ANNUAL DINNER

TO-NIGHT,

LADY LAURA'S RELEASE

THE STORY OF A SPOILED BEAUTY.

CHAPTER LII

The captain asked for the house-keeper's name, and was told that it was Mrs. Bowen, and that the woman had been a faithful and valued servant of the Arleighs for many years.

That threw no light on the subject. He had never heard the name of Mrs. Bowen mentioned; nor could he imagine how Angela became acquainted or could be on visiting terms with a person of that description. He knew nothing whatever of the connecting link. He knew Jane Felspar by name, but that was all.

How came Angela to Brantome? John Denham had the fullest information on that point, too. Miss Charles arrived on such a date—a date which corresponded exactly with that on which Angela had left home. Miss Charles kept much to herself, the man informed the captain, and the servants seldom saw her. She was the housekeeper's friend.

The captain was greatly puzzled. It seemed hardly credible that Angela should be so near, and yet it was most certainly Angela's face he had seen. He was determined to solve the mystery, and he did. He watched the grounds of Brantome until he saw her, and then in his mind her fate was sealed. He saw her plainly, and had no further doubt as to her identity.

Angela was at Brantome Hall, hiding under the name of Miss Charles. Why was she hiding? What did it mean? He could not tell; but, whatever the cause, it mattered little now. Fate had delivered her into his hands, and she should not escape him again. How, when, or where he would achieve his object he could not tell. He only knew that she must be removed from his path with as little delay as possible.

On Thursday, when night had set in, he rode from Cudale Hall to Brantome Park, fastening his horse to a tree while he reconnoitered the house. He watched the shadows on the blinds, and recognized Angela's. In this way he discovered which was her room. It was not very high—only on the second story; and, as he stood in the soft darkness, he said to himself that he could easily reach the window by means of a ladder. There his horrible thoughts stopped—thoughts that appalled even himself.

He did not tell Gladys Rane that he had found his lost step-daughter. He conceived it to be more prudent not to do so. If anything happened, no suspicion could fall upon him; Gladys herself had not the least idea that the daughter of her rival was so near.

CHAPTER LIII

Angela devoted the early hours of Friday afternoon to packing the trunks which were to be sent on to London, at which place she would claim them. Of the few things which she forgot to pack away one was a silver-gray wrapper.

It was a peculiar garment, long enough to cover her dress, exquisite in texture, and graceful in form. There was no special designation for it. It was neither cloak, cape, dolman nor mantle, and Lady Laura always called it a wrapper. In their early married days the captain had purchased one similar to it for his wife; and she had been so much pleased with it that she had expressed a desire that Angela should have one like it; and the captain, who was at that time most attentive to his wife's wishes, immediately ordered another for Angela. Lady Laura liked her wrapper all the more because her husband had given it to her, while, because it was her step-father's present, Angela had never cared for hers. The mother had long since worn out hers and forgotten it, while the one belonging to the daughter had been buried in the recesses of her wardrobe. When Jane Felspar packed Angela's clothes to send them to Brantome, she sent the gray wrapper with them, and the girl had worn it at times because she had little else to wear. She had worn it last when she went to the rose-garden, and had left it folded carefully on one of the seats, and had forgotten all about it. It was not until her boxes were packed that she remembered the silver-gray wrapper and went in search of it.

It lay just as she had left it, on the seat by the great rose-trees. She carried it back to the house, and then it occurred to her that she wanted to make some purchases in Cudale, in order to give a few presents to those who had been most kind to her during her stay at the Hall. She was doubtful for a few minutes as to whether it was prudent for her to go into Cudale, knowing that the captain was in the neighbor-

HELP FOR YOUNG WOMEN

Mrs. Holmberg Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Viking, Alta.—"From the time I was 15 years old I would get such sick feelings in the lower part of my abdomen, followed by cramps and vomiting. This kept me from my work (I help my parents on the farm) as I usually had to go to bed for the rest of the day. Or at times I would have to walk the floor. I suffered in this way until a friend induced me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have had very satisfactory results so far and am recommending the Vegetable Compound to my friends. I am glad I tried it for I feel like a different person now that I don't have these troubles."

Letters like this establish the merits of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They tell of the relief from such pains and ailments after taking it. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from natural roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and today holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills in this country, and thousands of voluntary testimonials prove this fact.

If you doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Cudale, Ontario, for Mrs. Pinkham's private text-book and learn more about it.

hood; but the afternoon was very pleasant, and she longed for the walk. Restless and excited, she was glad of a pretext that would occupy her time, and she told herself that it was not likely that she would meet any one she knew; still, to provide against such a contingency, she resolved to wear a veil.

It was after four o'clock when Angela started for Cudale, wearing the silver-gray wrapper, and little dreamt of all that would spring from the circumstance. Her way lay through the park, over the pretty rustic bridge that spanned the river, through some clover-fields, then by the shaded high-road to Cudale. The afternoon was not too warm for walking, a sweet western wind bringing great gusts of perfume from the clover-fields, and her heart rose as she walked on, all nature smiling around her.

She reached Cudale, and having made her purchases set out for her walk home. She had left the town, and had just turned into the high-road, when suddenly, without warning, she met Gladys Rane. There was no time to draw down the veil, which she had intended to hide her face, no time to avoid her; they had met face to face.

"Miss Rooden!" exclaimed Gladys, in utter wonder. "Is it really you?" Then came into Angela's mind the words:

"Truest friend and noblest foe."

Could she make of this woman, her mother's rival, a noble foe? She must try. After all, she need not be alarmed at the discovery, for she would have left the locality on the morrow.

"Yes; it is really I, my own self, Miss Rane," she replied.

"But Captain Wynyard told me that you had left home—that you had gone away."

"I have been away from home for some time."

"But where are you staying? Does Captain Wynyard know that you are here? What an extraordinary thing! I can hardly believe that it is you."

"Will you walk part of the way with me?" said Angela; and, then she remembered suddenly that she did not want Miss Rane to know that she was at Brantome Hall. She must be careful not to let her know it. "I have much to say to you, Miss Rane," she added. "Will you walk with me?"

A nervous dread of remaining near Cudale came to her—a dread lest she might encounter the captain, who it was not improbable, might be walking or riding near by. Angela had often wanted to talk seriously to Miss Rane, and the opportunity seemed now to be afforded her. She had fancied that she should like to tell Gladys some of the thoughts that were in her mind about her, and thus try to induce her to change her conduct toward the captain. But it was most undesirable that their meeting should be held in the public road, nor could Angela take Gladys in the direction of Brantome. She remembered presently the King's Meadow, which was half way between where they were standing and Brantome Hall.

SIDE TALKS.

By Ruth Cameron.

WORDS I HATE.

Almost everyone has on his index expurgator a list of certain words which make his nerves tingle.

Tearing cloth is such a sound for some people. Myself, I rather like it.

But the scraping out of a pipe with a knife is torture to my ears.

Now I think that there are also certain words which have almost as painful effects upon our auditory nerves. I will tell you some of the words I hate and have heard others speak of hating, and maybe some of them will be yours, and then again maybe you will have some more words to add to the list and we will have a symposium some day.

That Cheap Word, Swell.

I detest the word "swell," also the word "swell." To use them to describe anyone seems to me to detract from one's own self-respect. There is an unspakable cheapness about the words that reflects back on the user. Secondly, I hate the word "hubby," used in place of husband. Husband is had enough but "hubby" is atrocious. As had as the absolutely impossible "wife," and rather more commonly used.

I think it was George Ade who said that in spite of his mastery of slang there were certain words he never could bear to use, and one of them was "chicken" for a woman. Ever since then I have felt a bond of sympathy and affection for George Ade (if it was he).

Elegant, in anything except the legitimate meaning (in which one hears it used about once a year) is an offensive word to me.

From Spandulles to Berries. I particularly detest the many circumlocutions by which people avoid the use of the words money or dollars. As a child I always disliked the sprightly terms "spandulles" and "simoleons," and then later, "bones." I feel that same antipathy to-day for such phrases as "That suit set me back 90 iron men" or "I'll have to rustle around to get the berries if you want a car like that." People seem to have a feeling that if they can couch a beast about money in some other terms than dollars and cents they thereby rob it of all offense. I think they add to its objectionability.

"If there is one word I am getting an active dislike for," says a Letter-friend, "it is that word 'Pep.' I always associate it with fake patent medicine ads, 'Renew lost vigor, etc.'"

Another friend thinks the slang word "attaboy" absolutely "awful" (speaking of cruelly abused words).

Phoning and Antelone.

Still another friend finds her ears most pained when she hears people speaking of "phoning," "riding in an auto," or "giving away their photos." "I know this is a busy world," she says, "but surely we can spare the time to use the whole world instead of insinuating it by clipping it off in that cheap way."

What words do you hate, Reader-friend?

I've told you, now you tell me, and perhaps have the pleasure of finding other folks sharing your pet antipathies.

A soft taffeta with a moire finish is used for a gown with woe puff sleeves and a quaint sash of Guffe crepe.

THE HERMIT.

The sun had delivered a hot goods, and how it has sunk in the sea; I go to my cave in the woods, to fill up on turnips and tea. This solitude, how it enchants me! The sweet to be living alone, after from my angular suits, from friends who would borrow a bone. I lie in this cyran retreat no autos, those engines of dread, no coroners wear out their feet collecting the maimed and the dead. I say to my tortoiseshell cat, the only companion of mine, "No driversmiths are passing the hat—ah, me, this existence is fine! No candidates come to the door, no salesmen are seen at the gate, there comes no invidious bore with stories of pre-glacial date." The doodle-bird nests in its tree, the kangaroo hops on its toes; I've swai-lowed my turnips and tea, it's time for my hottest repose. I lie on my pallet of straw, and think of the simps who abide in cities, oppressed by the law, and pinched when they go for a ride. I think of the clamor and strife, the killings with bludgeon or gat; "Oh, jimmie, this is the life," I say to my tortoiseshell cat.

EARLY CABLES.IN THE EMPIRE LIES THE EMPIRE'S HOPE.

LONDON, April 18. At the sixty-third annual meeting to-day of the Association of the British Chambers of Commerce, the President, Sir Arthur S. Bann, referring to commercial chaos caused by the war, said that Britons must turn to the Dominions to "take Russia's place as the exporter of foodstuffs and Germany's place as buyer of our goods. The New World to-day is not the United States, it is the British Empire. We must call on the British Empire to make good the ravages of the war and the ruin, which, I hope, is only temporary, of Europe. It is in the Dominions among our own people that our destiny lies, as a political and moral force and as a civilizing influence, and in my judgement there also lies our commercial destiny."

DESPERATE FLIGHT OF DESPERATE MEN.

LONDON, April 18. Hidden in a cave, one hundred feet from the top of a cliff rising perpendicularly from the coast line, near the causeway, north of Kerry, a desperate band of Irish Republicans have been holding out against Free State troops since Monday, in one of the most spectacular fights of the struggle with the Irregulars, according to a despatch to the Evening Star from Dublin to-day. Although the Republicans do not seem to have any chance of escape, they are as yet able to guard the precipitous approach to the cave by a narrow path from the top of the cliff, down which even the venturesome Kerry goat has not the temerity to descend. It seems improbable, therefore, that the Irregulars will be routed so long as their food and water last. The body of one Free State soldier has been buffeted by the waves at the bottom of the chasm beneath the mouth of the cave, since the Government's first attempt to dislodge the Irregulars.

GERMANY'S HEADLONG RUSH TO BANKRUPTCY.

BERLIN, April 18. Germany's floating debt on April tenth amounted to seven trillion, two hundred billion marks, an increase of six hundred and two million marks in ten days.

KING'S COLLEGE AND FEDERATION.

ST. JOHN, April 18. It was made plain at a meeting here to-day of the Anglican Synod of the Diocese of Fredericton that the fate of King's College at Windsor lay in the balance and that early action was essential to the very existence of the University. The Diocesan Synod went on record as favoring an arrangement with Dalhousie University by which a temporary union might be effected, pending the outcome of the vexed question of Maritime University Federation. It was made plain that the College could not continue at Windsor.

FEAR JAPANESE.

BRISBANE, April 18. Sir Matthew Nathan, Governor of Queensland, in a speech at Ipswich referred to the need of white immigration, declaring there was real danger of the Japanese jumping into Australia.

CANADA'S WESTERN BOUNDARY.

TORONTO, April 18. Unless we do something soon the Boundary between Canada and Asia will cease to be the Pacific and be the Rocky Mountains, said John Nelson, former publisher of the Vancouver World, addressing the Empire Club on Oriental Immigration at a luncheon here yesterday.

GOMPERS ON THE REDS.

NEW YORK, April 18. Samuel Gompers, addressing the annual convention of the National Civic Federation yesterday, defied the Soviet Government of Russia to destroy the American Federation of Labor and himself as President, as a means, he declared, of its avowed intention to overthrow the Republic of the United States. "I have no exaggerated notion of the power of these Reds and was deeply impressed with quotations from the documents, but after all, what did they amount to? Vapourings of middleheaded men and women," he said.

A HUGE PROFIT.

BERLIN, April 18. The annual report of the Berlin Petroleum Company shows a net profit of six hundred and twenty-five million marks as compared with thirty-three million marks in the report for 1921. A dividend of four hundred per cent was declared with twenty-five per cent the previous year.

AIRPLANE CONTROLLED BY WIRELESS.

PARIS, April 18. An airplane propelled, guided and established by wireless control, remained in the air for a considerable time yesterday, when the test was completely successful.

FREEDOM OF PRESS MAINTAINED.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 18. Affirming the decision of the Circuit Court to-day ruled that the city of Chicago could not maintain its libel suit against the Chicago Tribune. The case is the first on record in which a municipality attempted a libel suit. The newspaper was charged with having damaged the credit of the city through editorial criticisms of its corporate acts.

DISORDERS AT MUELSHEIM.

BERLIN, April 18. One man was killed and seventeen injured in disorderly demonstrations of the unemployment at Muelseim, in the Ruhr, to-day, intervention by French troops was not required.

CARDINAL MERCIER WILL START CRUSADE AGAINST SOVIETS.

NEW YORK, April 18. Cardinal Mercier, of Belgium, has written the Columbus, official magazine of the League of Nations, suggesting that the League of Nations start an international crusade against the Russian Soviets to wipe out barbarism and safeguard civilization. "In four years," wrote Cardinal Mercier, "the World War mowed down, I believe, ten million human lives." In a little more than that time Bulshervist Socialism has sacrificed from twenty to thirty millions.

White Nape Fish.

Receipt for making white nape fish as given by Mr. Coaker in a speech in the House of Assembly—Split the fish to the crux of the tail; take out more bone, making a slanting cut in taking off the sound bone. The liver adhering to the nape should be removed all shore fish over 18 inches should have the black removed from the nape. So keen did Mr. Coaker get on making white nape fish that he advised Labrador men to make that quality promising them 50 cents per quintal more for it in the markets. Many believed Mr. Coaker and the result was that hundreds of fishermen could not get $2 per quintal for it. Although they spent days and days traveling St. John's with yaffes under their arms, and angry words on their lips for the regulations Mr. Coaker did not offer them any help.

Famous Stage Success at Nickel Ti-Night.

TOM MOORE IN "MR. BARNES OF NEW YORK."

Another famous stage success has been converted to the screen. This time it is "Mr. Barnes of New York," featuring Tom Moore, the popular versatile star of Goldwyn pictures. The film is adapted from Archibald Clavering Gunter's thrilling drama. It's plot, which deals with a dramatic duel, two passionate love affairs, a seemingly impenetrable mystery and a particularly engaging hero, fairly throbs with thrills. A picture that local fans will appreciate.

Dan Delmar, the minstrel man, will sing his famous wine song, "Wine, Wine, Wine." You'll get all the entertainment you are looking for in this song. Last night Dan went like a whirlwind—in to-night he will go one better.

Monday next being a General Election, the Nickel has planned to show that great screen version of "Eyre," adapted from the novel by Charlotte Bronte. Mabel Ballin, who played such a wonderful role in "East Lynne," plays still greater character in this play. Watch for Monday's big show.

"Red Light" District is once on judgment for some of its deeds. This time it is cold murder. An officer of the law to death while doing his duty. Detectives, members of the Squad, while waiting to certain houses in the district three suspicious looking characters carrying a large parcel. The officer held them up and started to take the contents. Whilst doing so, one of the gang whipped out his revolver and shot Officer Beaudry. The officer staggered and fell dying almost immediately. His companion took cover behind a door, and on seeing the three men run, drew his revolver and fired three shots. What they struck nobody knows, but they certainly did not go anywhere near the fleeing desperadoes. The officer attempted to fire a fourth shot, but the gun "balked," and the officer was away. In conversation with the Captain of the Police Force he expressed the opinion that the two detectives did not show good judgment. When they had the men they should have covered them with their guns and marched them off to the station. One of them was a well-known character, a safe cracker, a robber, a prize fighter, a notorious pickpocket, was arrested several times, and on two occasions was liberated on bail and each time skipped to the States. "I remember," said the Captain, "meeting fifteen bad men on St. Paul Street one morning at 2 o'clock, and the leader of the gang was going to draw his gun, but I had mine out first and warned him that if he attempted to show his, he'd be a dead man. I kept them at bay and with the assistance of another officer we made them 'beat it.' If I had not shown grit, courage and determination that night the leader would probably have shot me. A few days afterwards the same leader was arrested for robbing a wholesale butcher and cheese store on St. Paul St. On another occasion I encountered two desperate characters and notorious robbers. I covered them with my gun and with the aid of a fellow officer we marched them to the station with the guns pointed at their heads. They were sentenced to fourteen years in the penitentiary." The deceased officer, J. B. Beaudry was a French-American, was attached to the Police Force for some years, and had a splendid record. He was a great favorite with his brother officers. He spoke both languages fluently, and was promoted lately to the new Morality Squad. His funeral was a fitting tribute to his memory. Not only did Montreal do him honor, but Westmount and Verdun turned out also. The Mayor and the City Council attended in a body. The leading band of Montreal, the Grenadier Guards, led the funeral cortege. At the Church of the Nativity, Hochelaga, Mgr. Lapierre gave a touching discourse in both languages. The Police and Firemen's Chorus sang the "Libera" and Schubert's "Adieu." The body was placed in the vault at Cote des Neiges to await burial in the Spring. The officer who accompanied the late J. B. Beaudry was Wagner, a supposed Jew. He's being severely criticised by the public for the way he acted during the affair, and many think he's a friend of some of the habitués of that notorious district. Certainly he didn't show much spirit or courage the night of that awful tragedy. The police are loud in their complaints against the law, which gives desperate criminals the chance to be allowed out on bail, claiming that it renders arrests useless, and gives more scope and freedom to the bad men to commit still greater crimes. The alleged slayer of the officer is Mike White, alias Joe McCarthy, and half a dozen more aliases. His friends claim he'll never be taken alive and that he's in safe keeping with some of the underworld graduates of the "Red Light" district. Mike was insane about policemen and one of his friends says of him:—"When White jumped his bail in Montreal a few years ago, after being jailed for picking pockets, he went to New York, and there he was soon spotted by the police. In one of the periodical drives against gunmen, thieves and rags, Mike was gathered in the net, and perhaps because of his youth, the police made an effort to get information against him. They had nothing on him, as we term it, but they wanted him to be a stool-pigeon, or informant, and that was one thing that Mike, had as he was, would never consent to do.

"He was in and out of the third degree room for six solid weeks, and the treatment he got must have been terrible, but he told me he never spilt on any member of the gang." But when he came out he was a physical wreck. He had been battered about the head by clubs and black-jacks, and I think his brain was affected. When he came back here, he had to undergo an operation and have a piece of diseased bone removed from his skull.

"Since then he was erratic, vague and his mind wandered—but he was always set and certain in one thing. He had a deadly hatred of the police. The sight of a policeman was to him like a red rag to a bull.

"I think he's crazy, and I am certain he has become a drug fiend in the last few years. I think that opium was his particular hobby, and he used to disappear for two or three days on what were 'pipe-smoking' jaunts."

"Sun-Kays, wan cheeks, and snow-white hairs bespeak

Life's limits; no! but he whose memory is thickest set with those delicious scenes

"Tis sweet to ponder o'er when even falls."

The death of John Ogilvy, founder of the Ogilvy Departmental Store, in his 99th year, proclaims the truth of the above stanza. He is the last of the chartered members of St. James Club. Up to two years ago he always held a reception on his birthday. Owing to failing eyesight he was compelled to abandon it. He was an inveterate smoker, using several cigars and pipefuls each day right up to the end. He was a sound business man, an admirable character, and made hosts of friends during his long span of years. His funeral was very largely attended.

Dr. Charles W. Elliot, president emeritus of Harvard, celebrates the beginning of his ninetieth year by following common custom and handing out some advice on how to obtain longevity. The doctor's rules are not novel. They are decidedly familiar. In sign and substance they are: Eat moderately, sleep at least seven hours a night with windows open, take regular exercise in the open air every day, use no stimulants, enjoy all natural delights without excess in any, and keep under all circumstances, as serene a spirit as your nature permits.

This is good counsel, not because following it will ensure great length of years, for it will not; but because it will tend to ensure the best health possible to any given man or woman during the time it is heeded; and unquestionably it will have a tendency to put off, to some extent, the inevitable day of dissolution.

But the enjoyment of unusually long life depends upon something more than proper habits. Though there seem to be instances where individuals "beat the game," it depends fundamentally upon chance, or fate if you wish to call it that, the fate which determines what sort of ancestry a person has. If a man or woman comes of a stock which grows, flowers and withers early, his chances for a lingering autumn are small. If on the contrary, his forebears were tough and rugged, or wiry and have been in the habit of hanging on until eighty or ninety or one hundred, he starts in with a big advantage and may attain the century mark, even though at times he breaks every one of Dr. Elliot's Rules.

The Menace of Coakerism.

Organized Disorder Rampant—Bolshevik Means for Bolshevik Ends.

No district should be blamed as a whole for the misconduct of a part. No part should be blamed as a whole for the misconduct of a few individuals. Bonavista district ought not to be censured for rowdiness in Valleyfield, nor that place for blackguardism by a few creatures of the baser sort. There is no finer district in the Colony nor better people anywhere than in Valleyfield, yet there, as in many other places, there are rowdies whose conduct reflects upon innocent people. The average reader is not always discriminating, and might be inclined to blame the district, the place, or at least the people of the place, for the interruptions which disturbed the meeting the Bennett candidates tried to hold at Valleyfield on Monday night, but it would be quite unfair to do so, for the disorder was entirely created by Coakerites organized and inspired for that purpose, and the Christian people of Valleyfield are blameless as a body for the savage conduct of the few poor guilty tools.

Let it should be supposed we speak without proof when we say the discreditable conduct at Valleyfield was organized, we draw attention to the report in the Advocate yesterday. It says: "The reception was Valleyfield's answer to Greenspond. The audience refused to permit either candidate to say anything, and kept up a constant roar of cheers for Coaker. Monroe will be up against it in many places. The same treatment was accorded at Cape Freels. His tour will be anything but a bed of roses." The threat, the alleged reason, and the fact of organized disturbance are there portrayed, naked and unashamed, with but a thinly disguised satisfaction.

Messrs. Monroe and Little were notified days in advance that they would be prevented from speaking at Valleyfield, but courageously and strategically gave the blackguards the opportunity to demonstrate F. P. U. Tactics. Similar opportunities will again be offered, and similar uncivilized misconduct will occur until it has entered the brain of the Chief Conspirator against public order that not so can he bludgeon and bully public sentiment. In 1919, Coakerites at Valleyfield, Happy Adventure and Bonavista were guilty of exactly the same discreditable misconduct, not spontaneously, but as a matter of deliberate organization, and every such demonstration was boasted of by their organ, the Advocate, as though it were an honor conferred on the society guilty of it.

Prior to the entry of Coakerism into Bonavista Bay, there were many hot political fights, but never, we believe, was cause given to any candidate to complain of discourtesy, or of refusal of a polite and intelligent hearing. The people came from good old liberty loving stock. They cherished, exercised and conceded to others the right of British free speech. Their convictions were based on reason, and they did not fear discussion, but hailed it with joy. But now an organized minority, composed in the main of shareholders in Coaker's wildcat schemes, act as though dead to shame, as though obsessed with a fear that if they listen they will be convinced of the error of their ways. No longer do they act as free men willing to concede liberty to others, but as demagogues ready to deny ordinary British liberties to opponents. This devilish spirit has entered into these misguided people side by side with a desperate fear that their schemes are in danger of defeat, and a determination to avoid it by bullying and bludgeoning the rest of the people into paying the loss. Coakerism is determined to win at any cost, and descends to Bolshevik means for Bolshevik ends. Will not the intelligence, the respectability, the Christianity of the country arouse itself to the Menace of Coakerism and cast it off while there is yet time?

Control Bought, Not Sold.

The Mail quotes the Bennett Manifesto as saying that the Reids had sold their forest areas to the Armstrongs, and the Telegram as denying the Mail's assertion that the Armstrongs had bought the Reids "out of control", and it professes to see therein a complete contradiction between the Manifesto and us.

"The Reids sell out" referred to their forest areas, whereas the "control" referred to meant a share in the management of the Humber company. The areas and water powers were sold to the Armstrongs, and have been paid for, in part, by common stock in the company, which enables the Reids to share in the control. Instead of selling control, the Reids have bought it, with their lands and properties. The Mail should buy a handy volume on company promotion, and seriously study the subject.

The Reids will share control with the Armstrongs, and it does not follow by any means that this of itself will be any injury to the Humber scheme. Why should the Armstrongs be considered preferable to the Reids? They have no interest whatever in this country, outside their possible profits in selling machinery for the Humber project, or as joint promoters of the scheme. They, apparently, have not put a dollar of their own in the project. Nor has anybody else, except the Reids, who have put it into their properties on the Humber. The Armstrongs are not papermakers. Their subsidiary enterprise in Canada has not fared well, we think. Beyond the use which is made of their name to advertise the Humber project for Squires-Coaker electioneering purposes, the Armstrongs are putting nothing into the project which can be demonstrated as valuable.

Political Paragraphs.

Twillingate District is making no noise, but look out for a surprise on May the 3rd.

It will be another "Spring of the Green B" so famous in our past election history.

In order to give some encouragement to the "Dogfish" we concede that after all the frosty weather this winter "the Rivers are solid for Downey," but McDonnell will get the votes when the thaw comes.

Coaker would serve the S.S. "Earl of Devon" like he served the Newfoundland ship of State the past three years, wreck her and set her adrift to go on the rocks.

A vote for Squires, remember men, is a vote for Coaker and such a vote means the enforcement of the Fish Regulations under a new name.

A vote for Coaker means the sale of the Labrador to Canada and our own fishermen merely allowed to fish there on sufferance subject to annoying Canadian laws.

A vote for this Government means more unemployment, more emigration, more graft and waste and general depression and stagnation of trade.

The sea dogfish destroyed the codfishery in one way and the land dogfish in another. The dogfish is the fishermen's pest. Turn out the "Dogfish" party on May the 3rd.

A wounded invalid soldier who came out of Hospital recently had one dollar a day deducted from his pension for the time he was there. How the Government loves the men of the G.W. V.A.

Before getting the "grand bounce" on May 3rd would Premier Squires kindly leave on his desk the address of those American Detectives he invited here in 1919 to put the Cashin Executive in jail. We assure him it will be very handy?

In order to have any chance of being elected Squires should become a candidate in all the Districts. After such a miserable record the past three years he should not complain that the people want to get rid of him.

It is quite evident that Harbor Grace does not want him. They know him too well and they would not believe a word that he says in his political promises. His Manifesto was carried out exactly as they expected.

The Humber Deal is like the famous "Riddle of the Sphinx." Everybody knows there is such a thing, but nobody knows what it is. Some club-foot man may come along and guess what it is by and by.

The only qualification that the "Dogfish" Government have on giving up the keys of their offices in May is that they are leaving not a dollar in the Treasury for the incoming Government.

Mr. Jennings, we hear, has "got in out of the wet." He is not ambitious, we must admit, when he accepted a job as assistant to Mr. Bartlett in the Board of Health. Dept. A. new office was created which was not necessary and will be abolished by the retrenchment policy of the Bennett Government. Mr. Jennings will help Mr. Bartlett to help cabmen to help patients to get to the General Hospital. Lord help us! It's awful!

There are so many people saying that Long, Ayre, Peters, Stone, Bradley, Monroe and Winsor are going to be elected that it seems to be a want of good sense and judgment to doubt it. For our own part we believe if the tide is going that way that Monroe, Ayre and Stone will make a clean sweep and bring in three men each.

It is inconceivable that people all over the country who are suffering so much from the hard times will vote for a return of this Government, and there are not enough of "Sink or swim" Union men and recipients of money made from the groaning taxpayers to elect a Government even if they all combined to do so which they will not give out of money at the 11th hour never brought back a Government yet in this country.

No, Squires can't come back a winner. He knows he can't. He is into the fight now and he has to put up the best bluff he can to his deluded supporters. His record the past three years is too bad to warrant the hope that the people will let him inflict four years more of ruin, poverty and semi-starvation on them. He must give place to BENNETT AND BETTER TIMES.

The latest in Telo's can be had at STEELE'S without a Bid. April 16, 31m, 1/2s.

The Fake Charmer

Squires destructive policies caused the Serpent of Unemployment to ravage the land. Now he tries to charm it away with fake promises, but his music won't work. The harm is done and Bennett is the man to undo it and give us back prosperity again.

Rousing Meeting at Bay Roberts.

MR. BENNETT SCORES SQUIRES' TACTICS.

A committee meeting was called last night in Bay Roberts without any public announcement. At 8 o'clock the Cable Hall was absolutely filled to overflowing, at least five hundred voters being present. Mr. John Morgan was in the chair and opened the meeting at 8.15 calling Mr. J. R. Bennett, leader of the Opposition, to make his first public speech in Bay Roberts. Mr. Bennett, in a magnificent speech lasting over two hours, outlined the full policy of the Opposition Party in a manner that brought continuous applause. The bounty on fish was dealt with and explained and Mr. Bennett threw the lie back in the teeth of the Government by emphatically stating the bounty will be paid direct to the fishermen and not to the merchants. He dealt with the Humber pointing out that his party would accept this and see that the country got full benefits. He strongly denounced the Government for attempting to foist themselves again upon the voters under the false name of the Humber which belongs to the people and not to Squires and also for the despicable attempt to prejudice the people by a false cry of leadership. He reviewed the mismanagement of the past few years which the government is unable to attend and refuses to try, condemning them for their low-down, personal attacks of living and dead, transparent camouflage, false issues and sinister tactics. The real issue is their infamous record. During and at the end of his speech the applause was deafening. Mr. Archibald next spoke and was greeted with a tremendous ovation. In an able and forceful manner he endorsed the remarks of the leader, and disclosed the treachery of the Squires-Coaker outfit in a telling manner. Mr. Hickman then spoke in his usual practical manner and pointed out the inevitable disaster that would follow a renewal of power to the present rulers. He dwelt on the fish and trade situation in such an able and convincing manner as to bring rounds of applause from the large gathering. He received an even greater reception than that accorded him on his first appearance last week. Capt. Farmer and Mr. W. A. Munn also addressed the meeting, scoring the Government for a period of misrule, unequalled in the Country's history. The meeting lasted from 8.15 to midnight and concluded with ringing cheers for Bennett, Hickman and Archibald and for the Opposition Party. Bay Roberts will give the Bennett Candidates seventy per cent. vote in spite of the lying tactics of government heeled here. Last night's meeting was an indication of the sentiment in Bay Roberts that shows unmistakably that the people realize the only hope of the country is Bennett and clean Government.

TO-NIGHT'S BIG EVENT

Great Popular Reception to be Tendered the Bennett Trio on Their Return From Bell Island.

"See the Conquering Heroes Come." voters will show by their action that no combination of Government conscripts led by the pawns of Coakerism are going to wrench the country of St. John's East from the hands of the free and independent people. This noble, proud, intelligent old district. Be on hand then to witness every citizen who is not on the committee of the Committee, every man, woman and child who can possibly do so, order to show your approval and encouragement of the popular cause of its conquering heroes, for by their vote you will strike such terror into the hearts of the city's enemies, the Coakerites, that they will shiver in their shoes till polling day and discover at the count that you have buried Coakerism beneath such avalanche of ballots that it will be powerless to raise up its head in the most historic Liberal District of St. John's East will not hand down the British flag of freedom for the tattered rags of Bolshevik rule. The volunteer army of city

THE HOUR IS NEAR AND THE COUNTRY'S FUTURE IS AT STAKE.

Free men of Newfoundland! You who have to win your livelihood from the briny deep! You who have to dig and delve into the bowels of the earth; to toll in the factories and workshops! You who have to labor in sleet and rain, in storm and sunshine! What does your common sense and intelligence lead you to infer from the situation that confronts you to-day? From the desperate efforts of Squires and Coaker to regain power by merely shrieking "Humber Deal! Humber Deal!" without advancing a single other suggestion with regard to the future of this country? Do you want any more convincing proof of the utter bankruptcy of brains and ability, of capacity and integrity in the present Government, than the fact that to-day, a fortnight from the polling, the Squires' Party has not a single constructive suggestion to put before you except that a paper industry is to be started on the West Coast at which two or three thousand men will be employed, and that because of this the Government is to be re-elected and given power to carry on your affairs again, in spite of the frightful ruin and disaster brought upon the country the past four years by the incapable crowd who have had charge of your affairs during that period.

If you read the Government organs, if you hearken to the Government speakers, you can reach only one conclusion, namely, that these men know the outlook for themselves is hopeless, know they are without a policy, without any unifying principle, are simply handed together to hold on to the spoils of office, and are using this cry of the Humber Deal for that purpose alone. The proof of this is plain before the eyes of every man who can read and will study the political situation as it exists here. Therefore, can you fishermen, mechanics and laborers and heart decide to vote for these spinners? Can you safely and conscientiously vote for a renewal of domination of Coaker, for a continuance of the policy of reckless extravagance, of misrule and of in every branch of the public service that is certain to result in Squires-Coaker again are given years more of office in this country. In making a decision as to what party they will support at the polls on May the 3rd, voters should fully consider the full significance of the relations between Squires and Coaker, should recall and ponder the Fish Regulations and condition of utter collapse to which these have brought the country, especially the business community. The Spring is opening, the time of the fishery is at hand. Only one man out of every twenty will be looking for a Summer's work can be employed at the Humber enterprise. The other nineteen have to go fishing. What is the result of these men being able to supply if the present Government is re-elected? What encouragement will there be for any people to turn their money into any labor-saving enterprise when, in three or four years afterwards, Mr. Coaker may initiate the nationalization of fish or other crazy scheme and force Squires and his colleagues to put it into effect and bring about another era of starvation?

Neptune and Thetis Arrive.

BOTH SHIPS SECURED GOOD TRIPS OF FAT.

S.S. Neptune, Capt. George Barbour, the fourth ship of the sealing fleet to arrive from the Seal Fishery steamed into port at 2 p.m. yesterday and reported for 9,000 prime young white coats, and 6,000 bedlamers, or a total weight of 20,000 prime young seals.

The Neptune had scarcely passed inside Chain Rock, when the S.S. Thetis, Capt. Wm. Winsor, hove in sight around the northern head and entered port in the Neptune's wake. The Thetis reported for 12,000 prime young whitecoats and 5,000 bedlamers, a total of 17,000 seals, equivalent to the weight of 22,000 seals. Both ships entered port with all flags flying and steamed to Job's Southside premises where the seals will be discharged. The captains of the respective ships state that this spring was one of the worst over experienced. They met with strong westerly winds, followed by successive snow storms for the greater part of the voyage, while the ice was found in narrow sheets, and of the heavy Arctic variety, and very difficult to butt through. The Neptune, which this spring carried an aeroplane for spotting purposes, reported that even if weather conditions proved favorable, it would have been impossible to have used the plane, as ice conditions would not have permitted a safe take off.

As previously reported the Neptune "struck the fat," early in March and up until a few days ago was picking up a load. The Thetis, the high-liner of the fleet did good work with the old seals, and several thousand more would have been secured only for lack of ammunition.

Both ships bore up for home on Monday last and made a fair passage to port.

A CLOSE CALL.
On March 11th, while a member of the Thetis' crew was in the look-out barrel, a squall struck the ship breaking the topmast, barrel and man crashed to the deck, a distance of forty feet. Members of the crew rushed to the man, expecting to find him dead. However, apart from a sprained wrist and the terrible shock, he was as right as rain, and after a few days was about at his work, as if nothing had happened. It was a miraculous escape and members of the crew were dumfounded over the happening. The Thetis, commanded by Capt. Winsor, is the high liner of the fleet. He is the Opposition candidate for Bonavista and leaves to-day to join his colleagues, Messrs. Monroe and Little.

Political Politeness.

An April morn was dawning Upon Pleasant Street,
A citizen did greet:
"Good morning, John, I hope you're well!"

How's every little thing?
You see we're getting on the job.
We're going out the shore to-day.
What can I do or say?
I'll be sure to see your father,
As we pass along the way."

The citizen was yawning,
But he was not quite asleep;
And the way he "put one over" is too awfully good to keep.

Says John: Well, Mr. Bindon,
Are you an "also ran"?
I hope you are a volunteer,
And not a drafted man;
I don't know how far "out" you'll go.
I'm sure you won't "come back"—
Not even by the "motor road."

Nor yet the railway track;
I hope you'll see poor father—
But I have my doubts and fears;
For, as well as I remember,
HE'S BEEN DEAD THESE THIRTY YEARS."

Oh, it's Johnny here, and Jimmy there,
And Bindon on the Rhine,
But when the votes are counted,
He'll be Bindon on the Rhine.

WILL BE BRILLIANT AFFAIR.

The Ball which will complete the second season of the Masonic Entertainment Committee's series of dances will be held on May 16th, and promises to be a most brilliant event. The object which the committee sought to achieve, in inaugurating their entertainment, was the interior decoration of the Masonic Temple, and in this they have been completely successful. The Ball will be a grand fete to a wonderful season. Strict secrecy is being maintained in connection with the scheme of decoration for the C.C. C. Hall on the night of the Ball, but Mr. Reg. C. Harvey, who is planning it, is now on his way to New York, where he will secure necessary materials. Not only will the decorations be the most elaborate ever seen here, but a number of novelties will intersperse the dances, and these are also being arranged for by Mr. Harvey. The Masonic Entertainment Committee are to be congratulated upon the many successes which have crowned their efforts, and it is to be hoped that the Ball will be followed by a further series of dances in the fall.

All Flags Flying.

THE SIX BENNETT CANDIDATES ASSURED OF VICTORY IN GOOD OLD ST. JOHN'S.

Public opinion has reached such a pitch in St. John's to-day that a magnificent victory is more assured to the whole six candidates of the BENNETT PARTY. This is the well considered verdict of men who have weighed the situation free of bias or enthusiasm for the one side or the other. In the week or so following the dissolution the sentiment in favour of the Opposition undoubtedly pointed to the clear fact that St. John's was up in arms against the Squires-Coaker Government but that it would take a little time to define whether the strength of that sentiment was sufficient to carry the victory the whole six candidates of the BENNETT PARTY. In so far as St. John's West was concerned not a shadow of a doubt was entertained with respect to the firm sentiment therein favour of the BENNETT team. It was to St. John's West that citizens looked with interest for such indications as to show to what extent would that volume of sentiment swell for it was there Squires succeeded personally in his 1919 election. With Campbell and Fitzgibbon as colleagues he started his campaign but the flourish was a poor one for at the outset they felt that CASHIN, LINGAR AND HUNT held the sort of popular approval and are holding it so well with increasing strength to their forces that now all doubts have vanished concerning the election of the BENNETT TRIO by a splendid majority.

ALL FLAGS ARE FLYING THEN to-day for the triumphant return of all six BENNETT CANDIDATES in St. John's and these significant signals of victory will be kept aloft till the victory is copper-fastened at the polls. Keep the good fight going then electors, buckle on the armour of right securely and enthusiastically every day we rise from our beds; and make it a record one, one that will stamp it as the most brilliant ever accomplished in the history of St. John's.

Bell Island Miners Receive Increase.

MR. W. J. HIGGINS, K.C., SENDS MESSAGE OF GLAD TIDINGS.

The Telegram is in receipt of a message from Mr. W. J. Higgins, K.C., this forenoon bearing the welcome information that a substantial increase in wages had been granted by mine owners to all their employees and miners. Mr. Higgins and his colleagues, Messrs. Fox and Vincombe, the Bennett Standard Bearers in the District of St. John's East, crossed over from Bell Island this morning to Portugal Cove where they will meet their constituents in that important settlement. During their three days' tour of the Island the Straight Ticket Victory Trio were accorded a tremendous reception. Their meetings were largely attended and much enthusiasm prevailed. Ending their tour with the good news as told in this morning's messages we congratulate the team which will, when the ballots are counted, register a record majority for St. John's East and Bennett and Better Times.

GETTING READY.—The Feildian Football Team are holding a meeting to-morrow evening at 8.30 p.m. in Mr. McNelly's office, to make arrangements for the coming season. The election of officers also takes place.

Oowahs!

By A. HUSSEY.
Squires and Campbell had a trying time endeavouring to explain to Fitzgibbon's friend how they managed to get him in the Petty H.R. expedition.

And those Captains of Industry, Art Bulley, Dick Hibbs, Joe Burke, Harvey, Small, and Jack Scammell—are just the boys to put the "hum" in the Humber Steal.

And then just lamp those legal lights, Willy Brown and Samuel Foots. They're the wise ones to pick out the fave in the Red agreements, too. Sir Edward Carson and Sir John Simon are only jokes compared to them.

Truly, all wonderful sprouts!

What a pity it was Doc. Campbell didn't live in the time when that old philosopher, Diogenes, was going around with his lantern seeking for an honest man.

Coaker claims 1,000 voters attended his meeting at Bonavista, of which he says, ninety per cent. are standing solid for him, yet by actual count only 57 names are signed to the report of the meeting—which is not the usual Coaker way of doing things. Better get after him, Tommy Cloutier. He's not carrying out your instructions.

Trot out the Humber Deal, Mr. Cellishew, as Squires won't let the public look at it. Show us how many "niggers" are hiding in its woodpile, and tell us how they got there.

Six men for the Bennett Party in now the sure and certain aim of the voters of St. John's. Well done free and independent citizens of the capital.

Coaker has learned the Kaiser's methods of declaiming to his followers. After this election he too will get a task of political exile and wonder why the harangues didn't properly work.

To read the Coaker-Squires organs one would think all the outport people and St. John's thrown in should pack up their grips and go to the Humber.

Squires would like the country to go to slumbers so that he could put through the Deal that no one still knows anything about. "The Slumber Deal" it also should be called in addition to all its other titles.

"Poor Old Joe" the Coaker candidate in Carbonear, is already being tendered the sympathy of his friends in anticipation of the overwhelming knock out he will get at the polls.

Hear Arthur Bulley on the Coaker horn in his lamentable solo "Don't drop me down too far below the others."

Hear Harry Bartlett in his famous recitation, "How it feels to sink with Coaker."

Hear the man from St. Jacques, with his Coaker smacks, at the fishermen, laborers and tradesmen of St. John's East.

There is plenty of room at the bottom for all three Coaker candidates in St. John's East so there will be no necessity for the supporters of any one of them to crown down the other three.

"We'll get one of our men in, in St. John's East," whispers Harry Bartlett's "admirers." Motive, plump for Harry and drop Burke and Bulley. "One man is all we hope for that's Joe" naturally are the sub rosa tenets of "Doc. V. P. and Joe's most intimate friends." Motive, drop Bartlett and Bulley and plump for Burke. "We want one man on the Government, side anyhow" silently pour into your ear the strenuous strain from Arthur's friend's voice, as he first looks up and down the street. "Arthur Bulley is the best." Motive, plump for Bulley and drop Bartlett and Burke. Result all round, a race to the bottom for all three. A double-crossing game from first to last.

DUALITY.

One of my selves is a slave to greed, and the other's a slave to dreams. One of them glories in brick and stone and the other in running streams. And part of the time I am cold and stern.

One of my selves is brave and bold and the other is meek and mild. One of them would a warrior be; the other would play the child. One of them battles for things to hold and the other in running streams. And the other will stand by the open sea.

One of my selves counts Time in gains and the other in pleasures rare; One of them sees but the task to do and the burden he must bear. The other one stands to the summer breeze and hears its song in the swaying trees. The sound of a brook or a linnets' call Or a sense of beauty holds him in thrall. And I never know when I start away Which of the two I shall be that day.

For early spring the dark silk frock has no rival. It may be made of Canton crepe, crepe de chine, fancy tricolette or taffeta.

"I was troubled with eczema on my hands and body. It broke out in a red rash and later formed sore eruptions containing water. The itching and burning were terrible. I did and found they helped me, and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Mrs. Russell Henderson, Sand Point, Nova Scotia.

Bennett and Better Times is coming.

Two weeks from to-day and the country's decision will be made.

Kilbride could not be bought by Dr. Campbell's promises.

Mr. Howlett won't rig up any more messages for the Advocate and Mail.

Will Squires invite Bennett, Hickman and Archibald to his meeting in Mr. Grace?

What about his promised visit to Ferryland and Placentia districts?

The glorious news from the Northern districts is too much for the Advocate.

The whole country is out for Bennett and Better Times.

Now look out for the West Coast districts.

Higgins good news of the increase of wages to the Bell Island miners is a sign of the good times coming.

Revop' is a poor imitator, his spasm in the Advocate is intended for the funny column.

Bounty on fish paid by the Bennett

Government direct to the fishermen is the business way of doing things.

A better Humber Deal, better conditions and pay on Bell Island are all contained in the policy of the Bennett Government.

Would You Do.A Plain Question for Everybody
Just Now.

To every elector who intends to cast his vote this day fortnight we would ask a simple question. It is this: What would you do if a man came to you four years ago and promised you that if you would help him out he would make this country an earthly paradise, reduce taxation, increase employment, make everybody else prosperous, and do away with all the ills from which a community could suffer?

You would most assuredly vote for him.

Of course you would. But if, instead of making this country an earthly paradise he brought about the ruin of the country, impoverished its people, destroyed its industries and left everything flat on its back, what would you do with him then?

You would regard him as a public enemy accordingly, wouldn't you?

You would close your ears against him. You would avoid him as a man who had been false to his pledges and his principles.

But if he came to you again now and asked you to forget all about what happened four years ago and to support him again because he was now going to bring about a new industry that would again make the country an earthly paradise and a place where everybody might rejoice to live in, what would you think of him then?

You would think he was either a fool or a rogue or that he supposed you were one.

That is the position to-day exactly. Four years ago Squires came before this country with a Manifesto in which he promised, if elected, to bring about a lot of reforms which would make this country an earthly paradise and its people much more prosperous than ever before.

Instead of doing that he allowed himself, because of the hold which Coaker had on him, to embark upon a policy which ruined the country, impoverished the fishermen, crippled the merchants, and brought down the whole business fabric.

To-day he is asking you to forget all about these things and to give him another term of office because he says he is going to put through a Humber Deal which this time, without fail, is going to assure the prosperity of the country and its people beyond any question.

It is up to each and every one of you, the voters who will go to the polling places this day fortnight, to decide whether you will allow yourselves to be swayed by Squires' talk and promises into giving him another four years of place and pay, or whether you will elect men like Bennett and his supporters who in the past have shown how they could promote the prosperity of the country and who give you their promise that they will do all that is humanly possible to bring about a return to these conditions again.

The issue is in your own hands. If you can have any confidence in Squires after the way he deceived you four years ago, then vote for him, but if you have no confidence in him, as we believe you can not have confidence in him, then vote for Obituary.

MR. S. S. STENSTADT.

(H. F. SHORTIS)

This morning Superintendent Saunders of the Anglo-American Telegraph Co., received a message from Mr. Transfield, Heart's Content, announcing the sad news that S. S. Stenstادت had passed from amongst us.

Seymour Stenstادت was born in Brigue on the 22nd January, 1853, and received his early education in that town. About 1866, he entered the Grammar School at Harbor Grace, and remained there, under the tuition of that born teacher of youth—John I. Roddick, for three years.

In 1868 Mr. Stenstادت served his apprenticeship in the office of the old New York, Newfoundland and London Telegraph Company (as it was then), of which the late Mr. Benjamin Gardiner was in charge. It was easy to perceive that Seymour Stenstادت had chosen the profession for which he was admirably adapted, and in a few years, he became one of the most expert telegraphers on this side of the Atlantic. About 1873 he was appointed on the staff of the Cable City (Heart's Content), and quickly rose to be recognized by all as one of the leading operators, and his name was as well known over Canada and United States amongst the telegraphers as it was in our own country.

Previous to his retirement, which occurred about five years ago, he held the responsible position of clerk in charge in the office at Heart's Content. His was a quiet unaffected personality of real kindness which won the affection of all with whom he came into connection. Upright, calm, self-confident he had forged straight ahead, battled steadily along the upward path until he had arrived at the summit of success in his profession.

His loss will be the more felt by those who were in the habit of enjoying his society, combining as he did the utmost reach of thought which he brought to his consideration with a disposition no less amiable than benevolent. He filled the important offices in his profession with success, winning the sincerest regard of all by his ability, dutifulness and integrity. Thus he passed from amongst us one of the few remaining telegraphers of the days of the old New York, Newfoundland and London Telegraph Co., and there now remain but two or three others in Newfoundland, viz. James Hagen of St. Pierre and myself, at least all I can think of at present. The deceased leaves a widow (nee Miss Hopkins), several children, amongst whom are Dr. Stenstادت of Carbonear and Mrs. Sandy Diamond of St. John's, also several grandchildren and hosts of friends to whom the Telegram extends its sympathy in their bereavement.

Sealing News.

TOTAL CATCH IN VICINITY 100,000.

The sealing outlook to-date can be considered fairly encouraging considering the number of ships that prosecuted the Seal Fishery this spring. From the present indications it looks as if the total catch will be in the vicinity of 100,000 seals, which compares very favourably with the total catch as recorded the past two years. The voyage is now drawing to a close, and with five ships in port, and the arrival of the S. S. Terra Nova which is expected hourly, only two ships are now out. The Ranger on the Northern front, and the Viking in the Gulf. The following messages were received this morning:

BOWING BROS., LTD.
Ranger, (10 a.m.)—Blowing a gale from E.S.E., burnt down to save coal. Will await favorable opportunity to use cartridges to best advantage.

Viking, (10 a.m.)—Position practically the same, thick fog, large sheets, difficult to get through. Ice tight to-day. At 8 a.m. passed through occasional lakes of water, making progress easy.

The following is the catch to-date:

Sagana (landed)	11,882
Eagle (landed)	10,761
Seal (in port)	11,229
Thetis (in port)	15,600
Terra Nova	15,000
Ranger	11,860
Viking	6,800
Total	99,023

The Story of the Twenty-Ninth

(BY LIEUT.-COL. T. NANGLE, C.F.)

(By Lieut.-Col. T. Nangle, C.F.)
During the war it was constantly remarked that the "Twenty-Ninth" possessed a "Unity" or "Divisional Spirit" unequalled by any other formation; a spirit that was constantly fostered by those in command from General to "Sub." This esprit de corps was always apparent but in action it became the very soul of the Division and its greatest fighting asset. Ours was the first to wear the Divisional sign and the only one entitled to its own "Badge of Honor."

Some years have elapsed since the Armistice but the Twenty-Ninth lives in its organized Association. At first this included in its membership only a small proportion of those who served in the Division. Now local branches have been formed in various centres in the United Kingdom and in other parts of the Empire. These local branches have their own Honorary Secretaries who deal with all branch details and funds, arrange entertainments, etc., but are linked together by the Honorary Secretary of the Association. In short there is now a Parent "Twenty-Ninth" Association with London as its headquarters and many independent "Twenty-Ninth" Associations with local by-laws. Twice a year the Committee of the Association meets in London and any decisions arrived at are referred to the general meeting at the bi-annual dinner and are ratified by a show of hands. On the 30th November it was decided that as the historian appointed to write the history of the Division had been prevented by ill-health from doing so, the work was to be taken out of his hands. General de Lisle, who commanded the "Twenty-Ninth" for nearly three years offered to write the accounts of that period of his command provided Generals Hunter Weston and Cayley would assist to the extent of the period which each commanded the Division. This proposal was received with enthusiasm, more so, as it was definitely stated that this work is to be a human document and not a military history. It will have as its title "The Story of the Twenty-Ninth," and will contain just a bare outline of historical events into which framework will be inserted stories of brave deeds and other items of interest which should not be allowed to pass into the regions beyond recall. "The Story of the Twenty-Ninth" if it fulfills its objects should be a book of intense interest to all connected with the Division as well as to the general public, and one that can be given boys of the next generation as an example to show how the sons of our great Empire defended its liberty in the great World War. This result, to which the Authors aspire, can only be reached if all ranks and all units send in detailed stories of brave deeds which should never be forgotten. Stories of V.C.'s are now recorded in detail but those of D.S.O.'s, M.C.'s, D.C.M.'s, M.M.'s and the innumerable brave acts that were never reported or rewarded are the stories that are required. I understand the official Regimental History is now being written under a contract made by Mr. John R. Bennett, sometime Minister of Militia, with one F. A. MacKenzie who, I understand is now residing in Moscow where he is writing the history. Mr. MacKenzie had afterwards tea at Headquarters Mess on two occasions during the war. I feel sure the outcome of his labors will be of great interest to the First Battalion, and also will be of great historical value; but we, as members of the Regiment owe it to our Dead Comrades and to Newfoundland that the honored place we held in the most famous of British Divisions should not pass into oblivion. But besides our own history we must also have our place in the "Story of the Twenty-Ninth." Only those who were through the mill know the price we paid and we owe it to posterity that that price should be recorded. There are hundreds of stories connected with the Regiment which should be recorded and it is the duty of those who know them to pass them along to me. Those stories fall into two classes:

- (a) Deeds of heroism and gallantry.
- (b) Tales of wit and humor.

I now make an appeal to all ex-soldiers to send me short stories of their own adventures or of the gallant deeds of others which they witnessed; also items that appealed to their sense of humor. During the past four years I have collected a mass of material from War Office Records, from notes of General Officers Commanding, newspaper files, and contemporary war histories. But to make our history and the story of the Twenty-Ninth a success it is absolutely necessary to have that personal touch which will make the reader feel that he is reading the story of red blooded men, not the manœuvring of pawns in the huge game of war. If you are a busy man and have not time to write please drop into the G.W.V.A. office and your story will be taken and edited.

Hurrah for Kilbride!

Cashin, Linegar and Hunt Receive a Hearty Welcome --- Will Add to the Big Majority that Will Down Coakerism on Polling Day.

The demonstration given Messrs. Cashin, Linegar and Hunt, by the people of Kilbride last night, was the most remarkable ever given in this settlement to any candidates. Practically every voter in the village turned out besides many from the Topsail Road and surrounding sections. The candidates were first met at Waterford Bridge by this great assembly and in a torchlight procession all marched to the Kilbride Club House, a mile further along the road. Along the route the houses were all illuminated whilst bonfires blazed on the hillside. The demonstration was unique. On reaching the place of meeting, the candidates were escorted to the platform amidst enthusiastic cheering. On motion of Mr. P. Dooling, Mr. Sam Walsh was appointed Chairman. Mr. Walsh thanked the audience, and in a short speech outlined the object for which the meeting was called. The Chairman then called on Sir Michael Cashin.

A "SPECIAL ELECTION" DODGE.

Sir Michael was given a right royal welcome and in his opening remarks noted that it was now thirty years since he first had the pleasure of addressing a meeting of voters at Kilbride. Lord Morris was a candidate at that time and the Chairman was the late Andrew MacDonald of revered memory. Sir Michael referring to the Squire's Manifesto of unfulfilled promises said, to-day he has no Manifesto and is going to the country on his "special election" without a policy, and nothing to offer but a Humber Deal, that is kept in secret. Sir Michael referred to the challenge he made to Squires to come out, and to, but which has not been answered to date. Sir Michael dealt at some length on the carnival of squandering that has dominated the present Government, throughout their three and a half years of office. He spoke of the matter in which taxation had been doubled, the loss on our railway of five and a half millions, the useless expenditure on roads that were never used such as at Badger and Deer Lake, the salt, fish and sugar scandals, and the numerous other scandals that are the only records of the Squire's Administration. Reference was made to the unemployment and emigration that is so rampant in our country. Sir Michael dealt with the fishery regulations which caused so much ruin and destruction. Mr. V. B. Bennett in his Manifesto given to the country last week, told this story of the bungling and incompetence of the Government. He, Sir Michael, was backing Bennett's Manifesto, because it was an honest and straightforward attempt to rescue Newfoundland and he felt that there could be only one verdict, after weighing both sides of the story and that was to vote the straight ticket for the Bennett candidates, Cashin, Linegar and Hunt.

LABOR CANDIDATE ON THE GOVERNMENT'S DUTY.

Mr. Linegar was given a big ovation. He made many friends in Kilbride in 1919 and 1920. In a short speech he spoke of the conditions of to-day, brought about by the negligence of the Government. The duty of the Government to-day was to come out and give their story of what they have done in three and a half years, and on that record they must be prepared to stand or fall. When they visited Kilbride in 1919 they did not tell the people they were out to line their own pockets at the expense of the taxpayers, but they doubted and trebled their salaries no sooner were they elected. Mr. Linegar spoke of the Bennett Manifesto and the men in the party who were fully capable of carrying out their duties in a business like manner, and he was convinced that by the return of the Bennett party could Newfoundland be rescued.

WHAT THE SPECIAL ELECTION IS COSTING.

Mr. Hunt, while this was his first visit to Kilbride in a political capacity, was known to all and received a warm and enthusiastic welcome. He dealt at some length with many phases of the Squire's Administration of the past three and a half years; he paid particular attention to the 23 promises that yet remain to be fulfilled. The Government now come to the country and have the face to ask the intelligent elector to vote for a Humber Deal, that only Campbell and Squires are supposed to know anything about. Not one man in Kilbride to-day could say he was better off than in 1919, owing to the manner in which our revenue has been handled and taxation increased. This election is costing over $500,000 squandered to return if possible an incapable Government, who had proven worthless when on trial. Mr. Hunt referred to the Menace of Coakerism, to which was due much of our ill, and he called upon the voters of Kilbride to rise in their might and put down this menace once and for all. If you vote for Squires you vote for Coaker, and Coaker means ruin and madcap schemes. In conclusion the speaker appealed for the straight ticket for Cashin, Linegar and Hunt. Before the meeting adjourned Sir M. P. Cashin proposed a vote of thanks to the Chairman which was unanimously carried and after hearty cheers for Bennett and Better Times, Sir Michael Cashin and colleague, the meeting concluded with the National Anthem. Kilbride will give Cashin, Linegar and Hunt a ninety per cent. vote on polling day.

Girls Guide Movement.

ENJOYABLE EVENING SPENT AT COLLEGE HALL.

A large audience attended the Girl Guide's display in the Methodist College Hall last night. Promptly at 8 p.m. the Third St. John's Company Girl Guides paraded for roll call and salutation of the flag. Lady Allard yes, the Island Commissioner accepted enrollees. A short address followed, in which Lady Allard outlined the ideals and principles of the Girl Guide Movement. The address was listened to with rapt attention and created a profound impression on its hearers. Several scout games were indulged in as well as exhibitions of ceremonies in connection with Guide Life, and a short concert was given by the young people. A sketch "Kingfishers to the rescue" was admirably portrayed by Misses Wilson, Robertson, Bennett, Soper (2) and the Kingfisher patrol. Folk dances were also pleasingly done and the entire entertainment was a great success. The accompanists were Miss H. Oats, L.T.C.L. and Mr. Gordon Christian, L.R.A.M. The affair concluded about 10 o'clock with the singing of the National Anthem.

L. O. A. Convention.

The Grand Lodge expressed its pleasure of the fact that the initial stages of the National War Memorial were nearing completion.

The Grand Lodge impressed upon its members and the Primary Lodges throughout the Colony the necessity of giving both their moral and financial support to the Permanent Marine Disaster Fund and the Out-Port Nursing Committee, also their duty as Orangemen to provide for the Education and welfare of deceased members' children.

On resolution votes of thanks were extended to the A.N.D. Co. and the citizens of Grand Falls for facilitating the progress of the Session and the many acts of courtesy extended. The election of Officers was conducted by R. W. Bro. Rev. J. W. Winsor and resulted as follows:—

NATIONAL ANTHEM.

On Sunday morning at 11 o'clock the Grand Lodge accompanied by the Young Britons and the Ladies Orange Benevolent Society attended Divine Service at Holy Trinity Church, which was filled to overflowing. No effort had been spared by the officials in arranging for the service. The Order of Morning Prayer was gone through, the Lessons for the day being the 4th chapter of Joshua and the 6th chapter of St. Paul's Epistle to the Ephesians, the special psalm being the 87th and the 122nd, and the hymns "Onward Christian Soldiers," "Oh, God of Jacob, by whose hand," and "As with gladness men of old." The Choir rendered the anthem "Hear ye prayer" with Mrs. Campbell as solist. The Rector, Rev. T. E. Loder delivered an eloquent and inspiring address taking as his text the 32nd verse of the 14th chapter of Isaiah, "What shall one then, answer the messengers of the nation? That the Lord hath founded Zion, and the poor of his people shall trust in it." The service closed with the Benediction and the National Anthem. On returning to the Hall a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the Rector, Organist, Choir and Church Officials.

Policy vs. Misrepresentation.

We are unable to remember any election where the truth was prostituted like that of 1923. The messages which appear in the Advocate are a mixture of lies and half-truths, with a modicum of truth difficult to find. The Humber project is bolstered up with lies and the plans to get the Government on a Humber issue are laid a la machavello. We have yet to see or hear a straightforward article on the Humber contract. Do we wonder at so much scepticism expressed? The latest dodge to turn Bonavista Bay from the Opposition is to announce Moore's candidature as emanating from Morice. What utter drivel! The article in question is unrefuted evidence of the panicky fear that obsesses the Government editorial organs. We have only three weeks more to get the truth. To Squires and Coaker truth is the unattainable, and the people know it. Misrepresentation is serving its purpose to-day and turning hundreds of voters to the ridiculous merchants' party. May 3rd will speed along quickly, but far more quickly will May 3rd speed the incompetents—Squires and Coaker—into the limbo of oblivion.

The famous London Tiller troupe of ballet dancers known as the "Palace Girls," appear in their novel dances in the big cabaret scene of "The Mystery Road," a Paramount picture featuring David Powell, which will be shown at the Majestic theatre to-day. This picture was produced by Paul Powell in the Paramount studio in London, and on the Riviera in southern France, and from every standpoint it is said to be one of the best shown to the American public in many months.

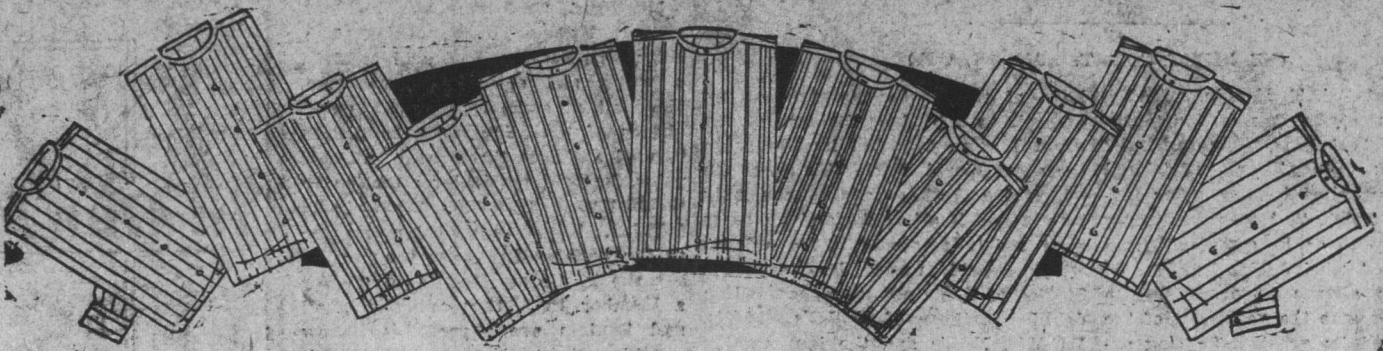

The Tiller troupe of dancers long have been reigning favorites on the London stage. They support Phyllis Bedells, said to be the finest dancer in Europe, in a number of different terpsichorean feats. The dancing takes place in one of the most elaborate sets ever staged in any picture. It is here where Gerald Doherty, a young Englishman, portrayed by David Powell, meets Vera Lypasht, an adventuress after many years separation and his infatuation for her leads to dramatic events of extraordinary interest.

The principal supporting players include Nadja Ostrowska, Mary Glynn, Percy Standing, Pardoe Woodman, Lewis Gilbert, Irene Tripod and others.

An "Irish Stew."

The comedy now under rehearsal called "An Irish Stew" promises to be one of the best pieces ever produced in the city. The plot, whilst being very funny, is without a doubt a very clever one dealing with one Dennis Hogan having had to die in order to get two hundred dollars owed him by a close friend Irishman named Tim Toolin. Mr. Ned Peters takes the very funny part of Hogan, while Mr. Fred Francis takes that of Toolin. Mr. Alex. Carter will convulse the audience as a coon undertaker, and his antics with Mr. Peters as Messrs. Gallagher and Sheehan singing local verses will be worth the admission in itself. The show has been postponed till April 23rd. Secure your tickets early and don't be disappointed.

A BIT OF TYPICAL LONDON CONVERSATION.

Filled With Thrills

IS WILLIAM S. HART'S LATEST PHOTOPLAY "THREE WORD BRAND."

Filled with red blood action and thrills galore, is William S. Hart's latest Paramount picture production, "Three Word Brand," which will be the feature at the Star Theatre for today. The scenes of the story are laid in the far west in the days when the pioneer settlers had to hack their paths through droves of hostile Indians, and in the action, Mr. Hart plays three roles—that of his pioneer father, a rancher and the governor of the state, the two latter being twin brothers.

Following their escape from the Indians, the two boys are rescued and separated, so that they are ignorant of each other's existence. One is known as "Three Word Brand" is a rancher who fights the plot of political schemers to ruin the settlers of Trego Valley for their private gain. The other twin is the brother and when the former sees him in a saloon and recognizes his double, he impersonates the governor for a day and foils the schemes of the politicians. This is not, however, accomplished without dramatic events of the most thrilling type. Jane Novak is the leading woman and she heads a splendid supporting cast of players.

Played With Devil's Fire.

"I admit, with my honorable friend (Sir P. T. McGrath) that we are playing with the Devil's Fire, but our choice was having no railroad or securing this money (last loan $1,500,000) to help patch it up. "I have no doubt that while we are here voting this money they (Reids) are setting traps to catch us but we are doing our best." The above is taken from Dr. Campbell's speech in the Legislative Council in favor of Mr. Coaker's Railway Commission of 1920.

The Doctor no doubt scented a trap, but the Government fell into it all the same and the country has had to pay millions of dollars since for the error.

A Crying Shame.

Day after day we are in receipt of complaints re the charges at the General Hospital. It was an outrageous scandal to tax so severely poor people who are compelled to come from the outports to receive treatment at this institution. There are at present hundreds seeking admission and many of them dread the ordeal of the red tapism that is so much in evidence. It is only right and proper that those who can well afford to pay for private rooms and attendance should pay for same, but the great number who are lying in cots in the various dormitories should not be forced to raise enough of money to pay into an institution that is owned and sustained by the people all over the Colony. The tax of one dollar per day, not including extras, is a very severe one. It costs the Government several thousands of dollars yearly to collect this tax from the patients and the only advantage thus derived is the payment of salaries, official staff and equipment and similar expenses which came into being since the Government decided upon this method to increase the revenue.

Fads and Fashions.

The short cape-back is especially good this spring. Very often the cape stops at the waist-line or is looped in. Red and white checked flannel makes the smart apron tunic of a frock, of red and white striped flannel.

Bead decoration is good for evening, and crepe back satin is used for both afternoon and evening gowns. It is predicted that flamingo cloth will be featured for fall, and that many interpretations will include cut velours.

The summer will call forth many white and red hats, and hats using the two colors in combination. The side streamer is an important feature.

"RIM LAC"
