Special to The Advertiser. By a Staff Reporter.
Toronto, Feb. 15.—A local option proposal is offered to save the Ferguson government, according to members of the Tory party in caucus this morning.

As anticipated, the O. T. A. was discussed at great length, and the fact is emphasized that the rural members on the government benches, while they may be "wet" in caucus, threaten to be northern islands 'dry' in the Legislature.

The majority of the cities went "wet" at the last referendum, while the rural consti-tuencies went "dry." That "local option" would please the majority of the people of Ontario is the argument from a formidable section of the Tory party at this juncture.

This view is held by a number of the government supporters, but apparently there is none of them with the courage to openly advocate it in the legislature yet. It is hoped by this way to please both the wets and the drys and avoid making the government come out definitely and announce its platform on the temper

Not An Effective Body.

The temper of the Ontario Legislature does not improve. Mr. Raney referred to the "ruffianism" of the prime minister during his term of office, and was asked to withdraw the word. The premier in his remarks referred to the "fanatics" associated with Mr. Raney, and the word stood without a rebuke.

The Guide Post-By Henry van Dyke

Explain unto us the parable of the tares of the field.-Matthew God uses a large impartiality in the gifts of nature to teach us that this world is not a place of judgment, but a place of probation, in which the good and the evil are working side by side, not only in the same community but in the same character, and not to be finally separated, intil they have produced their fixed and final results. We call some men pure and noble.

We call others base and wicked.

But we do not say of any living human being, "That is a lost, hopeess sinner, with nothing but evil in him."

We dare not say it, for God himself does not say it. We look into our own hearts and we are puzzled. The strange mingling flow of impulses and emotions and desires, the undercurrent of half-conscious motives and the after play of repentance and regret-making the color of our actions change with the changing light-all this troubles and confuses us. We cry in all sincerity, "I cannot understand myself. There is some thing here that I cannot judge." And from the shining sun and the falling rain comes the clear, patient voice of God: "Neither do I judge thee yet. Not yet is thy trial ended. Thou mayest be sunken deep in evil, but thou still hast hope, for behold I spare thee still, I do not judge thee yet."

If this world is only a place of probation, then beyond it there must e a place of judgment. Surely in the world to come, the just God must make compensation. Dishonesty, and cruelty, and selfish lust will receive their punishment

Nor shall those who have waited patiently and lived purely fail of their reward. (Copyright, 1924, by The Republic Syndicate.)

In his preliminary O. T. A. resume, Mr. Raney reminded that several theories could be suggested to explain the presence of so many Con-servatives in the new House. The most popular theory last June had been, he ventured, that there would be an immediate move "to scrap the O. T. A."

At this juncture Mr. Raney read various press reports of the premier's O. T. As the premier and Mr. Raney ex-changed several thrusts, the latter declared: "I have him face to face, and I want to find out what he meant in his speeches. Let him tell his stalwarts here whether he meant to

To His People At Home

Dear Jack:

A jolly old chap from St. Thomas came to London yesterday to "get a cheap drunk," as he said. He paid the $10 fine today and told me it would have cost him twice as much in his home town. He added that in lil' old New York the price of the same entertainment was a mere five spot. One would think in this day of efficient standardization that such little things as fines for drunks would be more evenly distributed. Why on earth should it be worth $20 to the police force in St. Thomas to run in and convict a gent who can't hold his liquor and only five in New York.

Moving from the ridiculous to the sublime as our vaudeville Irvings say I am tickled in an entirely undignified way with the excuse Robert Smillie, a Scottish Labor M.P., puts forth to introduce a capital levy in England. He says "By relieving the very wealthy of some of their riches we would make it easier for them to enter the kingdom of heaven." What the "very wealthy," if there are any in the country, had o say in reply is not given. Probably it was a vigorous statement on the comparable value of riches in the hand-or the bank rather-and clearly he is no gentleman.

Yours May Be the One That Will Earn For Her Another 300,000 Extra Votes.

CANDIDATES, READ THIS

Since the announcement of the 300,000 extra vote offer, we have been asked a hundred and one times if here would be a bigger extra vote offer given near the close of the contest. There seems to be an impression that some such inducement will be made. We can't help what happened in other contests, or what methods other contest managers used. We are only responsible for ourselves. All votes and records are audited by a firm of chartered accountants appointed by The London Advertiser, and it will be from their report that the winners are announced. We do not count the votes. There isn't a chance in the world for any person buying up sub-scriptions accounts and getting credit for the votes. No bulk subscriptions will be accepted. No candidate will have any advantage over another. Any statement made in the Contest Page will e lived up to, and when we say that the "biggest" extra vote offer is now on and that it will not be repeated, you can rest assured that it will be carried out. Further, we may say that $100 worth of subscriptions, (whether back subscriptions, renewal subscriptions, or new subscriptions) sent in by Monday, Feb. 25, will earn for you three times as many extra votes as the same amount will at the close of the contest.

Now is the time to pile up a big reserve in votes. Don't be by holding back expecting a greater offer in votes. Send all the subscriptions you have. At the close of the extra vote period a special cer-tificate will be issued showing the number of extra votes you have Already the usual "wise-acres" are on the ground, giving the usual advice as to how to conduct the cam-paign. In some instances it is just a case of some one candidate or some of their friends trying to discourage another person from entering the contest or endeavoring to influence some contestant to drop out, thinking it will make it all the easier for themselves. Candidates who have entered and those who are considering doing so, should not be influenced by any of the many little rumors that are always being handed out by the usual "core" of "wiseacres." Just stop and ask yourself if these same people who are so solicitous about your welfare, if they if they ever accomplished very much

We wish to remind candidates that a number of people are paying their subscriptions at the office and not asking for the contest votes. Contestants should get the promise of all the people in their respective territory and collect same later on. This is a point each and every candidate should bear in mind.

Once your friends see that you are in earnest and determined to win, you will have little or no difficulty in securing their subscription to either The Morning Advertiser or The Evening Advertiser.

There are thousands of renewal subscriptions to be had. A candidate may take subscriptions anywhere and receive credit in votes in his own iptions count votes just the same as renewal and new subscriptions. Collect all the back subscriptions you can get. They are the same value in votes as renewal

There is plenty of room for more contestants. Already some have dropped out for one reason or an-other. Others have enrolled. In every contest there are a number of people who make a start, but soon get "cold feet" and drop by the wayside. Contestants should make a point

Contestants should make a point of saving all the 200 vote coupons that appear in The Morning Advertiser and the Evening Advertiser every day. Get your friends saving them. It will not be necessary to send these coupons in until later on in the contest. Put them up in par-cels of 100 each. This will assist the contest staff in keeping track of

The guessing coupons for subscribers will be mailed to all contestants today. Each subscriber is entitled to one guess for each dollar paid in on a subscription. The prize will be $500 in eash for the person who guesses the correct or nearest correct number of votes that will win the first grand

People now owing on their Advertiser may pay up their subscription and have the votes credited to their favorite candidate.

"She's left. I'm in her place." He said to himself: "Dunlap!" and aloud: "I'm Brooks, former engineer. You're the new secretary? Mr. Dun-lap engaged you?"

Croup starts with a dry cough and rattling in the throat; after which the croupy crow gives warning of the disease. The child, after tossing restlessly about, will start up with a flushed face, protruding eyeballs, and anxiety. There is a struggle for breath, and the expectoration of the mucous matter is so difficult to get rid of that the effort appears to threaten strangulation.

To All Mothers

On the first sign of the "croupy row" mothers should administer Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and thus give the child prompt and per-manent relief, and perhaps the life saved by taking the precaution.

Mrs. H. A. Langhorn, Hamilton, Ont., writes:-"My little boy was very bad with the croup and I could not get anything to relieve him until I tried Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I cannot praise it too highly for the relief it gave him."

Does It Catch You right in the back

It may be that you are mysteri-wonder what the great business was ously attacked by pain in back, (lumbago), or limbs, "neuralgia" not earlier than eleven though? pains—shooting anywhere. Backache He answered numbly, "I'm not any kind is often caused by kid-sure about the morning. I'll call of any kind is often caused by kidney disorder, which means that the kidneys are not working properly. Poisonous matter and uric acid accumulate within the body in great abundance, overworking the sick kidneys. Perhaps you have become nervous, despondent, sick, feverish, irritable, have spots appearing before the eyes, bags under the lids, and lack ambition to do things. The latest and most effective means of overcoming such trouble is to drink plenty of water between meals, and take a single An-uric (anti-uric) sure about the morning. I'll call you up."

She took this sweetly, saying archly, "I'm all done up in bronze and orange for you Diddle. I do look so entrancing. Why didn't you come? I had so many lovely things saved up all these weeks for you."

He had only to hear her voice—all her warm charm came rippling brightly before him: "I should have gone. Shabby way to treat her." He would have liked her arms creeping to his neck. "I'll go tomorrow," he decided.

"I'm obliged to 'phone to Mr. Dun-"That's all right with me." his work. It seemed an appalling, in In his mind was an image of Joan, credible thing that someone else was to continue it.

He was almost ready to leave when

"Oh, it's just an outrage. Such things shouldn't be. But you'll meet it, Denny. You're not finished yet."

More than that. He took heart over imagining Joan's speech. She shayays expected the magnificent.

Denny put the bundle under his "Papers belonging to the company, amazing!' "I'm taking the papers," Denny glanced sharply at Dunlap, walked out of the room.

He closed the door. The sound echoed-a solemn thing. Closing door had never impressed him so disturbingly before. Miss Burns had heavy skin. It grew a dull red. "Twin Falls Irrigation Board appointed me, Mr. Brooks.

"Of course. Mr. Dunlap acts for them."

"Oh—yes."

"Tve come to take away my napers."

"I be felt as though he almost betrayed a secret pledge going out of that room and leaving Dunlap in charge — Dunlap and that muddy looking girl sitting in Joan's place.

When had Joan gone? Had Dunlap dismissed her? What had he said to her?

He took a car to her boarding house. An impetuous haste made him

"Miss Lewis is gone." a neat, elderly woman told him.

He went down the steps thinking. "She'll ring up tonight. She knows we're home. She'll want to see Katy." With this idea he hurried to the apartment. Perhaps Joan had run in to help Katy get the dinner. He re-membered the night she had hung the drapes and they had eaten off the sink board. He could see her reaching over for the olives and, when he twitted her for eating more than her share, she laughed merrily grabbed the last one on the dish and stuck it to her mouth. back to this as though it had happened in some remote age when Disappointment, so bitter it was almost resentment, rose in him. Joan knew that he would be aching to talk to her. Hadn't he written her when the work was racing along so gallantly?

Why hadn't she come? At quarter of eleven the phone ang. "Oh, you're there! You got rang. "Oh, you're there! You got in!" Mild accusation in the sauntering tone. "I've been waiting. How are you?" "I was just going to call you, Petra. We got in later than we ex-

Says Lack of Appreciation Is the Curse of Matrimony

You Can't Treat a Wife as a Kitchen Stove or a Husband as a Human Checkbook-A Successful Marriage Must Have Love and Appreciation, Confessed and Shown Daily, by Both Husband and Wife.

Women's great indictment against husbands is indifference. In that ies their bitter disappointment in matrimony.

Very few husbands are cruel and brutal. Not a great many husbands are unfaithful. The average husband is kind enough. He is moral enough. He is generous enough. He does his duty well enough, but he fails to make his wife happy and contented, because he is cold to her and neglectful of her. He feeds her body, but he starves her soul. He gives her fine clothes, but never a tender word. He indulges her in luxuries, but he denies her the one thing she wants more than anything else on earth, and that is to feel that he still loves her and that she is as necessary to him as she was in the days of court-He never gives her a kiss that sn't as flabby as a cold buckwheat cake. He never hands her a compliment about her looks. He never voices any appreciation of her. He never nanifests the slightest interest in her conversation or shows that he de or desires any amusement-or if she does, he expects her to find it for herself without dragging him along. In a word, millions of husbands seem to regard their wives as just a part of the household equipment, a sort of self-starting machine that automatically grinds out good meals and a tidy house and all the thousand and one details that go to make up a comfortsires her as a companion. He never seems to think that she either needs

And it is this impersonal attitude of their husbands, this failure to realize them as flesh and blood women, with a woman's highly emotional ature, with a woman's craving for love and tenderness, that women so itterly resent. They could forgive any crime against themselves easier than that their husbands seem to look upon them as a domestic convenience instead of the lady loves they once were.

Women have been so busy considering their wrongs at the hands of indifferent and neglectful husbands that they have entirely overlooked the fact that they are also tarred with the same stick, and that there are just as many women who regard their husbands as eash registers as there are husbands who regard their wives as kitchen utensils.

In thousands of homes the husband is merely the provider. To his wife he represents, so far as he can see, houses, servants, pretty clothes, jewels, cars, trips, the comforts and elegance of life and nothing more. She takes what he can give greedily, and thinks that she has made a fair return by according him a place to eat and sleep in the home for whose upkeep he pays, and in which he is the least considered person in the household

There are myriads of women who never bestow a caress upon their husbands who never give the slightest indication that they understand or appreciate all the work and sacrifices their husbands make for them; who never jolly their husbands along, or dress up for them, or try to entertain and amuse them, or take the trouble to put forth any of the little arts and wiles which every woman uses when she is trying to catch a man.

There are unnumbered wives who never listen to anything their husnds say, who yawn over their husbands' pet stories, who go away every ummer and leave their husbands for weeks, and sometimes for months at a time, to shift for themselves; who never make the slightest effort to be ompanionable and chummy; who begrudge their husbands every penny ey spend on their own pleasures, and who raise ructions every time husoand takes a few hours off of an evening.

After their first baby is born many women never see their husbands as an individual man again, with a man's need of a woman's love, a woman's society, a woman's understanding and sympathy. To them their husbands are merely henceforth the children's father, a slave to toil for the children and to be sacrificed to

Yet there are just as many men hungry-hearted as there are women. There are just as many men who long for tenderness, affection, appreciaion, as there are women. Just as many men want to be told that they are still loved, that they are still admired, that they are still a heart's desire to those who married them as there are women. For men no more have their sweet tooth extracted at the altar than women do. And marriage is just as much a failure to men as it is to women, if it sinks into the slough of ndifference with women to whom they are nothing but a meal ticket.

The great majority of husbands and wives still love each other, even those who are so careless of each other's happiness. Otherwise, divorce would be even more common than it is. But they do all they can to take the joy out of their relationship by taking each other for granted. And that is the curse of matrimony.

That does not satisfy us. We want to be told every day, every hour, hat those we love, love us; that they understand us and appreciate us are grateful to us. We want warm kisses on our lips, not the peck of cold ips on our ears. We want clinging hands and the knowledge that our presence is dear.

Given these, every marriage is a success. Without them, any marriage is a failure. You can't treat a wife as a kitchen stove, or a husband as a human check book, and get away with it.

On the Side Lines

The proposed new International League has some wonderful possibilities even off paper and altogether outside the rather inane inclusion of Windsor

It is perfectly feasible. As far as the standard of play likely to be furnished by a league on such a scale goes, it would border closely on senior O. H. A., and merely border on that brand at its best. It would certainly usher in a new era in hockey salaries, beside which he present scale would pale. auspices, and probably become a premier sport within a couple of seasons. R.

Even under alleged amateur auspices, and without the publicity given to Sage, 27; W. Hynd, 23; American games, hockey has made big strides the last few years in the eastern section of the U.S. and is a raging epidemic up around Duluth.

If the league were a success, running senior hockey would become muc harder than it is today. There's certainly not enough senior material to go around the number of teams essaying that brand of the game. It would probably act as a leveler. A good portion of what is now senior hocke would be pro, and so on down the line.

A NEW CLINGING VINE.

The clinging vine idea is slightly reversed when it comes to local basket Men's basketball has not been able to make the place it should have n local sport, and girls' basketball, even though it's over the novelty stage, ill continues to be a major indoor sport. As a result, men's games are ng bracketed whenever possible with girls' games,

The funny part about these bracketed affairs is that while men's basket. ball plays the role of a clinging vine, girls' basketball does not suffer. To face facts, girls' basketball, from a scientific standpoint, is not much faster intercollegiate the girls' game suffers not at all. It might naturally be for the first time in a renewal of the supposed that the girls' game would suffer to some extent. Meantime, men's basketball is getting its chance to play itself into public favor, and it probably represents the one instance in sport where women have been in the sturdy oak role.

This always has been of interest to me. always has been of interest to me, because I have held the belief from start that there was no reason why women should not attend box ing matches just as they do other forms of amusement.

There used to be a lot of talk about the sport being too brutal for women; that they could not stand the champion's face. the sight of blood, of physical com- "Oh, look!" cried the woman, jubibat. benefit shows we staged to raise funds for charity. Miss Ann Morgan was the pioneer in that method of raising money to help worthy causes. She was at the head of the big boxing show we gave at the Garden for the devastated areas of France. I was struck by her businesslike attitude, common sense and clear understanding of what we were driving at. Miss Morgan is a wonderful woman It's Like Women at the Polls. When it was pointed out to he that to raise money the most import ant thing was to give a show that the public really wanted to see—to arrange it so they could get their money's worth and at the same time be doing something for a just cause -she said:

"That is exactly what we want. We will give them the best we can, we want real boxing matches between real boxers. You go right ahead and ur committee will attend to the rest

That committee, headed by Miss Morgan, went at the work with such determination that they got a great many women interested in boxing who otherwise would not have thought of it. Boxing got a big boost. The names of the prominent women also added to the prestige of the affair. As a result thousands of women saw the fights. Instead of remaining merely as a duty they discovered that the actually liked the boxing game. Man of them have been coming ever since As soon as the bars were let dow they stayed down. #### SUGAR

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, Feb. 14.—Raw sugar was easier today, but demand was light, and no actual business developed. Cubas were offered at concessions of $\frac{1}{2}cc, or on the basis of $7.34, duty paid. At the close there was a sale of $100,000 bags of Cubas for February-March shipment at $7.28, duty paid.

Renewed liquidation and selling by houses with Wall Street and Cuban connections, prompted by the increased spot offerings, accounted for opening losses of $9$ to $12$ points in the raw sugar futures market. The decline brought in considerable covering and commission-house support, and prices later railled, regaining nearly all the early losses. Final prices were unchanged to $3$ points net lower. March olosed at $5.56, May $5.59, July $5.63, Sept. $5.63.

The refined situation was without change. While new business continued light withdrawals proved quite heavy. While new business continued hight, withdrawals proved quite heavy.

He permitted the United States team to do a lot of crude work which in anada would have earned penalties. The United States squad tried to use heavy methods of checking on the Canadians, but these only spurred the Canadians on to do better, though it did make scoring all the harder. But in the end it was the United States team that failed to stand up under the heavy work. There were no real injuries inflicted on the Canadians, though Harry Watson did suffer the loss of some blood from a blow on the mouth.

Ramsay made the interesting statement that any of the fair senior teams in Canada would beat the United States squad. Drury and Abel were the best for the team from the south, but the play was entirely individual. The Canadian squad are now in London, and tonight will attend a dance given by the Canadian Club in their honor. They will sail for home on the Metagama on Feb. 23, and should be in Toronto about

BROMPTON'S ACTIVITY.

The latest activity in Brompton here and in Montreal has not resulted in any important jump of the price, although in Montreal yesterday for the first time in many weeks this stock was the most active leader on the exchange.

The reason given why Brompton has not participated in the general advance of the paper group is said to be the discouraging position of the Kraft market. Thoughts were entertained as to a dividend on Brompton for the final quarter of 1923, but it had to be shelved.

Despite the two or three months of poor kraft business which closed the year 1923, the company, aided substantially by its daily output of 110 tons of newsprint, closed the year with a good showing, with, as near as can be gathered, something over 2½ millions working capital and with a general and with a good showing, with, as near as can be gathered, something over 2½ millions BROMPTON'S ACTIVITY.

Local Market

More than 70 loads of hay have been sold on the local market this week, and the price remains fairly steady. Yesterday $14 was the average price received, but one or two loads of exceptional quality went at $15.

No oats or wheat appeared today. Being Friday, the market was practically a deserted village, neither sellers nor buyers showing up, beyond the men with hay. The filling of the roads to the north of the city by the snowstorms of the last few days may have had some bearing on the empty space. Prices did not change from yesterday. Grain, Per Bushel:

Why Suffer Delay and Grow Worse? Enjoy Life-Health-Happiness

To Have No Back Pains, No Nervousness, No Kidney Disease, With Plenty of Life, Energy and No Blood Disease, Is the Wish of Every Young, Old or Middle-Aged Person.

To you-if you are sick-if you suffer-if you are afflicted with any ailments of MEN-if you are worn out, tired or failing, if you need medical advice-if you are not in perfect health-if life is a dragging, miserable existence-if you lack energy, vim and vigor that make life worth living, to you-rich or poor-young or old-you need my treatment

Nerves and Blood Are Life
The lack of nerve force is found among men of all ages. This is true with men in all walks of life, from the day laborer to the mechanic or professional man. Merchant and clergy are alike sufferers—no man is exempt from the ailment who has rebelled against nature's laws—so if you have the result of overwork, dissipation, sedentary habits or worry, and your vital habits or worry, and your vital organs are disturbed, remember, organs are disturbed, remember, delay in seeing the right doctor makes it more difficult to overcome the symptoms, and you might reach an incurable condition beyond relief if you delay too long.

My Equipment
Is composed of the latest and best known agents in Electrical, Surgical and Mechanical Apparatus, and I am prepared by the knowledge of their uses and the experiences in prescribing them so as to get the greatest uniform results from them.

I Am Prepared to Give You serums. Bacterins, Vaccines and any and all forms of treatment of this character that have been tried and proved a success.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN

How about it, are you qualified to face it—are others doing more and getting more out of life than you are? Find out, if you don't know already, what is dragging you down. No one can violate nature's laws and succeed. I have helped thousands physically, mentally, morally. I believe I (as I have thousands of other men), can help you. Just be frank and tell us your troubles. Let me help you to regain and maintain your health.

Constitute a large part of my practice. At this time of life a most important physicological change takes place and men feel the need of an experienced doctor for men to not only treat them at this critical period but as well to advise them as to what to do and what to avoid to regain health, strong nerves and a sound body once more.

Dance Dinner Is Held and Announcement Made of Coming Attraction.

Instead of the ever-popular dinner dance, the Etimar Club held a 'dance dinner" at Wong's Cafe yesterday. This marked the culmination of the successful dance last week. To promote the dance, two teams were organized, and, as usual, the losing team paid, only in this instance the name of the losing team was not disclosed until after the dinner. Thus everyone was allowed to enjoy his meal in peace.

After the dinner, final arrangements were made for the "Etimar Revue," which the club is presentng at the collegiate auditorium or he evening of March 4. J. Stanley Meredith is in charge, and a show full of snap is promised from the

The BREATH of the AVENUE

An Exclusive Report To This Store and To You From the Breath of the Avenue Organization, of Which We Are a Store Member.

shine Fashion news just sent us through our fashion representatives at Palm Beach, Miami and Coronado. Women who know right fashion will, of course, be interested in reading this news, for in these sunshine places spring and summer fashions, like southern strawberries, ripen ahead of the season.

(Of course, this news is exclusive with this store, just as first fashions come to us first in the city.) SIMPLICITY THE

FOUNDATION OF

FASHION.This year again, and even more this year than ever before, in sophisticated simplicity lies the distinction of Sunshine Fashions. From her sleek, shingled head to her slim, slippered feet, the woman of fashion chooses simple lines for the most subtle effects, and dresses very plainly to .be very

THE BOYISH DRESS. The simple boyish dress has proved itself so smart, so practical, so becoming that Florida sponsors it for another season, and Coronado agrees. The smartest dress is always straight of line and simple in trimming. This two-piece dress, with a straight blouse and with a convertible V-collar, is the favorite frock of the moment. The three-quarter tunic is the newest note—a silhouette that finds more wearers every day. Crepe and then flannel are the first fabrics of the favorite_boyish dress. best trimmings are group pleats, fine tucks, and hand-drawn work. And it may have a note of color contrast in pipings or appliques, or a glint of light in glass or pearl buttons. PRINTS COME INTO THEIR OWN IN magical Cocoanut Grove and many of the dresses that pass through the lantern-hung temple of laquer red are as exotic as any tropical flower that ever bloomed. The floral prints are first and are of two types-the more delicate patterns printed on sheer materials, chiffons and voiles and georgettes for slightly bouffant frocks, and then the bold designs in daring color contrasts on heavy crepe dresses with the straight silhouette. After flowers—and newer-come horizontal stripes for printed frocks. Sheer crepes carry over into afternoon and even into the evening the stripes so important this season.

But it leaves the foreground to yellow and flame shades and the new shades of blue-colors that are worn from the first morning dip to the last morning dance.

Flame shades rival vellow as the most important color at Palm Beach. Coral and shrimp and flame are names that hardly do justice to these gorgeous hues - the tones of sunset that are gaining now on the color of sunshine. The yellowish reds, with the lustre of Oriental lacquer, are frequently seen in the slim seven-eighths Fifi Widener Leidy (the Philadelphia heiress) chooses these Oriental tones for many of her costumes.

The soft new blues, coming again into fashion importance, are given a welcome at Palm Beach. Flannel dresses and coats in porcelain blues appear on the beach on cool days and are a decided color note along the broad verandas of the Royal Pienciana. Gray is gaining. And, with a touch of some vivid shade, the gray costume often links itself to the vogue for

When it comes to color combinations, yellow-and-white and black-and-white are ry smart. Just as th black dress wi! white is important in the North, so is the white dress with black conspicuous in the South—like the white crepe frock with black piping and a small black satin hat that Norma Talmadge wears to the colorful Cocoanut Grove

PALM BEACH PREDICTS A SUMMER OF SUNBURN SHADES IN HOSIERY. Stockings in blush tints are the favorites with the favorite shoe—the white kid trap pump. V.h. sport oxfords are the only shoes to choose white stockings. For morning wear, pastel hosicry sometimes echoes a color note in searf or sweater. In general, contrast between shoes and stockings is again the order of the day-and
