A TALE OF THE SEA. How a Fleet of Birds, Edward Satterthwaite. The stanch British steamer Kensington, arrived at Philadelphia the other day, with a cargo of sugar from Sourabaya, Java, and her captain John Langwill, unfolded to a reporter a story of the trip which it is safe to say has not a duplicate in maritime annals.

THOUSANDS OF THEM. The steamer was about five days out from Sourabaya, which was left on September 10. She was ploughing her way through the Indian Ocean. It was terrifically hot. Capt. Langwill declares he never knew it to be better.

A Change in Britain's Fiscal Policy.

There are signs that "Free trade as they have it in England" is in a fair way to undergo a change. The London correspondent of the New York Tribune writes: "Unless all signs fail, there will be important debates on fiscal problems after the Chancellor of the Exchequer lays his budget before the Commons. One of these signs is the ominous warning from Sir Michael Hicks-Beach that the balance of revenue and expenditure may be on the wrong side and that measures may be required for meeting a considerable deficit. Another straw which shows the direction of the wind is Mr. Morley's protest against the alarming increase of national expenditures. A more remarkable indication, however, of a transition stage in national finance is the candor of the leading English journal, the Times, in recommending the re-imposition of duties which were abolished when free trade was established as a permanent fiscal policy of the United Kingdom. The great organ of English opinion has been publishing a series of important articles by an expert on the finances of the last twenty years, and this week it actually adopts his conclusion that the time has come for reconsidering and revising the entire system of taxation in a bold and comprehensive way."

"For Mr. Foster."

After the civic election in Moncton on Monday Mr. Foster was telegraphed to by a leading supporter and party boss as follows:—"To somewhere and drop through. You are as extinct as the Dodo." After a wait of about 24 hours, the following was received:—"Be easy with him; he is looking for 'high ideals'; we can't find him; no doubt, he attempted to do it in a moment of weakness; when last seen he said he was not extinct. We depend on the Times to claim that there was no open and unblushing peroration even by women. Be assured that he will never again attempt to hold a Moncton Convention."

Parliament Opens To-day.

An Ottawa despatch of last Friday says:—"Great preparations are being made for the opening of parliament. Additional interest will attach to the event owing to the fact that Lord Minto will make his first official appearance in the Senate chamber. Officers of the headquarters staff will meet the major general commanding within the main entrance of the parliament building at 2.40 p.m. in review order. The Princess Louise Dragoon guards will furnish an escort to parade at government house at 2.30, to accompany his excellency to parliament and return. The second Ottawa field battery will fire a salute of 19 guns from the garrison guns in Nassau Point battery—the first salute to be fired upon the arrival of his excellency at parliament and the second upon his departure. The governor-general's foot guards will furnish a guard of honor with band and colors."

Anticipating.

The Globe gets near to the probabilities sometimes. It says:—"It is rumored that Mr. George Robertson, of St. John, will be selected as the mover of the address in the Legislature this session. Hon. Mr. Emerson, who was in the city Friday, was interviewed regarding it. He said he did not know definitely, but Mr. Robertson was among the possible ones, being a new member. Asked about the Speakership the premier replied that he knew nothing at present of any contemplated change in this important office."

Railways and The Tariff.

At a large and enthusiastic meeting held on Monday at Regins, N. W. T., under Liberal auspices a resolution was unanimously adopted declaring in favor of government control of railways in the Northwest and affirming that the farmers of the West are looking anxiously for such revision of the tariff as will conform with the pledges of the Liberal Ottawa platform, and at recently foreshadowed in Mr. Fielding's budget speech when he warned manufacturers to set their houses in order for reductions all along the line.

A $482,562.083 War.

Availing himself of the privilege accorded by the House of Representatives previous to adjournment, Chairman Cannon of the committee on appropriations has prepared for the Congressional Record a more extended statement of the appropriation made by the fifty-fifth Congress than made the day after adjournment. He places the total appropriations for the entire Congress at $1,566,890,016, and the appropriations authorized for future Congresses under the continuing contract system for battleships, river and harbor improvements and public buildings at $70,000,000. The total appropriations made at the last session Mr. Cannon places at $775,058,400, showing an apparent reduction of $19,573,214 below the appropriations of the preceding session. Mr. Cannon attributed this reduction to the extraordinary expenses of the preceding session. Of the total appropriations for the fifty-fifth Congress he says that $482,562,083 is directly chargeable to the war with Spain. He thus shows that the extraordinary expenditures for the past two years covered by the Congress were $1,044,080,273, and this sum exceeds the total appropriation of the fifty-fourth Congress by $39,746,558. This excess is accounted for as follows: For payment of pension, $3,875,200; for postal service to meet the increased demands of commerce, $16,619,581; for river and harbor improvements, $3,401,128; for constructing new ships, $6,080,838; for beginning the work of the tariff, census, $1,000,000; for the Paris exposition, $210,000; for new public buildings, $3,000,000; for the payment of judgments against the government under the Bowman act and for the French spoliation, $3,100,768. Total, $39,287,515.

The Prohibition Pliebate.

OTTAWA, March 10.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in answer to the request of the Dominion Alliance that the government would introduce a Dominion prohibitory act at the coming session of parliament, writes to Mr. F. S. Spence, secretary of the Dominion Alliance, as follows:—"DEAR MR. SPENCE.—When the delegation of the Dominion Alliance waited upon the government last autumn to ask as a consequence of the prohibition legislation, the introduction of prohibitory legislation, they based their demand upon the fact that on the total of the vote cast, there was a majority in favor of the principle of prohibition. The exact figures of the vote recorded were not at that time accurately known, but official figures, which we have now, show that on the question put to the electors 278,487 voted 'yes' and 264,571 voted 'no.' After the official figures had been made public it was contended by some of the opponents of prohibition that the margin of difference between the majority and the minority was so slight that it practically constituted a tie and there was therefore no occasion for the government to pronounce either way or other."

At Five o'clock a boat's crew, with Chief Officer Miley and Purser, left the steamer at Little River and were driven to Tackett Wedge, the nearest telephone station. They sent messages to Yarmouth for assistance and three steam tugs were immediately dispatched to the scene. At five o'clock Sunday night a steamer returned to Yarmouth, bringing the passengers, fifty all told, safe and sound, but considerably prostrated by their perilous experience. The captain, three officers, doctor, engineers and part of the crew stood by the ship.

A WILD POOL.

The Castilian lies on one of the wildest spots of that dreadful coast of reefs, shoals and ledges, and mud flats. Breakers roar and surge against the rocks, and the sea is a mad whirl of foam and spray. The water is so shallow that the boats are in danger of being stranded at low water. At five o'clock a boat's crew, with Chief Officer Miley and Purser, left the steamer at Little River and were driven to Tackett Wedge, the nearest telephone station. They sent messages to Yarmouth for assistance and three steam tugs were immediately dispatched to the scene. At five o'clock Sunday night a steamer returned to Yarmouth, bringing the passengers, fifty all told, safe and sound, but considerably prostrated by their perilous experience. The captain, three officers, doctor, engineers and part of the crew stood by the ship.

Over $1,000,000 lost in one Shipwreck.

About forty years ago, on a Sunday morning in February, the steamer Hungaria of the Montreal Oceanic Company was wrecked on the rocks of Cap de Sable. A snow storm driven by a wild gale had prevailed all the night before and when the people on shore, four miles away, looked seaward they saw the breakers sending their frozen spray over the half submerged smokestack and masts, until finally everything but a portion of the vessel's stern disappeared. Of the two hundred and thirty-seven souls on board, not one survived to tell the story of that dreadful night of shipwreck and death. The Hungaria belonged to company which, subsequently, became the Allan Line, whose splendid new 8000 ton steamer Castilian ran ashore on Gannet Rock Ledge, only a few miles from Cape Sable Ledge last Sunday morning. Fortunately, no human lives were lost, but the vessel was wrecked, with a cargo, valued at $450,000, not much will be saved. The Allan had no insurance on the vessel, so their loss is a great one. We take the following from despatches:—"Loaded with one of the largest cargoes ever carried out of the port of Portland, the Castilian left that port for Liverpool at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon. During the night the weather became heavy and the steamer was proceeding slowly."

RUN ON THE LEDGE.

A strict and vigilant lookout for buoy and other land signals was maintained, but suddenly, a few minutes past 8 o'clock, breakers were sighted on the party the telegraph rang with orders to reverse the engines, but before the order could be obeyed the big liner struck on the ledge, running up gently and with little shock that they appeared to be sleeping in their berths were not awakened. The engines were immediately reversed, but could not budge her from her position. She held her fast, swinging around on the tide until the surf-beaten Gannet Rock lashed up to the north two miles astern.

Will They be Successful?

[Halifax Chronicle.] The inauguration of the new steamship service between Mirford Haven, Quebec, and Papebian, Baie Des Chaleurs, Quebec, has been in for a great deal of comment, favorable and otherwise, principally otherwise, not by the provincial press, but by the press of Montreal and Toronto. The fact that the Gaspesia has been in doubt in the Gulf for several days has, no doubt, naturally prejudiced the public mind. As this and the other side of the Atlantic, there are always two sides to a story and in order to get further light on this new enterprise, a representative of the Chronicle called upon Capt. Yates, the Canadian manager of the Mirford Haven and Halifax route, the steamer La Ontario, at the deepwater yesterday.
