Good Coffee.

It is asserted by men of high professional standing that when the system needs a stimulant, nothing equals a cup of good coffee. It is also affirmed by eminent physicians that Ayer's Sarsaparilla braces up the system, quickens the circulation, increases the appetite, promotes digestion, and for all the purposes of a blood purifier is the most reliable, the most powerful as well as the cheapest medicine ever devised.

The Miraculous Medal.

(Paris Correspondence of the Philadelphia Catholic Times.)
Our Holy Father Leo XIII., while erecting into a feast the apparition of the Blessed Virgin at Lourdes has not been unmindful of her manifestation to a daughter of St. Vincent de Paul at Paris in 1830. Accordingly in July, 1890, he juridically recognized the above manifestation and instituted in its honor a special feast, granting a proper Mass and office. The children of St. Vincent in appreciation of this favor have been ordered by their superior-general to fittingly commemorate the event by a solemn triduum on November 25, 26 and 27.
The history of the manifestation is as follows: "Among the Sisters of Charity at the mother house at Paris in 1830 was Sister Catherine Labouré. Filled from her infancy with a tender devotion to Mary Immaculate, she had often desired to see the Blessed Virgin and had frequently implored her guardian angel to obtain for her this favor.
At 11.30, p. m. on the 18th of July, 1830, the eve of the feast of St. Vincent de Paul, Sister Catherine was aroused from her sleep by hearing her name distinctly called three times. A child, apparently four or five years of age and of ravishing beauty, stood near her bed and said to her: "Come to the chapel; the Blessed Virgin awaits you." The Sister hesitated at first, but finally consented and followed the child to the sanctuary. Soon a beautiful lady entered and took her seat in the place ordinarily occupied by the director.
"Can this be the Blessed Virgin?" thought Sister Catherine. Being assured by the child that it was she the Sister thrust herself at the feet of the Blessed Virgin, who thus spoke to her: "My child, I am going to charge you with a mission. You will have to suffer many trials on account of it, but you will surmount them, knowing that you endure them for the glory of the good God."
After telling the troubles which were soon to come upon France, she continued: "Do not fear; I shall be with you. You will acknowledge in my visit the protection of God and that of St. Vincent upon the two communities."
A SECOND MANIFESTATION.
This manifestation was but the preparation for a more important one. On November 27th of the same year the Blessed Virgin again appeared to Sister Catherine. This time she appeared as it were in an oval picture. She was standing on a globe and was clothed in a white robe and a blue mantle. From her extended hands emanated luminous rays, falling on the earth. A voice seemed to say: "These rays are symbolic of the graces Mary obtains for men." Around the picture were the words: "O Mary, conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse to thee."
This prayer, traced in a semicircle, began at the Blessed Virgin's right hand and passing over her head, terminated at her left hand. The reverse of the picture bore the letter M, surmounted by a cross, having a bar at its base. Beneath the monogram of Mary were the words: "The oldest Republic in the world is San Marino, a rocky patch of land on the Adriatic, surrounded on all sides but the sea by Italian territory. As citizens of a very big and a very new Republic, we should be interested in a very small and very old one.
Last month the regents of the Republic entered on their six months term of office. The ceremony was of unusual importance, as the new Senate building was opened at the same time. Monte Titano a mountain with three peaks, which is the principal geographical feature of San Marino and where the public buildings are situated, was brilliantly illuminated.
The patron saint and traditional founder of the Republic is Marinus, a holy Dalmatian stone mason. His portrait hangs in the Senate house. He is shown with his tools, and his last words are written under the portrait: "Reliquio vos liberos ab atropce homine." He died fifteen hundred years ago.
The Samaritan deserve the eulogies which Italy's greatest living poet, Giosue Carducci, lavished upon their institutions in his eloquent speech at the opening of the new Government House, whether the archives of this miniature Republic have now been removed. For, small as their State seems besides the gigantic Empires of today it has, like the Greek communities of old, produced not a few men of mark, whose tact and statesmanship have guided it amidst the maze of international politics. Its Constitution is the sole surviving specimen left to show us what the Italian Republics of the Middle Ages were like. Napoleon spared San Marino for this very reason. "Let it remain," he said, "forever as the pattern of a Republic." Indeed, such was his friendship for the mountaineers of Titano that he offered to increase their boundaries at the expense of their big neighbors. But Antonio Onofri, San Marino's greatest statesman, had the wisdom to decline this seductive offer. Subsequent events proved the soundness of his judgment. When Napoleon fell, the allied sovereigns looked with favor upon the Umbrian State which had known how to practice moderation.

This mountain folk has been ever loyal to itself and its institutions; that is the reason why it has never been swallowed up by any foreign Power. A Republic in name it is, and always has been an oligarchy in fact. The Council of Sixty, which makes the laws, is composed of twenty nobles, twenty townsmen and twenty countrymen from the adjoining hamlets, all of whom are elected for life. Whenever a vacancy occurs, the Council chooses some suitable person, usually the son of the deceased Councilor, to fill it. But the Constitution is carefully guarded against the concentration of power in the hands of one family. For no one can be elected to the Council during the lifetime of his father, nor may more than one of a family of brothers living together be chosen as a Senator. In the whole history of the Republic there is no instance of an attempt on the part of any of her citizens to establish a dictatorship.
The two Regenti, who are elected by the Council, hold office for only six months, and act each as a check upon the other. Moreover, they are not eligible again for three years. One of them must be a noble; the other is chosen from the citizens of the little capital or from the country folk of the Provinces. They look very imposing in their robes of office, with the grand coronation of the Equestrian Order of San Marino. The Republicans of San Marino believe greatly in titles, and derive a portion of their revenue from the sale of these decorations. Every visitor to their city has seen in the square or Piasella, opposite the new Government House, a beautiful marble statue of the Republic. The lady who gave them this she was the wife of their diplomatic representative in Paris—was created a duchess—Duchess of Acquaviva—in return, and not a few distinguished persons—Prince Bismarck among them—are patrons of San Marino.
But the most curious survival in their Constitution is the way in which their judges and doctors are appointed. The three judges must not be natives of the Republic, but are elected for a term of three years from outside, like the old Popes, at Milan and Florence. Salaries at San Marino are low. Even the Regents only get a small indemnity of about $160, and their two Secretaries of State are handsomely remunerated at the rate of $200. The doctors are elected and paid by the Council, and kill or cure free of charge.
The Kingdom of Italy has been very kind to the tiny Republic with its boundaries. Signor Crispi telegraphed his good wishes to the Regenti last week, and his sovereign has given them his bust in majolica for their new Senate House. Nor are they less proud of the portrait of Washington, which Mr. William Warren Tucker, of Boston, the benefactor of their library, once presented to them as a memorial of their younger sister across the Atlantic.
The Italian Government pays them a fixed sum every year, calculated at so much per head of their population of 9,000 inhabitants, on condition that they have no Custom House. In order to avoid difficult questions of copyright, they print no books, and there is no newspaper in the whole country. Perhaps that is the reason why they have only had one war in their whole history. But they have admirably executed coins of their own and their stamps and post-cards are the delight of philatelists; and, therefore, a considerable source of revenue to the State. Their budget is a marvel of business-like care. Everything, even to the little army of twenty-eight men, and an item for a new cloak for Bigli, the beadle, is carefully noted down, and, unlike their great neighbor and ally, they have a balance at their bankers'—only $32, it is true, but still a balance.—Catholic Standard.

Teaching Deaf Mutes.
(P. M. WHELAN, IN CATHOLIC TIMES.)
Very little is known by the generality of people regarding those who are afflicted with the deprivation of hearing, and the consequent inability to speak and whom we are accustomed to call deaf and dumb. This affliction, however, is by no means new. It has existed from the remotest times, and the cause of it are various. Among others it may be assigned the following: Scrofulina, measles and those diseases that are so generally common to the infantile period. There are hereditary and congenital causes and various pre-natal causes of the exact nature of which very little is known. For centuries the instruction of the deaf and dumb was a problem the solution of which was deemed impossible. Considered, therefore, as a burden to society, it may well be imagined that their lot was far from happy.
Among the numerous blessings which have followed in the wake of Christianity must be reckoned the amelioration of the sad condition of the deaf and dumb. The monasteries sheltered and protected them. Here and there we read of remarkable, almost incredible success attained in their instruction. In Spain, particularly, was this the case, and to the monks of the Order of St. Benedict belong the honor of having achieved a success equal if not superior, to that of any modern pedagogues. These efforts, however, were confined to individual cases and the actual number of the deaf and dumb was hardly realized. In the latter part of the last century arose the man who was evidently destined by Providence to give to this work an impetus, under the influence of which it has since spread over the whole world.
A PRIEST'S GREAT TASK.
As the good Abbe de l'Epée, who was in charge of one of the parishes of Paris, was one day making a visitation of his parishioners, he entered a house in which he found two little girls engaged at needlework. To his interrogatories the children made no reply. The arrival of the mother soon explains every thing. "Believing," says the abbe, "that these children would live and die in ignorance of their religion if I were not to try and teach them, I was moved with compassion for them, and asked to have them brought to me, that I might devote myself wholly to their welfare." This was by no means an easy undertaking. However, he devoted to it all his energies, and seeking out other children of the same class he soon gathered around him the nucleus of what afterwards became the famous Paris Institute for the Deaf and Dumb. At first he tried without much success, various methods of instruction. Perceiving that his pupils in their mutual intercourse employed rude but natural gestures as a means of communication, he invented or at least considerably improved the manual alphabet now in use. Noticing, moreover the inefficiency of the alphabet alone, he expanded and systematized the "language" of gesture, and by his remarkable success in the training of those who heretofore were commonly considered outside the pale of instruction, he gained for himself and his school the admiration of Europe. Kings and princes offered him honors and rewards but he always declined them. Give me he would say a deaf mute that I may instruct him.
To-day the name of De l'Epée is in benediction among the deaf and dumb of every clime. Here, then, is a work eminently Christian, a work deserving of encouragement and support, a work near and dear to the heart of our Divine Lord, who hath made both the deaf to hear and the dumb to speak. Amongst us, however, the cause of these unfortunate children has been to a large extent apparently ignored. From time to time attention has been called to the necessity of making provision for the instruction of our Catholic deaf mutes. But no interest seems to have been awakened in their behalf. Like many another good work which has had to be abandoned owing to the lack of sympathy and support, the cause of the deaf and dumb seems similarly fated. And yet the unvarnished tale of their grievances would seem sufficient to arouse into action even the most indifferent. Why will the charity of some of our people traverse leagues to find objects of their pity while in their midst their kith and kin languish with spiritual hunger? True, the work has about it a speciality which makes it understood by a few only. The majority of people regard a deaf mute as little better than an asin or merely as a curiosity. Nevertheless their numbers and their condition confront us with the necessity of immediate action. And this action should be the prompter and more generous in proportion to the apathy and indifference which have been exhibited in the past.
So innumerable are the instances of dishonesty furnished by the political and mercantile world nowadays that the following example of the contrary virtue which we find noted by a Boston Catholic contemporary, is worthy of being widely chronicled: "Mr. Henry Bigelow Williams, of Boston, who went through bankruptcy in 1878, owing at the time nearly $200,000, recently paid every dollar of his indebtedness—from which he was released by the court proceedings—together with six per cent interest. Creditors who hesitated to except the interest, which amounted to almost as much as the principal, were told by Mr. Williams that they must take all or nothing."—Exchange.

Suppose that the Government of Canada should find itself unable to answer the attacks made in the Halifax Chronicle upon its admiration of the affairs of the Dominion, and should endeavor to meet them by sending a squad of officers to the residence of the editor at midnight, who should arrest him, capture his private papers, lock him up in a cell, and the next day escort him over the Canadian border. Suppose that the owner of the paper secured a successor who in a few days after was subjected to the same treatment. Suppose that the same Government, having brought itself into a condition of bankruptcy by reckless expenditure and dishonesty, should seek to replenish its coffers by confiscating the property of the Halifax Protestant Orphan's Home. What would people think of this Government? Well, all this, with many aggravating circumstances which we have not introduced into the parallel, has been done by Signor Crispi, Premier of free and united Italy, within the past few weeks. The paper thus attacked was the Nouveau Moniteur de Rome; the editors thus treated were distinguished ecclesiastics, the Abbe Montanenti and Mgr. Boglietti; and the charitable institution confiscated was the Institution of Catechumens. This is a sample of the freedom established on the ruins of the Papal and other States of old Italy; and this is the work of the hypocrite who, a life-long enemy of God, was a few weeks ago proclaiming the watchword "God and country" in a desperate effort to save himself from the forces which he once led and which his anti-Christian policy has only too successfully strengthened.—Casket.

Catholics on this side of the Atlantic are often tempted to think that it would be far better for the authorities of the Church in France to sever their connection with the State, throw up the concordat and look solely to the people for the material support which now comes in part from the Government by the terms of that agreement. This view has not unfrequently been put forward in print, and the flourishing condition of the Church in Canada and the United States, where the State contributes nothing to the support of religion, has been pointed to as confirming it. The view seems plausible enough, but it does not take into account the peculiar circumstances of the Church in France. Mr. Paul Bourget, that clever French writer, who gives his impressions of America in a series of articles now appearing in the New York Herald, incidentally touches upon this point. He remarks that Catholics are allowed under the constitution of the United States, to practice their faith without hindrance, to associate and hold property without any control, to found institutions and assure the recruiting of their clergy; and he asks: "What can they ask further? And with what enthusiasm would not the clergy of France accept the suppression of the Concordat and that of the budget of education under similar guarantees?" In the existing order of things in France the Concordat seems, therefore, to afford the Church protection from worse treatment at the hands of an infidel State.—Casket.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral

SAVED HIS LIFE
So says Mr. T. M. Reed, a highly respected Merchant of Middletown, Ill., of a Young Man who was supposed to be in Consumption.
"One of my customers, some years ago, had a son who had all the symptoms of consumption. The usual medicines afforded him no relief, and he steadily faded until he was unable to leave his bed. His mother applied to me for some remedy and I recommended Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. The young man took it according to directions, and soon began to improve until he became well and strong."—T. M. The postmaster general of Canada, received on Wednesday last, a communication from the director of the International Postal and Philatelic exhibition held at Milan, Italy, during the summer, stating that the first prize, consisting of a diploma of honor, had been awarded to the Dominion of Canada for the best display of postal appliances. The exhibit was an amplification of the Canadian postal display made at the World's Fair, for which first prize was granted Canada over all other postal departments of the world.

Out of the multiplicity of reports regarding the war between China and Japan, it seems now to be apparent that since the capture of Port Arthur by the Japanese, China feels herself utterly beaten. The latest reports indicate that Pekin will be captured before very long, unless the Chinese agree to the terms upon which the Japanese are willing to terminate hostilities. The terms, so far as can be understood, demand a large money indemnity, as well as territorial cessions, and the relinquishment of suzerainty over Corea. The negotiations looking towards peace seem to have been brought about through the good offices of United States Minister Denby, at Pekin. Whether or not the bellicose parties will agree upon terms of peace remains yet uncertain. Should they fail, and the capture of Pekin take place, the last vestige of the Tartar-Chinese dynasty, which has controlled the country for two hundred and fifty years shall disappear. What developments of the situation the next few days may disclose, it is impossible to conjecture.

The annual St. Andrew's Dinner, under the auspices of the Caledonian Club of P. E. Island, was held at the Queen Hotel on Monday evening last, and was one of the most, if not the most successful social events in the history of the club. The sons of the heather, with their friends and guests, gathered to the number of nearly seventy, and the dinner was in every way worthy of the occasion, and in the highest degree creditable to the management of the Queen. Mr. James Paton, President of the Club, presided, supported on his right by His Honor Lieut. Governor Howland, Hon. D. Laird and Premier Peters, and on the left by Hon. A. A. McDonald, Mayor Dawson and D. J. Kane, Esq., U. S. Consul. The vice chair was worthily filled by Mr. John McPhee, Vice-President. When full justice had been done the viands, President Paton rapped for order, and inaugurated the intellectual part of the banquet in an appropriate and pithy address. He then announced that letters of regret had been received from His Lordship Bismarck, McDonald, Chief Justice Sullivan, Judge Hodgson, Judge Fitzgerald, Rev. Father Reid, Lieut. Col. J. D. Irving, Halifax, John W. Morrison, Esq., and Captain Weeks. After reading some of these letters the following toast list was taken up:

- The Queen.
- The day and a Wha Honor It.—Hon D Laird.
- The President of the United States.—Connell Kane.
- Song.—Mr Wm McKay.
- The Governor General of Canada.—Senator McDonald.
- The Parliament of Canada.—Jas McIsaac Esq.
- The Lieutenant Governor.—Lieut. Gov. Howland.
- The Land of the Heather.—Rev. Mr. Fullerton.
- Song.—Geo J Foster.
- Local Legislation.—Premier Peters.
- The Land We Live In.—Rev G M Campbell.
- Our Guests.—His Worship Mayor Dawson.
- The Bench and Bar.—Mr. Jas. H. Good, Esq.
- The Naval and Military Forces of the Empire.—Lieut. Col. Moore.
- Sister Societies.—Rev Mr McCourt, Esq.
- The Press.—Mr W M Cotton and M. J. McDonald.
- The Ladies.—M J McDonald and Arthur Mellich.
- VOLUNTEER TOASTS.
- The Chief of the Club (Hon A A McDonald)—proposed by D O M Reddin, Jr.
- The President—proposed by Mr. John McPhee.
- Absent friends, with particular reference to the members of the Irving family—proposed by Hon D Laird.
- The Managing Committee—proposed by Mr. J. S. McDonald.
- Our Hosts and Hostesses—proposed by Mr. McPhee.
- The toasts were drunk in cold water, and the speeches were of a high order, genuinely eloquent and sparkling with many sententious and sparkling with many sententious. The haggis was introduced with regulation honors and Mr. Chas. Webster recited in good style Burns' address to the "Chieftain of the puddin' race." Mr. G. I. Foster presided at the piano, and the songs of McKay, Wear and Foster were capital. In the wee sma' hours Auld Lang Syne was sung and the company dispersed, all more than pleased with the evening's entertainment.

The Montreal Independent sympathizers with the Griets, is very anxious to see the leaders should avoid the errors which brought about the party the disaster of last year. It is no more than fair to say that the day is not more distant than that of 1891 and will probably together when the year of a campaign is begun. It is founded, but the Griets can do nothing. Their only hope is simply one of negotiation and if the Conservatives were to declare for free trade to-morrow the Griets would be only glad to take up the moderate protection cry.

If there is one thing more than another, in connection with the tariff question, which the general public has been desirous of finding out, it is the platform of our Liberal friends. This seems to have been so, at least in its nature that it was impossible at any time to conjecture what it might assume within twenty-four hours. Consequently when Mr. L. H. Davies, Leader of the Maritime Griets, was reported as having said in a speech at Woodstock, N. B., on Friday night last, that he was in favor of levying an equal rate duty on imports of all kinds, it was naturally supposed that this was the new platform. But the fact is that at least two others, the tariff or fifty million dollars worth of imports now free, it was at least something definite, that could be depended on.

The Earl of Jersey, who presided at the Colonial conference recently held in Ottawa, has submitted his report to the Imperial Parliament. His conclusions are largely in sympathy with the conference decision on the cable, steamship and trade relations within the Empire. He urges the Government to remove any restrictions in the way of international trade.

The autumn session of the United Congress opened on Monday last. The President's message was a lengthy one, touching on many topics, such as South America, Hawaii, the China-Japan war, the czar's death, etc. It shows the deficit of last year to be over six million dollars, and estimates next year's deficit at twenty million. It supports the Postmaster-General in his demand for increased postage on second class mail.

Sir Charles Tupper, Canadian high commissioner at London, in a letter to Sir John L'eng, member of the house of commons for Dundee, in reference to the recent utterances of Herbert Gardner, president of the Board of Agriculture, in regard to Canadian cattle, says the fact that pleuro-pneumonia has not spread in Canada, as it would have done if the contentions of Mr. Gardner were well founded, shows that the disease does not exist in the Dominion. He dwells on the fact that the government inquiry into the matter revealed that there is a difference of opinion as to the nature of the disease which the Canadians insist is not pleuro pneumonia, but the effect of the ocean passage on the cattle shipped to Great Britain. No symptoms of pleuro-pneumonia have been discovered in the living diseases in Canadian cattle, as generally known in Great Britain, have only been discovered in the dead specimens.

Sir Charles concluded by saying that the Canadian government is much aggrieved that their representations based on independent inquiries, have not led to the removal of the restrictions placed by the board of agriculture on the importation of Canadian cattle.

His Honor Lieut. Governor Howland is carrying forward and amplifying his laudable work of inculcating in the minds of our youth notions of genuine patriotism and true national sentiment. Last week we alluded to what he had done for the schools and convents, in presenting them with patriotic songs and offering for competition, a medal for the best essay on "Canada and its Resources." On Friday last, he visited the Prince of Wales College and after distributing copies of the patriotic song, already referred to, made the pleasing announcement that he offered a gold medal to the student writing the best essay on "Canada." He took advantage of the occasion to address the students, a few words of kindly advice. He briefly referred to his own school-boy days, and pointed out the advantages of the youth of our day enjoyed in the matter of acquiring an education. He paid a glowing tribute to Canada and strongly impressed upon the children the importance of becoming familiar with its history. Our country was one of which we might well feel proud. He referred to the high and honorable position taken in the educational world by some former students of Prince of Wales College. Mr. Laird had gone forth from its halls and was now occupying a professorship in one of the leading seats of learning in the neighboring Republic. Prof. Schurman, another student, was President of the great University of Cornell. These are examples worthy of emulation. On Monday His Honor visited Upper Prince Street school and emphasized what he had already said at West Kent regarding the medal for the best essay on "Canada and its Resources." He was received with the greatest enthusiasm, the pupils singing "Canada Forever."

JOHN BURNS, M.P. The English labor leader, addressed a large audience in New York, Monday night. When he described himself as an international Socialist he was greeted with an outburst of applause.

A Chat with Our Subscribers.

If any subscriber does not receive his paper regularly we shall esteem it favor to be immediately notified of that fact by postal card.

Owing to the pressure upon our space we are obliged to defer till next week the publication of the names of those who pay. We trust that the ensuing week will be the best yet. Remember Christmas is drawing near.

We are particularly grateful to the large number who sent their subscriptions during the past week. Queen's County carries off the palm this time. If our friends in Kings desire to be in the front rank when the day of reckoning comes they better be up and doing.

Newfoundland Fisheries.

In order to obtain possession of all the fish taken in the Newfoundland and Labrador fisheries the secretary of the United States treasury in October, 1893, assigned T. Aubrey Byrnes, special treasury employe, to the duty of studying and reporting the conditions existing in this branch of business. Mr. Byrnes is now in the receipt of the secretary of the treasury, and charges that through the systematic frauds of the importers and the collusion of certain custom officers the treasury has been deprived of large amounts of duties. The report, however, is not published.

Rough Ocean Trips.

Three warm steamers, the Argonaut, Evans, Roman, Lewis, and Palestine, Whiteley, arrived at Boston, from Liverpool on Thursday last, making the largest number of ocean steamers that ever departed the port of Boston in a single day. The Leyland liner, Lantana, also arrived at Liverpool on Thursday last, after a voyage of ten days. The Roman was three days late reaching port. The Palestine was six days overdue, and the other two vessels were twenty-four hours late.

News reached Buda Pesth on Saturday last of the almost total annihilation by wolves of a party of hunting guests who were returning to their homes from the Village of Hildos. The route of the party lay through a dense forest. The party was broken up by wolves, and thirteen of them were dragged down and devoured. The few of those who escaped fled to their injuries of a more or less serious nature.

Winnipeg Advices.

Winnipeg advices say that eighty per cent of the wheat available for export in Manitoba is for the Territory and has been shipped out. The balance will be taken out during the winter and most of it will probably be stored in Fort William until winter opens.

The Prohibitory Law in Enforcement in Bangor, Maine.

The Bangor Daily Commercial of the 30th ult., contains an account of the union Thanksgiving Service held in the Bangor City Hall, on the previous day, Thanksgiving day, from which we take the following extracts: Rev. Edward McSwenny was the last speaker and spoke on local topics. In the course of his remarks referring to the prohibitory law Father McSwenny said that it was not enforced because, lacking the support of public opinion and sympathy, it was impotent and impracticable—they could be no dispute on that point. The plain facts were too well known. The speaker did not call for the organization of public support of the law, because the practical results of the attempt at enforcement had always been unsatisfactory. The law was impotent, and the policy of the civil authorities here in Bangor was such that it left lovers and defenders of good morals "chawing the devil and the deep end." There was in Bangor at present, neither prohibition nor reasonable restriction of the liquor traffic.

Not matter what may be our wishes or our hopes in this matter, we have to look at the facts as they really are—consider the existing conditions of things. The speaker had before said that enforcement of the law on Sunday, but the request had not been heeded, and various weak excuses were advanced for the toleration of the present order of things. The law is on the statute books, yet we have neither prohibition nor restriction. There shall be no enforcement of the law, or a most reasonable limitation of the traffic in liquor, or kill the law!

What about the lack of restriction? even on Sunday? Occasionally a pious woman is brought into court and fined for Sunday liquor selling, while all the rest of the offenders go unscathed. A few small cases are prosecuted, while from the foot of Exchange street to Union street the sale of liquor and worse offenses go steadily on without let or hindrance, week day and Sunday, early and late. Small boys had been arrested by the police and vigorously prosecuted for playing ball on Sunday in the streets or parks. These trifles were snuffed up while the substantial and deplorable features of Sunday desecration were allowed to pass unnoticed. This is the work of unfaithful servants of the law, and the people should call them to account.

Let us not be trifling nor lame excuses. The speaker demanded the enactment of a municipal statute that would protect Sunday from desecration. Who is it, he asked, that by negligence and indifference debauches the morals of the masses? Is it not the drunkards, the abandoned sinners, not those, but intelligent, upright, honest men in the official ranks and outside.

The able and stirring address of Father McSwenny was received with warm applause and was generally commented on during the day.

A vote of thanks was tendered to the organizers of the day who arranged for the meeting, and to the speakers. The audience sang American, with cornet and piano accompaniment, and benediction was pronounced by Rev. Father McSwenny.

Simple Awful

Worst Case of Scrofula the Doctors Ever Saw

Completely Cured by HOD'S SARSAPARILLA.

When I was 4 or 5 years old I had a sore on the middle finger of my left hand, which got so bad that it more than half my hand. I took it off, but it came out on my neck and face on both sides, nearly destroying the sight of one eye, also on my right arm. Doctors said it was the worst case of Scrofula they ever saw. I was nearly blind when I was 10 years old. I began to take Hod's Sarsaparilla. Gradually I found that the sores were beginning to heal. I took it for a year and I am now a healthy man. I can now see and read the papers and work for my living. I am now a healthy man. I can now see and read the papers and work for my living. I am now a healthy man. I can now see and read the papers and work for my living.

Work all the Time. Before I could do any work. I now feel like saying enough to express my gratitude to Hod's Sarsaparilla for my recovery. GEORGE W. WYATT, Farmer, Galesburg, Saratoga county, N.Y.

During the past week or ten days no less than 100,000 bushels of Chesapeake potatoes, from this Province have been received in Boston. They are selling at from forty-five to forty-eight cents a bushel, and Rose and Hebron are bringing fifty-three to sixty-five cents.

Mr. Alex. McDonald, purser of the Northumberland, received a surprise Saturday afternoon at Point de Cavalli when Mr. S. C. Billings, station agent I.C. B. and staff at the Point, presented him with a Fortinault and address as a token of the pleasant business relations and friendship existing between them, and expressed the hope that he will be spared for many seasons. Mr. McDonald thanked his friends for their kindness.

A MILITARY general order has been issued, which states that an account of Cavalry will be furnished to the Lieutenant-Governor of a Province, only on the occasion of the opening or closing of the Provincial Legislature. The order on each occasion will not exceed the strength of one Lieutenant-Colonel, one sergeant and twelve rank and file. Lieut-Colonel Irwin, Inspector of Artillery, has been appointed Assistant Adjutant-General for artillery at headquarters.

THE schooner Magnolia, of Gloucester, with a crew of 18 men, was driven ashore in Fortune Bay, N.E., on Nov. 27th while halibut fishing. The crew escaped but every man was injured. The cabin stove was knocked over and the ship burned to the water's edge. The schooner Maud Gilliam, with a crew of twelve men, from Channel to Sydney, C.B., is missing, and is believed to have been lost in the same gale.

Mr. John P. Murphy, of South Shore, was with a terrible accident at Scott's Mills, Clyde River, on Wednesday last. Mr. Murphy was in the mill, standing in the vicinity of a perpendicular spindle, which was revolving at a terrific rate of speed when a thumb-screw projecting from the spindle caught his overcoat and he was immediately lifted from his feet and whirled around with the spindle, his feet coming in contact with a bar. The spindle was standing close by, and not noticing the accident, stopped the machinery as quickly as possible. When released from his perilous position one of his legs was found to be very badly fractured, and the other one considerably injured. So quickly and lightly did the machinery whirl him that he did not feel any pain in his legs, but he was soon reduced to a mere husk, and a message was sent to the city for Dr. Conroy, who arrived on his perilous journey on Friday. The fracture was amputated and since then he is as well as one in his critical condition could reasonably be expected to be. Mr. Murphy is a respectable and well-to-do farmer, about forty years of age, married; has two children, a son and a daughter. He is a native of Clyde River, and is well acquainted with the mill in his affliction.

K. D. C. restores the stomach to healthy action.

The germs of Scrofula are destroyed by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Sold by all druggists.

Are you troubled with bad taste, belching, burning in throat? Take K. D. C., the King of Dyspepsia Cures. It is guaranteed to cure or money refunded.

Minard's Liniment the best Hair Restorer.

The severest cases of asthma are immediately relieved by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

The popular cough cure, Hawker's Tolu and Wild Cherry Balsam.

Minard's Liniment cures La Grippe. Hall's Hair Renewer cures dandruff and scalp affections; also all cases of baldness where the glands which feed the roots of the hair are not closed up.

Perfect health is seldom found for impure blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla really does purify the blood and restores health.

Minard's Liniment is the Best.

The only way to cure catarrh is to purify the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, and tones up the whole system.

I was cured of rheumatic gout by MINARD'S LINIMENT.

I was cured of acute Bronchitis by MINARD'S LINIMENT.

I was cured of Acute Rheumatism by MINARD'S LINIMENT.

The torments of dyspepsia and all head-ache, the agonizing itching and pit of salt rheum, are removed by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Minard's Liniment for Rheumatism.

The best recommendation for K. D. C. is the cure it makes. It has cured sufferers from every stage of indigestion. It will cure you too.

"SATISFACTORY RESULTS."

So says Dr. Currier, an old and honored practitioner in Bellefleur County, Ont. who writes: "For wasting diseases and Scrofula I have used Scott's Emulsion with the most satisfactory results."

The only way to cure catarrh is to purify the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, and tones up the whole system.

A BOON TO MANKIND.

Neuralgia, Swelling Neck, Enlarged Glands, lame Back and all muscular pain, lameness and soreness are speedily and effectually cured by Hagar's Yellow Oil. It removes all pain in a few applications.

No good blood is made by the dyspeptic. K. D. C. makes good blood by restoring the stomach to healthy action. Ask your druggist for it.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

People who are exposed to the sudden changes of our northern climate have little chance of escaping colds, coughs, sore throat and lung troubles. The best safe-guard is to keep Hagar's Pectoral Balsam at hand. It is a quick relief and reliable cure for such complaints.

COMMON SENSE.

Should be used in attempting to cure that very disagreeable disease catarrh. As catarrh originates in impurities in the blood, local applications can do no permanent good. The common sense method of treatment is to purify the blood, and for this purpose there is no preparation superior to Hood's Sarsaparilla.
