THE BETTING STILL FAVORS TOM LONGBOAT IN TODAY'S $10,000 MARATHON RACE

Thousands Take the Chance of a Drenching and Enter the Polo Grounds Where the World's Greatest Runners are to Compete

NEW YORK, April 8.—Showers are predicted for New York and vicinity today, but undaunted thousands began early preparations to journey northward to the National League ball park or polo grounds, where there will be held this afternoon the first professional Marathon race in history.

The first Marathon, it is recorded, occurred more than two thousand years ago, but surely no more sturdy runners ever completed its day's journey than the six who will struggle over the five-lap track for 26 miles and 385 yards here today.

There were intermittent showers last night, but the track has not been affected to any great extent and, even in the event of a terrific downpour, the race will be run and the thousands of spectators, soaked perhaps, will be on hand notwithstanding. Ten thousand dollars is the prize for which the runners will contend.

To the winner will go half of $5,000; to the second man, $2,500; to the third, $1,500, and to the fourth, $1,000. The contestants with the exception of St. Yves, the dark horse, from France, are well known here, having competed in Madison Square Garden and elsewhere.

The records made heretofore follow: Longboat—Madison Square, 2:48:35.5; Hayes—Madison Square, 2:48:35.5; Maloney—Rye to New York, 2:51:15.4; St. Yves—London, 2:51:15.4; (x) Alfrey—Shrubbs—Madison Square, 2:54:00.

(c) Made over Olympic Marathon course in special time trial. Longboat, Shrubbs and Alfrey, in existing records up to 22 miles in race with Longboat when the Englishman collapsed.

Hayes' time in Olympic Marathon was 2:55:18 2-5. One wager of $500 at even money was made at one of the uptown hotels that Longboat would defeat Shrubbs, while another bet of the same amount was made that Dorando would beat Longboat. A number of smaller wagers were wagered at 6 to 5 that Dorando would beat Shrubbs, while St. Yves also had few followers, his friends asking two to one that he will defeat Longboat, Shrubbs or Dorando. Hayes and Maloney were clearly the outsiders.

At the inquest to be held on Monday night on the death of the late Mrs. W. W. McLaughlin, whose burial certificate was not signed because of the fact that she had been attended by Dr. Spangler, it is understood that Dr. Spangler will be represented by E. P. Raymond and M. G. Todd.

Section 40 of the act to replace the present N. B. Medical Act, which was introduced in the Legislature yesterday, contains several clauses obviously aimed at Dr. Spangler. The most serious of them is the following:—'Whoever shall act as a person not registered or licensed under this act for hire, gain or hope of reward practice or profess to practice medicine or treat or attempt to cure or alleviate any ailment or infirmity physical or mental, in any manner whatsoever, unless under the advice or by the direction of a duly qualified practitioner, he shall be liable to a penalty of $30.00 for each and every offence.'

This section is so extreme that it would even prevent a chiropractor from practicing in the province. In protest against the proposed act a petition is being circulated and largely signed. Eleven copies are in circulation in this city and also in Chatham, Shediac and Moncton. In the latter place over 600 signatures have already been secured.

NEW ENGLAND MURDER MYSTERY REVEALED BY THE ARREST OF A MAN FROM ANTIGONISH, N. S.

Death of Annie Mullins Cleared—Her Body Was Found in a Sand Pit a Year Ago—Greek Barber Also Under Arrest—Both Have Confessed

BOSTON, Mass., April 8.—Weeping and moaning in horrible fear, Dionysios Spiropoulos, or James Mastin, as he is known, a Greek barber, and Peter Delorey, of Antigonish, N. S., charged with the murder of Annie Mullins, the Arlington domestic, lay in a cell in North Cambridge police station through the night. A station officer kept constant guard outside the cell door all night lest they should try to kill themselves. The guard kept a pocket flash lamp ready to show the slightest movement of the fear-ridden men. Though the prisoners were without weapons, or any other instrument of self destruction, it was feared they freely might drive them to suicide with bare hands.

Both prisoners were taken from the police station to Cambridge district court at 9 o'clock and arraigned before Judge Allyn on the murder charges. They were held without bail. They were hurried to Middlesex County Jail at East Cambridge and locked up under close surveillance. The arrest of these two men and the confession of Delorey satisfy the police that they have the solution of one of the greatest murder mysteries of New England. Delorey denies that he had anything to do directly with the death of Annie Mullins. He declares that after she had been dragged to the lonely field in Arlington, where her body was found, she was killed by Mastin, who cut her throat with a razor. Both men were arrested in Boston yesterday afternoon.

Spiropoulos collapsed when he was arrested. Although subjected to a merciless third degree he maintained his innocence. He was arrested at the North Station after he had been lured there by a decoy letter. He had been employed as a barber at No. 48 Spruce street, Manchester, N. H., since February. Delorey was arrested while at work in the Central Hotel, 121 Spruce street. He broke down when brought to the North Cambridge station and told in detail of how he and Spiropoulos had lured the girl to her death. (Continued on Page Eleven)

PUTNEY, April 8.—Tens of thousands hurried to the banks of the Thames between Putney and Mort Lake today for the sixty-sixth annual boat race between Oxford and Cambridge, an event which shares with the Derby the undying enthusiasm of the British sporting public. When there occurs that rare boon, a pleasant day here in early April, then the spectacle along the Thames is one of the rarest sights of the world and it changed that this morning dawned clear and sunny, although somewhat cold. With an absence of wind, however, conditions were favorable for rowing as well as for the comfort of the spectators.

The race was won by Oxford by three and one-half lengths after a tussle which for three-quarters of the course was one of the most stirring occasions seen on the Thames for many years. The time was 19 minutes and 50 seconds, but had the Oxonians been pressed at the finish they could have reduced this by a good many seconds. As far as Barnes bridge it was anybody's race, but at this point the Dark Blues told and with a magnificent dash R. C. Bourne, the Oxford stroke, sent his boat to the front and passed the post the easiest of winners. Cambridge won the toss and chose the Surrey side of the river, but in the absence of any wind the water was smooth and there was not much advantage in the selection of the side. At the crack of the pistol the Oxford stroke, Bourne, was the first to grip the water and for the first minute that win or lose he still would be remembered among the greatest oarsmen the English universities ever have produced. Before 10 o'clock in the morning the banks of the river from Putney bridge to the finishing post were thickly crowded. Excursion craft of all kinds lined both sides and the house tops and other points of vantage along the grand stands were filled rapidly. The early editions of the afternoon papers which are circulating everywhere are printed on blue paper. The female suffragists are taking advantage of the occasion for advertising purposes. They are sending up balloons emblazoned with the words, "Votes for women." The two crews aroused great enthusiasm about Putney when they emerged from the boat-house at 10 o'clock and made their practice pulls. Both were pronounced to be in perfect condition.

APPLE STEALING ON A COMMERCIAL BASIS

Swindler Induced Maine Farmers to Send Him Consignments of Fruit But Never Paid for Them

BOSTON, Mass., April 2.—Abandoning their agricultural pursuits for the time being, nearly two score of Maine apple-growers came to Boston today to testify in the case of Walter Mills, of Manchester, England, who was indicted by the grand jury on the charge of using the mails to defraud. All the farmers who came as witnesses had dealings with Mills or his agents during several years, in which it is claimed Mills fleeced them of much money by selling their apples and not making payment for them.

In the United States District Court today before Judge Dodge, District Attorney Mark Sullivan related the history of Mills' operations. It appeared that Mills, after severing connections with the house of John Mills and Company, of Manchester, England, for which he had been acting as agent, continued to do business on the reputation of that house. He appointed agents in several sections of Maine, instructing these men to make up cartloads of apples and send them to him in Boston, promising to pay higher than market prices for the fruit. It is said that Mills never reimbursed the farmers.

Several witnesses were heard during the afternoon, and a number of letters introduced relating to the dealings between Mills and his clients. It is expected that the case will not be closed for several days.

BASEBALL ENTHUSIASTS BUSY.
An agitation is on foot for the starting of an intermediate baseball league in the city. The teams willing to compete are High School, Currie's, Rothery, Carleton and Mimics. Within the course of the next few days a meeting will be held to ascertain the views on the matter of the representatives of the various organizations. Providing the league is perfected, a first quality of ball should be played, as there is some good material to be developed.
A meeting of the St. Rose, St. Peter, St. Josephs and St. John the Baptist organizations of the Inter-Society League will be held in Saint Peter's room tomorrow afternoon at 8:30 o'clock. The formation of the league will be completed and plans for the season discussed. Announcement was made this morning that the matches would again be played on the Shamrock grounds. It is probable that next week a gang of men will be put at work repairing the grounds. The fence will be made higher and efforts are being made to obstruct the view of the large numbers who congregate on the adjoining hills to witness the play.
The St. John amateur league will no doubt recognize and fast ball is expected.

A. J. DAWSON GUEST OF HALIFAX BOARD OF TRADE

HALIFAX, N. S., April 2.—A. J. Dawson, editor of the Standard, Empire, was the guest of the Board of Trade, at an informal luncheon yesterday. In an interview he said: "England does not say, or attempt to say that the overseas dominions should in any way contribute, with money or ships to the British navy. The present agitation in Australia, New Zealand and Canada toward the contribution of Dreadnaughts is, however, deeply appreciated by the people of Great Britain, as it shows that the true spirit of the Empire exists in these countries. It is generally recognized in England that the daughter nations should not be expected to contribute directly until they have some representation on the imperial defense committee, or until some scheme is devised which would give them some voice in the control of the institution to which they contribute." Mr. Dawson left for St. John tonight.

GRATEFUL FOR EZEMA CURE
Any Sufferer Can Write to Mrs. D. McGillivray, of Nanton, Alta., for Full Information.

There are undoubtedly many frauds in the testimonials of medical firms—letters written by friends of even employees of the advertiser. But, on the other hand, in some cases the testimonials are thoroughly genuine, gladly offered by prominent citizens, who are grateful for the cure.
Each case is that of Mrs. D. McGillivray, of Nanton, Alberta, who cured her two children with D. D. D., and is glad to tell others about it. She wrote on September 23rd last: "Your letter to hand of recent date, I must thank you for so kindly inquiring about my order and also the child. I am glad to say I received the three one dollar bottles of D. D. D. and two tubes of Soap safely, and am delighted with the result of both prescription and Soap. The Soap is all that is required to complete the treatment. The little boy of two years and a half is to all appearance cured of the dreadful Eczema.
"My baby girl at two months broke out with the same rash and I treated her with D. D. D. and am perfectly satisfied she is cured to our great joy. I feel sure it is a splendid remedy for all skin disease and can highly recommend it to any one suffering with skin trouble."
If any reader of this paper should write Miss McGillivray we request that a self-addressed stamp envelope be enclosed.

PLANNING TO COLLECT DEFICIT FROM SHAREHOLDERS

Bank of Montreal, Which Advanced Sixteen Millions to Ontario Bank, Takes Steps Towards Recovery.
TORONTO, April 3.—The mode of procedure in the Bank of Montreal suits collect from the shareholders of the Ontario Bank under the double liability clause was discussed today before George Kappelle, K.C., official referee for the Bank of Montreal, which did not collect the total of its claim in disposal of the Ontario Bank assets has come upon shareholders and the directors for as much of the balance as their liability allows. Some shareholders are resisting the claim under double clause and it was argued yesterday that before proceeding the Bank of Montreal should first make sure of the amount of the deficit, Wallace Nesbitt, K.C., for the Bank of Montreal, made some suggestions as to the procedure and the constitution of a test case and adjournment was made until Saturday next to give counsel an opportunity of considering them.

MURDERED HIS FATHER AND THEN RESUMED HIS SUPPER

Will Examine Mental Condition of Young Man Who Slabbed His Father Through the Heart.
NILES, Okla., April 2.—Richard Law, 21 years old murdered his father, Samuel Law, 65 years old, while the family was seated at the supper table in their home here tonight. The boy stabbed his father through the heart with a butcher knife. Law, senior, fell forward with his head on the table and died in his chair.
Apparently unconcerned about his deed the son calmly seated himself in a chair less than two feet from the body of his parent and resumed eating. His mother summoned the police. Law, junior, seemed surprised when placed under arrest and asked the police what reason they had for locking him up.
Mrs. Law says she believes her son's mind is affected. She will ask $125 his mental condition be inquired into before any charge is taken to prosecute him on the step of murder.

FEROCIOUS BULL DOGS ATTACK YOUNG CHILDREN
BOSTON, Mass., April 2.—The two English bulldogs which yesterday attacked a little girl in Somerville, today endangered the life of six-year-old Warren McIntyre, and were only beaten off by the use of a baseball bat in the hands of the child's father and at much danger to the parent. The boy will survive, but will wear ugly wounds through his life, probably as the result of several bad lacerations, one of which is two inches long and nearly an inch deep.
Young McIntyre had been playing ball and went into the yard in which the dogs were kept in search of a lost ball. The ferocious bulldogs pounced upon him immediately and both gripped his right ear. The father heard the boy's screams and by a prolonged babbling managed to drive the animals away.
Yesterday Elese Benner, 10 years old, was rescued from the dogs by young James Comfort, aged 12.

WAR IN THE COMMONS; LAURIER AND FOSTER IN A FIERY QUARREL

Nasty Sneer of Foster's Provoked a Sensational Storm During Debate

Charged With Accepting Graft for Party Purposes, Sir Wilfrid Hotly Denied and Retorted: 'I Never Manipulated Trust Funds'—Scene Almost Unprecedented Follows

OTTAWA, April 2.—Parliamentary decorum was thrown to the winds and a sensational scene which threatened at one stage to culminate in a recourse to the services of the sergeant-at-arms occurred in the house tonight and marked a debate which had on the whole been conducted with admirable temper. As on more than one occasion when the house was flared, it was Mr. Foster who put the fact in the fire. All had gone smoothly in the debate on Mr. Doherty's resolution calling for a sweeping investigation of all spending departments, and members were beginning to flatter themselves on the moderation which had marked the discussion of a subject open to party recrimination, when the member for North Toronto intervened. Mr. Foster was in his most sarcastic vein. He sneered at Mr. McLean of Lunenburg, who had preceded him, flouted the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, gibed at the heads of other departments and wound up with a discredit-able reflection upon the honor and integrity of the Prime Minister.

Having thrown out the charge that McLean had stolen money from the public treasury, he struck a melodramatic attitude and addressing him said to the Prime Minister personally, using the words, "What is the first Minister going to do about it? Why has he not prosecuted these men? Does he intend to try to get back the money, and if not, is it because the first Minister himself has shared in the proceeds for party purposes?" With the intention of calling Mr. Foster to order, anticipating the Speaker's intention, Mr. Foster exclaimed: "Wait a moment, and then address the words 'for party purposes'."

When Sir Wilfrid Laurier rose to reply he said: "It was not my intention to intervene in this debate except in so far as it was necessary to me to explain to the house the policy of the government and the reasons for the attitude we have taken. The house is already aware of that attitude, and it is entitled to know what are the motives which have impelled us to oppose the present motion. But before I proceed any further I may be permitted to offer the mover of the resolution, Judge Doherty, my very sincere congratulation upon the manner in which he has presented this question to the house. I do not admit his premises, still less his conclusions, but after an experience of many years, in parliament, I can say it was impossible to put such a motion, involving some irritation, in a better and more dignified parliamentary style. "Renewed disorder interrupted Mr. Foster's protest, and when Colonel Talbot exclaimed, "Did you share in it?" the member for North Toronto appeared to lose control of himself. "Did I share in it?" he shouted, his voice rising to a scream amid the noise that prevailed. "Did I share in it? Let that man get up on any platform and make a statement that I did and I will let him know whether I shared in it." At this point the whole House was wild with excitement, the Liberal side resounding with cries of "Take your medicine, and the Conservatives calling, "Take it back." While confusion reigned Dr. Clarke rose to a point of order, but was howled down by the opposition.

Mr. Foster, responding to the cries of the men around him, again tried to intervene. "I rise to a second point of order," he exclaimed, and then he was interrupted by the Speaker, who had been for some time vainly endeavoring to make himself heard. "Let us settle the first point," he suggested. "We'll decide the first," replied Mr. Foster with asperity. "The rules seem quite clear and plain."

Order should be enforced, exclaimed Mr. Conmee, raising his voice above the din of confused cries from both sides. "Oh, send him back on a special train," said Mr. Foster, glaring at Mr. Conmee. "Then the excitement seemed to reach a crisis. Both Mr. Foster and Mr. Conmee remained standing, each refusing to give way, and both attempting to make themselves heard without success. "Order, order!" sharply called the Speaker.

"The rules require that any member shall," roared Mr. Conmee, but he got no further, the opposition shouting and shouting with cries of "sit down." By this time several members were on their feet, attempting to make themselves heard, but only themselves will ever know what they tried to say. "Why all of this excitement," shouted Mr. Foster in a full, himself so excited that the house saw the humor of it and indulged in a laugh. "But the mischief was only momentary. "What is your point of order," inquired the Speaker. "My point of order," replied Mr. Foster, "is that in order to keep the debate decent there is a rule that no member of this house is allowed to say anything disgraceful of another."

This Was Too Much "This was too much for the Liberal members, who shouted in derision at such a sentiment coming from the member for North Toronto. Still Mr. Foster was not to be denied. "The prime minister has instructed me to speak for the Liberal side," said the Speaker. "I throw it back in his teeth," (Mr. Liberal cheer.) "All this time Sir Wilfrid had remained a passive onlooker of the scene, but now he intervened, only to be interrupted by Mr. Foster, who loudly insisted upon his point of order being ruled upon by the Speaker. "The honorable prime minister is ready to speak to the point of order," said the Speaker. "Mr. Foster—All right, if he speaks to the point of order," continued Mr. Foster. "The honorable gentleman tells that it is a rule of the house that no man has a right to speak offensively of another," said Colonel Talbot. "He said 'disgracefully.'"

Mr. Conmee—"What is the point of order?" "The Speaker—"The honorable member from North Toronto says that a member must not say any disgraceful thing about another member. I do not know that we have a rule upon that point. Loud Liberal cheers greeted this statement. "Mr. Foster—"My point of order is that the Prime Minister made an offensive statement. He made an insinuation that I manipulated trust funds, and he added, striking the desk vigorously, "I demand a retraction." "Mr. Conmee—"The Prime Minister attempted to make himself heard, but again Mr. Foster prevented him from proceeding. "I ask," said Mr. Foster, "that the right honorable gentleman retract his statement." (Opposition cheer.) "He is amenable to the rules of this house and to common decency just as much as I am, and his followers will certainly have to take their medicine. This matter has come to a head now and we will have it tried out. Several members of the house have made insinuations against me, but this is the worst that I ever heard," shaking his fist at the Prime Minister. "Take your medicine," came back the cry from the Liberal benches, the opposition responding with "Make him take it back." "Call the sergeant at arms," said Mr. Conmee as the storm of angry voices grew.

BORDEN ARBES. With flushed face Mr. Borden rose, apparently with the aim of restoring peace. "I think," he said, with an air of enforced calm, "we should take the debate more quietly. I certainly understand—perhaps I misunderstood the right honorable gentleman—I hope I did. I certainly understood him to suggest in the plainest possible way that the honorable member for North Toronto had been guilty of manipulation of trust funds. "Those were not the words," cried several Liberal members. "Mr. Borden—I am perfectly willing to accept—I am bound to accept—the statement of the Prime Minister as to what he intended, but I would suggest that words either meant that or they meant nothing. If the Prime Minister is prepared to state that he did not mean that, of course the House is

In disjointed sentences he managed to disclaim, "He pretends to make an argument from a false statement, rather than make a true statement, and then he proceeded to insinuate something with reference to myself." Renewed disorder interrupted Mr. Foster's protest, and when Colonel Talbot exclaimed, "Did you share in it?" the member for North Toronto appeared to lose control of himself. "Did I share in it?" he shouted, his voice rising to a scream amid the noise that prevailed. "Did I share in it? bound to take his word. But if he did mean that, then I venture to think that in the interest of the good order in this House it would be desirable that the right honorable gentleman should take that expression back." Sir Wilfrid—"I am a pretty old member now of this House. I have sat in the benches, and I am not aware, and I place myself in the judgment of the House, in that of the gentlemen opposite as well as of this side, that I ever said an offensive word to anybody. I have tried to carry on the debates in this house. I have to be courteous to all members of this House, or in the mind of any member of this house that that sentence had any relevance at all, unless it was directed against me, and charged me with being a manipulator of trust funds." (Cries of "The cap must fit.")

ACTUALLY READ IT. Sir Wilfrid—"My honorable friend actually read this rule to the house and the honorable gentleman within the last five minutes forgets that he has told me to my face that he asked me if I did not prosecute Mr. Drolet, Mr. Holliday and Mr. McAvilly because I had shared in the proceeds for party purposes. He means to say that to me personally." Dr. Sprouts—"No objection was taken at the time." Sir Wilfrid—"And now, when I tell him that I will not tolerate being insulted in this house, he becomes still more offensive. Mr. Speaker, I ask for your ruling." The Speaker—"My view is that the words I never manipulated trust funds are not in themselves offensive words. There may be an inference to be drawn from them, but that is a matter which every member of the house can judge for himself." (Loud Liberal cheer.)

Continuing, the Speaker said: "There should be no misunderstanding on this point. I am merely trying to apply the rule. No offensive word can be used by any member, but the honorable Prime Minister did not charge the honorable member for North Toronto with having manipulated trust funds. His exact words were not to that effect, but they were by inference. I do not know that it is for the chair to draw inferences. I have to take the words as spoken. The honorable member for North Toronto is quite right in saying that when he used the words 'shared in the proceeds' I rose to call him to order. But as he has added for party purposes that removed the personal aspect. So, I think, after hearing these explanations on both sides, the debate had better proceed."

Despite the fact that Sir Wilfrid had the floor and remained standing, Mr. Foster arose and attempted to address the chair amid cries of "Order" and "Sit Down." "Take it back," etc. "ASK THAT HIS REPRESENTATIVE," quoting from the book of rules, "No member shall speak disrespectfully of First, my own, then my boys', then my nephews', and my grand-boys'. "Twenty-five years ago I became a pioneer user of metallic building materials. "It was only a barn, and not much of a barn at that which I first covered with metallic shingles—the first product of the Metallic Roofing Co. "And, mind you, that was twenty-five years ago, and the roof is weather-proof now. It has never needed repairs. I have built many barns since then, but I have never discovered any sane reason for roofing them differently. You can't improve on a straight 25-year test.

"Then besides, I always believe in dealing with the biggest people in any manufacturing business. You share in the merit of their goods which have made them the biggest in their line. That's why I stick to the Metallic Roofing Co.—they're the largest architectural sheet metal firm in Canada, with an output larger than all others combined. "But it is not of barns alone I would speak. You note, perhaps, that they call me the 'philosopher of Metal Town'. That's because I'm a public character in a way. "I have been chairman of many building committees—church, school, library, etc., and I always find the metallic man has been my most useful assistant. Outside of inside, front or back, ceiling or sides, I find they all need the metallic man's aid. "I will tell you more about our 'metal town' when we're better acquainted. I can quote some comparative figures which will interest you. To-day I'm emphasizing shingles. "You can get them either galvanized or painted. They are always reliable. They are more economically durable and quicker to apply than any others, fitting accurately, and therefore most easily laid. They have been thoroughly tested in all kinds of climates, invariably proving fire, lightning, rust and weather proof. "If you're building, make sure of satisfaction by ordering Eastlake's for the roof. Full-est information if you write. THE EASTLAKE STEEL SHINGLES

Look at all these poor wretches of humanity that are spending thirty years in great deal of pain, as if they had spent all they have earned for years without getting a pound of strength for the hundreds of dollars wasted. That is the money that I am after, because for every dollar I take I can give a thousand per cent. interest, and don't want it at all until I have cured you if you will secure me. Just lately I have received letters of praise from these men: "Belts about a year ago, and I am thankful to say that I am a new man, and I can't say enough for it. I am stronger than men half again as big as myself, and I am twenty-four pounds heavier now than before I got your belt. "Dear Sir—I have praised your belt at every opportunity, and I cannot say too much about it. As I am a man now. Before I was a wreck, I was laid up for three years, and took a good deal of medicine, but it did me no good. I can only say that your belt has done wonders for me—almost a miracle. I was given up for incurable by most of the doctors, and I can't give you too much praise. I thank you for your interest in me, and say I am anything for the benefit of your belt. I will do so, as I think it is a great deal of praise, as I have said before. Again thanking you for helping me to be a man once more and able to do a good day's work, I remain, "W. FREDERICTON, N. Hon. Mr. Fleming spoke at length in explanation of his budget and in general defense of the government's record and policy. He argued that the apparent increase in revenue and expenditure was partly a matter of difference in bookkeeping methods, considering that the actual increase was only about $30,000. He admitted an increase of nearly $300,000 in the net debt of the province during the year and predicted that the 1904 must steadily increase. The people wanted expenditures for public works and development, he said, and these could not be made without adding annually to the debt.

Hon. Mr. McKeown followed with a thoughtful and moderate speech. In the past year, he pointed out, the government had made greater expenditure than had ever been the case in any other year. He pointed out that the government had made greater expenditure than had ever been the case in any other year. He pointed out that the government had made greater expenditure than had ever been the case in any other year.

such provision in the bill under discussion. APPROVED OF PRINCIPLE. Mr. Hatheway approved of the principle and thought it was unfair that a large number of men should be disfranchised. But he did not approve of the exemption of the first $500 from taxation on incomes exceeding $1,500. The committee took no action but reserved the bill to be referred to the House on Monday.

THE BUDGET SPEECH. Hon. Mr. Fleming on rising to move the House on the budget speech, said that at the last session in speaking of this motion he had been dealing with a year over which the government had not the slightest control. The same condition applied to a portion of the statement now submitted. No doubt the system was antiquated and a new one wanted, but that alone would not have given them a surplus. In addition to the increase of the revenue, the government had to pay the interest on their debt, and he was glad to inform the House that this year they had enjoyed a fairly successful year.

Proceeding Mr. Fleming read a comparison of the last year's estimated and actual receipts and expenditures, showing that the expenses had been $4,354,982 less than estimated, and that the receipts had been $4,354,982 more than estimated. Mr. Fleming claimed credit to the government for the increased revenue, particularly for the fact that stampage receipts were over $400,000 larger than expected. Regarding succession duties a new departure had been made in the collection for collecting. Ever since the act was passed the crown officer collecting the revenue had been the collector for his services irrespective of the size of the estate. It had been argued in the House that there was a great deal of work, and the collector, as the commission in small estates was very small it was perfectly justifiable that the collector should be paid on a large estate as a measure of compensation. Last year the attorney-general did not work, and the collector was only charged 3-1/2 per cent and so saved considerable money to the province.

Expense of investigations of Central Railway was authorized by law and had not been placed in the estimate. The item for school books was $2,000, but the province had paid for these books. They owned them, they were in the hands of vendors, money would be returned and in future it could be expected that the receipts would equal expenditures on this item. The whole result of the year's operation shows that the net debt of the province is $300,000 less than the estimate and surplus of the year's operation of $44,693.42. The auditor-general in his report showed every department of the public service had been closed on the 31st of October, and not a cent of money was outstanding, an imaginary surplus, secured by having accounts overdrawn and holding payments in suspense.

This government was not responsible for the increase of debt in the past year for there was scarcely a dollar of it which had not been pledged by the late government. The floating debt which was funded was all due and payable before the 31st of October, 1907, and the government felt they should not be saddled with the old obligations due before the close of the previous fiscal year. As a matter of fact those old liabilities aggregated a much larger amount than was stated, as the government was still paying bills incurred by their predecessors years before. The debt of the province must still further increase if the late government's policy is followed, and these things are wanted by people who are not in a position to pay them. It is not to be done if large undertakings were to be yearly incurred.

Only a Common Cold,
BUT IT BECOMES A SERIOUS MATTER IF NEGLECTED.
Phenomena, Bronchitis, Asthma, Croup, Arthra and Bronchitis. Get rid of it at once by taking Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.
Obstinate coughs yield to its grateful soothing action, and in the racking, persistent cough, often present in Consumptive cases, it gives prompt and sure relief. In Arthra and Bronchitis it is a successful remedy, rendering breathing easy and natural, enabling the sufferer to enjoy refreshing sleep and often affecting a permanent cure.
Mrs. Henry Smallpiece, Brudenell, Ont., writes:—"I was always subject to a cough and could get nothing to relieve me until I saw an advertisement of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and thought I would try a bottle, and when I had taken a few doses I found I was getting better. I had a cold for my baby, who had a cough, and a few doses cured him. I would advise anyone having a cough, to give Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup a trial, and I am sure they will never be without it."
Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup 25 cts. per bottle at all dealers. Put up in yellow wrapper, and three pins across the trade it by the late government, which made the actual net debt smaller than appeared in the provincial accounts.

both receipts and expenditures are greater than in previous years; it does not mean that more money will come in or be expended. It is accounted for by the new system of bookkeeping. Under the old system there was Provincial consolidated revenue account, and other in addition to consolidated revenues, and these did not figure in current revenue account except that any surplus was carried into current revenue. Under the new system there was but one account, consolidated revenue, and every dollar coming in or going out was shown in that account. Putting probable court fees into consolidated revenue makes an apparent increase of $16,000 and expenditure the same. Another item is the fire insurance of the Provincial Hospital, $27,000. Various items which formerly were kept in separate accounts totalled $30,000, leaving the actual receipts over last year $30,000. Considerable increase would be noted for agriculture. Much had been said about this industry as the backbone and life of the country, but for some reason or other it had not progressed as it should have done. Whether past efforts were insufficient or not rightly directed, results were not as they should have been. Appropriation for agriculture this year was over $1,000,000 more than last year. Grants to agricultural societies were increased $2,000 because of the larger number of societies that had been organized and would be organized under the new life of the industry as one result of the agricultural commission. He believed the greatest need of the province today was agricultural education and was glad to state that the government had made a start to supply that need. The government did not intend to proceed hastily, but it did intend to start right.

IMMIGRATION. The government had outlined a forward plan for immigration, a work which has not been very successful in the past. They did not intend to do heavily into expenditure at first, but would give the plan they had in mind a fair trial. First, there would be an immigration agent at St. John who would collect information regarding vacant farms and opportunities for immigrants. Co-operating with him on the other side of the water would be an agent general and representative of the province. His office would be removed from its present rather obscure location to a more central one, with a man in charge who would give his whole time to directing immigration to New Brunswick. It was not proposed to seek immigrants in big cities. The class of immigrants wanted are tenant farmers and those who are acquainted with the cultivation of the soil. It was proposed to reach these by advertising in papers which circulated in the provinces and among farmers, and it was hoped next year that a lecturer might be engaged who would give his time to moving among the agricultural population and in making known to them the opportunities in New Brunswick. Efforts would not stop there. Immigrants will be looked after when they reach our shores, and it will be the duty of the immigration department to see that these new comers were properly placed, that they secured their farms on the most favorable terms and were assisted in all possible ways to make a success in their new homes.

Public works expenditure was $42,000 greater than last year. The fire at Provincial Hospital was responsible for $45,000 increase. The insurance provided $27,000, the other $18,000 would be taken out of current revenue. Concluding, Mr. Fleming declared that the government was doing its very best to try and subside the resources of the province, and he forcibly defended its record and policy.

SEARCHING THE KINRADE. Detectives Make Discovery in Searching the Kinrade Yard. HAMILTON, April 2.—It was reported this morning that while Detectives were searching about the Kinrade home Wednesday afternoon they found some empty cartridge shells in a yard immediately east of the house. They went there that afternoon and made an examination about the outside of the premises, but nothing was said as to what their search resulted in. If the report is true those shells are the most important thing that has yet been found. Detectives searched all through the adjoining yards at the time of the murder, but as the snow was deep on the ground at that time they found nothing. During the last few days the snow has nearly all disappeared, and, taking advantage of this, detectives made careful search.
