CHAPTER XXXVIII.
FOUND AT LAST.

"But he kept my secret. He respected my motives for wishing to conceal my identity. And if I had a motive for this before meeting you, Lesley, I had a still stronger one after," he explains, in confidence to me a little later, as we discuss the matter in the privacy of our own room.

"I could not forget what you once told me, dear," he adds, "that if ever you met Heriot Erroll you should hate him; and at that time I was by no means certain of winning your love as it was."

As Warden prophesied from the first, Leonard found no difficulty in proving the validity of the strangely recovered will.

Very much against his wishes, Mr. Erroll, who contested it to his utmost power, was defeated by Len's counsel in the suit to which it gave rise. After all these years of possession he is displaced from the position he had so long usurped; and Leonard Kendrick is a rich man, and master of the estate that should have been our mother's.

Adelaide, a popular novelist now, whose bright, pathetic stories take high rank in the world of literature, lives in London with her husband, who is making a great success in his profession; and Mr. and Mrs. Warden are among the most popular people in the refined and talented circle to which they belong.

Our home—Charley's and mine—or, rather, Heriot's—even now the familiar old name comes at times to my lips—is very near Addie's. A home made beautiful by perfect love and cultivated taste rather than great wealth, though we are not lacking in this world's goods; and in the peaceful shelter of which, as the years go on, and darling children spring up about us, "life grows better and heaven more near."

Old Mr. Erroll and his young wife, who does not sustain the role of a de-throned queen either gracefully or patiently, are living in the Isle of Wight, where they maintain a small establishment on the income Leonard and my husband jointly allow them.

Of Gwendolen we have seen nothing since the change in her fortunes overtook her. With bitter resentment she has steadily refused to meet us, one and all.

From what I hear from different sources, she no longer goes into society; and, shut up with the feeble, disagreeable old man she calls her husband, drags out a fretful, discontented life, in which her beauty is rapidly fading, waiting for the release of widowhood that seems so slow in coming.

At the beautiful old Priory, where Rita dispenses hospitalities with the gentle grace always so characteristic of her, there are children, also; and

Adelaide and I often visit there with our little ones, to talk over art and old times with dear Len, and the unparalleled perfections of the youthful Kendricks, Errolls, and Wardens, with Len's sweet wife.

The old house at Deepdene is still uninhabited, save for poor old Mrs. Martin, who lives there to take care of it, and with whom Addie and I often go to chat a little during our visits to the Priory.

There is yet another place we never neglect to visit—a quiet grave in the pretty, picturesque, little churchyard at Forton, to which it is our melancholy pleasure to carry flowers.

A plain monument of pure marble, with the name and age of the quiet sleeper beneath, marks the spot from all others; and the name, it is needless to say, is: Robert Fuller.

At the foot of the tablet are some lines which we found in his pocketbook, and which for some reason he evidently prized and loved:

Then might they say—these vanished ones—and blessed be the thought!
"So death is sweet to us beloved,
though we may tell ye naught;
We may not tell it to them quick—
this mystery of breath."

The child who enters life comes not with knowledge or intent;
To those who enter death, must go as little children sent.
Nothing is known; but I believe that God is overhead;
And as life is to the living, so death is to the dead.

Dear friend, as I lay my tribute of flowers on that peaceful grave, may we never lose faith in thy pure and gentle creed! Sadly as our lives are sometimes ordered, it is an all-merciful hand that shapes our destiny.

The memorial was erected by Ernest Warden and Adelaide, who claimed the right before us all.

"Poor Fuller!" Ernest remarked, in explanation, "it was in our interest he met his fate. Our happiness has been secured at a heavy cost, but the result is proof that, despite trials and troubles, love is certain to prove the conqueror at last."

THE END.

LOVE TRIUMPHS AT LAST!

CHAPTER I.

Jack got outside 209, Cophall Buildings, hustled through the crowded streets of the City, and made his way back to his chambers, feeling like one of the characters in the Arabian Nights. It did not occur to him that truth is always stranger than fiction, and he could scarcely convince himself that the scene in which he had played a part was anything more substantial than a wild and absurdly ridiculous dream. He wanted to get Jiggles, but Jiggles was at the court.

He did not tell Jim; but Jim did not offer any comment to make the thing more probable, and Jim himself presented the first difficulty. Were he and the faithful James to part? Would Mr. Chalfont permit Jim to make a third party to the contract? Jack could not bear the thought of parting from his well-beloved friend, and he decided to chance it. Accordingly, having sent off by Carter, Paterson some clothes and other belongings, and taking a suit case in his hand, at the appointed time he repaired, with Jim at his heels, to Cophall Buildings. Mr. Chalfont greeted him with a nod, and eyed Jim, who, advancing in a gentlemanly, leasured way, smelt at Chalfont's trousers critically, then wagged his tail approvingly.

"I've had him since he was a pup," said Jack, apologetically. "We've never been parted, and I thought you wouldn't mind."

"That's all right," said Mr. Chalfont, laying his hand on Jim's sleek head. "I don't like a man to go back on his pal, whether he's got two legs or four; and I'm fond of dogs. Bring him along."

They went down to a magnificent car, with chauffeur and footman correctly liveried, and followed Jim into the softly-cushioned interior. It was evident that one of the party, at any rate, was quite satisfied with the arrangement, and Jim, seated on Jack's knee, regarded the other dogs in the street with a proper carriage-folk expression. The motor glided through the crowded City streets to the quieter suburban ones, mounted to the crest of a hill on a wide, open expanse in Surrey, and pulled up smoothly at the entrance of a very large mansion. Its position was so secluded, its surrounding lawns and park so extensive, that the place might have been situated a hundred miles from London, instead of a bare twenty. There was a butler, of dignified deportment, in the hall, a couple of footmen hurried to receive them with due state, and the place had all the indications not only of great wealth, but of refined taste and mellow age.

"Bought of an old family," explained Mr. Chalfont, as he trudged up the stairs with his peculiar, heavy gait, the stiff movement of a man whose early years have been spent in arduous toil. "Came to grief in the City, like a good many other people who insist upon playing a game they don't understand. Got it, house, fur-

THE MAKING OF A FAMOUS MEDICINE

How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is Prepared For Woman's Use.

A visit to the laboratory where this successful remedy is made impresses even the casual looker-on with the reliability, accuracy, skill and cleanliness which attend the making of this great medicine for woman's ills.

Over 800,000 pounds of various herbs are used annually and we have to be gathered at the season of the year when their natural juices and medicinal substances are at their best.

The most successful solvents are used to extract the medicinal properties from these herbs.

Every utensil and tank that comes in contact with the medicine is sterilized, and as a final precaution in cleanliness the medicine is pasteurized and sealed in sterile bottles.

It is the wonderful combination of roots and herbs, together with the skill and care used in its preparation which has made this famous medicine so successful in the treatment of female ills.

The letters from women who have been restored to health by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which we are continually publishing attest to its virtue.

nature, land, whole bag of tricks, for about half its value. I only use two or three rooms, except when I've a party. Here's your diggings."

The footman, who had preceded them, threw open a door on the first corridor, and Mr. Chalfont personally conducted Jack through a luxurious suite of bed, dressing-room, and sitting-room.

"Here you are," he said. "Make yourself comfortable; shoot out anything you don't like and order anything you want. I've got a man, a valet chap, for you—coming to-morrow. If you don't like him, chuck him out with the rest. I suppose those are your dress things in that case? Well, there'll be time to have a look round the place before you tog up."

They went down again, followed by Jim, who expressed his satisfaction with his new quarters quite plainly, and Mr. Chalfont, with his hands in his pockets, and jerking his roughly thatched head in various directions, showed Jack the principal rooms. They were all very handsome, some of them exceedingly beautiful. It was evident that Mr. Chalfont did not take much interest in them, but he displayed more as he ushered Jack into a small room at the back of the study library, a small room, barely furnished, with one or two sporting prints and maps on the walls, a square of linoleum on the floor, and furniture of the plainest and least luxurious kind. There was a bottle, not an elaborate spirit decanter, of whisky on a cheap sideboard, and some well-smoked clay pipes on the mantelpiece.

"My room," said Mr. Chalfont. "You'll find me here most of the time. A bit plain, you think? Well, I'm a plain man, and sometimes all the summery I live amongst gets on my nerves, as you say, and I like to come here and forget the rest of it. You'll find me here most times, as often as you want me. Now let's go round the park. By the way, you'll do some shooting and fishing of course. Oh, I've read about it; I'm rather a good shot myself—with a revolver. Had some practice," he added, grimly. "Well, I've got a place in Devonshire where my men are rearing pheasants, and there's a shooting-box up on a moor in Scotland, with a river chock-full of salmon, so they say. You'll see for yourself."

Jack stopped short and looked round him, and laughed.

"Pon my word, Mr. Chalfont, I don't know whether I'm standing on my head or my heels! You must remember that all this has happened to me within a few hours, and I'm a bit knocked over by it."

"I dessey," said Mr. Chalfont, easily. "I dessey you feel as I felt the day I struck my first nugget out there." He jerked his head in what he thought was the direction of Australia. "I'd been working like a demon for months, scarcely enough to eat, nothing worth speaking of but muddy water to drink, and I was at my last peg—"

GERMANY OFFERS PEACE TERMS TO BELGIUM.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—Germany has made a definite peace offer to Belgium, according to information received here.

It is understood that the Government has received the Austrian-Hungarian peace note, and also the proposal previously referred to, that all the Powers should withdraw their troops from the Murman territory. It is also learned that Germany has made a peace offer to Belgium. The terms of this proposal are as follows: That Belgium shall remain neutral until the end of the war; that thereafter the entire economic and political independence of Belgium shall be reconstituted; that the pre-war commercial treaties between Germany and Belgium shall again be put into operation after the war; that Belgium shall use her good offices to secure the return of German colonies; that the Flemish question shall be considered, and the Flemish minority which aided the German invaders shall not be penalized. The proposal contains no word respecting separation of the demilitarized zone, and no admission that Germany wronged Belgium.

BID FOR PEACE OVERSHADOWS FOCH'S HAMMER BLOWS.

Overshadowing in interest Marshal Foch's hammer blows against the harried Germans, is the Teutonic bid for peace, made through the Imperial Government of Austria-Hungary, Washington and the Allied capitals. It called the call for a conference of neutral soil as another German rush to get better terms than they might expect when the war has ended across their line. They were convinced that Austria, whose people have been war-worried, had been called upon to bear the onus of making peace overtures and thus save the face of Germany.

PRISONERS TAKEN.

PARIS, Sept. 14.—The prisoners taken by the American case in the St. Mihiel operations number nearly 20,000, according to Marshal Hutin, editor of the Echo de Paris, naming them being 5,320 Austrians, Premier Clemenceau, who paid a bribe to Marshal Foch, Friday, informed M. Hutin, that 2,100 inhabitants were still in St. Mihiel when the Franco-American troops entered the town, and that the Germans had only taken away 75 of the French, for the most part young persons, the night before they evacuated. "I absolutely refuse to give you any other confidence but this—Things will go very well," said the Premier.

IN FRONT OF METZ.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—General Pershing's army, according to this afternoon's news, is making fine progress. Since yesterday afternoon it has advanced from two to three miles on a 33-mile front and the fortress guns of Metz have come into action against it.

FRENCH ADVANCE.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—The French reached the edge of the town of Vailly on the Aisne. The French advanced for a distance of between one and two miles on an elevated front. The attack was launched by the French at 5 o'clock this morning. One division at an early hour had taken one thousand prisoners, making a total of 13,000 Germans captured on this front alone.

GERMANY OFFERS PEACE TERMS
TO BELGIUM.

LONDON, Sept. 16.
Germany has made a definite peace
offer to Belgium, according to information received here.
It is understood that the Govern-

Hungarian peace note, and also the proposal previously referred to, that all the Powers should withdraw their

lows: That Belgium shall remain that thereafter the entire economic pre-war commercial treaties between Germany and Belgium shall again be put into operation after the war for an indefinite period; that Belgium shall use her good offices to secure the return of German colonies; that the Flemish question shall be considered, and the Flemish minority which aided the German invaders shall not be penalized. The proposal contains a most interesting separation of the imperialities, and no admission that Germany wronged Belgium.

Overshadowing in interest Marshal Foch's hammer blows against the barred Germans, is the Teutonic bid for peace, made through the Imperial Government of Austria-Hungary.
Washington and the Allied capitals lauded the call for a conference on neutral soil as another German ruse to get better terms than they might expect when the war has been carried across their line. They were con-

PRISONERS TAKEN.

PARIS, Sept. 14.
The prisoners taken by the Americans in the St. Mihiel operations number nearly 20,000, according to Marshal Hutin, editor of the Echo de Paris,

ing to this afternoon's news, is making fine progress. Since yesterday afternoon it has advanced from two to three miles on a 33-mile front and the fortress guns of Metz have come

FRENCH ADVANCE.

LONDON, Sept. 14.
The French reached the edge of the forest of Vally on the Aisne. The advance was for a distance of between one and two miles on an elevated front. The attack was launched by the French at 5 o'clock this morning. One division at an early hour had taken one thousand prisoners, making a total of 18,000 Germans captured on this front alone.

BRITISH MAKE PROGRESS.

LONDON, Sept. 15.
Further progress was made by the British last night in the region north of St. Quentin in the War Office announcement to-day. Their lines were advanced both north and south of Wood in this area. German attacks in the Trécault sector

south west of Cambrai were repulsed
as were similar thrusts in Flanders near Labasse.

MORE VILLAGES TAKEN.

PARIS, Sept. 14.
Between the Oise and the Aisne, we have captured the village of Alloumont and the Neuville Aisne. We made 2,500 prisoners.
This announcement was made in the official communication from the war office to-night.

LARASSE OCCUPIED.

LONDON, Sept. 14.
Field Marshal Haig's forces have occupied Augry-Labasse, in the Lys sector, according to the official announcement to-day by the British War Office.

BRITISH ADVANCE.

LONDON, Sept. 14.
As a result of the British progress
yesterday in the district northwest of St. Quentin, the British line has been established east of the villages of Nesbecourt and Jeancourt.

FRENCH OFFICIAL.

PARIS, Sept. 14.
The official statement issued by the French War Office this evening says,
in the course of the day we made progress between Savy and the Ham-St.
Quentin Road. South of the Ailette River we advanced our positions to the north of Nanteuil-La-Fosse. Two German counter-attacks in the region of Lafaux and Moisy Farm were repulsed.

GERMANS DIGGING IN.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN LORRAINE, Sept. 15.—The Germans gave further evidence to-day that they intended to resist strongly on the line to which they have fallen back. Above the former St. Mihiel salient, a detachment was digging in to-day about Dommartin (four and a half miles north of Thiaucourt), between La-Chaussee (3 and a half miles northwest of Dommartin) and at Dommartin squad trenches have been established. German detachments also were in the woods above Woel (four miles north of Hattonville.)

GERMANY LOST ALL ON MARNE.

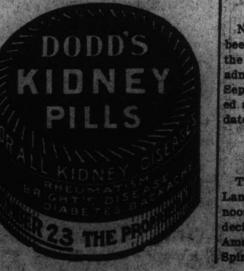

BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, Sept.
14.—(By the A. P.)—Fighting a long the new British line in the Havrin-court, Gouzeaucourt sector yesterday was confined mainly to mopping up operations which were being continued at various points by the aggressors. Havrin-court village was being bombed by the German artillery,
however, and there were some indications that the enemy might make an other thrust any time in an attempt to regain possession about Havrin-court which they had been ordered to take at all costs. More than 1,200 prisoners were captured Thursday in the attack as the British reached high ground. Captured German officers state that they had been ordered to fight to the last ditch and that they carried out their instructions at many points. Some officers taken appear to be very gloomy over the situation from their standpoint. They state that the German high command staked everything on the battle of the Marne, which failed so completely.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.

Austria is cracking and instead of wasting time with worse than useless peace talk now is the time to strike her hardest. This was the view expressed in official quarters here today when word came in press despatches from Amsterdam that Austria-Hungary had proposed "non-binding"
peace discussions between the belligerent nations on neutral ground. No information concerning the latest peace drive had reached the government early to-day from any official source, consequently there was no formal comment, but it may be stated authoritatively that any action which may be taken by the United States and the Allies will be in concert and after complete joint deliberations.

THE PEACE DRIVE.

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 14.
The Austro-Hungarian Government
to-day invited all the belligerent Governments to enter into non-binding discussions at some neutral meeting place with a view to bringing about peace. The Holy See and all neutral nations also will be notified. An official statement from Vienna making the above announcement has been received here. The Austrian proposal suggests that there be no interruption of the war and that the discussions
would go only so far as is considered by the participants to offer prospects of success. The proposal calls for all the belligerents to send delegates to a conferential and unbinding discussion on the basic principles for the conclusion of peace in a place in a neutral country and at a near date that would yet have to be agreed upon. The proposal says the conference would be charged to make known to one another the conception of their governments regarding these principles and to receive analogous communications as well as to request and give frank and candid explanations on all these points

which need to be precisely defined.

RAINS HAMPERED AMERICANS.

WITH THE AMERICANS IN FRANCE, Sept. 13.—(By the A. P.)— Tanks were used in the drive on the Saint Mihiel salient but not to any great extent, the chief reason being that it was unnecessary to call upon them. The Germans in most cases retreated without waiting for the wiping out machines to force them. The rains that began shortly after the heavy barrage that opened the battle have continued at intervals since. The narrow dirt roads that lead from the main highway are mud now. It is through these and over fields in which wagons sink low that guns move. In a majority of cases drawn by automobile tractors. It was through such fields that the infantry men slipped and waded in pursuit of the retreating enemy.

FIELD CASUALTY.

list—L. F. Keeping, St. John's.

NO WONDER.

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 12.
The Kaiser looks grave and his hair
has become very grey, says an Essen despatch to the Lokal Anzeiger of Berlin, describing the appearance of Emperor William on the occasion of his speech at the Krupp munition works.

BARQUE SANK TWO SUBS.

HAVANA, Sept. 13.
Two enemy submarines which were encountered when 600 miles out from its port of departure were sunk by an American barque, according to a story published here to-day. No details of the encounter are given. The barque with 129 passengers on board was bound from an Atlantic port of the United States for Central America
took refuge in a Cuban port this week.
A report in writing of the encounter with the submarines was signed by the passengers.

HONORS FOR FRENCH GENERAL.

PARIS, Sept. 14.
General Debény has been raised to the dignity of Grand Officer of the Legion of Honor. The citation was made in recognition of brilliant services in stopping the German drive toward Amiens last March and the recapture of Mont Didier with 12,000
prisoners in August.

NO NEWS OF CONSUL.

LONDON, Sept. 13.
The Government is still without news from Robert H. E. Lockhart, Consul General at Moscow, and the other British subjects held prisoners in Russia, but indirect negotiations for their release are continuing. The latest information in official quarters confirms the reports of the desperate situation in Russia indicating the breaking up of the Bolshevik regime.
Premier Lenin, and War Minister Trotsky, it is declared, made all preparations a month ago to escape to Switzerland.

PROVIDING THE GRAIN.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.
Nearly 50 per cent. more grain has been loaded so far this year than in the same period last year. A railroad administration report shows up to Sept. 7th, 295,000 cars had been loaded as compared with 205,000 on that date a year ago.

SPINNERS' STRIKE.

LONDON, Sept. 14.
The spinners in the Yorkshire and Lancashire cotton mills quit work at noon to-day in accordance with the decision reached a week ago by the Amalgamated Association of Cotton Spinners to strike for the abolition of the Rota system, the Central News states this afternoon. The Association has a membership of 20,000. Indirectly the strike is expected to affect 300,000 operatives in the cotton industry.

KING GEORGE'S CONGRATULA-TIONS.

LONDON, Sept. 14.
King George has sent a message of congratulation to President Wilson on the victory won by General Pershing in the St. Mihiel salient. The King's message reads: "On behalf of the British Empire I heartily congratulate you on the brilliant achievement of the American and Allied troops under the leadership of General Pershing in the St. Mihiel salient. The far-reaching results secured by these successful operations which has marked the active intervention of the American army on a great scale under its own administration are the happiest augury for the complete and I hope, not far distant triumph of the Allied cause."

BRITISH STEAMER SUNK.

LONDON, Sept. 13.
The British steamer Galway Castle, of 7,988 tons gross, was torpedoed and sunk this morning. She had 960 persons on board, of whom more than 850 were saved. The passengers included 300 women and children. The bodies of 3 of the children who had died were brought ashore. The captain and several of the officers are reported to have been still on board when she was last seen and sinking. The missing from the torpedoed Galway Castle number 189; they include 120 passengers, 38 naval and military officers and men and 23 of the crew; 90 third class passengers lost were without exception women and children. The liner floated for two days in charge of the captain and volunteers. The Galway Castle left port for South Africa on Tuesday last and was torpedoed on Thursday in a heavy sea. The Central News account of the sinking says that one of the life-boats was driven by a stormy sea against the ship's propeller and smashed. One of the steamer's passengers, the account adds, was Henry Burton, Minister of Railways of the Union of South Africa, who was saved, and Major Rabuntine, member of the South African Parliament, who is missing. The Galway Castle was built at Belfast in 1911. London was her port of register. She was owned by the Union Castle Mail Steamship Company.

ENEMY RAIDS REPULSED.

LONDON, Sept. 14.
A hostile raid was successfully repulsed this morning in the Gouzeaucourt sector. In the Havrin-court sector troops have pushed forward and have established new posts in the trench lines east and north of the village. Local fighting has taken place. On both sides of LaBassoe Canal our troops have made progress and have made some prisoners. The hostile artillery has been active with gas shells in the north of Neuve Chapelle. A raid attempted by the enemy
last night in this sector was driven off.

SPANISH STEAMER FIRED ON.

PARIS, Sept. 14.
That a Spanish steamer was fired upon by a German submarine near the Canary Islands, is confirmed by despatches received here.

BRITISH CASUALTIES.

LONDON, Sept. 14.
Casualties among the British forces reported for the week ending today, totalled 21,445, compared with an aggregate of 20,264* in the previous week. The casualties were divided as follows: Killed or died of wounds, officers 562, men 3,514; wounded or missing, officers 1,702, men 15,666.

ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY MISSING.

LONDON, Sept. 15.
One hundred and twenty passengers from the torpedoed British steamer Galway Castle, are missing,
the Press Association reports to-day.

SHELLED BY SUBMARINE.

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Sept. 15.—A British passenger steamer which arrived here to-day reported she was shelled by a German submarine 80
miles off the American coast, earlier in the day. Five shots were fired by the U-boat none of which took effect.
The steamship fled and escaped in the fog. The steamship which is in the transport service, was bringing home 96 wounded Canadian officers. The first shot screamed across the starboard bow, struck the water beyond, and exploded harmlessly. Instantly the captain altered the course and slowed down, the second missing, passed over the port bow and the next three struck the waves astern.
Though the ship was armed, the captain ordered the gunners not to respond to the fire, determining to rely on speed and the low visibility for escape. As soon as the shells began to fall behind her he rang for full speed ahead and the liner leaped away into the murk. The U-boat then ceased firing. During the shelling perfect discipline was maintained. The steamer after the fog closed around her, continued her voyage with no further incident until she reached harbor.

MONDAY, Sept. 16th, 1918.

A Very Bare Olive Branch.

Germany is beaten and knows it at last. Austria is beaten and knows it long ago; she has been prevented from acknowledging it through fear of another conqueror, Germany. With the complete defeat of the latter at the Marne that fear is removed, and Austria is able to play the same role as in 1914, and first seek peace as she then first compelled war. From far different motives and for the opposite object she acts to-day with the same willingness as she did then, with four years' compound interest added. We have gone a long way toward peace when it is sought thus openly. Not because Austria's offer will be accepted—it will be politely but very firmly and quite finally declined—but because it is evidence of a weakness that can no longer be concealed. Austria's overture will be rejected with no more delay than is necessary to enable the Entente powers to agree formally among themselves to reject it. Whether news of other offers will come over the wires as we write we cannot tell, but that which Germany is reported to have made to Belgium is quite enough to occupy the world's attention at one time. It has always been our opinion, which we offer gratis, that if the mental processes of the Germans had been studied twenty years ago in the same way as naturalists study the nature of other animals, enough could have been learnt of them to warn the world in time. After all, what distinguishes men from brutes is, among other things, their possession of a sense of humor. They appreciate a jest is but the complement of resenting an affront. Now, after flinging this outrageous insult at Belgium and threatening the Allies, Germany will be pathetically puzzled that it should move them to fiercer anger. That they will reject it is only what has been learnt of them should they become indignant? It is only meant to pave the way, or open the door, or whatever the phrase may be, to serious negotiations. It does not occur to the intellectuals of Berlin that such a beginning may seriously prejudice what little chance they have in the subsequent proceedings.

The terms are worth examining, if only to exercise our faculty of amazement. Primus, as Cicero used to say, Belgium to be neutral for the rest of the war. An excellent idea—for Germany, who would thereby be enabled to shorten her awkwardness by more than half. Second, her economic and political independence to be reconstituted after the war. As the article does not suggest by whom, we presume Belgium is to be permitted to perform this necessary labour herself; Germany of her magnanimity will not interfere. The phrase "economic independence." They will be applying it next to the charred ruins of northern France. Third, that the pre-war Belgian-German treaties be revived. There was no need of this clause. The Belgians have learned to love their German neighbours so fondly that the object will be achieved spontaneously. Fourth, and best, Belgium to use her good offices to secure the return of Germany's colonies. "Her good offices!" Can't we picture King Albert at the courts of his Allies, literally on his knees beseeching them to hand Germany back her own, that the poor African native may enjoy again the blessings of culture, the benefits of the wise and generous rule, that have made Belgium an earthly heaven for four years and more! Finally, the Flemish minority that helped Germany are not to be punished. That is reasonable enough. Traitor were an ugly name to give one who has assisted such a foe as Germany against his country, his services being so indisputably for his country's good. No, the Flemings will be given from crosses and established in all the best offices that "reconstituted" Belgium has to bestow. Somehow or other we do not think that even this generous offer will be accepted either. The Allies, you know are so unreasonable!

"Wounded" Not "Died of Wounds."

We are sorry that in the list of Canadian Casualties published by us on Saturday that the sub-heading "Died of Wounds" was wrongly substituted for "wounded." This was an awkward mistake, and must have caused the friends of the boys an unnecessary anxiety, which we greatly deplore.

Passing of Mr. John Griffin.

VETERAN FURRIER AND HUNTMAN.

There passed to the Great Beyond yesterday morning, at his son's residence, Water Street West, an old and respected citizen in the person of John Griffin, who had attained the ripe age of 98 years. Deceased was born at Athy, County Kildare, Ireland, in the year 1820 and emigrated with his parents to Nova Scotia when but a young lad. He first came to Newfoundland in 1844, representing Robinson & Co. furriers, at Halifax. Four years later he settled down permanently in St. John's and engaged in the furring business which he successfully carried on for many years. As a huntsman he had no peer, and many interesting stories could be told of his adventures while in quest of valuable furs in the wide regions of the land of his adoption. Mr. Griffin was only two years short of being a centenarian, lived in the reign of six sovereigns of England, George III, George IV, William IV, Queen Victoria, Edward VII, and George V. Left to mourn are two daughters and one son, P. J. Griffin, this city, Mrs. J. Carew, Boston, U.S.A., and Mr. Stephen Griffin, this city. The body of deceased will be conveyed to the railway station this afternoon and sent out to Cape Broyle where interment takes place tomorrow in the family plot where his wife now rests. To the survivors relatives the Telegram offers deep sympathy.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

11.30 A. M.

RUSSIAN EMPRESS SAFE.

ROME, Sept. 15. The Vatican does not believe that the former Russian Empress is dead, for it is considered probable it would have been informed if there were confirmation of the report. After the execution of the former Emperor Nicholas, the Vatican appealed to the German and Austrian Governments to save his wife and daughter. Recent unconfirmed reports from Spain, declared the former Empress and her daughters were expected to arrive at a Spanish port on a yacht under the Papal flag.

EMPRESS AND HER DAUGHTERS REPORTED MURDERED.

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 15. The Kiev correspondent of the Berlin Tages Zeitung telegraphs his paper that, according to the Czech-Slovak organ published at Samara, Russia, the former Empress of Russia and her four daughters were murdered in the neighborhood of Ekaterinburg, in the Government of Perm, on the Asiatic side of the Ural mountains, contrary to the wishes of the Soviet Government.

GERMANY'S CATSPAW.

LONDON, Sept. 15. Austria again is Germany's catspaw, says the comment generally heard in London to-day, when the news of Austria's invitation to the belligerents to confidential non-binding discussions at a neutral centre, became public. It was not considered surprising that Austria should make a move to secure peace for Vienna, since the early days of September has been the scene of many conferences of the statesmen of the Central Powers and of Teutonic allied monarchs.

FORCE FOR THE UTMOST.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15. Germany's latest peace feeler, advanced through Austria, it was officially stated to-day, best finds its answer in President Wilson's Baltimore speech, delivered last April. Force for the utmost. Force without stint or limit, the righteous and triumphant force which shall make right the law of the world and cast every selfish domination down in the dust. This was the President's answer then and it was reiterated today. It is his answer now. No one doubts that it is the answer of all the Allies.

THE SLOGAN OF THE NEW YORK PAPERS.

NEW YORK, To-day. Force, force to the utmost, force without stint or limit is the slogan adopted by all of the responsible New York papers this morning in their comment on the Austrian Peace Note.

2.00 P. M.

A CYNICAL INSULT.

LONDON, Sept. 15. With the exception of the pacifist Daily News, which advocates acceptance of Austria's invitation, the London morning newspapers scornfully reject the note as a trick instigated by Germany to gain time to reorganize her shaken armies, while the offer to Belgium is denounced as a cynical insult. The German press comment thus far received in London indicates surprise at the action of Austria sending the note.

AIR ATTACKS AROUND METZ.

LONDON, Sept. 15. Powerful air attacks are being continuing over Metz, according to a statement issued by the Air Ministry to-night. The stations and tracks at Metz, Sablon and Courcelles have been attacked, as well as various busy concentration points. Six British machines are missing.

HUGE POTATO CROP.

LONDON, Sept. 15. The huge additional potato crop in England in 1917, enabled the country to maintain its position as a belligerent, a visiting American editor was heard to say at dinner, Saturday, at the Grosvenor, President of the Board of Agriculture, the speaker said, that but for this home crop Great Britain would have starved into submission.

GERMAN FOOD REGULATION BOARD.

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 15. Herr Von Waldow, President of the German Food Regulation Board, speaking at a reception to the leaders of German trades union, said he regretted the lateness of the harvest and that there were no sharper means than were at present used to get more foodstuffs. The corn crop, he said, was only fifteen per cent better than that of last year and the potato crop was probably worse. The provision ration certainly would be restored, but he declared he could not hold out any prospect for an increase in the potato ration, as unfavorable weather had prejudiced the crops. Meatless weeks must be continued, the speaker said, in order not to endanger the milk and fat supply. Unfortunately he was unable to hold out any prospect of an improvement in the food supply, but he was positive that it would not get worse. Herr Lantien, a member of the Reichstag, who was one of the deputation, replying to Waldow, said that in the absence of the hopeless information he gave regarding the food supply the workers could not continue to work the number of hours they are now working.

A GERMAN PROMISE.

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 15. A Heisingtor's despatch, printed in Berlin newspapers, received, states that the German Minister, instructed by the German Government, told the Finnish Government that in order to preserve Finland and Sweden from the danger of warlike complications, Germany troops will not enter East Karelia. If Great Britain and the other belligerent Powers rescuse Karelia and the Murman Coast, Germany

LLOYD GEORGE'S CONDITION.

LONDON, Sept. 15. According to a medical bulletin issued early last evening, Premier Lloyd George's fever has slightly increased and was accompanied by a feeling of exhaustion. It was simultaneously announced that traffic had been diverted from the neighborhood of the patient's residence, near midnight, however, it was announced that he had enjoyed a refreshing sleep, that his temperature had fallen and there was a great improvement in his condition.

Blue skies above our ship, we glide Across Placentia Bay, There's scarce a ripple on its tide This calm September day. Fair isles lift on every hand Sea in a silvery haze Our hearts exult that Newfoundland So beautiful can be!

By isle and headland steep we pass And from the fishers' floor Upon the vessel's prow, They fall us from the shore.

We gathered on the deck and marked Each beauty of the bay; Enticed the purple distance crowned By Salters far away. But one there was who stood alone Upon the vessel's floor The glory of the morning shone Upon his youthful brow.

He was a Clattice Harbour boy; The khaki garb he wore; He noted every cove with joy When sailing long the shore, And when we passed where trawlers plied Their lines amid the blue, His eyes were seeing 'mid the boats For fishes that he knew.

A wooded promontory thrusts An arm into the bay— We're making out next port of call And brighter grows the day. I watch the spider where he stands. More sage grows his mien— He's every now & then tall. Since childhood's days I've seen— For as the Angle rounds the head And brings his home to view, His hand goes up to the salute— A soldier's salute true!

And waiting his return there stands Upon the cliff-side tall, A woman whose expectant heart Betrays itself to all. Brave mother—brave devoted son— The home of Newfoundland Are richest when there's most like this. By Clattice Harbour's strand. —DAN CARROLL, Sept. 8rd, 1918.

N. I. W. A.

A meeting of the Ladies' Branch of the N. I. W. A. was held on Thursday night last. The President, Mrs. A. E. Earle presided. After the minutes of the past meeting had been read by the Secretary, the girls were favoured with an address by W. A. O'D. Kelly, Esq., which was indeed enjoyed by all present. Mr. Kelly, who has travelled quite a lot, said that the factory system here cannot compare with Canada and the United States.

A vote of thanks to Mr. Kelly was proposed by Mrs. Earle and seconded by the Secretary, Miss M. E. Bishop, and the clapping of the girls present, of which there were about 400, attested Mr. Kelly how they appreciate his address.

It was the wish of the girls and also of part of the Executive of the Newfoundland Clothing Factory in the interest of the two girls who had been discharged the previous day. One case specially needed immediate attention, while the girl had both parents dead and needed constant employment. At once Mrs. Earle took the matter up and found Mr. White, the Manager of the Newfoundland Clothing Factory, after having had a talk with Mrs. Earle, very willing to accede to her request and give the little girl another chance, as the President, Mrs. Earle, did not think three weeks at work a fair chance for any girl.

One other case needed immediate attention by the President. A little girl about 10 or 11 years of age appeared up to the table where the President was sitting, and informed Mrs. Earle that she was working at the Rope-works, receiving $3.20 a week for wages, but having both parents dead she was supposed to look after her had told the little girl that she could not keep her any longer for $3.20 a week. This we know a kind-minded public will call a crying shame, and we think it is quite time that was brought to bear against child labour. One has only to drop into the Union meeting to see the condition of affairs. Many children who are there as Union girls or wage earners should indeed be at school instead of having to get up at 6 o'clock in the morning to earn their bread. This little girl to whom we refer as receiving $3.20 a week, passed to the President a letter given her by the teacher of the school on Munroe Road (Miss Margaret Murphy), in which letter Mrs. Murphy said:

"This little girl through loss of parents and want of resources has been taken from school by her guardian and sent to work at $3.20 a week." Mrs. Murphy (her teacher) adds, "If I could keep her for two years I would then be in a position to take responsibility which would fit her for employment in the city of St. John's."

She also says she is deeply interested in the child. On hearing the President's letter to the proper authorities to deal with the case, isn't it in the city of St. John's for the girls' branch of the N. I. W. A. to be interested, or in other words, an arm protection, for not only the older fishing girls but the children? Legislation governing child labour must be made and the sooner it is taken up the better.

'Gordon C.' Destroyed By Fire.

P. H. Cowan & Co.'s steamer Gordon C., Capt. Perry, has been burned to the water's edge. After a run of seven days from Sydney the ship after taking water here sailed about 4 p.m. Friday for Bonaville to discharge her cargo of 280 tons of coal for M. Swyers. That night she lay to under shelter of Bacallieu, as there was no hurry to reach her destination before daylight, and just after midnight proceeded on the run. About 1.15 a.m. when about 10 miles north east of Bacallieu, the captain noticed fire coming through the deck, and almost immediately the flames broke out all over her forward. In less than five minutes the ship was in flames, and the crew were forced to leave her so hurriedly in two dories that they lost everything except the clothes they were wearing. They were not even have time to lower the third boat. About 3.45 they reached Grate's Cove, and had great difficulty in landing owing to the heavy sea running, but after some time were piloted in by some boats which put off from the shore. In attempting to put off to the rescue the fishermen had two boats smashed up. Capt. Perry and his crew were treated with every possible kindness and hospitality. The fire is supposed to have been caused by spontaneous combustion. Negotiations for the purchase of the steamer by an American firm had practically finished. Both she and her cargo were covered by insurance. An arrival here reported Saturday evening passing the Gordon C., which was still afloat and burning. Capt. Perry, Mate Davis, Chief, Ernest Martin, 2nd, W. Ring, 3rd, Flemming and the others of the crew arrived here Saturday night.

Feed Your Nerves

What tired nerves need is nourishment. Your blood has failed to supply this. To get the system right again you must supply nutrition in condensed and easily assimilated form, as it is found in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. The blood is quickly enriched, the vigor of the nerves is restored, digestion is improved, and soon you feel through the whole body the energy and vigor of health.

Obituary.

HENRY BARNES. After an illness of more than three months Mr. Henry Barnes, ex-East End Road, passed peacefully away Saturday evening last, at his home, 45 Military Road. Deceased was a son of the late Charles Barnes, of the firm of J. E. Barnes, who in the early 60's conducted a large mercantile business in St. John's. Mr. Barnes was well and widely known in the community, and his friends who were legion, will learn with deep regret of his passing. He is survived by a widow, two sons, Charles H., of Bishop, Sons & Co. and James A. of Bowring Bros., and two daughters, Miss Ethel A. J., of the Canada Life Assurance Co., and Miss Edith A., at home; also three brothers: William, late of the firm of Gear and Co.; Charles, this city, and Edward in the United States, to whom the Telegram extends sympathy. Funeral will take place to-morrow, Tuesday, at 3 p.m.

Church Parade.

The C. L. B. under command of Lt-Col. Rendell, O. B. E., and accompanied by the members of the Regiment and a church parade yesterday morning attended Divine Service at St. Mary's Church. The services were conducted by the Rector, Rev. H. Uphill, who preached an eloquent and most appropriate sermon. Following the service the battalion headed by the band accompanied the soldiers back to barracks and proceeded along Military Road to the Armoury where the band were briefly addressed by Lt-Col. Rendell.

Notes From Indian Island.

Lance Corporal G. W. Perry after spending a few days with his parents left again for St. John's by the S. S. Clyde. The young ladies of Perry's Island got up a tea in honor of the boys; no doubt they like to see them in khaki. The trap fishery which has been a fair one is now over, and fishermen are preparing to go to Cape Fogo and Fogo Islands for the fall's fishing; there is a good sign of fish with trawls but bait is very scarce. We are pleased to have one of our soldier boys back from the front with us, Samuel Bixley; he is home on furlough. Sam enlisted with the first five hundred and has been serving ever since. Some time ago he received a wound in the back which disabled him, but he is hoping to go back again soon. Mr. J. Hoddmott received a letter from his son, Ludwig, saying that he would soon be home. Ludwig enlisted in March, 1915, and was serving with the ambulance corps until he received a bullet in the thigh which is not well yet. At the present time there are two or three schooners here buying fish. The people seem very reluctant to sell at the price offered, 11.50, and are wondering why Mr. Coaker does not raise the price. PRESIDENT WILSON AND LL

GEORGE.

I have it on the best authority there is no prospect whatever of President Wilson visiting Great Britain either the war or his term terminates. Talk of a visit to have been based on nothing tangible than the wish that it might have been possible. But we are not to have the pleasure of seeing and hearing President Wilson. It is not so certain that America will be favored with a visit from Great Britain's Prime Minister. The reality undertaken if time and circumstances permitted that a visit to the United States of America and Dominion of Canada (probably including also South Africa and Australia). One of his regrets is that he did not make such a tour in the early days of the war, and it may be said as certain that, if not before the declaration of peace, then after Lloyd George will visit America. The desire of thousands of Canadians to see and hear the man who presides over Britain's destinies.

COLONIAL EX-PREMIER AS CANDIDATE.

A SPECIAL STAR.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

My neighbor was plainly worried. Her daughter with whom she had recently come to live had gone to town leaving word for her to order a half ham for the Sunday dinner. The butcher had just come and had no ham on hand except a whole one which he refused to cut; and my neighbour could not decide what to do.

In her perplexity, she came across to the doorsteps where I was waiting for my interview with the butcher and consulted me. "Why don't you get the whole ham?" I asked. "I'm afraid Edith wouldn't like that, it takes so long to eat it up." "Then you'd better get a piece of lamb."

"But John doesn't care much for lamb."

"A roast of beef." "Edith doesn't think this butcher has very good beef."

"Tongue"

She Was Really Quite Desperate.

"We had tongue last week. Oh, dear, I don't know what to do."

She is a sweet old thing and it smote my heart strings to see how worried she looked and how her voice trembled.

"Just do the best you can," I counselled, "and of course it will be all right. Supposing you don't get just what she wants, it isn't your fault, you can't be expected to read her mind."

She assented doubtfully and went back to the butcher and I objurgated myself for not being of more help, and yet how could I? Edith is one of those people who know very emphatically what they want and mean to have it. Never having been one of her family I could not actually testify that she made herself disagreeable when anyone didn't do the right thing but I had always had my suspicions, and the wrontment of the little motherly confirmed them.

Why will people be like that? they Don't Do The Wrong Thing On Purpose.

By "being like that?" I mean being ensorious and ill-tempered when people who have been forced to use their judgment in handling their affairs have done the wrong thing.

We all know husbands who do that sort of thing. Wives as a rule don't get a chance to. That is, not to their husbands. But that it is only the opportunity and not the inclination they lack they prove all too well by treating their mothers or any one whom they dare impose on just as their husbands treat them.

A Bully's Trick.

If anyone is put into a position where he has to make a decision for you, and if he does the best he can, it is a bully's trick to lash out and blame him if he has not done just what you wanted.

True it takes self control not to be irritable under such circumstances to anyone who will stand such irritability but it is my private belief that St. Peter has a special star for the crown of people who overcome this temptation.

A Toast.

Here's to the bite of the salt sea spray. And the wind from the frozen North. And the glint of the sun on the trusty gun.

When our gallant lads sail forth. They watch, from the transport's crowded deck. The destroyers' wheel and dash; O'er the billows foam came the prayer from home.

Like the crackling wireless flash Here's to the cheers and the sunny smiles. And the clasp of friendly hands. When our sons come over the heaving miles To fight, in the war-swept lands.

And here's to their steady and faultless hearts. As the boys go out to war. To fight their fight in a clean man's might. That Freedom may reign once more.

And here's to the walls of the soaring planes. And the rattle of rapid fire. And the bite of steel, and the grinding heel On the Hun and his mad desire.

For never the tide nor sea shall stay The rush of Freedom's sons. Till the cruel and savage rule gives way At the flash of Freedom's guns.

PLENTY OF WORK.

W. J. MASON

The lazy man has lots of trouble; he can't dodge labor worth a cent; no odds how he may twist and double, some job will track him to his tent. Where is the guy who used to mutter, "I can't get work, however I try; I'd like to earn my bread and butter, but 'Nothing doing!' is the cry." He used to come, with gall immortal, and hand that kind of tale to you; you did not shoo him from your portal, because his story might be true. You handed him a pie or muffin, and said, "Poor man, your fate is dire," and watched him while he sat there stuffing his innards, like a Louve after. But now if home one comes, a-spelling of lack of work, and fakes like those, you bump his head against the ceiling and flood him with the garden hose. You know at once that he is faking, you laugh to scorn his plaintive yelp; employers everywhere are breaking their wishbones rustling round for help. The lazy man has no excuses with which to fool the kindly guy; the stress of war has cocked his gooses, and he must go to work or die.

LONDON GOSSIP.

LONDON, August 19th, 1918.
PRESIDENT WILSON AND LLOYD GEORGE.

There is no best authority that there is no prospect whatever of President Wilson visiting Great Britain either the war or his term of office terminates. Talk of a visit is based on nothing more tangible than the wish that it might have been possible. But while we are not to have the pleasure of seeing and hearing President Wilson, it is not so certain that America may be favored with a visit from Great Britain's Prime Minister. NATIONAL EX-PREMIER AS CANDIDATE.

The National Party, a rather hybrid of new political organisation, but having very strong Imperialistic elements, has selected J. G. Jenkins, M.P. for South Australia from 1901 to 1905, as their candidate for Putney, west London. After his Presidency Mr. Jenkins was Agent-

General in London for the State for three years. He was born and educated in America, and travelled in the United States of America until he went to Australia at the age of 37. He is of Welsh parentage. There are already in the House of Commons two former colonial Premiers—Sir George Reid, ex-Premier of Australia, and Joseph Martin, ex-Premier of British Columbia.

W.A.A.C.'S WORK WITH AMERICAN ARMY.

A large number of members of the W.A.A.C. (the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps) have now been working for a month in connection with their new work with the American army in France, and the arrangement is so satisfactory that 5,000 more recruits are wanted. They will be paid by America and will work with American officials, but will, of course, remain under the control of their own corps, under the special supervision of their own chief controller, Miss Hornblow. The call is for educated women and girls, because they are wanted chiefly for clerical work, and as the supply of trained clerical workers has long ago been exhausted, girls are required who can be taught quickly, and for quite untrained workers special classes are being arranged. The American military authorities have been well pleased with what they have seen of the whole organisation of the corps, but with the difficulties of transport it is quite impossible for them to recruit from the States, and they must depend on the help that English women will gladly give them. The new battalion will probably be popularly known as the "Pals Battalion," because the idea is that friends should join up together, when arrangements will be made for them to be drafted to the same place. Good reports have been received of the girls already at this new work, but a fuller report was to have been received from Mrs. Long, whose last task had been to visit them at their stations in France. She met her death on her way home on the Warilda, which was torpedoed by an enemy submarine. I am told that, while 5,000 is the number asked for in this connection, the Waacs are prepared to receive and place an almost unlimited number of able-bodied, intelligent women between the ages of eighteen and forty, though none under the age of twenty will be sent to France.

YIELD OF THE LUXURY TAX.

It is not surprising that, in view of the far-reaching character of the committee's proposals, few people should be ready to commit themselves to an estimate of the yield of the luxury tax. But at least two bold spirits have not hesitated to walk where the Chancellor of the Exchequer fears to tread. The manager of one of the great departmental stores in the West End thinks the Treasury may benefit to the extent of from $200,000,000 to $250,000,000. Kennedy Jones, M.P., member of the Select Committee, regards this as a very modest estimate, and suggests $400,000,000. These figures are interesting, but they cannot be regarded as anything other than mere guesswork. Bonar Law has never at any time given an indication of the amount of money he expected to derive from the luxury tax, and it is not likely that he will be able to do so until he knows in what form the House of Commons is likely to assent to the schedule. Meantime the prospects of the scheme do not appear to be particularly happy.

THE RUSSIAN WELTER.

While the reports to hand here, mainly from German sources, as to what at this moment is doing in Petrograd and Moscow, and what is likely to occur, are of a fairly precise nature, direct news continues lacking. It is assumed all round that the Bolshevik regime is doomed to almost immediate extinction—physically, it may be, as well as politically—and this is mainly attributed to the revolt of Russian popular feeling against the manner in which the Germans have exploited the peace terms arranged at Brest-Litovsk. This makes it of the more interest to remember that just before the "calculated" surrender of Lenin and Trotsky to the enemy demands there our Foreign Office was seriously considering the immediate recognition of the de facto Government then established at Petrograd. Ample precedents, as it was noted at the time, existed for this, and notably that of Pitt in the case of the French Revolutionary Government of 1792, between the overthrow of the Monarchy and the execution of Louis XVI; of Palmerston in that of the autocratic Louis-Napoleon established in 1851 by the coup d'état; and of Gladstone in that of the French Government of National Defence on the fall of the Empire in 1870. Outside the Holy Alliance, no question of de jure Governments has been considered between nations, the de facto having always sufficed; and if the Lenin-Trotsky combination had not so plainly sold their country to the Germans, Great Britain, in all likelihood, would have held that the Bolshevik Administration had established itself as the de facto Government of White Russia.

AMERICANISING LONDON.

London is being gradually Americanised by the thousands of United States troops who are continually coming and going on their way to and from France. Naturally the Metropolitan of London has been held that the Romans do, they rather incline, owing, no doubt, to their characteristic pushfulness, to infect us with their ideas and to envelop us in their own atmosphere. London takes kindly to the new influence, the spread of which is stimulated by the splendid hospitality accorded to the soldiers of our latest Ally. Yankee slang is creeping into the conversation of ordinary individuals, who use with an extraordinary fluency the bizarre phrases which hitherto have been spoken in this country only from the music hall stage. But perhaps the greatest evidence of the "invasion" is the popularity achieved by the American national game of baseball. Before the war it was little more than a name to the average British sportsman. Though it will never oust football or cricket from popularity, there is no doubt that it will retain a permanent place among British games after the war. When first played here it was merely a novelty to the spectators; but now it is appreciated and enjoyed as an attractive sport. So firmly is it established that there is an Anglo-American League in operation under

A New Story of Human Treachery for Gold--Intrigue Carried Down to the Last Detail.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15. Proofs removing any doubts, that Lenin and Trotsky, the Bolshevik leaders, are paid German agents, if indeed any doubts remain, are laid before the world to-day by the United States Government, in the first instalment of an amazing series of official documents disclosed through the committee on public information secured in Russia by American agents. These documents not only show how the German Government through the Imperial Bank paid its gold to Lenin and Trotsky and their immediate associates to betray Russia into deserting her allies, but give added proofs if any are necessary, that Germany had perfected her plans for a war of world-conquest long before the assassination at Sarajevo, which as the world now is convinced conveniently furnished her pretext. These documents further show that before the world-war was four months old, and more than two years before the United States was drawn into it, Germany already was setting afoot her plans to mobilize destructive agents and observers, to cause explosions, strikes and outrages in this country, and planned the employment of anarchists and escaped criminals for the purpose almost ranking in their sensational nature with the notorious Zimmerman proposing war by Mexico and Japan upon the United States which was first given to the world through the Associated Press. These documents lay bare a new strata of Prussian intrigue, a new view of working of culture to disorganize the Allies' standing between the world and Kaiserdom. They disclose a new story of human treachery for gold which might almost well be described without sacrilege as placing its perpetration on a pedestal with Judas and his thirty pieces of silver. The intrigue appears to have been carried down to the last detail of arrangement with typical German system. It will be revealed completely in a series of seven articles furnished by the committee on public information for publication each morning, beginning to-day until the series is complete. Not only do the disclosures prove that Lenin, Trotsky and their hand are paid German agents; they show that the Bolshevik revolution which threw Russia into such orgy of murder and excesses the world has seldom seen, actually was arranged by the German General Staff. They show how the paid agents of Germany betrayed Russia at the Brest-Litovsk peace conference, how German staff officers secretly have been received by the Bolshevik as military advisers, how they have acted as spies upon the embassies of the nations with which Russia was allied or at peace, how they effectually have directed the Bolshevik foreign domestic and economic policy wholly in the interest of Germany and the shame and degradation of Russia. They show how a picked German commander was detailed to defend Petrograd against the German army, and the extent of German intrigue and domination is almost beyond the realm of imagination. The originals of documents, photographs of originals and typewritten circulars, some of them marked very secret or private, and many of them bears the annotations of the Bolshevik leaders themselves, some of them communicating references to comrade Trotsky or comrade Lenin the damning record. Some of the originals, it is shown, although deposited in the secret archives of the Bolshevik were required to be returned later to representatives of the German staff in Petrograd, that they might be destroyed, but evidence of them remained in the fabric of rogues. The Bolshevik leaders themselves informed their "comrades" that the German Government had required the return of the order of the German Imperial Bank depositing 60,000,000 gold rubles in a Stockholm bank for Lenin and Trotsky, and that at the same time the accounts of the bank had been "audited" to conceal the payments. The first instalment of the revelations appearing herewith is prefaced by an official statement by the committee on public information which tells briefly what the succeeding instalments of documents will prove.

Recently the Office of Works arranged for games to be played in Hyde Park, London's great open-air space, and there are many other facilities provided, so that it is not merely a spectacular sport, but one which is played for the sake of exercise and enjoyment. It may be another evidence of American influence that Sunday games are extremely popular, and these fixtures are to continue until the end of September.

The proper care of wet shoes

The high cost of shoes makes it imperative to use every means to make them last as long as possible. Moisture is their worst enemy. It dries and cracks the leather, ruins their shape and shortens their life of wear.
You can save yourself many a dollar by using "Fitall" Shoe Trees in your shoes. They not only immediately restore them to their original shape, but make your shoes wear longer and give you infinitely greater comfort.
