MANITOBA SCHOOLS.

Mr. Tarte Fires the First Gun

AND CENSURES THE GOVERNMENT

Sir John Thompson's Vigorous Reply.

The Premier Denied That Any "Vigil of Remedial Legislation" Was Declared. Denied That Anyone Had Been Deputed to Make Terms With Archbishop Tache. That If the Government Attempted to Pass Remedial Laws Before the Legal Questions Were Settled It Would Only Lead to Confusion.

OTTAWA, March 6.—At five minutes to four the order of the day was reached. Mr. D'Alton McCarthy and Mr. Tarte each had his eye fixed on Mr. Speaker, who was calmly contemplating the electronic in the ceiling, and the moment the assistant clerk called "No. 21 House again in Committee of Supply," both the member for L'Islet and the member for North Simcoe started to rise.

The member for L'Islet was the most active and sprang to his feet with the agility of a cat and called the "Mr. Speaker" before the somewhat heavier and slower member from North Simcoe had quite got into an erect position. He sank back and smiled as calmly as possible, while Mr. Tarte flung the floor and began rattling away in French on the Manitoba school question, keeping up his speech until 10 minutes to 6, when he started to repeat his speech in English; but Mr. Speaker thought it was not the time for that and called the chair.

Who is to blame? After recess Mr. Tarte continued his speech, varying the performance by speaking in English. He commenced by saying that he was face to face with the political crisis, and asked who was to blame for it. Judging from The Toronto Mail, Winnipeg Telegram and other newspapers, it was made to appear that the Catholic minority was to blame. He declared that the Manitoba school question had not been fulfilled and he blamed the people of Ontario for it. He quoted from the Confederation debates past speeches by Sir George Carter and George Brown, and contended that the Catholics of Quebec were not narrow and bigoted.

He invited the member for North Simcoe (McCarthy) to come down to the Province of Quebec and judge his own case. He flung the people better educated than the people of other provinces. Most of the young generation were in the Province of Quebec. He got round at last to the separate school question and held that the Manitoba Legislature had no authority to do that. He said that the English language in the Province of Quebec was not to be abolished. He said that the Dominion Government ought to protect the Catholic minority. He charged them with having failed to do their duty. He said that Mr. Chapeau had been sent down to Montreal to see Archbishop Tache, and as a result of that the Minister of Education had reported to council on March 21 last, promising that if the judgment of the Supreme Court referred the Manitoba school question to the Dominion Government, that there should be remedial legislation. He said that he held that the Minister of Justice would himself not act pasted, holding that the terms of union provided for separate schools, the same as in the Province of Quebec. At that point the Catholics were in a majority, but now that the Protestants are in a majority of two to one they break the compact made with the Catholics.

He wanted to know whether Manitoba was to be broken up. He said that he was made by the Dominion Government. He denied the right of the majority to rule, and seemed to think, although it was somewhat difficult to believe, that the minorities could acquire rights which could not under any circumstances be taken away by change of Government.

Tarte's Amendment. In conclusion, he moved the following amendment: "That all the words after the word 'and' in the following be substituted: 'That this House desires to express its dissatisfaction at the action of the Government in dealing with the Manitoba school question, and in assuming to be possessed of judicial functions conflict with their duty as constitutional advisers of the Crown, which assumption is wholly unknown to the law, and if acquiesced in would be entirely subversive of the principle of Ministerial responsibility.'"

Mr. Laurier followed at some length, agreeing with Mr. Tarte, and in general terms expressing satisfaction with the action of the Government so far, and expressing disapproval of the bringing of the question up at a party one.

Under Certain Restrictions. Sir John Thompson rose at 10.50, and in his opening remarks said that the member for L'Islet, in stating his views, had laid great stress on its being approached in a calm and judicial spirit, and then he proceeded to attack the Government because it had approached the subject in the former manner laid down by the hon. member. He said that the Government had been attacked as if it was destroying the rights of a province to manage education, but it should be remembered that although the 92nd section of the British North America Act gave the control of education to the province, it was under certain restrictions and restrictions.

He then reviewed the clauses of the British North America Act, and came down to the provisions which had been presented and the report to council, which was settled by Parliament that local acts which might be ultra vires should not be disallowed but the question was settled by the courts. The question was tested by a suit taken in the city of Winnipeg.

He upheld the course of the Govern-

THIRTY-NINE DAYS IN A SKALP BOAT.

The Captain, His Wife, Mate, Cabin Boy, Cook and Two Seamen Reached Esquimaux. They Were Terribly Emaciated and Almost Speechless—Another Boat and Its Crew Still Unseen.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 6.—News reached here today from Honolulu that a small boat containing Capt. John Peterson and his crew, including the Second Mate Charles E. Brown, Cabin Boy W. Hayden, Cook Frank Wilson, Seaman Emerson and William Jackson, were rescued on Feb. 18, bringing intelligence of the loss of the bark Lady Sampson, bound from Sydney to Honolulu with a cargo of coal.

The boat was driven on the reef 40 miles south of the Palmyra Islands. The bark struck in the night during a terrific hurricane, and in five minutes began to break up. The boat was blown away from the captain's boat where the crew were gathered, and in the other boat, under the command of the first mate, Henry Muller, were four seamen.

During a calm which followed the wreck, strong tides bore the small boats away from the captain's boat, and in the other boat, under the command of the first mate, Henry Muller, were four seamen.

The Island of Maui, one of the Hawaiian group, heavy gales were experienced and two days after the wreck had come in, the second time the first mate's boat parted with the other to take the more northerly course. The second boat was blown away and the fate of the mate and his party is in doubt.

CAW, CAW, CAW! The Crows Have Arrived and Spring's Advent is Near. The loud caw of the carrion crow is heard more now in the country at early morn. These heralds of the spring have come in large numbers much earlier this year than usual. Out along the Dundas-road every tall pine has an old crow perched on its highest branch who calls loudly and shrilly whirling in the air. One can imagine the crow giving a mournful description of the rigors of winter it has passed through, and he rejoices to have the back for with them he knows will come warm weather. Meanwhile the farmer may rest assured that he has a crop of crows planted before the Queen's Birthday.

HAI HAI HAI. Wait, I should smile very loud. When you find a man who claims to sell his goods at 50 per cent below cost, take him by the arm and introduce him to Mr. Tarte, for such a man must be an ass if he expects the public to believe him. There is one man who wishes to have a piece of the "hides" make a few more of his famous cheap shoes from. Readers, if you want the greatest variety of the best value in boots, shoes, etc., go to the man who does not make such wild assertions. He is Howell, 543 Queen-street west. President Cleveland's Address
The difference between a Queen's speech and a President's address is that the former deals with facts, the latter with theories and opinions.

There is much in Mr. Cleveland's address which is admirable, both for the soundness of the views stated and the elevation and dignity of the vehicle of their expression.

There was a little touch of spread-eagledism in his declaration regarding "the demonstration of superiority of our free government."

There is in the address an ingenious avoidance of the protection problem. Mr. Cleveland said: "The verdict of our voters, which condemned the injustice of maintaining protection for protection's sake, enjoins upon the people's servants the duty of exposing and destroying the breed of kindred evils which are the unwholesome progeny of paternalism."

SPARKS FROM THE MOTOR

DOUBT AS TO WHEN THEY WILL APPEAR ON ALL STREETS.

The Engineer Will Not Accept the Proposals of the Street Railway Company With Respect to the Manner in Which the Permanent Improvements and the Change of Route Shall be Conducted.

As stated in the World yesterday a scheme has been submitted to the City Engineer by the Toronto Street Railway Company which the latter thinks if followed out will result in the total abolishment of the horse car system by Sept. 1, 1939.

The company propose that only one track be torn up at a time, and that the contractors first pave one side of the street before starting on the other side.

By proceeding in this manner the city streets would be kept open for traffic during the construction period.

The City Engineer, however, is of the opinion that the proposed scheme is impracticable, and that the streets should be kept open for traffic during the construction period.

A STAR-CHAMBER SESSION.

How It Is Proposed to Appoint a Successor to Mr. Allen—Wanted a Wholesale Sale.

At the meeting of the Local Board of Health yesterday, with Ald. Carlyle in the chair, Ald. Maloney started the apple of discord rolling by moving that the secretary be requested to notify all the employees of the Medical Health Department, exclusive of the Isolation Hospital, that their services would not be required on and after April 1.

Ald. Murray thought that the Isolation Hospital ought to be treated in exactly the same manner as the other departments of the Medical Health Office.

Ald. Bailey wanted to get to work at once and appoint a head to the department and let him decide as to whom in the office he could do without.

Ald. Maloney: The new health officer should go in with a free hand. All should be dismissed and he could re-engage whom he chooses.

Ald. Small: When you reorganized the Works Department and appointed Mr. Keating, Ald. Maloney, why didn't you clear out all the employees as you want to do in this case?

Ald. Carlyle recommended the appointment of a "unit" to consider the situation and report to a meeting of the Board.

It was decided to lay Ald. Maloney's motion on the table for the present.

Ald. Crawford asked if no one had an idea to propose, and Ald. Carlyle rose to state that his idea was to form a committee of three experienced physicians, who could engage a younger man to carry out their ideas.

Ald. Maloney: He understood that the Mayor's idea was to make arrangements with one first-class doctor to give two or three hours of his time each morning to the city for say $1000 or $2000 per year. He could in this time receive the report of an assistant who would be appointed by himself and could issue his orders for the day.

CHURCH UNION.

Another Interesting Discussion on the Subject Yesterday.

The union of the various Protestant denominations was the absorbing topic of discussion at yesterday's meeting of the Ministerial Association. Principal Caven of Knox College read a paper on "Points of Agreement Church Unity."

Rev. C. H. Mookridge traced the Church of England back to the landing of St. Augustine, and argued that that church was thus entitled to respect.

Rev. Dr. Thomas said tracing the pedigree would land them all in the Roman Catholic Church.

Provost Body had no objection to that if the Roman Church to which Paul wrote an epistle was meant.

Not less than 17 clergymen of the Anglican Church were present. Considering the long time the clergy of that church have spent in the association the morning spirits have reason to congratulate themselves over yesterday's meeting.

Allen vs. Dominic Bank.

The master also made an order allowing Dr. Allen to pay money into court as security for the costs of his appeal to the Court of Appeal in his action against the Dominion Bank.

The Mississippi Market Record says: "Perhaps no well-informed grain man really expects an important rise in wheat prices, excepting in the United States, during the spring months."

It was reported that the Mayor's discourse and he resumed his seat.
