

Hear Hon. A. G. MacKay at Hyman Hall Tonight

REOPENING OF HYMAN HALL; PITHY SPEECHES ASSURED

Leader of the Liberal Opposition Will Give an Address—Mr. Fred Pardee, Mr. Duncan Ross and Mr. G. C. Gibbons Will Also Speak.

The formal reopening of Hyman Hall will take place this evening, when Hon. A. G. MacKay, M. P., leader of the Ontario Liberals, of Owen Sound; F. B. Pardee, M. P., West Lambton; Duncan Ross, M. P., West Middlesex, and George C. Gibbons, K.C., of London, will be the speakers.

President Arthur Sippl of the Liberal Club will preside, and a splendid programme will be provided by the Imperial Male Quartet.

The growth of the Liberal Club in this city is an evidence of what a few capable men can do when they make up their minds to make a thing a success.

Hyman Hall, the headquarters of the club in this city, is an institution that compares favorably with any building of its kind in the Dominion.

Situated on the corner of two of the most beautiful avenues in the city, within easy reach of everyone, no more desirable spot could be obtained.

The appointments of the building are complete in every respect, and give one the impression from the very start he will be well taken care of.

The sitting-room is a large room on the ground floor, beautifully furnished and tastefully decorated. A large fireplace adds to the genial appearance, while all around the room cosy corners and large, luxurious, easy chairs suggest comfort. For the studiously inclined there is an ample supply of good reading, comprising many of the latest magazines and all of the leading daily papers.

Bowling Alleys.

Beneath this in the basement are the bowling alleys, where two of the finest alleys in the city are at the service of the members throughout the season.

Proposed Local Garbage Regulation

A great deal of Opposition has been shown by citizens generally against the suggestion of the board of health to the council that all garbage removal be prohibited in the daytime, and that only at night receptacles be used at night. The bylaw would cause a great deal of hardship, and unnecessary trouble, and would only aggravate matters which at present are bad enough. There is no system of garbage removal at present, and until there is a system or until there is some satisfactory substitute for the present method, the citizens feel that it would be indeed a great hardship to forbid the removal of garbage now.

"It was hard enough before to get garbage removed," said a prominent businessman this morning, "but now it is practically impossible. The men will not do it at night, and they cannot do it in the daytime, if the present suggestion is carried out. In a good many houses I could name there is considerable garbage to be removed, but the owners cannot get it away. They are willing to pay for it, but it seems impossible to do that. The businessmen down town are in a much worse condition. There should be some system of garbage removal instituted at once, or at least as soon as possible, to remove the difficulty. This bylaw suggested is only a nuisance under the present condition. Let the people get rid of their garbage the best way they can until something better is substituted. It is a hardship to introduce that bylaw."

Ald. Garratt for Building Inspector

Ald. Joshua Garratt, building inspector. That is the way it looks just at present. Ald. Garratt is getting tired of public life and the other day confided the fact that he was going to England this fall and will let the council go. If he went, he would not seek re-election while in the Old Country, it is said. He had succeeded twice at this game, he would not try it again.

Then the cause of his desire to retire was sought, and it was discovered that he was anxious to become building inspector. His formal application has not yet been received, but it was learned that the position is his, if he wants it, and The Advertiser informant declares that he does want it, and intends taking it.

Ald. Garratt is a member of the committee at present drafting the building bylaw, and is taking an active interest in the work. He has given the question a great deal of attention of late. He is a contractor of many years' experience.

Handsome Cup Won by the 7th Regt.

The handsome cup won by the Seventh Regiment rifle team in the Canadian Rifle League competition, has been received by Major Hayes. It is a very fine cup, and is much praised by the marksmen. The Seventh Regiment team took fourth place.

The Forty-third Regiment, Ottawa, was first, with a total of 3,774; Royal Grenadiers, Toronto, second with a total of 3,762; the First Regiment Canadian Artillery, Halifax, third, with a total of 3,721, and the Seventh Regiment fourth, with a total of 3,689.

The shooting done by the London team was very creditable all through the season.

In addition to the team prize the individual members of the team also took many certificates. Capt. T. G. Murphy took a special certificate; Major Hume Cronyn Capt. McCrimmon, Capt. Taylor, Sergt. Hayes, and Pte. Allen all took first-class certificates, while Sergt. Butler, Sergt. Insley and Pte. D. Galbraith took second-class certificates.

Mr. Brenner has been very successful in the far north, and it is stated is anxious to return to this city. The deal will probably be completed in a few days.

EMPLOYEE WILL SUE NATIONAL DRUG

James Farrow Wants Damages for Injuries Sustained in Accident.

A suit has been entered for unstated damages against a well-known local firm as a result of an elevator accident which occurred early in the year.

James Farrow, who was caught by the elevator at the premises of the National Drug Company on Feb. 13, has entered suit against the company. Farrow had the skin torn off one side of his legs and was in the hospital for several months, during which time he underwent an operation for skin grafting. Messrs. Meredith & Judd have charge of the case.

Ottawa, Sept. 27.—John McTiernan, who was arrested last month in connection with the death of his brother, Thomas, presumably through violence, died in prison at Bryson, Que. The deceased who seemed to feel his position very keenly, had been in failing health for some weeks, and death was due to natural causes.

The two brothers, while coming home from Shawville on Aug. 19, are said to have quarrelled while intoxicated. Thomas McTiernan was found dead on the road next morning.

Will Bid for City Lighting Contract; Toronto Firm Is Coming to London

Will Compete With the London Electric Company for Local Business.

The London Electric Company will not have it all its own way when the contract expires for lighting the city streets in November, 1908. Already a firm has come to the city, and is looking over the ground, preparatory to making a bid for a lighting franchise. The Dominion Steam-Heating and Lighting Company with headquarters in Toronto has a representative here, and he is making inquiries into the matter.

This concern is an American company that has extensive plants all over the United States. Over 200 towns and cities are heated and lighted by the company, and it is making rapid progress. In Canada it is number of men.

Joseph Smith Earns $9 a Week Gives His Wife Only Paltry $3.50

And She Is Dying From the Effects of Tuberculosis—A Just Man Indeed.

Joseph Smith, the husband of the unfortunate Mrs. Smith who is lying at the point of death at her home on Adelaide street, appeared before Magistrate Love this morning on a charge of non-support.

Smith pleaded not guilty to the charge and elected trial before Magistrate Love. Smith said he was only making $9 a week and out of this sends his wife $3.50.

Inspector McCallum stated that he understood Smith received $9 50 a week.

Magistrate Love expressed the opinion that if this was the case, Smith certainly ought to be able to take better care of a woman in the pitiable condition that Mrs. Smith is in. Smith remarked that he had to pay $3 a week for his own board.

"It is your duty to look after your wife," said his worship, "and you should do so, even if you have to make sacrifices for yourself."

Jefferson Smith, charged with breaking into his wife's house, will come up for examination tomorrow.

One man who rode a bicycle on the sidewalk was taxed $1, and a first-time drunk was dismissed.

Express Train Has Narrow Escape

A valuable horse belonging to Mr. W. J. Laskey, 765 Talbot street, was killed by a C. P. R. train last night about 9:30. The horse, with others, was pasturing in a field alongside the track, but the fence was broken down. The horse got onto the track, and when the train from the west was coming into London, the horse took down the track ahead of it. The engineer blew his whistle, but the horse ran onto the Talbot street bridge where the train struck it, killing it. The trackmen were summoned, and the horse removed from the bridge. The horse was valued at $175.

Might Have Been Serious.

The accident might have been a very serious one. The horse was struck right on the bridge, but fortunately it did not fall between the ties in the middle of the track, or the express train might have been thrown over the bridge. Only a part of the animal was across the track, and thus a serious accident was averted. The engineer could not see the horse except when almost right upon it, and there would have been no way of avoiding a bad accident had the horse fallen through the bridge at any other spot.

G.T.R. Gets After Certain Farmers Re Timber Taken From Company

Goods Found on the Farms of Two Well-Known Men of This District.

There promises to be some very interesting developments in the county magistrate's court within a very few days.

For some time the G. T. R. has been missing various pieces of valuable timber used in their repair work at the Hutton School siding, and it was only yesterday that some of the missing material was located on the premises of two very prominent London Township farmers by the name of Rex and Smithson.

Summons will be issued shortly, and the farmers will then have an opportunity of explaining how they came by the property found.

The timbers, which are valued at approximately $100, were this morning loaded onto a wagon and brought to the jail yard, where they will be kept for evidence at the hearing.

It is intimated that further developments along the line of stolen railroad property will be sprung shortly, but what it is the officers refuse to divulge.

Detective Teasdale, of the G. T. R. service, and the county constables are working on the case or cases.

Cohen Tied Horse to Wagon Wheel; But It Wasn't Georgie Cohen Did It

Junk Dealer's Outfit Took a Slide Down Blackfriars Hill.

If one asks Morris Cohen, the Waterloo street junk dealer, which in his opinion, is the best place to tie a horse hitched to a wagon load of junk standing on a steep hill, he will reply that any old place outside of the spokes of the wheels will do first rate.

Last evening Cohen had occasion to journey up the Blackfriars hill, on north Ridout street, with a load of junk.

Cohen's horse is one of those trustworthy old brutes that will stand almost anywhere on the level. On a hill it is different.

About half way up the incline the dealer met Market Clerk Maker, and stopped to converse with him, tying the reins to the spokes of the front wheel.

All went well for a few moments. Then the horse became restless, and to relieve the strain of the heavy load stepped back a foot or so. Naturally the lines began to tighten as the wheels revolved backward, and the horse kept on going down hill. The further back he went the harder became the strain on the lines, and eventually the animal's head was pulled down to its breast.

Went Down the Hill.

This is more than even the gentle horse flesh could stand, and the beast consequently arose on his haunches and keeled over backward, landing partly in the wagon, which began going down the hill faster than ever.

Had not the harness, including the parts of the harness, including the breeching and the traces braked at this juncture, it is hard to conjecture just what might have happened. At all (Continued on Page Eight.)

Not Encouraging Re Negotiations

"I have been unable to meet the committee from the Grand Trunk telegraph operators," Superintendent Brownlee told The Advertiser this morning, "but expect to confer with them in Toronto on Saturday. I do not anticipate any trouble with the men, as the company will do all they can to settle the question of wages amicably."

"Yes," he said, in answer to a question, Mr. David Crombie, trainmaster here, has been appointed assistant master of transportation, with headquarters at Montreal, and left for that city last night. No appointment has as yet been made for the vacancy in London.

"Regarding Mr. McGuigan, I can say nothing yet."

"Will the negotiations with the city be resumed? That is for the city to say. We think we have done our share," he said, as he swung on to his private car and left for Windsor.

East End Drain Causes Much Trouble

The drain on Egerton street, running to Mary street, has been the cause of much discussion of late. This morning Chairman Matthews of No. 2 committee visited the spot, and inspected the drain. He came to the conclusion that it should be closed immediately.

The drain at present is an open one, 5 or 6 feet wide, and 8 feet deep. It was the intention to build a fence around it to protect horses and rigs.

"The only way to fix the drain up right is to tile it," said Ald. Matthews this morning. "It is unsafe at present, and if a horse or rig should go into the city would have to pay more damages than it would cost to tile it. It draws considerable water from the township, as we agreed to take it, but it chiefly drains the car shops. If tile were put in, it would do just as well, and the danger as well as the inconvenience of the present drain would be removed. Then Egerton street could be leveled up, and it would make a good street."

"Is there not a large amount of sewage from the car shops carried down this ditch, then to Carling's creek, and then to the river, contrary to the health act?" was asked.

"No sewage comes down the ditch at all," he replied. "The water is the refuse from the shops and contains oil, and such like, but no sewage. The stuff is ill-smelling, and that is another reason the drain should be inclosed."

The matter will be taken up at once by the board of works.

Makes the Bread That Makes Us Strong

There's nothing like good homemade bread for children. Made of the right kind of flour—baked right—a loaf of bread contains all the food qualities of wheat, in their most appetizing and digestible form. Spring wheat flour is rich in nutriment—makes wonderfully wholesome bread, but not inviting in appearance. Fall wheat flour lacks nutrition, but makes bread that is white, light and tasteful.

Beaver Flour

is a blend of Manitoba Spring Wheat and Ontario Fall wheat. It makes the whitest, lightest, most delicious bread, biscuits, cake and pastry—it makes the most nourishing and healthful bread—and it yields MORE bread to the barrel.

Try it—test it—any way you like. Beaver Flour proves its quality, by never disappointing.

Watford Fair a Record Breaker; Big Show Pronounced Success

Attendance Was Very Large—
Exhibits Best Seen for Many Years.

[By a Staff Reporter.]

Watford, Sept. 26.—Favored by weather much better than has been the lot of fall fairs of late, the Watford Fair today was a pronounced success. The crowd was fully equal to last year's, the banner year of the association. The grounds were greatly crowded, a large number being present from a distance. There were no mishaps to mar the day's success.

The show itself was a splendid one. The entry list was much larger than usual, and there was a decided improvement in the quality of stuff shown, especially in the live stock. No better showing of live stock has been seen at a country fair for many years. The other departments were fully up to the standard. The attractions were also much above the average, and President Parrel and Secretary H. F. Williams were enthusiastic over the show.

Very Fine Cattle.

The cattle were a magnificent exhibit. Some of the best herds in Ontario were shown, and competition in every class was very keen. The Durhams were especially fine, two splendid herds being exhibited by Mr. George Oke, Alvinston, and Mr. J. Fuller, Warwick. These cattle were excellent, and were much commented on. Herefords were a good class, Govenlock & Sons, of Forest, sweeping the boards with their fine stock. Dymont, of Dundas, had a very large herd of Ayrshires on exhibition, and took the lion's share of prizes in this class. Mr. R. Inch, of Kerwood, also had some good Ayrshires. Three large herds of Polled Angus cattle made competition very keen in this class, the prizes being well distributed among Mr. J. Watt, Mr. O. Watt and Mr. James Buchanan, all of Kerwood. In the Holsteins, Mr. W. Bryant, of Cairngorm, swept the boards. There were a few Jerseys shown. The grade cattle were well represented, many splendid beef cattle being on exhibition. Taking it all together, the cattle show was a notable feature.

Splendid Horses.

Horses were a strong class especially in the heavy classes. The farmers of Brooke and Warwick breed some excellent heavy horses, and some fine animals were on exhibition. In the heavy classes, Messrs. Walter Annett, Brooke; McKeller, Glencoe; McKinley Bros., Aberarder; James Johnston, Alvinston; Hamilton Taylor, Forest; H. H. Lovell, Tancard; D. A. McIntyre, Brooke; and Fred Ravilings, Forest, had some very fine horses in the heavy classes, and took many prizes. The light horses were good, especially in the roadster classes. Among those who took prizes in the light horses were Messrs. Walter Annett, Brooke; Arch Munroe, Inwood, and Maddock, of Walnut.

The Sheep.

The pigs were a large class. Mr. Jas. McEwen, Kerwood, had a very large herd of Berkshires on exhibition, and practically swept the class. Mr. Nelson Wiley, Warwick, and Mr. E. Anderson, Wyoming, had a number of Tamworth hogs, and kept the prizes between themselves. Mr. James McEwen also had a large number of Yorkshires, and took many prizes. Mr. R. Capes, of Plympton, had some very fine Yorks.

The Sheep.

Nearly every variety of sheep was represented, and generally by large breeders. The long wools were a very large lot, while the short wools were exceptionally large. In Southdowns, Mr. J. C. Stonehouse, Wyoming, took the majority of the prizes; in the Oxford Downs, Mr. T. K. Smith, Wyoming, and Mr. W. Wyant, Kerwood, divided the prizes. In the Lincolns, Mr. H. McLean, Wyoming, had it all his own way, while Mr. M. McPhail, Alvinston, swept the boards for Shropshire Downs. R. Morgan & Sons took nearly all the prizes in the Cotswold classes, and Mr. James Hunter, of Wyoming, took all the prizes for Dorsets. Mr. W. McLean, Kerwood, had an exceptionally fine lot of Leicesters, and swept the board.

The Poultry.

The poultry was up to the usual standard. Several well-known breeders, such as the Bogue Bros., of Strathroy; E. Doane, of Watford; A. G. Brown, Watford; D. Ross, Warwick; T. Lucas, Brooke, and D. Graham, had splendid exhibits, and, of course, made the competition keen. The quality of the poultry throughout this section is improving, and some fine birds were shown.

Crystal Palace.

The Crystal Palace exhibit was about the usual thing. The ladies' work was if anything much improved, the professional exhibitor not being so conspicuous as in former years. The vegetables were an exceptionally good showing, while the fruit was hardly up to other years. The other lines were good also.

The Baby Show.

The baby show was another interesting feature, many kiddies being shown. In the pretty baby competition, first prize was awarded to Mrs. D. Saunders, Brooke, and second prize to Mrs. Lucas, Brooke. Mrs. John W. Smith, Warwick, took first prize for the fattest baby, and Mrs. F. Everett, Watford, second prize. Mrs. H. Curtin, Watford, took first prize for the youngest baby. Mrs. J. Manders took the special prize for twins.

The Horse Races.

The horse races were very good, although the entry list was not as large as it might have been. In the free-for-all, Capt. Sphinx was in good form, and won from that old campaigner, Wisdom King, in straight heats. Flora D. was a bang-up third in every heat. In the 2:40 class there were only two entries, but it was some as a horse race, Tony Bars and Plebsicite went like a team every inch of the way, Tony outfooting him in the stretch in every heat.

The slow race was a smashing race every minute, and the horses were only heads apart at the wire. Mr. J. Lowrie, of Sarnia, made an efficient starter.

The summary:

Free-for-all—
Capt. Sphinx, R. Kettle, Sarnia, 1 1
Wisdom King, C. Barrett, Parkhill, 2 2

SIR WILFRID ON JAP QUESTION

Does Not Want to Do Anything in a Panic—Commission
May Be Appointed.

Toronto, Sept. 27.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier addressed the Canadian Manufacturers' Association's annual banquet at the King Edward Hotel last night. The Premier was received with great enthusiasm and delivered a notable address to the gathering.

Sir Wilfrid responded to the toast of "Canada and the Empire," and reviewed the history of the present agreement between the two nations. The Premier said that some years ago the imperial authorities had negotiated a treaty with Japan, in which Canada was not included, but had the right to have these provisions extended to her. About two years ago the Government of the day had decided to include Canada in the treaty. They had been led to do this on account of the great trade advantages offered and also because the Japanese Government had restricted emigration.

In reply to this Sir Wilfrid said that he could not agree with Mr. Blackstock's conception of the British Empire. He said: "I favor Imperial unity, but local autonomy. I do not wish to see this nation swallowed up by some big nation. I want Canada and her sister nations to remain self-governing states, loyal to the British crown."

"In case of emergency," he continued, "Canada could fight for the Empire, as she had done in South Africa, but I am opposed to any plan of defense which would place soldiers at the disposal of the King except in the case of war."

Canada's ideal was peace. She must never be drawn into the vortex of European militarism. Europe was an armed peace. There everyone was constantly looking for war.

"On this continent," he declared, "no one ever thought about war and standing armies are unknown."

Sir Wilfrid referred to the recent treaty made with France. "Canada," said Sir Wilfrid, "should make her own treaty. She could make a better bargain for herself than Great Britain could make for her. I know of no case where Great Britain had undertaken to act for Canada in negotiating with a foreign nation, but that Canada got the worst of it."

The Fiscal Question.
Referring to the fiscal question, he said that personally he favored free trade within the Empire, but that Canada would not consent to this, no more than would Australia, and thus Great Britain would not confine her free trade principles to the boundaries of the Empire.

"Canada," said Sir Wilfrid, "would be glad of preferential trade with Great Britain, but Great Britain must decide whether or not she would accept."

"Canada," he said, in conclusion, "would not permit Great Britain to MOTHER GRAVES' Worm Exterminator is pleasant to take; sure and effective in destroying worms. Many have tried it.

The Pure Food Movement is very strong in Canada today. In no article of diet is purity so important as in flour, for flour is the basis of more than half your food. It is your duty, therefore, to see to it that the flour you use is pure.

"FIVE ROSES" FLOUR is made by a process which insures absolute purity, in so far as it can be secured by the most scientific milling methods. From the time the wheat enters the mill until the flour reaches the cook it is untouched by human hands. The grain itself is thoroughly cleaned before grinding, whilst the flour is sifted, time after time, through the finest silk cloth, in order to remove the smallest impurities.

These processes render "FIVE ROSES" an easy and satisfactory flour to use, and insure better results on baking day than can be obtained with any ordinary brands.

Ask your grocer for it.

LONDON, FRIDAY, SEPT. 27.

THE STATESMAN AND THE POLITICIAN.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's treatment of the Japanese question in his address to the Manufacturers' Association, was in statesmanlike contrast to Mr. Borden's speeches in British Columbia on the same subject. The one speaks with the responsibility of his high office; the other with the irresponsibility of Opposition, intent only on making party capital and catching votes.

Mr. Borden's ex post facto denunciation of Canada's part in the Anglo-Japanese convention is absurd and insincere. He and his followers held up their hands for the treaty when it was before Parliament two years ago. They are equally at fault with the Government if a mistake was made. It is easy to be wise after the event, but Parliament could not foresee that the treaty would raise a difficulty which was believed to have been satisfactorily disposed of.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier explains that Canada gave her assent to the treaty, on the understanding that permanent restrictions had been placed upon Japanese emigration to Canada. The emigration from Japan has not exceeded the limit—about 600 souls in a year—agreed to by the Tokio Government, but the movement of Japanese from Hawaii, which has revived the problem, could not be foreseen. Mr. Borden certainly did not foresee it, and his belated attack upon the Government is unworthy of a public man in his high position. He is trimming his sails to the gust of popular passion in British Columbia, without regard to the delicate questions of imperial diplomacy, which a Canadian statesman should bear in mind. The Premier, who must be governed by imperial considerations, has promised inquiry and consideration. If a way is found out of this difficulty, as seems likely, there will be no thanks due to politicians like Mr. Borden, who have fanned the flames of prejudice, and tried to aggravate the situation.

SHALL THE DEATH PENALTY BE EXTENDED?

United States Attorney-General Bonaparte, in a recent address, made the suggestion that "an attempt to commit a capital crime ought to be made itself capital, when this should seem proper to the trial judges, and also that when a man has been thrice convicted of major crimes, upon his conviction for his fourth offense of the like grade, he should be liable, again in the discretion of the court, to the death penalty."

Because of its source, the suggestion has attracted considerable attention in legal circles, and is being freely discussed by the profession. By some lawyers the view is held that while there is no hard and fast rule to apply to persons convicted of major offenses, instances might arise where the death penalty might be warranted, and others where it certainly would not be. Others instance cases where such a penalty under identical circumstances with those suggested by Attorney-General Bonaparte would have been most unjust, as, for example, where a man is a criminal because of injuries received, and where a crime is due to the insanity of the perpetrator. Besides, there are many criminals today who, had their environment been different, might now be useful citizens.

Among the laity the suggestion of the Attorney-General is not likely to gain much support, seeing that public opinion in the United States is divided on the point whether capital punishment is justifiable even in the case of murder, in some states the death penalty being unknown. At the same time there is one class of criminal which should be considered by itself, and special punishment meted out to it, and that is the professional, who has resorted to crime for the love of it, and as a means of gaining a livelihood. It is rare that he reforms, and prison seems only to harden him. For him some special treatment is no doubt necessary, but it surely can be found somewhere between Attorney-General Bonaparte's three-times-and-out plan and the present system. To carry out the former would necessitate the preparation of a list of major crimes to come under the death penalty, and when this has been done the chief result would probably be to put further impediments in the wheels of justice, which in the criminal courts of the republic now run none too smoothly. Some one has said, and with some truth, that "the worst use you can put a man to is to hang him." The tendency in civilized society will be probably to narrow and not enlarge the limits of capital punishment.

DR. PUGLEY'S CHARGES.

So far there has been no authoritative denial of Dr. Pugley's allegations concerning the Conservative campaign fund for 1904, much less any show of inclination to accept his challenge to prove what he says. He claims he can bring proofs that half a million dollars was raised and distributed to defeat the Laurier Government, and that $25,000 of this sum was spent in one constituency. The St. John, N. B., Sun says:

"In answers to bluffing demand that he produce his proof at once it may be pointed out that a fair inference from the Minister's remarks is that he is not in a position to do so unless legal action is instituted. He only said that 'he could show' and that 'he knew.' He did not affirm that he was in present possession of all the facts necessary for a detailed statement. It is possible either that he has received the incriminating evidence in such a way that he is under obligation not to reveal it himself, or that he knows where such evidence may be obtained, but does not possess it himself in detail. In either circumstance it is obvious that only through the courts, in which unwilling witnesses could be placed under oath and their knowledge extracted from them, could the details be placed before the public. It may be as to prove beyond dispute the truth of the charge that leading Conservatives in 1904 were involved in a gigantic conspiracy to overthrow the Government by corrupt and discreditable means."

"Pugley is making no threats of terrible things he will do unless certain charges against the Government are withdrawn; he is not holding out immoral offers to the Opposition leader of silence in return for silence. He has simply stated that if Mr. Borden will provide the only means by which evidence of shocking Conservative corruption can be made public, he will guarantee to produce that evidence. He himself, as he pointed out in an interview with the St. John Globe yesterday, did not enter action against these Conservative members who participated in or profited by the plot. The legal time for such procedure is past. But he points out an easily possible way by which the whole affair can be ventilated and offers to Mr. Borden every facility in taking that way."

A great public service would be performed if the Conservative campaign fund of 1904 could be traced to its source, as light might be thrown on the motives of the group of capitalists who maneuvered to defeat the Laurier Government. There are some circumstances, among them the undoubted attempt to lure Mr. Blair into the Opposition campaign, which are still shrouded in mystery. What did these men hope to gain by the success of the Conservative party? What understanding had they with Conservative managers? The answer to these questions may yet be forthcoming.

Mr. Edward Gurney wants a tariff as high as Haman's gallows. The consumers be hanged!

Mr. Borden's denunciation of the Anglo-Japanese treaty is the most remarkable case of hindsight on record.

The meanest trick the weather could play would be a snow storm while Kipling is in Canada this autumn.

Some of his opponents, who were disposed to place Mr. Borden on a higher plane than some of his associates, are beginning to doubt his superiority.

Some members of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association want everything in this country protected except labor. They are like Sir Robert Peel's fish dealer, who believed in free trade in everything except herrings.

THE LIBERAL LEADERSHIP.

[Brantford Expositor.]

Mr. MacKay has many qualifications for the important office to which he has been called, an office presently fraught with grave and perhaps discouraging responsibility, but one of high honor and full of promise for the future. Mr. MacKay is a brainy man, with high rank at the bar, in the very zenith of manhood, aggressive and forceful as a speaker, and full of fight. He will make a capable successor to Mr. Graham, and under his leadership the Reform party will lose nothing of the inspiration which has come to it during the past few months, and is certain to be in splendid fighting shape for the next general elections.

THE RIVER OF LIFE.

[Campbell.]

The more we live, more brief appear our life's succeeding stages;
 A day to childhood seems a year,
 And years like passing ages.

The gladness current of our youth
 Ere passion yet disorders,
 Steals lingering like a river smooth
 Along its grassy borders.

But as the careworn cheek grows wan,
 And sorrow's shades fly thicker;
 Ye stars, that measure life to man,
 Why seem your courses quicker?

When joys have lost their bloom and breath,
 And life itself is rapid,
 Why, as we reach the Falls of Death,
 Feel we its tide more rapid?

It may be strange—yet who would change
 Time's course to slower speeding,
 When one by one our friends have gone
 And left our bosoms bleeding?

Heaven gives our years of fading strength
 Indemnifying fastness,
 And those of youth, a seeming length,
 Proportioned to their sweetness.

EPISCOPAL RECREATIONS.

[Toronto News.]

In view of the Bishop of London's presence on the golf links, Monica wants to know what are the athletic pastimes of the Canadian bishops.

Answer: The information is not available in all cases, but as far as the nslatory bishops are concerned, the following are given:

 Bishop De Verne, of Oshawa, B. C., sailing in baby skiff.
 Bishop Stringer, of Selkirk, Yukon, and Bishop Holmes, of Mooseone, Hudson Bay, snowshoeing.
 Bishop Newham, of Saskatchewan, backboard driving.
 Bishop Lorthouse, of Keewatin, canoeing and tramping, also fighting black flies.
 Bishop Beeve, late of Athabasca, flat-boating and driving a dog team.

AN INCONSISTENT BABY.

 Tommy—Yes, ma; and he cried while I was eating that, too.

ONE THING AGAINST IT.

[Punch.]

"If we were all vegetarians," says Dr. Robert Bell, "we would all live to be over a hundred years old." We believe, however, that there is also much to be said in favor of vegetarianism.

THE ROBIN.

[Blake]

Merry, merry sparrow!
 Under leaves so green,
 A happy blossom
 Sees you, swift as arrow,
 Seek your cradle narrow

Pretty, pretty robin!

 A happy blossom
 Hears you sobbing, sobbing;
 Pretty, pretty robin,
 Near my bosom

READY FOR THE CONCERT.

[St. Louis.]

A well-known musician was talking about old-fashioned concerts.
 "Some of the hits directed at these concerts were merited," she said. "One hit, and a good one, was made by a crusty old man. He called upstairs to his daughters: 'What a time you girls take getting ready for the concert! Look at me; a bit of wadding in each ear, and I'm all ready.'"

TO THE BUTTERFLY.

[Samuel Rogers.]

Child of the sun! pursue thy rapturous flight,
 Mingling with her thou lovest in fields of light;
 And, where the flowers of Paradise unfold,
 Quaff fragrant nectar from their cups of gold.
 There shall thy wings, rich as an evening sky,
 Expand and shut with silent ecstasy!
 Yet wert thou once a worm, a thing that creeps
 On the bare earth, then wrought a tomb and slept.
 And such is man; soon from his cell of clay
 To burst a seraph in the blaze of day.

BUT WE FORBEAR.

ONE INDIAN'S INCOME.

[Canada Courier.]

Mr. Heming, the author of "Spirit Lake," according to New York Life, has made a curious compilation. It occurred to Mr. Heming that an accurate record of the various kinds of game killed by an Indian during his hunting career would be interesting and suggestive. To obtain it, he consulted with an old fur trader, who had known a certain Indian from boyhood, and who for a long time had bought his annual stock of furs. This Indian, known in Northwestern Canada as one of the best fur hunters in the country of the "Strong Woods," spent several days with the trader last summer, and together they went carefully over the records of the Indian's hunting during a period of 39 years.

The Indian has been a rover over many regions wide apart, and this explains the great variety of game in the list that follows:
 Wood buffalo, 49; moose, 390; wapiti, 156; caribou, 195; small deer, 78; beaver, 585; mountain sheep, 60; mountain goats, 29; timber wolves, 112; lynx, 390; wolverines, 25; red foxes, 390; cross foxes, 78; silver foxes, 4; black foxes, 2; otter, 195; beaver, 1,000; fisher, 195; martens, 1,000; muskrat, muskrat, 3,900; porcupines, 19. Total, 2,500.

To these may be added 16,000 hares, 24,000 feathered creatures, and 36,000 fish of various kinds—in the killing of which he was helped by his family. During these years his annual income from the sale of his furs to the traders fluctuated from $500 to $2,000 per annum.

THEY WILL FLOW.

MOTHER'S DREAM SAVED HER GIRL.

Pretty Artist Had Turned On the Gas in the Bathroom—Wanted to Die.

New York, Sept. 27.—Miss Minnie Hanley, a beautiful artist, eighteen years old, of No. 48 East Thirty-first street, was saved from death by a warning dream of her mother, and is in the prison ward at Bellevue Hospital charged with attempted suicide.

Mrs. Hanley, the mother, is caretaker of the three-story house owned by a man named Forrest, and with her daughter occupies apartments on the third floor. Miss Hanley, who is admired by many in the neighborhood because of her unusual beauty, is a painter of china of rare ability and very enthusiastic over her art. According to the story the mother told the police, the girl was engaged to marry Earl Bennett, a printer, living in Brooklyn. The marriage had been set for the first of next year. According to the mother, Bennett came to the house and told the girl that he had had consumption and his physician had ordered a change of climate. He had accordingly decided to return to his former home in Virginia, and would have to abandon his plans to marry, for the time being at least.

Miss Hanley seemed to become morose and left the house, returning three hours later. She refused to tell her mother where she had been, but it is believed she met her sweetheart at a gay good-bye. She went to her room, Mrs. Hanley also went to bed, but awoke in a short time after a dream which made her believe all was not right with her daughter.

Hurrying to the daughter's room she found it empty. She found the girl in the bathroom and then returned to bed, but not to sleep. She rose again at 1:30, and went to the bathroom. Pushing open the door, she says, she found the girl on the floor, with the gas turned on full force and a bottle near by. She threw open the window and the girl soon revived. Miss Hanley said the bottle had contained gin, which she had taken to make death painless.

Policeman Owen Smith, of the West Thirtieth Street Station, heard Mrs. Hanley's cries for assistance, and rushed into the house. He found the girl apparently all right, and took her to the West Thirtieth Street Station where a charge of attempted suicide was made, and she was locked up.

Upon finding herself in a cell she became hysterical, and when Dr. Harbeck arrived from New York Hospital he advised her removal to Bellevue.

On the way to the hospital, according to the police, Miss Hanley declared to her mother, who accompanied her: "I've stopped me this time, but I'll kill myself yet. I've nothing now to live for."

The White Cat

[BY GLETT BURGESS, AUTHOR OF "VIVETTE"]
Copyright by Bobbs-Merrill Company.

I had small need to appeal to her imagination. Her mind was already whirling with the possibilities of such a situation. She stared at me, dazed, speechless, her eyes filled with terror. Then she collapsed and fell into my arms.

"Oh, Chester, what shall I do? Take care of me! I'm so frightened!"

"You must listen to me, Joy," I said. "I love you so that my heart will break if you don't consent and let me help you. You must be my wife, and then we can defy them and fight it out together."

She started up with a new thought. "Oh, hasn't Edna a right to her love, too? Won't it be as bad for her, possibly, if I consented? How can I force her to suffer that? How can I bear to think of your being with her while I'm wandering, lost, collapsed? Oh, don't you see how shockingly impossible the whole thing is? We can neither of us dare to love. We have no right even to think of it! How can you suggest it? It's unthinkable!"

"But you love me?" I asked.

She offered me her lips for the first time, and I kissed her, trembling. "Then, nothing is impossible. We'll wait a while, and see. But at least, so far as the doctor is concerned, I can't afford to be stultified. You'll admit it to him, if he asks? I must have that weapon against him."

She turned it over in her mind. "I'll not deny it," she said finally, "but you must not consider it a promise. It's simply too ghastly to think of."

I had gained that much, at any rate, and though my heart sank at the thought of the possibilities our words had pictured, I still hoped to be inspired to some successful plan for attack and defense. I knew that Joy loved me—that was everything. It made me bolder and more confident. So I put the horror from me and thought only of our love.

A PIQUANT SHIRTWAIST—6959

The mannish shirtwaist is one of the favored modes this season, and a charming example is here pictured. It has the center front closing that is a feature of the new type of shirtwaist, while the fullness of the front portions is disposed in groups of small tucks separated by wide single tucks. The back is seamless and quite plain, and the well-fitting sleeve is of the approved masculine shirt sleeve order. Any style of collar and belt may be worn with the waist, which is here made of a navy blue taffeta, though it is suitable for development in foulard, cashmere or French flannel, or in linen if a tub fabric is preferred. For the medium size 3½ yards of 27-inch goods will be necessary.

She turned suddenly toward me and said:

"What would you do for me, Chester?"

"Anything except give you up!"

"Remember the White Cat!" she said. "Would you do what she asked the prince to do?"

"What do you mean?"

She spoke deliberately. "Conceive, if you can, our being beaten in the end. Conceive that Edna might marry the doctor—and then think of me!"

"I'll prevent that!" I said, through my teeth.

"You may not be able to prevent it, except in one way."

I understood. "If I ever believe that that is the only way to prevent it—I promise to take you."

"I may be able to do it alone; of course I shall try. But if I haven't the opportunity, you must promise to help me find them."

"I promise!" I repeated.

She tossed her head back with her old gesture.

Then I said: "Joy, all this is unnecessary; though I've promised, if you'll only marry me now—if you'll even consent to an engagement, it will enable me to defy the doctor and prevent his coming here."

"Oh, I cannot, I cannot!" she cried. "You know why as well as I! It's too awful! I love you—that must be enough for the present."

She rose and added: "Let's go outdoors and take a walk. Perhaps the air and the sun will do me good, and afterward we can think it over and decide how to manage the doctor. I'll just run upstairs and change my clothes and then we'll try the sun-cure."

As she went up to her room, I walked out into the kitchen to talk to King while I waited for her. He was busy at the stove, but welcomed me with his usual meaningless grin.

"Well, King," I said, "I guess your joss is pretty good, after all. Miss Fielding is better today."

"Hm!" He shook his head. "Debbil come plenty time more!"

"Perhaps we can pray him away," I suggested.

He dropped his spoon and came up and took my arm.

"You likee come looker my joss?"

I assented, amused at his insistence and he led me out into the yard where beside the stable he had a little shed. It was filled with the odor of burning sandalwood. In his room, by the upper end of his cot, was his porcelain joss, a horrible-faced deity. Long placards of red paper containing Chinese writing were hung about, and there were paper flowers, dusty and fly-specked, upon the stand. At the feet of the idol was a bowl full of ashes in which were many long sticks. Three were lighted, and the others had been out. There was also a small lamp, with a lighted wick floating on the nut oil. I inspected it all very seriously.

King rummaged in his trunk, and soon, grinning, beckoned to me. I went over to him and saw in the tray a large, ferocious-looking mask such as are used in the Chinese theaters and at the feasts of the dead. Beside it was a pair of huge brass cymbals and a snake-skin tomtom. King held up the mask.

"Oh, you used to be an actor, eh?" I said.

He grinned and held the thing in front of his face. It certainly was horrible. He took up the cymbals and struck one clang. Then he put them away.

"Heap good for debbil. Dlive him away quick!" he said. "Maybe some time I tly him! You think so?"

I laughed, and went back to the library, where Joy was already waiting for me.

She was standing by the window seat, looking out, putting in a hat pin, lost in thought, when I entered. My footsteps made no noise on the heavy rug, and I thoughtlessly touched her on the shoulder before she was aware of my approach. Absorbed in her trouble, unstrung, the surprise startled her with a sudden irrational terror; she leaped away as if from the touch of a snake. Then, seeing me, she dropped upon the window seat, her hand on her heart.

"Oh, you frightened me so! You see how nervous I am. I didn't hear you. I'm a goose!"

I took no step toward her, but stood there gazing at her. A sudden idea had come to me at sight of her fear, and immediately a plan was unfolded before me, a perfected thing, a solution of the problem, perhaps. At my fixed, stony attitude, however, she took a new alarm and cried out:

"What is it, Chester? What is it?"

"Wait a moment," I said quietly, "let me think it out." My tone reassured her, but she was still agitated as she watched me while I turned it over in my mind. Then I took a seat beside her.

"It's a desperate chance, but it may work."

"You have a plan?" she asked anxiously.

"Yes."

"What is it?"

"I can't tell you. It will be much better for you not to know."

"Oh, I'm afraid not to know! It's dreadful to be conspiring against that poor girl. It's like plotting a murder. I can't bear the thought of it. You must tell me."

"It will be hard enough for me—you could not stand it!" I said. "You will have to trust me, for I shall save you in spite of yourself. But I can't share this with you."

"You'll not injure her, Chester?"

"How can I, when it will be your own face that I shall confront? It will be your own voice that I shall hear. I wonder if I can do it!"

"Oh, I must know or I shan't consent," she declared. "What might have to destroy her, after all? She has a right, perhaps, to her life!"

"Joy," I said, "you must think of it as a dream, as I said. In our dreams we suffer and enjoy, but so long as there is no bridge between that and our waking state, it need not matter to us. What must be done is no more than a surgical operation. It will restore you, I think, to health."

"But what of her?"

"She'll merely disappear. She'll take her place on the map again and join the rest of you."

"You won't tell me?"

"I can't."

She rose proudly. "Then I do not consent," she declared. "I can suffer still. I'll summon new reserves of strength and I'll fight it out as it has begun. I'll forswear happiness, love, peace. I'll accept my fate—until I can stand it no longer. Then, I have my own remedy and I shall not be afraid to adopt it. There's always that way out! No, I'm stronger than you think, and it's quite settled. Now come outdoors and let's get some fresh air. It's like a haunted house in here."

I tried no longer to persuade her, but I had already decided that I would put my plan through without her consent, if necessary. It happened, however, that this course was not necessary.

We went out in the sunshine and the fresh air and the perfume of June roses. In front of the house she stopped and called the collets. They came trooping joyfully about her.

"Where's Nokomis?" she asked.

"Hasn't Nokomis come back yet? That's queer!"

I saw, then, that she had not been told. It was shocking to have to inflict this new blow upon her, after all she had been through, but it could do no good to conceal the fact any longer. As she turned to go around to the stable I took her hand.

"Send the dogs back," I said.

She did so with a question in her eyes. I took her arm and led her down toward the turn of the lane.

"Nokomis will never come back, Joy," I said.

"Why?" she exclaimed. Then she saw the answer in my eyes, and she grasped my arm, as if she were about to fall.

"Oh, don't say—Nokomis isn't dead? she whispered."

"It was my fault, Joy; I should have had her taken away out of danger. But I was too late."

I took her to the bed of ferns and pointed to the dead collette still lying there.

She ran to the spot and looked, aghast. Then dropping to the ground she took Nokomis' head tenderly and laid it in her lap.

"Oh, Nokomis, Nokomis!" she mourned, her little hand smoothing the ruffled neck affectionately.

I told her how it had happened, and she gazed at me, dry-eyed, till I had finished. Then she put the collette's beautiful head down, straightened out the body and finally broke into sobs that shook her whole body. I let her cry it out.

She looked up at me, her face drawn and tear-stained.

"Poor old Nokomis!" was all she could say.

I took her hand and helped her up, then led her gently away, as I had led Edna away only yesterday. It was the same hand I took, but it was so cold and weak! It was the same face I saw, but it was so shadowed with sadness! I heard her voice I heard her heart, but then it had been proud and careless—now it was so tremulously stricken!

"To think that I should have killed Nokomis!" she said.

"It wasn't you, dear!"

"How do I know? If I could be sure!" was her doubting answer.

Then she wheeled about and faced me. She put both her hands on my shoulders and clung desperately to me.

NEWS FROM EMBRO

Little Child Killed by a Horse—Harvest Home Services.

Embro, Sept. 27.—A terrible accident happened the 18-month-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Johnson, of the 6th line, Monday afternoon. The little one escaped to the barn and was found soon after with its head terribly smashed and one eye out. It had been kicked by a horse which was tied in the stall. The child's recovery is doubtful.

Harvest home services were held in the Methodist Church on Sunday and Monday under the auspices of the Epworth League. On Sunday Rev. J. B. Wallin, B.A., of Empress Avenue Church, London, preached in an acceptable manner. The church was tastefully decorated with flowers, fruits, grains and vegetables. Special music was rendered by the choir. Mrs. Gardner McBurney sang at both services and in the evening a quartette including Mrs. Rev. F. W. Langford and Mrs. J. B. Kay, Messrs. Platt, of Brookdale, and George Youngs gave "Tread Softly" in a pleasing manner. The entertainment on Monday evening in the church was well patronized. Rev. Mr. Langford presided. Mrs. H. F. Fair, of London, sang a number of solos which were much enjoyed. Miss McCordale, also gave a solo while the Stratford Male Quartette contributed several numbers. Readings were given by Miss Cora Gould, also of Stratford. Addresses were made by Rev. Messrs. Barber and Spence, of the sister churches, also by Mr. Barker, of Stratford, who described a trip to Europe and the British Isles. All- together the evening's entertainment was one worthy of special mention.

Mr. Aylea, of Belleville, has purchased the evaporator plant from Mr. D. R. Ross, and is getting in shape for work in the near future.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McCordale was the scene of a happy gathering last week when a crowd of young people from Embro, Kintore and Bennington gathered to "shower" his niece, Miss Ella McCordale. The shower consisted of granite, hosiery and handkerchiefs. Miss McCordale was completely taken by surprise, but responded in a suitable manner. The remainder of the evening was pleasantly spent in games and music.

The congregation of Knox Church recently decided to engage Mrs. H. F. Fair, of London, wife of Mr. Fair, the principal of our public school, as choir leader. Mrs. Fair began her work in that capacity on Sunday.

Miss Chambers, of Ingersoll, who is visiting at Mr. Dave McPherson's, sang in a pleasing manner at both services.

WOMEN'S NEGLECT

SUFFERING THE SURE PENALTY

Health Thus Lost Is Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many women do you know who are perfectly well and strong? We hear every day the same story over and over again: "I don't feel well; I am so tired all the time!"

Miss Clara Beaubien

More than likely you speak the same words yourself, and no doubt you feel far from well. The cause may be easily traced to some derangement of the female organs which manifests itself in depression of spirits, reluctance to go anywhere or do anything, headache, bearing-down pains, flatulency, nervousness, sleeplessness or other female weakness.

These symptoms are but warnings that there is danger ahead, and unless heeded a life of suffering or a serious operation is the inevitable result.

The never-failing remedy for all these symptoms is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Miss Clara Beaubien, of Beauport, Quebec, writes:

"For several years I have suffered with a female weakness which proved a serious drain on my vitality, sapping my strength and causing severe headaches, bearing-down pains and a general worn-out feeling, until I really had no desire to live. I tried many medicines, but did not get permanent relief until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. In two months I was much better and stronger, and in four months I was well; no more disagreeable discharge, no more pain. So I have every reason to praise the Vegetable Compound, and I consider it without equal for the health of women."

For twenty-five years Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, has under her direction and since her decease, been advising sick women free of charge. Her advice is free and always helpful. Address, Lynn, Mass.

THAW'S SISTER

GRIEF-STRICKEN

Countess of Yarmouth Shuns the Gaieties of Life in Paris.

Paris, Sept. 27.—Along the corridor promenade and in the garden of the Hotel Ritz, where rich Americans gather and social gaiety is at its height, there has been seen the last week a pale-faced young woman with sad eyes and almost somber gowns, passing unnoticed in the lively throngs.

It was Lady Yarmouth, sister of Harry Thaw. She looks ten years older than last summer. Not only does she grieve over the condition of her brother, but there are other troubles. The Yarmouth family has not tried to help matters, but has been disagreeably inclined on account of the notoriety brought upon them by the murder and the sensational trial.

In past years Mrs. Smith has made Aix-Les-Bains her favorite resort, but this summer she found the people there too frivolous and uninterested in theosophy. So she went to Dinard, where the visitors are more seriously inclined and willing to learn about the mysteries that are revealed only to a few. Mrs. Smith is a very beautiful woman, and lately manifested serious disposition has astonished many of her friends.

While ex-Crown Princess Louise of Saxony is reported contemplating another marriage with her piano teacher Toselli, her brother, Leopold Wolfing, who eloped with a maid at the same time his sister fled from Dresden, is beginning to take a different view of life. The ex-archduke is living in Geneva and in lucid intervals is realizing bitterly the foolishness of his escapades. To an interviewer in Geneva today he said: "I am the happiest man alive, having rid myself of that impossible, indescribable wife. While the fate of my petition for restoration was in the balance, I thought I should go mad with suspense. People said I married for love. Not at all. It was infatuation a demented idea of the demands of honor and gallantry."

"I now see clearly and have learned my lesson. My sister influenced me greatly, it is surprising the power she exerts over men; it is mysterious. I have tried to impress her with sense since my own awakening, but she only replied: 'Poor fellow; you always were weak-minded.'"

"I intend passing the winter in the Riviera, and hope to return to my father's house after a time, be restored to the emperor's favor and resume my title."

He was appointed a local license commissioner when the Whitney Government came into power. Deceased was 52 years of age, and a widow, one son and one daughter survive.

LACROSSE
RACING
ATHLETICSBEAN-EATERS LOSE THREE STRAIGHT
TO JENNINGS' FIERY TIGERS

Boston, Mass., Sept. 26.—Geo. Mullin finally secured his twentieth victory this afternoon. It was the closing game of the series against Boston for the Tigers and it meant three straight from the Hub Town second divisioners. Siever was first sent to the box in the hope that he would repeat, as he will not be used against Philadelphia.

Eddie was not right and they knocked him out of the box in the first and obtained a lead that looked commanding. But in the fifth the Tigers drove Burchell, the new Bean-eating pitcher, from the box and handed their respects to Pruitt, the man who succeeded him. Not only did they do that, but they pulled off some sensational work on the bases that made the hits count every time one came. The final score was 9 to 5.

George took Siever's place in the second, and after a rather bad start, in which he was saved by a hard play of his own and a neat one by O'Leary, he pitched some great ball. He had everything and held the Hub-town bats at a safe distance all the rest of the day.

This fellow Burchell is a left-hander and he uses a spit ball. He's from Baltimore, and is one of the 27 men Jim McGuire has lined up to make a team for next season. It looked as though the former pupil of Jennings' had his left hand spit ball combination working right until something broke loose in the fifth.

Jones Opens With a Double. Jones opened the way by doubling to left in the first inning, rapping the first ball. Burchell pitched to the American League to the left field bleachers. Schaefer promptly sacrificed and Crawford's rap to first sent Dave home. Cobb forced Crawford and was caught stealing. Then came the woes of Siever. Eddie still had a bad stomach, but figured he could go through with the game all right.

He opened by walking Chadbourne, "Chad" was forced by Lord, but Parent singled to right. Cobb's throw to third to get Lord got by Coughlin and the runner scored. Congatlon singled to right and Cobb made a beautiful throw to the plate, nailing Parent as he tried to score. Coughlin scored on Ungaub's clean drive to left. Ferris stopped the trouble by flying to Jones.

The Tigers started in the very next round by filling the bases, but they were retired without scoring. Rossman singled to right and Coughlin beat a punt to third. Payne sacrificed and O'Leary filled the bases by drawing a base on balls. Mullin was sent to bat for Siever, but fouled to Shaw, Jones popped to Wagner and they had to start all over again.

Boston Adds to Its Lead. But with Mullin in the box in the second the home club added to its slight lead. Wagner hit sharply to center for a bag, and after Shaw fled to Crawford, Burchell lammed one safely to right. Chadbourne hit in the same direction and Wagner scored. Lord hit a grass catcher at O'Leary, but Charley scooped it up and nipped Burchell at the plate. Parent's roller to third put him on first. Congatlon sent a terrific drive at Mullin, but George grabbed it and got him, getting out of a heap of trouble.

From then on George granted the Bean-eaters no chance to make trouble, and he was given the best of support. That indeed, with Coughlin back at third and Schaefer in his old place at second, took on new life and played a fast, snappy game.

Down until the fifth. Mullin fled to Burchell, kept mowing the Tigers Chadbourne. But with one down, the pitcher got into a hole by hitting Jones. Schaefer and Dave pulled off a pretty hit and run play, the Dutchman hitting cleanly to right. Davy sprinted all the way to third. Crawford stung one to center and Jones walked home while Schaefer did the sprinting stunt and went to third. Cobb singled to right and Schaefer scored, while Crawford did as Jones and Schaefer did, made third on the hit.

Then McGuire took out Burchell and Pruitt went into the box. Cobb stole second, Rossman bounded to Ungaub and the latter threw to the plate to get Crawford. The ball got by the catcher and with Rossman tearing for second, Cobb tried for home. Shaw had retrieved the ball and threw to the plate. Runner, catcher and ball met at the same time, but the ball was lost by Shaw and Ty was safe, Rossman making third.

Payne fled and then O'Leary singled to left. Chadbourne threw to the plate to get Rossman, who bluffed at going back to the bag. Shaw threw to second to get O'Leary, and while Ferris was getting Charley, Rossman crossed the plate with the sixth run of the inning.

The Bostonians got one run in their half of the same round when Parent was safe on Rossman's fumble. Congatlon singled and Parent made third when Ungaub forced him. Parent scored on Ferris' out, Mullin to first. Schaefer tossed out Wagner, retiring them.

Pruitt Hit Two Tigers. Crawford singled to center as a starter in the seventh and on Cobb's third strike stole second. Rossman singled to center, scoring time, Coughlin was hit on the wrist by a pitched ball and a moment later Payne dropped from a crack on the head by Pruitt. He just suffered a painful bump and was not taken out of the game. O'Leary retired the side by popping to Ferris.

A drive tonight that Cobb tried hard to get sent Parent to third as Boston's opening contribution in the seventh. He scored on Congatlon's punt to the box that Mullin tried hard to get. The rest was easy, however. Ungaub grounded to Coughlin and Ferris and Wagner fled to right and center.

There was nothing doing in the eighth, but in the ninth McGuire sent Steele to the box to see how he looked in action. Steele walked Crawford, who was forced by Cobb. Rossman made his third hit of the day, sending Cobb to second, and as Ty started to make third, Congatlon threw to Lord. Lord saw it was too late to get the Georgian and tried to throw out Rossman, who was making for second. As he threw Cobb sprinted for the plate, and made it in safety. Coughlin fled out. Boston went out in one, two, three order in the ninth and the final series of the year in Boston was over. The score:

SPORTING GOSSIP

Well, the roller skating championship of Western Ontario did not change hands last night when Lawrence Lucas met Geo. Crispin, the holder of the title, at Jubilee Rink in a match race for $25 a side.

Crispin won hands down by about thirty feet.

The football boys had another good practice last night. Good old "China" Hobbs, who played quarterback back on the senior London champions a number of years ago, was out with his coaching rags on and kept everybody on the jump right from the start off. It is likely that Hobbs will work in co-operation with Brent until the opening of the season. Great interest is being evinced in the "lucky old look" in this city, and the number of candidates who turn out for practice each night is increasing all the time.

Tomorrow the big McClary-Hamilton ball game comes off at Tecumseh Park, and according to all forms of ball dope the bout should be a hummer right off the reel.

Ladies will be admitted free.

Tonight the Rambler baseball team, champions of the east end, will give banquet at the Barrell House out on Dundas street. The boys from the other end of the town were always noted for their hospitality, and those who attend are assured of a royal good time.

It was erroneously stated that Mel Brock finished third in the five-mile race at Queen's Park on Wednesday evening, at the Irish-Canadian games. William J. Rooke, a member of the Y. M. C. A., was the winner of great credit for his victory, which was only taken in the last half mile of the contest, over the head of Bert Stevenson's clever Indian runner, Nicholas.

Young Rooke also finished fourth in the five-mile Canadian championship on Dominion Day at the East End A. C. meet.

A SOCCER GAME
TOMORROW AFTERNOON

A league soccer game between the Y. M. C. A. and the medical teams, will be played on Carling's Heights tomorrow afternoon at 3:30.

A cordial invitation is extended to everyone. No admission fee is charged.

Both teams have been busy at practice for some time, and a good game is promised. There should be a good attendance if the weather continues fine.

THEY ARE CAREFULLY PREPARED.—Pills which dissipate themselves in the stomach cannot be expected to have much effect upon the intestines, and to overcome constiveness the medicine administered must influence the action of these canals. Parnele's Vegetable Pills are so made, under the supervision of experts, that the substance in them intended to operate on the intestines is retarded in action until they pass through the stomach to the bowels.

BRITISH JOURNALISTS AT TORONTO;
COLUMBUS CHAMPIONSHIP GAMES

"It's a bully game!"

Such was the expressed opinion of the English journalists who yesterday, by the courtesy of President McCaffery and the board of control, witnessed the first championship game between Toronto and Columbus.

The Britishers didn't take long to cultivate the baseball enthusiasm. They "pulled" for Toronto—which was natural, one of them explained, pointing to the Union Jack and Stars and Stripes floating from their respective flag poles to indicate the international character of the struggle. But when the ordinary every-day Canadian fan climbed on his feet and rent the air with howls of joy the Britisher contented himself with vigorous hand-clapping (which, of course, could not be heard above the din), and a warm-hearted "Played, by jove! Played, sir!"

Most of the visitors witnessed their first ball game.

"You crowd into about an hour or two all the enthusiasm we bestow on a three-day cricket match," said one. "It's no wonder your people make a noise."

"Played, sir, played, indeed," was the exclamation as Schafly pulled off a spectacular stop. "That's jolly fine fielding," was the subsequent comment. Meaningful Hon. Mr. Cochrane, Mr. J. P. Downey, M. P. P., and T. H. Preston, M. P. P., were busily engaged in explaining to their guests the "fine points" of the game.

Irish-Canadian Team Will Try
For Toronto-Hamilton Record

Toronto, Sept. 27.—The Irish-Canadians have at last named their date for their attempt upon the Hamilton-to-Toronto record.

It is Oct. 25.

The record is 3 hours 52 minutes, held by the Central Y. M. C. A. team. It was made June 20, 1905.

If the Irish clip the record they take possession of the great Standard Silver Plate trophy.

Nine men comprise a team. The I. C. A. team will, of course, be led by the Bronze Mercury—Longboat—and, with Tom Coley, Percy Sellen, Hilton Green, Dick Grant, Ben Howard, Claude Pearce, A. W. Haddleton, W. F. Cumming, to back him out, and Foster, Price and other men to follow, they should run pretty close to the record.

Hilton Green's great showing in the mud at London, when he trimmed Sellen in five miles, marks him as a good man. The diminutive Kentishman wasn't strong enough for the heavy going, and the Mohawk outstripped him in the stretch.

Longboat's three miles in 15:37 at London was magnificent. He had to run in the middle of the track down the back stretch and the mud was a sticky clay that made going very heavy indeed. The track was easily 12 to 15 seconds slow in the mile, slowing the mud, and the extra ground covered with those two men traveling at 25 cents.

SHRUBB WILL SOON MEET DAVIS AND NEBRICH IN QUEEN'S PARK

Mr. J. Parker, the fussy little English manager of Alfred Shrub, the world's champion distance runner, was in town yesterday and paid The Advertiser a visit.

Parker's purpose in visiting London was to arrange for Shrub's appearance here within a couple of weeks. In all likelihood his opponents will be Davis, the Indian runner, and Nebraska, the Buffalo man.

Parker is about the size of a Canadian shipplaster in stature, but from all appearances he is a condensed package of unsuppressed energy. Actually he is so energetic that he is jumpy. He hustled into The "Tiser" sporting den with a rush.

"Are you the sporting man?" he shot out, almost before he had recovered the breath expended in shinning up two flights of stairs.

"Yes? Well, I'm Parker—representing Shrub. Best runner in the business. Think we can arrange a date? Yes? Good! Ta ta! See you again!" And he was gone.

Shrub is going to be a busy man for the next couple of weeks.

Sunday, at Buffalo, he runs Frank Nebraska a return race at three miles; next Wednesday he meets Bill Davis, the Indian, who ran second to Jack McCaffery the time he made the old Boston Marathon record, at five miles.

On Saturday, Oct. 5, he runs John D. Marsh, in Winnipeg, giving him a quarter-mile start in five, and the next week he returns here, and if the chances are good will run Davis and Nebraska a relay.

Nebrich had only a week's training when he met Shrub here at four miles, and four miles is a mile too far for him, and with another week's work and a mile off the distance Nebraska will make the great Englishman sto to trim him.

Davis, the Indian, gets 250 yards start in the Hamilton race. Davis is just back from Boston, where he was second in a six-day four hours-a-day go-as-you-please race.

John D. Marsh should be "pis" for Shrub, but when the little chap tries to take on both Davis and Nebraska at 10 miles in a relay he is going to have his hands—or rather his feet—full.

NEW SCHEME TO IMPROVE BATTING

Nearly every year there is a cry in the baseball world for more hitting. Suggestions galore to improve batting have been offered from time to time. Few have been really considered, and none have had the desired effect.

When the foul-strike rule was agreed on its real purpose was to shorten the game and prevent batters who were adepts in fouling off balls from worrying the pitchers by so doing. For a time the rule worked fine, and the games were materially shortened.

Barney Peltz, the clever pitcher of the St. Louis Browns, is in the lime-light with a new idea that looks good. Peltz favors making the plate much smaller. He claims that with the plate in its present size, the pitcher can take a chance and waste a couple of balls and yet manage to outguess the batter a majority of times. With a smaller plate he claims the pitcher would waste mighty few balls, his main purpose would be to get the ball over. The batter would soon get wise to this, and more hitting would follow. Peltz's suggestion seems very plausible.

Here is the funny part of all this PAIN, LIKE THE POOR, ARE ALWAYS WITH US.—That portion of man's life which is not made up of pleasure is largely composed of pain, and to be free from pain is a pleasure. Simple remedies are always the best in treating bodily pain, and a safe, sure and simple remedy is Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. You cannot do wrong in giving it a trial when required.

As many as 1,310 metric weights and measures were submitted for verification in the city of London during last year.

agitation in favor of more batting. Every manager in the leagues is on the hunt for pitchers who can keep the opposing batters from swatting the ball. Why not have every team secure a poor corps of pitchers, then lots of hitting would be a certainty.

events the breaking of the harness freed the frenzied animal, and it fell over to one side of the wagon, where it proceeded to amuse itself by kicking everything in sight. Not only did it kick the remaining shreds of the harness to pieces, but it put a number of dents in the side of the wagon, the shafts of which were made into kindling wood.

—Driver Kicked. When the excitement was at its height, the junk dealer took a hand in the proceedings, and was kicked in several places for his pains. Eventually, with the assistance of Mr. Maker, the horse was pinned to the ground, and the harness removed.

—At that point the horse tried to raise itself to its feet, and succeeded in getting halfway up despite the efforts of its owner, who was frantically trying to hold it down. Then the beast came down kerplunk, with Cohen, who is a small man, underneath. Mr. Maker, however, came to the rescue, but not before the unfortunate dealer had received a bump over the eye and a number of bruises on the body.

—The wagon was recovered half way down the hill where it had become tangled up with a fence in its descent.

—A borrowed pair of shafts and another harness made the junk dealer's outfit as good as new, and he again started on his way, mournfully rubbing the bumps on his face as he went on.

bers, and last season the alley was the scene of many a hard-won victory.

It is the intention of the management to put a strong team in the City League Bowling Association this winter to compete for the trophy. The first games will be commenced next week.

Close to the bowling alley is a large and well-lighted poolroom, containing two of the best pool tables. In a short time another table will be placed in the room, which will then be complete.

This is one of the most popular rooms of the association, and every evening during the winter months of young men take advantage of the opportunity to enjoy a good evening's sport in the warm, comfortable quarters.

—The Auditorium. Immediately above the poolroom is one of the best-appointed auditoriums in the Province, having a seating capacity of over 800. The platform is so placed that every person in the room is within easy range of the speaker's voice.

During the winter the chairs are frequently removed from the room, and enjoyable card tournaments are held. It is the intention to continue these parties during the coming winter.

For parties of three or four who desire to play a friendly game by themselves, a number of cosy rooms have been set apart.

These rooms are handsomely fitted up and well lighted and heated.

On the same floor are the executive office and the secretary's office, two large rooms equipped with everything necessary for office work.

A long, cool veranda, on which are a number of lounging chairs, extends across the front, and for a considerable distance along one side of the building. On a hot summer evening this is an ideal place to pass away the time amid pleasant surroundings.

THE LUSITANIA

MADE RAPID RUN

Broke Lucania's Record on East Bound Trip—Time 5 Days, 4 Hours, 19 Minutes.

Quenstown, Sept. 27.—The Cunard Line steamer Lusitania, from New York, Sept. 21, arrived here at 3:58 a.m. today, the passage thus occupying 5 days, 4 hours and 19 minutes, or 3 hours and 25 minutes more than her outward run.

The only record broken was that of the Lucania of the same line. Sandy Hook lightship was passed at 6:57 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 21, and the Lusitania had covered 369 miles up to noon Sunday, Sept. 22.

On Monday at noon the steamer had added 524 miles to her previous run. At noon Tuesday she had covered 525 miles more.

At noon Wednesday she had made an additional run of 530 miles. At noon Thursday she had 523 miles more to her credit.

At 3:56 a.m. today she had run 336 miles from noon yesterday to Daunt's Rock, making the total distance, 2,870 nautical miles, at an average speed of 22.38 per hour.

The comparative slowness of the voyage cannot be attributed to fog. Only on one day, Monday, was fog entered on the log, and the ship went 524 miles that day, only six miles less than her best day's work. On Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, a strong northeasterly wind, with a rough sea, was encountered.

The American coal was said by the engineers not to have been so satisfactory, as the coal used during the westward trip, and the stoke-hole work was not altogether up to the proper mark. But the confidence of the engineers in the Lusitania's ability to beat all competitors when things are running smoothly is not diminished.

The new liner behaved splendidly during the voyage. Liverpool, Sept. 27.—The Lusitania arrived here at 4 p.m.

WHO WILL SUCCEED?

Speculation Rife As To Mr. Crombie's Position on the G. T. R.

Considerable speculation is going on among railroadmen as to who will succeed Mr. David Crombie as master of transportation.

His brother, Mr. James Crombie, is eminently fitted for the position and stands a good chance of securing it.

Mr. Ernest Harwood, the popular car distributor, is also mentioned for the vacancy.

Other officials say that an outside man is after the job. No appointment will be made for a few days.

STOCK MARKETS.

H. C. Becker, stockbroker, received the following by private wire from Bartlett, Frazier & Carrington today:

New York, Sept. 27.—Heavy selling made its appearance at opening and prices with but few exceptions, were lower than our closing. For a while Amalgamated Copper held firm, and there were vague reports that there was an improvement in the copper situation and that some of the large consumers would soon appear as buyers in the market. These rumors were without foundation, and when some rather vigorous selling made its appearance copper lost one point. It is said that the Amalgamated Copper Company will still further restrict its output unless the consumers show a disposition to come into the market for metal. In the meantime mines are running at their fullest capacity. U. P. held well in view of the weakness in other stocks, and the buying was considered good. Talk on the Steel stocks is still bearish. As was expected, rates for call money advanced in view of the arrangements that the banks will have to make for the disbursement incidental to dividend requirements for Oct. 1. Sales to noon, 206,000.

THE AUDITORIUM IN HYMAN HALL.

GRADUATION AT ST. JOSEPH'S

A very pleasant function was held last evening at St. Joseph's Hospital when the graduating exercises of the class of 1937 were held. Five nurses: Miss Lila Bell, Peterboro; Miss M. Baye, Orillia; Miss Agnes Baneen, Duart; Miss Alforetta Tuckey, London Township; and Miss Alice Butler, London, received diplomas.

The valedictory of the class was read by Miss Bell, and Dr. Hodge replied. The graduates were then called forward and His Lordship Bishop McEvay presented them with their diplomas. He delivered a very eloquent and powerful address to the nurses.

Immediately following Rev. Father

Aylward was appointed chairman, and introduced a splendid programme. Violin solos were given by Miss Kim, of Ingersoll, and piano solos were also given by Miss Keating, of this city. The nurses sang a chorus that was well received. Addresses were delivered by Senator Coffey, Crown Attorney McKillop and Dr. Tillmann.

The assembly room was splendidly decorated with palms and ivy, interspersed with the hospital colors, yellow and white. The work was done in a very pleasing manner, and the effect was very artistic. Many friends of the graduating nurses were in attendance from outside points.

Methodists Discuss District Matters

The annual financial meeting of the Methodist Church for the district of London was held yesterday afternoon in the lecture room of the First Methodist Church. There was a good representation of the clergy and laymen present. Rev. Jas. Livingstone, chairman of the district, presided.

The allotments of the different funds of the church were received and discussed. Arrangements for missionary anniversaries as outlined by the mission board were agreed to.

The Methodist Church will make an effort this year to raise the balance still due on the Union Church relief fund. The amount apportioned to the London conference was $3,100. The London district will endeavor to raise its share of the fund.

The annual general exchange of pulpits will be made on Jan. 12 next. On former years, the exchange took place on the first Sunday in the new year, but after much discussion it was decided to make the change next year one week later.

The matter of opening a new church at Pottersburg, was also brought up. The present church, the seating capacity of which was only 300, is totally inadequate for that district. The question will be referred to the annual conference to the committee appointed to open new congregations.

Dr. White, a returned missionary from British Columbia, gave an interesting talk on the Japanese missionary work in British Columbia. The talk was very instructive.

The meeting adjourned after the benediction.

Mitchell Case and Insolation Plans; Owns Body and Soul for $15 a Week

The isolation hospital plans have not yet turned up. Mr. Mitchell has them, and does not seem to be in any hurry to give them up. In fact, he still refuses to hand them over to No. 2 committee. So there the matter rests.

Mayor Judd is going to get them, and declares that they must be turned over to the committee at once.

And in favor of his contention he quotes rules and bylaws and statutes, and everything else to prove his position.

According to the laws quoted by his worship, Mr. Mitchell is not entitled to any pay for work he did after hours, for he states that a civic employee must work as many hours after his day's work is done, as the head of the department may require, and then he would have no claim for services. He must rely absolutely on the generosity of the council, which is monumental, as revealed by the generous manner in which it has treated the request of Mr. Mitchell.

Save $1,000. It was the intention of his worship when the matter of plans was first broached to get them prepared in the engineer's office, and thus make a saving of $1,000, so he stated. When the work was done, he was the first to balk at paying the sum of $240, a saving of $760, over 75 per cent, enough to satisfy a most economical mayor.

In 1935, the council granted Mr. John M. Moore the sum of $300 for plans of the Nurses' Home, plans prepared at the request of Engineer Graydon, who could not get the work done in his department. The vote in the council on the matter stood as follows:

Alld. Stevely, Greenlees, Carson, Matthews, Saunders, Gilean, Abram, Gerry, Wyatt and Forristal.

Against—Ald. Cooper.

This was carrying out the agreement made by Mayor Beck with the engineer. Engineer Graydon also received $500, on what division the minutes do not say.

The mayor desired to save $1,000 by getting Mr. Mitchell to do the work after hours, and then refuse to pay him because some rules which he quotes forbids an employee of the city to receive payment for work done in overtime.

"Well, then, the city owns a man, body and soul, for $15 a week," ventured a citizen to his worship.

"No, not that; but he must work overtime, if the head of the department asks him to do it, and he can receive no remuneration for it," answered Mayor Judd.

"No civic employee can

PRODUCE MARKET.
TORONTO.
Toronto, Sept. 27.—County reports state that so great is the demand for wheat for immediate delivery that some buyers are paying 92¢. The price is the result of the wheat being held back to an abnormal degree, and commission houses incline to the policy of keeping sold up well, in preparation for any sudden break which might result from the delivery of a large quantity of wheat at different country points. Manitoba prices were maintained today. New Ontario oats were offered at 50¢ outside, and sales were unofficially reported on that basis. Quotations are:

Board of Works Discusses Plans And the Stand Taken by Mr. Mitchell

Mayor Says the Documents Must Be Produced, But He Doesn't Tell How.

The board of works met last night when the Mitchell matter was discussed. Mayor Judd explained that he had not threatened to arrest Mr. Mitchell, nor had he threatened him in any way. He took the ground that he had ordered the plans to be made in the engineer's department, and the plans were made there, according to his instructions, he said. The plans had been approved by the hospital trust, the local board of health, and the Provincial board. The plans should now be before No. 2 committee. They were not produced, and they would have to be produced. There was a way of getting them. He was utterly opposed to paying any money to Mr. Mitchell for them. Had he been in the council when the Nurses' Home was built he would have opposed the payment of money to either Mr. John M. Moore or Mr. Graydon in connection with the work done. Mr. Mitchell had been employed by the council to do such work as he had done, and was entitled to no remuneration for it above his salary.

The bylaw was explicit in this regard. No civic employee should receive any emolument for work done other than his salary. It made no difference to him what had been done in the past, he was going to see to it that this money was not paid. Mr. Mitchell had no right to take the plans away, and they must be returned.

Was Also Opposed.
Ald. Cooper also opposed the paying of the money. He declared also that the plans should be returned to the committee. The plans had been in the hands of a civic employee, and he should see to it that they were returned.

FERRY BOAT UPSET

Disaster Near Jackson, Alabama—Fourteen Persons Drowned.

Mobile, Sept. 27.—A ferry boat crossing the Tombigbee River at McGrew's shoals, near Jackson, Ala., yesterday, was capsized, drowning one white boy and thirteen negroes. The scene of the accident has long been regarded as a very dangerous place by navigators of the river on account of the rapid and treacherous current and the rocky shoals there.

Amusements
Tomorrow, matinee and evening, at the Grand the season's laughing event "The Gay Mr. Dooley" will be the attraction. There are some twenty odd members with this company, each one being an artist in his or her respective line, and engaged for what they can do to make "The Gay Mr. Dooley" the best and funniest play of the current season. A special matinee for ladies and children will be given at 2:30, when bargain prices will be the rule.

A novelty for this generation of theatregoers is found in "Marrying Mary," which will be seen next Tuesday at the Grand. It is an epilogue which Marie Cahill recites. It has long been considered that an epilogue was practically impossible of delivery because the modern audience will not remain seated after the slightest indication of the approach of the end of the play. In "Marrying Mary" the end comes so abruptly that the audience is listening to the epilogue before it knows it, and then it is treated to a clever bit of verse.

Samuel S. and Lee Shubert, incorporated, announce that their latest and greatest English importation "The Blue Moon," which appeared here last season, will come to the Grand next Thursday. "The Blue Moon" was an unequalled success abroad for two solid years, and its cordial reception so far this season would lead one to surmise that it will go down in theatrical records as one of the most substantial and pleasing musical comedies that England has ever sent us.

Lord Cromer states that Egyptians have a propensity for hoarding gold. A native, who recently died, left $400,000 stored in gold in his house, and many of them possessed of wealth will borrow money at interest to conceal the fact. Large quantities of gold coin are annually melted in Egypt and converted into ornaments.

Care of Trees.

Parks Commissioner Pearce presented a bylaw governing the planting, care and removal of trees, and planted.

Mayor Judd thought the bylaw was a move in the right direction. The planting of trees, especially in the new districts, was very irregular, and would produce very bad results. The bylaw would give a uniformity of planting, and variety, and would add greatly to the appearance of the city.

The members present were Ald. Matthews, Cooper, Saunders, Rose, Mayor Judd and Secretary Bell.

SIMCOE'S LAST DAY

Good Weather Favored Norfolk Fair—A Marked Success.

Simcoe, Sept. 26.—The last day of the Norfolk fair was a marked success. The weather was fine and there was a large attendance.

The horse ring was one of the attractions of the day, as some of the classes had not been judged the day before.

In the afternoon one of the fine sights was a parade of all the horses and cattle that had been awarded prizes.

The Hon. Sydney Fisher was on the ground for some hours and appeared to enjoy the picture which the scene presented. He also delivered a very interesting and instructive address in Wells' Hall last evening. While here he was the guest of Mr. T. R. Atkinson, M. P.

On the whole, in spite of the unfavorable weather of Tuesday and Wednesday, together with a cool summer, the Norfolk fair was an undoubted success.

CHOKED WITH A SASH

Montreal, Sept. 27.—By strangling himself with a long sash, Joseph Monet, a farmer of St. Constant, committed suicide yesterday afternoon, his dead body being found at 3 o'clock suspended from a hook at the top of his bedroom door.

The victim's feet were touching the door and strangulation had been produced by deliberately bending his knees forward, causing the noose to tighten about his neck.

Traces of insanity had been noticed about Monet.
