He frequently gets two strikes called off the batter, and then almost invariably throws six balls away off from the plate. The Londons know this and after two strikes are called down goes the club, for they know that Brigham can't throw the third and they generally wait for the umpire to call six balls. If Brigham could keep up courage he would make an excellent pitcher but in his present state he is a positive failure. Two new players made their debut with the Prims to-day, McAuliffe and Garston. The latter attired in a suit that had seen much service, looked as he went to the field as though he would make a good ball player, but during the first four innings his exhibition was so utterly bad that the captain removed him to right field, where he would have but little work to do, Barnfather taking his place at second. sattled men of any repute in the league. field, where he would have but little work to do, Barnfather taking his place at second. Taken as a whole the Primrose team to-day was the weakest that they have played in Dundurn this season. Bierbauer behaved very well behind the bat, checking the course of many a wild throw from Young, thus saving that individual from doubling his already large number of errors. The interest in the game was very slight, the spectators being very sparing in their applause. All through the game the Forest city boys had things pretty much their

Sir Francis Hincks. One of Canada's greatest men, though h was not a Canadian born, has just passed away.. Sir Francis Hineks was a man of advanced age, and under natural order could not have been with us many years longer. But though he has not in recent years appeared in parliament or on the platform, recent contributions of his to the press show that he still retained an inter. est in public questions and a firm grasp of political points. It shocks us to those present: A. G. Ramsay, president out statesmen has been suddenly cut short by the accident of smallpox. To a certainty he never showed it in Canada, even though he did take office under Sir John A. Macdonald. His acceptance of the office did not make a tory of Sir Francis, but it made the government of which he was a member more liberal than it would otherwise have been. In other words, his

And other difficulties he might have solved, but he difficulties he might have solved, but he did not happen to be there at the time. He was one of the clearest-headed men that ever lived -- a perfect terror to depu. tations coming to the finance department with strong designs but weak reasons in support. His cross-examination used to be very trying, and the way that important deputations used to "wilt" under it was "a caution." He had a way of putting the points, and few there were that could meet him on "points." Did he carry this habit of his-of cool, clear, hard reasoning—into the chamber of the privy council? If he did, we can imagine. It is quite conceivable that, but for his remarkable strength in facts and logic in the dominion cabinet. history, so it has been said. What is meant is that quiet and peaceful progress is better for a nation than many ups and downs of victory and defeat—of prosperity and adversity. The Canada Life did in its earlier years have some historical experiences, not of defeat, indeed, but of very active and vigorous attack upon its position. That soon passed away, however, and for thirty odd years back the company may be said to have had no history—that is, no history of the checkered and variegated kind. Its subsequent record has been one of success uninterrupted, each year showing an advance on the year before. To prove this it may suffice to quote Mr. Ramsay's statement of profits for the last four periods of five years each: meant is that quiet and peaceful progress the occasion of a qu

Along with other companies, British, Canadian, and American together, the Canada Life is in the open market. In life assurance business, and in fire business as well, there is no protection; here the free traders have it all their own way.

Mr. Ramsay is to be congratulated on his success as a builder. He is neither architect, stonemason, bricklayer nor carpenter; but he has built up the greatest financial institution of its kind in Canada.

The business outlook is improving daily. The stock market is bullish in London and New York, the bank surpluses are declining (the money is being put into business), the iron trade is looking up, and, best of all, a feeling of confidence is manifesting itself all round.

I remain, gentlemen,
Yours very faithfully,
JAS. SYDNEY CROCKER,

Canada Life Assurance Company's Office Hamilton, 7th August, 1885. The President's Address.

The President's Address.

The report of the directors was moved by the president. Mr. Ramsay said: In moving the adoption of the directors' report, I would say that the present annual meeting is one of greater importance than the usual annual one, for it is the occasion of a quinquennial investigation of the whole of the affairs of the company, when these and its liabilities and its assets are subjected to a more critical and fuller valuation and investigation than are valuation and investigation than are valuation and investigation than are afforded upon ordinary occasions, even by the very careful annual audit which is made. The directors are glad, upon such an interesting occasion, to be able to place before the meeting the very full and ample accounts and statements now submitted, proving, as these so clearly do, the thoroughly sound and prosperous condition of the company.

The amount of the past year's new business has, as the directors' report states, largely exceeded that of any previous year. The new premium addition to the income of the year was $149.428, or 24 times as much as it was 20 years ago, in 1865, when it amounted to only $6,212. The assurances in force reach nearly $35,000,000, and the magnitude of that $35,000,000, and the magnitude of that amount of business will be appreciated when I mention that it is equivalent to about $8 per head of the whole population of Canada. Such favorable results have been very largely attained by the aid of the excellent officers and agents by which the company is served. I have great pleasure in acknowledging the board's satisfaction with their services; and as we have to-day the happiness of seeing some have to-day the happiness of seeing some have to-day the happiness of seeing some of these representatives present at our annual meeting I am glad to avail myself of the opportunity to speak of them as I have done. Many of them have been engaged in the service of the Canada Life for a great many years; some I am happy VENUE MOUSE.

to remember over a quarter of a century, and I hope they, as well as those of more recent connection with us, may long nontinue in its service.

The rapidly increasing income of the company, which was last year $1,336,681, makes it not always easy to at once find sufficient and secure investments for that, and for the constant employment of the other assets, already amounting to over $7,000,000. But the policy of our company being to look for perfectly safe security, rather than high interest, we hope, by the very moderate rates which we require, to continue to attract the best class of business to our company. DEINE THE CRITERION CUP, ness to our company.

Losses by death last year were more numerous and larger than they had before been, but they were still greatly under what had been expected and provided for. Of the 137 deaths alluded to in the report, I may mention that a more than usually large number occurred from sudden and args number occasions accidental causes.

The amount of the profits of the past five years which falls now to be divided is $1,350,464 28; and I may say that had it now to be compared to the past of the past five rate of $1,350,464 28; and I may say that had to not been for the somewhat low rate of interest which has prevailed for the past few years, that sum would have been even very considerably larger.

As it will interest you to compare the profits of the last five years with those of former similar periods, I may state that

517.748 744.896 1,350,464 With that anxious desire to promote the interests and advantages of assurers which has at all times characterized this company, the directors have increased the share of profits to policy holders to 93.33 per cent., and have declared to them a bonus addition of 25 per cent. and have declared to them a bonus addition of 2\(\frac{3}{2}\) per cent. per annum to policies payable at death only, whose profits are taken by way of bodus, and equivalent profit allowances in cases where otherwise payable, or where the profits are otherwise taken. After making full provision for that bonus, and for the full special reserve of \(\frac{5}{167},582\) on account of the anticipated profits upon policies upon the minimum system at the present time, as well as for the special profit reserve of 1880 for policies of that system (\(\frac{5}{43},761\)), and for the Mutual Branch Serplus Profit reserve of 1880 (\(\frac{5}{22},752,90\)), there is left a balance, or further surplus reserve for that branch

1880 ($22,752.90), there is left a balance, or further surplus reserve for that branch amounting to $49,870.34.

The cash profits now declared average over 30 per cent. of the whole premiums paid to the company during the last five years. Such a result cannot fail to afford satisfaction to all interested in our company, although it will not, I dare say, be so to those who have been predicting that our past liberal scale of profits could not be maintained, and that policy holders upon our minimum system especially, with upon our minimum system especially, with whose terms they have not been able to compete, would not only receive no profit increase upon their policies, but would find them actually reduced. Perhaps the past erroneous prophecies of these gentle men may make them more careful in their future predictions.

As our wish is that everybody should As our wish is that everybody should share our confidence in the company, and as we feel sure that the more fully its affairs and position are known and understood the more fully they will be satisfied of its soundness and stability, I shall be very glad to give any other information or details which may be desired. I beg to move the adoption of the report.

Mr. F. W. Gates, vice-president, seconded the adoption of the report. In his remarks he referred to the increase of the company's business in the past five years as marvellous. He commended the action taken by the board in the cases of volunteer action holders whe did service for their policy holders whe did service for their country in the Northwest. The question had been frequently asked, "Will you charge the usual war extra?" He was proud to say that the board had taken a broad, liberal and patriotic view, and decided not only to cover the volunteer policyholders withant any extra premium, but also to take any other volunteers on

Under the slaughter house the meat is sent for to the slaughter house twice a week, and immediately on arriving is put in a large refrigerator well supplied with ice. Since the memorable trouble in 1883 there has only been, one complaint from the prisoners about the meat, and that was utterly unfounded. Up till June of this year the potatoes were good. After that date some lots were received After that date some lots were received. After that date some lots were received which were not strictly first class, but After that date such which were not strictly first class, but which were not strictly first class, but were certainly not rotten. There have been a few batches of sour bread, owing to the old system of buying flour by contract. The flour is now bought by the warden wherever the best can be obtained, and the bread is consequently excellent. The warden was examined on several other points such as the washing of bedding, the bathing of prisoners, etc., and suggested regulations which, in his opinion, would tend to the greater comfort of prisoners and a higher state of discipline in the prison.

Mr. quinn, prison storekeeper, said that Mr. Quinn, prison storekeeper, said that his instructions from the warden were not to serve out any food which he would not eat himself. The same food furnished to the prisoners was used by the guards and the warden himself. Mr. Wheeler, the prison bursar, corroborated his statement. Mr. Ciarkson the prison engineer said that some time ago acting on instructions from the warden, he had examined the baths and found the water supply abundant and the accommodation in other respects good.

Guard Clancy and Nolan gave evidence as to the proper management of the baths.

William Davidson of the observatory staff testified from his books that on July 7, 1883, at the time of the bad meat affair, there was a continuous thunderstorm. Mr. Idington pointed out that the warden had said that there was a heavy storm at that time, and that Mr. Awde had said that brine would be soiled by such a storm in Thos. R. H. C. Dixon's Picnic. Editor World: I saw in your issue of yesterday a short account of the picnic of H. C. Dixon's bible class. At the conclusion it was stated that all returned after spending a very enjoyable time, and after spending a very enjoyable time, and after partaking of tea, etc. Kindly allow me to reply to this. I, as well as several others, had nothing whatever to drink at the time the tea, etc., were served. I asked no less than a dozen times for something to drink, but my asking was in vain. I'll admit I had all that I could eat, but it is nice to have something of a fluid with which to wash it down. Whether we were not worth serving or not is a question, but if I understand things right 1 and my friends who were with me had as great a privilege as any there, and should have received proper treatment. Now, Mr. Editor, I do not wish to hurt in any way the picnic or its head, but I do and always will speak plain when partiality is shown.

ONE WHO WAS THERE. An Answer to E. E. Knott. Editor World: Allow me to say in refer. once to E. E. Knott's letter in this morning's World that the statements from the beginning and every one of them are infamous lies. Some transactions between him and myself might be explained by me, did it not necessitate connecting the names of some respectable business men in Toronto and elsewhere with his, already so badly tarnished. Some of the many persons he has defrauded of large and small sums of money may speak for themselves. His career in the township of Euphrasia—his former home, is anything but enviable. It is an easy matter to holler from over the border that he is coming back to pay all. His action in leaving looks peculiar. Should he decide on coming he may be assured of a warm reception.

THE CENUINE PIANO,

anufactured by Rainer & Co., Guelph, Ont The undersigned respectfully announce that on the 2th day of April, 1884, Joseph F. Rainer dissolved partnership with Frank Sweetnam and John Hazelton, as piano manufacturers, and that said Joseph F. Rainer, with his son, will continue to manufacture the original cross-scale Pianos, of which the said Joseph F. Rainer is the sole inventor.

Since the above dissolution, Mr. Rainer, sr. has greatly improved the small Cross-scale Piano by adding one string more to each note throughout the middle, making three strings to each note instead of two, thus giving the Piano a third more power of tone throughout the middle. There will be fifty-three notes from the treble down that will have three strings instead of twenty-four notes from the treble down as formerly. The undersigned will give to wholesale and retail customers the benefit of this improvement by letting them have these Pianos for the same price as the ones formerly made with two strings.

These Planos have now been before the public for 23 years, and have always ranked among the very best, and are colebrated for quality of tone, great power and durability of action, prompt elastic touch, fine finish and elegant style of case, combined with every known improvement. Themost complete and unbroken list on record, embracing a period of 30 years, and made up of 28 first prizes, medals and diplomes, received at the principal exhibitions in Canada—Montreal, Kingston, Toronto, Hamilton and London. At the Centennial Exhibition in Philadelphia, in 1876, we secured a medal and diplome for our piano. The great fevor with which the cross-scale pianos have been received for so long a period, and the reputation they bear, has induced others to initiate them. We therefore caution intending purchasers and dealers wishing to obtain the original cross-scale piano to see that the name of "Rainer & Co." is on each instrument. We make the Upright and Square Grand Pianos.

Seventeen hundred deaths have been reported to-day.

PROTECTION IN FRANCE. Besult is to Cement Germany

London, Aug. 20.—A Paris despate says: Count Kalnoky and Prince Bismarc have agreed upon the basis of future nego lations for the admittance of Austria Hungary to the customs union. The agreement between Germany and Austria Hungary is mainly the result of M. Ferry's protection policy. Austria would never have entered the customs union as long as France admitted cereals free.
