In his younger days he also took an active part in the Masonie order, having joined St. Many's lodge, of Digby, in 1848, working under the Grand Lodge of England. Although for the past six months deceased suffered a great deal from the disease which caused his death, yet he never complained, but looked forward to the end with contentment. battleships of the United States navy silenced the fire from the shore in short order. One particularly good shot from the flagship New York sent a gun on one of the eastern battleties flying high into the air and enormous red clouds of earth and debris rose all around Morro. The smoke from the ships drifted to the west.

At 6.30 the firing had become slower and more deliberate. The Indiana. Oregon and Massachusetts were signalled to go right in front of the harbor to shell the Punta Gorda batteries inside, on the eastern arm. They steamed to within a thousand yards despatches from Santiago give the following details:

"Gen. Shafter's army, composed of seventeen thousand infantry and eighty-two siege guns of various callibre, attacked the Spanish positions before Santiago, six thousand rebels under García assisting them. The Spaniards had only two thousand five hundred men, partly volunteers.

"Our troops fought with heroic courage. The battle lasted three hours, and the Spanish were then compelled to abandon the trenches and to fall back on Santiago. The retreat was conducted in perfect order.

"Our losses were heavy and the enemy's was enormous. The list of our wounded includes Gen. Linares, Col. Ordonez and Commanders Amadrid and Aarraiz, the latter being Gen. Linares' aide-de-camp.

The services at the camp were attended by nearly all who went to the grounds on the various steamers.

"The American attack upon El Caney was very severe. The position was defended by Gen. Vara de Roy with five hundred men. The enemy was at first repulsed, but ultimately renewed the attack, the result being unknown."

A later despatch says: "The Americans fought eight against one. The Spaniards defended themselves heroically. Our wounded are numerous, including Commanders Vara de Roy and Dominguez. The struggle is becoming difficult, two thousand Spaniards having to meet twenty-five thousand of the enemy." "Do you really think you love my daughter as a husband should?" "Love her? Meanwhile the batteries on Grime's Hill kept booming away at the middle of the enemy's line, materially alding the flaiking movement. The shelling from the Spanish fleet was less active and apparently gave our left but little concern.

At this hour a report has just reached by fresh regiments, sent him early in the afternoon, has turned the enemy's left and has troops already in the city, where almost a hand to hand encounter is going on in the streets.

The situation when the Associated Press correspondent left the front, as shown in an earlier despatch, was such that the capture of the city tonight (Saturday), would not be surprising, although General Shafter himself, when the correspondent left bim three hours ago, did not expect it. The church was well filled with guests and many friends of the contracting parties. The bride was given away by her father and attended by her sister, Miss Nellie Strange, while the groom was ably supported by Ashley Dyke-man of this place. After the ceremony about forty guests partook of a sumptuous repast at the residence of the bride's father, after which the wedded pair proceeded to their home here, arriving at an early hour Thurs day morning. The closing exercises at the superio school took place on Friday and were creditabe alike to both teacher and pupils. Mr. Veazey will spend his vacation at his home in St. Stephen As the government have withdrawn the superior grant of $100 to this school it is doubtful if Mr. Veazey will re

THE MARKETS.

MAUGERVILLE, Sunbury Co., June Revised Every Monday for the Weekly Sun.

COUNTRY MARKET. COUNTRY MARKET.

Potatoes are very plentiful, very dull, and tending easier in price. Beef is scarcer and dealers say they look for an advance, as buyers report difficulty in getting cattle. Farmers do not appear anxious to sell. Eggs are rather firmer than a week ago. Chickens vary widely in price, according to size. New Brunswick strawbernies have now taken the place of the Ontario fruit. New vegetables are coming in more freely each week. The market, generally speaking is well sumplied.

AMHERST, July 1.-While Mrs. Thomas Embre, an aged lady from East Amherst, was driving near the Terrace hotel this afternoon, her horse was frightened by an incoming train, and turning suddenly, she was thrown from the high carriage and seriously injured. Four physicians have been in attendance all the afternoon. She is now at the Terrace hotel, where every attention is being shown her by the management.

Last evening, while Leander Brenton, his wife and child were driving across the marsh, two bicyclists came up behind, which frightened the horse they were driving, causing the carriage to upset, throwing the occu-pants violently on the road and severely injuring Mrs. Brenton about the head and shoulders. Mr. Brenton and child escaped unhurt.

HALIFAX, July 2.—Two Latter Day

Saints called on Mayor Stephen today and asked permission to preach the gospel on the streets. The mayor asked them if they did not believe in plurality of wives. They said they were not preaching in reference to that point just now. His worship thought, however, that the public morality did not call for the preaching of the Latter Day men on the streets, and he declined to grant permission.

The city bakers, who two days ago cut the price of bread to 51-2 cents for the 11-2 pound loaf, will tomorrow make a further cut to five cents. There will not likely be any further change.
Since the visit of Hon. W. S. Fielding to this city it has been practically decided between the Hallfax committee. and the I. C. R. authorities that the government will build the grain eleva-tor with a capacity of 500,000 bushels. It will be on the west side of Water

An Historical Sketch of America's Territorial Acquisition.

The founders of this country and the framers of its constitution exercised jurisdiction over thirteen colonies with an area of 826,680 square miles. How sad lindeed it would have been for the destinies of America if that family had hugged itself and never had any offspring. Imagine the leaders of those days clamoring for the lines to be closed. Enough! Enough! But better ideas predominated, new districts joined the federa-The compute the following of the control of the con the seventh in 1802. States will number more than a hundred millions of inhabitants at the end of the present century, without speaking of the probable annexation of Mexico and of the extension of the American republic to the Panama isthmus. Brazil and the several states of South America weigh very lightly by the side of such a power, and they will disappear when the masters of the northern continent think fit to extend themselves. For instance, had the secession succeeded, there is no doubt whatever that the new southern confederation would have invaded Mexico much sooner than the reconstituted American republic will attempt. At all events the American continent is in its whole extent destined to belong to the Anglo-Saxon race; and, if we take into ac-Saxon race; and, if we take into account the increase of speed which is so very notable in human events, it is very likely that such an important change will be accomplished in the course of about a century or a century and a naif." There is one source of true greatness for a nation in our day: It is trade and all that it means at home and abroad. If the policy of so called "imperialism" will solve the problem of unskilled and idle labor in this country, it should receive a large country it should receive a large share of attention in the near future. CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I., June 29.—The memorial committee reported the request of the Church of England synod of Fredericton that a commit-tee be appointed from their confer-ence to confer with a committee from other religious podies to seek further religious instruction in the public schools, be not complied with. The same committee reported that we are in hearty sympathy with the twentieth century mission dollar fund of our church, and recommended that we give our best support. The report of the temperance committee evoked a discussion in the con-ference on the plebiscite. Many of the most influential members spoke in favor of prohibition, but had not much faith in the plebiscite. Nevertheless, they would throw their influence in its favor.

The work of Wednesday was of a very mixed character. Only a few of the members were in attendance, and matters were speedily put through that at an earlier stage might have called forth some considerable discussion. One of these was a motion of which notice had been given by Dr. Wilson, but in his absence was moved by Rev. Mr. Steel, and seconded by Rev. Thomas Marshall, and which was at once adopted. It read thus: Whereas, it proposed to request the general conference to organize at its next session a new society to be known as "The Sustentation and Contingent Fund Society," the management of which is to be vested in the General Missionary Society; and

Whereas, the organization of such a society would involve the doing away with our present Sustentation Society, with all the present and prospective benefits the ministers laboring on our domestic missions now derive or may derive therefrom;
Therefore Resolved, that this conference would express its disapprowal of any action that may lead either to the discentinuance of our Sustentation Society, or the taking of its management out of the hands of the annual conference.

For three weeks the vessel was in the region of the equator, where the moon shone brilliantly at night. The weather was exceptionally clear. The sky was cloudless for almost the entire time. One after another of the crew became stricken with partial or total blindness, and in severe cases delirium developed. The vessel drifted helplessly for more than a week. On May 19, three degrees south of the equator, J. William Hargraves, a sailor stricken with total blindness, died in a delirium and was buried at sea. One other man tried to jump overboard, but was restrained. All the severe cases of blindness were attended with violent delirium.

"Moon blink" is a rare disease, and the condition of so many of the crew of a vessel awakens unusual interest in medical circles here. MARINE MATTERS.

THE SEMI-WEEKLY SUN

ST. JOHN, N. B., JUNE 6, 1898.

THE TIME FOR ACTION.

It seems certain that the present intention of Mr. Emmerson and his colleagues is to dissolve the house and appeal to the people within a few weeks. Something may happen to interfere with this purpose, but it is not good policy to count on this disturbance of the plan. Three times since 1886 the assembly has been dising their election combinations and their political bargains, while the public were kept in ignorance of the fact that a campaign was impending. Our information is that Mr. Emmersour information is that Mr. Emmersson has already begun the process of bargaining for the election of 1898.
Mr. Blair, who controls the provincial ministry as fully as ever he did, has assisted with the preliminary arrangements, and is to be back from sland to help with further details at a later stage.

It must not be forgotten that the government requires less time than the opposition for open campaign work. The discussion of the questions involved in the provincial contest is no great part of the government's scheme of a campaign. The less of that the ministers have the better for them. In the meantime they are able them. In the meantime they are able to go about the province, nominally on departmental business, but actually on departmental business, but actually in the work of political organization. They have at their disposal the public contracts and the previncial efficiency, which is a great help in finding candidates. Their time is paid for by the country and their travelling expenses are paid half a dozen times over. Moreover, they have not many candidates to dind. Of the present members more than three-fourths are government supporters—such as they government supporters—such as they are and the necessity for new combinations only applies to constituencies which are now held by the opposition and to those others where the old combination cannot be work-

On the side of the people who op-pose the government, or who desire to attend to the selection of candithey differ from the government, which does not favor any association that would place the choice of candidates, or the management of the campaign in the hands of the people. In these circumstances the policy of the leader of the government is to make quiety what preparations he can, and then to spring the election suddenly on the shortest possible notice. The obvious shortest possible notice. The opvious policy of the opposition and of the reople at large, is to go openly and expeditiously about the selection of candidates and to enter at once upon the public discussion of provincial affairs. The effect of this course may possibly be the postponement of the election, but the fallure to take action will be certain to result in a sudden dissolution, with short notice before nomination. If the people wait until the writs are issued and nomination is at hand, they will wake up to discover that the intriguer has been among them, that new alliances have been made or attempted in all directions that practices of support of the contract of the been made or attempted in all directions, that promise of support or of inaction have been secured by all manner of false pretences, and that the freedom of public choice and action has been seriously hampered. If as the result of the preparation for a fair and even contest should be the rostponement of the election no harm will be done. One year before the election is not too early for a candidate to be chosen.

date to be chosen. The last Ontario contest afforded a sample of what organization can effect. Mr. Whitney is a man admitted to be of less ability that his predecessor, Mr. Meredith. He had the federal and provincial governments working against him, and was without either party patronage or a cam-paign fund. But he believed that the people were with him if he could give them a fair chance, and he got to work so early and effectively that the opcandidates were almost ere the first in the field. Had he been able to inspire the other paleaders with a share of his own thusiasm and hopefulness he have beaten the government have beaten the government by a large majority. As it was he reduced the majority of nearly forty to a majority of five or six. It is not yet determined whether the ministery can survive, but two of the heads of departments are, after four months holding on to their office without seats in the house, and the fate of the government remains to be determined by the election courts and the by-elections. Still better results may be obtained by an equally aggressive and expenditious opposition campaign in this province.

POLITICAL INFLUENCE ON THE L. C. R.

Mr. Harris says that his departure from the Intercolonial service and the closing of the office of which he was the head "was consequent on the diffithe traffic department of the railway sible to divest the line

Mr. Blair took an odd way to "dives the line of political influence." H and replacing them with such A. E. con cal cronies of his own as Mr. A. E. Cillam. He sent partisans like com-missioners Wilson, Atkinson, Ross and missioners Wilson, Atkinson, Ross and Palmer, to hold alleged investigations. He made political payments for cows killed by the carelessness of their cower. Instead of divesting the line of political influence Mr. Blair made it more a political railway than ever. Political influence led him to take over the Bale de Chaleurs road on the eve of an election and to abandon it when the election was over the earnings in election was over, the earnings in each dollar of expenditure. Political influence led him to suspend Superinendent Macdonald, to pay him his full salary while under suspen-and then to restore him to his p When we add to the political influence the Grand Trunk and Green hields influence, we find many things What Mr. Harris really means is that he found is impossible to divest he railway of its public character. His plan was to "commercialize" the in the sense that the great trun of America are commercialize means simply to get all out raffic that it will pay. The bu which have the power is to make low rates to competitive points, and to exact the last cent where there is no competition. It is not a fair or jus system, but is an arbitrary use of the powers of a monopoly. Applied to the Intercolonial, which has a large non-competitive traffic, it could be made to bring in much revenue. By exacting high rates on local traffic the through rate could be made as low as that of the shorter lines reach-ing the same points. The farmers, lumbermen, fishermen and small traders along the line could be compelle ers along the line could be compelled to pay, for this more ambitious but losing business. Such was the commercial scheme which Mr. Blair and Mr. Harris set about to establish. They found that while the people are obliged to submit to such unfair impositions at the hands of the great company railways they do not propose to have such discrimination imose to have such discrimination imsed on a railway owned by the pe peen made the scape-goat and the satent business process has been modified.

THE SUSSEX CRITIC.

The Sussex Record, while condemning the government for not carrying out the pleages of its members in respect to economy, puts in a saving clause in favor of the "general pol-ley" of the ministry. The Sun, which cesires to give light to all, took the Perty of asking the Record what the general policy of the government was. The explanation now offered is not very full. Mr. Robinson states that the late government subsidized the a year to the expenditure, several millions to the taxes, and the violation of tariff piedges, are mere matters of detail, trifling local issues.

But there is some mistake what the Record regards as the gen-eral policy. It was the late govern-ment which stopped the Portland sub-sidies. All that the Laurier ministry did was to restore and continue the subventions for one year after should have come to an end. As fo the other things that are promised, would it not be well for the Record to wait and see whether these pledges are better than the tariff pledges or the promise of economy? Even the Record has been compelled to say Record has been compelled to say that the management of the Inter-colonial during these two years has ot been a howling success.

A SERIOUS STRUGGLE.

(From Daily Sun July 4th.) The first important action in the siege of Santiago took place on Friday. General Miles does not claim for the United States forces more than a drawn battle, and at the time of writing it does not appear that the object of the assault has been effected. The despatches are as usual somewhat contradictory, but the official statement goes to show that the invading forces have withdrawn from the advanced positions occupied, and that the United States officers admit a loss of 1,000 men in killed and wounded. General Shafter's army of occupation is nearly double the strength of the Spanish force in Sandago, and is supported by Garcia's army of Cubans. But the Spanish force under Pando, which is moving to the relief of the beleagured garrison and was at latest accounts only a few miles away, brings the two armies to something nearer a numerical equality.

The Spaniards have the advantage of occupying a strong position. The atrength of this post has become more apparent to General Shafter than it was on Thursday. He then telegraphed the assurance that he could carry the place when he got ready for action. If he had not been sanguine he would probably have deferred his attack until the arrival of the reinforcements now on the way, even though the delay should increase the chances of a junction of General Pando's force with that of Gen. Linares. Within a few days the United States forces investing Santiago will numher 30,000 men. The Spanish General 12,000 of all arms in the town and the force of General Pando is not will be made at once from Washingand that further levies will sent forward before Santiago is again attacked. The en gagement of Friday indicates that the Spanish soldiers can fight a little. Their firing must have been much more effective than was expected from previous exhibitions of marks-manship. At the time of writing the accounts of the fighting are meagre and wanting in detail, and the man ner of the Spanish fighting is not disclosed. Its effectiveness is, however admitted in the official despatches to Washington. While the fighting quality of the United States forces is beyond question. The events last week create the suspicion that the officers in control of the campaign have under estimated either the fighting qualities of the enemy, or the strength of the Spanish position. The reverse, if it should prove to be be one, would not be considered serious in the American war of thirty-five years ago, but cominvasion that at first appeared to be a picule excursion, it is calculated to bring home to the younger generation in the United States a sense of the horrors of war, even against poor, decremid Spain.

In another way the effects of war are impressed on the people of the United States. Three weeks ago the war taxes on tea, tobacco and beer wert into effect. The tax on tea is ten cents per pound. Matt liquor pays two bears an extra tax of twelve cents per ound, with cigars and cigarettes in On the day that the battle of Santiago was fought the stamp and liense taxes went into force. These are many and various. There is a direct tax of $2 on every $1,000 of bank capital tal and surplus, a license tax of $10 to ricuses, with lower rates for smaller places of amusement, and from $6 to $24 for each manufacturer of or trader in tobacco. Stock and bond certificates cents for subsequent transfers. Mer-chandise sold on exchanges for future cept when the bills are foreign, when national interest. For instance, every bill of lading or receipt for goods exthe late government subsidized the Portland service, built the short line through Maine, and at one time contemplated a line across country to Salisbury, while this government has stopped the Portland subsidy and has promised improvements at St. John. where the fare is $30 or 1 which becomes three dollars on a fare from $30 to $60, and five dollars on a insurance is taxed eight cents for each $1(0 of policy, or a matter of $8 on a $10,000 risk, while 40 per cent, of the first weekly rate is levied on industrial insurance. Leases, mortgages, ware-house receipts, contracts, surety bonds, protests of notes, etc., all require war stamps. There is also a legacy war mouth and a number of New York tax, which is graded from 75 cents per capitalists are endeavoring to form a $100 on small estates left to lineal desyndloate for the purpose of develops cendants, to $15 on each $100 on the largest estates left to other than near presorts. Mr. Baker was in New York relatives.

ALBERT CO. COURT.

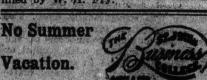

The present circuit court, which is presided over by Judge Vanwart, will be one of the longest held in the county for many years. The first case, that of Price v. Wright, an action for personal injuries inflicted on plaintiff by defendant's dog, was concluded this evening. Some nineteen ques-tions were submitted to the jury to answer. This consumed some four hours, and the answers were such that for some time there was considerable discussion as to how the verdict should be entered. At first his honor was of opinion that the verdict should be entered for the defendant, but on the jury further answering the court decided to enter a verdict for the plaintiff with the right reserved to the defendants to move court above either to enter the verdict for the defendant or for a new trial. The verdict in this way was entered for plaintiff, with the damages assessed

For the plaintiff White, Allison & King; for the defendant, A. A. Stockton, Q. C., H. A. Powell, Q. C., and R.

There are yet two cases of trespass to be tried, for which special juries are called, and one of replevin, the trial of which will probably occupy the attention of the court some ten or

The lumber trade here continues dull and generally unsatisfactory. Low tprices and slow sales have made mill men and shippers hesitate about sending lumber here, and even with a light movement from the mills, the stocks are ample for the trade. Buildstocks are ample for the trade. Build-ing is very dull, and the spruce trade ing is very dull, and the spruce trade is a severe sufferer as a consequence. Hemlock lumber is in about the same state. Random cargo spruce is quoted nominally at $10.50 to 11.50; ten inch car frames, $12.50 to 13; 12 inch frames, $13.50 to 14; 14 inch frames and up, $14.50 to 15.50 and up; yard randoms, $11 to 12; boards, planed one side, $10 to 12, and air dried floorings, $13 to 16. IN COLLISION Ship Charles Run Down by the Str. Endsleigh in Bay of Fundy.

Ship Charles, Capt. Cosman, which sailed from this port for Runcorn on Monday, June 27th, with a cargo of Monday, June 27th, with a cargo of deals, shipped by W. M. Mackay, arrived off the Island about three o'clock on Sunday morning, waterlogged, having been run down near the mouth of the bay by the steamer Endsleigh, Capt. Thomas, from Girgenti and Licata for Boston. The Charles had thick weather alr from the start. She was run down about 35 miles. S. S. W. of Cape Sable, Seal Island, when she was run into.
A light S. S. W. wind prevailed at the time, which was 3.30 a. m. Friday. It was fogry, but not so thick but that the steamers starboard lights could be seen by those on board the ship, be seen by those on board the ship, fully two minutes before the collision. The Charles was sailing by the wind on the starboard tack and heading southeast. Her lights were burning and the fog hern was being sounded at regular intervals. The Endsleigh's horn could be heard occasionally, But Capt. Cosman and his crew are of the opinion that a proper lookout was not kept. The steamer crashed into the ship, striking her on the port bow, just forward of the cathead, cutting just forward of the cathead, cutting the planking below the water's edge. The Endsleigh backed out, and some one on her inquired if the ship was all right. A negative reply was given but the steamer went right on. Capt. Comman understood the steamer's people to say she was the steamer Enfield. The ship began to make water at the rate of two feet an hour. The pumps were kept going all the time, but she filled. A portion of the time, but she filled. A portion of the deckload of lumber was jettisoned in order to lighten her forward and then she was headed for St. John. The Charles is cut down to below the Charles was carried away. Capt. Cosman thinks the steamer was endeavoring to cross the ship's bow. The Charles will come up to the Custom House wharf today to discharge her cargo. Her it juries are very serious. The Charles was built at Tuoket in 1878 and was formerly owned by the late John Murphy of Yarmouth. She passed into the hands of J. W. Holly and F. E. Sayre of this city after Mr. Murphy's death.

MANY LIVES LOST

A Small Excursion Steamer Running from Salem Willows to Beverly, Mass., Capsized.

BEVERLY Mass. July 4.—The small excursion steamer Surf City, with about sixty passengers on board, while half way over from Salem Willows to her wharf here, a distance of about two miles, was struck by a sud-den squall about 6 o'clock tonight and capsized. Of those on board a large majority are believed to have been rescued by boats from both the Salem and Beverly shores, but no less than dark, and as it is known that many rushed into the cabin before the squall, it is thought that twice as many are still confined there. As one or two of those taken ashore are in a critical condition, it appears likely that the list of dead may reach a score.

The following bodies were recovered from the wreck: Mrs. Cacherine D. Weber, 25 years old, of Beverly; Miss Grace Snell, 13 years old, daughter of Arthur Snell of Beverly; three year old son of Joha Kanney of Beverly; Mass Mrya B. Fegan, Miss Lillie J. Conant of Danvers, and her 5 year old brother Herbert B. Conant rother, Herbert R. Conant.

Late this evening the body of Miss Nellie Crossey was recovered. Of those respued Miss Bertha Lovett of North Beverly, Miss Emerson of Danvers and an unknown two year old girl are still in a critical condi-tion. Otta Carris, the fireman, was slee badly scalded.

The Surf City is a small screw steamer with two decks, and has been making short trips in Massachusetts say for a number of years. This year he was put on the Baker island line, making half a dozen trips a day from this city, stopping on each one at Salem Willows. ### C. OF E. SYNOD.

Annual Meeting Opened at St.

A Sketch of the Progress of the

ne First Rector of St. Stephen-List of the Clergy Who Have Had Charge in the Parish Since Its Organization—A Bright Cheerful Town and a Most Enterprising

(Staff correspondence of the Sun.)
ST. STEPHEN, July 4.—For the first time in its history the Church of England synod of New Brunswick will hold its annual session in this town, commencing at 10 o'clock tomorrow. This new departure on the part of a body that has heretofore almost exclusively confined its meetings to Fredericton and St. John must be productive of good results in more than one direction. It will stimulate the church along the St. Croix. It will intensify the loyalty of local churchmen by bringing them into almost personal touch with the clergy and representative laymen of the diocese and by exhibiting to them the manner in which the synod conducts its deliberations and transacts its business.

It will have an educative effect on the visitors. They will see a bright, It will have an educative effect on the visitors. They will see a bright, busy clean town, hearing, on every hand unmistakable evidences of prosperity. They will meet a go-ahead people, who while manifesting a justifiable pride in the position to which St. Stephen has attained as a business centre, yet feel that the place is capable of still greater things. There are self-made towns as well as self-made men, and neither federal nor provincial government has ever showprovincial government has ever showered favors on St. Stephen. If its just what its own people have made it. It has gone steadily ahead for many years, and is still elimbing. For geographical reasons St. Stephen can never enter into competition as a winter port with St. John. The enterprise it has shown in reaching out for the trade of Grand Manan and other competitive points suggests the remark that for St. John's sake it is a good thing St. Stephen is not on the seaboart.

great sisterhood of Anglican dioceses that from four continents claim the church in England as their mother.

Prominent among the seven rural deancries into which for sected salfeal purposes the Church of England in 1847 divided the province of New Brunswick, is the deancry of St. Andrews, now embracing the 16 parisines of St. Andrews, St. Stephen, St. George, Pennfield, St. David, St. Patrick; St. James, Campobello, Grand Manan, St. Croty, Clarendon, Levens, St. Stephen), and Dufferin. The first rural dean was the Rev. Dr. Alley, rector of St. Andrews.

The first record of Church of England services in Charlotte Co. is in 1785. These were held by the Rev. Dr. Sumuel Cooke, who after laboring for many years in Shrewsbury, New Jersey, was sent to New Brunswick by the S. P. G. and settled in St. John as the first paster of Trinity, and remained there until 1785, when he removed to Fredericton. It was in November, 1785, the years of his arrival in the province, that Dr. Cooke visited Campobello, St. Andrews and Digdesuah, reading prayers, presching and baptizing many persons.

The praish of St. Sfephen was principally settled in the first place by the Coming in 1784 of a band of Loyalists and dishanded solders, 104 in number, with their families, under the leadership of Captain Nehemiah Marks. Services were held here from time to time by the Rev. Dr. Andrews of St. Andrews Soon after the coming of the Loyalists a log school house was built and services were held in this building. The first services were in the house of Capt. Marks. In 1822 a church corporation was elected for the management of the affairs of the thrick occupied to the present she conting in 1784 to the present shullding, consetured to the province of the marks of the church, constituting the follows was charactered to the present she built in 1818, consequence of the present she building, consequence of the present building, consequence storary, landing in St. John in May, 1786, in company with Rev. James Scovil, who settled in Kingston, and Rev. Samuel Andrews, who settled in St. Andrews. Rev. Mr. Clarke took up his abode in Gagetown. When he reached his post he found a people very poor and standing in need of much assistance. In June, 1787, he brought his wife and their eleven children from the states. A church and school were built at Gagetown in 1796. He was rector of Gagetown for twenty-five years, and his mission embraced four parishes, Gagetown, Waterborough, including Grand Lake, Hampstead and Wickham. During his residence the rectory was burned, Hampstead and Wickham. During his residence the rectory was burned. Miss Clarke, his eldest daughter, Miss Mary Hubbard and his grandson perlishing in the flames. This grievous calaunity had such an effect on Mr. Clarke that he resigned the rectorship and removed to St. Stephen.

Rev. Mr. Clarke entered upon his new charge in 1811, and on Sunday, 6th December, 1818, divine service was held for the first time in the new church there. The church cost one thousand pounds and had an elegant steeple. Mr. Clarke was rector of St. Stephen for thirteen years.

The next rector was Rev. Skeffing-ton Thomson, I.I. D., who came out from Ireland to New Brunswick in 1821 as assistant to Rev. Mr. Clarke, and succeeded to the rectorship at his

At 5.08 o'clock on Friday morning a couple of wheelmen left the B. and A. club rooms, carrying Mayor Sears' message to Mayor Cole of Moncton. The riders, who had divided the distance into short relays, all made good time, and at 11.03 they handed the message to its owner. The time of passing the different stations along the route was as follows, standard time being given in each case: Started from St. John at 5.08; Rothesay 5.34; Quispamsis, 5.43; Nauwigewauk 6.01; Bloomfield, 6.33 (Cornwall alone his mate having fallen from his wheel near Hampton; Apohaqui, 7.25; Sussex, 7.40; Penobsquis, 8.13; Anagance, 9 o'clock; Petiteodiac, 9.25; Salisbury. 9.59; Moncton, 11.03.

THE BASE BALL GAMES. The Roses and Alerts played two games on the St. John B. and A. grounds yesterday, the Roses securing both games. The Roses have now four successive victories to their credit from the Alerts, and of the eight games played this season they have won seven—a most creditable showing. In the morning Mackin was in the box for the Roses, with Mills behind the bat, while McGuiggan pitched for the Alerts and Mitchell was behind the bat. The Roses won by a score of

In the afternoon at least eight hundred people witnessed the game. The Roses again won, the score being 14 to 9. Friars was in the box for the Roses and Whelley for the Alerts. John Scott umpired both games in a most satisfactory manner.

The St. Johns and Woodstocks played two games on the Shamrock grounds, the visitors being defeated by a score of 14 to 4 in the morning game. The score:

* AT BRIDGETOWN. BRIDGETOWN, N. S., July Bridgetown has had the greatest day in her life. Preparations had been made to celebrate Dominion day on a grand scale, and the programme has be in carried out without a hitch. The day dawned fine and by sunrise large numbers began to arrive from the sur-rounding country and by noon special trains from Lunenburg, Kentville and Yarmouth had arrived, bringing into the town the largest number of people ever seen here. Fully five thousand people were here today, and a constant round of attractive amusements kept everybody interested from their arrival to their departure. Early in the morning a calathumpian procession caused a great deal of 'nerriment, and this was followed at about eleven o'clock by a trades procession, which for magnitude and magnificence of display has never been equalled in this county, and visitors here from Yarmouth say it excelled anything of the kind ever held in that progressive town. All the business and industrial ients of the town were represented to the best possible advantage, some houses having three large teams to display their goods or products. J. W. Beckwith had a beautiful display of dry goods, carpets, etc., in a large team drawn by six norses two bunches of matches for one cent, illustrating the nature and extent of his business in 1973. Then came an inverted pyramid divided horizontally red with the past twenty years and indicating the expansion and de-velopment of his trade from the pedar's wagon in 1878 to his present magnificent business. To describe the others would take too much space and it must suffice to say that the display of Mr. Beckwith was indicative of the of Mr. Beckwith was indicative of the general nature of the trades proces-sion. It was a beautiful sight and impressive, as it showed the tremend-ous industrial and business prosperity of the town. The procession was embellished with three brass bands, the Lunenburg, Yarmouth and Bridgetown. The town council rode in the forward part of the procession. The feature of the day was the hose races in the afternoon, witnessed by 2,000 weople. There were three races—a 2.35, a three-minute and a special race between Maud M., 2.27 1-2, and Frank, 2.26 1-2. Frank took the race in three straight heats, the last two in 2.29 1-4. The 2.35 was won by Andrew, owned by Mayor Ruggles. Mona Brenton won

Lens Bell, third; May Fasheon

Longfellow won the three-minute with Dudley Brenton second; Bonnie F. third; and Just Right fourth. In the evening Miss L. A. Delle gave an elocutionary entertainment in the Court house, assisted by Mrs. Wallace of Wolfville, who played the violin. The bands united in giving a grand concert in the park in the evening. after which there was a grand dis play of fireworks, closing the day without a mishap. Every person was elighted and if Bridgetown prepares again for a gala day she will surely win. Bridgetown is indebted to Miss Graham's racy sketch of the town, which appeared in the Halifax Herald this week, for a share of the generous patronage she received today.

AT ST. STEPHEN. ST. STEPHEN, July 1.—The race held here today attracted an imme crowd of people. Several hundred came down on the Shore line, and the Carleton Cornet band added much to the enjoyment of the meeting by their excellent music. Of the fortytwo horses entered for three events twenty-seven started, and the sport was all that any one could have desired. The officials of the day were: W. S. McKie of Charlottetown, Sher-Sterling of Fredericton and H. F first race called on was the 2.30 class. It was won by Eoulus in straight heats; best time, 2.253-4; Minnie N., entered by McCoy of St. John, got second money, finishing third in the first heat and second in the other two. Minnie N. trotted a great race, chasing the pacer in every time. The other horses did not make much of a show. Sharon, another St. John horse, got fourth in the first heat, but did not succeed in getting up very close after that. Lily E., formerly owned at St. Martins, now the property of C. W. Young, secured fourth money.

The 2.20 race was won by Terrill S., entered by J. M. Johnson, formerly of St. John. He is a great horse. It was a cinch for him. He was never headed from start to finish. His best time was 2.233-4, but competent judges say he could have paced any one of the heats in 2.18. Montrose, the Charlottetown horse, driven by Willis, surprised the crowd by capturing second money, and Calcandra did some excellent work, getting secone once and third in the other two heats. ### THE TEACHERS.

Closing Sessions of the Provincial Institute.

W. W. Hubbard's Paper on Agricultural Development-Address of Prof. Kierstead of Acadia.

At Thursday morning's session the Provincial Teachers' Institute the result of the elections of the executive committee was handed in. The committee is composed of G. U. Hay, Miss Ethel Brittain, Dr. Bridges, Miss M. Narraway, B. C. Foster, Wm. Bro die, H. C. Henderson, W. A. Alward Miss Mary Carter, E. W. Lewis. Dr. Inch drew attention to the fact that the Summer School of Science will meet at Moncton on July 7th, and the Dominion Educational Association at Halifax on August 2nd. and suggested that all teachers who could thould attend these conventions, as they will prove most beneficial.

H. C. Henderson, B. A., of the York County Grammar School, Fredericton then read a very interesting paper of Some Schol Studies in Relation to Mental Development.

The paper was enthusiastically re ceived, and was discussed by Mr. Mullin and Mr. Parlee.

A very interesting address on agricultural development and its educa-tional needs was then given by W. W. Hubbard of Sussex. He referred to the decline of the lumber industry, the uncertainty of the mines and of the fisheries, and then spoke of the expectations of the province from the rich soil within its broundaries. An education which will teach the children to develop the soil of the provnce is the best that can be adopted The future prosperity of the provin farmer. To agriculture we must look for our wealth, and in referring to the land itself, Mr. Hubbard claimed that there is no better strip in the world than that between the Tobique and the Restigouche rivers. The farmers are very anxious to advance their own interests, and it is felt the time has now come when the boys and girls should be educated in producing wealth from the soil, and their pinds turned to agricultural pursuits Unfortunately, at present the general trend of population is away from the farms. After discussing how this might be overcome, and the movements which might be made in the direction of agriculture, Mr. Hubbard claimed that there should be norma school instruction for teachers to fit them for agricultural teaching, but he did not think the province was ready yet for an agricultural college, or for an agricultural chair in the University. The growth was taking place, but it must be slow. Mr. Hubpard felt that his appeal to the teach of the province will materially help in the pursuance of the aims of the Prof. Campbell, president of the Agricultural Association, spoke briefly and stated that at a meeting of the association it was resolved to send some one to the Institute meeting and ask the teachers to assist the asso clation in urging the boys and girls of the country to remain in their country and take an interest in the agricultural pursuits of the country. He supplemented the remarks of Mr. Hubbard and told of the success which is attending farming in various parts of Canada and which will attend all who farm in an intelligent manner.

Prof. Bailey spoke eloquently and maintained that good results can only be obtained by beginning the teac of agriculture to the scholars at an early age. He paid a warm tribute to the work of Mr. Brittain of the Normal school, and stated that the re-ers for assistance would not fall on unheeding ears, and that the teachers

ports that the subject of agriculture had been ignored at the University was incorrect. His predecessors had done much in that line, and the work had not entirely relaxed. Prof. Bailey supported the remarks of Mr. Hubbard, and expressed the hope that the future would see an improvement in general education. George J. Trueman of St. Martin commended the addresses which had been delivered, and trusted that some action will be taken by the teacher which will better fit them to resum their work. He strongly commended Mr. Brittain's text book and trusted that it would receive more general Mr. Tuthill of Victoria county, and Dr. Bridges spoke on the subject. The latter said that the subject was an important one, but he thought the school curriculum was already over-crowded and it would not be well for he teachers to take action on the fifty-five years ago. He was an expert in horses, and known as a great teamster in the pine timber days of Gilmor & Rankine, Cunard and others. "James Sims died at the same time. He was about 87 years of age and was born in England, at Woolwich, County Kent. He came of a noted family of soldiers and sea-dogs, was raised where all the surroundings were naval and military. His family were all soldiers or naval men for generations before he was born. His father had command of a battery and fought at Waterloo under Wellington, and was wounded near the last of the engagement by a bullet in the ankle, for which he received a pension. He removed to Halifax, bringing his family with him. His son James, when a boy, learned the blacksmith trade there. He was afterwards engaged in suppressing the Papineau rebellion in Canada, and subsequently landed in Chatham and came up the Miramichi river, where he married a daughter of Lewis Holmes, settled in Doaktown and worked at his trade till within a few years of his death. He leaves six children, one of whom follows the trade of his father in this place; antrade of his father in this place; another works at the same business in Blackville in connection with his sawmill. One very noted thing about the late James Sims was his relationship to the famous privateer, Sims of the Alabama, of whom he claimed to be a cousin. His stories of adventure were quite entertaining when he could be induced to talk. He remembered, while in England, subscriptions being taken up for the sufferers by the great firamichi fire, and the fact of ladies selling their jewelry to swell the re-lief fund. This incident was strongly impressed on his memory, being a boy in England at the time. He always carried the air and bearing of a manof-warsman, and would sometimes show the boys how they boarded and captured the Spanish slavers off the coasts of South America in the days of old. He was an expert with the or old. He was an expert with the cutlass and an authority on naval tactics, was a good citizen and extremely loyal to the country of his birth. He had many relatives in Hallfax of the same name, a number of whom are in business there."

The boys, representing about all sections of the maritime provinces, were in high feather. Bright eyes, clear complexions and well developed forms attested the salubrity of the situation of the school, which looks out over the salt waters of Courtenay Bay, and the wholesome regimen and bracing discipline of the management The centre of attraction was Flagstaff Hill, on which the speeches were made and the prizes distributed, all being done in the open air.

Rev. J. M. Davenport in his capacity of warden opened the proceedings with a happy and well conceived address. Educational work he had held to be rather a trial of patience than of any other virtue. but from the practical experience of one month as a feacher during the past year he could say it had been his happiest month of the twelve. The boys were as diligent in studies and as well behaved as other boys, and while they worked pretty hard at athletics, when worked pretty hard at athletics, when it came to writing up the marks of the year's study they showed very creditable progress indeed. Since last year they had enjoyed the advantage of a more extensive premises, and it was his hope that in the course of time the school and its equipment would be made still more perfect.

Rev. Owen-Jones, the head master, then made a verbal report of the work of the year, some of his quaintly witty comments on various phases of school life being keenly relished by pupils as well as visitors. After complimenting Fr. Davenport on his success as a day school teacher, the speaker stated that the health of the school had been excellent, but three visits having been required from the doctors during the action was a real those and we have the school was a stated that the health of the school had been excellent, but three visits having been required from the doctors during the entire year, and these only for slight cases of numps. The genu-ine progress of the boys had been up to the average and quite in keeping with the mental ability of the pupils. The percentages in marks ranged from 75 in the majority of cases to 94 in the highest, which was very satisfactory. (Applause.) He did not believe in trying to make the parents believe that their sons were prodigies, but he assured them that the boys had for the most part worked hard and well at their studies. The at-tendance had been most gratifying. After a passing allusion to what had been done in athletics, he called on Archdeacen Brigstocke to pre-

In doing so, he suggested that it might be well for donors to in future rame the subject for which each prize they gave was intended. He said the school had for eighteen months been filled to its capacity of fifty boys, but this year they would lose quite a numthis year they would lose quite a number, and as it was a somewhat preber, and as it was a somewhat pre-carious business to provide pupils for schools of this kind, he besought the friends of the Davenport institution to do what they could to fill up the ranks. It seemed to him that in the matter of education the Canadian people were desperately changeable. In England, when a boy was sent to a school of this kind he was kept there seven or eight years. Here it was not so. It was a poor plan to take a boy away from school in a year because he had not done well at the start. The speaker felt sure there was no school in Canada where greater pains were taken with the boys than at the Davenport institu-but they had to run their ter of attendance just as had such other schools of the same class as Port Hope and Lennoxville. The fact, however, that the Davenport school had been full for some time showed that the parents had every confidence in the institution. In closirg, he asked parents to give timely notice of their intention to withdraw their children, so as to enable the management to promptly fill the va-

pressed the pleasure it gave him to take part for the sixth time in the closing exercises of the Davenport school. After remarking that the citizens of St. John should give this local institution the preference when sending their boys to a boarding school, the speaker drew a contrast between the conduct of those men who became rich in St. John yet gave not Who is the Right Man in the Right Place. that of the Rev. J. M. Davenport, who, coming to this city stranger, had drawn freely his own means to found sustain a school for the special education of young nen. If we have a tree or plant we admire particularly we give it the best possible cultivasible cultivation of mind and body. He thought that the people of St. John were pretty quick to grumble about what they did not get, yet were remarkably slow, in patronizing those good things which were occasionally served up for them. The ven. archdea.on drove home this thought by the thought of the patronians of the heaventy patronians exinstancing the beggarly patronage ex-tended to the recent festival of the Oratorio society, when one of the finest and best of American orchestras played to a house more than half empty. Taking up the matter of attendance at Davenport for the coming year, the archdeacon remarked that parents who wished to send their sons should give early notice, as the indi-cations were that all the spare room would not satisfy the new demands. He congratulated the school, its teachers and its management, and expressed the earnest hope that it would long continue to deserve the full tide of prosperity which it now enjoyed. The crohdeacon then addressed the boys at some little length, taking the Christian example set by Gladstone as the text for his pointed and earnest counsel

tion, emphasized Archdeacon Brig-stocke's proposition that the Daven-port school deserved the best support the citizens could give it. He was, somewhat inclined to the belief of those who thought sending the boys to school away from home surroundings made them more self-reliant. That portion of his worship's remarks, which was particularly aded to the boys, was well coneived and full of good advice. Chancellor Harrison of the New Brunswick university, who was spe-cially called on to speak, made a brief but timely and pertinent address. He said he was glad of this chance to see this community. The school sur-roundings were beautiful and inspir-ing, and the institution itself must leave its imprint on the future men of the province. He complimented the head master on the possession of a keen sense of humor, something not so very common among head evening.

Second Lieut. R. McC. Vanwart of Fredericton, lately appointed to the Brighton Engineers, has been authorized to take a special course of inhe regretted to say that it was occurred to say that it was occurred to stay at home themselves in the evenings and see that their children prepared their lessons. ### AT CAMP SUSSEX.

The Dominion Day Celebration by the Citizen Soldiers.

Arrival of the Sixty-second Fusiliers and the Trooping of the Colors.

Officers Authorized to Join the Equitation School at St. John-Brigade Orders Issued.

SUSSEX, July 1.-In the early mornng indications were that the thirtyfirst anniversary of the confederation of the dominion of Canada would be a wet day, and that our citizen soldiers now in camp would have a disagreeable time in carrying out the duties of trooping the color in the afternoon, and the many who intended witnessing this interesting event would be greatly disappointed; but at about 10 o'clock old Sol made his appearance, and by noon the heat was most intense and so contained the fresh the day, notwithstanding the fresh south to west wind. By noon many were to be seen wending their way on foot to the grounds, where they cated themselves in the many shady nooks there to be found, not a few having their well filled baskets with them and enjoying themselves in true picnic style. Later, carriages loaded with people followed and took up their positions where a good view could be had, until the sound of thunder and the approach of rain caused them to haste away.

The 62nd marched into camp about 1 a. m., and proceeded at once to shine with them. The threatening rain clouds floated rapidly away as the troops approached the grounds, and the day became fine, but dis-

At 2 p. m. the roll of the drums and the shrill sound of the bugles pro-claimed that the martial sons of New Brunswick were on the move and preparing to celebrate with due military omp and ceremony the honors of Canada's day.

The troops were drawn up in line to witness the trooping of the color by the 62nd Fusiliers. After this ceremony the troops formed into col-umn and marched past, after which a march past in quarter column to the stirring strains of the British Grenadiers took place. Then New Bruns-wick "tommies" exhibited a knowledge of their duties and a precision of novement truly surprising, considerng the shortness of the period during which they have been at drill. Who can doubt but that the numerous bright eyes of so many fair repreentatives of their country's beauty of the opposite sex had some effect in stimulating these men to endeavor to make the affair such a success as it

The following brigade orders were issued today:

The announcement contained in the district orders below with regard to the sale of Lee-Enfield rifle ammunition will be hafled with satisfaction by all members of the militia force interested in rifle shooting:

Military District No. 3, District Order, 30th June, 1898:

D. O., 28 June, 1898—Lee-Enfield Ammunition. The ammunition for the Lee-Enfield rifies will be issued until further orders, to all bonafide members of the active militia at $15.00 per thousand rounds. The return into store of all empty shells from such ammunition, free of expense to the public, will be rigidly insisted upon. (A. G. O. 73474.)

D. TRADING STAMPS TURNED DOWN.

By the provisions of an act which Governor Wolcott signed on Thursday and which has now become a law, the Issuing of what is known as trading stamps and coupons is prohibited. This interests every dealer, large or small, throughout the state, as there is hardly a town or community which has not been canvassed by the trading stamp companies and dealers induced to purchase these levices.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., June 26,-The tramp of the tourists is again heard in the land. The season was opened by the advent of about a hundred members of the Massachusetts and Suburban Press Association, who took advantage of the special rates to make a flying trip to the Land of Evangeline and other points of interest. The party spent a short time at and gazing upon Acadian scenery. The old well from which Evangeline was supposed to draw the daily sup ply of water for domestic purposer and the ancient church, with its moth-eaten cushions, high pulpit and quaint sounding board, were of spe-cial interest. The usual relics of bits of coffins, old nails, recovered from the graves of buried Frenchmen, pieces of wood from old willows and French apple trees were eagerly se cured by the visiting Americans builded better than he knew when he wrote his great poem of Evangeline. The proposed plan of erecting a monument to his memory at Grand Pre should be encouraged by all those who are reaping the rich benefits of the ever-increasing summer travel. Natal day was spent by the association in Halifax. On their return they visited Kentville. There eams were provided by the citizens of the town, and the whole party was driven to the far famed "Look Off." From this place on the North Mountain eight counties may be seen upo a clear day, and the visitor is well repaid for his mountain climb, as this view is the widest and finest in the province. In the evening the party was wined and dined at the Aberdeen and speeches and songs were given by the witty editors. The next day the association departed, expressing themselves well pleased with their

The advisability of the removal of the government agricultural school from Truro to Wolfville is agitating from Truro to Wolfville is agitating the minds of the general public. The local government is said to have confessed that it seems like a waste of public money to continue the school in its present locality. Its amalgamation with the school of horticulture now established at Wolfville seems the only feasible plan. There is no county in the province so well adapted for both schools as Kings. The people realize this, and will make an effort to press their claim upon the government. The following resolution was passed by the town council, of Wolfville.

Whereas, several desirable properties within the town are now in the market at fair prices, admirable adapted for the location of said school and experimental farm; it is Further Resolved, that the said government be requested favorably to consider the advantage of establishing said college and farm at Wolfville, and that a copy of the resolution be forwarded to the provincial sec-

The bluffs on the coast line echoed with the roar of every explosion and the Spanish vessels sank deeper and deeper into the sand or else on the tecks pounded their hulls to pieces as they rolled and pitched forward or sidewise with every wave that dashed upon them from the open sea.

Admiral Cervera escaped to the shore in a boat sent by the Gloricester to the assistance of the Infanta Maria Teresa, and as soon as he touched the beach he surrendered himself and his command to Lieut. Norton and asked to be taken on board the Gloucester, which was the

the beat of his knowledge not one. American ship had been struck.

The torpede boat Ericason, which also returned from the westward about the same time, made the same report, saying it was believed no man was injured on board the American ships, though another report had it that one man was killed on board the Brooklyn, which could not be verified as this despatch is sent.

There is no means of telling now what the Spanish loss was, but it is believed to have been very heavy, as believed to have been very heavy, as the prisoners in custody report their decks strewn with dead and wounded in great numbers, and besides there is the statement that many bodies could be seen fastened to pieces of wreckage floating in the sea after the fight was over. A large number of the Spanish wounded were removed to the American ships.

There can be no doubt that Admiral Cervers's plan to escape from Santiago harbor was entirely unexpected by Admiral Sampson, and the best evidence of this is the fact that when the Spanish vessels were seen coming out of the harbor the flagship New York was seven miles away, steaming to the eastward toward Juragua, the military base, nine miles east of Mor-ro. The New York was out of the tight altogether at every stage, but she immediately put about and fol-lowed the others.

The president had not a moment's respite. Telegrams came and went without cessation and the executive mansion presented a scene such as has never been paralleled since the tous hours of the civil war. Stirring as are all the official de-spatches received today, Sompson's despatch was accorded the honor of Admiral Sampson's despatch not only disclosed the tremendous prowess of the American fleet, but it again disayed the strange immunity which the midst of death and carnage. That but one of our sailors, a youman on the Brooklyn, should have been killed in an engagement of this magnitude, is without a parallel in naval annal save in the record which Dewey mad destroyed, the way is partly cleared for the advance of the American squadron into the harbor of Santiago. If Cervera's armored cruisers could cross the mine field and clear the Merrimac at the entrance to the harbor, the American ships can follow the same course. There are the in-ner fortifications and island forts still through a baptism of fire recently and are little more than rulns. Thus with Shafter's guns thundering on Santiago from the land, and Samp-son's fleet from the harbor, the fall of the city is assured beyond further question. The authorities here, mili-tary and naval, say that Santiago has already made its best fight and that its occupation is only a question of very brief time.

General Shafter's strong position In one of these he says: "I feel that I am master of the situation and can hold the enemy for any length of time."

In another despatch General Shafter states that his demand for the surrender of Santiago is still being considered by the Spanish authorities, which indicates that the refusal of the Spanish commander to capitulate was not final. In any event, twelve o'clock on Tuesday marks the limit of Shafter's concession, and if Santiag has not capitulated at that hour th great siege guns now brought to the front and in position, backed by the batteries of lighter field pieces, will begin their work of destruction.

It has been acting Admiral Sampson for some time, but that it will be Admiral Sampson, in fact as well as in name, is the prevailing opinion in naval circles as a result of the victory reported by the admiral. In the event of his now being made an admiral it would advance him over the ten commodores making up the list of that grade, and would place him just below Admiral Dewey.
