Musical and Dramatic.

IN MUSICAL CIRCLES.

The Oratorio Society management are getting matters in order for the resumption of work at an early date. As a matter of fact I understand the date is already determined upon and is the 28th inst.

In this connection I have particular pleasure in mentioning the fact that the well known and skillful organist, Mrs. James Ford has again been secured as conductor of the society. With a chorus whose members are determined to make their part of the whole a feature, and who in order to that end, are disposed to work and learn, there is now afforded a grand opportunity.

A very enjoyable recital was given at her home on Thursday evening last by Miss Goddard, the well known pianist. I regret it occurred so late in the week as to prevent further notice.

There has been a rumor abroad to the effect that a trio of clever musicians were coming here from Sackville with the object of giving a concert in Centenary church at an early date. More recently I have heard the project has been postponed for the present.

opera. Miss Barry, by the way, has been heard in this city more than once, having first appeared here with the Germania band some years since. In opera she sang with the Boston English opera company in 'Patience,' 'Iolanthe' and 'Pinafore' being one of the best in the role of 'Little Buttercup' and she is very cordially remembered by her numerous musical friends here.

Mr. Charles Fisher, as learned by recent letters is now temporarily filling the position of music teacher and organist of Gilberthome school at Leeds England.

Music, for October, offers two prizes to musical composers—one of $20 for the best Christmas carol, and one of $50 for the best Christmas anthem suitable for first class choirs. For the benefit of possible competitors from this city I will add that the address is—"Music, Auditorium, Chicago."

Hanslick, the Nestor of musical critics, celebrated his seventieth birthday on Sept. 11. His mental powers are still as fresh and unimpaired as ever. He began his career as a critic in his native town, Prague, fifty years ago. Ten years later he entered the public instruction office, and was elected professor of aesthetics and music at the Vienna University, where he remained for thirty years, and from which post he retired a year ago.

Joseph Victor von Scheffel, author of many popular students' songs, of the "Trompeter von Sakkingen," and of "Ekkhardt," has had a memorial medalion erected to his memory at Murzschlag, in Styria, where he once lived.

Miss Daisy Creany has recently made a successful debut in the Promenade concerts given in London. Her selection was "The Minstrel Boy" and the large audience was hushed into silence as her clear voice was heard. She was enthusiastically encored and gave "The Meeting of the Waters."

Miss Josie Intropidi, who will be well remembered here as a member of an opera company, is a member of George W. Monroe's company this season.

The soloists for Walter Damrosch's concert were Sophie Traubmann, soprano, formerly at the Metropolitan opera house, and Mme. Camilla Urso, violinist, her first appearance in New York since 1893. This is the programme.

Polonaise in E. Liszt. Fantasia, "Othello," for violin with orchestra Ernst

Mme. Camilla Urso. Saint-Saens. Sympnic poem, "Phaeton" Saint-Saens

Miss Sophie Traubmann. Fantasia on themes from "Hansel and Gretel" Humperdinck

Overture, "Oberon" Weber Capriccio (post-umous) (First time.) Niels Gade

Mme. Camilla Urso. a. Traumerel and Romance Schumann b. Intermezzo from "Nalla" Delibes

Miss Sophie Traubmann. Entrance of the gods into Walhalla, from "Das Rheingold" Wagner

The English version of "Die Walkure" was presented at Covent Garden on the 15th inst.

A pathetic scene was witnessed in the civil court, in Berlin recently. The marriage of the distinguished musical artist, Eugen d'Albert and Teresa Carreno, was dissolved on the application of the wife, on the ground that her husband had deserted her. When the decree was announced, the now divorced woman cried bitterly, and the husband was similarly affected. Both were finally led weeping from the court by their respective counsel, going by different doors.

Marie Vanderveer-Green, the Brooklyn contralto, who has been in England for the past few seasons, has been engaged for the first New York Oratorio concert on November 22nd and 23rd.

The Looker On is a musical and dramatic monthly just started in New York by Whittingham & Atherton which undertakes to do in an artistic way what Munsey's and the Illustrated American do in a popular way for the stage and its people. The best critics are represented in its first number, including Fink, Krebbiel, William F. Apthorp, William H. Fleming and Louis C. Elson. Mr. Fink's article on Paderewski is particularly worth reading, both for its information and its opinions. The magazine ought to succeed, but its chief danger is that its plane is too high to be popular.

An interesting story is told to account for Sousa's somewhat peculiar name. Mr. Sousa is a Greek, whose original name is said to have been "So." While leader of the Marine band in Washington his cards were printed "John Philip. So. U. S. A."

These initials were finally run into the name and adopted by the man who owned them. A few years ago Mr. Sousa's services in Washington were valued at $2,100. When his present band was organized and he was invited to take charge of it he signed a six year's contract at a salary of $10,000 a year. This with a royalty of several thousand dollars from his compositions, puts him above the danger of any immediate want.

Willis Searle, has recently made a distinct hit in "The Private Secretary" in London, England. The English press says of him "He is a comedian of no mean order."

Miss Rose Norreys, an English actress, she is called despite the fact she was born in America of Irish parents, has recently become insane. It is expected she will recover her reason and aid has been solicited for her by the time she is better.

Ada Cavendish, the English actress, is dead. She first appeared in the United States about 17 years ago at which time she was still in the prime of her powers and in the bloom of remarkable personal beauty. She made her greatest English success in "The New Magdalen." A writer describes her thus "She was then so passing fair, with her complexion of cream, her rose-red lips and dazzling teeth, her natural golden hair, her stately and well-proportioned figure, and above all, her wondrous eyes—so brilliantly azure blue there were moments, particularly those of exasperation, when they seemed to flash electric fire—that one could understand the adoration which she is known to have inspired." In most of the Wilkie Collins plays she was supported by Leonard Boyne. She married Frank Marshall the writer and dramatist, and one of the most agreeable men in London society. She was always loyal to her friends.

The nineteenth birthday of Mrs. Keeley, the truly veteran actress, will be celebrated in becoming style in London, England on the date of its occurrence November 22nd next. On that day a matinee will be given at the Lyceum theatre and Mrs. Keeley will recite an address which will be written for the occasion. All the leading actors in London will take part. The proceeds will be distributed among several deserving theatrical charities. Mrs. Keeley made her first public appearance upon the stage of the Ipswich theatre in 1820.

Pinero is finishing his new play "The Benefit of the doubt." The author says of it. "It will be in a much lighter vein than either "Mrs. Ebbemith" or "Mrs. Tanqueray." Comyns Carr will shortly produce the new play at the comedy theatre, Whitstable.

A French translation of Shakespeare's "King Lear" will shortly be produced at the Theatre Libre in Paris.

A veteran New York critic puts the case in this way: "Long ago I discovered that all drama is a conflict of some kind. When it isn't, it's a bore. Comedy is a conflict of wits. Tragedy is a conflict of passions, and melodrama is a conflict of character and events. It is true that Mrs. Potter has added to this a conflict of costumes, but it should not be forgotten that Mr. Ned Rice occupied that field long before she arrived. On the other hand, Sir Henry Irving has set music, painting, and statuary by the ears, calling it drama. While he is content to write in the center of it, like another Laocoon."

The general impression is, perhaps, because Modjeska is a countess that the early days of the Polish actress were passed in affluence and that her entrance upon the stage was easy. She dispels that illusion in the current number of the Mirror. In an interview she tells the story of her life. Her mother was poor, and after her marriage she started out with an amateur company, made up largely from her own and her husband's families, to earn money by barnstorming in a province of Poland and more civilized than Northern Michigan. After a year of this wandering she reached Lemberg, then Cracow, and finally Warsaw. At Warsaw she met one of the kind of cabals which we read about in theatrical novels. She was first cast for one of the Dumas plays. She acted at rehearsal so well that the other actresses became jealous and the manager changed the cast and proposed that she make her appearance in "Adrienne Lecouvreur," thinking that she would fail in so difficult a character. She took the chance and captured the public so completely that her position was assured. That is the ply, by the way, in which she made her first appearance in San Francisco in English and a few months later in New York, and one who remembers the rhapsodies that were written about her on the latter occasion is ready to believe her absolute success in Warsaw. Next year she will make her farewell to the stage in San Francisco and retire to the ranch from which she emerged to win her second and world wide reputation.

Niskarsen's dramatic company will begin an engagement at the Opera House in this city on Monday evening next. This company is said to be a very strong one. Mrs. D. P. Bowers, the veteran actress, as she is sometimes called, made her debut on July 16, 1846. She is to have a big testimonial this winter when her half century of professional work is completed.

Mrs. Langtry has made a formal demand upon the Union Bank for $200,000, the amount she claims as the value of her jewels, which the bank officers delivered to a stranger on the presentation of a forged order.

The ancient drama is, by the way, to be revived at the Theatre de l'Œuvre in Paris. The works will be translated, and will include the finest plays of the Hecdo drama. The Greek drama, the Scandinavian and the Chinese drama.

Charles Dickson has given up the "starring" idea and has gone with Marie Jansen. Stuart Robson has bought a French farce entitled "Madame Mangodin." He will bring out an adaptation of it by Burnard to replace "Government acceptance."

Fanny Davenport's tour will begin at the Montauk theatre, Brooklyn on the 28th inst. She is now busily engaged rehearsing "Gismonda."

Jeanette Lowery, who was the soubrette of Frawley's Stock Company at the opera house here, is this season a member of Roland Reed's Company.

Social and Personal.

Autumn tea was now in full swing, and almost every afternoon sees crowds of ladies hurrying to the home of some well known hostess and the one last attended is usually spoken of as the very nicest of an exceptionally nice and enjoyable season. However I have no doubt that everybody will feel just as relieved as does the society reporter, when the winter gales are fully inaugurated, for after all an endless round of tea is fearfully monotonous, to report at least; there is so little variety that when one reads the list on the list there is scarcely any need of going any further and one wishes to see if any new names have been added, and what the table decorations were like. I have heard of a novel form of entertainment that a well known hostess is considering, and which if it materializes will eclipse any tea given so far.

Quite the largest tea of the season was the one given by the Misses Parks last Friday afternoon from four to seven o'clock, in honor of Miss Annie Parks who has been visiting her home here. The drawing rooms looked very attractive the shaded lights and many foliage plants making very effective decorations. The Misses Parks were assisted by Miss Emma Tuck, Miss Travers, Miss Furlong, Miss Seely, Miss Ketchum, Miss Lily Dunn, who were all prettily gowned; Miss Tuck wore a lovely black and white satin; Miss Travers had on a pretty and striking yellow and black gown; Miss Furlong was wearing a handsome black dress with a satin stripe, and a trimmings; Miss Ketchum's dress was a combination of fawn and black; Miss Seely, wore a black dress and pink bodice; and Miss Dunn was also wearing a very pretty gown. Mrs. George Hogan and Mrs. Wm. Pugsley assisted in pouring tea and coffee. The ladies of the house were all looking exceptionally well, Mrs. Parks very stately in a perfect fitting black velvet abersately trimmed with jet; Miss Annie Parks had on a very effective cerise velvet; Miss Ethel Parks, a black and white skirt and white blouse, while Miss Lily Parks also wore a black skirt and pink bodice.

Among the guests present in the afternoon were: Mrs. Isaac Burpee, Mrs. Boyls Travers, Conn. es deBury, Mrs. Warner, Mrs. J. Burpee, Mrs. Douglas Hazen, Mrs. Cushman, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Silas Alward, Mrs. G. R. Pugsley, Mrs. Tuck, Mrs. Hanford, Mrs. Lawson, Mrs. Geo. K. McLeod, Mrs. R. Thomson, Mrs. J. Roy Campbell, Mrs. Wm. Pugsley, Mrs. Bridget O'Leary, Miss Perkins, Mrs. Geo. Hogan, Mrs. Charles Harrison, Miss Gordon, Miss Albro, Miss Travers, Miss Louie Travers, Miss Burpee, Miss Furlong, Miss Warner, Miss Bob Warner, Miss Wade, Miss Bessie Adams, Miss Stevenson, Miss Christie, Miss Alice Tuck, Miss Mabel Thomson, Miss Alice Hazen, Miss Mello Vroom, Miss Mary McMillan, Miss Florrie McMillan, Miss Dunn, Miss Ketchum, Miss Seely, Miss Radcliff, Miss Jennie McLaughlin, Miss Jarvis, and Miss Hathaway.

In the evening a little dance was enjoyed by the assistants and a number of others among whom were, the Misses Warner, Miss Florrie McMillan, Miss Alice Tuck, Miss Louie Travers and Mr. Walter Purdy, Mr. Thomas, Dr. Harry Travers, Mr. Sherwood Skinner, Mr. Hanington, Mr. McDonald, Mr. Ernest Turnbull and Dr. Addy.

Miss Killiam of Yarmouth is a guest in Mr. H. D. Troop's family.

Miss Campbell who spent a week with Mrs. Douglas Hazen has gone to her home in Montreal.

Lieut. Herbert Clach is home from Ireland on a furlough.

Miss Annie Parks left on Tuesday to resume her hospital work in Montreal.

Miss Louie Boyd has been a guest in Hon. A. G. Jones family at North West arm, Halifax, a sister of the naval officer who gives the officers of the Crescent, last week.

Last week Miss Daver entertained a number of friends at an afternoon tea. The affair was quite informal and the hostess was unassisted.

Miss Grace MacMillan has returned from Boston and will spend the winter at home.

Mrs. Keator and Miss Keator left Monday for Jamaica, and will spend the winter there.

Mrs. Warner left Tuesday for Ohio; she will spend a short time in London Ohio, before going to Columbus where she will spend the winter.

On Monday evening, the barj club met with Miss MacMillan and had an excellent practice; Mr. James Harrison is a new member of the club, having joined on Monday evening.

Mrs. Ronald Grant is paying a visit to her mother Mrs. Adams.

Mrs. F. H. Bond, is in Bathurst, Mass. for a two weeks visit to relatives.

Mrs. Owen Campbell and her little son are in Moncton visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Campbell. Mr. Campbell also spent a day lately with his parents in Moncton.

Miss Rippey of Moncton who has been visiting here returned home this week.

A large number of ladies were present at the "at home" given by Mrs. Vassie on Wednesday afternoon; about one hundred invitations were issued and nearly all accepted; the table was bright with crimson carnations and green leaves and was indeed a very pretty sight; the bright colors of the young ladies who assisted and also of the guests, made the rooms particularly attractive. The hostess received graceful aid from the Misses McMillan, Miss Isabel Donville, Miss Nan Burpee, Miss Bayard, Miss Mabel Thompson and Miss May Blair; Mrs. Gardner Taylor and Mrs. Robert Thompson poured tea; in the evening there was a small dance at which only the young people were present. Among the ladies present in the afternoon were, Lady Tiley, Mrs. McMillan, Mrs. deSoyes, Mrs. W. O. Raymond, Mrs. Clutch, Mrs. Burpee, Mrs. Geo. McLeod, Mrs. G. R. Pugsley, Mrs. Geo. Sanction, Mrs. Truman, Mrs. Belys, Mrs. Wm. Pugsley, Mrs. A. H. Hanington, Mrs. Stone, Mrs. (Dr.) Inches, Mrs. deWolfe Spurr, Mrs. Harding, Mrs. Cushing, Mrs. Wilson, Miss Ethel Allison, Misses Seely, Miss Hanington, Miss Foote, Quebec, Miss Radcliff, Miss Gilbert, Misses Pugsley, Misses Tack, Miss Blair, Miss Payne, Miss Crookshank.

One of the pleasantest and most important events of the week was the tea given by Mrs. Markham and the Misses Markham on Thursday afternoon; Mrs. Walker Frink and Mrs. Geo. Hogan poured tea and the following young ladies assisted the hostess, Miss Allison, Miss Pugsley, Miss Mary McMillan, Miss Helen Seely, Miss Vroom, Miss Ethel Parks; the table was daintily arranged with yellow flowers and the room had a very bright and inviting look. Among the ladies present during the afternoon were Mrs. R. B. Humphreys, Mrs. Tuck, Mrs. J. McMillan, Mrs. Sturdee, Mrs. Chas. McDonald, Mrs. Vroom, Mrs. Simonds, Mrs. G. R. Pugsley, Mrs. Allison, Mrs. Charles Harrison, Mrs. W. F. Harrison, Mrs. Clarke, Mrs. B. Thomson, Mrs. (Dr.) Inches, Mrs. deSoyes, Mrs. A. O. Skinner, Mrs. (Dr.) Steeves, Mrs. Alfred Ellis, Mrs. James H. Frink, Mrs. Bessie, Mrs. J. Robertson, Miss Foote, Misses Tack, Misses Hanington, Misses Pugsley, Misses Skinner, Misses Seely, Misses Thomson, Misses Parks and a number of others.

Miss Bree who has been visiting in the city left Friday for Halifax and from there will sail on the City of St. John for England.

Mrs. G. R. Pugsley and the Misses Pugsley are spending a few days in Fredericton.

The Misses McDonald, Bernada, are visiting Mrs. Winter of Wentworth street.

Priestley's "Eudora" Cloth

"Eudora" is the name of the new black dress fabric put upon the market by the Priestley's, whose famous dress goods are a household word all over the world. It is like their much esteemed Henzetta cloth; indeed, it has all their merits, and a few things which they lack. It is made in black only, it is a perfect dust shedder; has extra weight and width; and, fitting easily and draping gracefully it gives a distinction to the wearer which all of Priestley's goods confer. This is their excellence, which sets them apart from all other goods. "Eudora" is wrapped on "The Varnished Board," and Priestley's name is stamped on every five yards so that ladies cannot be deceived.

Fond as women are of fur, I think few of us would care to indulge in such a garment as one recently shown in New York!

With this novel outfit was worn a toque which had a crown of Persian lamb, and brim of leaf green velvet drawn through jet buckles...

It is a comfort to people whose purses are not fathomless, to know that the lining of a dress no longer costs more than the outside...

Double breasted directorie effects are greatly in favor for the newest dress bodices, they either extend about an inch below the waist...

Round waists are still popular, and fanciful girdles of velvet, ribbon, or bias silk are worn with them.

Collars seem to be more a feature than ever, and the disposition seems to be to mass most of the decorations at the back.

Since the cold, calm, but so delicious, star is with us once more in all his glory, I suppose one can scarcely have too many different recipes for cooking him...

Oyster fritters make an excellent breakfast dish. Drain the liquor from the oysters, and to a cupful of the liquor add the same quantity of milk...

Curried Oysters. Drain the oyster juice into a saucupan and put on the fire to boil. Wipe the oysters, which should be large and firm...

starch or flour and a few drops of water. Stir this into the sauce. When boiling hard, drop in the oysters as dry as possible...

For broiling, choose large, fat oysters, and wipe each one with a soft cloth. Sprinkle salt and cayenne pepper upon them, and dip in melted butter.

Oyster cutlets are excellent as a course for a luncheon. To make them, chop very fine a half pint of oysters.

Creped oysters are delicious. To one quart of oysters use one pint of cream. Put the cream over the fire in a double boiler, mix a generous tablespoonful of flour with a little cold milk and stir into the cream when it is boiling.

Chop twenty-five large oysters very fine, and add to them half a cup of cracker crumbs, one tablespoonful of melted butter, one cup of cream, and salt and cayenne pepper to the taste.

California Fruit. There has been a great falling off in the quantity of fruit shipped from California to the East up to Sept. 1, this year as compared with previous years.

Only 2,990 car loads crossed the Sierra Nevada this year, as against 4,280 car loads during the same period last year, or 71,760,000 pounds, as compared with 109,730,000. It is estimated that 1,500 car loads will yet go forward this season, but even then the shipments will be fully 1,500 car loads, or 96,000,000 pounds below last year's record.
