PEEBLE-MINDED NEED BETTER TREATMENT

Deputation From Associated Charities Will Ask Board of Control and Provincial Government to Make Provision for Insane Poor, Feeble-Minded and Nervous People.

"It is simply scandalous," declared Miss Boulton, father Minehan, Rev. Dr. Turnbull and Rev. Dr. Neil nodded assent. Free, fervid and frank were the descriptions of conditions in Toronto at the meeting of the committee of the Associated Charities last night on the case of the feeble-minded and the cure of nervous diseases.

According to the statements of members of the committee the university authorities and the new hospital board utterly opposed to wards for the treatment of nervous diseases being provided in the new hospital, although Miss Boulton said "It was supposed to be a so-called up-to-date hospital."

Miss Boulton argued vigorously that this was the only method by which the increase of insanity in the province, with the asylums overcrowded and indigent insane in jails, could be stemmed. New York had awakened and had wards for the cure of nervous diseases and the report showed a cure of 50 per cent. It was the only way to reduce insanity. It was a disease which usually came on gradually and not like a thunderclap.

Just Scandalous.
"It was just scandalous that the wards for such cases in the old general hospital should have been closed so that they could be used for rooms for the nurses in training. It appeared impossible to secure the co-operation of the new hospital authorities."

Father Minehan said the city had granted $200,000 and another million was wanted. It would be a good idea to hold up further grants until this matter was dealt with on its merits. The committee decided to organize a deputation to wait on the new hospital board next week.

Equally clear cut were the statements respecting the confinement of prisoners whose double crime was poverty and insanity in the disease impregnated city jail.

Rev. John Neil, D.D., said that on Thursday, accompanied by Rev. E. E. Stauffer, he visited the Toronto jail. It was appalling to see the insane persons in that building.

ACCUSED WOMAN OF STEALING MONEY

Man Who Murdered Becky Cooper, Alias Berger, Started an Argument, and Mrs. Cohen Was About to Interfere When Man Pulled a Revolver From His Pocket.

The police spent yesterday combing out the Italian population of "The Ward," and they are still at it searching for the murderer of Becky Cooper, alias Berger, or some clue to his identity. From information supplied by neighbors and now confirmed by Mrs. Cohen, keeper of the house at 160 Chestnut-street, where the woman was shot Monday night, the police have learned that there was an altercation in the house between the murderer, his victim and Mrs. Cohen before the shooting.

The sordid details of the crime have become more sordid in the light of this information. It now appears that the place was a house of ill-fame run by Mrs. Cohen, and that the murderer called there Monday night. Some time later the man accused the murdered woman of stealing his money. There was an argument between him and the two women and he was put out of the house. The dead woman went to the door after him and Mrs. Cohen followed, armed with a heavy china bowl.

She heard the man and girl talking angrily and just as she got to where she could see him standing before the door, he pulled a revolver from his pocket and fired point blank at the girl, who staggered forward into the street, while her assailant fled south. From there on the details are as before narrated.

The Italian arrested Thursday was yesterday admitted to bail upon his own bond. He disclaimed ownership of the weapons found at the place where he was living, saying that they belonged to other Italians there. There was a great purchasing of picks and shovels in that locality yesterday, and many of these men went to work who have been idle for weeks.

Yesterday the police had got no nearer a solution of the identity of the wanted man than to have what they now believe is a comparatively accurate story of the circumstances surrounding the shooting. Mrs. Cohen now admits that these are the facts, although she at first denied them.

A Further Conference.
PHILADELPHIA, March 29.—(Can. Press.)—Geo. F. Baer, president of the Reading Railway Co., to-day received a telegram from Cleveland signed by White, Fahey and Dempsey of the United Mine Workers, asking for a further conference with the operators. The message reached the offices of the president after he had gone to his home, and when its purport had been sent to him by telephone, he at once wired the miners' officials that he would gladly agree to a further conference.

WHAT DOES MAYOR GEARY SAY!
Has the Toronto Street Railway put up a job on the city council of Toronto in regard to a traffic expert, like the one they are putting up on the courts of the country and on Dr. Garraway? Perhaps the people of Toronto will now see why the solons of the city hall are not appointing a traffic expert.

THE TELEGRAM AND REAL ESTATE.
A real estate owner put away a Telegram editorial of two years and more ago on real estate. He has underlined it and annotated it, and as such we reproduce it by photograph. What The Telegram predicted is happening. But it is now trying to head things off by slump talk and cursing land butchers. The Telegram glories in the increase in values of downtown property (see its article on the Dominion Bank last night), but it regrets that the same thing has come to suburban property. Here is the photograph:

THE EVENING TELEGRAM

TORONTO, MONDAY, APR. 10, 1909.
TORONTO REAL ESTATE
Toronto property will never again be as cheap as it is at this present moment.
A distinct hardening in the prices asked and offered for land in the city and surrounding the city, is looked for in the next three years.
The eyes that do the looking are in the cool heads of farsighted men. Human eyesight is not infallible. The wisest men in Toronto put their money "a thousand fathoms deep" in the construction of the belt line. Other solons planned to buy up all the property on Yonge street, and gracefully submit themselves to the process of being made millionaires by the increase in values.
Still Toronto can do worse than offer a fair hearing to testimony as to the future of real estate values.
Land in Toronto and the suburbs appears to be at bed-rock value now. All the probabilities of the future seem to point first, to a hardening in prices, and then a marked advance.

The people of Toronto are looking for sites for houses and for houses; there are no sites in the city. Are they to delay buying until prices get still higher?
There is no solution to the bulk of the problems now facing Toronto but a quick and reasonable extension of the city limits and then a determined effort to apply the principle of public ownership to the double fare and other franchises that confront our citizens. Every day's delay in dealing with our problems makes the situation worse.

ELOPERS IN RAILWAY WRECK.
BRANTFORD, March 29.—(Special.)—That Henry Hutchinson of Brantford and a woman, who were injured in the wreck of a C.P.R. settlers' train recently, are elopers, was the allegation made here to-day. Both are at present in the Winnipeg Hospital, where they are recovering from injuries received.
Hutchinson's wife resides on Arthur-street, and is the sole support of two small children.
The woman with whom Hutchinson is alleged to have eloped is from Brantford Township. An effort will be made to bring the pair back to Brantford.

STARTLING ACCUSATIONS ARE MADE IN HOUSE AGAINST HON. A. B. MORINE WHO REPLIES WITH STRONG DENIAL

SERIOUS CHARGES RECITED BY CARVELL

Member for Carleton, N.B., Accused Hon. A. B. Morine of Accepting $10,000 a Year to Stay Out of Newfoundland, and of Having Betrayed His Employer.

OTTAWA, March 29.—(Special.)—Almost the last day of the first session of the 12th parliament of Canada was enlivened, not to say electrified, by the utterance of F. B. Carvell of Carleton, N.B., from his place in the house of charges of the most sweeping and serious nature against the personal and political honor of Hon. A. B. Morine, chairman of the public service commission.

Mr. Carvell went at length into Mr. Morine's political career in Newfoundland, stating that the latter had been twice dismissed from the premiership of that colony. The gravamen of the charge against him, according to Mr. Carvell's statement, was that while a member of a cabinet that had handed over vast concessions to R. G. Reid, the well-known railway magnate, Mr. Morine had been in receipt of a salary as legal adviser to Mr. Reid, a position which he continued to hold even when he assured Governor McCallum that henceforth he had no connection with that gentleman.

"Having betrayed the colony for the benefit of his employer," said Mr. Carvell, "he then attempted to betray his employer for the benefit of himself." Maintaining that a newspaper owned by Mr. Reid, the mortgage of which had been placed in his name, was his own property.
Mr. Morine, Mr. Carvell charged, had been driven out of Newfoundland by Reid, under an agreement, and dared not go back.

What evidence, he asked, could be placed in the report of a court presided over by a man whose record was such as had been set forth? Premier Borden in a dignified reply stated that the details of the allegations of Mr. Carvell were absolutely new to him, and were of an exceedingly grave character. "I stand exactly with regard to appointments to public office," said the premier, "where I stood when I made the statement my own friend has referred to in the Halifax platform of 1907. I shall place the charges which my hon. friend has made before Mr. Morine and give him an opportunity of making an answer to them. When Mr. Morine's answer has been made to these charges, I will announce to this house of commons and to this country what action the government purposes to take in regard thereto."

Objects to Campaign Literature.
When the house assembled at 5 o'clock, Mr. Rhodes (Cumberland) drew attention to the kind of literature which was being circulated in Quebec, particularly the County of Chambly-Vercheres, against the Conservative party, and bearing the frank of the member for Russell County. Mr. Rhodes read some of the literature, which was a rehearsal of attacks on the Borden Government in the house on the navy question. One sentence ran thus: "The Nationalists and Conservatives have broken their promises and the people have been shamefully deceived."
The pamphlet also attacked the government.

"A BEVY OF BEAUTIES."
The chorus in "Jumping Jupiter," the new musical farce that Richard (Himself) Carle brings to the Princess for eight performances next week, beginning Monday night, and which includes a matinee on Friday and Saturday, is the first of its kind with the exception of the heavy of beauties now carrying in the other Lederer & Frasse sensation, "Madame Sherry." In "Jumping Jupiter," there are only twelve girls, but they are the prettiest that could be placed under contract. They are also required to sing, dance and speak lines. In fact they are not a chorus at all, but actresses, every one of them, as will be seen when this big variegated "fun" show is seen here next week.

Mr. Carvell's Charges.

That Mr. Morine, when finance minister and minister of customs for Newfoundland, surrendered to R. G. Reid, a railway contractor, a railway on which the government had spent $13,000,000, for 50 years, a condition being that it should become Reid's property on paying $1,000,000.

That Reid was also given 5000 acres of land and all the coal thereon, monopoly of steamship lines, St. John's docks, telegraph lines, etc., totaling $13,000,000 to $15,000,000.

That Mr. Morine, while a member of the executive council of Newfoundland, was legal adviser to Reid, and was dismissed from office by the governor.
That he was reinstated by the new governor and again dismissed.
That Mr. Morine was given $10,000 a year on condition that he would not go back to Newfoundland.
That Premier Borden knew all about Mr. Morine's record four years ago.

That the Bishop of Newfoundland had written a letter in which he said Mr. Morine was "the greatest scoundrel that ever entered the narrow."
That another letter, which he refrained from reading, but handed to Mr. Borden revealed Mr. Morine in a character so low that he (Mr. Carvell) would not disgrace the pages of Hansard by reading it.

Mr. Morine's Denial.
That Governor Murray asked for his resignation as premier because he (Murray) was bitterly opposed to the Reid railway contract, and was advised by his (Morine's) opponents to punish him.
That it was well known that he was general legal adviser to Reid while a member of the cabinet.
That the Reid contract of 1889 has since remained in force, and is highly advantageous to Newfoundland.

That he was restored to office by Governor McCallum, and resigned after several months on a question of policy, then resuming his work as Reid's legal adviser.
That he severed his connection with Mr. Reid because he felt that his relation with the new government could never be friendly and the political opposition of Right Rev. Dr. Howley would not cease while he (Morine) acted as Reid's adviser.

That money since paid him by Reid, was in consideration of his having abandoned his private practice and that he had a moral and legal claim for unexpired time.
Premier Borden's Statement.
Three years ago certain charges were made against Mr. Morine by a resident of the U. S., whose name the premier doesn't recall, who wrote a "confidential" letter, and who refused to allow Mr. Borden, Rev. Dr. Howley would not cease while he (Morine) acted as Reid's adviser.

MORINE TELLS OF DEALINGS WITH REID

Defends Contract With Railwayman as Beneficial to Newfoundland—Acted Openly as Reid's Legal Adviser, and Money Since Received is Legitimate Compensation.

OTTAWA, March 29.—(Can. Press.)—A. B. Morine, K.C., issued the following statement to-night to the press:
"Being informed, over the telephone, that Mr. Carvell, M.P., was speaking about me in the commons, I at once went to the gallery to listen, and I now submit a reply to what I then heard him say.
"I can give an outline only of the facts relating to my resignation from the government of Newfoundland in 1898, at the request of Governor Murray; they are as follows:
"Governor Murray was personally opposed very bitterly to the Reid railway contract, adopted by the legislature, and after its passage became embittered against me for some fanciful slight I was accused of showing him. The opponents of that measure urged him to punish me, the man most connected with the measure, in their opinion, and the most energetic member of the administration. One of the most active of these politicians was the Very Rev. M. F. Howley, whose letter abusing me was read by Mr. Carvell.
"Was Reid's Legal Adviser.
"It was a public fact that I was and had been the general legal adviser of R. G. Reid, the contractor. No secret had been made of this, for I openly acted in that capacity in the courts. I had specially asked the premier, Sir James Winter, if it were desirable that I should remain in the cabinet, and had remained at his request. Other counsel for the contractor had sat in the previous cabinet with the knowledge and acquiescence of Governor Murray himself. The governor knew that I acted for Reid, and he made no protest or took any action till moved to do so for party ends and because of his personal feeling. Any objection there might be to the situation on principle was offset in this case by the fact that the Reid railway contract, 1889, was unanimously supported by the members of the legislature supporting the government and by half of the opposition, led by the present premier of Newfoundland, Sir E. P. Morris. The amended disadvantageous, that measure remains in force to this day, to the general advantage of the country, and now it is almost universally admitted that the contract was a splendid one for the country. I may add that St. John's newspaper, which asserted that corrupt influences were used to support the measure, was sued for libel and most unreservedly withdrew its imputations.
"Restored to Office.
"After my resignation my colleagues urged my reappointment. Gov. Murray, who reconciled to me personally, demurred to a reappointment and soon retired. His successor, Gov. McCallum, Continued on Page 8, Column 8.

Other counsel for the contractor had sat in the previous cabinet with the knowledge and acquiescence of Governor Murray himself. The governor knew that I acted for Reid, and he made no protest or took any action till moved to do so for party ends and because of his personal feeling. Any objection there might be to the situation on principle was offset in this case by the fact that the Reid railway contract, 1889, was unanimously supported by the members of the legislature supporting the government and by half of the opposition, led by the present premier of Newfoundland, Sir E. P. Morris. The amended disadvantageous, that measure remains in force to this day, to the general advantage of the country, and now it is almost universally admitted that the contract was a splendid one for the country. I may add that St. John's newspaper, which asserted that corrupt influences were used to support the measure, was sued for libel and most unreservedly withdrew its imputations.

"I can give an outline only of the facts relating to my resignation from the government of Newfoundland in 1898, at the request of Governor Murray; they are as follows:
"Governor Murray was personally opposed very bitterly to the Reid railway contract, adopted by the legislature, and after its passage became embittered against me for some fanciful slight I was accused of showing him. The opponents of that measure urged him to punish me, the man most connected with the measure, in their opinion, and the most energetic member of the administration. One of the most active of these politicians was the Very Rev. M. F. Howley, whose letter abusing me was read by Mr. Carvell.
"Was Reid's Legal Adviser.
"It was a public fact that I was and had been the general legal adviser of R. G. Reid, the contractor. No secret had been made of this, for I openly acted in that capacity in the courts. I had specially asked the premier, Sir James Winter, if it were desirable that I should remain in the cabinet, and had remained at his request. Other counsel for the contractor had sat in the previous cabinet with the knowledge and acquiescence of Governor Murray himself. The governor knew that I acted for Reid, and he made no protest or took any action till moved to do so for party ends and because of his personal feeling. WORK SUSPENDS IN ANTHRACITE MINES

Order Goes Forth to Lay Down Tools in Hard Coal Regions To-day, Pending Vote on Strike—Will Continue Conferences, and Strong Hopes for Settlement Are Held.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 29.—(Can. Press.)—President White's ultimatum ordering a suspension of work in the anthracite region vending a referendum vote will be obeyed to the letter by the underground workers of the Wyoming region. A large number of miners practically obeyed the order this afternoon before they had an intimation of President White's order. They took their tools out of the workings and notified their foremen that they would not report for work to-morrow.

There seems to be no question as to what the outcome of the referendum vote will be. The miners will undoubtedly stand by any policy outlined by the executive officers of the United Mine Workers. Despite the dark outlook an optimistic feeling prevails that the suspension will not be of long duration and that the operators and their employes will be able to get together at no distant day.

A Further Conference.
PHILADELPHIA, March 29.—(Can. Press.)—Geo. F. Baer, president of the Reading Railway Co., to-day received a telegram from Cleveland signed by White, Fahey and Dempsey of the United Mine Workers, asking for a further conference with the operators. The message reached the offices of the president after he had gone to his home, and when its purport had been sent to him by telephone, he at once wired the miners' officials that he would gladly agree to a further conference.

ernment on the separate schools question, and stated that the authors of the act recently passed were Messrs. Monk, Nantel and Pelletier. The words "deceived" and "betrayed" appeared very often in the pamphlet.

Mr. Rhodes proceeded that there was no mistake, when he stated the document came from the Liberal party and endorsed by its leaders. It was a propaganda attempt to trade upon race and religion, and it was thrown in the fertile soil of old Quebec.

Provincial Election Tactics. The literature was sent free thru the postoffice franked by the member for Russell, a member of the privy council. Mr. Rhodes twitted the leader of the opposition with his frequent assertion of being a peacemaker and the present attempts made by his followers to sow a propaganda of passion, but the reason was obvious. The Liberal party in the Province of Quebec was on the eve of a provincial election, and they were trying to gain votes by disgraceful means. He protested as a young Canadian who wished to see Canada built up strong and firm.

Mr. McKenzie (Cape Breton) answered that the Conservative party had used very wrong arguments in the Drummond-Arthabaska election and they were endorsed by the minister of militia.

Hon. Sam Hughes: "I said if they were used, the Liberals were only getting some of their own medicine back."

Mr. Hart, member for Charlottetown, made a plea for proper recognition of that port.

Carvell Opens Attack. F. B. Carvell (Carlton, N.B.) seized the opportunity of the motion to go into supply for a savage attack on A. B. Morine, chairman of the public service commission, based on Mr. Morine's political life as premier of Newfoundland.

The members of the commission, which involved almost the liberties of many public servants, said Mr. Carvell should be above reproach. They were not only judges, but prosecuting attorneys as well.

He said that Mr. Morine, when he went to Newfoundland, became connected with The St. John's Mercury, which raised a violent cry, at first against the Roman Catholics. Then about 1890 he turned and supported them.

Alleged Railway Deal. But this, he continued, was not the point he wished to emphasize. In 1898, he said, when Mr. Morine was finance minister and minister of customs for Newfoundland, he made an agreement with R. B. Reid, a prominent railway contractor, by which the colony of Newfoundland gave away to Reid almost all the colony possessed, in order to secure the operation of railroads.

The colony under Mr. Morine spent $13,000,000 on this railroad, handed it over with all its branches to Reid for 50 years, with the condition that it should become Reid's property on his payment of $1,000,000. Reid was also given 6000 acres of land a mile, which with the other concessions he had got would take up almost all the available land in the colony. He was given all the coal with the understanding that there should be an import duty of $1 a ton. He was also given a monopoly of steamship lines on the coast, with a subsidy of $100,000. He was given control of the docks at St. John's for $325,000, a monopoly of telegraph lines and certain other franchises totaling $18,000,000 to $16,000,000.

Then Mr. Morine had fought the election of 1897, with the deal with Reid as his principal plank.

Hon. George E. Foster: "Who was premier of Newfoundland at that time?"

Turned Down by Chamberlain. Mr. Carvell: "It was Hon. Mr. Winter."

Continuing, Mr. Carvell read an extract from the reply of Rt. Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, then secretary of state for the colonies, to the governor of Newfoundland, dated March 23, 1898, refusing to ratify the agreement.

On Mr. Morine admitting in 1898 that, while he was a member of the executive council of Newfoundland, he was the legal adviser of Reid, the governor of the colony dismissed him from office, stating in a letter that he should "not give him the choice which master he would serve for the future."

"It was impossible to conceive," commented Mr. Carvell, "that any man who had been so disgraced would have the hardihood to hold his head up and seek public office in this country."

Continuing his recital, Mr. Carvell told of the governor who had dismissed Morine leaving the colony, and of an application to Gov. McCollum, who succeeded him, to have Mr. Morine reinstated. He had promised the governor in a letter not to have anything to do with Reid and had been reinstated, but was forced by Gov. McCollum to resign a second time.

Speaks of "Betrayal." "Having betrayed the colony for the benefit of his employer, he then attempted," said Mr. Carvell, "to betray his employer for the benefit of himself."

Morine and Reid, he said, had quarreled over The St. John's Mercury, on which Morine held a mortgage of $35,000. Morine had refused to return the property, and the matter had got into the courts. Judgment was given that Morine held the paper as fiduciary for Reid and he was ordered to hand it back to him.

But for this suit, said Mr. Carvell, "the public would never have known all the iniquities of this deal."

In 1908, he charged, Morine had become the solicitor for Reid at $5000 a year, and he had held this position at the time he had promised Governor McCollum he would have nothing to do with Reid. He held it till 1899, when Mr. Carvell, "the public would never have known all the iniquities of this deal,"

Got $10,000 a Year. This law suit with Reid, continued Mr. Carvell, had resulted in a supplementary agreement made with Reid for $10,000 a year, or whatever it could be called, of $10,000 a year on condition that he wouldn't come back to Newfoundland.

"For $10,000 a year," he became an exile from the colony of Newfoundland, and now he comes to this country, forces himself into our politics, and becomes the head of the most important commission this government has created since it came into power."

He charged that Premier Borden knew all about Mr. Morine's record; that he was made acquainted with it when Mr. Morine was a Conservative candidate in Nova Scotia in 1908.

Bishop's Strong Words. Mr. Carvell topped his charges against Mr. Morine by reading a letter of Rt. Rev. P. Howley, Bishop of Newfoundland, which contained some choice words of denunciation. Mr. Morine was, according to the bishop, "the greatest scoundrel that ever entered the narrow—"

"I wish to warn you against," wrote the bishop "for public life in Canada. He has inflicted a wound on Newfoundland that centuries would not heal."

There was another episode, Mr. Carvell said, "found him out embezzling from him," held it over him as a threat and driven him from the colony.

Baseball Toronto 12 Macon 4 Lacrosse News Gossip Rowing Battle of Blues To-day

Note and Comment

The Oxford and Cambridge boat race, the most popular athletic contest in British sport, will be decided to-day. As usual, the course will be on the Thames, between Putney and Mortlake.

Of the 65 races rowed between Oxford and Cambridge since 1829, Oxford has won 27, Cambridge 30, and one (that of 1877) was a dead-heat.

That St. Helen's Lacrosse Club are not a unit for the Canadian Lacrosse Association appears to be a fact. However, a well pointed member stated last night that the opposition might have an interest, but that does not prevent the same club officially endorsing the nomination of Frank Doyle to an office in the C.L.A.

A great season is looked for in the City Croquet League. Some regret was expressed that Batons and Simpsons did not get into the same section. However they'll meet before the season is over.

The Philadelphia Athletic players say they will prevent Ty Cobb from playing them next season by wearing shin guards. An easier way for them would be to stand outside the park.

With the exception of Macon, Ga., as per our own correspondent, this is the poorest season in the long career of Old Mac. The other clubs' war correspondents didn't have many opportunities to make free with his name.

Hank O'Day's change from umpire to manager will not meet with approval. Before he was unpopular with the people. Now he will be unpopular with the people and players.

Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion, may give battle to Sugar Ray, the lightweight champion. It is said the fighters will meet if financial terms can be agreed upon. Jimmy Dunn, champion manager, received a telegram at Cleveland from Los Angeles asking if he would consider an offer for Kilbane to meet Wolcott in a twenty-round contest on July 4 at that place.

No one can ever again see Abe Attell in not game. He will be singing at a theatre in San Francisco.

Winnipeg Increase Results in Discontent in Local Railway Circles—Mass Meeting to Be Held.

Considerable discontent is prevalent in the local railway union as a result of the increase in wages granted to the employees of the Winnipeg Street Railway Company.

No definite steps have been taken by the local union as yet to remedy the trouble, as the present agreement does not expire until June 15. It is likely that the matter will be discussed at the regular meeting of the union on Monday night in the Labor Temple, but a mass meeting will be called for the final settlement of the question some time later.

THE LEAFS AGAIN BEAT MACON

Scratch Team of Regulars, With McGinley and Lush Pitching, Easily Won From Southerners.

By D. L. Snedden.—MACON, Ga., March 29.—Rain fell heavily all last night, but Joe Kelley's band of braves were not cheated out of their morning work. The sun came out early, and the Leafs wended their way out to Central City Park at the usual time.

The sun worked overtime, and by the afternoon the diamond was in fair shape. Macon was given another game, and this time Toronto gave them a 12-to-4 beating. The veteran Jim McGinley did his first real box work, and stood the first, Atlantic League future greets on their heads. Jim was very tight with his base knocks in the three innings he was on the rubber, and the best the Macon hopes could do was to rap him safely three times.

One run was all the Leafs went after in the first. McConnell kept on the pitcher, Shaw and O'Hara were retired, Sweeney Fischer was there with the needful, and Wilson and Dalton are still in the slipper brigade, and George Winter did the running in the right garden. Sweeney Fischer was the hero with the bickery. He gathered in a homer, a double and a single in four journeys to the plate. Wilson gave him a hard chase for the day's record, rapping safely three times, one of them a double. McConnell, Shaw and Lush had two hits each to their credit.

Wilson is the speed demon of the team. He gave a fine exhibition of baserunning in the first. McConnell kept on the pitcher, Shaw and O'Hara were retired, Sweeney Fischer was there with the needful, and Wilson and Dalton are still in the slipper brigade, and George Winter did the running in the right garden. Sweeney Fischer was the hero with the bickery. He gathered in a homer, a double and a single in four journeys to the plate.

Scout Arthur Irwin of the Yankees says that he expects Jimmy Emson, one-time pitcher, now with the Reds, to develop into one of the best short fielders in the game.

Sporting Notes. George Bonhag, American distance runner, may not compete in the 10000-metre run scheduled for Sunday, July 7, at the Olympic games. He is very much against competition on Sunday.

Tom McCarrey, a Los Angeles fight promoter, wanted to take the management of Johnny Kilbane for a period of two years, offering him $50,000 for that time. The little fighter refused, feeling sure that he could make more than that as a free lance.

At Woodstock, the junior basketball team of the Boys' Club, Central Y.M.C.A., won the O.P.A. championship Thursday night, when they defeated Woodstock Y.M.C.A. in the final game by the score of 22 to 14.

GOOD OLD OXFORD CALLED TO WIN

Annual University Boat Race on To-day From Putney to Mortlake—Crew and Their Weights.

LONDON, March 29.—The Oxford and Cambridge crews which row in the annual university boat race on the Thames course from Putney to Mortlake, about four and one-quarter miles to-morrow, have concluded their preparations for the contest in which the representatives of Oxford, the Dark Blues, are favorites. The signal for the start will be given at Putney at 11.30. Both eights appear to be trained to the minute, but the superior weight and physique of the Oxonians are expected to carry them to victory in what may turn out to be a punishing race. The Cambridge crew have a nippy style, which in calm weather and smooth water is likely to give them a lead at the start, but experts are generally unanimous that the long strokes of the Oxonians is bound to tell in the later stages.

From the start Oxford has had somewhat the best of things. The Dark Blue crew was completed weeks before that of Cambridge, which was only finally settled upon about March 1. When the crews arrived at Putney after their try-outs on the streams near their respective universities and a fortnight's training on the upper reaches of the Thames, the Oxford men, a fine, level lot, were rowing well together. As seven out of the eight came from Eton, where they got their first lessons in rowing, they all had about the same style, and the coach was saved the work of bringing them into line with one another.

It was not so with Cambridge, and their coach had a lot of work to do even after they had established themselves at Putney three weeks ago for the final touches. If the results of trials during the early training days can be taken as examples of the speed of the crews, the race should be a fast one. Both clipped seconds of the records for the up-river courses. Oxford rowed from Henley Bridge to Hambleton Lock in 10 minutes 27 seconds, a good 25 seconds better than the previous best, while Cambridge did the full course from Marlow Bridge to Cookham in 18 minutes 24 seconds. Another record was broken. The crews and their weights follow:—

NO STUDENTS' RATE

Railroads Have Withdrawn Privilege Because It Was Abused.

Alleging that the special rates granted several years ago to students who live in the west, so that they could attend eastern colleges, have been abused, the railroads have withdrawn this rate of 25, or one-half the first-class fare, and hereafter all students will pay the same as any other passengers. One reason for this decision of the railroads is because the west has now educational institutions fully as good as the east, and there is no necessity for the western youth to travel this far. They further claim that the students who have made a practice of teaching in the west during vacation time were taking advantage of this provision. By this class of summer teachers the new rule will be felt the most.

The Result of Foot Trouble

Scholl's 'Foot-Eazers'

Pains in the feet, limbs and back—rheumatism, irritable disposition and other bodily ailments, often arise from breaking down of the arch of the foot, terminating in flat-foot. Tired, aching feet are the first and most plainly recognized results of broken arch, but intimate nerve connections make the disturbance felt in remote portions of the body.

Scholl's "Foot-Eazers" relieves aching feet and limbs and prevents corns, blisters, calluses, bunions, etc., and other foot troubles by equalizing the weight of the body. They make a weak arch firm and give strength and efficiency to all who wear them.

SOCCER REFEREES MUST UNDERGO EXAMINATION

Toronto and District Council Getting Ready for the Season That Opens on April 27.

The T. and D. Council held a meeting in the Labor Temple last night. Entries from new clubs were received and general routine business transacted. The examining board met and went over the credentials of thirty referees, and test papers were given to each to fill out. The board by only placing referees of the highest standard on their list hope to enforce more rigidly the rules, and thus prevent any rough play on the part of the referees of the T. and D. are generally appointed to handle most of the important games throughout Ontario, the competition is pretty keen amongst them to be classed as A1 on the league's list, and the result of the examination is being anxiously waited for.

The attention of all clubs is called to the general meeting to be held on Monday, April 22, at 8 p.m. at the Labor Temple. The Secretary, Mr. G. Wallace of Eaton's, expects great things from his spring season. D. Lumsden of the Thistles has had a few setbacks already, but still claims he can deliver the goods. The railway teams appear to have rounded up a few likely ones. Moore Park has suddenly become a soccer centre. Six teams have acquired grounds in that rural burg.

Competition for the services of Highgate, the Moore Park, is a very keen one. Wonder who George Campbell is signing for this season? The 31st of April will be the day when many managers' hopes will be blighted. The new council have had their "pictures" taken.

SATURDAY MORNING, MARCH 30, 1912

NOT A PROGRESSIVE POLICY.

The resolution unanimously adopted by the board of trade on Thursday votes the almost unanimous feeling of the people of Ontario: a feeling of disappointment at the smallness of the appropriation for the Welland Canal. To place in the estimates for the commencement of operations upon a great and urgently needed public work a sum little more than one-half of one per cent. of its estimated cost is more suggestive of trifling than of earnest purpose of proceeding with the work. Had the resolution been even more emphatically worded it might have still more accurately expressed the thought of the vast majority of the people. It is true, of course, as the resolution sets forth, that the Borden administration has been but a short time in office and that ministers have been busy not only in familiarizing themselves with the work of their departments, but with the settlement of some perplexing questions as well.

But the question of water transportation is not a new one. All public men are or should be fairly familiar with it. Canadian public men who possess the necessary equipment for the holders of cabinet positions should have an intelligent knowledge of this one of the problems that Canada must grapple with. They have seen and should have made themselves acquainted with the meaning of the contest which for years has been going on between our neighbors and ourselves for the control of the water-borne traffic seeking its way from the great lakes to the seaboard. They can hardly be unaware that while nature has given us the advantage, that advantage is by no means assured. They have seen a few years ago the unwise placing of tolls on the Welland absolutely divert the entire wheat-carrying business from the Canadian to the American route, and having seen this they can hardly be blind to the fact that if a six-foot Erie Canal could do this, it will be utterly, hopelessly impossible for the present Welland Canal to compete with the new twelve-foot Erie now rapidly approaching completion. To hesitate, to proceed timidly and ineffectually in the face of what is of the magnitude of a crisis, whatever else it may indicate, is not suggestive of statesmanship.

To place even so small a sum in the estimates is, of course, an endorsement of the project and commits the government to prosecute it to completion, but the smallness of the sum is an indication of anything rather than vigorous or wholehearted prosecution of the work.

THE FIRST SESSION.

It will be generally admitted that the Borden government has come through its first session of parliament fairly well. If it has not at every point reached the highest hopes of its best friends, it has certainly disappointed its opponents. For one thing, a good example was set by implementing the number of the pledges made to the electorate during the last campaign. Bills were passed appropriating considerable sums for the encouragement of agriculture and the improvement of highways. The grain bill was put through, and a beginning was made towards public ownership of terminal elevators. The Ontario Manitoba boundary question was handled in a proper way, and an advance made towards eliminating the school question from federal politics.

The government, we believe, made a mistake in not dealing at once with the marriage question as presented by Mr. Lancaster's bill. The question is too important to be trifled with, and it may happen that after two or three years the privy council will decline to express any opinion upon the abstract question submitted. There is disappointment also at the meagre appropriations made for beginning work on the Welland Canal. This national undertaking should not be delayed. The problems of transportation are too important to justify a continuation of the Laurier policy of postponing great public works until the next general election.

The opposition, under the leadership of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, was not effective. This is not said in depreciation of the former prime minister. He had rather a difficult role to play on several occasions, but it cannot be said that much headway was made against the government. There are some big questions soon to be dealt with, and we hope the new government will grapple with them in a courageous and progressive spirit. The great upheaval at hand in the United States will be felt in Canada, with the result that party lines will become less rigid, and that more interest will be taken by the people in social and economic questions affecting the comfort of their daily lives.

A THIRD CANDIDATE.

Colonel Roosevelt is speaking plainly about the methods employed to bring about the renomination of President Taft. He declared in Chicago that the Republican party would not be bound by the action of a convention which was not representative of the party. The supporters of President Taft have no doubts about his being renominated, but they view with uneasiness the possibility of Colonel Roosevelt's candidacy as a nominee of the Progressives.

At present the two great political parties are composed of irreconcilable elements. A big section of the Democratic party would prefer Roosevelt to many of the aspirants for the Democratic nomination, while a large section of the Republican party would probably prefer Mr. Bryan or some other progressive Democrat to President Taft.

There is no occasion to ascribe the course of the ex-president to any motive except patriotism. He believes, and many believe with him, that the United States is facing a crisis, and that he will be able to deal with it in the best interests of the people, should he again be called upon to administer the government.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE IN BRITAIN.

In all probability the militant section of the woman suffrage supporters will take little heed of what is practically a vote of censure over their methods passed in the imperial house of commons. The conciliation bill, as it is popularly termed, proposed that every woman possessed of a household qualification or of a £10 property qualification should be entitled to vote, and that marriage should not disqualify except to this extent, that husband and wife could not qualify on the same property. The second reading of this bill was carried on July 11, 1910, by a majority of 109 votes. The voting was very mixed, 174 Liberals supporting and 69 opposing; 99 Unionists in favor and 181 against; 84 labor members in favor and 18 against. It was anticipated that this bill would enfranchise about 1,000,000 women.

On May 5 of last year a bill was brought forward by Sir George Kemp, which only differed from the conciliation bill by omitting the £10 qualification. The discussion again exhibited a singular difference of opinion in every quarter of the house, but the result was still more decisive, the second reading being carried by 255 against 88 votes. Efforts were then made to procure facilities for its further consideration, but all that the government conceded, thru Mr. Lloyd George, was the promise that if the bill were reintroduced next (this) session, in a form sufficiently wide to admit of amendment, a week or more would be granted for its consideration. The matter was considerably complicated by the government's proposals regarding manhood suffrage, and notwithstanding the fate of the limited measure it will still be open to the advocates of woman suffrage to move an amendment conferring the franchise on equal terms.

The vote of Thursday, however, does not indicate that such an amendment would be carried in the present temper of the house of commons. The change of sentiment is no doubt rightly attributed to the window-smashing activities of the militant suffragettes. Logically this exhibition ought not to affect the course of those members of parliament who admit the justice of the demand, and the vote of Thursday may be taken as indicating that some, indeed many, of them, are none too robust in their support. The Nationalists, whose votes more than accounted for the rejection of the bill, were probably actuated by mixed motives, chiefly by the desire to facilitate the passing of the home rule measure thru the house. The truth appears to be this: that the window-smashing episode has turned lukewarm supporters into decided opponents by affording a plausible pretext for a change of front. This, however, is clear enough that with a line of cleavage dividing both the ministerialist and opposition parties woman suffrage cannot in the meantime be made a government question whichever party is in power.

TUCUMSEH.

Editor World: At a very important period in the history of Canada, or should I say critical point of her destiny, when grave danger imperiled her very existence as a young colony, the colonists were apprehensive of the temper of the various tribes and bands of Indians who composed the great majority of the population, and the stand they would take as a neutral body, in an impending conflict between Saxon and Sioux which would determine the fate of Canada and Canadianism. There and then came forward Tecumseh, the Shawnee warrior, leader and spokesman of the tribes of Ontario West, who had pledged his oath as a British subject to battle and resist to the bitter end any attempt on the part of the foe to despoil the Canadian home and soil.

In anticipation of a blow being struck, which he well knew and understood to have been under contemplation, he, followed by his tribesmen, deserted the land of his nativity, just as Joseph Brant did after the war of 1776, to plant himself in the land of the Judges' Chambers.

Before the Chancellor. Re Adah May Hutchinson—W. N. Ferguson, K.C., for W. H. Hutchinson, the father, V. A. Sinclair (Tilsonburg) for maternal grandparents, Motion by the father in infant, William Hutchinson, on return of writ of habeas corpus for an order for the custody of his child. By an agreement dated Dec. 4, 1911, the father granted assigned to Robert Burvill and Adah Burvill, maternal grandparents, all his rights to the possession, custody, control and care of the infant, etc., but now seeks to set aside the said agreement. Some 42 residents of Tilsonburg petition against the child's removal. Judgment: The child is under three years of age, said to be an active, healthy child, yet easily excited and needing careful treatment. I have no manner of doubt that the child cannot be better placed than to be left with the grandparents; they are well-to-do, living in a roomy house with a large lot, in which the child can play. The character of the grandparents is particularly well in the opinion of the neighbors and townfolk of Tilsonburg. The agreement prepared in view of the mother's death, for the father, is upheld by the grandparents, but is being set aside by an action to set it aside by the father.

great family that claimed his allegiance.

Settling himself at the gateway of Canada as a faithful watch-dog might lie at the threshold of his master's home, he prepared not only to give the alarm, but to resist any encroachment.

One hundred years ago, this noble-hearted and chivalrous barbarian son of the forests, whose genius and capacity for organization was no less renowned than that of Pontiac, effected an alliance of Indian tribes in Western Ontario, designed to unify common action in upholding the honor, integrity and well being of the empire.

It is not for me to extol or magnify the meaning and far-reaching results of his sympathy in the cause of his fellow countrymen, further than to suggest that his brave and heroic deed, of the temper of his allied warriors to such a degree in conflict as to seriously hamper the advance of the invading army. Without them and their fearless leader, it might have been possible for the enemy's forces to have effected a junction between Windsor and Queenston. Such a possibility would have presaged disaster to British arms.

Tecumseh, the heroic defender of Canada one hundred years ago, is a name and personality that should not be allowed to pass in 1912-15 with the mere mention that the page of history has set him in place. The memory of this resolute and brave warrior who gave up his life for the conservation of our heritage and maintenance of the greater empire, might reasonably win for him a new place, a new life in the esteem and affections of a people who love to cherish and revere deeds of valor.

The unknown grave of the mastermind of the forests should be transformed into a conspicuous and fitting monument—distinctly his—to be erected in the City of Toronto, the capital of the province in which were enacted the principal scenes of the war of '81.

In behalf of such a worthy undertaking, it is my desire as a kinsman of our loyal and patriotic race, to make an appeal to the citizens of Toronto and Canada for that measure of financial aid and support of the project as will insure its erection, and to have it ready for unveiling in 1918, the hundredth anniversary of his death.

A Boon to Stock-Raisers

To Know How to Cure Colic, Distemper, Colds, Swellings, Etc.—Saves Thousands Each Year.

Of Practical Interest to Horsemen

It is a matter of vital importance to every farmer, horse-owner, and stock-raiser to know exactly what to do when one of his animals is taken suddenly sick. The letter of Mr. Frank G. Fullerton, which we print below, gives fulfillment of inestimable value, and tells of his experience in curing ailing stock during the past thirty-eight years.

SAVED $1,000 BY NERVILINE

When my horses took colic I used to give them Cayenne Pepper in hot milk, but in a few cases only I got help, and because I had no proper means at hand I lost several valuable animals. Some one told me of the success Mr. Wendling of Brockville, Ont., had in his racing stables with 'Nerviline,' so I had in a supply. It wasn't very long before Nerviline saved the life of a valuable stallion of mine, which was worth at least $1000. This horse was taken with colic and would have died had it not been for Nerviline. I have used Nerviline for reducing swellings, for taking out distemper lumps, and easing a bad cough, and always found it worked well. I recommend every man who owns horses or cattle to keep Nerviline on hand.

which is now pending. I must regard this at present as a valid agreement, which is binding on the father. I have no doubt that the wishes of the dying wife were that the child should be left to the care of the grandparents. But apart from this agreement upon the material placed before me, that the interests of the child will be better subserved by letting her custody remain in statu quo, the father having all reasonable access to the child when he so desires, the right of access to be settled by the local master, if the parties cannot agree. Therefore, in the peculiar circumstances of this case, following ex parte Temper, I refuse to change the custody. I do not award costs to either side. I can only express the earnest desire that the parties may take thought and act reasonably and considerately on both sides, so as to preserve harmony in the family and avoid a devastating litigation in the courts, which may go far to impoverish the moneyed litigant and to embarrass the one who is poorer.

SENATORS WILL STAND TO GUNS

Amendments to Highways Aid Bill Are Confirmed on Vote to Test Feeling.

OTTAWA, March 29.—(Can. Press).—The senate to-day accepted the challenge of the government, which turned down the senate amendments to the highway aid bill. The upper chamber voted to insist on its amendments. A joint conference is the next step.

Senator Power moved in moving committee consideration for the bill increasing Prince Edward Island's subsidy, showed that with stated revenue, limited funds for administration and difficulties of winter communication, this fertile province had been steadily losing population in the most regrettable way.

Sir Richard Cartwright said that the government had opened up a door to dangers without much consideration or having much information. On the basis of population and taxation, it was now proposed to treat Prince Edward Island far more generously than any of the other provinces. It was certain as anything could be that the other provinces would come to the Dominion with demands for increases of their subsidy to put them on a basis of equality with Prince Edward Island. The subject was complicated, difficult and interminable, Prince Edward Island appeared to want to be absolutely spared taxation.

After further discussion Senator Kerr adjourned the debate.

A bill to subsidize the Canadian Northern Pacific Railway Co., which provided $2,000 a mile for not more than 625 miles of line from Vancouver eastward through the Yellowhead Pass, was given a third reading.

No Surrender. Speaker Laurier reported having received a message from the commons stating that it declined to agree to the fourth and seventh amendments, which the senate had made to the bill for aid in the construction of highways.

Sensor Power moved that the senate should insist upon this amendment and this was carried on division without debate. Senator Power then moved that the senate appoint a committee to study the reasons for insisting upon its amendment and report at the next sitting of the senate and that Senators Dandurand, Watson and Power be that committee.

This was adopted. The senate adjourned until Saturday morning.

Latest Types of Motor Sleighs. The past winter brought out many new and interesting types of motor-driven sleighs and ice boats, some of which attained remarkable speed, while others were of interest because of their uniqueness. Eight machines, driven by mechanism designed mostly for aeroplanes, automobiles or motor-cycles, are shown in the April number of Popular Mechanics Magazine. The fastest of these made a speed of approximately 140 miles an hour. The sleighs vary widely in design, each having its particular points of advantage and interest.

In closing he declared that there was no legal machinery by which the G. T. R. could be compelled to observe the agreement entered into with them by another party and then repudiated by them. It seemed to him the time was not far distant when parliament would say that any quasi-public institution such as a railway must be compelled to treat its employees decently.

Hon. T. W. Crothers, minister of labor, said everybody knew how vitally the life of the country was affected by the transportation and everybody realized how unjust it would be to add burdens to the railway companies or to do anything at all to cripple them or the investing of capital there.

But the railways existed for the interests of the people. There were 129,000 men operating the railways in Canada to-day, men recruited from the farming class, as intelligent and as devoted as any other class in the community.

"And the question is," said Mr. Crothers, "whether the time has not arrived when we should exercise more control over railways than heretofore. We have these men dismissed at will, and no independent tribunal to whom they can appeal for justice. The question is whether the time has arrived when these men should be looked after more carefully than they are to-day. After twenty years of service a trainman is not for much else, and if he is dismissed it is impossible to find employment for which he is qualified. It seems to me that the time has come when the board of railway commissioners to deal with the claims of a man who states he has been unjustly dealt with.

Terms of Reinstatement.

The minister of labor proceeded to take up the question of the Grand Trunk Railway strike on July 13, 1910. An agreement was arrived at with the railway company on July 31, 1910, the first day to the strike after that those men who had gone out on strike should be put back other than those who had been guilty of violence. The second clause ran that they would pay the men from May 1, 1910, a certain rate of wages from Jan. 1, 1910, and make effective the rules and scales of wages in force on the C.P.R.

"I am not here," said Mr. Crothers, "to find fault with the late government, but in the way they intervened we were led to believe the agreement had been entered into with every intention, and it should be carried out. The great majority had returned to work, but it had transpired that two or three hundred had not been taken back."

Mr. Crothers stated that complaints were made that Judge Barron was appointed to investigate each case. President Hays wrote to him, asking him to send the report to him, and to do only that which was right and just. The investigation had extended over a number of months, and he made a report to President Hays, which he, minister of labor, was not able to get. In a second report he gave the names of 128 men for reinstatement.

Crothers created somewhat of a sensation when he stated that he wrote Mr. Hays asking for a copy of the report, and that the latter replied it was made for his own private use and was not for publication. In answer to a question by a member, Mr. Crothers stated that as near as he could arrive at some forty or fifty had not been reinstated. Of those taken back, very few, if any, had been reinstated, but had been taken on as if they were new men. He was not aware of anyone who had got the situation equal to the one he had at the time of the strike.

Hon. Mr. Crothers stated that he had endeavored to influence the Grand Trunk to take these men back, but "I have," said Mr. Crothers, "a communication in which President Hays states that he ever agreed to take any one back. I have a communication in which he even denies that he ever wrote to Judge Barron at all. I have asked, even 30 days ago, for a report to the men giving them 30 days to return to work. They have refused to do anything, and said they have done all they were ever asked to do."

Cut in Wages. The company did put into effect the same rates and schedule of wages as present in force on the C. P. R., but on Feb. 29 last, the company gave notice to the men that they were to be cut in on April 1 they would discontinue the new scale and return to the scale made effective on May 1, 1910. The minister stated that he had written to the Grand Trunk suggesting that to have in force on April 1, 1912, the same scale of wages as then in force on the C. P. R., and then go back on it to the extent of 25 per cent, was neither fair nor reasonable. He suggested that the company should continue the new scale for twelve months and, without divulging any secret, might mention that Mr. Wainwright had said it was reasonable, but he had no authority to give any undertaking on that score.

Mr. Hays, he said, seemed to be in the argument of the Grand Trunk that when any agreement was made that did not think the scale of wages would be high as it turned out, he might mention that the scale was made on a mileage basis, as recommended by the court, Mr. Wallace Nesbitt, in a minority report. There was no good ground for the company to say that the agreement was not made in ignorance, and therefore should be broken. The agreement was not made in ignorance. Concluding he stated that there was no legal machinery by which the G. T. R. could be compelled to observe the agreement.

"It seems to me," he said, "the time is not far distant when parliament will say that any quasi-public institution such as a railway must be compelled to treat its employees decently."

G. T. R. Chief Order. John Webster of Brockville said that the Grand Trunk Railway had more trouble with its men than any other railway. All the men asked for was a standard wage, as paid by the C. P. R. He said it was not railway employees who caused the trouble at Brockville. It was much to be regretted that Mr. Hays had not carried out his agreement with the men, and he seemed to be inclined to employ only Americans for good positions. He knew of one conductor who had been in the employ of the company for 27 years, and after the strike, instead of being reinstated, he was given a position as brakeman on a freight train.

The speaker then announced that it was 9 o'clock, the hour for private bills had expired. The bill, in consequence, would have to be taken up on Monday evening, his chance of a Monday session, unless the house might unanimously decide to take it into consideration tomorrow.

BRITAN AGENTS DOCTORS' TIP SAVED MONEY

A. L. Eastmure said to The World last night that his experience as a casualty insurance man, led him to the conclusion that as a rule doctors became sympathetically in danger of going too far when giving evidence in favor of poor patients in damage suits. His own experience in relation to Dr. Garratt was not in that line, however. In the notorious Simm case, it was Dr. Garratt whose incredulity with reference to that crook's alleged injuries at the Union Station, which strengthened his own view that the accident alleged was a fake.

Simm took a room in Terault-st. and called in Dr. Garratt. He claimed to have an injury to his knee, and in consequence of his statements the leg was placed in a plaster cast. While he was supposed to be resting in bed in Terault-st., Simm went to Detroit, and duped an accident insurance company's doctor into certifying to an injury.

When investigations were made here, Simm skipped out, but was caught in the States and given three years for a similar fraud there.

FRANK WOOTTEN DIED THURSDAY

Editor of Canadian Churchman Was Taken Ill on Tuesday, and His Sudden Demise is Regretted.

General regret is expressed in the Anglican communion at the death of Frank Wootton, editor of Canadian Churchman. Mr. Wootton was at his office on Monday, and directed the publication of this week's issue of his paper. He was taken ill on Tuesday and died at 4:15 Thursday afternoon at his residence, 400 Palmerston-boulevard, of heart trouble. A widow and daughter, who were present, survive. The funeral will be conducted this afternoon by Bishop Reave at St. Alban's Cathedral. The funeral will be to the family vault at St. James' Cemetery.

Mr. Wootton was in his 70th year. He came to Toronto from Cornwall, England, in 1869, and 39 years ago took over the various Churches of England and merged them into the Canadian Churchman.

Bishop Sweeney spoke of the deceased in very high terms yesterday, expressing the view that his death was a serious loss to the Diocese of Toronto.

RASH SORE BABY CAME NEAR DING

Head Broke Out, Spread to Arms, Legs and Entire Body, Itched So He Would Scratch Until Blood Ran, One Box of Cuticura Ointment and Nearly One Cake of Cuticura Soap Cured Him. Has Had No Return.

"When my boy was about three months old, his head broke out with a rash which was very itchy and ran a watery fluid, and everything we could do to get him out of the rash, till it spread to his arms, legs and then to his entire body. He got so bad that he came near dying. The rash would itch so that he would scratch till the blood ran, and this scabbing stuff would get all over his pillow in the morning. I had to put mittens on his hands to prevent him tearing his skin. He was so weak and ran down that he took fainting spells as if he were dying. He was almost a skeleton and his little hands were thin like claws."

"He was had about eight months when we tried Cuticura Remedies. I had not laid him in his cradle in the daytime for a long while. I washed him with Cuticura Soap and put on one application of Cuticura Ointment and he was so soothed that he could sleep. I don't know how glad I was to feel better. I took one box of Cuticura Ointment and pretty near one cake of Cuticura Soap to cure him. I think our boy would have died but for the Cuticura Remedies and I shall always remain a firm believer in them. He was cured more than twenty years ago, and there has been no return of the trouble. I shall be glad to have you publish his true statement of his cure." (Signed) Mrs. M. C. Matland, Jasper, Ontario, May 27, 1910.

For more than a generation mothers have found a speedy, agreeable and economical treatment for their skin-diseased little ones in Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Although they are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, a liberal sample of each may be obtained free, from the Postor Drug & Chem. Corp., 105 Prop., 43 Columbus Ave., Boston, U.S.A.

ONTARIO WOMEN MAKE STRONG PROTEST

Letter Sent to Each Member of the Legislature Says There is a Rapidly Growing Feeling That Women's Interests Are Being Trifled With in an Intolerable Manner.

As a result of the turnout of the bill providing for the extension of the franchise to women, each member of the legislature is in receipt of the following:

"Chinese women were recently granted the parliamentary franchise on the same terms as men. "Canadian women are not considered by their men worthy of any such regard. "Three measures dealing with the enfranchisement of women were brought before the House of Assembly on Monday and disposed of negatively within a few hours. One of these measures proposed to remove the disqualification of a woman on marriage to exceed the principal vote pertaining to property on which she herself assessed. The second asked for the parliamentary franchise for women, and the third for women suffrage on the same terms as now apply to men. "Our legislators condemned the first on technical grounds. "The second because it was not democratic enough. "The third because it was too democratic. "What form of woman suffrage, may it be asked, will appear acceptable or reasonable to them? It is, of course, quite compatible with the principles of fair play and democracy to compel admission to such treatment with the law makers and of the expenses of government, but it is apparently impossible to discover any acceptable way in which they may be allowed to have a voice in the making of the law and in the working of the latter.

"Let our law makers turn to China for a better elucidation of the meaning of democracy and woman suffrage. "The Premier desires to see the question a 'live issue' in the province before he is prepared to deal with it. How are lives issues brought about? There is no better way of creating one than by persistent indifference to or deliberate disregard of the just claims of a portion of the community. It is surprising how long a subsequent class will submit to such treatment with apparent resignation, but sooner or later comes the moment when a realization of the true nature of the situation turns the women of Ontario to their feet, and those responsible for its cause raise up their hands in pious horror at the inevitable results of their own policy. There is a rapidly growing feeling among the women of Ontario that their interests are being trifled with in an intolerable manner and that they have a better claim to a share in the government of their own province than the Italian, Russian or other foreigners to whom the government so readily extends this privilege."

Secretary, Harriet Prenter, 92 Westminster-ave.

"Mr. Morine here cites a portion of a eulogistic letter by Gov. McCallum at this time, and continues: "I may add that at the next general election in 1904 I was re-elected by my constituents, whose confidence was given to me for twenty years without a single defeat. I became and continued leader of the opposition until I resigned to come to Canada. Then, free from a question of policy I again ceased to be a member of the government in a Newfoundland. Then, free from office, I once more became Reid's legal adviser, entering into a contract for my exclusive professional services. I acted under it till 1906, when it was terminated by agreement, under the following circumstances:

Basis of Compensation. "It was represented to Mr. Reid that his relation with the government could never be friendly and that the political opposition of the Rt. Rev. Dr. Howley, a strong supporter of the government, would not cease while I was Reid's legal adviser. Mr. Reid came from Montreal where he resided to solve the difficulty after consultation with me. I had abandoned my private practice to become his legal adviser, and from Montreal where I resided to my unexpired term. Mr. Reid had also promised me extra remuneration for what he was pleased to regard as peculiarly good work done for him by me. He was anxious to compensate me properly, but he desired to avoid the further friction which he feared might occur if I remained in my office. Knowing that I had long contemplated a return to this, my native country, he offered to commute my claim on him by paying me annually, if I resided in Canada, a sum equal to the yearly salary which I was entitled to under my contract for serving him in Newfoundland.

In a Delicate Position. "After much reflection, I accepted this offer for I felt the difficulty I should experience for a long time in dealing with matters affecting the confidence of the public in the government. I had been for five years in a confidential professional relation with the contractor and he and I felt that as I could not practice for him without injuring him politically, neither could I practice against him without being accused of making use of the knowledge I had obtained in the course of my service. Reference was made by Mr. Carvell to an action brought against me and another person to have it declared that a mortgage in my name was really a trust for Mr. Reid. I did not claim to hold the mortgage for myself, but for the third party, whom I was bound to protect. Money had been given to that third party to help him purchase a newspaper. I contended that it had not been granted with any string to it. In any case, as I was trustee for an unexpressed trust, it was essential, as a dispute had arisen, that the point should be decided in court. The court held that if the trust were for the third party it was one which could not be enforced. While an appeal to the privy council was pending, the arrangement above mentioned was made between Mr. Reid and myself, and this matter was included in the whole settlement. I may be permitted to add that if Mr. Reid had thought me dishonored or culpable in that matter he would have refused to make with me the settlement referred to above.

Attacked by Gatholic Archbishop. "Very strong language derogatory of me was quoted by Mr. Carvell from a letter written by the Right Rev. Dr. Howley of St. John's, Newfoundland, the Roman Catholic Archbishop of St. John's, N.S. In any case, as I was trustee for an unexpressed trust, it was essential, as a dispute had arisen, that the point should be decided in court. The court held that if the trust were for the third party it was one which could not be enforced. While an appeal to the privy council was pending, the arrangement above mentioned was made between Mr. Reid and myself, and this matter was included in the whole settlement. I may be permitted to add that if Mr. Reid had thought me dishonored or culpable in that matter he would have refused to make with me the settlement referred to above.

Urged to Return. "As proof of the place I hold in the public opinion of Newfoundland, may be pardoned by saying under the great provocation which has been given me that I have repeatedly been urged to return to the colony to lead a party, and that for two years I have been unanimously elected president of the Newfoundland Society in Newfoundland. It is hard to be forced at this point and distance to fight over again the scandals so often explicated in Newfoundland, and now retailed here in the most cowardly and vindictive manner when defence has to be made at such disadvantages.

"If I have failed to reply to everything that Mr. Carvell has said, it has been, believe me, because I am dependent on my memory for his charges, not having a report before me, and desiring that my reply should, if possible, be placed in print alongside his attack."

ARE BEAVER SKINS CONTRA-BAND?

NORTH BAY, Ont., March 29.—(Can. Press.)—The trunk full of beaver skins seized on the Timiskaming and North Bay Ontario Railway was forwarded to the station at Mattawa, accompanied by Game Warden Parks and Provincial Constable Hayman, who watched the baggage-room at Mattawa and arrested a man who asked that the man took an affidavit that the skins were secured in Quebec and were to be taken there Ontario, but could produce no permit for so doing. The case was adjourned until Monday.

ANOTHER MOUNTAIN OUTLAW

HILLSVILLE, Va., March 29.—(Can. Press.)—Fried Allen, a blue-eyed strapping 37-year-old, the eighth of the Allen gang, each indicted for the five murders in the Carroll county courthouse a fortnight ago, was taken into custody late to-day in a carriage shed at the home of his father, Jack Allen, eight miles from here. He cheerfully submitted to arrest, and to-night occupies a cell in the Hillsville jail with his cousin, Claude Swanson Allen, who surrendered without resistance to the detectives yesterday.

Only Sidna Allen, a man of middle age, and his young nephew, Wesley Edwards, both bold mountaineers of reckless daring, are fugitives to-night. They are the last of the outlaw band whose fusillade killed a judge, sheriff, prosecutor, juror and bystander in court on March 14 last.

HIGH PARK RATEPAYERS. Wm. Scott, B.A., addressed a large meeting of the High Park Ratepayers' Association in Howard School last night on "Wild Flowers." His talk was very entertaining, and he gave a few hints as to the cultivation of flowers. He showed that the garden flower was virtually the cultivation of the wild flower. His lecture, which was accompanied by lantern views, was the second of a series of four that the ratepayers have carded for the spring. Next Thursday night Prof. W. A. Hunt of Ontario Agricultural College will speak on "Urban and Suburban Gardening."

Mendelssohn Choir

The board of trade, at the council meeting yesterday, adopted the following resolution: Whereas the members of the Mendelssohn Choir have given freely of their time and services to develop the art of choral singing, thus improving the musical taste of this city.

And whereas at such sacrifice of time and money, they have visited Chicago, Buffalo, Cleveland, New York and Boston—all centres of musical culture—this year alone singing before twelve thousand people in the United States; delighting large audiences, and winning everywhere the highest praise.

from the most competent critics; And whereas all of this has been made possible by the great ability of their conductor, Dr. Vogt, I resolved that the council of the board of trade of the City of Toronto do place on record their appreciation of the services which Dr. Vogt and the Mendelssohn Choir have rendered to the City or Toronto by thus making her name known throughout the continent as a city of musical culture.

Gives Men This Vitality of Youth

Vitality is the thing which makes success; it gives men that compelling power which sends them forth eager and equipped to meet all obstacles; it is the thing which gives the young soldier courage to face death; it is the thing which inspires and holds his sweetheart's love and faith. No matter what your age, I can give you this same vital power. I can restore the vigor you lost, no matter what early or later indiscretion may have sapped your strength. I can make you "young" and keep you "young." From an intimate and studious observation of possibly 100,000 weakened men, I say to you that VITALITY or the lack of it means all the difference between a manly man and a half-man. The man who bubbles with vital power will exert a pleasing influence upon all with whom he comes in contact; women are naturally attracted to him, as men are repelled by him. I even repels snakes; it is the thing which gives you the power to resist temptation. You wear my HEALTH BELT all night; it sends a great, glowing, health-giving current of electro-vitality into your nerves, blood and organs; it takes all the "kink" out of your back and all the "sawdust" out of your make-up; it puts you right up in the "feeling line" class and keeps you there. No stimulation, no false results; just a sure return of manhood and courage. Recommended also for rheumatism, pain in the back, kidney, liver, stomach and bladder disorders. It makes you feel young and keeps you feeling young forever.

Let Me Send You This Book FREE

It fully describes my Health Belt, and contains much valuable information. One part deals with various ailments common to both men and women, such as rheumatism, kidney, liver, stomach, bladder disorders, etc. The other part is a private treatise for men only. Both sent upon application, free, sealed, by mail.

PUBLIC AMUSEMENTS EFFECTS WERE MARVELLOUS

At the Princess Next Week, If the principal reason for the existence of musical comedy lies in the fact that it entertains and affords pleasant means for relaxation to the pleasure-seeker, then Richard Carle in "Jumping Jupiter" should prove to be the prize-winning attraction to be seen in this city this season.

There never have been two opinions as to the ability of this clever star to please audiences. He is one of the most popular comedians now on the stage, and has a method and personality all his own. Messrs. Fraze and Lederer, under whose management Mr. Carle is appearing this season, have furnished his roster with a company of players whose roster contains the names of many of this country's best known entertainers.

"Jumping Jupiter" is one of those light, frothy, funny musical plays that seemingly only Richard Carle knows how to write. Possessing more than the usual suggestion of a story or plot, "Jumping Jupiter" is filled with bright lines, clever individual and snappy dialogue, and a scenic and costume investiture that sets a high-water mark for beauty and pretentiousness.

In nothing in which he has ever appeared has Mr. Carle achieved the success that has attended his appearance in "Jumping Jupiter." He is particularly at home in the principal character, and with his clever company to ably second his efforts, the performance of the comedy situation that evening of unalloyed laughter and clean fun.

The musical numbers are all of the whistling variety and the distribution of them among the company results in everyone getting a good chance to display his or her abilities. It is one of the beauties of "Jumping Jupiter" that, also headed by such a popular star as Richard Carle, there is no effort to make him carry the entire burden of the production.

The engagement of "Jumping Jupiter" at the Princess Theatre will be for six nights, starting Monday, April 1st, with a special matinee Good Friday and the regular Saturday matinee.

"The Flirting Princess"—Royal Alexandra. The Royal Alexandra Theatre will offer as its strong attraction for the coming week, starting Monday night, April 1st, with a special matinee Good Friday, Harry Bulger, an imitable comedian, in an entirely new musical comedy departure, which Mort H. Singer and the author choose to style "The Flirting Princess."

The story in brief concerns an Egyptian girl whose intense desire for a little worldly success has caused her to leave her native country, she decides to run away and visit America in quest of further prey. Her father, in order to protect her, has made plans for her marriage, immediately sends his guards in pursuit to America in an endeavor to induce her to return home. In order to escape his plans, the princess assumes a disguise and enters into a mock marriage with an American chauffeur in order to claim the protection of a real "Stars and Stripes" husband.

"Sport Ranges" (Bulger), who is already married, and who has a terrible time straightening things out with his real wife, the subsequent conditions giving rise to no end of ridiculous complications.

In this Bulger is said to be at his best, and his own personal song numbers, "Go Back to the Town Where You Were Born" and "What Us Poor Girls Go Thru" are certainly gems of their kind. Mr. Bulger's supporting company includes many entirely new faces to theatregoers in this city, among whom are Helen Dainoff, Ellen Sheridan, Dale Fuller, Irwin Hardy, Harry Dickson, and a large and especially pretty chorus of "American beauties." The male chorus is also a noticeable feature.

This new edition of "The Flirting Princess" might aptly be styled a "peripatetic carnival," inasmuch as the dancing master also plays a prominent part. "The Oogie Dance," which is claimed to be a sensation, is given by Dale Fuller and Irwin Hardy while the "Gloomy Glooms" from Powers' cartoons of "The Oogie" class and entirely new. We are also promised a daintily different version of the much talked of "Flirting Princess Minuet."

"Buntzy" Coming Back. Many of those who saw Graham Moffat's delightful Scotch comedy, "Buntzy Pulls the Strings" at the Alexandra Theatre last week will be pleased to learn that arrangements have been completed for a return visit. It will also be good news to those who were unable to procure seats on the former visit, "Buntzy" will be here Easter week and the engagement will commence with a matinee on Easter Monday. The seat sale will not commence until Wednesday, but matinee orders, accompanied by remittance, will be taken care of at once.

Hanlon's "Fantasma." Shows may come and shows may go but Hanlon's famous "Fantasma" is going on forever. This year it is coming again, after its absence of six years and it is said to be on a more grand and pretentious scale than ever before. There are lots of new Hanlon illusions which are said to be most wonderful and baffling to the eye. Then there is a very pretty chorus and a cast of principals who have been chosen for their individual fitness for the parts they play. There are several car loads of massive scenery and effects, such as are generally carried by Hanlon attractions and it is safe to say that the glowing advance predictions about the brilliancy of this production will not be very far from wrong. Every effort has been made to make this year's "Fantasma" brighter and greater than ever before and certainly the management has done all in its power to make this possible. As the engagement here will be for a limited time only, and will positively be the only appearance of "Fantasma" here this season, theatregoers had better secure their seats very early. During the week at the Grand, a special holiday matinee will be given on Good Friday.

Mon Armour at Shea's. Manager Shea has booked for Shea's Theatre next week a bill of all-star acts. Chosen to head the list is Amelia Stone and Armand Kalisz, who are presenting their musical romance, Mon Armour, the book prepared by Edgar Allan Woolf and the music and lyrics by Mr. Kalisz. Lorena Hollis, a prima donna, played by Miss Stone, visits the studio of Jean Lebauty, the composer, the morning after the production of his first opera. There is plenty of comedy in the lines, the music is delightful and Miss Stone and Mr. Kalisz sing and recite his own verses. The act closes with their temptation dance.

The special extra attraction on the bill is Will M. Cressy and Blanche Payne. This act has been seen by Shearers but once before, and it is full of funny lines and situations. The scene is laid on a country road, where a young man, Tom McGee, is waiting for a girl, who is the daughter of a wealthy farmer. The young man is a simpleton, and the girl is a flirt. The scene is full of comedy and is a real treat for the audience.

"Follies of the Day." Patrons of the Star always feel assured of a jollicking show when Barney Gerard's "Follies of the Day," with an all-star cast, is announced. This recognized attraction with 1912 trimmings, and an entirely new scenic production, is the attraction for next week at the Star. A new two-act musical comedy is presented this season, entitled, "The Garden of Girls," and the scene is laid in picturesque country in France. The first act is "The Garden of Girls" during carnival time, a mythical creation of Mr. Gerard's, and nature is seen in all its beauty, with the aid of the scene painter's brush. The second act is the magnificent ball-room of the best known hotel in Paris. The songs are all new and were written by the author, producer and owner, Barney Gerard, with music by Albert Von Tilzer. The "All-Star Cast" is headed by Miss Gertrude Hayes, who has a big following in this city.

"Ginger Girls." No greater spectacle has ever been offered with any attraction, no matter if in the so-called two dollar houses, or in the once famous Kiralfy shows, than "Futurity Winner," an extensive elaboration on the celebrated vaudeville sketch, which form a conspicuous part of the offering of the "Ginger Girls," scheduled to appear at the Gaiety Theatre during the coming week. It will be presented with all the details of a typical "Futurity Day," and it is a fact that it requires twenty skilled mechanics to assist in the production of this wonderful spectacle. Of course, there will be a real race, the horses performing their runs to victory on some mechanical devices similar to treadmills, while the panoramic scenery moves along with lightning rapidity, thus affording a realistic picture of the so well known sporting event.

Ed. Lee Wrothe, that funny and best known comedian, is the particular star of the "Ginger Girls," an aggregation of sixty people.

GOOD FRIDAY CONCERT. The best plan of the big popular concert to be given in Massey Hall, Good Friday night, will open at the hall on Monday morning at 9 o'clock. The splendid array of artists engaged by Mr. Campbell for this annual concert warrants the assurance that the entertainment will be one of the best in his popular series. Among those who will take part are: Jessie Alexander, the ever popular ecclesiastical; Miss Barbara Foster, the celebrated contralto; Mr. Harold Jarvis, Canada's favorite tenor; and the full band of the 48th Highlanders' Regiment. For the convenience of downtown business people, seats may also be reserved at Nordheimer's music store, East King-street.

Miss Valborg M. Zollner's Triumph in Picton.

The remarkably brilliant young pianist, Valborg Martine Zollner, met with an ovation in Picton last evening when she played a recital under the auspices of the Woman's Musical Club of that progressive and musical town. Her program consisted of compositions by Chopin, Grieg, Debussy, W. O. Forsyth, Schullz, Boke, Leschetzky and Liszt. Her coming was anticipated with great interest, as her reputation as a pianist of superb equipment preceded her. Her success was immense, a packed house greeting her with unstinted praise and applause. Miss Zollner is a pupil of the distinguished piano master, W. O. Forsyth of this city, and she played on a beautiful Ball Grand Piano, which had been especially sent for her.

Toronto Symphony Orchestra.

Wednesday evening, April 10, will be the date of the last concert of the Symphony season when Mr. Welman will have the assistance of the world-famous contralto, Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink. Through the whole of the present season, one has noted with interest the artistic progress our local organization has made towards perfection under the capable guidance of Mr. Welman's baton. The soloists, too, Gluck, Gadecki, Parlow, Zimbalist, Sielzak, Huberty, each contributing to fill the measure of the concert. And as a fitting climax to such a glorious year's work, the management have engaged Mme. Schumann-Heink, the mere mention of whose name in conjunction with our orchestra is a surety for the very greatest concert our local organization has ever given. Those who had the pleasure of attending the orchestral concert last season when the great diva sang, will recall the absolutely sold-out house, when even the chorus seats on the stage were occupied, and judging from the mail orders already received at Massey Hall, Manager Withrow predicts even a greater demand for seats for April 10.

Besides the artistic program, Mr. Schumann-Heink will sing, the orchestra is contributing an extremely interesting program, the Schubert "Unfinished" symphony being the principal offering. Mr. Welman is also including the premiere and closing scene from Wagner's "Tristan and Isolde," and a new suite by Debussy.

Miss Nourse's Recital. Following is the program for Miss Alberta Nourse's recital on Thursday evening, April 11, in Foresters' Hall, College-street: Piano Solo—12th Rhapsodie, (Liszt) Miss Ruby Porfar; Vocal—"The Gipsy Ruby" (Tom Galloway) Donald C. McGregor; three pieces with musical accompaniment: (a) "The Legend Beautiful" (Longfellow) (b) "De Lettie Cabane" (c) "The Queen City" (d) and e adapted by Owen A. Smily Miss Alberta Nourse.

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., March 29.—Business men in this city are up in arms against clergymen, who petitioned the council to force the Sunday closing of theatres, holding the conditions in Niagara Falls, Ont., as a model.

At a meeting this afternoon representatives of theatrical and business houses decided to attempt to close grocery stores and all other places of business if the theatres are forced to close.

If the threats are carried out, thousands of dollars of Canadian money will be lost to the city every Sunday. Every Sunday hundreds of people come here from nearby Canadian places. The police court is filled with Canadian drunks every Monday morning. This is the most wide-open city in the state.

GETS A FELLOWSHIP

W. P. Thompson of Toronto Honored by Harvard University.

The authorities of the university learned within the last few days that W. P. Thompson, B.A., 1910, to whom the 1861 Science Research Scholarship was awarded in the year of his graduation, had been appointed by Harvard University to one of the Frederick Sheldon Traveling Fellowships.

Mr. Thompson graduated with first-class honors in the department of biology in 1910 and proceeded to Harvard in the fall of that year, where he has carried on special research work for the most part under Professor Jeffrey. His work has been of such a character to warrant the staff unanimously recommending him to a fellowship. The fellowship amounts to $2000 for one year, during which Mr. Thompson will visit Java and South Africa in order to secure material to enable him to carry on his study on the Gnotistes. It is expected that he will start for his trip around the world in September.

Optimistic Wife: "I think cook is improving, don't you?"
Husband: "Why, at dinner to-night everything but the black coffee was horrible."
Optimistic Wife: "I know that. But usually that's bad, too." —L.H.

Can I Regain My Strength?
That is the question which every weak man puts to himself. If you have thought much of your trouble, you know that the force that keeps up the health and strength of your body is nothing more or less than electricity. All the motive power in your body is born of electricity. That is what you lack, and that force, given to your weak organism as I give it, will renew your strength. You will be able to enjoy life. You will be strong again. I can point with pride to hundreds of men who came to me after having failed to get the craved results from drugs and other treatments, men broken down, sleepless, short of memory, and without the courage and energy of strong people. They have come to me almost without hope, discouraged, and I can point to these men to-day, after their having worn happy, enthused and shouting with gladness in the possession of full vigor of perfect strength. These people will at any time be glad to tell you what I have done for them.

DR. McLAUGHLIN'S ELECTRIC BELT

NO APPOINTMENT TO IMPORTANT POSITION

Engineer James Had Only Two Supporters When He Was Nominated as Head of Water and Works Departments—Question of Appointing Traffic Experts Allowed to Drop.

Controller McCarthy moved at the meeting of the board of control yesterday afternoon that E. A. James, the North Toronto engineer, be appointed to the position as head of the waterworks department and given full charge over everything with the exception of the levying and collection of the water rates, but when the motion was voted upon, Controller Hocken was the only other member to support it.

The question of engaging the New York firm of experts to make a report upon the local transportation conditions at a cost of $35,000, came up as having been referred back from council, and the board allowed the matter to drop.

The city engineer announced to the board that the construction work in connection with the high level interceptor sewer had been completed. He also made recommendation as to what tenders should be accepted in connection with the supplies for the city car lines, and these will be dealt with by the council on Monday.

The proposed new by-law providing for larger yard areas for apartment houses was considered and objection was taken in that the wording was not clear. It was decided to let the changes stand and make any changes necessary in council. In the meantime, the city architect was instructed to issue no more permits for such structures.

Other pictures which are of interest to our readers include: Group photos of the boy and girl students of Brantford Collegiate Institute; Cottingham Street School football team, 1911 champions of the Minor League senior series.

As is usual, the Editorial and Magazine Sections are brimful of stories and articles on current events which will keep subscribers thoroughly up-to-date in the latest political and social news of the day.

Porcupine on Eve of Big Holiday--Mining Market Improves

BOUYANT UNDERTONE IN PORCUPINE STOCKS

Many Brokers from City and Trading Was Decidedly Quiet—Prices Resumed Upward Trend and Sharp Advances Were Recorded.

World Office, Friday Evening, March 29. Considering the fact that a fairly large deputation of brokers were in Porcupine to-day for the week-end celebration, the mining market showed a remarkably confident undertone. Trading was naturally of a smaller volume than usual, the absence of the big operators precluding activity. The trend in prices, however, picked up considerably and under the leadership of Dome Extension and Swastika the whole list gained in strength.

It was a remarkable occurrence that stocks were in exceedingly scant supply in the market and this fact was commented on by such brokers as had remained in the city. It was felt that the bearish interests had apparently, at least, ceased their activities, and as the public were better buyers than usual, the turn for the better came as a purely natural event. Improved Demand Noted. Some Extension sold as high as 88, an advance of nearly 2 points from yesterday, and Swastika, which was the other leader, sold up to 25. Considering the extent of the upward swing in these issues, the transactions were limited in extent, but the scarcity of offerings permitted the buying demand to be satisfied only at big gains in prices. Another prominent feature of the trading was Big Dome, which sold at 10.50 and closed at an advance from last night. The inception of operations at the stamp mill and the presence of so many interested spectators at the mine are expected to bring the stock into greater favor than usual, and on this account it is being looked to as one of the likely leaders in the market in the near future. Crown Chartered was another strong stock closing at 2 1/2. Res made a slight recovery, the prices reacting to 65, or 7 points higher. In the Cobalt list, Dome and Timiskaming were quoted ex-dividend, but the price showed very little actual change. Trading was quiet through the list and practically without feature.

ALASKA!

COBALT, March 29.—A crimp has been put in the big banquet to be held at the Porcupine to-morrow night to celebrate the opening of the Big Dome mine. A carload had been sent up for the celebration. Acting on instructions from Provincial Chief Rogers, License Inspector Blackwell and Provincial Constable McKay were here to seize the car in order to prevent any possible violation of the law. The car was the property of the caterer who was furnishing the banquet (including wine) and a charge of ten dollars per plate. This action was directly in contravention of the law prohibiting the sale of liquor without a license.

SINKING TWO SHAFTS AT MILLER MIDDLETON

Porcupine, March 29.—(From Our Man Up North).—Two shafts are being sunk on the Miller-Middleton lots, west of the Hollinger holdings. The main shaft is down to a depth of 76 feet, while the No. 2 was started last week. Both are located along the Province road, the latter extending to the west edge of the Hollinger, which extends across the lots from the Hollinger, abruptly dipping into the sands near the Moneta east line. When a depth of 200 feet is reached, a cross-cutting to the east will be commenced. Underground work done last night showed about 50 feet of quartz and schist mixed thru the mineralized zone.

COPPER DEPOSITS IN HUDSON BAY REGION

Porcupine, March 29.—(From Our Man Up North).—Copper deposits along the west shore of Hudson Bay, as described by J. P. Tyrrell, the well-known mining engineer and geologist, have set the copper mining syndicates into a scurry to get titles as soon as possible, should the discoveries prove that a copper-producing area lies under the Hudson Bay wilds. The deposits were located by Mr. Tyrrell while on a government exploration expedition to the north of Porcupine. At the Canadian Mining Institute Tyrrell read a paper on mineral deposits in the north and described at length what he saw in the Hudson Bay region. Copper kings immediately inaugurated a new race in getting into the rush for copper claims.

WHEN THE CAT IS AWAY. ABITIBI COUNTRY MUCH IN SPOTLIGHT

Prospectors' Rush Into Promising Region Likely This Spring—Good Gold Country.

Porcupine, March 28.—(From Our Man Up North).—The Abitibi country and not Ungava, apparently was the destination of the many supposed far-north expeditions last fall, and with claims located early previous to the snow fall, development work has been proceeding steadily all winter uninterrupted.

MONETA PROPERTY PLAYS IN GOOD LUCK

Four Foot Vein Shows Good Values at One Hundred and Ten-Foot Level.

Porcupine, March 28.—(From Our Man Up North).—At the 110-foot level in the No. 2 shaft at the Moneta, west of the Miller-Middleton lots, the vein is four feet in width and shows encouraging values. At this level drifting for 175 feet on the vein has been done. As the drifting continues the shaft will be sunk to the 175-foot level where a second station will be cut. At this level a long cross-cut will be run to the east towards the Miller-Middleton line, where quartz outcroppings indicating an extension of the Hollinger lead may be found.

SOFT COAL FAMINE

Shipments to Toronto Have Been Stopped on Account of Strike.

As a result of the miners' trouble in the United States soft coal shipments to Toronto have been discontinued pending some settlement of the difficulties. Manufacturers, both local and in other parts of the Dominion, are facing a coal famine.

C. N. O. HOCKEY SPECIAL.

The Canadian Northern Hockey Club excursion train from Toronto pulled into the Union Station yesterday about two hundred excursionists took advantage of the excursion rates, and all testified to a pleasant journey. The train was made up of three coaches of the latest type.

BOAL NOT WHOLLY TO BLAME.

OTTAWA, March 29.—(Can. Press).—New light is thrown on the circumstances leading up to the disastrous wreck on the Canadian Pacific Rail. way near Hull on March 8 by the announcement that the company has dismissed from its service the despatcher who transmitted the order to Harvey Boal, the Hull operator, to hold the messenger train that was subsequently wrecked.

ONTARIO LIBRARY ASSOCIATION.

The twelfth annual meeting of the Ontario Library Association will be held in the new and beautiful Reference Room of the Toronto Public Library, Easter Monday and Tuesday, April 8 and 9, and on Monday evening the whole building will be given up to those present at the meeting, the chief attraction with the library board and staff being hosts on that occasion. Specially interesting in coming to the attention of the public is the Free Library of Miss L. Wisconsin, on "The Library Mission" and "Library Extension," and the address of Dr. Benjamin S. Rolfe, Ottawa, on "The Romance of Early Canadian History." Programs for application to the secretary, 81 Colborne street, Toronto. A record attendance is expected.

WALL STREET TAKES NOTE OF RAILROAD EARNINGS

And Rail Stocks Forge to Front Once Again—Industrial Issues Backward—London Furnished Inspiration for Further Advances. NEW YORK, March 29.—Higher prices for the standard railway stocks, based in large part on more favorable earnings, with a sagging or irregular tone in the industrial which recently made up a very considerable portion of the daily operations, constituted the dominant features of to-day's dealings on the stock exchange.

BETTER FEELING. Charles Head & Co. to J. E. Osborne, 32 Melinda street. There was a better feeling this morning, which was made evident in the market, which started off strong. The coal miners expected to break their record for shipments, and advances in prices are early anticipated. Business was in reduced volume, but the closing was strong and higher prices with returning confidence are looked for.

THE COAL STRIKE. Erickson Perkins & Co. had the following: It is somewhat remarkable that prices should hold so well with one, and perhaps two, great coal strikes coming. They may prove to be purely formal affairs and may be quickly settled. This may explain the strength of the market. Were it not for the heaviness of U.S. Steel we would have had a materially higher level. The restrained them from doing anything. Perhaps it is being quietly accumulated and will shortly lead a fresh up movement. It is certainly low at current prices. If we are to see further improvement in business. Continue the policy of buying stocks only on drives.

Montreal Market Shows More Activity. MONTREAL, March 29.—Montreal Power and Canadian Pacific were the big features in one of the most active days of the year on the Montreal Stock Exchange. Power was heavily traded in and after opening with an overnight gain of 1-1-2, scored a net advance of 4-1-2 points. In the morning it rose quickly to the 200 mark that has long been talked of for the stock, and in the afternoon it made a further gain of two points and sold thru the 202. Shawinigan was on the quiet side, but moved up 1-1-2 and scored a net gain of a point. Canadian Pacific was heavily traded in and rose to a new high of 140 on its new record of 202. ERIE HAS MADE GOOD. Whether there be any truth or not in the rumor of a stock market struggle for control of the company, certain it is that Erie has made a name for itself in recent years. Ever since E. H. Harriman dramatically saved the company from going into the hands of a receiver by offering to personally purchase its notes after receivership papers had Prices Liable to Move Energetically on Incoming of Any Activity. World Office, Friday Evening, March 29. That the Toronto Stock Market has been able to move energetically upward on the incoming of any material buying was plainly evidenced in the few restricted price changes which characterized the trading to-day. Sao Paulo made a sharp rebound from its recent decline. In New York the stock showed a stronger undertone than it has evidenced in several weeks and C.P.R. went soaring in short order in sympathy with the movement in the old country market.

Here is to be seen the "Easter Hat" on its native heath. There are creations from the deft-fingered modistes of Paris side by side with copies and adaptations from our own workrooms.

We wish to emphasize the tailored hat of which we will show an extensive assortment, simply but effectively trimmed.

Our Young Women's Department and our Children's Department will add their quote to this big Easter display. New York has contributed hundreds of cases of un-trimmed hats, saters, and the choicest and smartest styles in ready-trimmed hats.
