A Batch of Biscuits

Mother's make! M—m—m!
What biscuit—what flavor—what tantalizing flakiness!

Broken into snow-white halves, could ever anything be more inviting! Scarcely.

It wasn't a happenstance, either. Experience has taught mother just how to heat her oven and just how to choose her flour.

And she always picks Rainbow Flour, because she's never found another brand that could make biscuits quite so flaky, so delicate in texture, or so digestible.

Rainbow Flour will help your reputation as a good cook.

One in a Thousand, BUT TRUE TO THE LAST

CHAPTER XVIII.
THEO ARRIVES.

In the morning I receive a note from Theo, saying that she is coming by the express, and will be at Idleminster at half-past two.

"Then you have to go alone to meet her," says Adrian. "I cannot get out of barracks till four o'clock, at the earliest."

"Why?" I ask.

"Field day—that won't be over till two; and then there are stables and all the office work."

"I should think she would want to go out again this afternoon; she's sure to be tired."

"Oh, yes! I'll come straight back here. Now, I must be off. That mending full dress takes such a lot of getting into!" And so I am left alone.

When the servant comes to clear the table, I tell him to have the carriage ready at one o'clock; that will give me time to do a few things in the room.

"Tell Jenkins the open carriage," I add. I suppose Theo will turn up her nose at the stanhope phaeton.

I have plenty to occupy me this morning. I go first to Theo's rooms, to see they are quite comfortable. I put a few flowers in various places and suggest to Jane that a bow or two of blue ribbon would improve the appearance of the cover on the dressing table. But, when all is done I am fair to own that there is a great difference between this room and those at Park Royal. I wonder if the home at Thornton Charteris is very grand. Adrian says it is a nice sort of place, but that is such a very indefinite description. However the next time we get any leave, I shall see for myself. When I have finished everything I had to do, I find I have an hour to spare, so I take up a book, for lack of anything else.

I am ready when the carriage comes round, and think, as I step into it, what a superb equipage it is.

The horses have not a speck of dust on their sleek satin skins and need no bearing reins to make them hold up their heads; they are the very embodiment of the pride of life. Jenkins is as smart as they are, and Mawson is the most irreproachable of footmen. For my own part, I most enjoy the stanhope phaeton, with the big gray tearing and pulling like a mad thing; these chestnuts are such well-behaved creatures that it is not half the fun sitting behind them—in fact, is no fun at all.

In St. Thomas Street I see Stewart and Edith Dare, and I pull up to tell Stewart that I will send in for her giggle during the morning, and come for her myself in the afternoon.

"My sister, Lady Lasselles, is coming to stay with us," I say; "so you must not expect very much gaiety."

"I shall be very glad to be quiet," Stewart says, with a soft laugh; and I find the afternoons very dull now."

Edith laughs, and says she is very grateful. Apparently, Stewart does not see it.

When I reach the station, I have five or four minutes to spare, and leave the carriage and go into the sitting room, and warm my feet at the fire. Not that they are cold—quite the contrary—but I am getting nervous, and would do anything rather than wait in the carriage. When the train comes in, there is such a rush of people, that I think looking for Theo is like seeking for a needle in a bundle of hay; but, at last I see her maid, whose face wears a helpless, frightened expression, bearing a dressing case, and behind her is Theo's pure, pale face, in its pathetic widow's bonnet. My courage and my resolutions to be very nice are fast deserting me; but, all things considered, I run up to her warmly enough.

"I am so tired," she says, as I kiss her.

"Yes, I am sure you are. Can your maid see after your luggage? Then we need not wait for her; she is to come in the dog cart, which is outside."

"I don't think all my things will go into a dogcart," says Theo, with a horrified look. "We might take my dressing case with us."

"Oh, yes, and one or two smaller boxes, if you like!" I answer, hopefully.

As we emerge from the station, Theo eyes the empty carriage blankly.

"Why, where is Adrian?" she exclaims.

"Oh, he couldn't come!" I reply. "He's commanding officer just now, and there is a field day this morning."

"Oh!" in a disappointed tone.

"Whose carriage is that?" for next to ours is a smart mall phaeton.

"It must belong to some of our people," I say, "for the groom has a cockade."

As I speak, Col. Cardyllion comes out of the station and mounts to the front seat, lifting his hat to me as he drives off.

"Who is that?" says Theo, languidly.

"That's Col. Cardyllion," I answer. "I wonder what has brought him back so soon? Adrian did not tell me he was expected."

"Adrian's colonel?" she says, with a fainter degree of interest than she had evinced before.

"Yes. What do you think of him?"

"He travelled down with me," she answers. "He is a wonderfully handsome man."

"So I think."

Having seen Theo's wretched maid in tolerable safety, we start for home and I continue the subject we have been speaking about.

"He is the next heir to the dukedom of Idleminster; his father was Lord Alfred Cardyllion, and his mother was as rich as a Jew."

"Really? Is he married?"

"Oh, he is the most determined woman hater in existence!"

"You don't say so; it is quite interesting!" she says, a little scornfully.

"It is a great pity," I continue; "because, if he would marry, the title becomes extinct. All the girls here are wild about him, but they say no woman in the world will ever conquer him. He is like the rock of Gibraltar!" I end with a feeble attempt at wit, "quite impregnable."

"Poor man," she laughs; "what a romantic story!"

"He is so handsome, too," I say, regretfully.

Theo turns and looks at me keenly.

"Why, Audrey?" she exclaims, with that little, hard, silvery laugh of hers. "You are quite enthusiastic about him! Surely, you are not, like all the other girls here, quite wild about him, are you?"

"I am a married woman," I answer, quietly; "and we Luttrells are not people of that class. I think a married woman who would give a second thought to any man besides her husband is a creature so despicable as to make good wives shudder."

It is hardly to be wondered at that Theo makes no further remarks to me of that kind. She maintains a discreet silence for some time, then starts quite a different topic.

"I suppose Adrian will be back by the time we arrive?"

"Oh, dear, no," I answer, cheerfully; "not until late! They spend a long time over luncheon; and then, there are stables and all the office work."

"But Adrian doesn't go to the stables?"

"No; but he has to be somewhat about."

"I wonder he does not leave them to some of the others to-day," she says, petulantly, and with marked emphasis on the last words.

"He can't possibly shirk duty for anyone," I cry. "Why, he wouldn't do that even for me!" At which my sister converts her perfectly straight nose into one of the kind which has been so graphically described as "up-lifted." The transformation is only temporary, and I am glad and relieved when she restores it to its original form; for the other is not becoming to her.

"I have a young lady coming tomorrow to stay a few days," I say, presently. "I hope you won't mind?"

"Oh, dear, no!" with the utmost indifference. "Who is she?"

"Her name is Stewart Dare. She is a Scotch girl, and is now staying with an aunt in Idleminster. Her younger sister, Edith, is just engaged to Capt. Cust, of the Culrassiers."

"Is she coming?"

"Oh, no! I was really afraid to ask her; Capt. Cust would be so disgusted at having five miles to come to see her, instead of less than one, as he has now. How are Lady Lasselles and the girls?" I say, suddenly remembering that I have not asked after them yet.

"Oh, they are very well! What awful tongues they all have to be sure! I declare they nearly drove me mad. It was 'clack-clack' from morning to night! I don't think anything annoys me so much as incessant conversation."

"It is a little tiresome," I answer. "I thought of having the two girls, and one of them from Rest, to stay here for a little time."

"Not while I am here, please!" cries Theo, sharply.

"I meant when you are gone," I say, calmly. "There is the house; you can just see it through the trees; we shall be there in five minutes. I am sure you must be faint for want of something to eat."

We drive through the lodge gates as I speak, and a moment later draw up at the door, and, as Theo reaches the top step, I bid her welcome, with all the stately courtesy I am capable of.

I lead the way upstairs, and see that she has all that she can want, and go away, telling her luncheon will be ready when she comes down. I feel, as I slip off my hat and jacket, that I am getting on very well. One can be so different in one's own house.

LONDON, July 24.—Prince Henry, of Prussia, decided to attend the Cowes Regatta, before paying a visit to the British Court next month.

St. Thomas and neighboring islands St. Thomas and neighboring islands experienced a prolonged and unusual series of earthquakes this morning. No damage, so far, is reported.

LANSING, July 24.—The Governor's office this afternoon received a message from the Sheriff of Calumet, stating that he was in the hands of a mob of 500 men and that another mob of 500 was on the way to Calumet from Almek, a small mining town near Calumet.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 24.—The Ottoman Government, replying to-day to the Bulgarian protest against Turkey's alleged violation of the Treaty of London, claims the advance of the Turkish troops was impelled by the Bulgarian atrocities, and expressed the hope that Bulgaria will recognize the reasonableness of Turkey's re-occupation of Adrianople and will help to restore friendly relations by displaying pacific sentiments to those which animate Turkey.

MONTREAL, July 24.—Seven men, the entire staff of one section of the Canada Explosives Co's plant at Belœil, were blown to atoms this morning, when the entire contents of the factory, over a ton of gun-powder, exploded from an unknown cause. So great was the force of the explosion that the bricks and wood of which the building was constructed, was rained in places for a mile about, while the shock of the explosion cracked the windows in Belœil, three miles away.

OSHSING, N.Y., July 24.—Another fire occurred in Sing Sing prison to-day and gave mutinous convicts a chance for more riotous demonstrations. The blaze started in the clothing shop of the prison. The fire brigade extinguished it after a hard fight, without outside help. This was the second fire in the building this week, notwithstanding the fact that the guards were doubled since $150,000 worth of property was burned up there two days ago. While the guards and trustees, detailed to the fire, were attacking the flames, more than a thousand prisoners, locked in their cells, raised yells that sounded high above the noise of the alarm.

ROME, July 24.—Throughout to-day and yesterday, the Vatican was in a state of siege, as the outcome of the mutiny of the Swiss Guards, whose demands were flatly rejected. Three leaders of the mutiny were expelled from the Vatican, and four others left last night. Twelve have requested leave to depart for their homes in October. The guards who left were accompanied to the gates of the Vatican by their comrades. At the moment of separation they cried "Vive Garibaldi!" Some of them joined in singing the Marseillaise. The Commander of the Guardsmen promised Pope Pius to-day that the entire corps will be re-established within a few weeks with new and more suitable elements.

LONDON, July 24.—The enemy repositioned the Red Fleet at the annual manoeuvres of the British Navy, now in progress in British waters, raided the east coast of Britain this morning, and landed troops in the neighborhood of the Humber. After the warships escorting the convoy had engaged and defeated the defending fleet, four transports, laden with soldiers, ran the blockade which had been established, and upset the cherished belief of the Admiralty that the British Isles were impregnable. Vice-Admiral Jellicoe commanded the fleet representing the enemy, which made a successful descent on the towns of Grimsby, Cleethripes and Flimbyham. They were occupied by the enemy, who surrounded the territorial forces.

Cadets Defeat Highlanders.
Last night's football match between these teams resulted in a victory for the Cadets by two goals to one. The exhibition was good and a large number of onlookers witnessed it. The players were: Goal, Ross; backs, Chancy, Luscombe, Halva, Rennie, Chancy; forwards, Ferguson, Morris, LeGrow, Lidstone, Auchincloss. C. C. C. Goal, Whelan; backs, Thompson, Walsh; halves, W. Hart, Christopher, Kavanagh; forwards, Whelan, Evans, Gladney, Reidman, Hart.

At the opening both teams worked hard to gain an advantage. After about fifteen minutes Whelan made a pretty dash into the Highlanders territory. When about to shoot he was tripped. A penalty kick was awarded and Hart landed the leather in the net, scoring the first goal for the C. C. C. The Kilts then rushed matters and scored the second goal. Just after half-time the Cadet forwards broke loose again and Gladney scored the third goal. Play then became lively. The Highlanders had the best of it and made several vigorous attacks on their opponents. Ultimately they were successful in scoring through Chancy but could not get the equalizer and the game ended: C. C. C. 2 goals; N. H. 1.

The C. C. C. and C. L. B. will compete on next Tuesday night. Both teams are equal in points and the winner of the match will own the cup presented.

Visitation of the Bishop of Newfoundland. Diary of the Rev. H. Leggo, the Bishop's Chaplain.

SECOND INSTALLMENT.

On Friday, July 18th the Church Ship left Nipiss Harbor for Leading Tickle, a thriving settlement in the Exploits Mission; a run of a few hours, part of which was done by motor power, and part under canvas brought us to our anchorage. Mr. Bull, the incumbent came on board and made arrangements with the Bishop for the consecration of a cemetery some few miles from our anchorage, generally known as Marsh's Arm. Manning the rig with two men from the shore, and the same number from the ship and with the Bishop, Chaplain and Incumbent an hour's pull brought us to the landing. The usual outdoor welcome greeted the Bishop; a display of hunting and the firing of guns. We proceeded to the little school chapel, which does duty for two settlements where a petition was signed praying the Bishop to consecrate the ground. This was accordingly done, the sentence was read which is a legal document containing the names of the Diocesan Synod, the Blessing was pronounced and the little congregation returned to the school chapel, where a short address was given by the Bishop, in which he referred to the service of Consecration just recently performed. Good-byes were said and we returned to the ship. In the evening the Confirmation service was held at Leading Tickle, a large congregation filled the Church; many came long distances, and as the highway of traffic on this part of the coast is by water, quite a fleet of fishing boats of all sizes and rigs from the neighboring settlements collected round the landing place. Many of the people came on board to see the Church Ship, this being her first appearance at Leading Tickle. By 8 o'clock everybody was in Church and the service began. Many of the young people from the various settlements all comely appareled, and fully realizing all that the service meant, knelt before their Bishop for the "Laying on of Hands." He spoke long and earnestly, pointing out the many means of grace at their disposal in the Church, the right use of which would enable them to "Fight the Good Fight for God." Service over; in the stillness of a perfect night with the moon, shedding its pale light over the beautiful sea, with the great hills towering high in the background, we quietly walked back to the ship, all there was a bustle and excitement, the people were boarding their respective boats to return home, the splash of an oar in the water, the sound of a child's voice, the deeper tones of a bearded fisherman, and then the rhythm of the oars. The sounds grow fainter, a moment's pause, and none young men begins to sing the hymn which only an hour before had been sung at the service. "Oh! Jesus I have Promised." The words are taken up by many, and over the water come the familiar words growing fainter and more distant until a bend in the coast hides the boats from view, and they are gone. We remain on deck and the words of Mrs. Heman's Graves of a Household come quickly to our mind:

Woman To Take Long Tramp.

Edmonton, Alta., July 19.—Miss Mary L. Jobe, professor of history in the Normal School of New York, one of the first women to set foot on Mount Sanford, the highest peak in the Selkirk range, will arrive in the west in a short time to visit the Athabasca or "carrier" tribe of Indians, along the Skeena and Peace Rivers. The purpose of the expedition is to study the language, traditions, habits and ceremonies of the tribe, the only knowledge of which has been brought to civilization by trappers in the employ of the Hudson Bay Company. Miss Jobe's itinerary includes a "hike" of 400 miles over Indian trails in the country north and west of Edmonton, and she expects to be out ten weeks. She will be accompanied by two Indian guides. The territory through which she will travel is into the practically unexplored regions of northern British Columbia and southern Alaska.

DIGBY GONE AGAIN.—The s.s. Digby sailed early this afternoon for Halifax taking as passengers: Mr. Barron and Mrs. E. McNab.

The Cry for a Change.

At the time of the Burin bye-election the Liberal Party decided to give the People's Party rope enough to hang themselves, and this they have been carrying out with a result which is exceeding the most sanguine expectation of that time. The People's Party however decided not to take any risks about Harbor Grace District and did not issue any writ for a bye-election. But they were challenged openly in very many petitions signed by a great number of fishermen to go to the county last fall and thereby give the electorate a chance of showing what the electors were disposed to do with the Government. The petitioners in no way disguised their antagonism to the Government and its doings. They threw down the gauntlet and dared the Government to stake its political life on the issue. They let the Government know straight out that they were alarmed at the waste that was going on and that they intended to turn out the Morris Government, neck and crop. Since then the feeling against Sir Edward Morris and his party has been growing in intensity and the South and West have joined the North in the cry for a change. Placentia, Burin, Fortune Bay, Burgeo and St. George's have combined to drive out Sir Edward Morris from power and to put in Sir Robert Bond, a safe and strong man, on whom they can rely. Intelligence from all these districts is to the same effect: Morris Must Go and Bond must be put at the head of the tide. The feeling is the same in the city, and the West End is lining up with the East End for a change. As to St. George's, the Western Star makes no bones about the determination to put out the placeman and to put an end to a representation trammelled and dependent. Mr. Downey is a salaried servant of the Department of Agriculture, and the people there have had enough of such representation. We append the closing paragraph of an editorial in Wednesday's Western Star, which is headed "Cinderella"—"This has been our Portion in the Past—What of the Future?"

"The natural resources of our District are unsurpassed by any other district in the Colony. It remains now for us to urge our claims upon the attention of the Government and demand some compensation for the neglect of the past. It remains for us to see that St. George's District shall not longer continue to be the Cinderella of the country. It is our duty to demand and see that we receive our due share of the public expenditures that are being so lavishly doled out to other districts. We want more and better roads, bridges, steam communication, public wharves, telegraph and telephone communication, our proportionate share of civil service positions and many other public improvements unjustly withheld from us up to the present. These things can be obtained by one means and one means only, and that is the voice of a united people whose rights are safeguarded and whose demands are presented by an independent and untrammelled representative on the floors of Parliament. This we have not to-day, whether we shall have it during the next four years, when greater opportunities to Despatches from Shanghai, both by way of St. Petersburg and London, report Nanking is in the hands of the Northerners.

SOPIA, To-day.
The Turks occupied and burned villages on the road from Kizilgatch to Jamboli frontier, the people are fleeing into the interior.

VIENNA, To-day.
Turkish forces have crossed the Bulgarian frontier, according to reports which have reached here, and are now marching on Jamboli, a Bulgarian town on the Tunja River, fifty miles north of Adrianople.

LANSING, Mich., To-day.
Two troops of cavalry, two companies of artillery and all the infantry companies of the Michigan National Guard have been ordered north at once to aid in quelling disturbances in the Copper country where fifteen thousand miners are on strike.

CHARLESTON, To-day.
Three men were killed and another fatally injured in a short, sharp battle between striking miners and watchmen employed by the Wakeforest Coal Co. Wakeforest Cabin Creek has been the scene of much rioting and bloodshed since the coal strike trouble started in April, 1911.

LONDON, To-day.
A telegram received during the session of the European Ambassadors to Bulgarian Minister at Paris, report Turkish troops entered the Bulgarian town of Philippopolis, the population is fleeing, the situation is desperate. The Bulgarian legation at London confirms the report of the advance of Turkish troops on Jamboli, but has no news of their advance on Philippopolis. Diplomats are of opinion that if the reports are correct it must refer merely to a reconnoitering flying column.

HALIFAX, To-day.
The liner Palermo, the first Italian liner ever entering Canadian waters, has arrived, inaugurating the new Italy-Canada direct line service. It is claimed a heavy traffic in dry fish is being sent from St. John's, Nfld., for trans-shipment will result, but it is also asserted the advent of these liners will mean the beginning of the export of Nova Scotia fish products to the Mediterranean country, which is admitted to be the largest consumer of fish in the world. Other Latin nations composing the great sea food market will also be thrown open to Canadian exporters.

SOPIA, To-day.
King Ferdinand summoned the representatives of the powers to his palace and addressed them as follows:—"I am anxious to protest before Europe against the outrageous action of the Turkish army, which, not content with violating the Treaty of London, is engaged in invading the old territory of my kingdom in the direction of Tirnova and Simlani and is giving itself to most heinous excesses in burning villages, massacring inhabitants, and spreading panic throughout Thrace. I cannot believe the great Powers, who sign the diplomatic act, now being trodden under foot, can regard with indifference what is being done to-day, and remain impassive under the insult placed upon them to a crime of which we are victims in the distress of the old reliable nation and its people. I have appeared on behalf of civilization, and beg Europe through your intermediary to put an end to the suffering of a people, fleeing before the return of their old oppressors."

Granulation of the Eyelids

Is Cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment—Soothing Use for the Great Soothing, Healing Ointment.

Most people know Dr. Chase's Ointment best as a cure for eczema and itching piles. Nor is this to be wondered at when you think of the remarkable record made in this class of cure.

But there are scores of other uses for this ointment, which are only discovered when it is kept constantly at hand.

Mrs. Martin, 13 Carroll street, Toronto, formerly of Bowmanville, Ont., writes: "We have used Dr. Chase's Ointment for years, and found it invaluable in treating skin irritations and all sorts of burns and wounds. In fact, we would not be without it in the house. It is a most excellent treatment for granulated eyelids, from which I suffered without finding anything to help me."
Wherever there is itching of the skin or a sore that refuses to heal you can use Dr. Chase's Ointment with full assurance that it will prove entirely satisfactory. 50 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

During the past 24 hours the rebels made a series of attacks on the Arsenal, but all of them have been successfully repulsed. The Government is so encouraged by their continued success they have assumed the offensive and are forcing the rebels back to Nantao, the Southern suburb of the Chinese native city. Adjutant Aseng, formally informed the Nantao Chamber Commerce, unless the rebels disperse, he will bombard a portion of the forts at the mouth of the River, which are also in the hands of the Southerners.

Little Boy Terribly Burned.

Joseph, the little three year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dunn, of Renew, was nearly burned to death yesterday. The body of the young victim is virtually roasted and little hope is held out for his recovery.

The boy was alone in an upstairs part of the house and was playing with a tin of matches. He ran hurriedly and began to tear the burning clothes from her son's body, getting her hands badly burned. She succeeded in quenching the flames but not before her son Joseph was fully burned. The flesh near his face and chest was badly charred, while the lower part of the body was even in a worse state. The little suffered excruciating agony and after being bathed in oil was tenderly wrapped up and put aboard the train for the General Hospital where the poor little fellow is waiting for his last hour, suffering awful torture. The parents of the boy are distracted.

Tourist Had to Cough Up.

One of the round trip passengers of the Stepano and a cabman had a dispute to-day over the amount of a tip. It appears that the tourist, accompanied by his wife, were driven around the suburbs of the city all the forenoon, and at 12:30 when they tried to pay for their enjoyment they refused to give what the cabman asked. Thereupon Constable O'Flaherty who was called in to adjust the dispute, read the rules in the Cabman's Tariff Book. The result was that the tourist who wanted cheap pleasure had to "cough up" quickly the figure demanded by the driver.

Rossley Star Theatre.

Last night there was quite a crowd at the old reliable Rossley, and a very good show given. The pictures are magnificent, and among the finest ever seen here. The theatre is beautifully ventilated, and quite the coolest place on a hot night. Marie Rossley presented a snappy little up-to-date vaudeville act, that was heartily applauded, and as usual appeared in a handsome costume. A reporter a short while ago was speaking to Mrs. Rossley, and said to her: "Mrs. Rossley, you must have an awful lot of stage costumes." "Only two hundred," Mrs. Rossley modestly replied; and it's true.

"BEAVER" FLOUR

Is both a Bread Flour and a Pastry Flour

The perfect flour is the one that combines the good qualities of Ontario and Western wheat. This is exactly what "Beaver" Flour does. It is a blend of best Ontario fall wheat with a little Western wheat to add strength. "Beaver" Flour is equally good for Bread and Pastry—it has the real home-made flavor that western flours lack. bearing and child raising; the father escapes from this unattractive home by spending his evenings in a saloon.

In the other family, that of Mr. and Mrs. B., the number of children has been purposely confined to one. He is well bred and manly; Mr. and Mrs. B. are devoted to each other, enjoy life and do much good outside the home. Which, my friend asked, is the better way?

Not being able to solve this question I passed it on to my readers.

Below are some of their opinions:

"Will you let me make a suggestion with regard to the problem?" writes one man. "It appears to me that your friend answers your own question when she says that Mr. A.'s sin seems to be to get away from his wife and children as much as possible in order to pass away the time in a saloon or hotel bar-room, and that Mrs. A. has no charms for him.

"A man with a good wife and seven children, who prefers a saloon to his home is lacking in manhood, and a problem that includes such a man, and the family fathered by such a man, and makes the comparison with some other man and his family is no problem. We all know men who are failures, some with families, others without. We all know families where there are a large number of children who are all manly little fellows, and we also know families where there is but one child and he an incorrigible. If Mr. A. can be cured of the saloon habit and taught that true pleasure is to be found in the company of his family, I think your problem will be solved."

This is a good letter, but it seems to me he rather side-steps the real issue. This lady is more straightforward:

"My answer to your question," she writes, "would be just one little sentence in favour of the poor drudge: 'She did the will of her Father, and what would it profit a man to gain the whole world and lose his immortal soul?'"

"The first woman, no doubt, was not looking for her reward in this world."

Quite as firm in the opposite opinion is this correspondent: "In line with your article in this morning's paper, permit me to suggest that Mrs. B., who brought one lone child into the world and who, after fifteen years of married life, still held her husband's love, is the woman worthy of respect. Give me the woman every time who refuses to permit marriage to make a drudge of her."

As usual, there were so many excellent contributions to the symposium that I could not condense them into one day's space. Please let me use to-morrow's.

A Hundred Hundreds.

The record which Dr. W. G. Grace held of being the only batsman who has scored one hundred centuries in first-class cricket was equalled recently when, at Kennington Oval, Tom Hayward earned the right to be classed with the great Gloucestershire cricketer by a three-figure innings against Lancashire.

Old Tom—old, that is, in a cricketing sense, for he is now forty-two years of age—has stuck at ninety-nine for a considerable time, and it is curious that he should reach the height of his ambition against the county which provided him with his record score—the 315 not out he put together in 1898.

It was in 1895 that Dr. Grace completed his hundred centuries, and he was then forty-seven years of age. Since that time, of course, he scored a further twenty-six hundred, and probably his is a record which will stand for all time.

Hayward, of course, has his own record achievements, such as scoring the highest aggregate in 1903 of 3,518 runs, with an average of 66.27, and his name will long remain a household word in the cricket world. Three times he has scored two separate hundreds in one match. Two instances by the Surrey man in 1906 occurred in one week—a feat unparalleled in first-class matches, and in the season of 1899 he scored three successive hundreds.

His partnerships with Hobbs, too, have been wonderful, and in 1908 the pair accomplished a performance without equal by making over 100 together for the first wicket of Surrey four times in one week. In 1908, too, they made over 100 together for the first wicket of Surrey on three successive occasions within the space of five days.

It is worth noting that C. B. Fry, has ninety-two hundreds to his credit; J. T. Tyldesley seventy-seven, Abel seventy-four, and the Jam Sahib seventy-four.

KEEP MINARD'S LINIMENT IN THE HOUSE.

Kitchener's Mistake.

Although Lord Kitchener, who recently celebrated his sixty-third birthday, is sometimes claimed as an Irishman by reason of his having been born in County Kerry, he is of English parentage, his father, who was a Lieutenant-Colonel in the Army, hailing from Leicestershire and his mother from Suffolk.

"K. of K." is unmarried, but it would perhaps be a mistake to describe him as a "confirmed" or "hopeless" bachelor, inasmuch as when his patent of peerage as a Viscount was made out it was so drawn, presumably with his approval, that the succession to the title should be firstly to any son that he may have, secondly to any daughter, and only in the third alternative to his elder brother, who at present stands in the position of heir-presumptive.

Here, by the way, is a story of a rare occasion on which Lord Kitchener has given himself away. Lord K. has a great faculty by which he is able to size a man up at a glance.

Shortly after DeWet fell like an avalanche on Lord Roberts's communications in the South African War Lord K. was down the line fitting out extempore mounted infantry columns. A large number of details had been dumped down at Vrededorf Road Station. Lord K. determined to equip and send them into the field at once. He went to the waiting-room to look for officers, and found a single man in occupation. He was smart and well-dressed, and pleased Lord K.'s critical eye.

"You will command a corps of mounted infantry I've just raised," said the general.

"Very good, sir; what will my duties be?"
 "Don't you know your duties?"
 "My own—yes, sir."
 "Then don't argue. What is your regiment?"
 "Blankhires, sir."
 "What rank?"
 "Master tailor, sir!"

His Plan Bears Fruit.

Dr. Roddick Sees Consumption of His Dream—Widely-Known Doctor, Who Has Laboured for Years to Place Medical Professions of the Various Canadian Provinces on an Equal Footing, Has Completed His Work—Old Provincial Troubles at an End.

The delegates who attended the first Dominion Medical Council at Ottawa recently were enthusiastic in their praise of Dr. T. G. Roddick, of Montreal, and the success of the first annual session of the new body.

Dr. Roddick is the man who bore the burden of the big fight to bring about general medical registration for the Dominion. The subject has been for him one of steady and persistent work for years and his efforts have at last been brilliantly crowned with success. Now he has succeeded in obtaining a universal standard of medical examination for the Dominion of Canada, and, what is more important, he has induced the various provincial medical boards to cooperate and work in harmony with the Dominion board.

He took up this fight several years ago, when he was a member in the House of Commons for the St. Antoine division of Montreal. He got the federal Parliament to pass a law establishing a Dominion Licensing Board with the consent of the various provinces. These licenses are to hold good in any part of Canada. This bill passed the Parliament in 1912. Since then Dr. Roddick has energetically devoted himself to winning over the medical bodies in the provinces and now registration lists for medical men will be opened, qualifying them for the whole Dominion. Examinations for the purpose will be held at Montreal Oct. 7.

All Canadian physicians in any province of ten years' standing will be registered on payment of a fee of $100 without examination. New doctors by passing the examinations of the new Dominion board will be qualified to practice anywhere in the Dominion. The change marks an epoch in the medical history of the Dominion and is considered a great stride forward as far as medical men were subjected to much inconvenience and annoyance on account of the petty provincial spirit displayed in regard to medical practice in Canada. Thanks to Dr. Roddick and his co-laborers, this grievance will disappear.

In recognition of his invaluable service in this cause the medical men of the Dominion have made Dr. Roddick president of the new medical council of Canada.

Mr. A. Martin, of Harbor Grace,

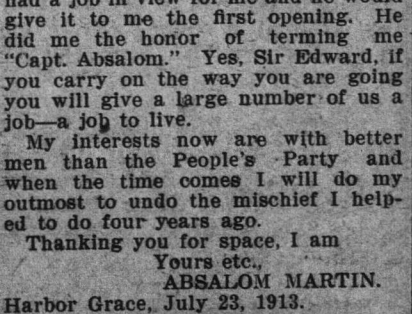

A Supporter of the People's Party Last Election Volunteers a Few Remarks.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir,—Permit me once again to say a few words about our Roads, Road Board and the general political situation here. Some persons may be inclined to think that I know very little about the political situation, but I can assure you and them that I do.

Well, sir, the roads in this neighborhood is the first thing I have to mention. A writer in last week's Standard told us that the roads about here were never better. I was surprised to see such a statement in the Standard, as it is a well known fact that that statement is false. I have seen a few men employed on the roads about here lately, but instead of putting gravel on the roads, the old custom of cleaning off the road bed is resorted to. Even rakes are used now-a-days to repair roads. Morris (Sir Edward I should say) promised us the opportunity of electing our own Road Board, but when a petition to that effect was signed by a large number of voters and presented to the House it was ignored and thrown in the waste paper basket. It is not necessary to say that not one voter who signed that ignored petition will vote for a Morris man at the coming election.

The Chairman of the Road Board must have felt the blood rush to his face as he read that false letter in the Standard last week. The writer signs himself Pro Bono Publico, but he must be after some job or he never would give such taffy to people who did not deserve it. The steam ferry on the harbour is still an unfulfilled promise. The South Side people who are the greatest sufferers will remember this, particularly on polling day. I, myself, was promised something good, and was put off from time to time. I received a letter from the Premier last winter and he told me he had a job in view for me and he would give it to me the first opening. He did me the honor of terming me "Capt. Absalom." Yes, Sir Edward, if you carry on the way you are going you will give a large number of us a job—a job to live.

My interests now are with better men than the People's Party and when the time comes I will do my utmost to undo the mischief I helped to do four years ago. Thanking you for space, I am Yours etc., ABSALOM MARTIN, Harbor Grace, July 23, 1913.

Big Ben

Don't set your mind—set Big Ben

Don't bother your head about getting up. Leave it to Big Ben. You ought to go to sleep at night with a clear brain—untroubled and free from getting up worries. You men, if you are up to date farmers, work with your brains as well as with your hands. Such a little thing as "deciding to get up at a certain time in the morning" and keeping it on your mind often spoils a needed night's rest and makes a bad "next day." Try Big Ben on your dresser for one week. He makes getting up so easy that the whole day is better.

He's a timekeeper; a good, all-purpose clock for every day and all day use and for years of service.

He stands seven inches tall. He wears a coat of triple-nickel plated steel. He rings with one long loud ring for 5 minutes straight, or for 10 minutes at intervals of 30 seconds unless you shut him off.

His big, bold figures and hands are easy to read in the dim morning light. His price, $3.00, is easy to pay because his advantages are so easy to see. Big Ben is sold in St. John's by the following jewelers:

Wedding Bells.

BRADLEY-McKAY.

A pretty wedding was solemnized on July 1st at the home of the bride's brother-in-law, John Laughlin, Barrister-at-Law, Cartwright, Man., when Miss Lena McKay became the bride of Mr. Clarence Bradley, both of Winnipeg. The marriage ceremony took place in the afternoon, Rev. W. Hoedsmith officiating. Miss Bradley played the wedding march, while her sister, Miss Eva, acted as bridesmaid, with Miss Alma Downey as flower girl. Mr. Jack Rabbits supported the groom. After the wedding breakfast had been partaken of, the party was treated to an automobile drive to the homes of some of the principal people of the town. Among a large assortment of beautiful presents, was an exquisite cut glass table set. The groom's present to the bride was a grand piano, to the bridesmaid a pearl ring, and to the best man, a set of gold cuff links.

The table for the wedding repast was tastefully arranged and dotted with bouquets of sweet peas.

Mr. and Mrs. Bradley, after a short honeymoon, will take up their residence at suite 8, Genoa Court, Maryland Street, Winnipeg. Mr. Bradley is employed by the C.N.R. as car accountant.

Mr. C. Bradley, of the Dry Dock Department, accompanied by his wife and daughter, arrived by yesterday's express from Winnipeg, where they had been attending the wedding. The Telegram extends its congratulations.

Fishery Report. "The August Regatta,"

MEANING "AUGUST SALES"

There is a good wind blowing your way, and every sale in this City is under full canvas to-day.

The great August Sales have begun.

There are dainty white sales with lace edgings and insertions which make one hesitate whether to think of a yacht or a clothes line.

There are furniture sales whirling along with the tide and flying price signals of distress.

There are piano sales, singing their swan song as they float along.

There are sales of suits and dresses and waists all flying the colors of this great Clearance Event.

There are great hosiery and shoe sales that ought to be waterproof, because they are no longer price-proof.

Can't you see what it means to you?

Can't you see what it means to your pocket-book?

Here are hundreds of thousands worth of merchandise being thrown into the tide of this great summer event.

And all of the benefits of this one season, at least, are coming to you.

Every store is clearing its stocks as rapidly as possible. Autumn is coming and Autumn means new merchandise.

You can buy almost anything you can think of right now at great big price reductions.

THAT IS—YOU CAN BUY AT PRICE REDUCTIONS, IF YOU GO AT IT RIGHT.

The stores that are up-to-date—the stores that you can rely upon to have all new merchandise in new season—such stores are advertising their old stocks now, and placing big reductions upon them to make them move.

The other stores—the ones that do not advertise—are holding their stocks for the highest price they will bring. They are under no obligation to you to do otherwise. You may get some bargains here and there, but the chances are, you will not.

So the way to do is to follow the advertising in this paper day by day—to keep in touch with those stores that go on record with their sales; the stores that put down in black and white the offers they make and the things they intend to do.

Any shrewd family right now can double the buying power of every dollar you spend, if you will simply watch this advertising every day.

Welcomed Back.

By the Stephano there returned to the city from the United States two aunts, who are well known and liked in St. John's. They are Sisters Cecilia and Raphael, who were in the world Misses Maggie and Katie Harris. They are sisters of Hon. John Thomas and James Harris, and aunts of Mrs. Geo. Kearney of the K. & A. Store. Both ladies were well liked by the old school friends of theirs now living and were heartily welcomed home by them. They will remain here about a month.

C.L.B. Inspection

B., paraded at their Armory last night when the members were inspected by Major-General Dalton, Chief Commissioner of the St. John Ambulance Brigade Overseas, who is on a visit here and the guest of His Excellency the Governor. On arrival, the Major was greeted with a salute. He inspected A. B. and E. Companies and put the ambulance division through a series of drill exercises. General Dalton was pleased with the way the ladies acquitted themselves and complimented them on their efficiency.

Two Splendid Songs

At the Nickel Theatre. The Nickel Theatre was crowded with lovers of good music to hear Mr. John W. Myers in his two new songs. The first was the song which George Grant first successfully rendered. The second selection was "The Bowery Grenadiers" a great Irish march song, and it brought down the house. The applause was deafening. The songs will be repeated to-night but there will be new pictures.

The Watermelon

The watermelon is a thick-skinned, fleshy fruit which grows in the south and is shipped north in original packages. A good watermelon consists of 5 or 6 slices of 5 or 6 inches diameter and 25 or 30 inches length. The latter part of the watermelon can be eaten without contact with the seeds in the pulp. It is also the only section that is ripe north of Mason's line. The variety of watermelon served at hotels contains seeds, which are very plentifully supplied with black seeds, which give themselves in out of the way places.

The watermelon sprang from the hills of Georgia. In the early days of the republic the drinking water of Georgia was in the hands of a few, and the watermelon was raised as a substitute for the drink. It fulfilled its mission and has since been a proud Georgian. It has been quenched his thirst by drinking three or four watermelons, and the seeds.

Watermelons are never permitted to ripen in the south, but are always shipped north in as green a state as possible. As a result, a northern man never knows when he orders a watermelon over the phone, what he is going to receive a pumpkin, a summer squash. In order to make sure that the melon has attained maturity, most people have it tested with a long, spiral instrument, which the grower sends up an entire watermelon which has to be cut up to the core.

The Watermelon

The watermelon is a thick-skinned species of fruit which is grown in the south and shipped north to the original packers. A good watermelon consists of 5 cents' worth of rind and 35 cents' worth of fruit. The latter is not all waste, however, for after the watermelon has been emptied of its contents the rind is made up into pickles, acrimonious pickles, which are sold to guests who are too polite to refuse.

The watermelon sprang from the soil of Georgia. In the early days of Georgia the drinking water was in the hands of a few brewers and the watermelon was introduced as a substitute for the drive well. It fulfilled its mission nobly and many a proud Georgian has completely quenched his thirst by drinking three or four watermelons, including the seeds.

Watermelons are never permitted to ripen in the south, but are always shipped north in as green a state as possible. As a result, a northern man never knows when he orders a watermelon over the phone, whether he is going to receive a pumpkin or a summer squash. In order to make sure that the melon has attained maturity, most people have it tapped with a long spiral instrument, after which the green sends up an entirely different action which has to be fed to the cow.

The only part of the watermelon that can be eaten without coming in contact with the seeds is the heart. It is also the only section that ever gets ripe north of Mason's and the watermelon served at hotels contains no heart whatever, but is very plentifully supplied with black seeds, which secrete themselves in out of the way places and cause the diner to hunt for them nervously with his tongue. The minute you get a few feet away from the heart of a watermelon, you either run into the rind or bite eagerly into a non-elastic seed.

The home-grown watermelon of the corn belt is a melancholy imitation of the real article which deceives no one who has met the Georgia product face to face. However, it commands a ready sale in prohibition states.

Minimise The Loss.

Practically farmers may easily minimise the loss, due to a backward and cold season, by the judicious use of Sulphate of Ammonia as a fertilizer.

Sulphate of Ammonia contains over 23 per cent of nitrogen, as against 15 per cent in Nitrate of Soda, and is therefore more than 25 per cent better than nitrate of soda as a means of quickening and increasing the growth of crops.

The use of Sulphate of Ammonia has increased enormously of late years and it is recognized to be the most valuable fertilizer obtainable. By its judicious use the production of root crops per acre may be doubled, and the growth of late crops stimulated.

We invite the attention of Farmers to our special pamphlet on the best methods of using Sulphate, copies of which will be forwarded free to any address on application.

The price of Sulphate is moderate, and our terms are accommodating.

Auto Kills Dog.

Sloan-Duployan Shorthand Competitors

Newfoundland Again First. The results of the second 1913 International Shorthand Competitions of the Sloan-Duployan Shorthand Society (Headquarters, Bamsgate, England) show that Newfoundland candidates have again done exceedingly well.

The highest award, the gold medal, in Class IV for the best shorthand note and transcript at 150 words a minute, was gained by Miss Marie Dunphy, 12 Cochrane Street, St. John's. (Miss Dunphy was coached by Miss N. Winnicombe, 42 Gower Street.)

The gold centre medal in Class III for the best note and transcript at 100 words per minute was carried off by Miss Eileen Cooke, 71 Gower St. St. John's. To complete the list of Newfoundland successes, one of the five silver medals in Class II was secured by Miss Mabel Porter, 34 Gower St. Both Miss Cooke and Miss Porter are pupils of the Convent of Mercy, Military Road, St. John's. It is obvious from these results that "mere man" has no chance whatever when he has to compete against such expert young lady stenographers as these. Entries were received from many parts of the world, including U.S.A., Canada, West Africa, South Africa, Egypt, Malay States, Mauritius and India.

The Fight of Their Lives.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—Please permit me to congratulate you on your editorials, and the way in which you are handling the political situation.

Robinson and McGrath are experiencing the fight of their lives, and well they might, now that they know for a certainty that Sir Robert Bond is still leading the Liberal Party.

If McGrath had the least shame about him he would not mention that Western Bay incident, but it seems as though he glories in the dastardly action. However, I have no doubt but what the majority of the electors of Newfoundland will show him before the thirtieth of November what they think of such a dirty action.

I suppose McGrath deserves a little credit for having sense enough to drop his laughable parody on "Morris is making good."

I would beseech Robinson and McGrath for goodness sake not to take us in the outposts for such fools. I know the greater number of us have a very meagre education, but please allow us to have a little sense and reason of our own.

Yours truly, FISHERMAN FARMER, July 23rd, 1913.

You Can't Do Without 'Em.

A good workman is lost without up-to-date appliances. Office work is hard work without such labour-saving devices as are provided by the Globe-Wernicke Co. Their sectional goods are the last word in perfection, and are the result of many years of specializing in these lines. Both their Book-Cases and Filing Cabinets are necessities in the homes as well as in the offices. Being made in many styles, their appearance as well as their low price, makes them attractive.

In the Filing Cabinets all bodies are made of STEEL, and in this remarkable feature they excel over all other makes. What office is free from the danger of destruction of valuable papers by mice and rats? With Steel Files this is impossible.

Mr. Stanley Wright will remain in town until Saturday next, and will be pleased to explain the details of these almost unlimited combinations. Why not call on PERCIE JOHNSON and arrange for an interview.

Morris-Barter Wedding.

Jersey Side, Placentia, July 24.—A very dainty wedding took place here to-day, at the residence of John Bradshaw, J.P., when his niece, Miss Florence E. Barter, was married to Dr. W. A. Morris, physician and surgeon of Santa Domingo. The ceremony was performed by the Rt. Rev. Mr. Reardon, assisted by the Rev. J. Sheehan. The bride looked charming in her white duchesse satin gown. Her veil was caught with orange blossoms, and grazed worked by her mother. She carried a shower bouquet. Her little bridesmaid looked cute in a French frock, and carried a basket of pink sweet peas. Dr. McKendrick was best man. The floral decorations of the different rooms were most artistically carried out. The wedding was private, and only the near relatives were present, among whom were the Rt. Hon. Sir F. P. Morris, brother of the groom; F. J. Morris, K.C., M.P.; Mrs. J. Barter, the bride's mother; Mrs. Foran, her aunt; and Mrs. C. A. LaBel, of Montreal, the groom's sister. Missy Morris, the Premier's little son, acted as page. After the ceremony, refreshments were served, and after this the happy pair left for their honeymoon which will be spent in the States and Canada, before leaving for the South. The bride's traveling dress was royal blue cloth, with hat to match—Daily News.

The Regatta.

The Cate Man, The Man From Carter's Hill and Mrs. Tucker join in the agitation for the Wheel of Fortune at the Races.

The Cate Man, the Man from Carter's Hill and that sensible woman man known as Mrs. Tucker signify their approval of the stand taken by Tucker regarding the "Wheel of Fortune" at the Regatta.

The Cate Man says matters of this kind that affect the common Jack are always conveniently winked out of sight and legal lights who in a moment or so will be preaching their political doctrine to men like Tucker, do not now think it worth their while to come out and tell Tucker if it is contrary to the law to run a wheel at the Races. Some of the high toned, solemn looking individuals smile at Tucker's interest in this matter, but Tucker does not sleep over their sarcastic glances, and would have them to understand that a simple wheel of fortune on the green on Regatta Day is to him, just as interesting as a dabble in stocks on market day. He is not a gambler, but out of bed romancing on the shortest cut that will land the common Jack into heaven, but if they spent less time adding their feeble brains on matters of this kind and started out saving themselves, the common Jack would be more thankful to them, and they themselves would stand a far better show to manipulate a harp after Gabriel blows his trumpet. Common Jacks like Tucker and the Cate Man are sick and tired of running up against mild faced Purists who are at all times ready to "die" for the benefit of the "toller," but the Cate Man says this game is about worn threadbare and not by any means taken seriously by the Plain Man who's got to toil for an existence in this ancient and loyal quarry. What the common sense man wants to-day is honesty not hypocrisy, and who will not agree with Tucker when he says that the sitting out of the wheel of fortune at the Races is a screaming farce, when we see lotteries going on on all sides of us and Mr. Stanley Wright will remain in time to call a halt on this farce, especially when the town is deluged with lotteries running from gambling. In stocks on main, down to selling tickets on a decrepit "rag" whose ancestors suffered from an acute attack of lockjaw whilst journeying in that eventful trip to Mount Asarat, Lord!

Let us be fair and square in this matter, let us play the part of honest men and if the Wheel of Fortune is to be cut out of the sport at our Annual Derby, then let us drop bare faced gambling in the higher walks of life also. For as long as we go on with this kind of shinnanigan the more hypocrits we will produce in the community.

Once more let us ask if it is illegal to run the five cent wheel at the Races. If it is, then let us go to sack lotteries and races, let us convert the banks of Kitty Vinty into a place where we can do penance for our misdeeds, let us hope that we will awake some fine morning to find ourselves enjoying the reward of a well spent life wherein hypocrits reigneth not and where simple amusement is tolerated to the fullest extent.

For what is more idiotic than to hold a Regatta and debar people from having a go on a simple game of chance. If the law is so stringent then it should be repealed for we are surrounded and bounded at the Regatta with enough diabolical contrivers without turning the scene into a wilderness. We have the Penitentiary opposite us, the Graveyard behind us and the Hospital on our starboard quarter. Tucker says that with those surroundings and a cool day we ought to run no great risk of jumping over the fence, even if the Wheel of Fortune is permitted. So Tucker says let us hear the familiar cry of one more bet, there's a wholesome ring about that cry that reminds us of the times when we weren't as stuck up as we are to day, and when people were not silly as not to recognize a poor neighbor who lived on the same street as themselves. The wheel of fortune died and the same year a lot of common sense died with it.

TIM SHANNAHAN.

The Black Diamond Liner City of Sydney, Capt. McDonald, arrived from Montreal via Gulf Ports at eight o'clock this morning bringing eighty-five first class passengers. For here she brought Angus Keith, W. W. and Mrs. Hallyard and two-thirds cargo. The trip down the river was pleasant. From Sydney the run was made in 36 hours. She sails, again, tomorrow afternoon.
