

HOW THE FOURTH BATTALION FOUGHT UNDER HEAVY FIRE

STORY FROM SIR MAX AITKEN THAT WILL BE READ WITH PRIDE THROUGHOUT PROVINCE

FOURTH BATTALION CAME UNDER WITHERING FIRE---COL. BIRCHALL, CARRYING A LIGHT CANE, RALLIED THE LINE, AND THEN FELL DEAD

Thus Reads a Deathless Despatch, on Valor of the "Fourth Ontarios," Who Took Part in the Desperate Advance at Ypres on April 23 -- Sir Max Aitken Writes Home as Eyewitness.

By Sir Max Aitken.
The Canadian Eye-witness.
London, May 1.—The following communication is from Sir Max Aitken, the Canadian record officer now serving with the Canadian division in France, and its publication is authorized by the War Office.
The recent fighting in Flanders, in which the Canadians played so glorious a part, cannot, of course, be described with precision of military detail, until the time has made possible the co-ordination of the various facts, and the piecing together in a narrative both lucid and exact of much which, so near the event, is confused and blurred. But it is considered right that the mourning in Canada to-day for husbands, sons or brothers who have given their lives for the Empire should have with as little reserve as military considerations allow the rare and precious consolation which in the agony of bereavement, the record of the valor of their dead must bring, and indeed the mourning in Canada will be very widely spread, for the battle which raged in the neighborhood of Ypres was bloody, even as men appraise battles in this callous and life-engulfing war. But as long as brave deeds retain the power to fire the blood of Anglo-Saxons in those desperate days, will be told by fathers to their sons, for in the military records of Canada this defence will shine as brightly as in the records of the British army the stubborn valor with which Sir James MacDonnell and the Guards beat back from Hougoumont the division of Foy and the army corps of Heille.

DROVE GUARDS BEFORE THEM
The Canadians have wrested the trenches over the bodies of the dead and earned the right to stand side by side with the superb troops who, in the first battle of Ypres, broke, and drove before them the flower of the Prussian Guards. Looked at from any point the performance would be remarkable. It is amazing to soldiers when the genesis and composition of the Canadian division is considered. It contained, no doubt, but it consisted in the main of men who were admirable raw material, but who, at the outbreak of war, were neither disciplined nor trained as men count discipline and training in these days of scientific warfare. It was, it is true, commanded by a distinguished English general. It staff was supplemented, without being replaced by some brilliant British staff officers. But in its higher and regimental commands were to be found lawyers, college professors, business men and real estate agents, ready with cool confidence to do their best against an organization in which the study of military science is the exclusive pursuit of laborious lives.

COOL, RESOURCEFUL.
With that devotion, with a valor how desperate, with resourcefulness how cool and how brilliant, the amateur soldiers of Canada confronted overwhelming odds, may perhaps be made clear, even by a narrative so incomplete as the present.

The salient of Ypres has become familiar to all students of the campaign in Flanders. Like all salients it was, and was known to be, a source of weakness to the forces holding it, but the reasons which led to its retention are apparent, and need not be explained.
On April 22 the Canadian division held a line of roughly five thousand yards, extending in a north-westerly direction from the Ypres-Poelcapelle railway, to the Ypres-Poelcapelle road, and connecting at its terminus with the French troops. The division consisted of three infantry brigades, in addition to the artillery brigades. Of the infantry brigades the first was in reserve, the second was on the OPENING OF THE BATTLE.

The day was a peaceful one, warm and sunny and except that the previous day had witnessed a further bombardment of the stricken town of Ypres, everything seemed quiet in front of the Canadian line. At 5 o'clock in the afternoon a plan carefully prepared, was put into execution against our French allies on the left. Asphyxiating gas of great intensity was projected into the trenches, probably by means of force pumps and pipes laid out under the parapets. The fumes aided by a favorable wind floated backwards, poisoning and disabling over an extended area those who fell under their effect. The result was that the French were compelled to give ground for a considerable distance. The glory which the French army has won in this war would make it impudent to labor on the compelling nature of the poisonous discharges under which the trenches were lost. The French did, as everyone knew they would do, and the Canadian division, officers and men, look forward to many occasions in the future in which they will stand side by side with the brave armies of France.

The immediate consequence of this enforced withdrawal was, of course, extremely grave. The third brigade of the Canadian division was without any left, or in other words, its left flank was in the air. It became imperative necessary greatly to extend the Canadian lines to the left rear. It was not, of course, practicable to move the first brigade from reserve at a moment's notice, and the line, extended from five to nine thousand yards, was not naturally the line that had been held by the allies at five o'clock and a gap still existed on its left.

CAPTURE OF THE GUNS.
The new line, of which our recent point of contact with the French formed the apex, ran quite roughly to the south and west. As shown above, it became necessary for Brigadier-General Turner, commanding the third brigade, to throw back his left flank southward to protect his rear. In the course of the confusion which followed upon the readjustment of positions, the enemy, who had advanced rapidly after his initial successes, took four British 4.7 guns in a small wood to the west of the village of St. Julien, two miles in the rear of the original French trenches.

CAPT. EWART OSBORNE IS STILL REPORTED MISSING

His Last Letter Home—Much Anxiety Expressed for Popular Officer—Other Casualties are Pte. A. Hamilton and C. Kirby.

Enquiries set on foot to-day reveal the fact that the casualty list, so far as it concerns the 48th Highlanders, continues to mount up. The official list to-day contains the names of many officers of the regiment commanded by Col. J. A. Currie, and Capt. J. E. Osborne and Lieut. Hugh A. Barwick are among the missing. The former officer's father, Mr. J. K. Osborne, who is staying at the Queen's Hotel, Toronto, and who is connected with the Massey-Harris firm, got a message from his wife in London in the following words: "Osborne among missing."

POPULAR OFFICER.
Only Thursday a reassuring cable came from the other side regarding the captain, and it was hoped that he was safe and well. In any case it is presumed that he has not been injured. He is a popular and clever officer, devoted to his profession, and is very popular with his brother officers and men. He has always taken a great pride in the 48th, and commanded No. 4 double company.

In one of his last letters from the front, Captain Osborne wrote as follows: "The day before yesterday (April 7th) the whole division was moved and we did an eighteen-mile march, which, by the way, was very well handled. We did the whole distance on schedule time, losing very few men, and the troops arrived in their new billets in good condition. A great deal of the marching here is on cobblestone roads, which are very hard on the feet, and while a few men are lost from exhaustion, it is sore feet which cause the great proportion of the casualties.

GOOD MARCHING.
"I am glad to say that my fellows did the journey very well, indeed. We are now in quite a different part of the country, and some distance behind the line; in fact, practically for the first time in nearly six weeks we are out of range of shell fire. The country is more picturesque, which is, perhaps, more or less accentuated by the fact that spring has set in and the countryside has taken on a more pleasing aspect. Just what they are going to do with us we do not know, but no doubt we will take over a new bit of the line.

VISIONS OF HOME.
"I am fit as a fiddle, but after a few months of this life, I am to be inspected to-morrow by Gen. Alderson. The regimental work here is quite different to what we have been accustomed to—we use the double company system, which is superior to the old formation."

LOCAL CASUALTY LIST INCREASING

Four Names Added To-day, All Wounded—Further Names Expected.

Brantford's casualty list received considerable increase this morning in the addition of four names to the roll of fallen in battle. These names, subjoined are to-day's toll for the battle of Langemarck, and subsequent engagements, in which the fourth battalion, Ontario, took part.

CASUALTIES TO DATE.
Pte. R. Anthony, Scotchman, wife residing 250 Brock, wounded.
Pte. C. Kirby, Englishman, residing 118 West Mill, wounded.
Pte. A. Hamilton, Englishman, wounded.
Pte. Robert MacCartney, 18 Mt. Pleasant street, wounded.
PTE. MACCARTNEY
Pte. MacCartney, who resided at 18 Mt. Pleasant street, was a candy-maker by trade, and was employed at the Paterson Biscuit Company for a period of five years before his enlistment.
He served for two years in the Dufferin Rifles, and was a keen and Australian and New Zealand Contingents, in the Thick of Desperate Fighting Which Occurred, Acquitted Themselves Nobly, Although the Casualties Were Heavy.

London, May 1.—After very serious fighting, in which the Turks offered a stubborn resistance, British troops have firmly established themselves on the Gallipoli Peninsula and made considerable advance toward the narrow of the Dardanelles, while the French have cleared Cape Kum Kale, on the Asiatic side of the straits of the Turks. Thus it may be said that the second and most serious attempt to force the Dardanelles has been fairly launched.

In an official statement issued last night, the Admiralty gives the first detailed story of the landing of the troops. The Turks made a desperate resistance at several places, but the British troops now hold strongly entrenched positions on the Gallipoli Peninsula as far inland as Krithia, about five miles from the tip.

It is admitted that the landing operations cost the army a heavy toll of lives. It is announced that the casualties in the fleet, which supported the landing parties are small.

THE BRITISH STATEMENT
The British War Office last night made public an official communication concerning the operations of the allies against the Dardanelles:
"The disembarkation of the army in the Dardanelles began before sunrise on April 25. Six different beaches were used, and the operation was covered by the whole fleet.
"The landing was immediately successful on five beaches, although it entangled enemy in successive lines which were protected by barbed wire entanglements, in some places fifty yards wide, and supported by artillery.
"On the sixth beach, near Seddul Bahr, the troops could not advance until evening, when a fine attack by the British infantry from the direc-

They were called by fanciful names, such as "murderer" and are frequently mentioned in records of the Anglo-Spanish wars. Some of them had more than one barrel. In modern times the first effective machine gun was that invented by the American, Dr. Gatling, which was used during the last stages of the civil war (1870-71). It was not, however, very effective, as its stream of bullets scattered so much on leaving the grouped barrels. The above illustration shows a French machine gun fitted up so as to repel enemy aircraft. This machine gun is air cooled and not water cooled. The explosion of the charge which propels the bullet also causes a rush of air through a small hole in the side of the barrel which cools the gun, thus making it independent of water.

"The result of the first day's operations was the establishment of strong British, Australasian and New Zealand forces at three points, namely, the Australian and New Zealand troops on the lower slopes of Sari Bair to the north of Baba Tepe; of British troops at Cape Tekeli, at Cape Helles and near Morte Bay, and of a French force on the Asiatic shore at Kum Kale, after a gallant attack toward Yeni Shehr."
DISSEMBARKING THE ARMY.
"During the afternoon of the 25th strong counter-attacks by the enemy began and hard fighting took place. Meanwhile the disembarkation of the army proceeded, and was continually favored by good weather."
"At daybreak on the 26th the enemy was still holding the village and position of Seddul Bahr, which was a labyrinth of caves, ruins, trenches, pits and entanglements. Aided by the gun fire of the fleet this position was stormed by the British in frontal attack through undamaged wire entanglements. Seddul Bahr was taken about 2 p.m., four pom-poms being captured. The situation at this end of the peninsula was definitely secured and the disembarkation of French and British forces proceeded."
"On the morning of the 27th, after repulsing a Turkish attack upon their left towards Cape Helles, the allied force advanced and at 8 p.m. was established in an entrenched line running from a point about two miles north of Cape Tekeli to a small plain

Canadians Should be Very Proud

(Chicago Evening American.)
Citizens of the United States who go to the great Exposition at San Francisco will return with increased respect for Canada and the Canadian Government, thanks to the great building and the extraordinarily fine exhibit that represent Canada's power. There never was seen a more complete, inspiring exhibit of the wonders of a great country.

The Canadians have gone at the thing thoroughly, they have eclipsed completely the exhibits of every one of our individual states, and that is putting it very mildly.

Every Canadian certainly should visit the Panama-Pacific Exposition, if only to confirm the opinion he probably holds that Canada is a wonderful place and its government a magnificent and capable government.

In addition to Canadians, representatives of every state and every county in the United States should make it a point to spend a thoughtful day in the Canada Building.

They will learn there that it is possible for a people not afraid of "paternalism or government influence to do wonders for the building up of a country.

And they will see splendid work done by private corporations, railroads and others, under proper and efficient control by the people.

Mr. John Scott Anderson, Charlottetown, received a letter yesterday telling him of the death of his brother, Robert A. Atwood.

A pleasant affair took place in the Tea Pot Inn on Thursday night when the choir of the Park Baptist church were entertained to a banquet by a generous and unknown donor. Splendid after-dinner speeches were made by the chairman, Mr. Fred Grobb, Dr. Hooper and Messrs. S. F. Passmore, Frank Grobb, A. N. Pequegnar, and J. R. Cornelius. Mr. Vernon Cooper of Paris entertained and was appreciated by all The National Anthem brought the affair to a close.

Mr. John Scott Anderson, Charlottetown, received a letter yesterday telling him of the death of his brother, Robert A. Atwood.

Nuptial Notes

TREFFREY—MILES.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Miles, Norwich, Ont., was the scene of a very picturesque event on Wednesday, April 28th at high noon, when their second daughter, Maggie Pearl and John Edwin Treffrey, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Treffrey were joined in the holy bonds of matrimony by carnation, and the spring's daintiest Rev. Mr. Rowe. The bride, who was gowned in a dainty creation of white silk crepe de chene and tulle veil, arranged in cap effect with orange blossoms, entered the parlor to the strains of Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus, rendered by Miss A. McIsaac of Brantford. The parlor and dining hall were arranged with pink and white carnations and the spring's daintiest foliage. After the ceremony and congratulations were given and received the guests adjourned to the dining hall, where some ninety guests partook of a sumptuous dejeuner, served by Caterer Dawse of Woodstock, who was assisted by eight young lady friends of the bride, most becomingly attired in pink and white gowns. Very loyal and appropriate toasts were offered by the officiating clergyman and Dr. Harvey. The large number of beautiful and costly gifts went to show the very high esteem in which both bride and groom are held. The bride's travelling costume was of navy blue, with white crushed straw hat, trimmed with pink roses and black velvet true lover's knots. After an extended trip of points west, Mr. and Mrs. Treffrey will be at home to their friends after May 8th at their new home in Delhi.

Obituary

MRS. CLARA PICKLES

The following is taken from the Daily Journal of Corning, N.Y. Dr. S. L. Pickles, the bereaved husband, is an old Brantford boy and brother of Mr. Garry Pickles, Manager of the Brantford Laundry Limited.

"Clara, wife of Dr. S. L. Pickles, died at 1 o'clock this morning at her home, 36 East Second street. She was taken ill Sunday night of acute uremia, and the disease progressed with rapidity to a fatal conclusion. The announcement of her death came as a great surprise and shock to friends. Sunday she was in her usual place as a member of the Christ Church choir, and sang at the morning service in that church.

Mrs. Pickles was in the 46th year of her age. She was a daughter of the late David D. Moxley, of Corning. She was born in New Milford, Pa. She married S. L. Pickles on Nov. 28, 1861. She was an accomplished contralto singer and for many years had sung in the choir of the Episcopal church here and also at various musical functions, her fine and well trained voice being heard with pleasure.

Mrs. Pickles was a member of the Musical Art Society of Corning. She was also a member of Corning Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. She was a very amiable and excellent woman. Her home was her delight and she was a model house-keeper. She was greatly beloved by all who knew her. Tender sympathy is felt for the sorrowing husband, and other members of her family.

Besides her husband she is survived by her mother, Mrs. Mary G. Moxley, and two sisters, Mrs. L. F. Shinn and Mrs. Frank D. Findolph, all of Cleveland, O., and one brother, Burt S. Moxley, of 398 East Second street, Corning."

An Admirable Impostor Caught

By Special Wire to the Courier.

New York, May 1.—An Englishman who, posing as Sir Henry L. Stirling, bart, K.G.M.G., arrived at Boston from England in February, telling a romantic story of travelling 12,000 miles to marry the original of a picture he had fallen in love with, and who subsequently came here and said he was commissioned to purchase a submarine detector for Great Britain, federal authorities, a deserter and absconder of funds from the British army, Carlisle, who was taken into custody on a charge of using the mails to defraud, told the authorities, they say, that he is a bigamist and that when the United States government is through with him, he expects to be surrendered to England and shot by that government for deserting in time of war.

Carlisle is charged with taking money from young women on a pretense of engaging them as travel secretaries to an English nobleman and companion to a titled lady. Post office inspectors and assistant United States District Attorney Stanton took his statement last night.

Carlisle, who is 30 years old, and was born at Mitcham, Surrey, England, says, according to the confession given out by the federal officials, that as pay sergeant of a howitzer battery attached to the 46th and 47th brigades of the Royal Field and Horse Artillery, he deserted on January 11, taking $3,700 and that although married he bigamously married a Scotch girl, who supposed she became Lady Stirling. He claims the authorities say, to have lived with her at leading hotels here until his funds became so low that he inserted advertisements in the papers for a female travelling secretary, always requiring the applicants to advance money.

How Roland Garros Was Taken Prisoner

By Special Wire to the Courier.

Milan, via Paris, May 1.—A motor which stalled suddenly while he was 2,000 feet in the air was responsible for the capture by the Germans of Roland Garros, the famous French aviator, according to an account of the incident given in the Kriegs Zeitung of the Fourth German army and reproduced in the Corriere Della Sera here.

Garros was flying over the Ingelmonster-Courtra railroad when a train passed. He made a wonderful swoop from a height of 6,000 feet until he was 120 feet from the ground, describing a series of daring circles over the train and then dropping a bomb which blew up a section of the track. When engines opened fire on him at close range, he dropped another bomb and rose to a height of 2,000 feet. Suddenly the motor stopped and the aeroplane swayed dangerously but Garros volplaned safely down and made a successful landing. He sprang out, set fire to the machine, and took refuge in a cottage. Pursuing soldiers found him after a long search crouching in a ditch behind a thick hedge. Asked if he had a companion, Garros gave his word that he had not. He explained that his engine had probably been struck by a bullet.

THE SITUATION.

The increasing roll of men from Canada, either killed, wounded or missing, in connection with their recent heroic fighting at the front, makes sad yet pridelike reading. They did their duty in accordance with the highest traditions of the British race, and there has never been anything higher than that in all the hero rolls of the wide world.

The Australians and the New Zealanders have also been making a fine record on their own account. They have delivered a smashing blow at the Turks in connection with the Dardanelles fighting, and once more overseas forces have shown just what they can do for the grand old Empire. Congratulations will be mutual.

THE GERMAN PLAN REGARDING PARIS.

The "Seven Months After," recalls the German plan of campaign, which was both infamous and exceptionally skillful. It says—

"The Germans had carried foresight to the length of making preparations not only for the occupation of Paris, after what they presumed would be its easy conquest, but also for using their possession of the capital as a means of blackmail for imposing a shameful peace on France. According to the German plan, the great city was, in fact, divided into seven sectors, each of which was to receive a garrison of 10,000 Germans. Then the Kaiser, at the head of 1,500,000 men, was to appear before the fallen city and propose to what was left of the French Government a truce and pardon in return for provinces and gold, and perhaps also soldiers and sailors to help him in his invasion of England.

"Supposing the French Government refused, what then? A first military execution would be carried out. One of the sectors of Paris would be systematically sacked, public monuments destroyed, private banks robbed and then burned, and private houses turned upside down by the German troops. When this 'example' had been made, a fresh ultimatum would be presented.

In the event of a second refusal another sector would be handed over to the military, and so on, from example to example and from looting to looting. They flattered themselves that they would soon have done with France. It would then be time to turn to that 'slowcoach' Russia, and bring her to her knees with all the forces set free by this first victory.

"Germany thought that Russia would be in need of ammunition and unable to hold out for three months. She similarly counted on the feelings of selfishness by which she supposed Great Britain was animated and her lack of preparation.

U. S. TRIBUTE TO PREMIER BORDEN.

If Canada, says The Christian Science Monitor, of Boston, one of the best newspapers in the United States, were an ally of Great Britain rather than an integral part of the British Empire, its policies and its policies would command on every side, more nearly than they do now, a measure of attention commensurate with their importance. The present European war is on a scale beyond any that history records, but tremendous as it is, Canada's contribution to it in men and money cannot be considered the trivial, relatively or otherwise. The other day at Ottawa a Parliament was prorogued that during its session had made provision for army and navy equipment estimated to cost $100,000,000. The leader of the party and the Premier of the Government, who brought this measure successfully through, who for nine months has met every exigency forced upon Canada by the situation in Europe, and particularly by the situation in Great Britain, with comprehensive, clear-sightedness and intelligent grasp, has long been recognized in the United States, and now is coming to be recognized in his own country, as no ordinary man. Of course, Sir Robert Borden has long had his personal and political friends, his admirers and his followers, but for the most part these have been confined to his own party, and a very large percentage of them it is safe to say have had little knowledge of his real quality as a statesman. In the ordinary course of things as Premier he would never have such trials as those that since August last have been testing his character, and he would not have had such opportunity as these trials have afforded him of proving his capacity in the face of difficulty.

Not the least of the trials that have come upon him and have tested him were those growing out of the discovery that, in common with other countries, Canada has unscrupulous enemies at home. The revelation of dishonesty in the furnishing of supplies came as a shock to the whole country, but the main force of it had to be borne by the Premier, and he has borne it manfully. He could not pause to carry on a criminal trial, but he has served notice on those who have wronged the nation that if the law of the country permits its courts to force restitution there will be restitution and that if the offenders can be more severely punished they will be so punished regardless of who they are or of what in the past they have been.

In the greater glare, in the larger field abroad, the things that move and the things that disturb a possession 3,000 miles away arrest and hold little attention, but because the work of Sir Robert Borden is only an incident in the daily activities of a great Empire its value is not being overlooked at home. Liberals as well as Conservatives, people of generous natures of all shades of opinion, are now saying just and pleasant things about the man who for nine months has given in his days and his nights, his time and his thought, his whole heart to the task of enabling Canada to perform what he believes to be his plain duty to the Mother Country.

FOURTH BATTALION

The story of the second Battle of Ypres is the story of how the Canadian division, enormously outnumbered, for they had in front of them at least four divisions, supported by immensely heavy artillery, with a gap still existing, though reduced in their ranks under the stimulus of critical danger, fought through the day and through the night, and then through another day and night; fought under their officers until, as happened to so many, these perished gloriously, and then fought through the impulsion of sheer valour because they come from fighting stock.

The enemy, of course, was aware whether fully or not, perhaps he doubted, of the advantage this breach in the line had given him, and immediately began to push a formidable series of attacks upon the whole of the newly formed Canadian salient.

WORK OF CANADIAN SCOTTISH.

It is impossible to distinguish, when the attack was everywhere so fierce, but it is thought that particular intensity at this moment upon the apex of the newly-formed line running in the direction of St. Julien. It has already been stated that four British regiments were taken in a wood comparatively early in the evening of the 22nd. In the course of that night, and under the heaviest machine gun fire, this wood was assaulted by the Canadian Scottish, 16th battalion of the 3rd brigade, and the 10th battalion of the 1st brigade, which was intercepted for this purpose on its way to a reserve trench. The battalions were respectively commanded by Lieut.-Col. Leckie, and Lieut.-Col. Boyle, and after a most fierce struggle in the light of a misty moon they took the position at the point of the bayonet.

LINE NEVER WAVERED

All through the following day and nights these battalions shared the fortunes and the fortunes of the third brigade. An officer, who took part in the attack, describes how the men about him fell under the fire of the machine guns, which, in his phrase, played upon them "like a warning." He added quite simply, "I wrote my own life off," but the line never wavered. When one man fell another took his place, and with a final shout, the survivors of the battalions flung themselves into the wood. The German garrison was completely demoralized, and the impetuous advance of the Canadians did not cease until they reached the far side of the wood and entered the trench. They had, however, the disappointment of finding that the guns had been blown up by the enemy, and later on the same night, a most formidable concentration of artillery fire, concentrating the wood as a target, made it impossible for them to hold the position for which they had sacrificed so much.

FIGHT ALL THROUGH THE NIGHT.

The fighting continued without intermission all through the night and to those who observed the indications that the attack was being pushed with ever-growing strength, it hardly seemed possible that the Canadians, fighting in positions so difficult to defend and so little the subject of deliberate choice, could maintain their resistance for any long period. At six a.m. on Friday, it became apparent that the left was becoming more and more involved and a powerful German attempt to outflank it developed rapidly. The consequences need not be insisted upon. They were not merely local.

It was therefore decided, formidable as the attempt undoubtedly was to try and give relief by a counter-attack upon the first line of German trenches, now far, far advanced from those originally occupied by the French. This was carried out by the Ontario first and fourth battalions, whose first brigade, under Brigadier-General Mercer, acting in combination with a British brigade. It is safe to say that the youngest private in the rank, as he set his teeth for the advance, knew the task in front of him, and the youngest subaltern knew all that rested upon its success.

FELL DEAD AT HEAD OF TROOPS.

It did not seem that any human being could live in the shower of shot and shell which began to play upon the advancing troops. They suffered terrible casualties. For a short time every man seemed to fall, but the attack was pressed even closer and closer. The 4th Canadian battalion at one moment came under a particularly withering fire. For a moment, not more, it wavered. Its most gallant commanding officer, Lieut.-Col. Birchall, carrying after an old fashion, a light cane, coolly and cheerfully rallied his men, and at the very moment when his example had infected them, fell dead at the head of his battalion.

With a hoarse cry of anger they sprang forward (for, indeed, they loved him) as if to avenge his death. The astonishing attack which followed, pushed home in the face of direct frontal fire, made in broad daylight by battalions, whose names should live forever in the memories of soldiers, was carried to the first line of German trenches. After a hand-to-hand struggle the last German who resisted, was bayoneted, and the trench was won.

THE APEX IN THE BREACH

The measure of this success may be taken, when it is pointed out that this trench, represented in the German advance the apex in the breach which the enemy had made in the original line of the allies, and that it was two and a half miles south of that line. This charge made by men who looked death indifferently in the face, for no man who took part in it could think that he was likely to live, saved, and what was much more, the Canadian left. But it did more, conquered or died, it secured and maintained during the most critical moment of all the integrity of the allied line. For the trench was not only taken, it was thereafter used against all comers, and in the teeth of every conceivable projectile, until the night of Sunday, the 25th, when all that remained of the war-broken but victorious battalions was relieved by fresh troops.

teau above De Totts battery. From this line an advance since has been made to the neighborhood of Krietha WORK OF THE AUSTRALIANS. "Meanwhile the Australian and New Zealand troops at Sari Bair, who pushed on with the utmost boldness, after the landing on the 25th had been engaged almost constantly with the enemy, who made strong repeated counter-attacks which invariably were repulsed. The Australian and New Zealand troops fought with a fine spirit of determination.

"On the morning of the 27th a fresh Turkish division was launched against Sari Bair, preceded by a heavy artillery fire. A hot engagement followed. The enemy came on boldly time after time, but the Australian and New Zealand troops defeated their every attempt and by 3 p.m. had resumed the offensive.

"The French troops at Kum Kale were also four times strongly counter-attacked on the 26th, but retained all their positions. Five hundred Turks who, in the course of one of these counter-attacks, were cut off by the fire of the fleet, were made prisoners.

"The operation of the landing army in the face of modern weapons and in spite of wire entanglements, under seas as well as on land, and of land mines and deep pits with spikes at their bottoms, thus has been accomplished.

"The admiral reports that the fleet is filled with intense admiration over the achievements of their military comrades.

"The casualties in the army necessarily have been heavy. The casualties in the fleet were not numerous. They appeared to have been confined to torpedo boat destroyers and to boats' crews engaged in landing operations, in which merchant captains and officers and crews of transports also have taken part.

"During the operations, Turkish warships from Nagara (in the straits) several times have attempted to intervene, but have always made off directly the Queen Elizabeth was at hand.

TURK TRANSPORT SUNK

"At noon on the 27th, however, a transport of about 8,000 tons was reported off Mardos, and before she could escape the Queen Elizabeth opened fire. She sank rapidly, but destroyed her. She sank rapidly, but whether she contained troops or not could not be seen.

"On the 28th and 29th the allied forces rested and improved and consolidated their positions and continued the disembarkation of stores and artillery. All counter attacks by the enemy, which were incessant on the 28th, but weaker on the 29th, were repulsed.

"The fleet, as well as the supporting army, have begun to engage the batteries. The Triumph bombarded Mardos, which was in flames last night, the 29th."

LOSS OF APPETITE

Most Successfully Treated by Taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Loss of appetite is accompanied by loss of vitality, which is serious. It is common in the spring because at this time the blood is impure and impoverished and fails to give the digestive organs what is absolutely necessary for the proper performance of their functions.

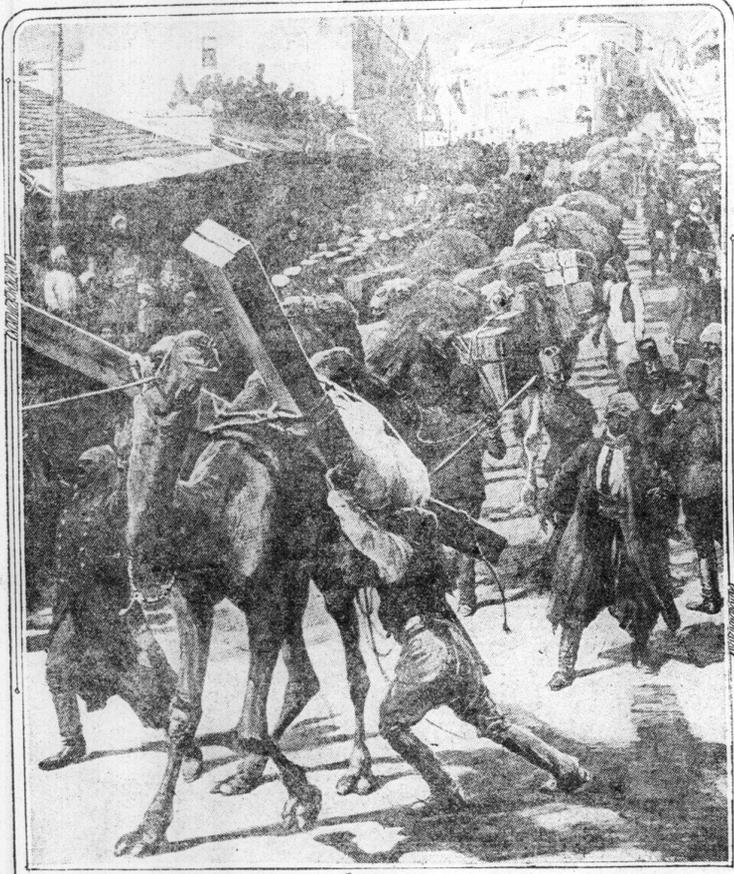

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the old reliable all-the-year-round medicine, is especially useful in the spring. Get it from your druggist. By purifying and enriching the blood and giving vitality, vigor and tone, it is wonderfully successful in the treatment of loss of appetite and the other ailments that are so prevalent at this time. It is not simply a spring medicine—it is much more than that—but it is the best spring medicine.

Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the rich red blood that the stomach and other digestive organs need. Get it today.

WAR SCENE IN THE HOLY CITY OF JERUSALEM.

WARLIKE PREPARATIONS IN THE STREETS OF JERUSALEM. This scene, drawn especially for this newspaper, the New York Herald and the London Sphere, depicts the preparations for war in the Holy City. The streets are witnessing military movements such as we see above. A camel train bearing engineers' timbers is passing through a street in Jerusalem. Among the onlookers are numerous soldiers drawn up in a line on the left. From all appearances they are German soldiers watching the sights of the city. Turkish artillery officers are seen on the right.

BUILDING PERMIT. Mr. Fred Cooper of Brock street has taken out a building permit for the erection of a frame verandah. BACK ON THE JOB. Mr. Bennett, the building inspector, returned to his duties this morning after an absence of four months. VITAL STATISTICS. During the past month there were forty-one births, thirty-seven deaths and fourteen marriages in the city. EAST WARD OILED. The oiling of the streets of the East Ward was completed this morning and the North Ward will be next treated to the oil dust preventer. THE TEMPERATURE. The weather is commencing to approach nearer to the conditions of a year ago. Record for the last twenty-four hours: Lowest 44, highest, 58. Same date last year: Lowest 29; highest 55. BREAK IN MAIN. A break in the main of the Brantford Gas Company was discovered just outside of St. George about ten o'clock this morning. This accounts for the low pressure generally experienced. Men were got to work upon it immediately. DOGS SHOT. Three vagrant dogs have been shot by the police. The dog nuisance has not been abated as yet. Severe measures will be taken if dogs are allowed to run at large. The lives of citizens are of greater importance than dogs, so says Chief Constable Slemm. LAMPS BROKEN. During the week ending April 24, the following street lights were broken: Ontario street, corner Cayuga St. one lamp; Sylvan street, second pole south of Terrace Hill Street (this is the sixth lamp broken on this particular pole); Richmond street, opposite No. 58, one lamp broken. WATER PUMPED. Measured in gallons, the water pumped for the city during the month of April came to 113,208,754, giving a daily average of 3,773,658 gallons. This was less than the total for the corresponding month of 1914, when 122,953,776 gallons were used, giving an average per day of 4,098,457. HORTICULTURISTS MET. The Horticultural Society of the city met Thursday evening in the Library. Mr. Tapscott presided and after giving a short but interesting opening address, called on the speaker of the evening, Mrs. R. B. Potts of Hamilton. In her remarks she gave her audience many hints about raising flowers. Her suggestions about the laying out of a garden proved to be invaluable. She also gave some interesting facts about roses and a few interesting facts about geraniums in making beautiful flower gardens this summer, her remarks were very instructive, and her efforts to make the address interesting to everyone present were entirely successful.

BRITISH GREATLY IMPRESSED

Bombardment of Dunkirk Has Opened Their Eyes to New Danger.

By Special Wire to the Courier. London, May 1.—The British public has been greatly impressed by the German bombardment of Dunkirk, which it is believed in military circles here must have been from a distance of from eighteen to twenty miles. The Times dealing with the situation in an editorial, says the incident is of small importance from a military standpoint, but that it brings the war closer to England's shores than at any earlier period of the struggle. CAN RESUME ATTACK. "We have," the Times says, "in the events of the past ten days the clearest possible proof that far from being on the run, the Germans can, at any moment, resume the offensive in the west with great power and obstinate courage, with an ample supply of men and guns and in a spirit that will stop at nothing. The bombardment of Dunkirk is only one more sign of their settled purpose to reach the coast towns near England and it ought to bring us with a bound out of the world of illusion in which the nation has been encouraged to gaze at the facts through the mist of facile optimism. OF LARGE CALIBRE. Passengers who arrived in London from France yesterday said that the shells that fell in Dunkirk were of large calibre and were supposed to have come from at least seventeen miles inland. An Englishman who was in the town during the bombardment said the German artillery got the range quickly and that their shells fell for some time at intervals of five minutes. Many persons were killed outright, while others died later from their injuries. DIRECTED BY AIRMEN. The Times' correspondent in northern France says the first shell fell in Dunkirk at 3:30 Thursday afternoon, almost at the same moment that German aeroplanes were seen hovering overhead. Soon other shells came in quick succession and it became clear that the Germans had brought their big guns into range and that their fire was being directed by airmen. FOR NINETY MINUTES. "The bombardment," the correspondent adds, "continued for 90 minutes. Inhabitants hid in the cellars or fled the town. The military authorities of Dunkirk were powerless to reply to the enemy's big guns, for the whereabouts of which was unknown, but they opened a furious fire on the aeroplanes and drove them off. Friday morning all was quiet and the bombardment had not been renewed up to now. GUNS DISCOVERED. London, May 1.—The admiralty announces that the position of the German guns which have been bombarding Dunkirk, having been verified by air-craft reconnaissance, it was attacked yesterday evening, twelve small and two large bombs being dropped. Reconnaissance was made also to Ostend which was cleared of all important craft. A Taube aeroplane appeared in sight, but kept 10,000 feet up and three miles off. A naval aeroplane chased the taube whereupon the latter retired. DISCOVERED NO SHIPS. Paris, May 1.—Dunkirk remained calm and there was no sign of panic until it was being bombarded by shells from German guns. According to the editor of a newspaper of that city, who has arrived in Paris. He said the bombardment began at 11:30 a.m. Thursday and continued until 2:30 p.m. Twenty projectiles fell at intervals of about seven minutes. All of them were 15-inch shells which blasted craters some times 45 feet across and sent up great columns of dense black smoke. A despatch to the Havas Agency from Dunkirk says that British and French seaplanes which reconnoitered during the bombardment, were able to discover no enemy ships in the vicinity of Dunkirk, although there was a German light squadron off Ostend.

With the City Police Four drunks appeared before Magistrate Livingston to-day and were fined three dollars each in two cases, while the others, not having been similarly charged before, were allowed to go. Harold Turner was brought up for riding on the sidewalk and fined as per usual. Mrs. Elizabeth Cline charged Richard Brennan with being insane and following her about. The Crown Attorney could not appear, and defendant was remanded until Monday. Culebra Cut in the Panama Canal has been renamed the Gaillard Cut after the man who made it. Cornelius Hale, Trenton, Mich., lost his life trying to save a favorite team in a fire on his farm.

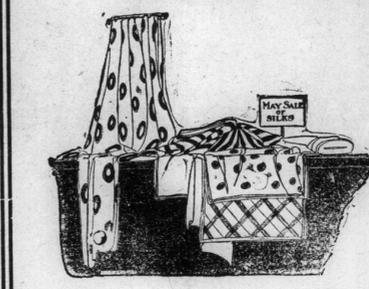

NEGOTIATIONS AT STANDSTILL

Count Von Buelow Gives an Interview—Things are Quiet.

By Special Wire to the Courier. Rome, via Paris, May 1.—Prince Von Buelow, German ambassador to Italy, is convinced that the negotiations which have been conducted recently in an endeavor to establish an agreement between Italy and the Teutonic allies, have been not only in the interests of Germany, but also of Italy and Austria; not only for the present moment, but more for the future, he stated in an interview to-day. He remarked that in diplomatic negotiations one should never be discouraged by what seem to be insurmountable difficulties, because of the immense distance between the respective claims of the negotiating parties. He talked the ambassador sat beside a small table upon which were two boxes of matches. Wishing better to illustrate his point, he put the box at the extremities of the table, saying: "Here is how they are. My mission is to make them gradually approach. I am doing my best to impress on them the convergent movement until they meet." According to the latest report, the boxes, if they have not actually taken a divergent movement, are certainly at a standstill. NOT MERE BLUFF. Rome, May 1.—The Tribuna to-day publishes an article giving some interesting impressions of a prominent man who has just returned from Vienna. He says that the attitude of Austria can be understood when it is known that the ruling classes at Vienna in honor of Garibaldi and his famous thousand who captured Sicily in 1860. Doubt has prevailed in some Austro-German circles as to whether his majesty would take part in the war. The Austrian government circles are much mistaken, and will soon realize their shortsightedness, and furthermore, they will learn of the compactness, unanimity and discipline of the Italian army. KING WILL PRESIDE. Rome, May 1.—Great significance is attached to the fact that King Victor Emmanuel will preside at the unveiling of the monument to Quarto Sanfelice in honor of Garibaldi and his famous thousand who captured Sicily in 1860. Doubt has prevailed in some Austro-German circles as to whether his majesty would take part in the war. It is certain that no grave steps will be taken by Italy within the next ten days, as the king is not expected to return to Rome until May 8. OF REST. Rome, May 1.—Members of all working men's organizations have decided to unite in observing to-day (May 1) as a day of rest. Even the street railway companies have given their employees permission to abstain from work. No papers will be published except the Popolo Romano, the Conservative organ, which employs non-union workmen. Meetings will be held in all the large towns of Italy and troops will be held in readiness to prevent disorders. The authorities fear there may be clashes between workmen favoring Italy's intervention in the war and those who hope for a continuation of neutrality. CHEERS GREAT ANNOUNCEMENT OF WAGE INCREASE. Canadian Ford Employees Go Wild With Joy When Told of Good Fortune. Ford, Ont., May 1.—Following the announcement of the big wage increase of the Ford plant, Wednesday, there was a monster demonstration by the employees. Investigators have already started work for the newly organized Social Department, which is handling the details of the wage plan. The investigators will ascertain in the case of every workman whether his home and mode of living are such that his is worthy of the increased pay. If difficult conditions are imposed on employees before they will be eligible to the new scale but it is intended that the money go only to the furtherance of good habits and right living. Mr. Ford in discussing the schedule with the officers of the Canadian company told them he considered that a port should receive at least $100 a month to get along comfortably, pay their living expenses and reach top efficiency as a factory hand or a citizen. The Ford employees will not only receive high wages, but will have the benefit of general advice by the experts on the staff of investigators. The man who is buying his home or wants to build a house for himself will have the opportunity of consulting with the Ford organization on legal matters. In short, the idea is to increase the men's pay, and afford them every opportunity to develop into useful and efficient citizens, thus helping themselves, their families, the company where they work and the community in general. A Clear Brain and healthy body are essential for success. Business men, teachers, students and other workers say Hood's Sarsaparilla gives them appetite and strength, and makes their brains clear. It overcomes that tired feeling.

CANADIAN GOLFER A New Magazine Makes a Successful Debut—It is a Brantford Product. A new Canadian monthly magazine has made its appearance. It is the "Canadian Golfer," and Brantford is the place of its habitation, with Mr. R. H. Reville, formerly of the Courier, as editor. The first number sets a very high standard of excellence indeed, and its maintenance will certainly assure a large patronage from golfing enthusiasts, of whom Canada now numbers its thousands. The cover is of most attractive design, and it constitutes a fitting introduction to the various special general articles, which are fully illustrated. Among the contributors are Mr. J. T. Clark, one of the editors of the Toronto Star; George Cumming, the well-known pro, and Mr. Clifford J. Turner, the publisher of the "Golf" magazine in New York. The latter closes his article as follows: "Before closing I wish to say that our sympathies are heartfelt for those golfers who have laid down their clubs for duty's sake, and joined the Great Majority. Many dear friends are among them, and we shall miss them sadly when this awful war is over." Miss Florence L. Harvey, one of Canada's leading exponents of the game, edits the ladies' section. Altogether the "Canadian Golfer" has started out with a tremendous first drive on the public favor course. There are fine authorized pictures of the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, Premier Borden, Hon. Mr. White and Hon. Mr. Burrill of the Dominion Cabinet, all enthusiastic players; Geo. S. CRITICAL THEATRE By Special Wire to the Courier. London, May 1.—The developments on the northern extremities of the two battle fronts, both east and west, the shelling of Dunkirk in France, and the new German offensive movements aimed at the Baltic provinces, take precedence in the war news to-day. British aviators have discovered and attacked the German batteries which from a distance variously estimated by English observers at from 16 to even 28 miles hurled great shells at the French port, but it remains to be seen whether the bombs dropped did enough damage to put the guns out of action. London newspapers say this bombardment of Dunkirk means that the Germans still cling to their cherished idea of occupying the French coast nearest England, and more than one editorial writer to-day points out that Flanders still remains the critical theatre of operations.

Canadian golfer; Miss Dodds, lady champion of Canada, and so on. The typing was done at the Courier office and the excellent presswork, including the striking cover, by the MacBride Printing Company of this city. The whole production is a credit to Brantford and the Ancient and Royal game alike. It is satisfactory to know that a large first edition has been warranted.

Old Country Notes

Plenty of work is to be found in England just now for those who are willing. "Any man who can crawl can get work to-day." That is the opinion of the master of a large London workhouse. "Why," he said, "an old man of 67 who has been an inmate of this house for some time went out the other day and is now getting 11d. per hour at his old trade as a carpenter. It is all due to the war."

When account is taken of employment by the War Office and Admiralty it would appear that the number of persons who have found employment in industrial occupations who were not so occupied before the war is about 250,000 says the Board of Trade. The railway companies show a reduction in their regular employees of 9.5 per cent, while 10.6 per cent have joined the forces. As regards road transport, 21 per cent of the men in omnibuses and tramway services in London have joined the forces. The proportion of enlistment in the case of banks and insurance companies is 20 per cent, and in the case of other commercial employees about 20 per cent. In some of the most prosperous trades the percentage enlistment is very high. The report estimates that farmers in England and Wales have been able to fill the places of one in five of those employees who have joined the forces.

The Postmaster-General, describing in a speech at Bristol the work of the Post Office in connection with the war, said that within four hours of the outbreak of hostilities they had severed every German cable which ran from Germany westwards or eastwards under the sea. No fewer than 32,000 men had been sent from the Post Office to the colours and they had lost, he was sorry to say, many a brave man. Every day they took out to the front over 400,000 letters and over 80,000 parcels—over 80 tons of mail matter. And they got back from the front something like 200,000 postal packets every day. He could undertake, as Postmaster-General, to deliver in the trenches on the evening of the day of publication of the London morning papers.

Royal Congratulations were recently received by Mr. James Cuthbert, Moffat, who has five sons, one stepson, one brother-in-law, and six nephews serving with the colours. The letter came from the Keeper of the Privy Purse, Buckingham Palace. "The King," the letter stated, "was much gratified to hear of the manner in which they have so readily responded to the call of their Sovereign and their country, and I am to express to you and to them His Majesty's congratulations in having contributed in so full a measure to the great cause for which all the people of the British Empire are so bravely fighting."

The Bronzes presented last autumn to the Victoria and Albert Museum by Monsieur Auguste Rodin will be lent to the Royal Scottish Academy, of which Monsieur Rodin is an honorary member, for inclusion in their annual exhibition in Edinburgh this Summer. The bronzes will be withdrawn from exhibition in London at the close of this month. It is proposed that an exhibition of the work of Mr. Isaac came home for the week-ends. Women conductors are to be tried on the Glasgow tramway car system. Neat blue skirts and tunics edged with gold braid, and smart caps have been served out to two women. Upon their efficiency depends the future of the women conductors in Glasgow. For four hours the women tramway car conductors will punch tickets between the university and Dumbreck, and the manager will report to the Tramways Committee. The wages paid to men conductors are 25s. to 36s a week, and the women's wages will not be lower.

An historic relic, of great interest to Scotsmen, will be included in the sale to be opened shortly in aid of the British Red Cross Society and the Order of St. John. Lady Jekyll, the wife of the Chancellor of the Order, has sent an emerald and gold seal which belonged to Mary Queen of Scots, and bears her arms. It was purchased in Edinburgh by Lady Jekyll's father, the late Mr. William Graham, M.P.

A cock fight recently took place in Dunfermline; and fifteen of the promoters and supporters were fined. For the accused it was pleaded that the sport was a very ancient one. Caesar and Mark Antony had engaged in the excitement of cock-fighting and Henry VIII, was so taken up with it that he built a palatial cockpit so that he and his courtiers could witness their favourites doing battle. An interesting rumor is current to the effect that Mr. Birrell may be the new Principal of the University of St. Andrews. The rumor seems to come from Dundee where there is a university college which is affiliated to St. Andrews.

A daring robbery, which occurred a few miles from Ballina on Wednesday night of last week in the National Bank, but unfortunately did not reach town until shortly after three o'clock, when the bank closed. He started for home about nine o'clock and at Shanaghy three men jumped out before him on the road. One of them armed with a gun, wrenched the lamp off the car, and demanded "Your life or your money," while the other two held the horse's head. Mr. Igoe asked if they were joking, and the man with the gun replied: "I will soon let you know what I mean." They cut the traces and gave the mare a kick, and she went off at a gallop, with the result that the car heeled up, throwing Mr. Igoe on the road. A scuffle ensued, Mr. Igoe hitting out, and receiving a few blows. The men took four shillings—all the money he had in his pockets. One of the men said he had more money than that and began to search the car. Mr. Igoe implored them not to do so, saying there was nothing there but the property of the county council. They took his collecting books and the bag containing $2,140. As the third man went away he remarked: "The County Council took this money from the poor and the war is going on, but they'll do no more on it this year."

A remarkable voyage ended the other Saturday by the arrival at Queenstown of the ketch Aurora, of Bridgewater, with a cargo of coal for Whitegate. The ketch belongs to Captain Norman, whose wife and two children were on board with him, and the two of them constitute the crew of the little craft. They navigate her from port to port. The present voyage was commenced as far back as November last, and when she sailed into port saw the completion of the 127th day from the day of sailing. Of course the little vessel has not been all that time in the Channel, as it became necessary owing to the terrible nature of the weather experienced and adverse winds, to put into fully half a dozen ports of refuge. While crossing St. Georges Channel the Aurora had a narrow escape from foundering, and Captain Norman and his wife had to remain on deck day and night until a haven of safety was found on the Wexford coast. Mrs. Norman is almost as skillful a navigator as her husband, and frequently has had sole charge of the ketch at sea while Capt. Norman was having a few hours' sleep.

A strange case was tried a short time ago at a special court in Bray, when Mr. Samuel Allister McLean, Oban, Scotland, was charged in cus-toody with "unlawfully stealing and carrying away" a valuable security belonging to the Northern Bank at Bray. In giving evidence the bank manager said: "The defendant came into the bank and asked me if he could see a paper he had signed. I produced the document that the accused had signed, retaining my hold on it. The accused seized it excepting that portion of it I held in my hand, and tore it away from me. He then made for the door of the bank. I followed him and pulled him back. He put the document in his mouth, chew it up, and I have never seen it since. I have the fragment which was left in my hand."

MILK TEST RESULTS

Twenty-eight samples of milk have recently been tested by the Medical Officer of Health, and they have proved that the milk is not, in general, up to the regular standard. Milk to pass the test should have a specific gravity of 10.29 and a 3.50 per cent. of butter fat. The samples taken, with the results, were as follows:

The Sword of Empire

By W. A. Wilson.

London, April 30.—Only by the menace of the sword can Britain control Germany. We have been guilty of writing about crushing the spirit of Prussian militarism. It is an easy phrase. But what does it mean? It is easy to pretend that it indicates the military party, the War Lords. The history of the war defeats the contention. Britain, and France and Russia are not fighting a military party or a governing party, or a military party. They are fighting a nation. It is a nation which, despite the barbarities of its leaders, the atrocities in France and Belgium, the inhumanity of its water pirates, commands the courage it has shown. We can, perhaps control it, hold it in check until it has forgotten its Hymn of Hate and of her forces arise to challenge British sovereignty.

If we cannot control, the British Empire and much that it involves must be lost to the world. The wonder is that he has endured so long. To maintain an empire is a mighty task. Other nations must ever strive to wrest away that sovereignty. They will strive until the millennium. It is not conceivable that war will cease. The history of the world is a history of war, of empires won and lost by the sword, of the striving for dominion, of bloody race for sovereignty. The sceptre of might has passed from many lands, from ancient races of dim history, to Greece and Rome, and Spain, and England, the British Empire and fought on through the years ever with her mind on freedom until her position was secured. Now she fights, against a German whose blood riots a gospel of heroism, of endurance, of power and of force, a Germany strong in a supreme conviction of fitness to rule the world to its best ends as no peoples, ancient or modern, have ever done.

THE PLACE IN THE SUN

Britain and those that share empire with her, believing in the worth of British institutions, face mighty issues. Let them not be deluded into the belief that this war will be born a new world spirit, abandoning the sword for international tribunals. There is no safeguard of peace but the sword. The idealists who believe in fair deals but impossible in factists are fair to maintain an empire. While human nature endures we must continue to fight. We hold the place in the sun. There will always be envy and jealousy of the Empire.

BUT A MAILED TRUCE

Germany looks with straining eyes to an Imperial future. She has challenged. She struggles. She will lose—this time. But when did Englishmen admit failure? Were they content with less than security? Our enemies are of the same kindred. "The ancient mighty deity of all the Teutonic kindred, throned above the clouds," looks down upon the present conflict. Germany will fall. But the spirit of Empire is surging within her. We cannot kill that spirit. An early peace, a peace that does not ensure control of Germany—will be a mailed truce—a breathing space in which the enemy will prepare again for the time to fight with Britain alone. Germans will not blunder twice into fighting half the world. To-day they have learned the lesson which Bismarck failed to teach. If we give them the breathing space, they fight again—soon.

SAFETY IN UNITY

There must be no drawn war. This is no time for the dream of the dreamers of peace. By the sword we won freedom. By the sword we must keep it. To-day by the aid of France and Russia, we hold the foe in check. There is only one sure path before us. There must be an Imperial confederation which will bind the Motherland and the great Dominions in one mighty alliance of governing states, sharing together the cost of defence, bearing together the burdens of sovereignty. Only an Imperial sword, forged in a common fire, wielded by responsible hands, can insure this empire.

CANINE DEVOTION AMIDST THE RUINS OF WAR.

FROM THE SPHERE
 STILL SEEKING TO DEFEND ITS FORMER HOME DURING THE ENEMY OF THE GERMANS.
 This picture, drawn especially for this newspaper, the New York Herald and the London Sphere, depicts an incident which occurred during the German occupation of Vailly, a small town lying on the Aisne. Vailly at the time of the entry of the Germans was very severely damaged, many of the houses being in ruins or on the point of collapse. On the remains of one such ruined house, the occupants of which had left the place before the entry of the enemy, was a dog howling most piteously at the absence of his owners and at the uncomprehended and unwounded little parlor, but even these were covered with powdered mortar and brick. The devoted animal continued to lay in a sad, heartrending fashion as the men in field gray tramped past him toward the Aisne.

THE PROBS

Toronto, May 1.—The distribution of pressure has changed completely from that of the early part of the week, and the barometer is now highest over northern Canada and relatively low over the United States. The weather is overcast and cool throughout the Dominion, and rain is falling between eastern Ontario and the Maritime Provinces.

FORECASTS

Moderate to fresh northerly winds, cloudy and cool to-day and on Sunday; a few local showers.

THANK YOU?

The Courier desires to thank the donor who anonymously left the parcel containing ten packets of Old Chum and cigarette papers, also Mr. M. E. Mitchell, Prince Edward Hotel, for the generous donation of a 500 box of Players' cigarettes.

"WAITING"

There rings through Canada to-day, Cheers for our boys so brave, Who left their mark upon the foe, And never feared the grave.

But mingled with those cheers, are tears, From those who know no sleep, Who wait the news that soon may bring, Both pride and sorrow deep.

Pride that their loved ones, heroes died, The foremost in the fight, For news of those that God alone, In His Good time can right.

In fancy we can see the fight, Upon that bloodstained field; The poisoned shells the Germans used, To make their foemen yield.

The fearful roar, the hail of death, That welcomed in that morn, Beneath the mighty German rush, Our flank was backward born.

The guns were theirs! The foe poured on! With victory as their cry, To where our brave Canadian lads, Stood fast to win or die.

As heroes all, they meet the rush, The Germans backward reel, And on that shell-torn battle ground, Fall fast beneath their steel.

Back! Back—the guns are ours again! A mighty cheer rings out, Those of the foe who miss the steel, Fly fast in headlong rout.

Fierce is the battle raging still, Upon that distant plain, But we can trust our lads to do, That which they did, again.

Among the best in Britain's ranks Their place they proudly hold, They saved the day, and paid the price, In blood, worth more than gold.

But, oh, the aching hearts that wait, For news of those they love, Our duty, 'tis to comfort them, With help of Him above. —H. Blanchard.

A Budget of News For Those Interested in Labor

By G. A. M.

Cleaned From the Exchanges and Other Sources

THE COMING CONVENTIONS

The Gatherings of the Labor Educational Association on May 24th and the Ontario Conference of Typographical Unions on the 25th will be important events in the history of the Provincial Labor Movement.

There should be a large attendance of delegates at both the convention of the Labor Educational Association of Ontario, which convenes in St. Catharines on Monday, May 24th, and that of the Ontario Conference of Typographical Unions which meets on the following day.

As regards the Labor Educational, arrangements have been made to see that the time at the disposal of the convention shall be utilized to the best advantage.

Reports of the Executive will be in the hands of the delegates before the opening of the meeting, and the Central Committee at work. There will be no long-drawn-out speeches allowed by non-delegates or public men, as was the case in St. Thomas last year, when valuable time was lost in that manner.

It will be a straight business session and at the commencement proceedings will be nearly as far advanced as that have been at the close of the morning session in other years.

The convention calls are now being mailed and other literature sent out, and in next week's issue the names and rates prevailing in the hotels in St. Catharines will be published.

In regard to the Ontario Conference of Typographical Unions, every local in the province should be represented in the interests of the craft.

The organization has been doing good work, and is entitled to the support of the membership throughout the province. The matters to be dealt with on May 25th are of vital interest to the welfare of the trade.

Ever since its organization the Ontario Conference has made it a rule to meet in the same city the following year as has been selected by the Labor Educational Association. This has been done in order to allow the typographical delegates to be represented at both conventions at but small additional expense.

It is, therefore, hoped that organized labor throughout the province will recognize the necessity of ensuring the success of both these important events, which have matters of vital importance to the welfare of the Ontario Labor movement to come before them.

Let there be a big attendance for the work necessary to be done!

NO NEED OF HARD TIMES

Canada's Field Crops Increased in 1914 Over $85,000,000.

It may be a surprise to many readers to learn that the field crop in Canada in 1914 was, in round figures according to the report of the Dominion of Canada Census and Statistics, $85,808,800 in excess of the previous year, figuring up the enormous total of $638,580,300.

Every province in the Dominion showed an increase, the following statistics for 1913 and 1914 speaking for themselves—

Province	1913	1914
P. E. Island	$ 9,535,500	$11,544,000
N. Scotia	17,132,900	21,969,700
N. Brunswick	17,965,100	20,045,100
Quebec	88,589,000	99,279,000
Ontario	167,835,000	196,224,000
Manitoba	64,557,000	65,528,400
Saskatchewan	129,378,000	157,751,500
Alberta	46,712,000	59,779,600
B. Columbia	11,669,000	11,463,000
Total	$552,771,500	$638,580,300

It is also to be remembered that 1914 was not considered a favorable year for yieldage, others 1915 bids fair to totally eclipse all previous records. Not only is an immensely increased acreage being brought under cultivation, but never before have climatic conditions been of such a favorable nature.

Seedling is the week eight and twelve days earlier than usual, thus insuring a good start for the crops at the best season of the year. Prices for both grain and roots will be high, because of the war and the lack of any field crops of any nature whatever in large districts of Europe. This should do much to ensure better times in Canada.

Reports from all the fruit districts which are not included in the statistics given above are of the most favorable nature also, whereas last year the peach and other fruit crops were almost a complete failure. These are promising indications, and with even less than average good weather and a little hard luck thrown in, the Canadian harvest of 1915 will assuredly be of colossal proportions, and that spells success for the entire Dominion.

Ontario Labor Bureau

Important Notice to Local Unions of the Building Crafts Throughout the Province.

Local trade unions of the building crafts throughout the Province of Ontario should feel deeply interested in the action taken by the Department of Public Works of the Ontario Government to see that in future the standard rate of wages shall be paid on all the work coming under the jurisdiction. Robert Edgar, secretary of the Ontario Labor Bureau, is now busy tabulating the minimum rate of wages paid in the various localities throughout the Province. He would be greatly pleased if the secretary of the various building crafts in centres outside of Toronto would communicate with him at their earliest convenience and inform him as to the standard rate of wages being paid in their districts. This information may prove valuable to them in the future. Secretaries will simply address Robert Edgar, Secretary Ontario Labor Bureau, Parliament Buildings, Toronto, Ont. We trust that this request will be complied with without any unnecessary delay. It is a case in which labor should be interested enough in its own welfare to loyally cooperate with the department.

Industrial Canada

FROM COAST TO COAST

Rural telephones in British Columbia show in some cases an increase of 60 per cent. over last year's business.

A new fish hatchery is being constructed at Curley Lake, B.C. The salmon catch this spring has been far in advance of last year.

For the year 1913 there were 291 deaths by accident in Toronto, while in 1914, the first year of the Ontario Safety League's work, there were but 241.

Opening of navigation at Saint Marie, Ont., was ten days earlier this year than in 1914. This ensured a few extra days' work to the crews of vessels leaving from the port.

A new factory to manufacture shoe lasts has started operations in Mississauga, Que. It is one of the most modern in the continent. The authorized capital of the company is a quarter of a million dollars. It will afford employment to a large number of hands.

The Province of New Brunswick has decided to undertake a scientific survey, extending over a period of three or four years, of its seven million acres of crown lands. The survey will lead to a reclassification of these lands. A considerable staff will be employed upon this work.

Arrangements are being made in Lindsay for the establishment of a factory to employ 300 hands, wherein chemicals will be manufactured for the use of the allied governments. The chief product of the plant will be picric acid, one of the essential ingredients of certain types of high explosive shells.

Reports from the great wheat and grain fields in the Canadian Northwest are to the effect that everything is off to a splendid start, and in addition large numbers of American farmers who have the price are coming in to take up land for development. This spells big business. It is the settler, not the speculator, that is needed to make things move in the new provinces.

In Winnipeg, twenty-two cars have been laid off on account of competition by the jitney busses. The general opinion however, is that if the Street Railways Company will give a more up-to-date service and charge reasonable fares there will not be a great deal to fear from those invaders. The cars are, after all, more comfortable and convenient than the jitneys, but the people are becoming tired of being held up.

News from Ottawa is to the effect that the manufacture of guns, mortars, ammunition, wagons, armored cars, torpedoes, submarines and aircraft is presumably intended by the Dominion Bridge Company, which concern has had its powers enlarged to embrace the production of these articles. The manufacture of shells, bombs, cartridges, and of ships and barges is also included in the extension of powers obtained at Ottawa.

The war appears to have been responsible for the starting of several new industries in the Maritime Provinces. In Nova Scotia the Dominion Iron and Steel Company has erected a new Benzol plant, which is now in operation, with the most satisfactory results in regard to products already turned out. The construction of the plant occupied a month, and was undertaken under the supervision of the Edison Company. It is claimed to be the largest of the kind in America.

Already fifty thousand farmers in Southern Alberta and Saskatchewan, whose crops last year were a failure because of the drought in that district, have been supplied by the Dominion Government, through the Department of the Interior, with seed grain. This will prove an immense boon, as most of the sufferers were not in a position to secure it otherwise. It is only once in years that such a situation has arisen. Prospects look good this year and all are getting an early start because of the unusually favorable weather.

The United States Machinery Company, located in the United States, has obtained a charter for the United Shoe Company of Canada, to carry on its business north of the international boundary line. It will be capitalized at one million dollars, and hereafter a large proportion of the work carried on in the States will be transferred to the Canadian plant in Montreal, which will also do its share in supplying European factories which are anxious to secure shoe machinery to keep up with the immense demand occasioned by the war.

Miss Mary Sabourin Tells How She Found Health. Suffered for Three Years and Could Find No Lasting Relief Till She Used Dodd's Kidney Pills. (Special)—Thurso, Que., April 30.—(Special)—Tired, run-down women can read a message of hope in the statement of Miss Mary Sabourin, an estimable lady living here. In a statement to the public Miss Sabourin says: "I was a sufferer for three years. I was always tired and nervous. My sleep was broken and unrefreshing. I was troubled with headaches and pains in my back. I had heart flutterings to add to my anxiety. "I was treated by a doctor and a specialist but nothing seemed to do me any lasting good till I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills and I took just three boxes of them."

Nine-tenths of women's troubles come from sick kidneys. Sick kidneys fill in the most important impurities out of the blood. That means that poison and disease is carried to all parts of the body. The remedy is to cure the kidneys with Dodd's Kidney Pills. If you haven't used them ask your neighbor about them. Nearly every family in Canada is using or has used Dodd's Kidney Pills.

WAR WILL BE FOUGHT OUT

All this talk about the workers of the world uniting to call a general strike in all the civilized countries of the world to end the present war is too silly a proposition to be seriously entertained for a moment, and any such reports that are being given prominence in the public press are altogether unreliable and untrustworthy.

It might just as well be understood once for all that workers of the belligerent nations engaged in present hostilities will not be inclined to take in serious vein any such proposition even were it possibly to fairly present it to them, and one thing is more than certain that even if such a strike should eventuate in America, it would have little effect upon the nations now at war. However, there is not the remotest possibility that any such movement would have the support of the organized labor movement in the United States or Canada.

WORSE THAN FOOLISH It would be worse than foolish for the workers of any of the belligerent nations to declare a general strike unless they were in a position to positively know that the wage-earners in every other warring nation were fully prepared to act at the same moment, an utter impossibility as things now stand.

The workers of the different countries, the large majority of whom are opposed to war, cannot be expected to throw down their arms as long as their country and their homes are threatened by foreign invaders, and if they did before they could be got in line for the purpose, they would be dealt with as traitors and severely punished by the all-powerful military authorities.

It can be taken for granted that, as far as the belligerent nations are concerned, they will see this conflict through to a finish. Whichever side feels certain of securing the upper hand will go the full limit in dictating terms of peace with the vanquished enemy, no matter what further sacrifices in lives and money may be necessary to accomplish that purpose.

Therefore, any talk of a general strike at this time to compel the belligerent nations to cease hostilities is pure foolishness, and the great international trades unions are too level-headed to even seriously consider any such innovation.

MASSIVE ENTHUSIASTIC It is all right for well-intentioned people to delude themselves with such impractical hobbies that never will be realized, for newspapers must be filled, you know. The fact is undeniable, and it is attested by the most important writers in every country in Europe, that the mass of the people were enthusiastic in rising for the defence of their country, no matter what their nationality might be, possibly with the exception of certain parts of the Austrian Empire which were more or less in favor of the Slav invader.

Even the most advanced advocates of peace applaud the heroic defence of Belgium by her working class population.

A UNIVERSAL WORLD PEACE We believe the present deluge in Europe will pave the way for a universal world peace when the already rising democracy will assuredly assert itself and insist in a manner that will stand for no evasion or denial that the voice of the people, the great working class, shall be heard and exercise the power that its numbers entitle it to. Then there will be no further need of war, for the common people will be all-powerful, and make their influence felt in no unmistakable manner.

But that time is not here or now, posterity is facing no sherry at the present moment, but a stern reality, and whether we like it or not, we have got to accept the inevitable, no matter how keenly we may deplore the fact.

The great strike against war now going on on the battlefields of Europe will be more potent to arouse the conscience of the nations than anything that has ever happened in history, a thousand times more so than any industrial strike that could be engineered by the workers at this time.

With labor organized and the ballot in the hands of the women of the nations, war in the future will be a clear impossibility.

Unfortunately, however, labor is not organized as effectively as it might be and except in a few isolated cases the women of the world are yet to be enfranchised and conceded the right to the ballot.

TIME WILL SURELY COME But these things will all come as assuredly as that night follows day, and when they do labor will be one of the greatest forces in the world that has been exerted to usher in the new and better era, not by following shallow enthusiasts, no matter how well-intentioned their aims may be, but in intelligently facing the future, doing the duty nearest to hand, not essaying to accomplish the impossible or being carried away, even by honest theorists, but in footing the pathway, ever facing forward, proclaiming the principles of international amity and brotherhood and universal organization and co-operation of the working class.

In urging the Ohio State Legislature to pass laws regulating "loan sharks," and providing jail punishments for these usurers, a grand jury in Cincinnati says "Many crimes are the direct result of their perpetrators having first become victims of these 'loan sharks.'"

Plans have now been completed and operations on the new $80,000 Labor Temple in Dallas, Texas, will be started immediately. Response for funds is being enthusiastically met and the Temple may yet be built on a more pretentious scale than originally intended.

The Detroit District Council of Carpenters has notified the various contractors of the city of a 55-cent wage demand to go into effect on June 1st. A demand will also be made for a Saturday half-holiday the whole year round to commence on the same date.

The United Garment Workers of New Orleans have determined to get back of the printers in the city who were locked out by the masters. Every member of the organization will be expected to subscribe for "The American" the new daily paper published by the types.

Arnt Ellifson was elected mayor of Muskegon, Mich., by the largest majority ever accorded a successful candidate for the office in the history of the city. He was the chosen candidate of the Trades and Labor Council of the city, and an active member of the Machinists Union.

The Irish citizen army is recruited from and officered and controlled by the Irish labor unions, and is the first instance in the history of the world wherein the workers have added to their industrial and political arms a third arm in the shape of their own drilled and armed battalions.

Philadelphia, May 1.—Jack Coombs, the former star twirler of the Philadelphia Americans, pitched his first game as a National Leaguer for Brooklyn yesterday, and Philadelphia was defeated, 2 to 1. Coombs was wild, but brilliant fielding by Schultz kept the score down. Score: R. H. E. Brooklyn 2 11 9 Philadelphia 1 8 2 Batteries—Coombs and McCarty; Rixey and Killifer.

At Pittsburgh—Chicago defeated Pittsburgh 4 to 1 yesterday through the excellent pitching of Zabel. The locals made only one hit until the ninth inning, when a triple and a single gave them their only run. Score: R. H. E. Chicago 4 9 0 Pittsburgh 1 3 0 Batteries—Zabel and Bresnahan; Cooper, Marnaux and Gibson and Schang.

At St. Louis—Huggins made a home run in the fourth inning of yesterday's game with Cincinnati, bringing the score for St. Louis to 5. Dolan made the final tally in the sixth, and St. Louis won, 6 to 2. In the first inning Huggins made a three-base hit, and then scored on a single by Dolan. Score: R. H. E. Cincinnati 3 10 1 St. Louis 6 12 1 Batteries—Benton, Brown and Wingo; Perdue and Snyder.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Chicago, May 1.—Gaber held Detroit to three scattered hits yesterday, while his teammates bunched their hits off Dubuc, and Chicago won a pitchers' battle, 4 to 1. In the sixth inning, Cobb who had reached third base, was trapped by a sensational play started by Eddie Collins, and was nipped a few feet off third base, following Crawford's single. This play was the feature of the game. Score: R. H. E. Detroit 1 3 0 Chicago 4 7 0 Batteries—Dubuc and McKee; Faber and Schalk.

At Washington—Washington made it three out of four games from Philadelphia yesterday by batting Wyckoff hard in three innings, winning 6 to 1. A double and single in the ninth gave the visitors their only run. Score: R. H. E. Philadelphia 1 6 2 Washington 6 8 0 Batteries—Wyckoff and McAvoy; Boehling and Henry.

KAUFF REFUSES FEDERAL SALARY

Passed Up His First Pay Cheque from Brooklyn Tip Tops.

New York, May 1.—Benny Kauff, the star outfielder of the Brooklyn Federal League Club, who attempted to desert to the New York Giants and play with them against the Braves at the Polo grounds Thursday afternoon, renounced his Federal affiliations today in a manner that leaves no doubt of his personal sincerity toward McGraw. Kauff refused to accept from business manager Carroll of the Tip Tops his first pay cheque for services with the Brooklyn Independents. Kauff insisted that he was a free agent when he signed a three years' contract with the New York Nationals, and declared most emphatically that he would stand behind McGraw and Hempstead in the fight for reinstatement by the National Baseball Commission.

LAURIER WATCHING PREMIER BORDEN TACKLING THE TERRIBLY KNOTTY PROBLEM LEFT BY THE LIBERALS WITH REGARD TO THE GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC RAILWAY.

In spite of the darkest frowns from the throne of the National League, both McGraw and President Harry N. Hemphstead of the Giants, expressed strong hopes of carrying their point to a successful issue with the supreme court of organized baseball. This, in spite of a staunch stand taken by President Tener against a consideration of Kauff's application for reinstatement at his time.

Tener has fortified his stand by the rules and regulations of the National Commission, which most specifically cover the case of Kauff. Mr. Hemphstead and Secretary John B. Foster of the Giants, called upon President Tener shortly after noon yesterday to find out the feeling of the executive towards the Kauff incident. At the time there were clustered with the boss of the parent major league James E. Gaffney, Charles H. Ebbets, William F. Baker and Barney Dreyfus. Tener stood to his guns but failed to shake the conviction of Hemphstead that the New York Club was justified in expecting a hasty and favorable verdict from the National Commission.

To a number of newspaper men who called upon him shortly after his colleagues had departed, Tener candidly stated his personal views of Kauff's standing. "I shall not permit Kauff to play with the Giants before he has been reinstated by the National Commission," said he. "I do not see how the National Commission can possibly act upon the player's application for reinstatement for two years to come. Certainly the National Commission cannot consider the application unless it first amends its rules and regulations. This fact pointed out quite clearly to Mr. Hemphstead."

"JOE" TINKER, LIKE WINE, IMPROVES WITH AGE

"Joe" Tinker, the hustling manager of the Chicago Federal League team, is back in harness as a result of an injury to his young shortstop, Smith. Like wine, "Joe" seems to improve with age, and he is far from being through as an active player.

Sporting Comment

For "the first time on any screen," so to speak, the Johnson-Willard fight "movies" were shown in Toronto yesterday at Shea's theatre. The exhibition was a private one, and was witnessed by newspapermen and other invited guests of Tom Flanagan. The films were sent in bond from Havana and developed at the studio of a Toronto moving picture concern. The "run" was witnessed by Promoter Jack Curley, who staged the Havana battle, "Bob" Vernon, the stakeholder at the fight.

The pictures are remarkably clear and steady and are quite the best "movies" of a boxing contest shown in Toronto in years. The knockout blows, a left to the stomach and a right to the jaw, are distinctly seen. Johnson is seen to be very tired after the twentieth round, and was strictly on the defensive from then to the end in the twenty-sixth.—Hamilton Herald

Ty Cobb doesn't believe in the theory of letting the other fellow get the jump on you and then coming up from behind. Tyros, therefore, has blown himself to a 500 start. Baseball slang henceforth will have no rating in the bright lexicon of the college baseball youth if the reformers have their way in regard to the league series between Harvard, Yale and Princeton this spring. Such quaint phrases as "at a boy," "working all a time," "we'll git him fer yuh" are doomed to eternal oblivion if these three universities adopt rules that only the purest of college English be used on the diamond this spring, with the pitcher and catcher being the only ones allowed to talk during play. Gentleman John Waterman, Harvard varsity backstop, is one of the foremost leaders in the back-to-Noah-Webster movement.

Guelph, May 1.—Manager Knotty Lee, of the Maple Leafs, has received word from Pitcher Kirby and Catcher Harkins to the effect that they are ready to report and are only waiting for their transportation. The diamond at the park is going to be shifted around a little bit so that those in the grandstand will be able to see better and at the same time the right fielders will not have to face the sun

Hair Stops Falling, Dandruff Disappears--25 Cent Danderine

Save Your Hair! Make it Soft, Fluffy, Lustrous and Beautiful.

Try, as you will, after an application of Danderine, you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most, will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy—growing all over the scalp. A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine, and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health. Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all.

The Hamilton Canadian League will commence practice at Hamilton on Wednesday.

Jim Thorpe has joined the Jersey City team, but he didn't damage the fences much in his first game. Pitcher Cook secured by Toronto from the Highlanders, is a right-hander who was with the Columbus team of the American Association last season. The White Sox brought the winning streak of the flying Detroit Tigers to a sudden halt, 4 to 1. Faber pitched brilliant ball allowing but three hits. Toronto was due to play at Richmond yesterday, the game having been set forward to to-day. Rain interfered and the Leafs will play to-day as originally scheduled. Rube Benton was knocked out of the box in the fourth inning and the Cardinals trimmed the Reds 6 to 2. Huggins was the fence buster, with a triple and a home run, and the Cards stole seven bases on Wingo.

BRITISH PEOPLE AWAITING NEWS OF BOMBARDMENT

German Fleet off Dunkirk Has Caused Some Excitement.

By Special Wire to the Courier.

London, April 30.—The east coast of England again has been subjected to an aerial attack, accompanied by the usual infliction of material damage, but without casualties of any sort. Like former raids, this one of last night is marked by differences of opinion as to the type of air machines used by the Germans, but most people agree that a Zeppelin carried the raiders, who arrived in the small hours of the morning and spent a brief time over Ipswich and Bury St. Edmunds.

Another item of news of striking interest was the presence, reported officially from Paris, of a German fleet off the coast of Belgium and the shelling of Dunkirk with the loss of 20 lives. Further news of this marine activity on the part of Germany is awaited anxiously in England.

It is a fact, however, that the air raid, the fighting along the Dardanelles and the report of German warships off Belgium, were compelled to forego the limelight in favor of the question of liquor regulation in Great Britain and the Government, for the first time since the beginning of the war, has had to meet a division in the House of Commons. The attitude of the House probably reflects the opinion of the country, which is sharply divided on the question of the necessity of regulating the consumption of alcoholic beverages. Even the Church of England, which made its first official pronouncement at the York convocation, resolved to view with uneasiness any action suggesting total prohibition.

BIG OPPOSITION

But the strongest opposition comes from Ireland. Some idea of the strength of this opposition to the proposals of the government is indicated by the London correspondent of The Manchester Guardian, a leading government organ, who declares that the measure proposed by Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd George will not pass the House.

Official quarters still remain reticent concerning the military operations on the Dardanelles, but the London papers this morning contain a number of special despatches from that region in which the claims are made that the allies are steadily advancing under cover of the fire of the fleet, but not without meeting an opposition which is causing them heavy losses.

OCCUPY PENINSULA

British troops are reported in occupation of the narrow tongue of the peninsula to the north of the town of Gallipoli. Athens predicts that this campaign will last a long time, as the Turks occupy exceptionally well prepared defensive positions.

The fighting in the western arena of hostilities still centres around Steenstraete. This position occupied by the Germans forms an irritating wedge in the allied line.

In the east there has been some revival of activity along the line in Russian Poland, where improvement in weather conditions has led the Germans to make a number of isolated attacks. These, however, according to Petrograd advices, have been repulsed. In the Carpathians and Bukowina preparations evidently are under way for a resumption of operations on a large scale, but as yet there has been no pronounced change in the relative positions of the contending forces in these localities.

Cainsville News

[From Our Own Correspondent]

Large congregations attended divine service last Sabbath. Rev. Mr. Plyley preached a very inspiring sermon on "The Parable of the Sower," after which Miss Myrtle Norrie sang "His Eye Is on the Sparrow," very acceptably. Rev. Mr. Bowers delivered a splendid discourse in the evening, his text being the verse found in Mark 1: 15.

League was held on Monday evening. As it was the date for the annual election of officers, the following officers were chosen for the coming year: Honorary President, Mr. Plyley; president, Miss A. P. Hawley; first vice-president, Miss Woltz; second vice-president, Miss Ferguson; third vice-president, Miss Smith; fourth vice-president, Mr. Brewer; fifth vice-president, Miss Gladys Woltz; treasurer, Mr. Lew Smith; secretary, Mr. Lloyd Norrie; corresponding secretary, Miss Alva Ferrin; pianist, Mrs. Wilson; assistant pianist, Miss Ferguson; district representative, Miss Norrie.

Mr. F. Cook spent Sunday in Detroit at the home of his brother, Mr. S. Cooke, who is seriously ill.

Mr. O. Eckel, Toronto, was a Sunday guest of Mr. Lillicoe.

Mrs. Chas. Wilson and her father, Mr. Wm. Dawley, were in Richwood on Friday attending the funeral of the latter's grandson, the late Lloyd Summerhayes, who was instantly killed last Tuesday.

Miss Adah Dalton spent the weekend with friends in Hamilton.

Mrs. Jerome Hamilton, was the Sunday the guest of her sister, Mrs. Charles Wilson.

Mr. Geo. Woltz, Cayuga, made a short visit at the home of his parents one day last week. The ladies of the village, and community congregated at the parsonage last Wednesday afternoon when a Ladies' Aid was organized. The following officers were elected; President, Mrs. Plyley; vice-president, Mrs. Herb Clark; secretary, Mrs. Fred Sumler; treasurer, Mrs. Hastings.

Brooklyn mothers severely attacked an auto truck driver who killed Harry Eisenberg, aged 7, by being run over.

Awarding Prizes

The Three Fans depositing the largest number of points will win the season tickets.

The next twenty-five Fans in order of points will each have a grandstand ticket to the opening game.

How to Get Points

Read the Daily Courier every day. Each head counts five points.

Call at the office of The Courier and pay 75c for The Courier three months in advance, or longer, to be left at your home. Then you can cut the heads each day, thus getting over double credit for the same paper.

Induce your friends to buy The Courier every day and give you the heads. Better still get them to subscribe for three months or more and turn over the certificates, each good for points to you.

Make it a rule to get a few heads every day.

Don't lose a minute—start now by clipping to-morrow's date.

Phone or write your friends at once to get busy.
