WITH BEAVER FLOUR

All this talk about Western wheat flours being "pastry" flours, is just plain talk. Anyone, who knows anything about wheat, knows that Western wheat flour cannot and does not, make as good Pastry as "Beaver" Flour.

Western wheat has what the bakers call strength. It makes a big loaf of bread—but the bread is spongy and lacks flavor. Ontario wheat, blended with spring wheat, makes the ideal bread and pastry flour.

The bakers of Toronto and London—the experts at the agricultural colleges—and thousands of homes in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces—have proved that "Beaver" Flour is superior to any Western wheat flour, and is equally good for Bread and Pastry. Try it.

CHAPTER XLV.

"No; she lives quite alone, and at Christmas she dismissed her servant, saying she preferred to live so. Indeed, it is only within the last few weeks that these rumors have been flying about."

"But Mr. Litton is an unmarried man," suggested Major Stuart, with a smile, "and Mrs. Grant is a very pretty woman, I hear; so that I am afraid it must be a case of what Artimus Ward would call 'affinity.' It would not be such a wonderful thing for them to fall in love with each other, Lady Oliphant."

"Not at all," she agreed promptly. "But Mr. Litton was almost engaged to Rosie Venn before this scandal; and the rector has sent Rosie away on a visit, the poor child was grieving so much about it."

"But why does not some one take Mr. Litton to task?" said Major Stuart. "If his intentions are honorable, he will not hesitate to say so, and if it is only a flirtation, he ought to be told that he is seriously compromising a solitary woman's reputation, and that he ought to desist."

"But Mr. Litton's visits are not the only thing we have to complain of," continued Lady Oliphant, who would

THE BLESSING OF MOTHERHOOD

Healthy Mothers and Children Make Happy Homes

Motherhood is woman's highest sphere in life. It is the fruition of her dearest hopes and greatest desires; yet thousands of noble women through some derangement have been denied this blessing. In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong. This is evidenced by the following letters which are genuine and truthful:

London, Ont.—"I wish to thank you for the benefit I received by taking your famous medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Before my baby was born I was so ill I could not stand long or walk any distance. I had to lie down nearly all the time. After I took your medicine I felt like a new woman. I could work from morning till night and was happy and well. I certainly think it relieves pain at childbirth and recommend it to every woman who is pregnant. You may use this testimonial if you like. It may help some other woman."—Mrs. FRANK CORBIN, 132 Adelaide St., London, Ont.

Brooklyn, N.Y.—"I was ailing all the time and did not know what the matter was. I wanted a baby but my health would not permit. I was nervous, my side ached and I was all run down. I heard that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was good and took the medicine. I have now a beautiful baby and your Compound has helped me in every way."—Mrs. J. J. STREWART, 229 Humboldt St., Brooklyn, N.Y.

thing in woman?" Guy said, trying to disguise his anxiety under an appearance of carelessness.

"It is such a pretty voice," she answered, too much absorbed in her own thoughts to heed the eagerness in his manner, "very low and sweet, with a little tremor in it sometimes. Ah, the cottage is in sight! And there is Mr. Litton's horse waiting."

Sir Frederic, from the box-seat of the break, glanced back at his wife, as his eyes fell upon the big bay horse fastened to the school house railings; but at the same moment Mr. Litton came out of the cottage, closed the door after him with the air of an habitue, swung himself into the saddle, and rode down the hill toward them.

"Oh, papa, there is Mr. Litton! Please stop. I want to inquire after Mrs. Grant. He has been to the cottage, and she must be ill," cried Madge eagerly; and Sir Frederic pulled up his horses, and Guy followed suit.

Mr. Litton rode up, looking graver and paler than his wont, lifting his hat to Lady Oliphant.

"You have been to the school-house," said Madge eagerly.

Mrs. Grant is not ill, I hope?"

"She is not very well," he answered, smiling at her; "but there is no need for anxiety, Miss Oliphant."

"May I go in and see her?" Madge asked, when her father interposed.

"As your mother is going to see her this morning, it was the better for you to put off your visit, Madge. It is not infectious, doctor, I presume?"

"What is not infectious?" asked Mr. Litton, looking up in surprise at Sir Frederic's face was impassive.

"Mrs. Grant's illness," he answered coolly.

"Infectious! Mrs. Grant's illness? he young man answered, looking bewildered; then suddenly recollecting himself, he added quickly, "Oh, dear, certainly not! She is a little over-tired, I think—that is all."

"Then she ought not to be troubled with visitors," said Sir Frederic; "we won't detain you, Mr. Litton, suppose you are busy just now?"

"Pretty well, Sir Frederic," the young surgeon replied, as he lifted his hat once more and rode away. Guy Stuart looked after him keenly, "young, handsome, graceful, it would wonder that he should attract woman's love; but if—"

Guy's train of thought was suddenly cut short by Sir Frederic drawing up again at the schoolhouse to say a few words to his wife; and then they break drove on, the girl's pretty blue eyes looking wistfully at the cottage windows.

"There must be some good in her," he thought, as he helped Lady Oliphant to alight; and, while she knocked at the cottage door, he looked eagerly to see who would open it.

But she knocked twice without receiving any answer; and then, trying the latch and finding it unfastened, she entered the cottage.

"I will not keep you long, Guy said, with a smile; and, entering the little passage as she spoke, she met the schoolmistress coming down stairs with a cup and saucer in her hand. Had she been one moment sooner Guy Stuart's curiosity would have been satisfied; but in that moment Lady Oliphant had shut the door, and so prevented his seeing the woman whose description had so greatly interested him.

"Lady Oliphant!" Mrs. Grant exclaimed, her hands trembling so much that the cup and saucer rattled against each other, and she could scarcely retain her grasp of them.

"Yes, I am rather an early visitor; but I want to say a few words to you, Mrs. Grant."

In perfect silence, the schoolmistress preceded Lady Oliphant into the little sitting room. There was no fire and the chill and comfortless aspect of the room struck her ladyship with a sense of forlorn desolation, which rained her; while the figure of the woman who stood facing her with great red eyes, which had an expression of unutterable misery in their depths, seemed in keeping with the room. She was dressed, as usual, in black; but her attire had not the airy freshness and neatness which generally characterized it; as the careful chestnut hair was in disorder, and she wore a large apron, as if she had been engaged in housework.

Lady Oliphant did not sit down and Shirley stood facing her with an air of deprecating sadness and humility which her ladyship could not help regarding as a tacit confession of guilt; but there was something about the slim black-robed figure, with its pale lovely face and pathetic eyes which touched Madge's mother against her better judgment and made her task a more difficult one than it had appeared in anticipation.

"Mrs. Grant," she said—and despite all her efforts to render it stern, her pleasant voice, trembled slightly—what I have to say to you this morning is very painful to me—so painful, indeed, that I cannot think I will hurt you more to hear than pains me to say it; but I am forced to do so."

Mrs. Grant made no answer; but to the great sad eyes came a look of intense dread and shrinking and error and the color faded from the wet lips, leaving them ashy pale.

"Will you not sit down?" Lady Oliphant said suddenly. "You do not look well. I fear your duties are too much for you."

"No, oh, no!" the schoolmistress said very eagerly. "They are not indeed. I can perform them quite easily. Pray do not think otherwise."

"And yet you are under constant medical care," said her ladyship, a rifle more coldly; and a great wave of color rose in the pale face, then, fading left it colorless as before.

The fear in the lustrous hazel eyes deepened.

"Yes," she said faintly.

"Then how can you be equal to our duties?" said Lady Oliphant, more gently.

 W. J. Robertson, Welland, 12th June, 1913.
 Agent CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE CO.,
 Port Hope, Ontario.

Dear Sir—
 When acknowledging receipt of the Company's cheque for my matured Endowment Policy No. 24937, I desire to avail myself of the opportunity to express my satisfaction with the outcome of my investment.
 The policy was payable to me at age 60, with ten premiums of $45.00 each. The return under it is as follows:
 Now accrued . . . . . $1,000.00
 Dividends added . . . . . 446.94
 Total amount payable . . . . . $1,446.94
 Deduct total premiums paid . . . . . 450.00
 $ 996.94

That I should have insurance protection free for all these years and now have over twice the amount of my premiums returned to me in cash is a most satisfactory outcome and I heartily congratulate you on it.

Yours very truly,
 GEO. ROSE.

A Queer Idea of God.
 By RUTH CAMERON.

The little boy was very sleepy and wanted to say his prayers in bed instead of on his knees as he had been most properly taught to do. His mother pleaded and commanded to no avail. Finally she said, "But if you don't get out of bed and say your prayers on your knees, Robert, God will be angry with you, and maybe he'll make it rain to-morrow and you won't be able to go over to grandmother's."

The little boy was evidently much impressed by that. He wanted very much to go to grandmother's, and he didn't like to run the risk of bad weather, and so with a scowl on his face he tumbled out of bed and hastily assuming the proper attitude launched himself into prayer.

His mother was evidently satisfied but had she reason to be? Wouldn't I have been almost better for the little boy to say his prayers in bed than to have been cowed into saying them on his knees by fear of a God who would be angry at him if he didn't?

It seems to me that some of the fables and superstitions which we hold about God are almost insulting to him.

I have heard it said that God made man in his own image, and man then created God in his. It is certainly true that as water cannot rise above its own level, so our conception of God cannot rise above the level of our finite imagination. But surely it ought not to fall below that level. Surely we ought to realize that God is more compassionate, more tender, more just and more wonderfully wise than the best men we ever knew or could imagine. And yet some people seem to believe in a God who is scarcely as kind as just as a good man.

A Scotchman once repeated to me an interesting little anecdote which his mother told him about Ian MacLaren.

Ian MacLaren (Dr. Watson) was a Presbyterian minister, but he was very liberal. One day he was arguing with a good old hell-fire and brimstone minister about infant damnation. Dr. Watson pointed out to him that no decent man would be a party to such unfair condemnation, and asked him if he didn't think God was at least as good as man if not a trifle sorer.

"I know, I know," said the old Presbyterian, his voice vibrant with emotion, "but I'm telling' ye, sir, that be Almighty, in his official and judicial capacity, had to do many things that in his private and patron character he must be mighty ashamed o'."

Of course, we all laugh at the minister's explanation, and yet don't many of us entertain superstition about God which make him out as a "official and judicial" abstraction doing many things which any normal human being would be ashamed of.

Ponderous Personages.
 WILLIAM J. BRYAN.
 By GEORGE FITCH.
 Author of "At Good Old Swash."

William Jennings Bryan, owner of an undivided half of the democratic party of this nation, was born in Illinois in 1860, and he began the discussion of politics a few months later. At the age of nineteen, he was winning oratorical contests for Illinois college. At the age of twenty-seven, he was addressing a few scathing remarks to the Republican Party in Nebraska, from which it has never entirely recovered. At the age of thirty-one, he began trying out new and deadlier forms of oratory upon Congress; and at the age of thirty-six, he rose in the Democratic National Convention and swept the party into his pocket with a few deft words.

Mr. Bryan ran for president that year, a habit of which he has only recently and with the greatest difficulty broken himself. He was almost the first presidential candidate to run for the office instead of sitting on the front porch and receiving the homage of his party. When Mr. Bryan runs for president he does not do so in an easy chair. He climbs on to the back platform of a train and for months afterwards picks bands reverberating words out of the surrounding scenery. Mr. Bryan holds the long distance record for oratory, having often spoken for 1,000 miles at a stretch, with only short pauses between stations.

Mr. Bryan is now fifty-four years old. He is a short, heavy-set man with a wide gauge face and a forehead which extends well down the other side of his dome of reason. He wears his remaining hair long and dark and is not addicted to whiskers. He is a plainly dressed man with plain, unvarnished ways and half the people of the West have talked with him at one time or another on the local trains on which he has spent so much of his life.

Mr. Bryan has been a lawyer, soldier, author and traveler, as well as a Healthy and Unhealthy Lighting.

 Gas, it may be said, vitiates the atmosphere. True. But it also helps purify it. Its purifying power is greater than its vitiating power. Electricity does not vitiate, nor does it purify. Hear what three eminent men have said:

Much evidence has lately been adduced to show that gas is more useful than the electric light in promoting ventilation of air. It is for this amongst other reasons, that gas is being frequently substituted for the electric light. The latest example is, perhaps, the Society of Medical Officers of Health, which has recently installed gas on its premises, after experiment with the electric light.—Dr. James B. Hurry.

He would merely add that no member who had experience of their meeting room under the old conditions could deny the improvement that has taken place since gas had been substituted for the electric light and a new system of heating and ventilation had been installed.—Dr. Reginald Duffield, before the Society of Medical Officers of Health.

I have in my mind's eye, at the moment, a hall which, in the old days was lighted by gas, and in which large audience could, with comfort, sit through an hour's lecture, or witness a three hours' dinner, but which, with the march of civilization, had its illuminating gas replaced by electricity, the latter being employed with all its latest refinements to effect the lighting under the best conditions, with the result that any large gathering with its walls tends to a state little short of asphyxiation.—Vivian M. Lewis, Professor of Chemistry at the Royal Naval College, Greenwich.—Nov 6/11.

C.L.B. Dance.
 The dance at the British Hall last night under the auspices of the C. I. B. Band proved very successful, over 150 couples participating. An excellent programme of music was discussed by the band. During the intervals were served by the lady friends of the band, after which dancing was continued until an early hour this morning. The affair was largely attended by representatives of the other brigades.

Cured Eczema Like Magic
 Suffered for Years—Tried All Kinds of Treatment—Surprised at Results From Dr. Chase's Ointment.

You can soon tell when people are "thousands" about medical treatment in the language they use. After experimenting with all sorts of ointments in a vain effort to obtain relief I cured, the writer of this letter was astonished at the quick and satisfactory results obtained by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

"It worked like magic," she writes, "and it is surprising the healing that it often effects in a single night with this great ointment. The stinging and itching are relieved at once, and cure is only a matter of time and slight treatment."

Mrs. Clements, 13 Strange street, Toronto, Ont., writes: "I have suffered from eczema for years, and after using all kinds of ointments, and trying Dr. Chase's Ointment, it worked like magic and proved a God-send to me. I would advise anyone suffering from eczema to try one box and be convinced." 40 cents a box at dealers, or Edmanou, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

The Nickel.
 There was a large attendance at the Nickel Theatre last evening to see the excellent programme. There were first prize, the show being one of the best for some time. The feature film was a three reel story entitled "Nobility," by the Pathé players. It was a hand colored picture and gave general satisfaction. This evening's programme will be repeated. On Monday next the Nickel shows will be given at the Casino Theatre.

Household Notes.
 Raisin Bread.—To ordinary dough made with one quart of whole wheat flour, add one cupful of seeded raisins. Part of the flour should be reserved for dredging them. Do not put the raisins in until just before kneading.

To keep coffee pot sweet, put a tablespoonful of baking soda into it, fill it two-thirds full of water, and let it boil for an hour. Then rinse very thoroughly. Do this once a week and the pot will always smell fresh and clean.

Gruel for colds is made with one pint of milk, one tablespoonful of oatmeal, sugar and sherry. Cream the oatmeal with a little milk, heat the rest of the milk. Cook for ten minutes and add sugar and one teaspoonful of sherry.

Prune Salad.—This is delicious for luncheon. Steep one pound of large prunes until soft, without sweetening brain and pit; then fill the cavity with nut-meats or cream-cheese, arrange on lettuce leaves with mayonnaise dressing.

The most delicious rice pudding is made with one cup of boiled rice, 1/2 lb of sugar, one teaspoon salt, two teaspoons butter, one quart milk and a little nutmeg. Place in a buttered baking dish and bake slowly, stirring occasionally till all the milk is absorbed.

When buying new boots, do not wait till you require them, but order them some months beforehand and wear them for a day or two, in order to get them shaped to your feet, then hang them up in a press. When required, they will be found to wear much longer than if the kid or leather were quite new.

When one is nervous or tired, a sponge bath in water, either hot or cold, will often prove stimulating and refreshing. Elderly people and those whose circulation is feeble, should "hold the cold plunge" so delightful to the young, because it rouses them to vitality. But those in advanced years, as well as boys and girls, are better in the daily bath from head to foot, bathtub and a copious amount of water is not a prerequisite if all that he has to depend on are a basin and titcher.

Twice Proven Cure for Nerves
 Dr. Chase's Nerve Food Restores Health.

There is a message in this letter to thousands of women who are suffering from broken-down nervous systems. Sleepless nights, much irritability over little things, anxiety of mind and nervous sick headaches are among the symptoms.

You may not realize the nature of your ailment until nervous prostrations upon you. But in whatever way you find yourself, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is ready to help you.

Mrs. W. J. May, 38 Annetta street, Toronto, writes: "Some years ago I suffered from nervous trouble, at Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, which completely cured me. About a month ago I received a shock which again shattered my nervous system to such an extent that I was irritable, hysterical, and could not sleep. I began to use the Nerve Food again and was not disappointed. Improvement was apparent from the first box, and now I am entirely well." Finance to the Front.

Yesterday the Sealing Bill, introduced by Mr. Coaker and in the main the substance of the agreement which has been observed by the owners of sealing steamers, passed the Committee Stage, with some modifications, which were found to be desirable during the discussion. Another bill which has for its object the improvement of the life of loggers is now before the House.

This Bill which is backed by the F. P. U. has met with a good reception, although there is still a doubt in the minds of some members as to the desirability of enacting a minimum wage clause in the bill. These two bills are private measures. Yesterday the Min. of Finance gave notice of resolutions which will be awaited with keen interest.

The first notice relates to a loan "for the extension of the railway system of the Colony." Does this mean that a loan is to be sought to finish the present construction contract, or does it include additional construction, not yet before the House? In either case it will be interesting to learn what money the Government propose to raise.

A notice of a further loan for telegraphs, lighthouses and public buildings was also given. The amount which the Government propose to add to the public debt account will also be awaited with interest.

The Minister also gave notice of additional pensions. The list will be interesting.

To-morrow is budget day and the trade and the people generally are awaiting the announcement of the tariff changes foreshadowed in the Governor's Speech in order to bring the revenue into equilibrium with the expenditure.

The ship left again at 11 a.m. coming here direct, with these passengers, and is due early to-morrow afternoon.

Reids' Boats.

The Bruce leaves North Sydney for Port aux Basques to-night. The Clyde is still at Placentia. The Glencoe sails for the South Coast route at 3 p.m. to-day. The Lintrose left Port aux Basques for St. John's direct, at 11 a.m. to-day.

NO NEWS OF FIRE.—Neither the police or Justice Departments have received any information regarding the fire reported to have occurred at Placentia.

Stanfield's Underwear.

Sleeping in the cold and silent clay to-day are many men who should be alive and active — an asset to their country, but they allowed cold after cold to go on uncared for—result—Death. Many of these colds were contracted through wearing cotton underwear. There is nothing more dangerous in cold climates. After perspiring freely it is like a cold wet rag round the body, and the fleeces roll off in little icy knobs. Throw it away. Wear wool, it absorbs all moisture and lessens the chances of catching cold. Stanfield's, from $1.00 per garment.

Traffic in Titles in Great Britain.

London, Feb. 4.—The scandal in reference to the purchase of titles and other honors, first broached by Sir George Kekwich and reiterated yesterday by M. A. Thomas, of Cardiff, has received additional flavor by the publication of an article in the "Candid Review," by Thomas Gibson Bowles, a former M.P., in which he gets down to details as to the scandal. He asserts that the Conservative funds which, in 1874, totalled £20,000 ($100,000) rose to £80,000 ($400,000) in the nineties. The Liberal funds, which were very low in 1886, reached £700,000 ($3,500,000) in 1907, stood at £500,000 ($2,500,000) in 1910, and are now estimated at £400,000 ($2,000,000). He asserts that the tariff for honors is £50,000 ($250,000) for a baronetcy, with anywhere from £150,000 to £400,000 ($750,000 to $2,000,000) for peerages.

 Divorce Division.—Mr. Justice Herdridge.
 Mrs. Gwendolen Carew More Molyneux, daughter of Admiral Molyneux, sought a judicial separation from her husband, Mr. John Ellis More Molyneux McCowen, formerly a lieutenant in the Royal Army, endeavoring to strangle her. The suit was undefended. Mr. Bernard, K.C. (with him Mr. T. Uckhill), stated that the petitioner as a lady of considerable wealth and of a marriage settled £2,000 per annum upon her husband, with power to reduce it to £1,000 a year. The marriage was on September 14, 1907, at St. Peter's Church, Eaton-square, and the couple lived at Westleigh cottage, Havant, and at Loseley Park, Surrey. After the marriage the husband took by deed poll the name Mrs. Molyneux.

Race Betterment Amongst Potatoes.

Paris, Feb. 1.—Race betterment among potatoes is promised by three French experts who have succeeded in producing potato-bearing plants from seeds. The leaders in this new vegetable sex are: M. M. Sartory, Grallot and Thiebut, who declare that many centuries of sexual cultivation of potatoes has so enfeebled the present race of roots that they easily fall prey to various potato-diseases which a young and healthy race of plants would be able to resist. Potato seed planted in the ordinary ways fails to produce plants with potato-bearing roots, but the experts found that in conjunction with certain ground mushrooms the potato seed would produce as desired. The mushrooms by attaching themselves to the young plant, provoke the formation of potatoes.

The 1913 crop from sixty plants consisted of potatoes about the size of a walnut, though some ran larger. The best of these roots were again planted in 1912, and it is announced that they have produced vigorous fruit-bearing plants entirely free from any of the common potato ailments. Much importance is attached to the discovery, which not only provides a means of rapidly regenerating the potato, but makes it possible by crossing and selection to develop a number of different varieties possessing qualities which it may be desirable to cultivate in the potato either from the commercial or the alimentary point of view.

Traffic in Titles in Great Britain.

London, Feb. 4.—The scandal in reference to the purchase of titles and other honors, first broached by Sir George Kekwich and reiterated yesterday by M. A. Thomas, of Cardiff, has received additional flavor by the publication of an article in the "Candid Review," by Thomas Gibson Bowles, a former M.P., in which he gets down to details as to the scandal. He asserts that the Conservative funds which, in 1874, totalled £20,000 ($100,000) rose to £80,000 ($400,000) in the nineties. The Liberal funds, which were very low in 1886, reached £700,000 ($3,500,000) in 1907, stood at £500,000 ($2,500,000) in 1910, and are now estimated at £400,000 ($2,000,000). He asserts that the tariff for honors is £50,000 ($250,000) for a baronetcy, with anywhere from £150,000 to £400,000 ($750,000 to $2,000,000) for peerages.

Judicial Separation From Husband For Cruelty.
 Divorce Division.—Mr. Justice Herdridge.
 Mrs. Gwendolen Carew More Molyneux, daughter of Admiral Molyneux, sought a judicial separation from her husband, Mr. John Ellis More Molyneux McCowen, formerly a lieutenant in the Royal Army, endeavoring to strangle her. The suit was undefended. Mr. Bernard, K.C. (with him Mr. T. Uckhill), stated that the petitioner as a lady of considerable wealth and of a marriage settled £2,000 per annum upon her husband, with power to reduce it to £1,000 a year. The marriage was on September 14, 1907, at St. Peter's Church, Eaton-square, and the couple lived at Westleigh cottage, Havant, and at Loseley Park, Surrey. After the marriage the husband took by deed poll the name Mrs. Molyneux.

HOW TO BUY A WATCH.

Price alone sells few watches. It's what you get for the money that sells them—in other words, Value. The point on which value depends is, first, the experience of the manufacturer, and next, the integrity of the local dealer. The thing to know is—How long has the firm been selling watches? (Duley's have for 25 years.)

YOU NEED A WATCH.

No matter what your vocation, a good watch is as indispensable as the clothing you wear, if you would be counted a success. We make a specialty of Good Watches, and at prices that will surprise you, when you realize the wonderful value in a Real timekeeper.

At the House

Petitions were presented by Mr. Higgins for Elective Road Board at Torbay; by Mr. Currie, on various public matters; by Mr. Abbott, for a well at Bonavista, and by Mr. Parsons for a grant for Harbour Grace Fire Department.

The House then resolved itself into committee on Bill, "An Act to Provide for the Investigation of Combines and Monopolies."

The Prime Minister.—He explained the Bill and pointed out that there was an opinion abroad for some years that coal dealers were making large profits because some figures from the time coal is purchased in the pit until it reaches the consumer. In other words, according to his, the Prime Minister's, figures, what cost the coal dealer landed in St. John's $6.02 for a ton of coal was sold to $7.60.

Mr. Kent agreed with the object of the Bill, but it was not vigorous enough. There was no provision made to penalize any combine or manufacturing concern that would operate against public interest. The appointment of Commissioners to make inquiries was not sufficient unless a remedy was provided. Besides there was the possibility of a political complexion being put on a commission, combine may have sufficient political pull to prevent an enquiry, before he thought the Act would accomplish no good.

Mr. Coaker believed the Bill a thin move. He wondered whether the fishermen's Union would be put on the same level as combines. Some effective means should be provided by the way of a penalty. He pointed out that large coal dealers were making handsome profits because they got rawbacks on their shipments of coal cheaper than the amount stated by the Prime Minister. He then referred to the sealing monopoly which was in the hands of three firms, and the Biscuit Monopoly of two manufacturing concerns and which it was understood paid a manufacturer $5,000 a year to close down. This amount he contended was being paid directly by the consumers.

Mr. Lloyd.—He was in full sympathy with the bill so far as it went but it did not go far enough. The second section brought all agreements detrimental to the consumers or producer within the definition of Com-lines. The second section empowered the Governor in Council to order an enquiry in any case deemed desirable. The third section gave the Commission powers in regard to witnesses. The bill gives no further power, the Commission could elicit information. Should the information elicited show the combine was detrimental to public interest, no remedy was afforded by the bill.

The Prime Minister said that if the Act at present was not comprehensive enough that provision would be made for remedial measure when found necessary.

Mr. Bennett and Mr. Grimes also spoke on the bill and thought it was time an investigation was made to find out how our combines and manufacturing establishments are conducted.

The Bill passed without amendment.

LOGGERS' BILL.

The Bill "An Act to Regulate the Employment of Men Engaged in Camps," then went into Committee.

Mr. Coaker, the introducer, explained the various sections of the Bill and showed the need of affording them suitable accommodation and protecting their agreement for wages.

The Prime Minister agreed with most of the Bill but that the fixing of wages was a serious proposition to deal with and pointed out that last year one company had sunk £10,000 whilst the A. N. D. Co., at Grand Falls had so far been unable to pay a dividend.

The House then adjourned until 5 o'clock when the discussion was resumed.

Mr. Kent gave the Bill his hearty support. He was glad to see steps taken for the improvements of foot lodgings, etc., for the men engaged, but thought that the fixing of a minimum wage warranted careful consideration.

The Bill was read a second time and will go into Committee again today.

REPRESENTATION BILL.

The House then went into Committee on representation in the Legislature. The Bill provides that Millerton and Badger be included in the District of Twillingate.

The Bill was explained by the Premier and referred to a request for one man districts which was under consideration. He said the denominational aspect also had to be considered.

Try Irritating Hack Of Bronchitis Instantly Relieved By "Catarrhzone"

Best Cure in Every Case Treated by Catarrhzone.

Catarrhzone can't fail to cure bronchitis; its so healing, soothing and balsamic that every trace of the disease flies before it. When you inhale the pure piney vapor of Catarrhzone, you send healing medication to the spots that are diseased and sore. Isn't it rational to apply medicine where the disease exists? Certainly! That's why Catarrhzone is so successful; it goes where the trouble is, gets where a spray or ointment can't penetrate. For the relief of complete cure of bronchitis, asthma, catarrh, throat trouble, we guarantee Catarrhzone in every case. You don't take medicine—you don't take any drugs—just breathe the balsamic essences of Catarrhzone; it does the rest safely and surely.

"For three years I was seriously bothered by a bronchial cough. At night I would awaken with a dry irritable feeling in my throat. I couldn't cough up anything, but very soon coughed my throat into quite an inflamed condition. Once I got Catarrhzone Inhaler I was all right. I took it to bed, and if an attack awakened me a few minutes use of the Inhaler gave me relief. Catarrhzone has cured me and I strongly urge everyone with a weak throat to use it regularly.

Catarrhzone will not disappoint you. Get the complete $1.00 outfit; it's guaranteed. Small size, 50c; trial or sample size, 25c. at dealers everywhere.

Mr. Coaker expressed his pleasure on hearing the Premier refer to the single member district, as the F. F. C. had submitted resolutions to that effect. He agreed that the denominational aspect had to be preserved and thought that a select committee to deal with the matter would overcome the difficulty.

Mr. Jennings spoke along similar lines.

The Bill passed the Committee to be read a third time today.

WHITE SLAVE TRAFFIC.

The Bill in relation to the suppression of White Slave Traffic passed the Committee stage. The Premier pointed out that while we are not troubled with such a menace here, it was better to have the law on our statute, as asked for the Imperial authorities.

The House then went into Committee on Resolutions dealing with Savills.

The Premier showed that the object of the Resolutions was to regulate the fishermen's mills, and to introduce a measure by which other fishermen should contribute something toward the revenue of the country. In the course of his remarks the Premier deplored the ridding of trees.

Mr. Kent approved of the principle of the bill, but would reserve comment until the matter came up before the Committee as a Bill.

Mr. Coaker spoke along the same lines, and said that he was glad to notice that the Government, after rejecting their proposals for some years, were now falling in line with the F. F. C. recommendations.

Mr. Jennings and Mr. Young discussed the value of rinds for the production of our fish.

The Resolutions were passed without amendment and a Bill giving them effect was read a first time.

SEALING BILL.

The sealing bill then came up.

Mr. Jennings and Mr. Winsor spoke in favour of the Bill and Mr. Young against it. The Minister of Marine and Fisheries also supported the Bill for the reason that anything coming from the fishermen was worthy of consideration and would always have his support.

Mr. Higgins' amendment, after some modification in the cooks' clause, was accepted by Mr. Coaker.

The Bill was then passed. A report of His Excellency the Governor on the 1913 sealfishery was then tabled by the Premier.

The Finance Minister gave notice that he would on Tuesday move the House into Committee to consider the raising of a loan to provide for railways; and a loan for the extension of the telegraph system of the Colony and for the extension of light house system, and for construction and improvement of public buildings; also to ask leave to introduce a Bill to provide for certain Retiring Allowances.

The House then adjourned.

Pancake Sociable

A Pancake Sociable will be held in the British Hall to-night, and as this is the last opportunity for a dance before Lent, it is expected the affair will be largely patronized. The music will be supplied by the Myron O'Grady orchestra, and an excellent programme of dances has been arranged.

HOCKEY.

CRESCENTS WIN CHAMPIONSHIP.

Defeat Victorias by 3 Goals to 1.—A Fierce Battle—Six Players Injured—Two Unable to Continue the Game—Many Penalties. Handed Out—Victory Celebrated.

A hot dish was served out at the rink's rink last night to an unusually large gathering of onlookers, when the Victorias and Crescents met for the last time this season, resulting in a victory for the latter by three goals to one, thus giving the championship for 1914 to the Crescents who have maintained the laurels they won for previous years. Altogether the game could not be classified as scientific or a specimen of a team exhibition, but for certain it was fast and lively while excitement was at fever heat. The struggle for supremacy was a grudging one between these two teams. It was flavoured with an occasional bit of roughness, many penalties were handed out, several players got injured, one of whom had to retire completely, and the services of Doctors Morgan, Mitchell and Pritchard were cry much in evidence. The teams were called together at 7.30 o'clock and the following was the result:

recounts	Goal	Victorias
Thomas	Point	C. Hunt
Herder	Cover	Morison
Loy	Rover	Parsons
Stick	Right	Ford
M. Stick	Centre	Brien
Churchill		R. Shortall

Play opened lively, both sides giving and taking. The Vics. began hostilities and got in some effective work but the back division of the Crescents kept the puck out of the danger zone. Stick took possession of the puck and made a fine dash but was brought up by Parsons, who did not do it in the proper way and was penalized. Ford then got away, passed to Shortall, who found the net, but in the meantime Herder had been in a scrimmage with Ford, and the referee called a foul before the puck entered the net. After this very little combination was witnessed from either side. During the latter end of the half the Vics. appeared to have the tired feeling, and Billy Hutchings availed of this and drew first blood for his team. Brien then got the puck in the eye and had to retire from the game and get the wound stitched. He was replaced by Tobin.

The second half was much faster. Many were the complaints from the boards over the lack of combination, but such was out of the question in view of the rough aspect that was put in the game. Heavy checking was prevalent. Play was in its wildest element when Hutchings, who was in the thickest of the fray, banged in the second goal for his team. Excitement then ran high amongst the onlookers, but scarcely had the puck been re-centred when Parsons notched up the one and only goal for the Vics. Soon after Herder and Ford met in a head-on collision, the former had the lower portion of his right ear injured whilst Ford had his forehead opened. Both had to discontinue for awhile but after being attended by Doctors, were able to resume playing. A little later and Churchill got laid low and had to retire for repairs. As a was remarked, "The dressing room must be a hospital to-night." However, when the injured players were attended to the Vics. had play in their favor and the opinion was that they would get the equalizer. Suddenly the Crescents forward line, three minutes before full time, made their final dash and Hutchings scored a clever goal. The Vics. then put on every ounce of steam but could not increase their score. Churchill got a blow in the abdomen and had to be carried to the dressing room where it was some time before he came to. Tobin, of the Vics. went off to even up and six men on each side finished the match.

After the game the Crescents were dined by their friends and supporters at Robinson's.

Mrs. Tucker On The Warypath

Mrs. Tucker who has been suffering from a severe attack of influenza, learns with delight the joyful tidings that a Halifax hockey team is on its way to our city, for, she says, it is a sure sign of a good old-fashioned thaw. Mrs. Tucker can't understand why they haven't been sent for long ago. For 'twould mean a great saving of coal and minimize the hardships which poor people have to undergo who have scanty opportunities of raising nineteen shillings for a box cart of dusty mineral usually called coal.

Mrs. Tucker says the coal experts who know where to lay their forefinger on the "great deposits" in the interior must all be suffering from influenza this winter also, for although she is nearly ice-blind from scouring the papers she has failed to locate any news of these whereabouts, and although a lecture is announced for everynight in the week no one seems to have sufficient courage left to give us an hour's spasm on that ancient topic: "Coal Boring in the Interior."

Mrs. Tucker says we are a very drifty people, we hop from one thing to another with the agility of a year-old kid and never remain long enough on any one public matter to become sufficiently acquainted with it to know its name. We are always ready to tussle with a problem, but just as soon as we "get in stroke" and know a little about what we are starting out to accomplish, we suddenly drop it, forget all about it and again go forth in quest of some new trouble. Our "country-savers" lack the stick-at-it-iveness which is essential to the successful accomplishment of any great task. The common, everyday men like Tucker notices this. They have noticed it for years, and hence they show very little interest in the "big movements" trotted out now and again with a flare-up like that of a procession at the eve of an election.

Mrs. Tucker says this is regrettable, but until the leaders of still-born improvements start in and finish one of the many tasks that they seem to be playing with, we cannot expect the ordinary citizen to lose much sleep in trying to arouse the old-fashioned interest in public matters like we used to see 'round here' in days gone by.

The "Cute Man" says 'tis no use winking out of sight the fact that at the present time the ordinary workman has little or no faith in the well-to-do when they start out to do anything, and the only way that this feeling can be changed is for the would-be philanthropists to start in and be actual philanthropists on a small scale at first. Little by little the workman will have the scales removed from his orbits, but we can't expect all the scales to drop off by the promise of good times ahead or the mere starting out with a report that everything is going to be "lovely on the Boverly." Up to the present our philanthropists in this country can be counted on one thumb. Unlike every other country those who get hold of the dough hang on to it till they kick the bucket. How, then, can we expect men like Tucker to tumble head over heels with excitement when we hear of men coming forward to give us improvements. You can't expect it and you won't get it in wholesale quantities until you draw the people nearer you by doing something as a start.

TIM SHANAHAN.

Trial May Solve Murder Mystery

Mysteries of an Unusual Character Remain to be Solved in this case.

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 7.—Mysteries of an unusual character remain to be solved in the case of the murder of George Dietz, for whose death Mrs. Augusta Dietz, widow of the slain man, and her friend, George Nurnberg, will be placed on trial before Judge Kerston on Monday.

Dietz, fifty-nine years old, owner of a woman's tailoring establishment and reputed to be a man of wealth, was found murdered in his home, 73 Aldine Avenue, on April 14, 1911. Following the discovery of the murder a mass of bewildering facts were brought to light from day to day, some of the conjectures raised seemed almost beyond belief, so melodramatic, so out of the ordinary were they.

Skull Crushed.

The skull of the murdered man had been crushed and he is believed to have been beaten to death with a man's hammer, which was found in the room. The handle of the hammer had been wrapped with a red handkerchief looped in such a way that the murderer could keep a firm grasp in addition to the hammer a letter was found in the room indicating the revenge was the motive for the crime. On the night of the crime, Mr. Dietz occupied a bedroom adjoining that of her husband. When questioned by the police she said the first news of the murder was when she went to wake her husband.

The letter found in the room was signed, written on a typewriter of yellow paper and was ungrammatical to a degree that led the police to suspect that this feature of the crime had been planned to confuse investigators. It read, in part as follows:

"I feel like a man that do right. I'll him like we kill best. Gerle, he me all when she was sick. I work hard and he is rich man. He steal my little girl. Poor gerly she is not bad she is foolish and like good clothes he gave her. He not think she tele me. These I writ if get killed young friend not done it not give name. If I get chance to I'll old pig we all saved."

The police at first worked on the theory that revenge was the motive for the crime and that either the father or the sweetheart of some girl committed the murder. Mrs. Dietz was taken into custody and questioned, but was not detained. She told the police that she knew nothing of the circumstances mentioned in the letter.

Lack of evidence of a forced entrance to the Dietz home, as well as rumors of a quarrel between Dietz and his wife and of friendly relations between Mrs. Dietz and George Nurnberg, a harness maker, first directed suspicion against the accused. The testimony before the coroner's jury, by Mrs. Dietz, Nurnberg, and Charles Hass, a private detective who revealed

Fashions.

I wear the same old trusty hat I bought six years ago next May, and no one she's a brick thereat, or calls me down in any way. With tollers in the busy mart I mingle, as I always did, and hold discourses heart to heart—and no one seems to note my lid. I go to church on Sunday morn, to hear the eminent divine, and no one speaks with blighting scorn, about that good old tile of mine. I wear it always out of doors, though it is old and out of style; my credit's good at all the stores, and people greet me with a smile. But Sister Jane must buy a hat when'er new styles are advertised; if she should make refusal list, she surely would be ostracized. They'd freeze her out of all the clubs, and she would get, to her distress, the ice tongs from the lady dubs who never think of aught but dress. And so I'm glad I'm not a dame, that I can wear just what I please in ancient hats, and clothe my frame in shelf worn hand-me-downs like these, and 'still be greeted by my friends with cordial grasp and cheerful smiles; for all our dear bought freedom ends, when we are martyrs to the styles.

WOMAN, BY, IN THE PAPER ROOM (Dress Man)

ed to the police the friendship of Mrs. Dietz and Nurnberg, was highly sensational.

A Suspicious Wife.

How a suspicious wife, Mrs. Nurnberg, had telephone wires tapped, intercepted letters and her husband railed, was revealed in the testimony of Hass, the private detective. The friendship between Mrs. Dietz and Nurnberg charged by Hass, was later admitted as true by Nurnberg under close cross-questioning by the coroner. Mrs. Dietz, however, has denied the alleged relations with Nurnberg despite the testimony of detective Hass, who had been in the habit of meeting the harness maker in a certain house on Ontario Street.

The evidence of the detectives, it is said, had been revealed to Dietz by a friend, a short time before his death, and it is the general belief at the prosecution will endeavor to prove that the husband was murdered to prevent his taking action to obtain a divorce.

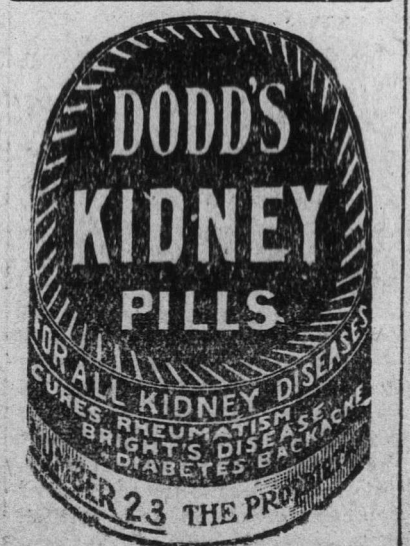

There is much speculation as to whether an effort will be made to prove that the wife was the actual lover of her husband. Physician who testified before the coroner's jury expressed the opinion that great strength would not be required to yield the hammer with which Dietz was killed. Mrs. Dietz is a large, powerfully built woman.

So far as is known there is no evidence to connect Nurnberg with any physical act in the murder. Mr. Nurnberg stated before the coroner's jury, and will probably give the same testimony at the trial, that she occupied the same room with her husband and throughout the night on which the murder was committed.

"Shimri" Writes.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—In the letter of "Catholicus Anglicanus," published in your paper of the seventeenth, he says "As 'Shimri' professes to know something about the Prayer Book, the Canon and the XXXIX Articles, I would seem that his Churchmanship is not quite so profound as his Protestantism when he enquires where the authority for Confirmation and Penance being called Sacraments? In Article XVI they are thus described as Sacraments, etc., etc."
"C. A." assumes that his Churchmanship is more profound, more intellectually deep than mine, and that my Protestantism interferes with my knowledge of the teachings of the Church of England. "C. A." has very evidently not read much Church History or General History; he does not know that Cranmer and Ridley were condemned and burned at the stake because they were Protestants; he has not read the reply to a pamphlet issued by the Roman Church, called "Touchstone," revised by the Bishop of Dublin and printed and published by the S.P.C.K., in which the Bishop speaks of the members of the Church of England as Protestants. But "C. A." tells us that the Prayer Book and the Articles are his authorities, let us therefore turn to the Prayer Book and examine it and ascertain what is set forth therein for the guidance of the adherents of the Church of England.
The first and principal authority with respect to the teachings of the Church is contained in its Catechism. "The Catechism, that is to say, an instruction to be learned of every person, before he be brought to be confirmed by the Bishop," distinctly states what the Sacraments are and defines their nature. It is important that we should remember that this Catechism is intended, as the name implies, to give instruction in the principles of Christian Religion, by means of questions and answers. The primitive Catechisms of the Church consisted of no more than the Renunciation, or the repetition of the baptismal vow, the Creed and the Lord's Prayer; and these together with the Commandments, at the Reformation, were the whole of ours, but being afterwards thought defective as to the doctrine of the Sacrament which in the primitive time were more largely explained to baptizands, King James I. appointed the Bishops to add a short and plain explanation of them, which was done accordingly in that excellent form we have, being penned by Bishop Overall, then Dean of St. Paul's, and allowed by the Bishops. In this addition it is set forth that there are "two sacraments only, as generally necessary to salvation, that is to say, baptism, and the Supper of the Lord." The word Sacrament, it says "meaneth outward and visible sign of an inward and spiritual grace given unto us, ordained by Christ Himself, as a means whereby we receive the same, and a pledge to assure us thereof." In sermons, Vol. the Sixth, Lectures on the Church Catechism, by Thomas Beaker, D.D.L., Archbishop of Canterbury, much information is given about the Sacraments. He says: "There are two only, that are true such; and these two are plainly sufficient; one for our entrance into the Christian Covenant, the other during our whole continuance in it—Baptism and the Supper of the Lord." He says further that "the Romanists reckon no less than seven Sacraments, although this number was not named for many years after Christ, nor fixed by the authority of their own Church till 200 years ago, that is since the Reformation, yet now they condemn us, for not agreeing with them in it, but only acknowledging two." Other authorities of the Church, such as Wm. Wake, D.D., Archbishop of Canterbury, can be quoted to prove that the Church of England by its Catechism teaches and recognizes only Two Sacraments.

"C. A." quotes the XXXIX Article as authority for calling Confirmation and Penance Sacraments; let us turn to those Articles, and see what they say. Article XXV. says, "Sacraments ordained of Christ be not only badges or tokens of Christian men's profession, but rather they be certain sure witnesses, and effectual signs of grace, and God's good-will towards us, by the which he doth work invisibly in us, and doth not only quicken, but also strengthen and confirm our Faith in Him."

"There are two Sacraments, ordained of Christ our Lord in the Gospel, that is to say, Baptism and the Supper of the Lord."
"These five commonly called Sacraments, that is to say, Confirmation, Penance, Orders, Matrimony and Extreme Unction, are not to be counted for Sacraments of the Gospel, being such as have grown partly of the corrupt following of the Apostles, partly are states of life allowed in the scriptures; but yet have not like nature of Sacraments with Baptism and the Lord's Supper, for that they have not any visible sign or ceremony ordained of God, etc."

Bishop Tomline, Bishop of Lincoln in his "Elements of Christian Theology," Vol. 2, on the Thirty-nine Articles, says, in considering the XXV Article, "We have now before us a series of Articles, seven in number, which treat of the Christian Doctrine of Sacraments. The two first relate to Sacraments in general, the third to Baptism and the other four to the Lord's Supper. Under this Article we are to consider the meaning of the word 'Sacrament,' and to distinguish the real Sacrament of the Gospel from the pretended ones of the Church of Rome." In dealing with that part of the Article which refers to what Bishop Monro calls "the five Popish Sacraments," he says, "These five commonly called Sacraments, that is which were commonly called so, when these Articles were drawn up, . . . in the primitive ages of Christianity there was no dispute concerning the number of Sacraments, properly so called, and consequently we find very little upon that subject in the early ecclesiastical writers. However, the Recognitions, which were written at the end of the second century, allow of only two Sacraments, and Justin Martyr, Tertullian, Cyrill of Jerusalem, Augustine, and Chrysostom, all mention two Sacraments, namely, Baptism and the Lord's Supper, and no more. Peter Lombard, prior of the twelfth century, is the first who reckons seven Sacraments, adding to the above two these five—Confirmation, Penance, Orders, Matrimony and Extreme Unction. Pope Gregory IX, about the middle of the thirteenth century, pronounced these five, as well as the other two, to be considered as Sacraments in the following century all seven were declared to be equally Sacraments by the Council of Trent, a council that time they have always been considered as such by the Roman Church."

Bishop Tomline then goes on to show that these "condemned Sacraments" are in some cases holy functions such as Confirmation, and Orders. Of the latter there are three separate Orders, Bishops, Priests and Deacons; "There would be three Sacraments, if there were any, but it is seen there are none." "Penance, is a corruption of a part of ancient ecclesiastical discipline, and was perverted into its present form of Sacrament by the management and covetousness of the clergy in the times of darkness and ignorance." "Matrimony has no claim whatever to be considered as a Christian Sacrament, since it was not instituted by our Saviour, nor was its original character changed by the Gospel." "As we entirely reject Extreme Unction, etc., etc." The authorities of the Church of England, all of them eminent divines of that Church, who wrote seventy years ago, condemn the so-called five Sacrament and "C. A." is not able to quote many of them who were not opposed to the teachings advocated by him as regards the 1604 Canons, I am unable to find the quotation made by "C. A." and do not quite understand the mix up he gets into over it.
Yours truly,
SHIMRI.

Dwelling Burned at Placentia.

Messages were received from Placentia yesterday stating that a house owned by Mrs. Margaret Morrissey, widow of that place, was burned to the ground.
The fire occurred early yesterday morning while the old lady, the sole occupant of the house, was in bed with the result that Mrs. Morrissey barely escaped with her life.
The origin of the fire is not known but is supposed to have been caused by defective stove tunneling. A number of men were on the scene shortly after the fire was discovered, but before anything could be done the house and contents were destroyed. There was no insurance on the house or contents and the loss to the poor woman is a heavy one as she is in destitute circumstances.

Magic "Nerviline" Ends Stiff Neck, Lumbago.

Any Curable Muscular or Joint Pain is Instantly Relieved by Nerviline.

GET A TRIAL BOTTLE TO-DAY.

You don't have to wait all day to get the kink out of a stiff neck if you rub on Nerviline. And you don't need to go around complaining about lumbago any more. You can rub such things away very quickly with Nerviline. It's the grandest fulfilment, the quickest to penetrate, the speediest to ease muscular pain of any kind.
One twenty-five cent trial bottle of Nerviline will cure any attack of lumbago or lame back. This has been proved a thousand times, just as it was in the case of Mrs. E. J. Grayden, of Caledonia, who writes:—"I wouldn't think of going to bed without knowing we had Nerviline in the house. I have used it for twenty odd years and appreciate its value as a family remedy more and more every day. If any of the children gets a stiff neck, Nerviline cures quickly. If it is earache, toothache, cold on the chest, sore throat, Nerviline is always by standby. My husband once cured himself of a frightful attack of lumbago by Nerviline, and for a hundred ailments that turn up in a large family Nerviline is by far the best thing to have about you."

Woman Stood in the Way.

New York, February 9.—Charles I. Manning, owner of a garage at Verona, N. J., whose wife was murdered on Friday, at her home, 219 Warren Street, Newark, drove up to the Mountsinide Hospital at Montclair, N. J., at 1.15 p.m. on Saturday. Hired from his car a dark-eyed young woman of 45 years, who was rapidly losing consciousness, and carried her into the capital.
"She has taken poison. This will explain it," he said, handing a note to Dr. W. H. Arson. The note was addressed to Manning and said:
"This will be my last letter to you, or I am going to kill myself. I killed your wife. I killed her because I was infatuated with you and she stood in my way. Take good care of baby."
The girl was Hazel Herdman, daughter of Arthur J. Herdman, proprietor of the Turnpike Inn at Cedar Grove. She had known Manning for nearly three years, and had borne him a child eighteen months ago. She had swallowed a large quantity of bichloride of mercury and Dr. Arson knew at a glance that death was certain.

Wanted to Marry Him.

The first question put to Miss Herdman by Chief Gallagher was whether she had killed Mrs. Manning. The reply was:
"Yes."
"Why did you kill her?" he then asked.
"I wanted to marry Mr. Manning," he answered. "We have a child. She would not have a divorce."
She was asked if Manning knew anything of her plans. She shook her head. Then, after an effort, she said slowly:
"He had nothing to do with it. He knew nothing about it."
By the time Chief Long had finished Miss Herdman was barely able to respond in monosyllables, and one of the physicians said that her throat was closing. Her last words were a request that the Rev. Dr. John H. Pratt, whom she had known since she was a child, should be summoned. When her mother and sister entered the room weeping she was able to show signs of recognition, but that was all. She died at 3 p.m. before the minister arrived at the hospital.
VISITING NAIROBI.—Sir Ralph Williams, accompanied by Lady Williams and Miss Dean, is now visiting in son at Nairobi, British East Africa, where they will probably remain a year.

Bishops to Decide.

KIKUYU CONTROVERSY TO BE DEALT WITH IN JULY.
London, Feb. 9.—The Archbishop of Canterbury to-day decided definitely against instituting impeachment proceedings against the Bishops of Uganda and Mombassa, Church of England prelates in Africa, on charges of heresy and schism arising out of their action at the Kikuyu conference, East Africa, last June. An attempt was then made to unite all Protestant denominations against the increasing power of the Roman Catholics in East Africa and a general communion service was held.
The matter is now to be referred to the consultative body of Bishops of the Church of England which meets in July. The Bishops will then be asked to decide whether the scheme for a federation of Protestant missionary societies proposed at the Kikuyu conference contravenes the principles of the church order and whether the Holy Communion service which closed the conference at which many of the communicants were non-members of the Church of England was consistent with the principles of the Church of England.

CORNING, New York, Feb. 23.
Harry Edwards, cashier of the Express Company, here, was killed by a burglar, who was captured and confessed his crime. The murderer is an employee of the company.

LONDON, Feb. 23.
The Lords to-day unanimously adopted the motion of Selbourne that contributions to party funds should not be considered in awarding honours, and the Commons will be asked to concur. Viscount Milner and Lansdowne and other notable Unionists supported the motion. Crewe formally denied that the present government had been influenced by money considerations in recommending to the King those upon whom titles had been conferred. Baron Chatham said while the election expenses were on such a lavish scale, party managers would be under pressure to replenish the war chest. Several speakers advocated publicity of all party donations and expenditures.

LONDON, Feb. 23.
The pacification of Mexico is an object we honestly desire to see accomplished. It is impossible to effect it by British intervention. We do not intend to make any attempt of that character, which would be both futile and impolitic. This is the attitude of the Foreign Office as outlined in the Commons by Francis Hyde Acland, the Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs. When asked if the British Government was prepared to cooperate with the United States in the matter, Mr. Acland replied with emphasis, "certainly." He informed the House that the Government had had frequent communications with the Governments of the United States and Mexico, with a view to the protection of British lives and property in Mexico. Fighting in Mexico, he added, was of great prejudice to British and other commercial interests, and was a matter of very grave concern. He promised to lay the papers on the subject of Mexico before the House as soon as possible, but added that the most interesting papers were communications with the United States Government concerning its policy and news regarding Mexico. Some of these were of a confidential character, and could not be included in a blue book, without asking the consent of the Government at Washington.

"I used to suffer with sore nose, a trouble I found very difficult to deal with for a long time. Ordinary ointments seemed to avail little. The inside of the nose would get somewhat bitter and then, at the first cold, it would become as bad as ever."
"Are you all right now, then?"
"Yes, indeed after I had used Zylex a few times, things came easier; and a little perseverance effected a perfect cure. If any symptoms of the trouble appears again, a single application fixes it. Zylex costs 50 cents a box, at your druggist's and you should always have a box at hand. It's useful in all kinds of skin troubles."—Feb 14, eod, ff.

Municipal Reform.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—Will you allow me a few words in support of the petition now being signed in favor of Municipal Reform. This may seem superfluous after the letters of Mr. W. Gosling and Hon. John Harris, which have appeared in this evening's paper, but as these gentlemen are members of the Citizens' Committee, perhaps a word from me who is in outside active participation in the movement, and who ranks himself merely a humble citizen, may have the effect of helping the movement along. I think the deep thanks and appreciation of the public are due to these gentlemen who have given their time and talents so unostentatiously to find a way out of our present difficulties. I think the plan they suggest is a most admirable one which should commend itself to the common sense and intelligence of all concerned, and should command our enthusiastic and hearty support. Our city from its geographical situation and abundant water supply, should be one of the healthiest on the face of the earth, but instead of this we find it unsanitary, filthy and a breeder of disease and death, and in its present condition would not be tolerated by any people who valued the laws of health and purity, and surely any movement for its betterment should be helped along to the fullest extent. The appointment of a commission for a year to give an opportunity of coming in touch with actual conditions that an intelligent plan may be conceived to meet its wants, is surely a most sensible arrangement and cannot be open to any objection, and the fact that this plan will be submitted to the citizens for their approval before being carried out, safeguards the right of all to have a say in the matter; and the serving of the commission without fee or reward should convince us of their disinterested motives. I appeal to my fellow-citizens to rise superior to all petty feelings in this most important matter, which so closely concern us all from the lowest to the highest, and by giving a hearty support to this movement, help to make this city of ours the place Providence designed it to be, a place in which the poor man as well as the rich man may rear his children amidst pure and healthy surroundings, and a city to which we may point with pride and to which we will be glad to belong.
Yours truly,
EDWIN MURRAY.

The Eagle's Nest.

The principal attraction for to-night will be the production of that thrilling melo-drama 'The Eagle's Nest,' at the Casino Theatre. The cast is a particularly strong one and will include some of our best local performers. During the intervals the C. C. C. Band will render some choice selections, and an enjoyable evening is assured all who attend. The proceeds are to be devoted to the funds of the C. C. C. Armory.

During the meeting a resolution of sympathy was passed with the family of the late W. M. of Clift Lodge, Bell Island, whose tragic death occurred a few weeks ago.

David Parks Farewell Night

Last night saw crowded houses at the Crescent Picture Palace, and the big line of pictures together with the two songs by Dave Parks, won rounds of applause. The same pictures, a couple of which Maurice Costello and Gilbert Anderson are the principal characters, will be repeated again today but two new songs will be rendered by the vocalist, the first "Comrades in Life and Death"; second "Just Because I Knew You So." This is the last chance to hear the popular baritone, who after eleven weeks engagement at the Crescent, proceeds to Montreal where he has contracted with one of the largest theatres for an eight weeks engagement. He has won many friends for himself, and the Crescent, during his stay here and no doubt will be greeted with large audiences to-night. Last night he was accorded a great ovation after singing "When the Bell of the Light-house Rings." Be sure and hear him in "Comrades in Life and Death." Five splendid feature pictures are shown.

The Need of Technical Education in Nfld.

Twenty-six of the apprentice boys, mostly from the Reid Nfld. Co.'s machine shops, responded to the roll call at 7.30 last evening, and for one hour and thirty minutes, without interruption, received instructions, regarding problems along the lines of their every day work. The subjects taken up last night, were, the laying of a flange for a cylinder, finding centres, diameters, and preliminary rudiments for mechanical drawing, the various sea connections, their position and use in the modern steam vessel, and the foundation for horse power required for propelling a steamer of 4,000 tons displacement. R. G. Reid, Esq., the General Superintendent of the Reid Nfld. Co., is so keenly interested in the nature of this work, that he has offered prizes for the best solution of a set of questions, which will be presented to the candidates at the end of the course of lectures.
