That Test Hole.—We have, so far, been alone in urging upon the Government the idea of sinking a test shaft in one of our recognized gold-bearing lands, in order to prove whether or not the gold mines of Nova Scotia contain a second pay-streak.

We agree with our contemporary in his opinion that an attempt should be made to prove whether deep mining would be considerable, but some risks must be taken, and if this second pay-streak is found to exist another great source of material wealth will be given to Nova Scotia.

Our contemporary is right in his opinion that an attempt should be made to prove whether deep mining would be considerable, but some risks must be taken, and if this second pay-streak is found to exist another great source of material wealth will be given to Nova Scotia.
