Tangier, May 17.—Advices received here from Fez say that the Sultan received Count Von Tattenback-Ashold, the head of the German mission, the second day before the arrival of the mission. This unusual haste was intended as a mark of deference to the mission. The count, in his speech, alluded to the ties of friendship between Germany and Morocco, and declared he was sent to greet the Sultan as an independent sovereign of a free country. The Sultan, in reply, expressed the hope that he would see the friendship which took root under his forefathers blossom under his reign. No business matters were discussed.

In fact Catholic peasants is abolished. In fact the measures sanctioned amount to an entire reversal of the Russian policy in ancient Poland and the Baltic provinces. It is pointed out that in order to avoid delay in the matter of the introduction of the policy and Lithuanian languages, the Emperor will cause specifically formulation of the necessary regulations and laws within six months. These measures, it is understood, will be followed by the introduction of local self-government through the Zemstvo system.

The Jewish Question.

The committee of ministers has gone no further with the Jewish question than to grant freedom of residence of the artisan classes. The question of its entirety is of such great importance that it has been decided to resort to the coming general assembly.

The Emperor's action has produced a splendid impression among the reform elements, which are expressing the highest satisfaction. As the announcement was not published in the official gazette until this morning, however, the newspapers contain no comment. A prominent liberal who is especially interested in the Polish question, declared the latest rescript, together with the rescript of religious toleration, would go far towards settling the most burning political problems of the Baltic provinces and produce an era of better feeling than had prevailed in Poland for half a century. He further declared that, contrary to wide opinion, the Polish population, as a whole, was not revolutionary. The Poles realized that their political good or ill was bound up in that of the empire and they would make the best of it.

"I put in nearly a year of ardous end patient work, and after I had accomplished the purpose of my retainer and secured my client's discharge from custody my hands were cleared. I am through with the Nan Patterson case. That can not be put too plainly."

Judge Davis Speaks

Somewhat to the astonishment of those present at the monthly dinner last night of the Phi Delta Phi Chib, an organization of lawyers, Justice Vernon M. Davis, of the supreme court of the state of New York, who was the guest of honor, gave his opinion as to the guilt of Nan Patterson, while making an argument in defence of Assistant District Attorney Mand, who had prosecuted the young woman at her three trials for the murder of Caesar Young.

Justice Davis, who presided at the first two trials of the former chorus girl, said that she had lied from beginning to end, and it was his opinion that the majority of the community now believed that Miss Patterson held the pistol by which Young was shot; that J. Morgan Smith bought the weapon and gave it to her, charging her at the same time with the duty of "scaring" Young.

New York, May 17.—The big Cunarder Caronia is tonight still fast on Flynn's Kuoll, off Sandy Hook, on which she grounded while making her way out to sea in the thick fog of Tuesday afternoon. When high tide served this afternoon, six powerful tugs and a steam pilot boat strained and pulled at many hawsers and the big ship turned her own screws in an effort to slide her bow from the mud. When the tide was at its height the Caronia's stern was swung around quite a distance, and the tug men say she was also moved slightly nearer the channel, but all efforts to entirely free her failed, and with darkness and a falling tide the helping vessels suspended operations. The Cunard agents express confidence in being able to free the ship with high water tomorrow morning, but today's tide was said by watermen to be unusually high. It is reported that if she does not float tomorrow a portion of the cargo in the forward hald will be lightered. New York, May 17 .- The big Cun-

"The Bible burning was the cause of a big scandal. Mass meetings were held and there was all sorts of trouble. The governor tried to hush things up, but couldn't, and as a result of the whole whips necessary thing the government called him to England on leave and forgot to send him back. Someone else was sent out to take Dominion his place."

There are, Dr. Shanks states, some 3,000 whites in the islands in government service or growing sugar. Many also are in the employ of the Colonial Sugar Refining Co., which operates extensively through the islands. Most of the workingmen are, the doctor states, Indians who have been brought over from India and bound out to the whites for periods of five years.

Nanaimo Swains Settle Love Tangle in Fistic Arena.

Nanaimo, B. C., May 15.—Robt. Watson is in the hospital with a broken jaw, the result of a fistic encounter with Jas. McEwen. It is alleged that the young men quarreled over a girl, which led up to Watson issuing a challenge to McEwen. Both men with seconds met near Chase river early yesterday morning, Watson being badly worsted. His jaw is broken in three places and he has other injuries which will confine him to the hospital for six weeks.

J. Teague was taken to the hospital this morning suffering from severe bruises received in a raunway that ended in a buggy and three men going over the side of the Qualicum bridge. On Saturday night S. Davis, J. Teague and Frank Williams left Cumberland in a buggy for Nanaimo, but when near the Qualicum river the horse ran away, and in the darkness the vehicle with its fecupans went over the side of the bridge, falling a distance of 30 feet. Demands That the Government Compel Russia to Respect Neutrality.

No Alarm In London as to Outcome But Situation Appreciated.

Paris, May 16.—The Journal's Tokio correspondent cables as follows: "In the course of an interview, Count Okuma, formerly Japanese foreign minister, referring to the Kamranh bay and the Honkohe incidents, stated that the presence of the warships in Indo-Chinese waters created a disquieting situation. It was only the remembrance of their long friendship with France which restrained the Japanese from proceeding to extreme was only the remembrance of their long friendship with France which restrained the Japanese from proceeding to extreme measures. The government was endeavoring not to embitter the situation. It was necessary, however, to adopt a definite attitude. The Japanese thoroughly understood French obligations towards their Russian ally, but the present circumstances were not affected by considerations of European politics.

"Concerning peace, Count Okuma deglared that Japan would neither demand a cessation of hostilities nor consider any proposition leaving Russia an opportunity for future vengeance. Japan must become the arbiter of the Far East."

No alarm is felt in government circles here that Japan will permit her protests to go so far as to produce a rupture of peace, but it is fully recognized that Japan has the power to bring her ally into conflict by a hostile act. Therefore, the British government, the Associated Press understands, is using every effort to keep the Japanese cool, and at the same time urging upon France the neces-

Dr. Shanks was in the islands when the religious agitation started there twand a half years ago, and tells of the burning of the Lutheran Bibles in one of the provinces, an incident that eventually resulted in the recall of Governor Jackson by the British authorities.

"The first missionaries who entered the country were Lutherans," said Dr. Shanks, "and when the islands came under British rule there were, invariably, Protestant governors until Jackson was appointed.

"One of the chiefs of the district had an idea that he wanted to extend his power. He was a Lutheran, and his friends told him that the governor would never consent to give him more influence on account of his religion. St. Petersburg, May 15.—A naval action within a few days is regarded as likely in well-informed circles. The Associated Press learns that Admiral Rojestvensky and Rear Admiral Nebogatoff joined forces May 10. There is reason to believe that the united fleet will proceed northward im-mediately. The premier appealed to the patriotism of the deputies to refrain from accusations affecting the good faith of the country, pointing out that a debate on the subject would not be advantageous and might lead to embarrassments.

M. Vaillant asserted amid an aproar that the government's orders to observe neutrality were not executed. He added: "Neither does the Russian fleet respect our neutrality, and it is necessary to show our impartial neutrality by acts instead of words."

M. Depressense declared that the council today by three city attorneys that the action of that body in extending the gas franchise of the Montredl Heat, Light and Power Co. by simple resolution instead of by bylaw, as provided for in the city charter, the council today by a vote of twenty to fifteen, voted to over-ride the may or's veto with the consequence that the company gets its franchise extended uniter into the courts. Mr. Hyman Will Not Likely Be Sworn In for Some Time.

From Our Own Correspondent. From the carpenter shop Robinson, mounting his bicycle and carrying his rifle, rode several blocks through the business section of the town to the house of W. H. Doddridge, revenue collection, and rang the bell. Harry Doddridge, a son of the collector and an engineer at the San Diego brewery, opened the door. It is clear, however, that the government is not ready ever, that the government is not ready yet to open the constituency of London.

Fitzpatrick's Statement. This afternoon Hon. Mr. Fitzpatrick read to the House a carefully prepared statement as to the reasons which induced the government to modify the famous clause No. 16. This explanation

r ish North America Act would have applied automatically to the new provinces, or, in other words, that this section of Canada's constitution would have confirmed to the Roman Catholics of Alberta and Saskatchewan the same educational rights which they now possess under the Territorial government. Such an opinion coming from the highest legal functionary in Canada is indirectly a severe rebuke to those of his colleagues who insisted upon an educational clause going into the bill. With the new clause, however, taking the place of section 93, the question is where will the new provinces stand. From the mass of verblage surrounding the onition of the mintere of incidents. ish North America Act would have apthe opinion of the minister of justice this much is clear, viz.: That the gov ernment proposal is to ensure the en-joyment by the Roman Catholic min-ority of the new provinces of the rights specified by the Northwest school ordi-nance, 29 and 30. In order to excuse the course of the government in infringing upon the provincial right to deal with its educational matters, Hon. Mr. Fitzpatrick was careful to preface his opinion with a repetition of his claim that there is not a single province in the Dominion which enjoys the exclusive right to deal with education. Discussion upon the subject was nestured to sion upon the subject was postponed to give the opposition a chance to study Mr. Fitzpatrick's statement. The actual rights which the minister claims will be ensured by the amended clause 16 are the right to establish separate schools (common to Cathelica and 16 are the right to establish separate schools (common to Catholics and Protestants), the right to have half an hour of religious exercise at the conclusion of school work (common to Catholics and Protestants, public and separate schools), the option for Catholics to use first and second Catholic readers, and the right to elect trustees who will choose their teachers.

Would Not Withhold Good Offices.

London, May 16.—Sir Henry Mortimer Durand, British ambassador to the United States, will sail for New York May 20. He has been a frequent visitor at the foreign office, but he said to a representative of the Associated Press today that his interviews were solely on matters of small detail connected with official work.

"As to the peace rumors," said he, "so far as I know there is no indication that either Russia or Japan intend to ask for good offices. Of course it is known that President Roosevelt, while not having the least desire to assume the role of mediator, will not refuse to help in bringing about peace if asked to do so by both belligerents."

Additional Copper Wire to Be Strung Between Vancouver and Winnipeg.

Mr. B. S. Jenkins, general superintendent of the Canadian Pacific Te.egraphs, between Port Arthur and the Pacific Coast, with headquarters at Winnipeg, is in the city. "Because of increased business we are stringing another copper wire between Winnipeg and Vancouver," Mr. Jenkins stated in an interview. "There are two at present, and when the new one is ready in a couple of months the company will then be in a better position to take care of the business. The necessity of another through wire is an indication of the growth of the coast districts, and business will be facilitated considerably. The wire will be worked through Calgary, where there will be an automatic reptating station."

In the middle west, the company is following up development, installing additional wires in the older portions, and extending the telegraph service to the sections which are being newly settled. Each year for several years past additional wires have been strung. Another wire has been installed in the Crow's Nest, connecting East and West Kootenay and Alberta, and another between Craubrook and Calgary. This will be the district Mr. Jenkins will inspect on his return trip.

On the way West, in company with Mr. James Wilson, superintendent at Vancouver, who went up the line to meet him, he went down through the Okanagan. At present there is a government line between Kelowna and Vernon, which is used by both telephone and telegraph, and it is not improbable that this may be extended to Penticton.

"Two heavy copper wires are being placed between Winnipeg and Minneapolis," said Mr. Jenkins, "and by the new direct 'Soo' line the company will have two alternate lines to Montreal. This will be convenient in the event of any interference with through telegraphic communication via the line on the north shore of Lake Superior. We have also a direct line via Chicago, connection being made with the postal system as Minneapolis.

Captain Muscroft is also among the dead; he was in the 1st Goorkhas and had seen much varied service. He was the hero of the following incident: A large party was crossing the River Websyiro, in upper India, which was in flood at the time and infested with crocodiles. The canoe in which the party was making the passage was upset, and Lieut. Muscroft, as he then was, twice entered the river, at great peril, and succeeded in saving two lives. For this act of gallantry he was awarded the bronze medal of the Royal Humane Society. Almost the whole native population of Dharmsola have been buried under their ruined homes; in the native quarter every house is level with the ground. Forty-eight per cent. of her total export finds an outlet through American instead of Canadian ports, and 90 per cent. of her grain export finds a market in Great Britain. These are significant facts. A project which is suggested by them is the proposed railway to Hudson Bay, to the navigability of which for a sufficiently long summer route considerable attention has been paid. The St. Lawrence route presents some difficulties to safe navigation. In summer, apart from the Hudson Bay, it is Canada's only outlet through her own territory. An air line east from the Northwest, there is a vast increase in the supply of grains, and Canada will in a few years be able to supply all the wheat and other cereal foods of that class required by Great Britain, entirely displacing the American products. As we have pointed out on several occasions recently, as compared with production, nothing will be left for export soon. Already two-thirds of the wheat supply there is consumed at home.

The more they get back from the Dominion in return for contributions to that quarter, the lighter will their Provincial imports be. If the process involves the exercise of greater economy on the part to the Dominion, so much the better for the people. The Dominion is building up immense surpluses year after year, which a so may made possible by the development in the Provinces largely at the expense of Provinceal administration. If the argument applies to the Provinces that the more money they have the more they will spend, it also applies with greater force, on the Gazette's own admission, to the Dominion. It should not, however, be a case for mutual recriminations. What has been done is done and past. The duty of the present is that each should do its duty by the other, and that neither.

the Provinces in the same salutary necessity of economizing? Is there any moral or financial tenet in the political code of our Montreal contemporary which should not apply equally to the Dominion with the Provinces?

The Gazette dwells upon the responsibilities which rest upon the Dominion. It forgets that the Provinces have also responsibilities from which they cannot escape. They have a series of services to provide for—education, public works, the administration of justice, the care of the indigent and the sick, the health of the people, and many others. These are inevitable, and constantly increasing with the increase of population. On the other hand their capital resources are constantly decreasing with the development of the country, involving more and more the hand of the Province is felt because it is direct, that of the Dominion, though much heavier, is not felt in the same way because its weight is indirectly applied.

Indignity to Senate

Chief Justice Taschereau, as deputy Governor General, visited the Senate this afternoon and gave the royal assent to a large batch of bills that had passed both houses. When the ceremony was over and the commoners had departed, Senator Landry drew attention to the fact that, contrary to precedent, strangers had been admitted to the floor of the House. His chief grievances was, however, that the dignity of the Senate had been ignored by Chief Justice Taschereau, who had, instead of notifying the House through the usual official channel, the Governor General's military secretary, sent notice of his coming to the Speaker by a page. He was further informed that Judge Taschereau had refused to proceed until the Speaker's chair was removed, and he could take his seat on the throne. Mr. Speaker confirmed the statement as to being informed of the deputy Governor General's coming by a page of the Senate.

TORPID LIVER INDIGESTION

Dr. Chase's

Kidney-Liver Pills Slow passage of the food through the intestines, where the most difficult part of digestion takes place, is the usual cause of indigestion.

As a result of this delay, the food ferments and the digestive organs are filled with gas, giving rise to such symptoms as beiching of wind, rising of sour taste in the mouth, smothering sensations in the chest, pains about the heart, heart palpitation, headache and digenage.

To overcome these distressing symptoms the liver must be awakened to action by the use of such a medicine as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pilis.

Once the liver is active there is a good flow of bile, which, as Nature's own cathartic, quickens the pace of the food through the intestines, removes the foul impurities, and restores good digestion and the regular action of the liver.

A consignment of new strike breakers arrived in Chicago today; three hundred white and colored men came from St. Louis, Louisville, Evansville and other river towns. Another large gang came from Cincinnat, consisting of white men entirely. Nearly a score of the white men deserted after they reached the city, declaring that they were not told that there was a strike here. The strike of school children who attended sessions in the forenon only.

Dr. Dornblueth favors a morning session of five hours, giving a resting pause of fifteen minutes at the end of each hour. He says that the afternoon hours should be given to play, outdoor exercise and physical training. The selfish motives of many parents in not wishing the children at home because they are bothersome and require supervision should not avail against a reform which is necessary and beneficial for the little ones. The doctor saggests the establishment of public retreats where the children who cannot be supervised at home may spend the afternoon hours in the care of one or more suitable adults.

A GREAT DISCOVERY AT THEBES.

H. Spender in Loudon Daily News. A few days before the diggers had been steadily shoveling away the chips, when suddenly a spade slid into a vacancy, and they looked through a hole vacancy, and they looked through a hole into darkness. Across the hole lay a staff with a gilt tip.

"Some one has been here before us," they said, "and left his stick."

The opening grew larger with a few more thrusts of the spade, and suddenly they found a sofa cushion crumpled and thrown down, as if in haste.

"They have left a cushion!" they cried.

But neither the stick nor the cushion.

But neither the stick nor the cushion had been thrown there by tourists.

They had been hurriedly cast aside by frightened robbers three thousand by frightened robbers three thousand years ago.

Nothing was touched except the gold and silver, all of which had been taken. The hole by which the robbers had escaped was blocked by chips thrown there from another tomb hewn out about 1000 B. C. The robbers therefore must have paid their visit before 1000 B. C., and they—these tired, excited, modern diggers—were the next visitors.

Since then no human foot had trodden within that vault.

What shrunk your woolens? Why did holes wear so soon? You used common soap.

FROM NORTHERN PORTS.

Steamers Tees and Venture Return From Naas and Northern Ports.

Steamers Tees and Venture arrived from Naas and way ports on Sunday, the latter returning from her first voyage since she was reconstructed. The steamer made a very creditable performance. Although both vessels had large numbers of passengers on the northbound trips, there were few arrivals by them. Travel is brisk north at present. On the Venture there were several prospective settlers in Bulkley valley district who had been in to the valley to spy out the land. Other passengers were T. A. Oliver and Ashdown Green from Kitimaat. Steamer Tees, on her northbound voyage, went to the head of Portland canal to land Mr. White-Fraser and his staff of surveyors who are to survey the Alaska boundary line, commencing at the southern borders of this province. There was a small complement of passengers on the southern trip. The cargo of the Tees included 224 cases of spring salmon put up on the Skeena river and a shipment of clams. News was brought from the Skeena that the steamer Mount Roya', which had made several successful trips on the Skeena, was waiting to connect with the steamer Princess Beatrice. due at the Skeena today, when the Mount Royal will start on her last trip up the river. The Venture will sail north again tomorrow. The Tees will sail north on Thursday evening.

TRAINMEN'S CONFERENCE.

Buffalo, May 16.—At today's session of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen it was announced that the committee on constitution was considering the question of selecting one city as a permanent meeting place for conventions. The committee on laws and legislation has taken up the various state laws relating to railroad men and the recommendations of the various lodges, and will report later. Insurance rates will be another matter to claim attention. There is some agitation in favor of higher rates, but this is being opposed by many delegates.

MARTHA DAVIS BURNED.

According to advices from Honolalu the American bark Martha Davis caught fire in Hilo harbor last Saturday night and was totally destroyed. The portion of her cargo consigned to Hilo had been mostly discharged, but that intended for the island plantations was lost. The origin of the fire is unknown. The bark Martha Davis was of 780 tons net capacity. She was commanded by Captain McLoen and was built at Boston in 1873. Her managing owners are Welch & Co., of San Francisco. She carried a cargo of general merchandise:

EASTERN COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS.

Naturally the Eastern commercial traveler does not like to be taxed for doing business in British Columbia. We are informed in an Ottawa despatch that there is not a single commercial man in the East who does not look upon it as "mean, narrow and unnational." It is a very unpleasant thing for British Columbia who has or had the reputation of being free and open-handed and broad minded to be called such names, and especially by Easterners who make their small change in pennies and halfpence. We are told that "while it may bring a little money to the Provincial Treasury, it would also have the effect of diminishing interprovincial trade, which is the best trade to cultivate and enlarge in any country."

We are glad now that the question has may country.

At the first sight of Khartum a sense of disappointment is felt, and one exclaims, "Is this the city for whom some of our best and bravest have dyed the desert sands with their blood?—for this did we lose Burnaby, Stewart, Earle, Gordon and his faithful Egyptians?" Was it to regain this crumbling collection of ruined houses, that Kitchener spent tweive of the best years of his life? No, it was to restore British prestige, our national credit—and more than that; it was to break for ever and a day the power of the Khalifa, that black tyrant who wallowed in lust and wanton cruelty, the the Khalifa, that black tyrant who wal-lowed in lust and wanton cruelty, the while he impiously ruled in the name of God—and the prophet. Khartum, when I last saw it, was a ruined city; but hallowed to the Anglo-Saxon race, as the scene of the murder of a gallant ruler, who, fearless and alone, did his duty—even until death.

the scene of the murder of a gallant ruler, who, fearless and alone, did his duty—even until death.

Let us land upon the broken quay and gaze round at the ecene of desolation and destruction. Upon the extreme right, looking towards the city, and facing us, are the ruins of what was once a church, and dedicated to Christian worship. Next, and on the same frontage, the offices of the health officer. Nearer still is the ruined post office. Nearer still is the ruined post office, where once were sorted the malis of the Khedive—a hive of industry. Next the Austrian consulate, which conjures up the name of brave Slatin Pasha, who, manacled but fearless, bore himself manfully for years, in spite of blows and ingults from the hordes of the Maddi. Government House comes next, once symbolic of the power of Egypt—now, alas, a ruin. Last of all, upon the extreme left of the quay, is Gordon's Palace; definite knowledge of his death we shall never have. Yet one may be permitted to conjure up a scene, in which one sees a brave man standing alone upon the topmest step, gazing fearlessly into the eyes of the black fiends surging upwards, thirsting for his blood.

Yet another soul-stirring scene was witnessed by those bloodstained steps, the memory of which scene will abdie with all who saw it until their eyes close in death. Imagine an open-space is bounded by troops, fresh from victory over the murderers of Gordon — British and Egyptiam. In the centre stands the victor at Atbara and Omdurman, surrounded by his gallant leaders, Hunter, Maedonald, Lewis, Collinson and others. In front of this gallant, the control of Gordon's Palace, That space is bounded by troops, fresh from victory over the murderers of Gordon — British and Egyptiam. "I am very lucky indeed, in being appointed to this army; pay and position are both good, and it is most interesting work. It is only five years since the whole country was in the hands of the Dervishes, and development is only just beginning to make headway. * * This station is on the bank of the Blue Nile, about 250 miles from the Abyssinian frontier, which we garrison with detachments from this batallion, the only one on the Blue Nile, so that we have plenty of chances of seeing the country during tours of inspection, which still bears traces of the Mahdi's occupation in the shape of ruined towns and villages. Only nine months ago occupation in the shape of ruined towns and villages. Only nine months ago this battalion went on an expedition against a tribe of raiders on the boundary, took and destroyed their villages, and captured the chief, after three days' fighting. Agriculturists are pushing on fast, though they will never do much without irrigation, and it is proposed to build a dam, as crops are absolutely dependent on the rains and a good Nile, which has been wanting for the last three or four years."

Ruined as it is, Khartum still bears traces of forgotten prosperity and powerer—for looking up the Blue Nile one can see, upon the right bank, the choked lines of Fort Burri; opposite which, upon the left bank, is the desolate North Fort. Again, at the opposite end of the city is Fort Mukran, surrounded by ancient gardens and irrigation works.

Two miles southward, in the centre of the old city wall is the site of Fort Kalakla. All these once teemed with military life and for months withstood the fanatical hordes of the Mahdd. For prosperity one can still trace the sites of stately homes once owned by Greeks, Armenians, Arabs and Europeans. One can see traces of a wide area of cultivation, fated to be stamped out by the indolent, warlike Baggara Arabs, who slew and spared not, in the name of God.

It is clear that the patronage system in its very worst form has been un-blushingly introduced into the admin-istration of the Yukon. This in itself is bad, but it becomes far worse when it is evident that one racial element ap-pears to have taken complete possession of every position of consequence under the government. It is clear that Canada the government. It is clear that Canad is paying for the support Quebec give to the present government by laying aside the civil service of a great terri aside the civil service of a great territory as the private property of a single race element of the Canadian population. Even in minor work such as construction of railway and telegraph lines, the road gangs are made up almost entirely of French-Canadians, sent all the way from Quebec and the Ottawa valley for the purpose. And it has come to be a saying in the Yukon that no English speaking man can get a position except us underling to a French-Canadian.

All this occurred under the administration of the late Minister of the Interior, and his appointee, F. T. Congdon, whose recent smashing defeat at the hands of the electorate revealed the sentiments of the Yukon towards the administration which for its own purposes had been misgoverning that territory.

Another matter of probably even greater present interest was the enactment by the Yukon Council three years ago of a Separate School Act. At the dictation of Judge Dugas and Girouard, this bill was given the necessary three readings in one afternoon, and received immediate sanction at Ottawa. As an instance of the usual discrimination it may be mentioned that shortly afterwards an ordinance was passed removing all teachers who had not Normal School qualifications. This, in a new and rough community, resulted in the discharge of all the Protestant teachers, but the nuns were allowed to remain on full salaries for a year.

This continual pandering to French-Canadian aggression and its resultant discrimination constitutes the great outstanding scandal of the Yukon Administration. The servile attitude of the ex-Minister of the Interior in blindily obeying the dictates of the French-Canadian heads of the Yukon civil service is equalled only with tory as the private property of a single race element of the Canadian popula-
