SALE OF ALBERT RAILWAY.—The Albert Railway was sold today (Thursday) being bid in by A. A. Stockton Esq. for the English bondholders. The price paid was $60,000.

MONTHS AGO.—In order to prove our statement that typhoid fever was not prevalent in Hillsboro Nov. 1st, the Maple Leaf last week referred to a death which occurred Sept. 6th. What fever cases of last September have to do with the present time will not be apparent to any but the brilliant Maple Leaf editor.

CHRISTMAS CARDS and all foreign Christmas Papers are completely put in the shelves in Canada this year by the publication of the grandest Christmas Paper ever published. Those who know say the Christmas Number of the Montreal Star will take the public completely by storm.

MISS V. M. Doherty, of Stony Creek, was in St. John last week purchasing a stack of goods. She has opened a new Millinery store on Main St. Moncton, lately vacated by Miss Ellen Wright. Having secured the services of one of the best and most practical milliners in the province and having a carefully selected stock of the latest and newest styles, she cannot fail to receive an extensive patronage at once.

STOUCHEM AT LAST.—B. B. Smith Esq., the popular postal clerk on the Albert Railway, who some of the young set began to fancy had an adamantine heart, has at last been drawn from the dismal state of bachelorhood into the blissful benediction ranks. He returned last Monday from Amosbury, Mass., with his bride, one of New Horton's fairest daughters. They expect to locate at Harvey Bank where they will be "At Home" to their friends on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings during December. The OBSERVER congratulates and extends best wishes to the happy couple.

JUDGES OF PROBATES.—The Provincial Government has dismissed Geo. H. Steadman Esq. from the office of Judge of Probates for Albert County and appointed W. A. Trueman Esq. of Albert in his stead. Mr. Trueman, who is already a judge and dignified deportment is essentially to the province, will no doubt make an impartial and efficient official and the OBSERVER tenderly congratulates.

The Maple Leaf appears to think Mr. Steadman deserves his fate and perhaps did for patronizing that unstable, unreliable, incontinent, unprincipled, "hoodlum" as largely as he did. So long as Mr. S. had "Probate Notices" to furnish the Maple Leaf he was everything to be desired but now, alas, the "scene is changed." Steadman is justly punished while Judge Trueman, who, as returning officer of a certain election, was so corrupt, dishonest, and altogether bad in the Maple Leaf's eyes, has suddenly been transformed into a respected, honorable Judge. Verily, "Lovey" dear for double-shuff, back-action, taro-the-coat, political gymnastics show don't "take the cake."

Harvey Notes.

For the first time this season snow fell in Harvey on the 9th inst. It came fast and faster until streets, fields and mountain side were carpeted in white.

But by noon on the following day it had altogether disappeared; and now neither east, west, north or south does the eye rest on one spot of snow.

Mr. Allan Bishop has for some time been working on Mr. Scott Pearson's house. Mr. Job Pearson expects to move his family into it this fall.

The Harvey Baptist S. School gave on Sunday evening last, a grand Harvest Concert.

Last Thursday Miss Laura Robinson went to St. John and returned on Saturday.

Mr. David Wilbur has dug a drain from his cellar about 100 yards through the field of Mr. McLeod. He also tried an under-drain in his garden but found the fall to be only about 4 inches in 100 feet. Abandoning this he is now collar a drain from the garden into the cellar to connect with the drain running there from.

The schooner La Dora, Parker, of Margareville, N. S., is in with apples. The sale seems slow.

It is reported that the enterprising firm of Graves & Foster intend chartering the La Dora for a load of coal. This, it is to be hoped, is time, as for the last few years people have almost perished before winter coal arrived.

Mrs. Wm. Brewster arrived home last Friday from New London, Conn., after an absence of several months.

After halting between two opinions for quite a time Mr. B. R. Smith has summoned courage to join the benedictine. On Monday last he and his bride arrived on the 14.45 train and immediately drove to his father's residence.

Mr. David Wilbur has the contract for re-shingling a part of the school-house and has begun the work.

Mrs. Dr. Jump, after doing excellent work at the Bank, has gone to Corral and there has a large class in painting.

High Priced Coats.

W. F. Todd sold to J. J. Clegg of Lexington, Kentucky, the choicest pig by Panocost, dam Adèle Gould. This little pig is bred in the same blood line as the phenomenal Patron, 2,144, and was foaled on July 19th. The price $3,000, is the largest ever paid for a suckling pig in Canada. The same gentleman offered $10,000 for Daisy Hartshorn. Mr. Todd has been offered $13,000 for the same mare and of course the offer was promptly refused. There is no doubt that the best brood mares in Canada are stable at the Oak Point stock farm.—Courier.

"Wooden-Headed."

When a wooden pavement was desired outside St. Paul's cathedral, Sidney Smith said: "If the canon will simply put his hands together, the thing is done!" They were not half so wooden-headed, however, as would be to deny the merit of Dr. E. V. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which has cured many thousands of liver diseases, impure blood, King's-corn, salt rheum, dropsy, chronic affections of the throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs, asthma, catarrh, influenza, neuralgia, dyspepsia, constipation, and all skin diseases. Druggists.

A New Sect.

The ministers from whom fellowship has been withdrawn by the Baptist and Free Christian Baptist conferences, met in the main street Baptist church, Woodstock, last week. As the result of a three days' meeting they have organized a new denomination to be known as the Reformed Baptist Church. The form of doctrine agreed on is very similar to that of F. C. Baptists, except that their views of sanctification are especially stated therein, and that baptism is either formal or that of immersion will be special cases and by vote of the church accepted. The church organized at Woodstock will have G. W. McDonald for pastor. Other churches will be organized in other parts in a short time.—Ex.

Give Us More of the N. P.

Canada is prospering, notwithstanding the croakers, as she has never done before. The policy of encouraging home industries has been a success. The proof of it is in the growth of its manufacturing centers like Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, and Quebec. The farmers, too, are better off than before the N. P. was inaugurated.

What is the legitimate inference? That the N. P. ought to be extended so as to encourage industries that have not yet felt the stimulus that well-directed protection affords. There are any amount of goods and manufactured articles that we import that ought to be made at home and which a small advance in tariff would bring about. The government at Ottawa, it is said, and Mr. Foster, if equal to the situation as Minister of Finance, will both be moving in this direction.

More home industries mean larger cities, better home markets for the farmer, better wages for work people, and work for the unemployed.

National Policy as regards the tariff, as well as regards our relations to our neighbor, is the cry!

As for Toronto it has simply gone forward by leaps and bounds since the inauguration of the N. P., and if the N. P. is only continued and strengthened our population will be half a million in the year 1900.—Toronto World.

If We Knew.

If we knew, when walking thoughtless through the noisy crowded way, That some party of wondrous wittiness Close beside our pathway lay, We would pause where now we hasten, Lest our careless feet should trample Some rare jewel to the ground.

If we knew what forms were fainting For the shade that we should fling, If we knew what lips were paroling For the water we could bring, We would taste with eager footsteps, We would work with willing hands, Bearing cups of cooling water, Planting rows of shading palms.

If we knew what lives are darkened, Which had over lain among them, Like the frost among the flowers, Oh, with what sincere repentings, With what anguish we regret, While our eyes were overlooking, We would cry, forgive! forgive!

If we knew? Alas! I do not know Whether bitter herbs or roses In our neighbor's garden grow, God forgive us! lest hereafter Our hearts break to hear him say: Careless child, I never knew you, From my presence, see away.

Catarrah, Catarrhal Deafness, Hay Fever.

A New Home Treatment.

Sufferers are not generally aware that these diseases are contagious, or that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the lining membrane of the nose and catarrhal tubes. Microscopic research, however, has proved this to be a fact, and the result is that a simple remedy has been formulated whereby catarrh, catarrhal deafness and hay fever are permanently cured in from one to three simple applications made at home by the patient once in two weeks. N. B.—For catarrhal discharges peculiar to females (white) this remedy is a specific. A pamphlet explaining this new treatment is sent on receipt of ten cents by A. H. DIXON & SON, 308 West King St., Toronto, Canada.—Scientific American.

Sufferers from catarrhal troubles should carefully read the above. Nov. 1, 1888.

Somebody.

Somebody's coming into the world, Somebody's leaving it, somebody weeps, Somebody's barge on life's stream is whirling.

Somebody gaily glides over the deeps, Somebody, somewhere, is laughing to-night, Somebody's singing while somebody sighs, Somebody, somewhere, is quaffing the brim.

Fruit of the grape—while somebody dies, Somebody's heart is bursting with joy, Somebody's starting somewhere alone, Somebody's suffering for somebody's boy, Somebody's praying and maketh no moan, Somebody's hand is lifted on high—

Somebody's heart is riven in twain, Somebody, somewhere, hears somebody cry, And the river flows smoothly again.

Somebody's dirge is sung by the waves, Somebody never more sorrow will know, Somebody's dame Fortune's fickleness grieves, Somebody's soul's as pure as the snow, Somebody's hearts as black as the night, Somebody's eyes are closed 'neath the sod, Somebody's soul was too weak for the sea, And so it is eered upward—to God.

HILLSBORO, N. B., Nov. 15, 1888. Observations.

Crop Reports.

The St. John Sun has lately been seeking information concerning the average age and condition of the crops in New Brunswick. We quote below its report regarding Albert County:--

Hay--Seventy-five per cent was harvested in good condition and 25 p. c. in a damaged condition by rains and the very dry spring. All the crop can be used as hay. Barley, 50 p. c. damaged; 50 p. c. was damaged by frost and 10 p. c. by wheat, little sown; damaged by frost, 20 p. c. a total loss.

Potatoes--An average crop, and would have been large but for effects of early frost and rain. Not all gathered yet on account of wet weather.

Root crops, 35 p. c. short through injury by wet weather; not yet gathered in.

All on Account of Sickness.

Owing to the fact that two of the correspondents in THE OBSERVER'S Office were taken suddenly ill last week we are compelled to issue a half sheet this week. As the sick are rapidly recovering under the skillful treatment of Dr. Randall we hope to get out a well filled paper next week.

Saint John Letter.

My Editors, and Something About Other Matters.

I have some pleasant recollections of my first Editor. My aunt wrote poetry, which he published in his column, and as the Church I attended, he sang in the choir, and when my father came home one day and told me that my editor in an argument with Judge Wright had broken the nose of the Judge with a blow from his fist, I concluded that my editor could do nothing less than a genius. From that time I looked upon my editor with a good deal of awe, and when Judge Wright came along and ran his fingers through his hair, as he often did, and told me that some day I might be a Judge, I told him I'd rather be an editor.

The face of my next editor was scarred all over with small pox, and he worked at the case, and at the press; his hands were always black with ink, and he had a wild look in his eyes, and Saturdays he went to his office with a big bottle in his pocket and nobody saw anything more of him for 48 hours. He was very kind to me (I was at school then) and I spent my leisure hours in his office, and I learned how to set type, and sometimes in an obscure corner of his paper there was published a rhyme of my own. Reader, when you were a boy (or a girl) did you ever see a rhyme in print? If not you have missed one of the great delights of life.

My next editor was a man of culture and high descent. He never worked at the case, nor at the press. In fact manual labor was out of his sphere, and mental labor was distasteful to him as now it is to a mystery how he grew that wonderful nose in the temperance town from which his paper was issued, but it grew, and if furnished, and for aught I know, it may be flourishing yet.

My next editor was Horace Greeley of the New York Tribune. I was a frequent contributor to his paper, and as he had consented to lecture in our town (by the way, it was in our town that he had spent his struggling boyhood) I was appointed a Com. officer of one to receive him. It was a stormy winter's night, and when Mr. Greeley stepped from the train I recognized him by his white-surfaced and shaggy hair.

Mr. Greeley? Yes.

Where's the lecture hall? About a mile and a half away. I have a coach for you.

Don't want a coach; point the way. The writer pointed out the way, and through the blinding snow storm he followed Mr. Greeley to the lecture hall.

My next editor was George E. Graham, of Graham's Magazine and Lewis Gaylord Clark, of the Knickerbocker. Poor Graham is in a New York Hospital, and dear, kind, genial Clark died many years ago. I think he stood at the head of the class; that he was the most brilliant editor that ever lived in America.

And who were his contributors? They were Washington Irving, and J. K. Paulding, and H. W. Rockwell, and C. A. Bristol, and N. P. Willis, and George P. Morris, and E. A. Pen, and W. D. Bryant, and Fred Shilken, and Ed. S. Conroy, and a hundred others hardly less famous.

I may refer to my editors again.

Mark Train never wrote anything more ridiculous than some of the comments on the presidential election that we meet with in the provincial press. But I don't know as they are any more idiotic than some of the comments of the American press on provincial affairs. Six months ago Mr. Cleveland was, with the exception of Abraham Lincoln, the most popular man who has occupied the presidential chair during the past forty years. He had at his back the entire Democratic party which consisted of the "Solid South" and the Fenian element in the North, supplemented by a good sprinkling of Republicans with free trade principles. At the demand of the Fenians he adopted his retaliatory policy and dismissed Lord Shackville. By doing this he did not strengthen himself with his Fenian allies for it is no less natural for them to vote the Democratic ticket than it is to swing a scabbard, but he lost the vote of many an American who was disposed to resent the interference of that element in the government of the nation. Thus he lost his election, and from this day forward the anti-British element will cease to be regarded as an important factor in American politics.

Still the Dublin Fenians and about the fact that Harrison owes his election to Irish votes just as it is claimed in some quarters that the rebellion was suppressed by Irish bayonets. Yet statistics prove that while in the Northern armies there were some 80,000 Germans and about the same number of Canadians, less than 20,000 Irishmen participated in the conflict.

"The St. John Telegraph says"--A southern man will hardly do for a candidate, owing to southern prejudices against the north, and hence our north is chosen uniformly chosen, but having served our term the Democratic president usually loses ground in the north.

President Cleveland by losing favor in New York lost the election, although the south was as solid in his support as before. This is all true; the people of the United States object to a southern president the same as the people of Canada would object to being governed by one of Riel's half-breeds. The St. John Globe very sensibly remarks that "the presidential election has passed off in a way to prove that the people of the United States value their institutions and display self-control, calm judgment and moderation in an important crisis." The Evening Gazette, generally quite off its base when speaking of American affairs, in its Friday issue, after referring to Cleveland's retaliation policy very sensibly said--"The defection of the business men from Cleveland is clearly shown by the great falling away in his vote in Brooklyn where the majority of the down town business men of New York reside. These men want a safe and sane loving President, not a dangerous crank who irritates war and bloodshed for the sake of a few Fenian votes. The Irish vote is not nearly so important as most people suppose and we venture to predict that there will be no special effort made to gain it in 1892. The result of the present election shows that the Irish vote is much less weighty and potent than even we were willing to believe it was. Cleveland crawled in the very dirt to gain it, and yet with his help, he was defeated, because every Irish vote he gained by such means, he lost the vote of two judicious and self-respecting American citizens. The time has gone past evidently when appeal to Irish passions and hatred to England can win an election in the United States, and it is well that it is so, and that the more honest men who are administered to a man who has proved himself one of the most blatant and unprincipled demagogues of who ever filled the presidential chair." J. Theo. Robinson, of Montreal, has published a book which will deeply interest all those who are prone to speculate on the Hereafter. It is entitled "Letters From Hell", and has a preface by Rev. George McDonald. The idea of the author is that Hell is an eternal remembrance of guilt, which is most vividly depicted in his book. Mr. McDonald commends it to the careful perusal of all within whose reach it may come.

Messrs. Wm. Parks & Son give employment to the New Brunswick and St. John Cotton Mills to about 300 operatives brought out from England, aside from a force of 400 or 500 provincial operatives. They do not distinguish between labor, but just come out here at the instance of relatives and friends who help them to start life anew in this western world. In the New Brunswick Mills forty-four new looms have quite lately been placed in position, including a number for double sheeting, also a new pair self-acting mules for spinning hosiery yarn, producing as fine work as the world is capable of. These mules are capable of turning out 2,000 pounds of yarn per week. They have also recently added a series of winding machines capable of winding all the yarn spun on their mules. Other new machinery consists of a patent drawing frame, made by Samuel Brooks, of Manchester, and a new Intermediate roller frame from the establishment of Mass & Co., Rosendale, Mass.

Parks & Son are now spinning 19,000 3000 pounds, equal to 73,500 yards of cloth. The American Rubber Store 65 Charlotte street is the only exclusive rubber store east of Boston. Their goods all come direct from their factories and they are constantly receiving new styles and patterns as they are manufactured. They have introduced many novelties in St. John prominent among which is the famous "Langtry" Besile and are daily sending large numbers by mail to all parts of Canada. They were the first in St. John to introduce the ladies tight fitting waterproof cloaks, and gentlemen's tweed rubber coats with own seams. On receipt of stamp they send prepaid to any address samples and prices of ladies waterproof cloaks, and their small order business is now a department by itself. The latest novelty to be seen in their handsome show windows is a genuine rubber tree, a beautiful young specimen received by them direct from its home in Para, Brazil. The tree is growing fast and is the first on exhibition in Canada.

Canada has a Future. Canada has a future. This is all we know concerning it. It is hard to read. We guess at the contents of a book that the years will open. We see what we wish to see. Through the darkness we think we read truth in the stories that our hopes are telling. The war among us cannot read the history of Canada ten years ahead. There is so much to happen and so little can change our destiny. Events may fairly present prophecies framed in the trusting faith of authors in their own ability to declare what the years that are far off have in store for Canada. There is faith in foolishness. To us who find in the living present no encouragement or thoughts there is no discouragement in doubt. We know that Canada has a future. It will be what the people of the Dominion make it. When we think of the future it is illumined by the light of past achievements. Our history is short but it is not inglorious. Our greatness will not have its source in battles but in industry that has made of many provinces one nation. As a people then we daily guess from blessings known of greater ones of sight. God has been good to Canada. Its part in the key to its future. As they have done so its people will do. Trusting in Providence, their country and themselves, this nation faces the unknown--Telegraph (Ind.)

The English Market. Great Britain in 1887 purchased four times as much of the farm products of Canada as in 1888 while the purchases of the United States were actually less in 1887 than they were twenty years ago. During the last 20 years the United Kingdom has taken from us nearly 350 million dollars worth of the produce of the farm alone. While we sell in the U. S. each year about the value of $100 million worth of products of the farm, we purchase from them each year to the value of 12 millions of dollars worth, leaving a balance in our favour of only 24 millions. This fact shows very clearly that our trade with the U. S. is largely comprised of natural products alone while the purchases from them would have some drawbacks in that it would enable the Americans the better to compete with our farmers in our own markets.
