

THRESHED OUT THINGS AT THE POLICE BOARD

There Was a Hot Time at Yesterday's Meeting --- Magistrate Livingston and Judge Hardy Were Quite Indignant Relative to Charges Made.

Should any one be laboring under the delusion that the sessions of the Police Commission in any way resemble a pink tea, it is here stated that the sessions do not, that is the great majority of them. The session held yesterday afternoon at which the full quota of members—Judge Hardy, Mayor Hartman, Magistrate Livingston and Chief Sleinin were present did not in the least resemble one of those pink affairs. Mayor Hartman was a central figure, Magistrate Livingston was second for the honors. Judge Hardy enlivened proceedings by denouncing one or two things and dispensing wit and humor, and Chief Sleinin—well, he talked when it was necessary.

The display proper or oratory started when Mayor Hartman produced and read a letter which he had received from S. M. Dale and which appeared exclusively in this paper. Mr. Dale's Letter. Mr. Dale is a farmer residing at Alford Junction, who on Oct. 30, 1912, was received very unfair treatment at the hands of the Brantford police. Mr. Dale was driving on Market street, when he was arrested for driving a horse with a sore shoulder. He set out that he was taken to the police station and his property taken off his person. He told the officer he was never arrested, given bail until he had a trial, and he states that he was informed by the officer that he could not do so. Mr. Dale further set out that he was well acquainted and he could secure bail for any amount, but he stated

Western Outlook As Seen Here

A leading Brantford manufacturer tells the Courier that as a result of the splendid harvest in the West collections there are greatly improving. His firm are getting fifty per cent. of their old notes paid. In British Columbia conditions are still very bad, however. The outlook for the coming winter is that the Brantford factories will be run along very economical lines. The financial stringency is still very great, and there is not the slightest prospect of things improving before next spring.

RATHER HEAVY SESSION TO-DAY

Several Cases in the Police Court Heard This Morning.

Claiming that he was drunk and knew nothing of the offence with which he was charged, Chas. Thuley, a worker on the Lake Erie Railway, was let off with the costs of the case, when he was charged with stealing a bicycle, worth about $20. Constable Burns saw prisoner with the wheel last night which he recognized from a description issued to the officers. He then told the constable that the wheel was his, but said he knew nothing of the affair when questioned at the court. Thuley admitted being on the spree and expressed regret, saying that he wanted to get back to the railway camp, which was leaving for St. Catharines on Monday. In consideration of these facts, Magistrate Livingston dealt leniently with the prisoner. G. M. Grinton, a local householder was fined the nominal sum of one dollar and costs for not having one of his houses on St. Paul's avenue made sanitary as requested by the Board of Health. He promised to put them into condition in the immediate future, and this accounted "for the smallness of his fine. Four cases of drunks were dealt with, and in only one instance was a substantial fine imposed, this being the charge against Reg. Milligan, a prohibition man, who had obtained liquor from a friend. He was ordered to part with ten "bones," and he asked for time to collect them. This was granted. Three boys were charged with damage and trespass on the grounds of the Ontario School for the Blind. The damage charge was weak and they were dismissed on this count, but for trespassing, Magistrate Livingston thought he would give them time to consider their sins and he adjourned the case till Monday. He did likewise in the case of Fred Thompson, who had been drunk, and in making his plea, had stated he received a black eye from a constable. In order to make enquiries and with a view to getting the disfigurement out of Thompson's system, the case was left over till Monday. Lost a Parl. The Fire department exercise was on this morning lost a brass cut off, and the officials at the hall would like to have the party finding it to bring it into the hall.

JURY DISAGREED IN GAMBLE CASE

Ten Held Out For Acquittal and Two For Conviction.

Pathetic Scene by Wife of Prisoner in Court Room.

WHITBY, Ont., Nov. 8.—For five hours yesterday afternoon those interested in the case of Stead M. Gamble of Toronto, Financial Secretary of the Structural Iron Workers' Union, waited impatiently while the jury wrangled and argued in an attempt to reach an agreement. At 12.40 Mr. Justice Britton concluded his charge, and without waiting for dinner the jury filed into the jury room. As the afternoon wore on hope of a unanimous verdict being reached was abandoned. At 5.40 the jury again appeared. "What is your verdict?" asked the court. "We have not been able to agree, your Lordship," replied the foreman. "Is there no hope of an agreement?" the Judge asked. "None whatever." Judge Britton thereupon dismissed the jury. It is understood that two jurors held out for conviction and ten for acquittal. Bail Arranged Gamble's counsel, Mr. H. H. Dewart, K.C., Toronto, has arranged for bail until such time as the case shall again be called, which at the earliest will not be until next spring. In the meantime it does not seem likely that any new facts can be brought to bear upon either side. Gamble was charged with damaging a rope that was to have been used in connection with bridge construction work. A strike was in progress at the time. A Pathetic Scene Mr. M. E. G. K. C. who prosecuted as Crown Counsel in conjunction with Col. J. E. Farewell, K.C., County Crown Attorney, in addressing the jury was the unintentional cause of a sudden hysterical outburst on the part of Mrs. Gamble. "Can Gamble's story be believed?" asked Mr. Creswicke. "If he is guilty would he not deny the crime in order to save his skin, if I may use this phrase?" "Oh, don't let him talk like that!" exclaimed Mrs. Gamble, repeating over and over the same words, her voice rising until it became a scream. Friends tried to soothe her, Mr. Dewart and her pastor attempted to reason with her, but still the flood of tears and the hysterical wail kept on. "Don't let him talk like that!" Persuasion proved to be of no avail. Mrs. Gamble had to be removed from the court room, this being done as gently as possible. Even when outside she continued her cries and the court was disturbed more than once until she could be taken away a sufficient distance. Her little son, who was with her, cried too, in sympathy. THAW GOES BACK

Governor Felker Decides To-day Against the Lunatic.

CONCORD, N.H., Nov. 8.—Governor Felker to-day honored the requisition of the State of New York for the extradition of Harry K. Thaw. The case is now transferred automatically to the federal courts, where a writ of habeas corpus on behalf of Thaw is pending. Thaw's attorneys announced that they would immediately apply for an amendment to their petition for a writ of habeas corpus, application for which was made soon after Thaw was arrested in this state following his deportation from Canada. The original petition was based on the allegation that he had been indicted for conspiracy by the Dutchess county grand jury and it was suspended pending the governor's decision on the matter of extradition. Because the extradition has now been granted on the strength of the New York county indictment it will effect the petition accordingly. Thaw was not present when Governor Felker announced his decision to the attorneys representing the fugitive and the State of New York at the capital. He will remain here in the custody of United States Marshal Nute and Sheriff Drew pending the federal proceedings. Wants to Sue Young Lady Has An Action Against Sir Sydney Oliver. NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—A London cable to The Tribune says: A peculiar libel action by Miss Gertrude Hay against Sir Sydney Oliver, formerly Governor of Jamaica, although marked "settled" last spring now seems likely to be reopened as Miss Hay went into Mr. Justice Atty's court yesterday, and making her own speech, said she had been coerced into allowing the case to be settled by her own counsel, Holman Gregory, a very prominent K.C. "He told me I must accept the apology which was to be made or I would lose the case. I caught his coat sleeve, but he frowned and would not listen. The spoken statement was most unsatisfactory and the apology was left out." Miss Hay now wants the case tried in open court. If it comes up, it promises to be very sensational. GUILTY OF MURDER. ATOKA, Okla., Nov. 8.—W. A. Borah, a wealthy merchant was found guilty last night of murdering his wife and their daughter, and sentenced to life imprisonment. The bodies of the victims were found in the ruins of the Borah home after a fire on the night of August 23 last. Borah escaped from the burning house in his night clothes. KING'S DECORATION. NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—A cable to The Herald from London says: King George has conferred the decoration of the Royal Red Cross on Princess Andrew of Greece, in recognition of her services in nursing wounded Greek soldiers during the recent war in the Balkans.

CAR STRIKE SETTLED --TERMS AGREED UPON

Through the Agency of the Governor, Men and Company Get Together—It Was a Fierce Week in the City of Indianapolis—The Settlement.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 8.—For the first time in seven days the people of Indianapolis heard the hum of motors and clang of the bells of street cars this morning as the services, interrupted by the strike of the employees of the Indianapolis Traction and Terminal Company was resumed. Before daylight the first cars left the barns as usual before the walkout of the men and by the time the majority of workers started down town nearly normal schedule was being maintained. President Robert L. Todd of the street railway company announced last night that on some lines it probably would be several days before the former service could be restored, but upon the lines where the heaviest traffic is handled the service would be the same as before the strike. In charge of the cars were the motormen and conductors who a week ago last night quit their places when the company refused to receive a committee appointed to present the grievances of the men. Since then the release of a prisoner from the federal penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, to attend the funeral here of his brother, killed during the rioting; Acting Secretary of War, Breckenridge, ordered the release of Harry C. Carlton, a military prisoner so that the man could attend funeral of Thomas Carlton, a chauffeur shot and killed in the disturbances at the Louisiana street car barns, on last Monday. Carlton had but two months more of a two year's sentence to serve. The Interurban Traction Companies and the officers of the Terre Haute, Indianapolis and Eastern Traction company and the India Union Traction Company. The motormen and conductors employed by these traction companies were on a strike two months ago, but failed to win the fight. Labor leaders attempted to inject the demands of these men into the settlement of terms made with the local strikers, but Governor Ralston would not allow it. The Governor told the labor leaders that he would use his personal influence to aid in settling the differences between the men and the companies. Cleveland S. Moffit, representing the department of labor, who was ordered here from Washington yesterday is expected to arrive to-day and will offer his services in an effort to bring about an agreement between the traction companies and the interurban employees. Ethelbert Stewart who was sent here to represent the department of labor in the local strike will depart for Washington to-day. An unusual result of the strike is the release of a prisoner from the federal penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, to attend the funeral here of his brother, killed during the rioting; Acting Secretary of War, Breckenridge, ordered the release of Harry C. Carlton, a military prisoner so that the man could attend funeral of Thomas Carlton, a chauffeur shot and killed in the disturbances at the Louisiana street car barns, on last Monday. Carlton had but two months more of a two year's sentence to serve.

Floor Sagged

Queph Men Might Have Gone Down in the Building.

GUELPH, Nov. 8.—With the new trades and labor hall on McDonald street packed to the doors last night on the occasion of the annual concert of the iron moulders' union, and with President William Parker about to open the program, the floor of the hall sank about six inches with a noise which could be heard all over the hall. There was great confusion, and some one yelled "fire!" whereupon a rush was made for the door. Alf King and R. S. Cull had presence of mind enough to block the way and called out for every one to stop, which they did. The crowd was then allowed to file out one by one and not a single person was injured. The hall was opened a week before and was considered perfectly safe. If the floor had gone through the drop would have been about 14 feet, and doubtless there would have been loss of life. JUST LIKE HARRY. NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—A cable to The Tribune from London says: Harry Lauder has entered into an agreement with the Glasgow pavilion management to make his first appearance there after his world tour. His contract calls for the payment to him of the unprecedented salary of $5,625 for one week's performance. BORDEN CLUB SOCIAL. Ward 5 will hold a social on Saturday evening, Nov. 8th. Good program at 8. A hearty welcome is extended to all.

EGGS SOAR HIGH IN NEW YORK

Seventy-five Cents Dozen Asked For the Best Quality.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Eggs are so scarce in New York that dealers have put the retail price up to 75 cents a dozen for the best quality and prospects are that they will go from three to five cents a dozen higher. The present wholesale price is 62 cents a dozen, though certain brands of western eggs may be obtained for 43c a dozen. The failure of hens to do their duty this year and a shortage in the cold storage supply are given by dealers as reasons for the scarcity. With the tariff off on imported eggs, many wholesale dealers are planning to bring eggs from abroad to relieve the situation. The hens of Norway, Denmark, Siberia and Russia have been attending to business this year and there are surplus crops in these countries which can be bought cheap enough, dealers say to be sold here at a profit.

Mrs. Beemer Will Get Another Start In Life

WOODSTOCK, Nov. 8.—It took the jury at the Oxford Assizes yesterday by seventy minutes to decide that Mrs. Grace Beemer was innocent of the charge of poisoning her husband, Frederick Beemer, a farmer of Drumbo. Continued cheers from the crowd in the court room greeted the verdict of "Not guilty" returned at 1.30 yesterday afternoon. The judge's charge, although impartial, was somewhat in the woman's favor. Mrs. Beemer was let out of the dock by the deputy sheriff, and she walked alone to the sheriff's office, where she immediately picked up her five-week-old baby. A large crowd of women, some friends and some total strangers, gathered around her, and in the corridor there was quite a demonstration while they extended congratulations. UNIONISTS LOST BY-ELECTION

But the Majority for Liberals Was Greatly Reduced.

LINLITHGOW, Scotland, Nov. 8.—Mr. Pratt, the Liberal candidate for Linlithgowshire, was successful over his Unionist opponent, James Kidd, by a greatly reduced majority at the bye-election held here yesterday. The figures: Mr. Pratt, (Liberals) 5,670, James Kidd (Unionist) 5,149. Majority, 521. At the last election, Alexander Ure the Liberal candidate, polled 5,835 votes against the 3,765 received by James Kidd, Unionist. Mr. Ure vacated the seat a few weeks ago on his appointment as lord president of the Scottish court of sessions, and it was difficult for the Liberals to find a candidate to replace him, but Mr. Pratt, who was a former bailie of Glasgow and practically unknown in the constituency, was selected to meet the Unionist, James Kidd, who had been before the electors for years. The contest was vigorously fought, no fewer than 2,709 out of the 11,866 registered voters casting their ballots. The result makes no difference to the strength of parties in the House of Commons. Mr. Baines who is relieving Mr. Mabon, Manager of the local branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia, is a guest at the Bodega Tavern to-day.

Sir Rodmond Makes Reply

MINNEDOSA, Man., Nov. 8.—At a public meeting here last night, Sir Rodmond P. Roblin, Premier of Manitoba, speaking on education, condemned men trading Manitoba. Referring to Postmaster-General Samuel, he said: "When you see a meddlesome, impudent slanderer like Samuel, who by accident holds a portfolio in a British Government, making false statements at the dictation of a small Grit coterie, who stuffed this jelly-bag of an Englishman to such an extent that he was willing to make a statement in the city of Montreal which he knew to be false, you will know how to treat him. I can assure Mr. Samuel that if he ever visits Manitoba again he will be hauled before the bar of public opinion and made to swallow his falsehoods."

TURNED IT DOWN

Finance Committee Won't Pay Extra Bill From The Assessors.

At the meeting of the Finance committee last night a bill of $120 from the City Assessors and City Clerk was rejected. The bill called for the payment for services in connection with the selection of jurors. The work was done during regular office hours, and there is no statutory provision for extra fees for the same unless the council names such, and this it is not thought likely the council will do.

Asquith Plainly Worried Over Ulster's Attitude

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The Times gives prominence this morning to a despatch from its Dublin correspondent which says that the Government is seriously alarmed at recent developments in Ulster. The Dublin Castle authorities, the despatch says, have been very lately informed concerning the Ulster agitation against Home Rulers Mr. Birrell, unlike former Chief Secretaries of Ireland, does not keep in touch with the Administration's representatives throughout the country, and consequently the authorities are only now awakening to the gravity of the situation. The meeting of commercial men in Belfast on Tuesday last, when an enormous sum of money was pledged to the cause, profoundly affected the Government, and it is now realized that Ulster can and will fight if Home Rule is forced upon her. He adds that well-informed persons in Dublin take the gloomiest view of the situation, and do not believe that any compromise acceptable to Ulster can be devised, believing that a general election is the only way out of the difficulty. WARD FOUR CONSERVATIVE ASSOCIATION. A special meeting of the Division Chairman and workers of Ward 4, will be held at the rooms, Dalhousie street, Tuesday, November 11th, at 8 pm. All Conservatives of the Ward are cordially invited to attend. W. H. LANE, Chairman.

KAISER'S SON-IN-LAW WHO RENOUNCED THRONE

PRINCE AND PRINCESS ERNST-AUGUST OF CUMBERLAND.

The government of the Duchy of Brunswick, which has been without a reigning Duke since 1884, was assumed by Prince Ernst August of Cumberland, who May 24 married Princess Victoria Luise, daughter of the German Emperor. Differences between the Hohenzollern and Guelph families have thus been settled, for the new Duke in a declaration issued recently promised unswerving loyalty to the German Empire and Emperor and to the federated rulers of Germany. He thus impliedly, though not actually, renounced his pretensions to the throne of Hanover, annexed to Prussia in 1866.

ADDITION TO CHILDREN'S SHELTER SHOULD APPEAL TO THE GENEROUS

A commendable work which should appeal to every woman in Brantford has just been launched by the members of the House Committee of the Children's Shelter. They propose to erect two additional rooms to the present shelter; one a play house and one a nursery. The need of the addition has been urgently felt for some time and in order to make the little ones happier and better in every way it is felt that there will be a liberal response by the ladies of Brantford. The sum of $1,400 is needed to carry out the plans properly. Each new room will be 16 x 16 feet and will make the Shelter completely adapted for its purpose. In order to secure a start a Christmas Talent Tea is to be held December 16 at the Shelter. Ladies when doing their Christmas baking should have a thought towards this event. Supplies will be gratefully received in order that there will be an abundance of goodies on hand. Two donations have already been received. Mr. J. M. Young $5 and Miss Lydia Scamnel $5. Contributions should be made to no worthier cause.

Happiness is a butterfly, when pursued, is always just beyond our grasp but if you will sit down quietly, may alight upon you.

MARKET REPORTS

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 7.—The steady American wheat cables and the strength in Winnipeg caused renewed covering by shorts at the opening and values were 1/4 higher. Following the opening there was a further advance of 1/4 to 1/2 with speculative support on the firmer Manitoba offers, strength in spot and our American offers. Russian offers are still firm, with actual shipments disappearing and the market is expected to be very bullish with Indian wheat held above export parity. World's shipments other than America are expected to be moderate. At 1.30 the market was firm and 1/4 to 1/2 higher with May leading the advance. Corn opened 1/4 higher and further advanced 1/4 to 1/2. The firmer American cables and a better spot demand, effected liberal Argentine shipments. Large live offerings for shipment are being received at the ports in Argentina and it is a bad condition being very low grade and the result of an urgent demand. At 1.30 the market was firm and 1/4 to 1/2 higher than yesterday.

HE GOT AN ANSWER BY WINE. A tall, gaunt-looking man entered an hotel and applied for a room. The price he was willing to pay enticed him to lodgings on the top floor of the house. Among his belongings the proprietor noticed a coil of rope. Upon being asked what the rope was for, the man replied: "That's a fire-escape. I always carry it with me, and in case of fire I let myself down from the window."

"Yes," replied the landlord, stroking his chin reflectively, "seems a pretty good idea; but guests with fire-escapes pay in advance at this hotel."

Rich Men Insure

Insured for $412,403 The largest life insurance claim paid in 1912 on this continent was $412,403, on the life of Charles Silverman of New Uta, Minn., and the second was $350,000 on the life of T. P. Reid of Montclair, N.J.

The above extract is from a recent issue of a Toronto paper. All those men knew the value of life insurance, and availed themselves of its benefits—and what is true of them is true of almost every successful business man.

Since you must realize the necessity of making provision for your old age, if you live, or for your family in the event of your early death, can you do better than follow the example of such shrewd, prosperous men?

THE BORDEN CLUB
 Tonight the bell will ring for the start of the membership race in connection with adding one thousand, or more, to the membership of the Borden Club.

There will be nothing like it in the Marathon line since the Greek soldier, in 490 B. C. ran to the place so named to tell the news of the defeat of the Persian army. He dropped dead just as he had done so, but the Borden Club will be still more alive as the result of this contest.

The many advantages offered by the club include—

1. Roomy quarters.
2. Social intercourse.
3. Billiards, pool, carpetball and other diversions.
4. Musical evenings during the winter.
5. The privilege of upholding the Conservative principles which have meant, and are still meaning, so much for Canada.

One dollar admits to all.

The contesting sides are known as the white and the red tickets, and they are under the captaincy of the President and the Vice-President.

There will be individual prizes given by Mr. Cocksbutt, M.P., and Mr. Brewster, M.P.P., for the highest scores, and a supper tendered at the close of the hustle, by the association to all the workers.

If you want to join, hand in your name at the meeting this evening.

Go to it.

HYDRO ELECTRIC BOARD
 The election of a Hydro Electric Board of Commissioners in connection with this city will very soon have to be faced.

One method talked of is to elect two men and to have the Mayor for the time being, the other member.

If such a plan is followed here, this paper would like to see the board on a non-political basis. Hydro Electric is for Conservatives and Liberals alike and right from the first it has been the course of Hon. Adam Beck to most emphatically keep the project out of the contentious party arena.

That was the proper course in the minds of most reasonable men although in this city there was an effort to knock the project for purely party reasons.

However let that pass.

It is not of course for the Courier to attempt to dictate, but if a Liberal should be on the Board, the name of Mr. George Wedlake has been most favorably mentioned. He would certainly make a splendid man for such position if he could be induced to accept for he possesses the confidence of everyone.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.
 "Lest we forget" this is to remind readers that the Borden Club has started a campaign to add one thousand more members.

That man Diaz didn't know enough to stay away and now he has been the victim of a stabbing affair, and on top of that has been clapped into prison.

The latest word from Ottawa is to the effect that all that Premier Borden is suffering from is a carbuncle. That will be bad news for the ghoul's Globe.

It is rumored that the people of Hamilton who are on strike over the price of lactical fluid there, are making arrangements to tap the milky way.

APPOINTMENTS MADE.
TORONTO, Nov. 6.—The following appointments have been gazetted by the Ontario Government His Honor, L. B. C. Livingstone, of Welland, to be judge of the surrogate court of the County of Welland. His Honor, J. N. Vance, senior judge of the county of Simcoe, to be surrogate judge for the same county in the place of Judge Ardagh, resigned.

V. V.'s Eyes

A man wrote a novel named "Queed," a volume most charming, indeed; it was witty and sweet, and a hard one to beat, a book that all people might read. And the people, they say gladly upris, and purchased that volume of his, till the publishers smiled o'er the money they piled, and the booksellers murmured "Gee whizz!" Then the author, he said, through his hat: "I will write something better than that! A book that's profound, with a moral so sound it will jar up the vile plutocrat!" So he wrote, about Vivian's Eyes, a book that's supposed to be wise; but it fills me with woe, for it's dreary and slow, and flat as our boarding house pie. I grumble and groan as I read, surprised that the author of "Queed,"—a book that's a peach—should rear up and preach, when humor's the stuff that we need. And here is a man who can make you laugh till your innards will ache; he sidetracks his gift in order to drift around in the muck with his rake. He should be arrested and fined for using his wonderful mind to turn out a book, or a sermon, gadzook, that any old has-been could grind. Get back to your base, gifted man! Pursue your original plan! Help people to smile and get rid of their bile, and cheer up the world while you can!

—Owen Mason

LITERATURE.

The history of nations, in the sense of which I use the word, is often best studied in works not professedly historical. Wherever literature consoles sorrow or assuages pain, wherever it brings gladness to eyes which fall with wakefulness and tears and ache for the dark house and the long sleep, there is exhibited in its noblest form the immortal influence of Athens.—Macaulay.

GOLDEN WEATHER.

Of the whole year, I think, I love The best that time we use to call
 The little summer of all saints,
 About the middle of the fall,
 Because there fell the golden days
 Of that gold year beside the sea
 When first I had you at heart's will
 And you had your whole will of me
 It is the being's afternoon,
 The second summer of the soul,
 When spirits find a way to reach
 Beyond the sense and its control.
 Then come the formant days,
 The underseason of the year,
 When God himself, being well content,
 Takes time to whisper in our ear.
 Sweetheart, once more by every sign
 Of blade and shadow it must be
 The little summer of all saints
 In the red autumn by the sea.
 —Bliss Carman.

ELECTION OF JUDGES.

It has been my official duty to look into the judiciary of each state in my search for candidates to be appointed to federal judgeships, and I affirm without hesitation that in states where many of the elected judges in the past have had high rank the introduction of nomination by direct primary has distinctly injured the character of the bench for learning, courage and ability. The nomination and election of a judge are now to be the result of his own activity and of fortuitous circumstances. Newspaper prominence plays a most important part, though founded on circumstances quite irrelevant, in considering judicial qualities. The result of the present tendency is seen in the disgraceful exhibitions of men campaigning for the place of state supreme judge and asking votes on the ground that their decisions will have a particular class favor.—Ex-President Taft.

THE FLAG.

It may be naught but a bit of cloth
 And a splash of color upon a staff—
 A thing for the idle cynic's sneer
 And the cosmopolitan's laugh.
 But once in a foreign land, where all
 Was wonderful, strange and new and fair,
 I looked and saw, with a quick surprise,
 The old flag floating there.
 And into my heart there came a thrill,
 And a mist of tears came over my eye,
 And I understood as never before
 Why men are willing to die.
 —J. R. Taylor.

Reminiscences of Brant
 By An "Old Timer"

Military history in Brant County begins with the famous Chief, Capt. Jos. Brant, whose name we proudly bear, and whose prowess in the service of the British flag dates back as far as 1755. This, however, was before Brantford itself was thought of.

To the early settlers of Burford Township belongs the distinction of organizing the first military company in the county. This was at the time of the war of 1812, when Canada's position as a dependency upon Great Britain exposed the Dominion to an invasion by Americans.

The British armies were for the most part engaged in a great European war, and Canada had to be largely defended by Canadians and a force of volunteers was raised in Burford to aid General Brock's advance on Detroit, but that city had surrendered before the Burford men could reach Brock's headquarters.

Other skirmishes took place during the many irregular operations which characterized this war, and on a farm a couple of miles west of Burford village, bullets and soldier buttons in later years were dug up.

In 1828 there was a regular volunteer company fully organized under the command of General G. W. Whitehead.

During the revolt of 1837, headed by William Lyon Mackenzie, Brant County residents again played a part. The leader of the revolutionists in this regard was a Dr. Duncombe of Burford, a well known medical practitioner, who became imbued with the principles of Mr. Mackenzie's cause, and mustered a little company who were willing to march to his aid. The movement was promptly put down however by the arrival in the country of Sir Allan McNab, who, with a regiment was quartered at Mt. Vernon, and the report of whose approach led to abandonment by Dr. Duncombe's forces.

In 1853 a military event of some note took place in Brantford, when its citizens turned out to celebrate the Crimean victory.

September 28th of that year was proclaimed a public holiday in the town, and flags were hoisted and bands played merrily.

Headed by a band, the citizens adjourned to the Court House where the Mayor presided, and the leading address was given by Mr. Merritt, member of the County of Lincoln.

Brantford's Highlanders
 On November 26th, 1861, a meeting was held for the purpose of raising and organizing a volunteer militia company. There were a large number of townspeople present at the meeting, which was a most enthusiastic one, and organization was at once proceeded with the election of officers resulting as follows:
 Captain—William Grant.
 Lieutenant—J. J. Inglis.
 Ensign—M. X. Carr.

At a subsequent meeting, held on December 3, the by-laws of the company were approved of, and afterwards sanctioned by the Department of Militia. At this meeting the non-commissioned officers were appointed, the captain appointing the first sergeant and the company the others as follows:
 First Sergeant—John McHaffie.
 Second Sergeant—Wm. O'Brien.
 First Corporal—Robert Russell.
 Second Corporal—Peter McIntyre.

At organization the name of "The Highland Rifle Company" was taken, and the men set about fitting themselves out in a proper manner, although through some misunderstanding, the military authorities did not recognize the company for some ten months after. For this purpose they raised no less than $1,800 among themselves. The company drilled first in the building which was formerly a part of Buck's Stove Foundry, afterwards removing to a hall over a building on Colborne street. Sergeant Peet was the first drill instructor, and on the first roll there were eighty-one names. Early in the spring of the following year the Highland Rifles were called out to repel an expected Fenian invasion. The alarm, however, proved to be an illusory one, yet the company was kept on duty several weeks, and was called out upon a similar duty later on in the same spring and again remained under arms several weeks before the scare subsided.

The raid on St. Albans in 1864 by a company of Southerners, and their escape into Canada with $250,000 booty, was a proceeding which called for immediate action by the Canadian Government, and the Highland Rifles and other companies were distributed along the frontier to prevent any further breaches of the neutrality laws. The Brantford company was stationed at Sarnia, and were joined by the York Rifles of Haldimand, Captain Wm. Grant having command of the detachment. The companies remained on duty for four months. There was great rejoicing upon their return here, and a public banquet was held in honor of the event.

The Fenian Raid
 The Rifles enjoyed peace and quietness for nearly a year, but early in the spring of 1866 a threatened Fenian invasion aroused the country, and the company was again called out, remaining on duty until the last of May, when orders were received to disband. This, it appears, was a mistake, for on the same night the company was again called out, together with Captain Dickie's company, for immediate service. The company were ordered to remain at Brantford and were drawn up in the drill room at the Kerby House fully equipped. On the following morning the Fenians made their long-threatened raid and the whole country was in the most intense throes of excitement.

On June 2nd, Capt. Grant was applied to by Sheriff Smith for a guard for the jail, as a number of Fenian prisoners were to be sent here for safe-keeping. Fifty-nine of the invaders arrived, and were kept here for two weeks, during which time the Rifle company furnished the guard. The prisoners were then sent under a strong guard of the same company to Toronto. On Monday, June 18th, 1866, No. 1 Company Brantford Rifles were ordered to march to Niagara, but when they reached Fort Erie the order was countermanded, and all the troops, much crestfallen, returned home.

Captain Grant is still alive, a resident of Vancouver.

Brantford Visited by Regulars
 After all the immediate trouble with the Fenians was at an end, it became known that a regiment of regulars would be stationed at Brantford, and movements were at once put on foot for a reception of the troops, and to provide them with quarters. The town council rented the Kerby House and buildings belonging to it, which were repaired and quickly put in order. The large brick stable at the back of the house was transformed into a comfortable barracks, capable of holding about two hundred men.

On September 30th, 1866, the volunteers who had been encamped at Thorold returned home and on the same day about sixty men of the 7th Royal Fusiliers arrived. The main body of the same regiment came here on the 7th of October, and the remaining portion next day. They were accompanied by their band of thirty-eight pieces.

The Seventh Fusiliers left Brantford on March 24th, 1867, after a pleasant sojourn of several months, and on the same day, the left wing of the Seventeenth Regiment, consisting of five companies, in all about 300 men, took up their quarters in the city. They remained until September when they were replaced by the 70th Regiment, which was fresh from Ireland. This regiment favored the people with their presence for some time and since their departure, no other regulars have been quartered in the city.

Of those who left the regulars, took up their residence here and are still in the city the list includes: Sergt. J. Tattersall, Corp. G. Lambden, E. James and R. Quillie, bandsmen, and R. Windle, Bugler.

The Dufferin Rifles.
 Although Brantford until the troublous times of 1866, had been only equipped with three military companies it was decided to form a battalion, and by general orders issued September 28th, 1866, the formation of the 38th Brant Battalion of Infantry took place. The regiment was authorized with headquarters at Brantford, and was composed of the following independent companies:
 No. 1 Rifle Company, gazetted June 26th, 1866, with headquarters at Paris; Andrew H. Baird, captain.
 No. 2 Rifle Company, gazetted December 13th, 1861, formerly No. 1 Rifle Company, with headquarters at Brantford; David Curtis, captain.
 No. 3 Rifle Company, gazetted July 3rd, 1862, formerly No. 2 Rifle Company of Highlanders, with headquarters at Brantford; John J. Inglis, captain.
 No. 4 Infantry Company, gazetted January 30th, 1863, with headquarters at Mt. Pleasant; Crossly Heaton, Captain.
 No. 5 Infantry Company, gazetted June 1st, 1866, with headquarters at Brantford; Henry Lummon, captain.
 No. 6 Infantry Company, gazetted August 12th, 1866, with headquarters at Brantford; Edmund Yeigh, captain.
 No. 7 Company, gazetted June 30, 1863, with headquarters at Drumbo, John Laidlaw, captain.

The field officers and staff appointed were:
 Lieutenant-Colonel: Captain Wm. Pattou from No. 1 company, appointed October 12th, 1866.
 Major: Captain Hiram Dickie from No. 2 Company, appointed November 30th, 1866.
 Assistant Adjutant at Drill Instruction: Ensign David Spence from No. 3 Company, appointed April 10th, 1867.
 Paymaster: Capt. Wm. Grant from No. 3 Company, appointed November 30th, 1866.
 Quartermaster: Sergt. B. Felmingham, appointed November 30th, 1866.
 Surgeon: Edwin Theodore Bown M.D., appointed January 25th, 1867.
 Assistant Surgeon: Duncan Marquis, M.D., appointed December 13th, 1867.

The battalion as then formed with the addition of a company from Dundas, now a company of the 77th Battalion, formed part of the volunteer brigade at the camp of instruction at Thorold, under command of Col. Wolseley, in September of 1866.

The Mt. Pleasant company having been removed from the list of the Volunteers' Militia, the remaining companies of the regiment were on the 5th of January, 1871, renumbered as follows: No. 1 Company, Paris; No. 2 Company, Brantford; No. 3 Company, Brantford; No. 4 Company, Brantford; No. 5 Company, Burford; No. 6 Company, Drumbo.

On the 24th of March, 1871, by general order, the regiment was changed from infantry to rifles.

By general order of July 3rd, 1874, and by special permission of His Lordship, the Earl of Dufferin, then Governor-General of Canada, the regiment was permitted to assume the additional design of the "Dufferin Rifles," which name it has since borne so proudly and so worthily.

The following have been commanding officers since formation:
 Lieut.-Col. Wm. Pattou, from October 12th, 1866 to Sept. 3rd, 1875.
 Lieut.-Col. Hiram Dickie, from Feb. 11th, 1876 to January 28th, 1888.
 Lieut.-Col. Charles S. Jones, from June 3rd, 1881 to May 11th, 1887, and again from January 13th, 1888 to September 29th, 1894.
 Lieut.-Col. J. Ballachey, from the 17th of May, 1887 to January 13th, 1888.
 Lieut.-Col. D. Spence from Sept. 29th 1894 to April, 1896.

The officers in command since the latter date have been Lt.-Col. Walter Wilkes, Major Leonard, the late Lt.-Col. Cameron, Lt.-Col. Ashton and Lt.-Col. Howard at present, in command.

In the earlier days of the regiment when the drill hall (a frame structure), used to be located on the present site of Alexandra Park, it used to be a somewhat difficult matter to secure officers. The consequence was that some of them before they got used to military matters made some amusing mistakes. At one inspection a new officer in handling his company, had them headed for the side of the building and couldn't think of the words, "right about turn," so he promptly yelled "back up." At another inspection a captain left his front rank standing and ordered the second rank to kneel and fire a volley. Of course mistakes like that never occur these days.

Mr. Creswick pointed out that the case depended largely upon which of the witnesses was to be believed. "It is for you," he said to the jury, "to decide whether you will believe the evidence of three disinterested witnesses or that of the man who has his freedom at stake."

Mr. Justice Britton emphasized the same point, but also called attention to Mr. Dewar's main argument that it was nine days after Gamble was at Dixie camp before the alleged crime was discovered, an interval of sufficient length to allow of the possibility of many other people coming and going handling the rope and injuring it.

Military Notes
 Musketry classes have been arranged for the officers, non-coms and men of the 25th Brant Dragoons. The class will be limited, there being only 45 vacancies to be filled. These were commenced on Feb. 3rd and will continue, two nights a week, for a period of 20 weeks, and two Saturday afternoons on the ranges.

Much sympathy is expressed in local military circles with Major-Gen. Lessard in the death of his eldest daughter, which occurred in Montreal on Friday morning. The funeral will take place in Quebec City.

Major Muir was in Toronto yesterday on Dragoon business. It has been decided that no allowance will be made this year, as was formerly done, for the washing of the men's clothes and other equipment. This step was taken as a result of the fact that most material is new.

Major M. F. Muir and officers of the 25th Brant Dragoons have received an invitation from Lieut.-Colonel Wm. Lawrence of the 28th Regiment, Stratford, to present at their ball, which will be held in the Stratford Armories on Thursday, November 27.

Sergt. Instr. Victor Spaulding, R. C. D., has arrived in the city from Toronto to assist in the signalling classes now being held at the 38th Armories.

City Hall Plans.
 On Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock the heads of the civic departments will meet in Taylor and Bodley's office, the architects drawing plans for the new city hall, and furnish the firm data.

MANUEL CALERO LEAVES MEXICO.

Manuel Calero, the nominee of the liberal party in the recent Presidential elections in Mexico, was a passenger on board the steamship Corcovado to Havana.

Tutela Branch Women's Inst.

The regular meeting of the Tutela Branch of Women's Institute, was held on Tuesday last at the home of Mrs. Moyle, Mohawk Road. In the absence of the President, the 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. R. Henry, occupied the chair, most ably.

After the reading and adoption of the minutes of the last meeting, Mrs. Clump of Paris, addressed the ladies on "Equivalent" proving by her well thought out comparisons that she was mistress of her subject. Mrs. Clump, Mohawk Road, then demonstrated the making of cocoa, after which Mrs. Secord, Brantford, addressed the ladies on "Women with regard to municipal affairs." The subject proved of deep interest to all.

The speaker handled it with ability, such as is only gained after much research and study. Many points which might have been questioned, were robbed of this, the speaker having figures and statistics for all she said.

A most profitable meeting was brought to a close by all uniting in singing the National Anthem, after which all enjoyed the kind hospitality of the hostess.

The next meeting will be held the 1st. Tuesday of December, at the home of Mrs. J. Houlding, Tutela Heights. Mrs. M. Mintern and Mrs. R. Birckett have charge of the subject for the day.

MAN EATERS OF AFRICA.

The Lions and Crocodiles Are in a Class by Themselves.

Man eating lions have always been fairly common in East Africa. The most noted but by no means exceptional case was that of the two man eaters which for a time stopped the building of the Uganda railroad by their ravages among the workmen until they were finally shot by the engineer in charge, Mr. (afterward Colonel) Patterson. Another lion, after killing several men around a station on the railroad, carried off and ate the superintendent of the division. The latter had come down in his private car, which was run on a siding, and he sat up at a window that night to watch for the lion. But he fell asleep, and the lion climbed on the platform, entered the car by the door and carried off his wound be slayer through the window.

In the summer of 1909 a couple of man eating lions took to infesting the Masai villages on the plain around the headwaters of the Gato Nyiro, west of Kenya, and by their ravages forced the Masai to abandon the district, and the native travel routes across it were also temporarily closed. A few weeks later I was hunting in the district. We kept the thorn boma around our camp closed at night, with a fire burning and sentries on guard, and were not molested.

Near Machakosboma a white traveler one night a good many years ago. A grewsome feature of the incident was that on its first attempt the lion was driven off after having seized and wounded its victim. The wounds of the latter were dressed, and he was again put to bed, but soon after he had been left alone the lion again forced his way into the tent and this time carried the man off and ate him.

Every year in East Africa natives are carried off from their villages or from hunting camps by man eating lions. Occasionally one hears of man eating leopards, which usually confine themselves to women and children, and there are man eating hyenas, but the true man eaters of Africa are lions and crocodiles.—Theodore Roosevelt in Scribner's Magazine.

MEPHISTOPHELES.

No Satisfactory Proof as to the Origin of the Name Exists.

There has been much discussion concerning the origin of the word Mephistopheles in the past, which has, moreover, as yet ended in no very satisfactory conclusion. Some very bizarre explanations had been propounded before the time of Goethe, who was himself forced to own to the musician Zelter in a letter, Nov. 20, 1829, "I cannot give any definite answer to the question, 'Whence comes the name Mephistopheles?'"

According to one theory it was a hybrid Greek-Hebraic formation of mephis and topel (the liar); according to another its etymology was entirely Greek—very dubious Greek—mephistophilos, "the who does not love the light." Though this derivation is hardly acceptable, it appears that this was the original form of the name, the second vowel being replaced by i at first in England, whence it was taken into the popular German mysticism.

In the "Goethe Jahrbuch" Herr Oelbke gives an entirely novel derivation which, if far-fetched, has at least the merit of originality. It is based on two names found in chapters 4 and 15 of the second book of Samuel, Pephibosheth and Archtophel. He reminds us that it was customary in the middle ages when giving names to evil spirits to refer to the Old Testament; hence the combination "Mephistopheles."

The explanation is not perceptibly more absurd than others. Goethe himself had a trick of using the abbreviated form Mephisto when it suited the exigencies of his meter. It may be remembered that this particularly irritated Schopenhauer, who wrote in his pamphlet "On the Murder (Verbungung) of the German Language," "The foolish desire for brevity goes so far as to cut off even the devil's tail by writing Mephisto for Mephistopheles."—Westminster Gazette.

THE IDLE RICH.

The human scrap pile for which we have to pay, is piled up, not alone with the papers and the down and outs, but with the idle rich, who sit around luxurious hotels and watering places with nothing to do but overeat and sleep. I was astounded by the waste of human energy at the country institutions, but I am appalled when I think of that far greater waste of energy among those whose wants have been provided for and who have nothing to do but dress for dinner. We have 2,500 persons sitting with folded hands in our country institutions, content because their wants have been provided for. I could not help thinking of our wealthy outcasts in this connection. They are really beyond the pale of human effort for they are doing nothing that is of good to anybody, not even to themselves. The idle wealthy are going on the scrap pile voluntarily. They are not only useless, but harmful. Somebody ought to wake them and make them think. And this waste can be found at most any fashionable resort east and west. If we had a little help from those who can give help it might solve a lot of problems that put the poor wards of the country where they are.—President A. McCormick of Board of Charity, Chicago.

W.H.A. Meet

Receipts of Rummage Sale Were Over $470.

The meeting of the Women's Hospital Aid, which took place on Friday morning, was presided over by Mrs. J. E. Waterous, president, and was largely attended.

The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed, and the treasurer's report was presented, the chief item of interest being the gross receipts, which were rather over $470. A large number of accounts and other correspondence were read, accounts being chiefly for nurses' home furnishings and rummage sale expenses. These the treasurer was empowered to pay. Fees were received from Miss Jones, North ward, $22, and Mrs. Tisdale, centre of city, $150.

Mrs. Mair and Mrs. Bachelor will undertake the hospital visiting for the current month.

A resolution of sympathy with members of the W. H. A. who have been or still are, in the hospital, was passed. The secretary was instructed to write a letter of congratulation to the junior hospital aid on the success attending their dance.

The thanks of the Auxiliary were tendered to Chief Slemin and the police for attendance at Victoria Hall during the rummage sale, and to the merchants and housekeepers and all others who contributed in any way to the success of the rummage sale.

A letter was read from Mrs. C. Stentford, now of Halifax, N.S., enclosing a thanksgiving offering of $25 to the ladies for the nurses' home. Mrs. Stentford was accorded a special vote of thanks and a letter for her kind remembrance and generosity and it was decided to select some single article for the nurses' home with the money. The thanks of the Auxiliary were also tendered to those friends who so kindly sent donations for the nurses' home, as follows: Mr. Peachey, dinner and tea set; Mrs. H. H. Hamilton of Picton, N.S., an electric reading lamp; Mrs. P. H. Secord, clock; Mrs. D. J. Waterous, an electric reading lamp; Dr. Evank and Mr. Fred Frank, two large pictures and a pair of silver candlesticks; Mr. Pickles, picture; Mr. Hastings Webbing, two pictures; Mr. M. E. Long, donation of the value of a chair; Mr. C. H. Waterous, large rubber plant; Miss Helen Waterous, number of pictures; Mrs. A. B. G. Tisdale, large picture; Mrs. J. E. Waterous, umbrella stand; Mrs. C. J. Mitchell, picture; Mrs. W. C. Livingston, table cloth; Mrs. T. S. Wade, centrepiece.

It was moved by Mrs. Reville, seconded by Mrs. Watt and carried, that a letter of sympathy be sent to the family of the late Mr. W. W. Woods, who was the late representative of the Trades and Labor Council on the hospital board, and who had always been a staunch friend of the W.H.A.

Mrs. Wade gave a detailed account of the meeting at Stratford, on Oct. 8th, of the United Hospital Aid Association, which was well received.

Delegates were appointed to attend the annual meeting of the local council of women to be held on Wednesday of next week, and the meeting was then adjourned.

Vincent Astor

Will Marry Daughter of Texas Millionaire—Engagement Announced

(Canadian Press Despatch)

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Vincent Astor confirmed through his secretary to-day the announcement that he was engaged to marry, Miss Helen Dinsmore Huntington, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Huntington of Staatsburg, N.Y. The wedding, it is understood, will take place next spring.

Young Astor inherited about $65,000,000 from the estate of his father, the late Colonel John Astor, who perished on the Titanic. He will be 22 years old this month. The bride-to-be is the daughter of the Huntington family of Staatsburg, which is a few miles north of Poughkeepsie, and the young people have known each other since childhood. Miss Huntington is the granddaughter of the late Wm. B. Dinsmore, a millionaire resident of Tuxedo.

100 YEARS OLD.

GUELPH, Ont., Nov. 8.—Mrs. John Mitchell died at her home on Queen street last night in her 100th year. She was a life-long resident and her memory was stored with events in the early history of Guelph and Wellington county. She lived under six British sovereigns. Several months ago when a son of Mrs. Mitchell's died the strange event occurred of a man of 80 being buried from his mother's residence.

COLD BLOODED MURDER

ROCK ISLAND, Ill., Nov. 8.—John B. Schoessel, aged 51, foreman of the machine shops at the Rock Island government arsenal, was murdered on the doorstep of his home in this city last night, while returning from practicing with a church choir, of which he was a member. He was accosted by three men at his gate and was stabbed through the heart. His assailants escaped. There is no known motive.

Marlborough Ladies' Aid

Sovereign; Treasurer, Mrs. Symons; Executive Mrs. Cowell; Mrs. Lynch, Mrs. Heinrich, Mrs. Felton; Social, Mrs. Snider, Mrs. Hulbert; Mrs. G. Nash, Mrs. Wallace; flowers, Mrs. Northall, Mrs. Densmore, Mrs. Isaacs; dime collectors, Mrs. R. Nash, Mrs. Greet Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Lission, Mrs. Easterbrook.

Returned to Asylum.

Peter Sky, an Indian, one of the two inmates of the Hamilton Asylum who escaped from that institution about three months ago, was captured last night in a little old shanty near the Long House, Onondaga, about 11 o'clock, County Constable Mounce, with a guard from Hamilton, made the drive through the mud and brought back Sky. The two men, the other a white man, have been wandering about the country since they escaped. Sky's last recollection of his fellow-traveler is of leaving him somewhere near St. Thomas. The man was taken back to Hamilton this morning.

INSTANTLY KILLED.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 8.—William Ayers, motorman, was instantly killed and twenty persons injured this morning when a trolley car crashed into the grocery store of Robert Chegwiden at Langton, Pa. The car ran away on a long hill and the motorman stuck to his post in a vain effort to stop it.

Every claim for Red Rose Tea is fully borne out by the tea itself. You will find it good tea, so good that no other tea will please you quite so well. Will you try it.

COMMISSION OF THREE FOR HYDRO BUSINESS

At the City Council meeting on Monday night a by-law will be submitted authorizing the election of two members of the Hydro-Electric Commission next January. Aid. McFarland is almost sure to be nominated as one of the members of the commission, which will also be made up of the Mayor ex-officio. Just who the third member of the commission will be is hard to say. Mr. George Wedlake's name is being strongly urged on all sides because it is desired to put the commission on a strictly business and non-partisan basis. W. B. Preston of The Expositor, is said to have aspirations for the job, but his name is not acceptable to those who have fought for Hydro-Electric and the principles of public ownership and people's power in the face of bitter antipathy of The Expositor, of which he is a member. The name of Mayor Hartman, Aid. Ryerson and Aid. McEwen have also been prominently mentioned.

Tutela's Have Spread.

The Tutela Football team with a few representative guests gathered about the festive board last night to wind up the football season of 1913, and make big plans for the utter demolition of all teams opposing them in the fight for the cup next year. Aid. Ward, the popular chairman, commenced with a resume of the history of the team, its failures and success treating his own connection with the team in a very modest manner. Several other speakers were heard from and a very enjoyable time was spent.

The total damage is estimated at nearly eight thousand pounds.

Society Engagement.

The engagement is announced of Miss Dorothy Roylance, Court, younger daughter of Mr. W. Roylance, joint master of the Cheshire Hunt of Manor House, Middlewich, and Captain Douglas H. Talbot, 17th Lancers, eldest son of Mr. Henry Talbot, of Aston, Cheshire.

Record of Service.

There has just died in Warwickshire an ex-Covenanter canal employe, Thomas Acock, whose term of office extended to more than fifty years. His father and great-grandfather were also in the service of the company, the latter commencing in 1788, so that the aggregate service of the three generations extended to 145 years.

Haddon Hall Closed.

The edict of the Duke of Rutland for the closing of the historic Haddon Hall during the winter months has caused great concern to the inhabitants of Bakewell, Matlock, and the surrounding districts, for it means a considerable financial loss to them.

This will be the first time in fifty years that the famous show place, which has £250,000 worth of tapestry, has been shut up, and people have come to regard it as a fixture all the year round for visitation.

An extensively signed petition is to be sent to the duke, requesting him to withdraw the order.

Although the reason for the closing order has not been stated, it is thought that the militant suffragists are to blame.

New Flag of Ireland May Not Have Proverbial Harp

What flag shall Ireland fly. This is a question that is again being discussed as the time draws nearer for the final passage of the home rule bill.

Probably no country has had more national flags than Ireland, so that of old time flags the range of choice is by no means restricted. The most ancient, without doubt, is the "Spartan and Serpent," said to commemorate the curing by Moses of an ancestor of Milesius who had been bitten by a snake. Then there is the golden sunburst upon a blue ground, emblem of Eionn Mac Cumhall's Fenians (militia). Blue was always Ireland's color until 1798, when the United Irishmen to signify the blending of north and south, evolved a national color of the hue formed by the amalgamation of blue and orange, namely, green.

Another flag is that which Cromwell's soldiers are reputed to have seen when lighting the Kernes, a red cross upon a golden ground. Opinions as to whether such was ever a national emblem or not are divided, many people believing it to have been the arms of an insurgent commander.

The three golden crowns upon a blue ground is another emblem which has not been overlooked. The design appears to-day in the arms of Munster, and the three crowns are said to typify the triple kingdoms of Desmond, Thomond and Ormond. Any way, this flag was the emblem of Ireland from 1170 until 1547, when Henry VIII, of England substituted the harp for the three crowns, the reason being that Henry was anxious that the three crowns should not be confused with the triple tiara of the Pope, with whom, at that juncture, Henry was not upon the best of terms.

Thus it comes about that the harp which is deemed so typically Irish was imposed upon Ireland by an English king, but had not the United Irishmen, although they denounced the harp in 1798, adopted it as their emblem and Grattan's Parliament rejected the harp, although they did not the green ground, it is hardly likely that the average Irishman to-day would regard it other than an upstart burgeo.

Still another national device to be considered is the "Lamh Dearg Eirinn," the Red Hand of Ireland, which upon a white ground, was borne by Shanne and Hugh O'Neill's armies that defeated Queen Elizabeth's generals.

The early hours of the nineteenth century saw Ireland afflicted with the St. Patrick's Cross, a red saltire upon a white ground. What St. Patrick had to do with it nobody can say, but some emblem or the other had got to be incorporated in the British flag upon the passing of the act of union, and so the heralds did the rest.

Wherever they got the red saltire from is not known, but there is reason to believe that it was borrowed from the arms of Trinity College, Dublin, which body had in turn borrowed it from the Fitzgerald family.

In all probability Ireland will adopt the sunburst upon a blue ground, the chief reasons being its antiquity, its distinctly Irish origin and its symbolism of Ireland rising to take her proper place among the nations.

But come what may, the ground of the new flag is going to be blue. The Sinn Feiners are resolved upon this, and that the flag's material shall not be silk, or cotton, but good Irish linen.

Asquith the Master Statesman

American Tribute to the Premier

His Influence in British Empire

Mr. George Harvey, a distinguished American publicist, contributes to the October number of the "North American Review," of which he is editor, a very ably written article entitled "Asquith: The Master Statesman."

It is a generous, yet discriminating appreciation of the Prime Minister, remarkable for the knowledge it displays and for its critical discernment. Mr. Asquith's growth in influence and power since he became Prime Minister has greatly impressed this shrewd American observer.

Col. Harvey was in England in 1911, when the fear of a national railway strike hung heavy as a thunder cloud over the land. Of the Prime Minister's action in that crisis he writes:

"He flung 'politics' to the winds; he never stopped to think how his action might influence voters; he turned his eyes squarely to the immediate need, and, by a stroke of matured decisiveness, by declining promptly and firmly that it was necessary, he would employ all the sources of the government to keep the railways in running order, he averted the most appalling distress that could befall a densely populated land. All Englishmen of all parties and classes, strikers and non-strikers, employers and employed, rich and poor, but the poor especially, incurred a heavy debt of gratitude to their Prime Minister on that occasion for the grim determination which he manifested in facing and quelling a storm that would have damned and might easily have overwhelmed one not made of the stoutest fibre."

Liberalism's Record.

Cal. Harvey regards 1910 as "a turning point in English history," for it riveted a personal authority "which has now become pre-eminent."

"Behold the results! Think for a moment of what the Liberals have accomplished in these few years! They have fought through two General elections; they have broken for ever the obstructive power of the House of Lords; they have passed the most revolutionary Budgets, and profoundly modified the framework of the British constitution; they have weathered at least three international crises when war seemed to be a probability of the next 24 hours; they have passed vast measures of social reform like the Insurance act, the Old Age Pension Act, and the Act establishing a national system of Labor exchanges; they have struggled through two terrible explosions of industrial unrest that for a time threatened the paralysis of all British trade; they have been confronted with, and have resolutely tackled, the new and ardent problems of national defence and Imperial consolidation; they are now establishing the Welsh church and granting Home Rule to Ireland.

In all these achievements Mr. Asquith has played the foremost part. The main burden of deciding, leading, of defending, has fallen on him; but he has done his work with a masterful thoroughness that stamps his administration as the most efficient within the recollection of living men."

The article dissects Mr. Asquith's personal characteristics and his oratorical style.

"His speeches are as good as any public speaking can be that is not oratory. They are models of clearness and precision; full of vigorous thought, of trenchant and sonorous stroke follows upon stroke, without repetition and with direct compelling force; and yet they are as unmistakably not oratory as George Eliot's verse is not poetry."

The color and rhythm, the exaltation and abandon of oratory are not for him. He seems independent of all emotional communion with his audience."

This fine appreciation of Mr. Asquith concludes in these striking words:

"As a man, we should say that to the minds of the many he, like Sir Robert Peel, appears and is likely to continue to appear as one who would have been the greatest of all British Premiers if his personality had equalled his performances, while to the few brought into closest contact he bears out to perfection the impression of Charles Fox expressed by Gibbon when he 'admired the powers of a superior man blended with the softness and simplicity of a child—a human being perfectly exempt from the taint of malevolence, vanity or falsehood.'"

Blind Girl's Success

A brilliant success has been achieved by Miss Sarah Maden, one of the musical students at the Blind Asylum, Manchester, she having been awarded first prize for piano playing at the Trinity College (London) intermediate examination for 1912-13, hundreds of competitors taking part from all over England.

Miss Maden, who is twenty-three years of age, is a native of Manchester. Her success is all the more noteworthy from the fact that this is the first time she has taken part in any public examination.

She is an accomplished contralto singer, and takes a leading part in the church choir at the asylum. She has been a student for a number of years.

DAILY FASHION HINT.

The Dufferin Rules Chapter I. O. D. E., with their recent Mrs. F. A. Howard, have a strong organization and a membership of over a hundred. The object is a good one devoted to military purposes, helping financially the Soldiers of the King. Should the command "to arms" ring out they would be at once in the field to fight for the Old Flag.

Mr. W. T. Henderson entertained on Wednesday evening at a jolly little dinner party, when covers were laid for eight. The table was attractive centered with American beauty roses. Later on the Tango was practised, a graceful dance not unlike the old fashioned minuet, so fashionable in early Victorian time. Those present were Mrs. E. C. Ashton, Miss Marjorie Wilkes, Miss Gretchen Dunstan, Miss Montzambert, Messrs. W. T. Henderson, Harvey Watt, Reginald Scarie, and Harvey Cooke-shutt.

A successful surprise party was tendered Miss S. Bode last evening at which a large number of Brantford's hopefuls enjoyed themselves very much. In the course of the evening a splendid repast was prepared to which the young folks did ample justice. Miss Alice Gardner featured the evening with a recitation, and was very ably assisted by several of the young men. A number of games were indulged in, after which the party broke up and the folks made their way to their respective homes, not forgetting, however, to set the "old alarm clock."

The Rose Ball. Many pleasant anticipations will no doubt be realized at the prospect of a Rose Ball to be given at the Conservatory of Music, December 11th. Perhaps no other dance is quite as attractive as a rose one. The queen of blooms much in evidence, and both ladies and men wearing rose favors, and the former often wreathed, will give in old December a touch of the gay month of June, laden with roses. Then, with an energetic executive, Musgrave, lovely debutantes, and a rose-garden, it may safely be said in advance, that the Rose Ball is sure to be a success, particularly when the good object is to help the Tuberculosis hospital.

Mrs. Woodside's pretty rooms were thronged with many callers Thursday afternoon, when warmly welcomed Mrs. William Cochrane back to her old home town. The Thank Offering meeting on Wednesday evening brought a large and interested audience to Zion Church, who were pleased to hear Mrs. Cochrane talk on the W. H. M. S.—the branch first established in Zion Church, by the late Rev. Dr. Cochrane.

Miss Mildred Brock, daughter of L. F. H. Brock, made her debut at a tea last week given by her grandmother, Mrs. W. R. Brock, Queen's Park, Toronto, and the stately and spacious rooms which have known scarcely had a century of hospitality, were filled with guests, all full of good wishes for a happy first season for Miss Mildred, who is a fine girl and looked particularly well, receiving with Mrs. Brock, on Monday, November 17th, Mrs. Cavithra, of Neadon Hall, Miss Mildred's maternal grandmother, is giving a coming out dance for this lucky debutante at Foresters Hall, College street.

Word was received in the Capital recently of the birth of a son to Mr. and Lady Evelyn Jones, at 1 Cleveland Square, London, England. Lady Evelyn is the youngest daughter of Earl and Countess Grey.

The new Government House in Edmonton has been saddened early in its history by the funeral of the brother of Mrs. Baynes, A. G. H. Rabbit, who died very suddenly in Edmonton last week. Mr. Rabbit had been since 1905, until six months ago, Secretary to His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Bulyea, and his tragically sudden death has aroused deep sympathy with the members of the bereaved family. Mrs. Rabbit was Miss Isabelle Jenny, of Toronto, and the marriage took place last August in Toronto.

The news of the sudden death of Mrs. C. C. Chipman in England comes as a very great shock to her friends in Winnipeg. Mrs. Chipman was for some years one of Winnipeg's most popular hostesses, her gracious manner, endearing her to all who knew her.

Mrs. Llewellyn Bate entertained recently in Ottawa at a charming luncheon for debutantes in honor of her sister, Miss Clare Walters, who will make her debut this season. The guests included Miss Jean Fleming, Miss Marjorie Jones, Miss Dolly Goodve, Miss Jean McDougall, Miss Norah Sherwood, Miss Katie McDougall, Miss Marjorie Cook and Miss Frances Arnold.

A very pretty wedding took place at Winchester, Ontario, on Wednesday, Oct. 30th, when Mrs. Blanche Agnew, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Gardner, was married to Mr. J. H. Ross, editor of the Smith's Falls "News," the ceremony being performed by Rev. Mr. McLeod, of St. Paul's Presbyterian church. Only the immediate relatives of bride and groom are present. Mr. and Mrs. Ross left on their return train for New York, and on their return, will reside at Smith's Falls.

By all accounts the Duchess of Connaught will not be strong enough to take a very active part in Canadian social affairs for some time to come. Princess Patricia will have the support and companionship of very charming ladies-in-waiting to the Duchess and to herself. The lady-in-waiting to the Duchess is Miss York, who is very well known in London society, as she is connected with a great many important people. The Queen has lent one of her maids of honor to Princess Patricia—Miss Katherine Villiers—who will stay in Canada until Miss Adam is able to join the vice-regal party. Miss Villiers is young and handsome and very accomplished, so she should be an acquisition.

Mrs. Philip Buck's At Home Dufferin Avenue presented a lively scene on Thursday afternoon, when many honors and traps were bowled along in the beautiful day to the home of Mrs. Philip Buck. At the entrance to the drawing room the hostess looked handsome in an exceedingly smart gown of white embroidered net over satin, with corsage bouquet of violets. The lovely debutantes, Miss Evelyn and Miss Kathleen, looked their prettiest, the former in a dainty frock of shadow lace eye trimmed prettily with pearl beadwork in her prettily arranged coiffure; the latter tall and graceful, also wore a dainty white satin girlish gown and both carried armfuls of pink roses; poses also arranged about the pretty rooms. The table was most artistic, with bunches of lilies of the valley and centered with a large bouquet of orchids. It was in charge of Mrs. Howard and Mrs. Turnbull. The girls assisting were: The Misses Phyllis Buck, Dorothy Wilkes, Helen Kippax, Doris Hardy, Marion Watts, Mrs. Heyd and Mrs. Sutherland showed the guests to the tea room. The lively strains of music, the pretty gowns on many pretty women in the flower-bedecked rooms, made an hour look like two of chatter pass all too quickly at the successful home.

SONS OF SCOTLAND

The regular meeting of Camp Scotland, S. O. S., was held on Thursday evening and proved one of the best of the season. A large attendance of members took part and considerable business was put through. The organization work in the city is in charge of Bro. Angus McAuley and shows excellent results, there being several candidates for membership forward. St. Andrew's celebration will be taken up by the Camp, and will probably be of the nature of the time honored banquet, with according to rumors, the additional attraction of lady guests. The annual church parade takes place on Nov. 30th, when the Camp and members of St. Andrew's Society will attend services in Alexandra church.

CARRIED MESSAGE TO MR. BRYAN FOR MEXICAN CONSTITUTIONALISTS

REV. DR. H. ALLEN TUPPER

General Venustiano Carranza, commander-in-chief of the Mexican constitutionalists, has sent to William J. Bryan, Secretary of State, through Dr. Henry Allen Tupper, a representative of the International Peace Forum, a message requesting the recognition of the constitutionalist cause and the lifting of the embargo on arms and ammunition.

The constitutionalists, not having had any official correspondence with the United States government, gave the message to Dr. Tupper with the knowledge that it would be transmitted to Mr. Bryan and convey a final official declaration of their position.

REVIEW OF REVIEWS

By A Passerby
Comment on Current Events of the Past Week As Seen By a Courier Representative.

When Samuel Alchin, answered the final call at his Paris home, there passed away one of the old standards of the district, for he left the shores of Old England as long ago as 1832. Thus he was an actual pioneer of the province. Imagine what it would be crossing the broad Atlantic over eighty years ago. It took anything between a month and eleven weeks to accomplish this, and often foreign Quebec would be comparatively small while Montreal and Toronto were just springing into existence. When as a boy Samuel first looked upon Ontario it would seem to be a great forest with mere tracks to villages which are now known as Galt, Paris and Brantford. Those days of emigration was attended with many risks which, to-day do not exist. A stage coach ran between Toronto and Hamilton, and to proceed into the interior wagons had to be used. This is now all vastly changed. Such is the march of time.

It is singular that the finer Teutonic nearly shared the fate of her sister the Titanic in the "herring pond" recently. She was enveloped in a dense fog when a large iceberg was sighted right in her course, but owing to the prompt action of her commander, the ship cleared the berg, whilst the passengers below were singing little aware of the danger which threatened. Icebergs generally make their vicinity known by the intense coldness which pervades the atmosphere for some distance from them; it is, therefore, rather remarkable that in these days of wonderful inventions that there is not a delicate instrument of some description which would warn mariners of the great "hugbear" of the sea.

The Imperial Defence of the British Isles has from time to time been criticized more or less severely, but seldom has been so completely and emphatically denounced as it was recently by Earl Percy at Newcastle. Speaking of the position as it was to-day, he said it was entirely different to what it had been in the nineteenth century. The change being due to the German Naval Bill passed thirteen years ago. Referring to the defence of the Mother Country he said the entire system was at fault. He did not blame officers or men. It was the system. Other nations realized in reserves a weakness, but in the case of the Britishers 50 p.c. of their battalions would be composed of reservists. Their military qualifications he considered a farce, while the method of distributing horses was absurd. The Territorials were no army force at all. It was merely a mob of men who had done the slightest bit of training. The War Office, itself, condemned them, having vetoed all divisional training. Earl Percy concluded by saying that the government were simply throwing a lot of dust into the eyes of the people, obscuring the real points of issue.

The Toronto Fire Brigade has been "hailed over the coals" very much lately, and the evidence of slackness is almost incredible. The Queen City pays annually some $600,000 for the upkeep of its fire establishment and the system on which this vast amount is spent does not even keep books, and has no record of the work done. There is a fire department which has not a dependable plan of the hydrants, the only maps of the water mains they have being taken from a city atlas. Imagine this state of affairs in the Queen City of Canada where a population of nearly 500,000 people are dependent upon such a service for their immunity from fire. The men of the brigade are, it is alleged, not even properly trained in the management of hose, and hardly know how to connect it with the street hydrants. They had evidently to gather their experience when a fire made it necessary. There are several fire halls in the city, but not one of them has a definite area to cover. Compare this with the Brantford system which costs about $20,000. Chief Lewis has regular practice work and some method is in evidence, and this for little over one-third of the cost of the Toronto brigade. During the last 25 years, there has only been one addition to the secretarial staff of the department, and that a lad stenographer, and in this time the duties of the department have increased seven-fold. The lady's occupation apparently consists chiefly of taking telephone messages and making verbal communications, which is, indeed, a poor way of doing business.

There must be a cause for the slackness and the "look" to the chief. We find him a large hearted and good natured man, who calls his firemen and subordinates by their christian names. Discipline is not generally found where the head is so familiar with his servants. "Familiarity breeds contempt," and this seems to be exemplified in the present case. Chief Thompson has been 37 years employed in this department, and has no doubt known many of his men since they were boys, but this is no reason why they should not be ruled with an iron hand, such as tends to bring discipline to a fine art.

However, the matter is being taken up and Toronto may yet have a fire fighting system of which they may be proud. It lies with the Toronto City Council to remedy these defects.

Laid at Rest
The Late Miss Scott.
The funeral of the late Miss Emma Scott took place yesterday afternoon from the residence of Miss MacDermott to the Mt. Pleasant cemetery. The Rev. W. Atkinson conducted the services at the house, and at the grave the pallbearers were Mr. P. McEwen, William McEwen, David and James Young, George Devlin and Wilson Smith. Many beautiful floral offerings were contributed.

THE SILVER RIVER.
Farewell, I said, sweet meadow grass;
Farewell, I let the flight wind pass;
I watch the shadows one by one
Farewell, thou'g slow settling sun.
I go within and fold my hands
Oh, moments are the day's bright hours;
And evening's robe of roselite hem;
But dearer now my dreams of thee.
The stars I know creep to the sky
The moon will soon be swimming high
O light filled pools and silver streams;
O silver river of my dream!

Pt. Dover Paper Says it is Likely to be Electrified.

Says the Port Dover Maple Leaf: "Those people who profess to be so cocksure that there is to be no electrification of the L. E. & N. Railway may find something illuminating in the following despatch sent from Milwaukee:

"The entire system of the Canadian Pacific Railway was electrified. This was the declaration to-day of Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, president of the road, as he started for Winnipeg to inspect sites there for new terminals.

The work, now being started in the Rocky Mountains toward operation of electricity instead of steam locomotives over several divisions is merely an experiment, he declared, preliminary to the installation of electricity throughout the system if the experiment proves successful."

Fine Concert
Was Held by Collegiate Institute Talent Last Evening.

The B. C. I. Cadets gave a very delightful little concert last night in the Assembly Hall of the Collegiate. The programme was called at eight o'clock by Chairman Steinn and opened with a very sweetly rendered solo by Miss Hilda Hurdley. Following this Miss Daisy Westbrook contributed a patriotic recitation which commanded hearty applause. Mr. Haines of the Collegiate staff then gave a song of a like nature. He is possessed of a full, strong voice of very pleasing quality and rightly was received enthusiastically. A squad of cadets under Sergt. Quirk gave an exhibition of arm drill in the usual style. Mr. Haines again sang and this ended the first half of the programme. Company Leader Feely then took the chair and called upon the Misses Sayles for a duet, a number which was heartily enjoyed. Major T. Harry Jones gave a recitation in his own impressive style, which was followed by a vocal solo beautifully rendered by Miss Marjorie Sweet. Miss Dorothy Hagey gave a recitation of a humorous nature, skillfully executed after which a drill class in signalling under Corp. Foster was inspected by the audience. The final number, a fitting climax was the "Rifle Squad" under Lorne Watson. From the very tallest to the very smallest they were certainly amusing and as expected, were thoroughly, utterly clumsy. The concert which was organized to defray expenses incident to the recent campaign was entirely successful.

Scout Banquet

Second Annual Affair is Held at Brant Ave. Church.

The second annual banquet of Brant Ave. Scout, was held in the Sunday School room of Brant Avenue church, on Friday evening, and was pronounced by all present, a great success.

The efficient Scout Master, Mr. D. T. Williamson was in the chair, and seated around him at the head table were Pev. A. E. Lavell, chaplain; Major T. H. Jones, president; Cecil Perry, Secretary, and Mr. Douglas Jones, acting assistant Scout Master, and Commissioner A. A. Macfarlan and a company of thirty members of the troop and after a hearty repast provided by the following ladies: Messdames T. H. Jones, G. A. Whitmer and D. T. Williamson.

Rev. A. E. Lavell was first called on by the chairman and in addition to a bright and helpful speech he rendered a solo in splendid voice. Mr. T. H. Jones followed with a complimentary speech and a reading entitled "The September Morn." Mr. Whitmer was then called upon and gave a breezy sketch of the Troop summer camp at Port Maitland, which was much enjoyed by all present, a duet by Messrs. D. T. Williamson and S. Whitmer was well received. The prizes won by scouts at the summer camp field day sports were then presented. Speeches were also made by Mr. C. Perry and Mr. D. Wilson, which were of a complimentary nature.

A number of choruses were heartily rendered by the troop; then the meeting concluded with the Lord's Prayer and the National Anthem.

Commissioner Macfarlan congratulated the Scouts on the progress which they were making, and referred to their summer camp at "The Elms" in a happy vein.

Only One Victory For This Woman

This is the Story of Leslie Bush's Mother—World's Series May Come and Go but Her Joy Remains Glory Won by Her Boy.

When Leslie Bush of the Athletics returned from his triumphs as a pitcher in the World's Series to his home at Brainerd, Minn., the whole town turned out to welcome him.

This is the story of Leslie Bush's mother. It is not an attempt to foist publicity on a woman who shrank from having her picture taken for the paper, but an attempt to express the fact that sometimes mother's also win World's Series base ball games.

However, it meant none of these things to the woman who calls Leslie Bush her son. When she and her family entered the banquet room, Leslie was seated a short distance away surrounded by other worshippers.

When, as speaker after speaker, culogized Bush to the full, the pride that showed in the face of the woman was proof enough that she was the real victor, and that for her there would be only one World's Series.

The banquet, on the lighter side, was a symphony of B's—Bush, Bender and Brainerd. It first was referred to by Mayor Henning in quoting the well of the high school girls.

"We raised Bender; we raised Bush; we should worry; we're the push."

Then State Senator Charles Johnson did likewise. He made a rattling speech and brought applause, when he referred to the playing days of Bush's father, who, he said, was a member of the lumberjacks' team, back in the days when the game was different.

FEARS MILITANTS, ORDERS CLOSING OF HADDON HALL.

DUKE OF RUTLAND

There was great regret throughout England when it was announced by the Duke of Rutland that Haddon Hall, in Derbyshire, is to be closed. It is one of the famous mansions in England and has figured frequently in English history.

Every schoolgirl knows of Haddon Hall, the scene of the romantic elopement of Miss Dorothy Vernon and young John Manners—a romance that has been told in song and story for a hundred years.

up with Bush. They didn't drag him from the car but stood alongside and gave him a high school yell and waved kisses at him, Lucky Joe Bush.

This happened in one of the forest's snowstorms' imaginable. Long horizontal lines whipped into every one's face, but it only added to the holiday spirit.

Among those directly concerned in the assault on Bush at the station was Tom Woods, alias Fatty. He is venerated here as one of the four 'original' trainers and discoverers of Bush, the others being Tom Corbett, grand marshal of the barrie Jerry Barron and D. A. Peterson.

Concerning Fatty, however, he was to have led the parade but didn't. He pleaded ignorance; he didn't know. He is venerated also as the heaviest man in these parts. Some say he weighs 305 pounds and some say 418; but both are calumnies. He weighs 437.

As the train rolled into Brainerd, a traction engine blew away $20 worth of steam in a series of whistles. Some kids boarded the train and rushed up to Bush.

"Hello, Les! You got us out of school for two hours!"

After a family dinner at home, the first since February Bush came down town for a while. It was the same old story. It demonstrated, however, that there is an error in four being the number of trainers and original discoverers. There were 400, all originals.

That the chances are that he will never be as good as he was before he went to Australia. This thing of putting on flesh in the case of an athlete of any kind is a bad sign. It indicates that a man is going to seed.

The history of pugilism teems with stories of crack fighters who failed to make good once they began to grow stout. When Charles Mitchell trained for Jim Corbett at Anastasia Island, down Florida way, he bubbled with delight every day as his weight grew less. Mitchell finally reduced himself until he looked like Mitchell, of old, but that was about all he accomplished. While lessening his poundage he lessened his vitality, and he was defeated in what was undoubtedly the poorest fight of his career.

Reducing Costs Vitality. John L. Sullivan was a fat man when he began training for Jim Corbett. By dint of hard work he contrived to make himself look comparatively slim, but he had the same experience as Mitchell. Removing flesh meant reducing vitality, and Sullivan lost to a man who did not have to take off fat.

The chances are Jim Jeffries suffered in the same way when he sweated off 50 or 60 pounds of excess fat, and came to look as much a fighter as possible when he faced Johnson.

These are but a few instances, and I simply quote them because the men mentioned are so well known. When a ring man begins to get stout he admits that the surplus does not respond to hard work as readily as in former years he is getting to be of his tether.

Looking at the chunky negro in the broad glare of the afternoon sun, where there was a fair opportunity of gauging his purposes from his actions, the writer concluded that Sam was trying all right, and that he was simply unable to deliver the goods in his old accustomed style.

Sam knew that his failure to put away, rags-to-land-on Lester decisively called for an explanation, and as he passed out of the ring he told the members of the small group of field correspondents that he was bothered with adipose tissue and found it hard to remove.

Sam attributed his rotundity to the long season of inactivity he experienced in Australia, but said that he hoped to tone-down his proportions by vigorous training in the very near future.

It may be that Sam may be able to reduce to his former weight, but at

This happened and it happened yesterday.

It was in the City Ticket Office of the Grand Trunk Railway, Colborne street.

Enter a hobo in rags, dissipated and suffering from the effects of 40 all night all day jags, but there with the talk.

"Mr. Nelson, I want you to help me out," came the gib over the ticket counter.

"I don't know you. What are you coming in here for?" came the rejoinder.

"Well, I know you, and you surely know me. You're the President of the Brantford Ball Club, aren't you? Don't you remember me?"

"Can't say that I do," said Mr. Nelson.

"Well, say, I want the price of a meal."

No sooner was it said than done. The visitor took the money like a frog snaps a fly.

"Say, honest, don't you know me?" was the parting rejoinder. "I'm Rube Waddell. I'm Rube alright. Good-bye, Ta-ta."

And when the stranger departed, Mr. Nelson remarked that he thought Waddell, famous ball pitcher was dying of consumption. And so he is. If he heard of this one, he would die of laughter.

That the owners of the Brantford Ball Club are anxious to keep the game in Brantford, is evidenced by the statement made by President Nelson to The Courier yesterday.

just before leaving for Toronto to open negotiations for the sale of the club. "No deal will be closed," said Mr. Nelson, "until an opportunity is given locally to any syndicate so desirous of keeping the club in Brantford." And the word of the president is as good as a gilt edged bond.

GAFNEY SUPPORTS TENER

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—President Jas. E. Gafney, of the Boston National League Club, declared himself in favor of the election of Gov. John K. Tener, of Pennsylvania, to succeed Thomas J. Lynch as president of the National League.

Governor Tener's election should be for a long term of years and at a generous salary. President Gafney said, Governor Tener, the National League could possibly be added, "is by far the best man that the National League could possibly get for president."

MONTE CARLO IN THE DEAD SEASON

The first time I was in Monte Carlo was in the French liner that landed at Marseilles. We did the sights systematically and somewhat solemnly. Everything was done for us, so that I learned nothing at all about ways and means.

This summer my wife and I varied our usual route by coming home from New York in a French liner that landed at Marseilles. We thought it would be an interesting thing to see what the Riviera looks like under summer skies, and since I was in such good company, I thought I might venture as far as Monte Carlo.

I found that everything at first sight looked pretty much as before, for in the neighborhood of the Casino in the afternoon, it is difficult to believe that it is the dead season. Like most other popular resorts, it had quite a number of human beings about, though it was technically empty. But a glance at the hotels along the bay and up the hill soon made it clear that it was not without reason that some of them advertised that they were open all the year round. The great majority were closed.

Being so well chaperoned, I felt entitled to enter the Casino. On the previous occasion I had been ceremoniously presented with a ticket of entry by the organization that was exploiting our respectable party, and

Their attitude recalled the remark a French lady once made at a table d'hote at Dieppe. She had just returned from the Casino, where she had lost two thousand francs. "Well! Well! One must have one's emotions!" A Scotsman could have purchased the same emotions at a cheaper rate than eighty pounds.

We saw much larger sums than two thousand francs change hands. The rumor went round that a certain shuffling old gentleman had gained four hundred pounds in a few minutes. We outsiders looked at him with a certain awe, but he did not cease to be an old man who shuffled.

The side room off the gambling room had four wide windows opening on the bay, but there never appeared to be more than three or four people at a time that cared to drop in and take a look at the lovely view.

When tired of watching the dull game I wandered upstairs to the reading room where an excellent supply of English, French and German papers and magazines is kept. This was clearly not playing the game with the proprietors.

They certainly did not give me free admission in order that I might read newspapers. I consoled myself by reflecting that, at any rate, I had not taken the free drink the waiter kept periodically offering in the gambling room. Not having tasted it I cannot tell what it consisted of, but it looked tempting. After glancing at the newspapers, I went further, and sat down at one of the comfortable little desks. Postal cards and letter papers are supplied, but I missed the picture postcards that one can buy outside, each giving a picture and a brief history of the career of some notorious defaulter who had spent more or less of his booty in this vicinity.

I cannot make out whether the cards emanate from some moral society, or are merely a commercial speculation founded on the popular love of horrors. Using the material at hand I wrote letters to four friends. It took some courage to write a letter to a friend on paper that bore in legible characters the legend Casino Monte Carlo. One has to select one's correspondents in a case like this. Af-

THRESHED THINGS OUT AT MEETING OF POLICE BOARD

A General Discussion.

Magistrate Livingston seemed to harbor the belief that the Mayor had given the letter to The Courier.

Judge Hardy said the paper got reports of matters before the Police Department.

The Magistrate said if he had known what he knows now he would have fined the man $50. He then went on with a word picture of the condition the horses were in.

Would Speak for Himself.

The chief said P. C. Burns felt very badly at being accused, and that he was in the building ready to speak for himself. The chief went on to state that Burns had received instructions from a sergeant before acting. When the team was brought to the station there was no doubt as to whether it was right to have the horses draw the wagon to the livery owing to the sore shoulders.

Mayor Asks for Adjournment.

P. C. Burns was going to be allowed to tell his story, the Mayor wanted the matter laid over in order to give Mr. Dale an opportunity to speak for himself.

The P. M. was very anxious that the source from which this paper secured the letter be learned and he informed the Mayor that if he, the Mayor, did not give the letter to The Courier that the Mayor should investigate the matter and learn the source.

Wanted Cigarettes.

Judge Hardy thought that people when arrested were beginning to think the occasion a pink tea and that cigarettes should be provided them.

Judge Was Hot.

The Judge shortly after this remark gave voice to indignation. Commenting upon such matters being brought before the commission said: "Are the whole commission to be placed upon the defence?" He further said: "I say it is outrageous, if it were not so ridiculous." Speaking further the Judge said that those who hammer the police were not good citizens, and he said he would like to know if the time of the police commissioners was to be taken up with such matters.

Shortly after this the Judge further unburdened himself by stating what Mr. Dale was complaining of was that he was not provided with a seven passenger touring car with a cigarette lighter attachment.

Mayor Hartman stated that all he was asking for was fair treatment.

Judge Hardy in a sarcastic manner stated that if it was the wish that the matter be dealt with further he would set a special day. For the present time the matter was shelved as far as the Judge was concerned. The special day was not appointed.

Discussed Peanuts.

Magistrate Livingston, evidently considering the time quite opportune as he had Mayor Hartman right at his elbow, took the opportunity to discuss the subject of peanuts with the Mayor.

The P. M. opened the subject by telling the Mayor that the license for the forger who is dispensing peanuts, popcorn, etc., from a wagon which he is driving around the streets, and the license over which there was a police court action and a city council talk fest, was made on very good forms, the date reading 1912.

He had told the chief to call up and ask City Clerk Leonard to come to the station and explain why the license had been granted when contrary to by-law 1100. The City Clerk would not come and the Mayor was otherwise engaged.

He had gone ahead and fined the man, and a splurge and talk about police prosecution had resulted. He went on to explain that the police had nothing to do with having him summoned, no more than the man in the moon, as a vendor of similar wares who occupies a stand on the market had laid the information. The Minister of Finance, meaning Ald. Spence, had taken up the gauntlet and signified his intention of fighting the police. It was suggested by the P. M. that if the by-law was not going to be observed it should be repealed. The merchants were against the vendors and that was why the by-law had been passed.

After Fruit Dealers.

The Judge brought up the matter of fruit dealers using the sidewalk. Magistrate Livingston said he understood from the papers that the council told the vendor to go on and sell.

The Judge again referred to the fruit question, stating that he thought the fruit merchants should remove their stuff from the sidewalk and not make it necessary for the police to have to step in.

The Magistrate wanted to know from the Mayor what to do if the man was brought before him again.

Mayor Was Firm.

The Mayor believed as the license was granted until the end of the year that the vendor should continue to sell as at present.

The Magistrate believed the city should take some logical position.

Chief Testifies.

Chief Slemm reported that the vendor had backed his wagon in front of the Opera House store on an evening a show was going on and sold his goods and the police were asked to have the outfit removed.

Impertinent Letter Received.

The P. M. reported that after the council meeting the Police Department had received a very impertinent letter instructing the police to see that all parties who should have licenses, had them.

The Mayor could not see that the letter was impertinent.

All Beer.

The Commissioners enjoyed a good laugh when one of the applicants for a position on the force, not one of those appointed said "All beer sir," when asked by the Judge as to his relations with liquid refreshments.

Constables Appointed.

Owing to P. C. Burns resigning, and the departure of P. C. Smith from the force, it was necessary to appoint two constables. There were four applicants, every one of them fine specimens but Joseph Cox and Kerby were appointed. Cox is 22 years of age and a popular member of the Dufferin Rifles and has been in the regulars. He is 5 feet 10 3/4 inches in height and presents a good appearance and will no doubt prove a most capable officer.

Kerby is 26 years of age, 6 feet, 3 inches in height, and was for a time on the Saskatoon force. He is a very promising young man.

Chief's Report.

The Chief in his report recommended the payment of $10 to the Hamilton Department and also the payment of another small sum to Mr. Greenaway, stolen goods having been returned in each instance. The Chief also recommended the purchase of a typewriter.

Discussed City Hall.

During the session the Commissioners discussed the City Hall problem but owing to the subject being somewhat of an old chestnut the discussion was of short duration. Magistrate Livingston stated that a new pest house should be built.

WILLIAM WALDORF ASTOR

Mrs. W. Waldorf Astor and her six-year-old son, "Bill," arrived in America from England for a stay through the winter in Virginia. Unlike her husband, the ex-American citizen and present Member of Parliament, Mrs. Astor is exceedingly democratic and has a lingering fondness for her native country. She was formerly Miss Nanine Langhorne, one of the beautiful Langhorne sisters of Virginia, all of whom were most popular society girls.

General Bramwell Booth, commander of the Salvation Army, also arrived from England. He expects to secure American Salvationists as volunteers for China, where the work of the Salvation Army is to be increased.

Dilton Wallace, who was reported lost in the wilds of Labrador, also was a joyous arrival. He went north to mark the grave of Leonidas Hubbard, the explorer. He was successful in his mission, but nearly lost his life.

Lady Chylesmore, wife of Major General Lord Chylesmore, was among the arrivals. She wore on her hat a pheasant tail. She was first told that the plume came under the ruling against the entry of wild bird plumes. Lady Chylesmore protested vigorously, however, and pleaded that England the pheasant is raised as a barnyard fowl.

This argument was a new one to the Collector's office and raised a point not considered before. The customs men finally decided that if pheasants are raised in English barnyards English pheasants do not come under the ruling of wild birds, and therefore can be brought into the United States.

Says It's the Best Remedy

Has kept Joseph W. Spiers in health for so long a time that he recommends Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey to anyone who wants a good medicine.

"I have been using Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey for a long time and find it to be a very good remedy—the best I have ever used, and I can recommend it to my friends, also anyone who wants a good medicine."—Joseph W. Spiers, Postmaster, McNeill, Miss.

The words of commendation this wonderful tonic stimulant receives from people holding responsible positions in life has done more to spread the truths of its benefits to mankind than anything we can say in print. Word-of-mouth advertising is something which cannot be bought for money, and is the most valuable. For years Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey has received more of this voluntary, free-will testimony from nation to person in sheer gratitude for the good it has done them than any other remedy in the world, and the reason is not hard to fathom.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

Has been before the public for half a century and its medicinal value is un doubted. It is an absolutely pure distillation of carefully malted grain. Overworked men and delicate women will find in Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey the health and strength-giving properties that are so necessary to them. It is prescribed by doctors and recognized as a family medicine everywhere.

Bogus Postman Clears Bank Box of Contents—Pillar Accounts Opened.

One of the most carefully-planned and daring robberies of recent years is that by which a clever gang of forgers succeeded in stealing cheques to the value of £20,000 from a pillar-box in Hanover-square. The cheques were posted by a clerk of Messrs. Ladbroke and Co., Turf commission agents, in the letter box outside their offices on Oct. 18, and Mr. L. P. Joyce, a member of the firm, stated on Wednesday that up to the present the thieves had obtained over £900. "We thought at first," he said, "that the letters might have been abstracted by a contrivance placed in the pillar-box; one of our clerks, however, recollects that the box was cleared by postmen on Saturday within the space of fifteen minutes. SCHOOLMASTER IS SENTENCED Collections of Society Put to Own Use—Stall at the Palace.

Six months' hard labour was the sentence passed at Brighton on Tuesday on Walter Blackburn, fifty-five, a schoolmaster, for obtaining charitable contributions by false pretences. Blackburn was described as a man of considerable ability. The actual charges were of obtaining by false pretences £d. from one person and £d. each from three others, the money having been collected for the "Crystal Palace Blind Aid Society." "I cannot say that the prosecution said that Blackburn originally started the "Crystal Palace Blind Aid Society," but later altered the name to the "Crystal Palace Blind Aid Society," which he registered under the Friendly Societies Act. He engaged a number of lady collectors through Labour Exchange, paying them 25 per cent. of their house to house collections, and an additional 25 per cent. for expenses. His own salary he fixed at £1 per week plus 25 per cent. of the collections. A secretary was appointed at £10 a week, and a lady to superintend the collections at £25 a week. From such records of the society's doings as were available, it appeared that a sum of £32 collected between Aug. 9 and Sept. 13, £16 went to collectors, and with the exception of one grant of 4s. to a blind person, the remainder went on salaries. Blackburn as organizer and to the Secretary. A SESSION'S TALK

Curious Statistics of the Oratory in Parliament.

In the "Parliamentary Gazette" just issued, some curious information and statistics are given in regard to the last Parliamentary session. The total number of Hansard columns spoken in the House of Commons was 78,492, of which Liberals were responsible for 4,355; Unionists for 4,895; Laborites for 542; and Nationalists for 410. Mr. Lloyd George was easily first. He spoke nearly 300 columns—or practically twice as many as the Prime Minister. Next comes Sir F. Balfour the only member to exceed the second hundred, and after him follow fifteen speakers with more than one hundred columns to their account. The following is a list showing the number of columns spoken by the leading men of both great parties. Liberals—Mr. Lloyd George 298; Mr. McKenna 164; Mr. Asquith 153; Mr. Samuel 148; Mr. Churchill 132; Colonel Seely 103; Sir R. Isaacs 90; Sir J. Simon 80; Mr. J. A. Pease 73; Sir E. Grey 70; Mr. McKinnon Wood 62; Mr. L. Harcourt 57; Mr. Birrell 55; Mr. Burns 51; Mr. Runciman 45; Mr. S. Buxton 34; Mr. A. Ure 9. Unionists—Mr. Bonar Law 186; Mr. Prentiss 177; Mr. A. NEW COMMANDER NAMED FOR INDIA

The Surprize Appointment of General Sir Beauchamp Duff.

It was announced by the "Times" on Wednesday that the King had approved the appointment of General Sir Beauchamp Duff to be commander-in-chief in India, in succession to General Sir O'Moore Creagh. This appointment breaks through a time honored precedent according to which the appointment has in the past been given alternately to officers of the Indian and of the British service. General Sir Beauchamp Duff is a soldier of the Kitchener school, who has put a great part of his services in India, but inasmuch as he was one of the possible successors to the post when General Sir O'Moore Creagh was appointed in 1909, it had not been generally supposed that his name would now be put forward for this important command. General Beauchamp Duff, G.C.B., K.C.S.I., K.C.V.O., G.I.E., is 58 years of age. The son of the late General William Duff, of Hatton Castle, Aberdeenshire, he was commissioned as Lieutenant in the Royal Artillery in 1874, served in the Afghan war in 1878-9, and was transferred to the Indian staff corps in 1881. Sir Beauchamp Duff has not only served with distinction in Afghanistan, Waziristan and South Africa, but has also held some of the most important posts in India, including those of Adjutant-General and Chief of the General Staff, to which he was appointed in 1906. In this position, which he held till 1909, Sir Beauchamp Duff became closely associated with Lord Kitchener.

FATAL AMBITION NOBLE AMBITION

Ambition a Prime Necessity to a Successful Life.

TEXT IS WRONGLY TRANSLATED Its Text: Import—Two Notable Examples in the Bible of Right and Wrong Ambitions—A Glorious Life and Prospect Ruined by Wrong Ambition—In Contrast, Another Glorious Life Enhanced in Eternal Glory by Following Right Ambition—The Lesson to the Church of Christ—Incidental Lessons to All and to Angels.

Wakington, D. C., November 2.—Of Pastor Russell's two discourses here today we report the one on "Ambitions—Noble and Right and Wrong." He took for his text Philippians 2:6, 7, but corrected the translation, rendering it thus: "Who, being in the form of God, did not meditate a usurpation to be on an equality with God, but [contrariwise] made Himself of no reputation, and took the form of a servant." He said: "Whoever has no ambition has not properly begun to live. Ambition implies appreciation of the value of life, and the ability to use it. It is a decision, a decision and a fixed determination of will. Parents and teachers should aim to lift before the young vision of the young noble ideals, and to assist them in determining what they would copy and which goal they will find life's energies to reach. To such parents and teachers many of those successful in life refer in terms of endeavor, 'I learned how much they owe to the encouragement of ideals and ambitions to which these assisted them.' As we learn to read character and to observe people, we perceive that many are ambitious, and that their ambitions are so low and trivial as not to be of real benefit. In a crowd of a thousand people, less than one hundred are ambitious by their faces and their energy that they have an ideal, an ambition, and are pursuing it. In other words, the vast majority of people lack the very meaning of life. This lack of proper ambition not only makes life a drudgery instead of a pleasure, it is a menace to our social fabric. According to the Bible, it is this nine-tenths of the human family, without lawful ambition, love, and affection, who are pulling down the structure of civilization in a kind of blind fury—the awakening of an ambition which is not to be satisfied by itself, will bring trouble upon all. It is the ambitious tenth of humanity that cause the wheels of progress to turn. The ambitious are keeping their own minds actively occupied and are giving employment to the remainder of men. The ambitious mechanic hopes to become an inventor and to rise in the social scale. The ambitious clerk strives for success, hoping to become a successful merchant. The ambitious professional man, the ambitious lawyer, the ambitious merchant, the ambitious capitalist, the ambitious inventor, take pride in building up monumental edifices, in the construction of great bridges, tunnels, etc. Others, ambitious along professional lines. There is a general tendency among the ambitious to view these successions of things as ends in themselves, rather than as means to other ends. Their ambitions are purely selfish, giving no credit to the pleasure of an exercise of ambition which the majority of men do not have, because they have none themselves. Men with ambition leading on to genius should be admired, appreciated, and honored. The ambitious people, however, are those that they have helped mankind in general to larger conceptions of life and to wider possibilities. I grant, indeed, that the ambition of the rich, in restraining the rich, and especially trusts and combinations of brain and money which might endanger the competitive life of the masses. But let us never forget how much we owe to the ambitious men whom we seek to restrain from power to crush those of less ambition and less capacity, who are more or less dependent upon them. As proving that some of our successful men were moved by ambition rather than by love, the Apostle (V. 10) declares that our Master's exaltation, as a result of His humility, is so great that all eventually must recognize Him as Lord of all. Let us, therefore, in the building of libraries, the financing of political and medical investigations for public weal. Whether their judgment and our agree as respects the wisdom of their benefactions is another matter. They have a right to exercise their own judgments in the use of money which came to them through the exercise of their own brains and ambitions. We can surely agree that a beautiful library building becomes an incentive for the erection of other beautiful buildings, even though the money for the building of the public make-use of the books therein and prefer the trashy kind. Perhaps some good may also result from the encouragement of the public to do anything else to undermine faith in the personal God of the Bible, and the hastening of the great day of anarchy by destroying faith and hope in Messiah's promised Kingdom, which are an offset to the trials and difficulties of the present life. We should remember that our text, and indeed the entire Bible, is addressed to the Church of Christ.

INEXPENSIVE GIFTS FOR CHRISTMAS, ARE EASILY MADE WHILE AT HOME

Very Useful Articles Which Are Sure To Be Appreciated.

A man is only a man after all, and he likes useful gifts, no matter who he may be. If you are wealthy or if your income is quite moderate the following gift suggestions may be adopted, as they are things that women can make in a little or may be quite expensive. It is rather curious that woman's own idea of a gift to a man is a cravat, for it is the one thing that a man deems having selected for him. But a man can nearly always wear that a woman will get him a cravat of a color that is not becoming to him or one that is too absurd to wear. And yet hundreds of thousands of women insist upon giving cravats for Yuletide gifts.

If you are overpowered by this idea please have a little mercy on mankind and select black and white cravats, for they are smart and are becoming to every man. Silk knitted ties are again in vogue, especially those that are three to four inches wide. Ties of heavy rayon silks are also indorsed by London.

Something Unique in Handkerchiefs. Handkerchiefs are always welcomed by a man if you give him plain white and do not attempt to choose colors for him unless you are his wife and know absolutely whether he prefers blue.

LACE AND EMBROIDERED INITIAL. Lavender, green, gray or another color. To make the handkerchiefs more gifty have his initials embroidered in a unique design.

The handkerchiefs in the cut are exceedingly new and attractive. The initial is worked on a square of lace in fine mesh could be purchased and cut up into the required size for the squares.

Leather Gifts. It is nearly always a man's fate to receive an abundance of unnecessary leather articles at Yuletide. There are men who never fail to get at least six leather mounted desk calendars and as many stamps and elastic bandboxes. Of course these are needless, but the man who possesses a desk generally has all such articles.

Wallets and cardcases are always usable, and a man is pleased if he gets them in the latest styles every Christmas.

WEEK BROOD AND REISSOR CARE. but in the fittings too. It reflects better taste if you give a small and beautiful fitted case rather than one filled with a shoddy toilet collection and a cleaning apparatus.

A fitted traveling bag makes a superb gift if you wish to expend that much money—$25 or more. If so, it is advisable to get ivory, imitation ivory or ebony fittings, as they are not quite so heavy as those of silver. The man who travels will be pleased to death with the neatly put up leather case seen in the illustration that is fitted with scissors of different sizes and a penknife. Add for the man who rides horseback what more appropriate than the white brown hoider mounted in a stirrup setting?

A girl who makes especially nice orange marmalade is planning this year to give her friends little decorated jars of this dainty for Christmas. She has bought prettily shaped glasses and has pasted on them little colored Christmas garlands and ropes of greens, with the red berries, which cost her only a few cents. She will wrap the glasses in holly sprayed paper napkins, making her simple gifts doubly attractive because of their pretty exterior.

Traveling Manicure Set. For the girl addicted to week end parties or for one who is much of a globe trotter, nothing by way of a manicure set could be more useful than the contrivance illustrated. The man-

Presents Made From Net. Surely some one who is a bit puzzled over Christmas gifts will be glad to know what attractive gifts can be fashioned out of remnants of net. These remnants can be picked up at the curtain goods counter as well as at the department of laces, where nets are likely to be higher. Collar protectors, to keep the blouse collar from being soiled by coat or furs, are made of a strip of net or all over lace about a third of a yard or even less in width and almost a yard long. A narrow hem is run in on both sides and each end gathered up closely and finished with any kind of tassel, black silk, white cotton, gilt or a small crocheted white ball. Occasionally these protectors have a few tiny pin tucks or smotherings in the center of the front the height of a collar, and some conceal a tiny weight where the end case is put on. A bit of color may be added, but it is wisest to make the protectors so that they may be laundered.

Kindergarten Gifts. One clever girl who has a small kindergarten class is preparing bean bags as gifts for her small pupils. She makes square bags about four inches and pink linen and three, but she embroiders the two or three initials cornerwise on the long and partly fills them with beans, making sure that they are not too heavy. If one is making the ever welcome bean bag and wants to give it an extra decorative touch it may be buttonholed around the edges. A set of the bean one pink and one blue, makes a gift suitable for any child.

The Cash Intrigue

By George Randolph Chester
(Copyright, 1909, by the Bobbs-Merrill Co.)

Kevin sprung forward in fright. "What's the matter?" Sam, Sam, Sam, in desperation to save Hing's life, he pulled Hing back and gave the negro a resounding kick in the side. With a moan, Hing fell. "Huh!" Sam uttered a cry, but still his heavy-lidded eyes looked over that of Hing, with his weight upon the man. "Huh!" Now, however, it was Hing's turn to stagger, stooping down to touch Sam over the head.

Phillip bent over Hing and loosened his collar and was fanning him. "What's the matter?" Hing asked. "There is a man here who has done some work for you and got some water in your hair." "Ah now, Ah, what's done gone on here? No damage to him, Missus Phillip, said Sam contently.

"Hurry and get that water," ordered Phillip. "Hurry and get that water, it's a very nice chance to handle my own affairs." "As, sah," said Sam as he plunged into the tank.

He brought water, but it took some time to reach Hing. When he came to his feet there was a little trickle of blood running from the corner of his mouth and Phillip offered him a handkerchief.

"Never mind," said Hing, waving it away. He was quite himself and resumed his assistance. He started to ward the horse, wiping his lips with one handkerchief and resting his neck. He staggered for a few paces, then squared his shoulders and walked steadily away.

Phillip, watching Sam, rolled safely off, walked into Hing's study, confidently the next morning. "It is going to cost you something to get these prizes. I don't tell you how to subsidize the newspapers, but I know how to subsidize the public," said Phillip, with a smile, and handed Hing a sheet of paper.

the most tremendous sensation that had ever been given since in the papers since Hing had completed his consolidation of all the cereal food in districts in the United States. No argument could hold against that. It was an argument which was admitted by Hing's own men. "It is more generous than I should have dared to ask for."

"Huh! I am saving money on it," declared Hing. "It's only a portion of a thousand fancy salaries that I expect you to stop at once." "It is a generous salary," he admitted, "more generous than I should have dared to ask for."

Kevin conducted Hing to a room next to his own, that had been fitted with a commodious desk and all that should go with it. Hing sat upon the desk and looked about him intelligently.

"Looks fairly complete, doesn't it? Did you have a hand in this?" "No," said Kevin, puzzled and piqued as well. "It has been arranged for a long time, I think, Mr. Hing. I have probably been planning to make Forest Lakes the capital of New York City."

"Perhaps the capital of the United States," retorted Hing, smiling in answer to the jest. "Who knows? He has a good start. He has paid a lot of attention to detail too. Everything is completed now except for a secretary, and I'd like to touch one of the row of buttons along the right hand edge of his desk, the one marked 'Secretary'."

Instantly the door of the adjoining room opened, and a sober faced and somewhat looking young man, richly dressed and clean shaven and well-headed, walked in, notebook in hand.

"Hello!" said Hing. "Who are you?" "I am your secretary, sir. I came last night. My name is Jens Nelson." "Sweden, eh?" guessed Hing. "Yes, sir," said Mr. Nelson. "I am a graduate of the Minnesota Technical college, founded by Mr. Hing, and am one of his scholarship men."

(Special Dispatch) LONDON, N...
THE announcement that Lloyd's is to have a separate existence as a daily newspaper next year is a fact that will excite the attention of the London Gazette, the oldest newspaper in London.

It was started by the city clock-keeper, Edward Lloyd, who gave to the great corporation of London Lloyd kept a coffee house in Lombard Street. In 1688 he removed to the street. To his house were attracted merchants engaged in ship trade in the course of time they had usual meeting place.

Lloyd was a man of business, a prize, and he conceived the idea of a newspaper devoted to shipping matters. The first number appeared in 1696, and was called "News." It was a very modest publication consisting of a single sheet printed on one side, the letters measuring inches by 5 1/2 inches. There was a day of publication, as appearing regulated evidently by the supply but this news would seem to be forthcoming in abundance at a time there were weeks when the numbers were issued from the press. But the newspaper had a brief life and with the seventy-sixth number on February 23, 1697 it ceased publication. In the final issue Lloyd had given offence to the government by mentioning that the Quakers had their House at Leeds to be executed officers. According to the Protestants, Lloyd was "deserted" that is, he was being groundless and a mad dog roasting in his next."
This coffee house keeper did not, but he promised not to put further news from a room. The British Museum, in its protection of newspapers, has but one Lloyd's News, but in the Bodleian at Oxford there is almost a complete entire issue, only the first six being missing.
It was not till 1726 that the news made its reappearance, and then this article of "Lloyd's List." Lloyd himself was responsible for the location it is impossible to say; but it was issued from "Lloyd's

Wee Willie Winkie Is New Vision in London Gallery

Mr. Arthur Rackham, the Artist of the Nursery, Displays His Drawings of "Mother Goose," "St. Ives" and Other Friends of Childhood.

EXHIBITION OF BLAKE'S PAINTINGS AT THE TATE

(Special Dispatch.) London, November 8. THOSE of his friends and critics who thought that Mr. Arthur Rackham was wasting his natural talent in Watercolor subjects will point to his exhibition at the Leicester Galleries as a complete justification of their opinion. The drawings for "Wee Willie Winkie," the "Tangleberry Legends" and more or less similar themes. His genius finds fullest scope, not in imaginative flights, but in the fanciful and the grotesque, particularly as they appeal to children of all ages. He is the artist of the nursery, just as William Miller was its laureate. With rare insight and charm he illustrates the latter's—

"Wee Willie Winkie runs through the town, Upstairs and downstairs, in his nightgown. 'Tisn't at the window, cryin' at the lock, 'Are the weans in their beds, for 'tis noo't o'clock?" Most of his water colors at the Leicester are pictorial commentaries and appreciations of "Mother Goose" and other nursery rhymes. As I was going to St. Ives, I saw Mr. Rackham's family in its happiest mood. He himself figures as the fortunate pilgrim to St. Ives—fortunate, that is, to have seen such an avalanche of cats and witches, and even more so in his ability to present his fantastic visions in his graphic fashion. Very symbolically he enters into the joy of the squirrels and the brownies as they watch the fair maid who, on the first of May, perpetuates her beauty by washing in dew from the hawthorn tree—a legend which recalls Stevenson's lines— "And ye shall wash your linen and keep your body white."

In rainfall at morning and dewfall at night. The fun of "Hark! Hark! The Dogs Bark, the Beggars Are Coming to Town," is infectious. With the little lad in front you go piping down the street to the amusement of old and young. "Mother Goose," "There Was an Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe," "Cock-a-Doodle-Do" and "Jack Sprat and His Wife" also are genuinely humorous, and they reveal the artist's happy power of observation and rare technical skill. The remarkably comprehensive exhibition of the works of William Blake organized by Mr. Charles Atten at the Tate Gallery will once more raise the old question— "Was Blake a genius or a madman with lucid moments?" Some will find the answer to both questions at this exhibition. The artist himself says— "The

Lloyd's List to Become a Daily

Now Incorporated with Shipping and Mercantile Gazette, It Will Soon Appear Separately.

(Special Dispatch.) London, November 8. THE announcement that Lloyd's List is to have a separate existence as a daily newspaper next year is of interest from the fact that with the exception of the London Gazette, it is the oldest newspaper in London.

It was started by the city coffee house keeper, Edward Lloyd, who gave his name to the great corporation of underwriters. Lloyd kept a coffee house in Tower street, but about 1692 he removed to Lombard street. To his house were attached the merchants engaged in ship broking, and in the course of time they made it their usual meeting place. Lloyd was a man of business and enterprise, and he conceived the idea of starting a newspaper devoted to shipping and commerce. The first number appeared in September, 1666, and was called Lloyd's News. It was a very modest production, consisting of a single sheet printed on both sides, the letterpress measuring only 10 1/2 inches by 15 1/2 inches. There was no regular day of publication, its appearance being regulated evidently by the supply of news, but this news would seem to have been forthcoming in abundance at times, for there were some weeks when as many as three numbers were issued from the press. But the newspaper had a brief career, and with the seventy-sixth number (issued on February 23, 1697) it ceased publication. In the final issue Lloyd had apparently given offense to the government by announcing that the Quakers had petitioned the House of Lords to be excused from all duties. According to the Protestant Mercury, Lloyd was "desired that the statement being groundless and a mistake, he do recede in his next."

This coffee house keeper declined to do, but he promised not to publish any further numbers for a time. The British Museum, in its great collection of newspapers, has a copy of Lloyd's News, but in the Bodleian Library at Oxford there is almost a complete set of the entire issue, only the first six numbers being missing. It was not till 1728 that the newspaper made its reappearance, and then with the title altered to Lloyd's List. Whether Lloyd himself was responsible for its publication it is impossible to say; but at any rate it was issued from "Lloyd's Coffee House" in Lombard street. The accompanying portrait is that of Miss Annie Evans, an eighteen-year-old cardroom worker of Stalybridge, England, who has just won the Herbert Rhodes scholarship founded to help promising Stalybridge musicians and tenable at the Manchester Royal College of Music. Miss Evans worked until recently in a cotton mill and although the loft home at half past five o'clock each morning, found time to devote a part of the day to her musical studies. She has a soprano voice and is a clever violinist.

FROM MILL TO COLLEGE FINDS CHECK FOR PHILIPPINE PLAGUE

Dr. E. L. Walker Makes Announcement as to Means to Fight Amoebic Dysentery. EXPERIMENTED 3 YEARS Declares That It is Possible to Eradicate Disease from Any Well Kept Community in the Tropics.

(Special Dispatch.) Manila, November 8. AFTER three years of experiment to determine the nature, prevention and cure of amoebic dysentery, Dr. E. L. Walker, of the Bureau of Science of the government of the Philippine Islands, has just made public a series of discoveries regarding the "filicidal" tropical disease. His statement, printed in the Philippine Journal of Science, gives the history of many experiments in which information was gained by feeding various kinds of amoebae to volunteers. There is at present no more satisfactory eradication than that of amoebic dysentery, and effective measures to prevent spread of the disease have been sought for many years. Amoebae are to be found everywhere in the tropics, in the water, on soil, and even in the air, and the ease with which they are contracted together with the difficulty of curing it has made it a vital menace in tropical countries. One of the results attained by Dr. Walker is the proof that only one species of amoeba is pathogenic, and that it is possible to eradicate the disease from any well kept and sanitary community in the tropics. He has found effective treatments, most of them mushroom moderate and comfortable than those formerly practiced, and through his work the ravages of the dysentery have been limited to a considerable extent. In a statement made to your correspondent concerning his researches Dr. Walker said: "The knowledge obtained in our investigations divides the amoebae into three distinct classes and enables a specialist to determine with certainty the progress of the disease, and the 'best' course of treatment applicable. It makes it unnecessary for those persons who are parasitized with the harmless amoebae to undergo treatment and enables the physician to 'test' with treatment attacks and relapses of the more serious quality of the disease. "The precautions that must be taken to prevent infection of the virulent amoebae must be generally known by all persons living in the tropics; since the pathogenic amoebae can propagate only as a parasite in the intestine of man, it has been definitely established that every case of amoebic dysentery must originate directly or indirectly from some other case of the same type and the steps to stamp out the disease must therefore be organized and general. "We have made it clear that water or any other article of themselves, or in consequence of the common amoebae but not upon them, cannot cause amoebic dysentery. It is only when they are contaminated with faecal matter that they become passive carriers of the infection. There is a possibility, of course, of contamination of the water supply, but sewage is allowed to enter into a water supply, or were contaminated fertilizer is used to produce vegetables. The matter, therefore, rests largely with care and sanitation, and a great amount of the disease can be checked in this way alone."

SEAPARING LANGUAGE ON LAW LORD'S LIPS

(Special Dispatch.) London, November 8. MR. JUSTICE PHILLIMORE, the new Law Lord, is a strong Judge, but prim and mild of speech. It was when he was hearing an admissions case that the contrast between his manner and the bearing of seafaring witnesses was not without its humorous aspects. In an action tried before him the defendant vessel pleaded "compulsory pilotage," and her captain affirmed in his evidence that he was aware that the pilot was taking a course which might lead to mishap. "But surely," interposed Mr. Justice Phillimore, "you might have said to the pilot, 'You seem to be steering a wrong course.'" The suggestion of such a daily language on the bridge left the captain speechless. The only person who would have been more astonished would have been the pilot. If he had heard himself addressed by the captain in such drawing-room terms.

NO PITY FOR PRINCE WHO "HATES" PORRIDGE

(Special Dispatch.) London, November 8. FROM time immemorial, official had a reputation of being good for the complexion. Whether it be due to oatmeal or not, the complexion of the Royal children, like that of their mother, Queen Mary, have always been admired and envied; but Scotch porridge has always formed the first course of their breakfast. The Prince of Wales alone among the family hates it. One morning lately he "finked" it, and begged his mother to let him eat "just this once." But the Queen replied promptly, "I want you to grow up tall and muscular." The Prince, who is known to be very jealous of his sister Mary's inches, gulped it down.

Payment for Votes Already an Exact Science in China

Election of Yuan Shih-kai to the Presidency Attended by Amazing Circumstances, in Which Recalcitrants Are Bulldozed and Even Starved While Forced to Vote.

"BOODLE" ABUNDANT AND NONE OF IT WASTED

(Special Dispatch.) Peking, November 8. THE recent election of Yuan Shih-kai to the Presidency of the Republic of China affords most interesting examples of what peculiar things can be done in a free and enlightened republic—as this newest and largest aspirant to republican honors is called by the "heroes" who founded it. The election of a Chinese President compares in no particular with a similar event in America. There is no stamping the country, no leading round and whipping the citizens to a frazzle from the fall of a hundred mile an hour express, no sixteen speeches a morning by rival candidates, no popular upheavals, and "boodle" is abundant. "Boodle" is abundant, and it is reduced to a fine art, and the ostentatious display of force is reduced to a finer one. That is where the would-be President in China has the advantage. If he happens to have been in power over the army. The election which has just placed Yuan Shih-kai in the Presidential chair came ahead of the constitution, which he wears to uphold. The committee which occupied the Temple of Heaven in its work of drafting a constitution was halting remarkably slow progress when infatuation was conveyed to them at the instance of the President that it would be well if they first of all drafted the election dealing with the election of the President and postponed the remainder for a later day. The hint permitted of no evasion. It came just as Yuan Shih-kai arrived on the scene and after the "heroes" had placed the Seal of Japan between themselves and what they had previously euphemistically described as "the greatest Republic on earth."

Arranging the Terms. The members of the Constitution Committee were convinced upon reflection that it would be profitable to be wise in time, and forthwith the draft of the rules and regulations for making of Presidents in China was produced. One rule placed the term at six years; another prevented a President from seeking re-election, and a few others placed restraints which were aimed directly at Yuan Shih-kai. The members hoping they would eventually be adopted by Parliament, but paying the price for escape from culpability, if serious objection arose to them, by declaring that they were only the basis for consideration and that was all the committee was expected to prepare. Very little time elapsed before the members of the committee began to hear gentle remonstrances from various military and police organizations. Some conveyed sinister threats, others a hint that considerable freedom were not given to the President, perhaps there would be no deliberation at all. The irritation broke into a storm when a member of the committee announced that he would resign. The speaker announced that Yuan Shih-kai had been elected President with a vote of 607. Li Yuan Hing being the other candidate, with 119.

The "Bomb" Explodes. As the speaker read the result of the election, a photograph lighted a flash ball, and another began to describe a panic. The members and the spectators, who were without warning of the intention of the speaker, broke for the doorway and attempted to escape. There was wild shouting, fighting, and a commotion of all kinds. The speaker announced that Yuan Shih-kai had been elected President with a vote of 607. Li Yuan Hing being the other candidate, with 119.

Members of the committee were convinced upon reflection that it would be profitable to be wise in time, and forthwith the draft of the rules and regulations for making of Presidents in China was produced. One rule placed the term at six years; another prevented a President from seeking re-election, and a few others placed restraints which were aimed directly at Yuan Shih-kai. War Pictures at the Apollo.

The pictures of the Battle of Waterloo which are being shown at the Apollo Theatre the last three days of this week, are proving a tremendous success, the theatre being packed to capacity, as early as 7.30 last evening and crowds continued to pour in to each subsequent performance, hundreds being turned away, unable to gain admission. This feature is a continuation of the policy of the management of this theatre to secure the big film sensations as early as possible regardless of the cost of same.

As a feature production the Battle of Waterloo is well worthy of the hearty endorsement it is receiving wherever shown. The scenes were taken on the old historic site of the actual battle and are declared by the severest of European critics to be perfectly true in detail. Five thousand feet of film, with live action for every foot, 4,000 troops and eight hundred horses, make this the greatest of all war pictures ever attempted. The hearty and continuous applause which the picture received, well proved the delight of last night's audience.

For the first half of next week Mr. Moule announces that he has secured "Arizona" Augustus Thomas' popular play in six parts, or 6,000 ft. of film. An all star cast are to be seen in the picture which has until the last couple of weeks been shown in opera houses only at prices of 25c and 50c. This is the biggest and most expensive feature film ever shown in this city, and takes 1 1/2 hours to present, being an entire play.

Work is being rushed on the new theatre on Dalhousie street in order to have it open before Christmas. From the standpoint of construction compactness, and centrality the new theatre will undoubtedly be the costliest in Brantford. All that is needed is some high class repertoire and the venture will be a success. When it comes to stage attractions Brantford is shabbily treated as compared with other cities, and when star attractions do come the prices are exorbitant. Perhaps this is why the smaller houses are declaring big dividends.

Marcus Loew, millionaire vaude-coming of New York, who is rapidly becoming a great power in the theatrical world, is building a theatre in Toronto, one in Montreal and one in Ottawa. Mr. Loew says his Toronto theatre will open about the second week in December. Several theatrical notables in New York will be taken to Toronto in a special car for the opening, including Lew Fields, Joe Weber, Irving Berlin and Harry Carroll, the song writer.

Mrs. John Purroy Mitchel aided her husband greatly in the successful campaign for Mayor of the city of New York. Mr. and Mrs. Mitchel will now go on their honeymoon, not that they were recently married but that politics kept Mr. Mitchel so busy he had no time for a honeymoon trip, and no doubt it will be a doubly joyous trip, for Mr. Mitchel has gained his wish—to be Mayor of the greatest city in the United States.

Willie Ritchie Says Welsh Can Have Fight Whenever Offer's Good

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Willie Ritchie, with his soft, pleasant voice, and his friendly smile is the last fellow in the world one might take for a fighter. But Willie has delivered the goods and is full of confidence of his ability to continue delivering for some time to come.

"I expect to box Leach Cross here, according to programme," said Willie. "I'd like to take on some of the two hours afterward if I find time, but I'll probably fight Tommy Murphy on the Coast on Thanksgiving Day. Then I have very fair proposals from Kenosha and Milwaukee, where the sport is just opening up. I'd like to take them all in. There's nothing like hustling when business is good.

"In California lots of people think I'd be afraid to tackle Murphy. Tommy has done some great fighting there, and they think the world of him.

"Welsh can have a fight whenever there's a good offer for it. I dropped that match in Vancouver simply because the promoters failed to make good their contract. They were rich men, undoubtedly—racketeers. If the fight had come off Labor Day it would have been all right for with Saturday, Sunday and Monday clear people would have come to Vancouver from Portland, Seattle, Tacoma, Medford and lots of other places. Why there was to have been an excursion train from Manitoba, forty-eight hours away. There would have been a tremendous crowd, and the promoters counted upon having that crowd go right across the street after the fight into the racetrack, which would have doubled their profits. But, unfortunately, Freddy hurt his ankle and had to postpone it. Before the later date arrived, the authorities closed the racetrack, which could only run thirty days under Canadian law, and which had already run over eighty. When that happened the promoters began to figure how much money they might lose on the postponed fight, with their guarantee and advertising expenses amounting to $25,000 before they opened the gates. They began to look for a loophole, and they soon found it. They shifted the responsibility from one to another and refused to put up the certified cheque payable to Willie Ritchie, as agreed upon. It looked as if there'd be no crowd, a fight run at a loss, and very much doubt as to whether I'd get my money or not. I gave the promoter twenty-four hours to go through with his agreement, telling him I would leave Vancouver if he failed to do so. He must have wanted me to leave, for instead of stopping at my camp every day, he kept out of sight entirely.

"There's one thing I want to do before very long, if I can find time. I want to take a leisurely ride from New York to San Francisco in my auto, I'd like to do that while I'm champion, because it would be so much more fun. Nobody ever knows how long he can last as champion, you know. I expect to last as long as any, because I take the best of care of myself, and live like any boy at home with his folks. But as soon as a better man can take my title away, he'll be welcome to it."

stand as firm as a rock. Madame Sarah Bernhardt, who is an enthusiast about the moving picture, said to me not long ago that the supreme human value of the stage, the very question of warm personality, with which the mechanical can never compete, will always bring the pendulum swinging back in favor of the theatre.

As a theatre manager of some experience I have never yet found the question of price debated as a reason for empty seats when a play was really wanted.

"The moving picture," he says, "avoids a vacuum." In filming "Hamlet," for instance, instead of beginning in the middle of the story, and making explanation later, he tells us that in pictures the story is told from the very beginning, long before the text itself starts.

quarters. Prettily decorated with pennant's flags, etc., attractive to the boy's eye, it certainly makes a snug retreat. They have a piano, comfortable furniture and a selection of books dealing with scout lore and other subjects of interest to the growing boy. Their trophies, consisting of several handsome shields and cups are situated in a glass case, modestly occupying a corner. Their signalling flags, rifles and other paraphernalia are neatly stowed away in a case at the head of the room. In fact, everywhere is displayed neatness, comfort and facility in the arrangements. This room it is expected will be the scene of many joyous gatherings during the coming winter, now thoroughly appreciated as a communing place for the scouts and a cosy meeting place where scout plans can be discussed.

"Say Fannie—these new Columbia Records beat anything we've ever had!"

—and I learned why to-day. The Columbia people make them in a different way. Instead of economising and using one mixture for the whole record they make it in five layers—using the economical material only in the centre where it doesn't count in the recording. The best and most expensive grade they can find is used for the outer surfaces on which the music is recorded. That's why Columbia's last five times longer. The same difference in value as there is between an ordinary pine and an expensive built-up oak door.

"Well dear, even if they didn't last any longer I'd prefer them, they are so much clearer and give the music just as it came originally from the voice or instrument. They are really and truly music."

"That's true. George is angry at Mary for not trying the Grafonola before she bought their machine, but he vows he's not going to buy any but Columbia Records now that he's heard these new ones of ours."

"Well, I told her they were luckier than they deserved—because Columbia Records will make their machine almost as good as our Grafonola, and they can save money now by using the Columbia double disc records at 85c."
