems very doubtful whether there has been any real increase of late. I saw a sensible remark in one of the local papers to the effect that if there was little actual increase of population the number of new houses meant that there was better accommodation for those who are here, and hence fewer miserable places, less slums. The cathedral, college and castle are architecturally the main features of the place. I cannot now attempt an elaborate description and detailed history. Guide books, histories and photographs abound, and are much more worthy of attention than the common run of such publications. One always enjoys a visit to these ancient shrines and quiet cloisters, but it is with the life of today that I wish to deal briefly in this letter. Outside of the streets, on the banks of the Wear, the walks are beautiful and the air delightful, but the streets which actually compose the city are very narrow and "pokey"; to people used to large spaces they give a rather close, oppressive feeling. Those who are used to it, of course, do not feel it, neither do they realize in the same way as the stranger the heavy ecclesiastical atmosphere. The town is under the

I said Dewet, for they haven't caught me yet: I'll read the service." It was certainly a touch of modern life, and a reminder of the weary war, but the place we sat in carried our thoughts back to earlier days. This was no common town hall, this room now given over to smokes and jokes was a handsome room, wainscotted in old oak, a magnificent stained glass window over the platform, in the middle of one aisle an immense fireplace, after the real old style. Besides other decorations and portraits, there were reat little panels with the names of mayors or citizen benefactors for years back; indeed, everything reminded us of that blending of old and new which is the characteristic and strength of the best English life.

DIED IN AFRICA.

Toronto, July 19.-Mr. John Mann, 383 Ontario street, this city, has received from a Toronto lad in South Africa a letter announcing the death of his son, Henry Mann, in South Africa, from enteric fever, recently. The deceased soldier joined the South African constabulary while recruiting in Toronto. He was well known as a bright and promising young fellow.

FIRE AT ST. KITTS. St. Catharines, Ont., July 19.-Early yesterday morning fire was discovered in the vacant building on Helliwell lane, formerly occupied as a blacksmith and carriage shop by Samuel Harper. The place was enveloped in flames when the brigade arrived. The blaze was extinguished and the charred frame pulled down. The building had quite a history, for it was there over 30 years ago that Mrs. Bolton was murdered, for which crime her husband was hanged at Niagara-onthe-Lake, that place being the county town. The building was worth about $1,000; was owned by Mrs. Thomas McCarthy, and was partially insured.

STEYN IS STILL QUITE HOPEFUL

Made Public.

Reitz Would Have Given Up the Useless Struggle But for Free Staters.

London, July 19.-The war office issued late last night a dispatch from Lord Kitchener, giving the correspondence between Mr. Reitz and Mr. Steyn, that was captured with the latter's baggage, near Lindley, July 11. Mr. Reitz, under date of May 10, wrote Mr. Steyn that a meeting of the Transvaal government had been held, attended by Gen. Botha, Gen Viljoen and Mr. Smuts, to consider the national situation. He went on to catalogue the difficulties, the numerous surrenders of burghers, entailing a heavy responsibility on the government, the rapidly decreasing ammunition, disintegration of the government, and the lack of any definite assurances of European intervention.

"In view of these facts," he said, "the government has decided to address a message to President Kruger, pointing out the terrible conditions. The time has passed for us to let matters drift as at present. We must take a final step." Mr. Steyin, replying May 15, upbraids Mr. Reitz with weak-heartedness, saying: "There is still sufficient ammunition to continue the struggle. You ask what prospect there is of a successful termination. I ask what chance was there for two small reof the Central school, bequeathed $500 publics when they declared war against the mighty power of Great in a gold medal to be given annually to trusted in God and in foreign inter- of marks at the public school midvention. WESTMINSTER

A large congregation met in the Presbyterian Church last evening to hear Rev. W. B. Cumming, B.A., of Nanaimo, give an address on home mission work in Manitoba and British Columbia. It was Mantoba and British Columbia. It was entirely reminiscences of early pioneer work, showing what missionaries had and were enduring in the service of the church, both on the prairies and in the mountains of the coast province.

A strong plea was made on behalf of the work in the newer districts, than in which no more consecrated or self-sacrificing devotion was manifest the world. ficing devotion was manifest the world

WEATHER NOTES. The great heat wave which has been prevailing in Ontario and Quebec has now given way to cooler conditions. Thunderstorms have occurred generally in the Ottawa and St. Lawrence valleys, and locally in the Maritime Provinces and in Manitoba.

Saturday's Advertiser.

Tomorrow's edition of The Advertiser will be unusually interesting. Besides all the regular departments, it will contain an entertaining and valuable article on Sable Island and its inhabitants by Mr. W. E. Saunders, the well-known ornithologist, of this city. Mr. Saunders accompanied the recent government expedition to the island, and his description of what he looking toward doing so As for as saw in the "Graveyard of the Atlantic" is very interesting.

HOW LONDON IS AFFECTED

sion to St. Thomas.

Assistant General Passenger Agent Marshall Says It Means 24 Hours Difference in Handling London Freight.

Mr. T. Marshall, assistant general passenger agent of the L. E. and D. R. R., was in the city today, and was seen by an Advertiser representative this afternoon. In response to a question would mean an express service of three trains each way per day from Blenheim and points east. There will be good connections with our Erie and Huron division.

"We will also have a way-freight and a fast freight each way. I think the opening of the line will mean a difference of at least 24 hours in our handling of freight from London to our local points and in our delivery of freight in London.

"Of course, with our mileage of 143 miles between London and Walkerville, we will not expect to compete with the trunk roads for through business from London. I am sure, however, that the service we will give our territory, making frequent stops, will be a good thing for London.'

Asked as to the chances of the L. E. and D. R. R. being built through to looking toward doing so. As far as local business is concerned, he said, the company would gain little or nothing by so doing, as the territory is already well served. Any move-ment along this line would only be undertaken after making exceptionally favorable arrangements for connection with one of the big eastern Laborers Are Scarce and Work Progresses Slowly.

There's a dearth of laborers in London. The sewer contractors can't get men to work for them and have to do with inadequate numbers. Yesterday the man who is working over in South London came uptown and got the loan of a few men from a friendly chap, who was a bit better off in the matter of workers. Moses Cox is having trouble on the John street sewer. Farmers are now paying high wages, and some think that this accounts for the scarcity of men.

THEY ALL WISH HIM MUCH HAPPINESS !

In Proof of Which Mr. Charles McNeil's Fellow-Employes Make Presentations

This morning Mr. Charles McNeil, a couch and two chairs, handsomely upholstered, the gift of the firm's employes. The excuse for thus urging upon Mr. McNeil the acceptance of these presents was his recent marriage, and his friends in the house desired him to be very sure that they wished him and his wife many years of happiness. They told him so in an address that was read when the presentation was made. Then Mr. McNeil did his best to reply, such as befitted the occasion. Supt. McFarland, Mr. May and Mr. Saunders were representatives of the employes in an affair that was very pleasant and transpired just before noon.

THE CHICAGOANS WILL BE HERE.

Old Boys Will Accept Railroad Company's Rates.

Because of railway rate difficulties, t was feared by both the Old Boys of London and Chicago that the ex-Londoners of the western metropolis would be unable to join the celebration this year. It has been whispered about the city that the Chicagoans had given up all hope, but such is not the case, as Londoners will be glad to learn. Mr. Bell, secretary of the association, got the following telegram from Mr. Wm.

"Chicago will be represented. Special meeting tonight. Reconsidered action, and decided to accept railroad terms." This, together with the cheap rates from Ontario and Quebec, which are being well advertised all over the counassures the greatest reunion yet

ENTHUSIASM IS GROWING DAILY!

Among the Epworth League Delegates at 'Frisco.

Keen Competition Among Cities for Next Year's Convention-A London Speaker.

San Francisco, July 19.-The second day of the international convention of the Epworth League was marked by cool, pleasant weather, and an increased attendance, particularly of the local residents. The greatest attraction was, of course, the services at Mechanics' Pavilion, with its long list of prominent speakers, good music by a large choir and the great pipe organ, with the additional attractions of elaborate displays of California products. However, the Albany Theater and Metropolitan Temple meetings were attended by as many delegates and residents as could find accommodations, and the enthusiasm was just as great as in the larger building.

afternoon. In response to a question as to how London would be effected by the opening of the new line of the road from Ridgetown to St. Thomas. Mr. Marshall said:

"There is no doubt that the line will be a distinct benefit to London, it being as it is, a distributing point for Western Ontario. The present service is, of course, only temporary, but by the middle of September we expect to be giving a through service from Walkerville to London of two trains each way. In addition we expect to have a train leave Chatham about 6:20 a.m. and reach London about 9, returning at 6:30 p.m. from London. This would mean an express service of three trains each way are made to a question as to how London would be effected by the programme at each of these three meetings was a most elaborate and interesting one. The visitors were astir early this morning, and thousands attended the sunrise prayer meetings held at Grace, Central and First Methodist Episcopal Churches. The interest and enthusiasm of the Epworth delegates seems to grow as the convention progresses, and many declared the present gathering to be the greatest the order has ever held. The competition of cities for the honor of getting the next convention of the league is growing keen. St. Louis, Minneapolis, Detroit and Toronto are in the field, with the committee on resolutions, which will meet today or tomorrow for the purpose of selecting some one of the cities mentioned. ENTHUSIASM GROWS. Rev. C. T. Scott, of the Dundas Center Church, London, Canada, will speak on "Personal Work for Christ" at the Al-hambra Theater this afternoon.

STATUE TO THE HON. ALEX. MACKENZIE

Placed in Position on Parliament Hill, Ottawa, Yesterday

Ottawa, July 19.-The statue of the Scotch stonemason who became one of the prime ministers of Canada, the late Hon. Alex. Mackenzie, was placed in position on Parliament Hill, between the Cartier monument and the summer house. It is the joint production of Hamilton McCarthy and Phillippe Hebert, the Can-adian sculptors. The pedestal is 14 feet high, and the statue 9 feet.

JEALOUS LADIES OF SULTAN'S HAREM!

Conspire to Overthrow the Treasurer of Their Establishment.

Constantinople, July 19.-Owing to the mystery of secrecy enshrouding all occurrences in the Yildiz Palace, the real cause of the recent fire there has only now transpired. The incident was the result of an intrigue by the ladies of the harem against the lady treasurer of the harem, whom they wished to get rid of. At the instigation of the conspirators a negress placed materials for a conflagration in a coridor of the palace and lighted them under conditions compromising the lady treasurer, so that she would be suspected of the act and dismissed, The desired result was obtained. The lady treasurer was not only dismissed, but she was imprisoned in the palace. Her relatives are influential, and have been endeavoring to secure her release. There have been numerous arrests in consequence of the attempt at incendiarism, and some of the women have been subjected to torture in the hope of extracting confessions from them. The sultan first believed the conspiracy was directed against himself. The fire did not occur in a room adjoining that used by the Sultan, as first reported, but in a corridor quite a long way from his majesty's

"What a gweet woman!" he said, thoughtfully to himself, "Even Wildlea itself would be more than endurable, it would be charming with such a mistress. would be more than endurable, it would be charming with such a mistress.

I wonder if 'e has a twin sister!"

And as he crove away, musing on the expediency of finding a similar mistress for Wildlea Hall, Andree and Douglass were taking possession of the Maisonnette, and making acquaintance with Mrs. Kenny, who introduced them into the little dining-room with a succession of frightened curtseys. If surfiness was the prevailing characteristic of Mr. Kenny, it may have been a natural consequence that timidity should be that of his wife. She was a little wizened, active woman, still on the sunny side of sixty, but looking as if scared out of her seven senses—whether at the apparition of the visitors, or whether it was her normal expression, Andree was at first at a loss to decide. From the manner in which the table was laid for dinner, it was evident that one or both had been used to the habits of good society, and when Andree went up to her bedroom the same case was visible there. The Maisonnette was a sufficiently spacious villa, the rooms were few but of good proportions, and the drawing-room rejoiced in a deep bow window which opened on to the lawn—a very uncaredfor wilderness of late roses window which opened on to the lawn-a very uncaredfor wilderness of late roses

With a half-smile at the strange feeling of having no maid, and not dressing for dinner, Andree fastened a deep crimson rose in the bosom of her white bridal rose in the bosom of her white bridal robes, and another coquettishly in her hair, and went gaily down to dinner, to read in her husband's fond glance that she looked as lovely as in any marvelous dinner-toilet straight from M. Worth's. "Where did you get those roses, love?" he said. "I was just meditating an inroad on the garden when you appeared." "I found them on my table," she said, standing before him for inspection. "Do you like them, Douglas?" His answer, though given by his lips, was not spoken; but it satisfied Andree, and dinner proceeded gaily, timid Mrs. Kenny waiting at table both deftly and quietly. "Are you not year lovely have

'Yes, ma'am.' "I suppose you see very few people," went on Mrs. Lancaster, going to the plane, and opening it. "Yery few indeed, ma'am;" and with a muttered, "but more than I want to see," Mrs. Kenny was shuffling out of the room, when Andree called her back. "What can you tell me about the gentleman who so kindly drove us over this evening?" she asked. is a stranger here, ma'am," said the old woman, in a reluctant voice. "I know nothing about htm."
"He owns large estates here?"

Yes, ma'am.' But resides generally abroad?"

"Yes, ma'am." And seeing the woman either would or could give no further information. Andree dismissed her, and, turning to the piano, began some favorite waltzes of Chopin's, which soon brought Douglas to her side. Then they went to the open window, and Douglas went out to get her a flower. He was jealous of that red rose, he said, laughingly, and in a moment came back with a piece of white lilac, which he fastened in her dress.

"Oh, Douglas! lilac at this season!"
"Yes, is it not wenderful."

"Yes; is it not wonderful? The tree flowers twice, old Kenny says," he answered. "Give me the red rose, wifie, darling; I like the white flower best." "But, oh, Douglas! do you know that lilac is very unlucky?" With an eager haste that made her

His voice failed—his head sank heavily back on her shoulder with a faint smile, which ended in a moan; she felt him growing a dead weight in her supporting arms, and the cry she uttered awoke the echoes of the silent house, as she fell on her knees, clasping in her arms the lifeless body of her husband.

CHAPTER XI. Andree's shrill cry for assistance, heard though it must have been through the whole house, was for a few moments unanswered, and during these few brief moments the young wife underwent the agony of a lifetime. Bending over Douglas, pressing her lips frantically to the cold brow, with a wild entreaty for him to speak to her—only one word; and her heart almost still when she perceived that his head fell back against the cushions a dead weight, and that he was completely unconscious. She flew to the bell, rang it violently, and swiftly returning to her husband, she tried, with help-less, trembling fingers to unfasten his coat, but her hands seemed, in her nervous agitation, to have lost all their power, and she sank on her knees with a moan of anguish.

"Oh, my darling, my darling! would that it had been me!"

A very few minutes had eapsed, when Mrs. Kenny entered in an improvised night toilette, looking not more frightened than usual—that were impossible—but very much bewildered.

"What is it, ma'am?" she said; and while Andree tried to speak and explain, she began busily to take off the wounded man's coat—a work of no small difficulty for two weak women when the patient was a man of Douglas Lancaster's-size, in a state of complete insensibility. Mrs. Kenny did not say anything, so that if she felt surprised she kept it to herself, but proceeded in a business-like manner, and one which if Andree had been less but proceeded in a business-like manner, and one which if Andree had been less agitated she could not fall to have noticed, so deftly did the woman cut away his clother and street the could not fall to have noticed, so deftly did the woman cut away ticed, so deftiy did the would in his clothes, and stanch the would in his side, which was bleeding profusely.

The this time Ames Kenny had also ap his clothes, and stanch the would in his side, which was bleeding profusely.

By this time Amos Kenny had also appeared on the scene; his surliness vanished now in excitement, and a surprise which he expressed in exaggerated terms.

"A doctor—fetch a doctor," entreated Andree, in her terror. "Tou will let him die if you do not fetch assistance."

Henry Truedell, alias Armstrong, pleaded guilty at Windsor yesterday to forging and passing a bogus check on Fred Dumouchelle, of Walkerville. He was remanded until Saturday to be tried on three similar charges. Probably the last shipment of native-grown walnut that will ever be made from Dutton was made the other day, when a car of timber was shipped to England. The trees grew on the lake shore in Dunwich, and were almost equal in size and quality to those found in the township in its early days. "The hot weather has caused the most wonderful growth of corn ever known in Essex county," said County Councilor Cole in Windsor yesterday. "I know of instances where the corn has grown between three and four feet in less than a week. The wheat crop is harvested and mostly in the barns. The oat crop is exceptionally heavy this year. We have a fine harvest in every respect." The worst storm Dutton and Dunwich has experienced in many years did its work on Tuesday. From about 1 o'clock to 4 a regular downpour of rain, accompanied by the sharpest of lightning and heaviest thunder, played havoc and destruction to many a place. William a cure.

Carriage had his house struck, but luckily no one was killed. Mac McCallum, of Wallacetown, and James Bobier, of Port Talbot, had their large barns burned, with considerable of last year's crops. Alex. Black, a Dutton milkman, had his barn struck, but not burned. At the time this barn was struck there were people in it. Dan McAlpine, west of Dutton, had a barn struck and stock killed. Many telegraph poles were struck on the L. E. and D. R. R. Mr. Lumley, of Iona, had a barn burned, while countless damage was done in many other places. The gangs on both the L. E. and D. R. R. and M. C. R. were forced to run for shelter. The Methodist picnickers at the lake were caught in the storm. Though such serious damage was done, the rain was a godsend to most of the farmers. The continued drought had hindered everything, Mr. Bobier's loss is the heaviest, as his barn was one of the largest in the township.

Railway Sanitation.

[New York World.]

The French people have up-to-date ideas on the sanitation of railway cars. In France the law compels railway companies to observe all neces sary sanitary precautions for the comfort of passengers. In virtue of legis-lation passed March 1 of this year, it is forbidden absolutely to sweep and dust car compartments while dry, The floors must be sprinkled and the seats and woodwork must be wiped with cloths moistened with some anti-septic solution. Dry sweeping and dusting only serve to scatter disease germs and particularly the bacillus of tuberculosis. Arrangements must be made for the complete periodical disinfection of cars and for the daily cleaning of the com-The friends of Miss Marie Poyner, partments. Similarly in waiting-rooms dry sweeping is forbidden, and thos places that may be carpeted should be covered with something that can be washed.

Placards must be conspicuously displayed everywhere forbidding people to spit on the floor.

The linen of sleeping cars must be properly washed and subjected to high temperature in the process of cleaning, after each journey, and to it should be attaced a ticket indicating to the passenger the date of the last cleaning.

The managing officers of the various French railways are requested to make known to the minister of public works what they are doing to carry out these orders and in the meantime they must take the following measures: Remove all carpets other than linoleum, India rubber and like substances. Forbid, absolutely, dry sweeping and dusting in cars, waiting-rooms, baggage-rooms, halls etc. While waiting for opportunity to replace all upholstered coverings with material that may be washed, the backs and seats should be protected
