The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol \rightarrow (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol ∇ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

New Brunswick Museum
Saint John

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole \rightarrow signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole ∇ signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

INTRODUCTION.

THE ST. JOHN MECHANICS' INSTITUTE was originally organized in the latter part of the year 1838, by an Association of Gentlemen, who were desirous of founding an Institution for the intellectual advancement of Mechanics and others, and the consequent improvement of Society at large. The Institute was incorporated by an Act of the Provincial Assembly, and the present building erected in 1839. This building contains a spacious Lecture Hall, Museum, Library, Reading Room, and Committee Rooms; and although erected at great expense, and furnished with a valuable and costly collection of Philosophical Apparatus, Library of Books, and Museum of Curiosities, the Institution is now relieved from debt. An important and instructive course of Lectures, on scientific and literary subjects, is annually delivered in the Hall of the Institute during the winter months, by gentlemen who render their services gratuitously in behalf of the Institution. The Lecture Season commences in November, and terminates in April, in each year. The first Lectures were delivered before the Institute in the winter of 1838-9; and the annual course has from that time been regularly maintained, as above mentioned. The first Lectures, in the present Hall, were delivered in December, 1840. The number of members of the Institute (including five honorary members,) is now about 300.

Persons may become members by applying to any one of the Office-bearers of the Institute, for the time being, and upon paying an entrance fee of ten shillings, and a yearly subscription of fifteen shillings (the price of the Lecture Ticket for the annual season), they become entitled to all the privileges of membership, namely, a vote at all general meetings, eligibility to Office in the Institute, the use of the Library and Reading Room, the privilege of visiting the Museum, attending the annual course of Lectures, and proprietorship in the property of the Institution.

5. The Officers of this Institute shall be a President, two Vice Presidents, a Recording Secretary, a Corresponding Secretary, a Treasurer, and twelve Directors, to be elected annually by ballot—the person having a majority of votes, shall be declared duly elected; provided, however, that no Member whose dues shall remain unpaid for twelve months, (unless he shall have been exempted from payment by a vote of the Society,) shall be allowed to vote at any such election.

6. The President, Vice Presidents, Secretaries, Treasurer, and Directors, shall constitute a Board of Directors, with full powers to appropriate funds, elect members, and conduct the affairs of the Institute. Not less than two-thirds of this Board must be operative Mechanics.

7. The Recording Secretary shall engross in a book, to be kept for that purpose, the minutes of all the transactions of the Society, the names of Members, of Donors, and all other matters requiring to be recorded. He shall also receive all dues and donations in money, and pay the same over to the Treasurer, and take his receipt for the same; and shall also make out a report quarterly, and exhibit it to the Society; and post up the names of all persons proposed as Candidates in the place designated for that purpose.

8. The Treasurer shall receive all dues and donations in money from the Secretary, and give a receipt therefor; pay all drafts on him when signed by the Secretary, and countersigned by the President; keep a regular account of the financial concerns of the Institute, an abstract of which, accompanied with satisfactory vouchers, he shall exhibit quarterly, and at such other times as shall be required.

9. Every person on becoming a Member shall subscribe this Constitution, and pay the sum of Ten Shillings; and every Member shall be subject to an annual payment of Fifteen Shillings, which shall be paid at the first meeting in October, or before he receives his ticket of admission to the Lectures.

10. The initiation fee may be increased in proportion to the increased value of the property belonging to the Institute; but this cannot be done except by a resolution passed at a general meeting.

11. The Institute will gratefully receive donations of Money, Books, Apparatus, Models of Machinery, Drawings, or Natural and Artificial Curiosities, which donations, together with the names of the donors, shall be registered in the books of the Society, kept for that purpose.

12. An Annual Meeting of this Society shall be held on the second Monday in May, to audit accounts, elect officers, and transact other business connected with the Society.

13. The annual Tickets of Regular and Life Members may be transferred; but persons to whom they are transferred shall not be admissible to any office or vote; the management of the Institute being invested in the Regular and Life Members, who are eligible to any office, and entitled to vote on all questions connected with the Institute.

14. In order to preserve the harmony of the Institute, nothing of an irreligious tendency, or which may involve religious or political controversy, shall be admissible on any account at any meeting of the Institute.

15. In order to make the Institution as generally useful as possible, any person shall be entitled to the privilege of reading from the Library and attending the Lectures, or any other course of Instruction that may be given in the Institution, for one year, on paying such a sum as the Society shall determine; but such person shall not be entitled to any share in the management of the Society, can be eligible to no office, nor entitled to vote at any meeting whatever.

16. This Society shall be permanent, and its property unalienable, but each Member shall possess the power to transfer his share, provided the person to whom he transfers is approved of by the Society in the same manner as admitting new Members.

17. Any proposal to alter or amend this Constitution must be made in writing, and subscribed by at least ten Members; it must be delivered to the Secretary, who shall read it at the first regular meeting, after which it shall lie over to the next general meeting for discussion, and the proposed amendment finally adopted or rejected by a majority of the Members present.

18. The Treasurer shall give bonds to the Institute, with two good sureties, to be approved of by the Directors, in the sum of Five Hundred Pounds, or in such further sum as to them may seem meet, for the just rendering of his accounts, and paying over any balance remaining in his hands when required.

19. The Institute shall be provided with a common Seal, having thereon the device usually adopted by Mechanics' Institutes in general, viz.: A Hand uplifted, holding a Hammer.

The Library at this time shall be closed for a week.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

The following extract from the report of the Board of Directors at the last annual meeting, affords some authentic information as to the present means of the Institute to carry on its operations:

LIBRARY.—The first department which the Directors would bring under your notice is the Library. It forms, and justly so, the most important and popular portion of the Institute. During the past year, a large addition has been made to it, and it now numbers upwards of 1800 volumes of standard works, in science, history, biography and general information, the value of which may be estimated at £500, and imparting information to over two hundred Members. When there are so many readers of such valuable works, in a community of the extent of ours, its usefulness must be great. Silently it is performing its work, the extent and value of which may be found in after years. The Directors would, therefore, urge its claims on the attention of their successors in office.

READING ROOM.—The next department is the Reading Room. Of its value it is unnecessary to speak, for the constant attendance of Members proves that its worth is fully appreciated. On its stands are to be found the City Papers, with Provincial, Colonial, European and Foreign, together with the leading Magazines and Journals of the day.

MUSEUM.—The next subject worthy of notice is the Museum. Its value cannot be too highly estimated, for without it the Institution would be wanting in one very important element of instruction.

The Directors, in conclusion, would congratulate the Members upon the highly flourishing condition of the Institute. If it cannot boast of as many Members as it ought, it affords to those who belong to it, and who have ever manifested a deep interest in its welfare, the satisfaction to know that it at all times has had a number sufficient to sustain and carry it forward, and to present it, in the year 1852, as not only free from debt, but in the possession of property to the following value:—Building, £3000; Museum, £1000; Library, £500; Philosophical Apparatus, £150; Diagrams, Maps, &c., £75; Total, £4725,—the property of the Members of the Saint John Mechanics' Institute. It must be evident to all that the Institute now rests on a firm basis, and that by a steady adherence to its Constitution and By-Laws, and by the continued efforts of its Members, (especially of those who are entrusted with its management,) in furthering the object for which it was founded, it cannot fail in exercising a beneficial influence on the community at large, and that before a period shall have expired as brief as that which has elapsed since it was founded, it will have more than one thousand Members, with a Museum unequalled in the Colonial Empire of Britain, and a Library which, for extent and value, will stand a comparison with that of any of the modern institutions of the day. Of the varied public edifices which adorn our City, it may be truly said that none produce more favourable impressions on the mind of the stranger, in reference to the enterprize and intelligence of our citizens, than the Mechanics' Institute of St. John.
