WORK COMMENCED ON FIRE STATION

Large Crew Excavating Basement and Work Will be Rushed.

The Town Council lost no time in beginning the erection of the new fire station, and to-day the basement excavation is well along.

It is the intention of the Council to rush the work so that quarters will be ready before the real cold weather sets in.

The McRae lot on the corner of Roseberry and Adam Streets has been purchased. This lot is considered by all an admirable location and will be most central.

The building will be built of vetri-fied clay blocks with brick front, and will be exclusively for the use of the Fire Brigade.

NEW YORK LIGHT OPERA SINGERS

A large audience of representative citizens greeted the New York Light Opera Singers on Monday evening. This popular company came to Campbellton under a committee of the Soldiers' Memorial Hospital and a very gratifying amount was realized for hospital purposes.

NOMINATIONS ARE COMING IN NOW

Most Popular Lady Contest Gives Promise of Being Interesting.

Considerable interest is already manifest in the most popular lady contest and already nominations are being received by the manager of the contest.

Our readers are entitled to nominate any lady a resident of Campbellton in this contest and votes are given with every purchase made at the following stores:

The Graphic, Omer Guldry, Opera House, Marquis & Co., J. P. Gallagher, Ferguson & Wallace, Miss L. J. Henderson, B. A. Mowat, H. R. Humphrey, Chas. Goss, Joseph Duncan.

At the Opera House ten vote coupons are given with each admission to the moving pictures, while with new subscriptions to the Graphic fifty vote coupons are given and twenty-five vote coupons for every renewal.

Read the conditions in adv. on another page, then nominate your favorite.

The nomination will be published in an early issue of the Graphic.

In the meantime save your coupons and have them for your favorite in the contest.

This contest will be run in a fair and square manner. The votes will all be deposited in a box provided and will be counted by independent judges at the close of the contest. No results will be known until the votes are counted after the contest closes.

There is nothing to prevent any lady from entering this contest and by the help of her friends, winning the prize. So that every lady working for the Graphic in this contest may have something for her work we will allow ten per cent. or fifteen per cent upon every subscription, to the contestants, other than the winner. By this arrangement every contestant will be paid for her work.

SUB-INSPECTORS APPOINTED

Upon the recommendation of Chief Inspector W. D. Wilson, the following liquor sub-inspectors have been appointed: D. Austin Kean, of Campbellton, for Restigouche county; Alvin Nevins, of Hartland, for Northampton; and Wakefield, Carleton county; Adam Dickson for Northumberland county.

LADY VOTERS NOT ENTHUSIASTIC

Few Take Trouble of Applying to Have Names Placed on List.

The revisors of votes for Campbellton report that only a small percentage of the ladies entitled to vote in provincial elections have made the necessary declaration to assure placing their names on the lists. This is a grave mistake on their part as an election may be held next year and they will not be able to exercise their franchise. Some Committee of lady workers should take the matter in hand and make a thorough canvass of each ward.

For years women have been agitating for women suffrage, now that it is given them they should show that they appreciate it.

In some sections of the Province we understand that the ladies have taken the matter up earnestly. It is reported that in Sussex there are two hundred more ladies names on the list than male voters.

Women voters should attend to this at once. The revisors meet again Oct. 21st, and any names handed in up to that date will be added.

C. S. E. T. BOYS ANNUAL SUPPER

Large Number of Boys and Workers Present Friday Evening.

The annual C. S. E. T. supper was held in St. Andrew's hall last Friday evening and brought together a large number of the boys and those interested in boys' work. His Worship Mayor Murray presided.

A most bountiful supper was served by the ladies, after which addresses were delivered by the chairman, President Jr. M. MacLean, Sec. D. McLean, M. A. Kelly, Rev. J. F. Rowley and others, and were listened to with deep interest.

The winter programme was mapped out and work for the season inaugurated.

FEW BOND BUYERS AFFECTED BY TAX

It is interesting that will be taxed not the Principal.

There is a general impression abroad that the total amount of money invested by any one subscribed in the Victory Loan 1919 will be subject to taxation. This impression is erroneous.

It will be the interest from the investment that will be taxed, not the principal invested.

As a matter of fact very few investors in the new loan will be brought within the scope of the Income War Act by reason of investments in Victory Bonds. With small estates and investors the law does not become effective under $2,000 in the

CARTIER'S MONUMENT

SUITABLE MEMORIAL ERECTED TO GREAT STATESMAN.

Speaking of the French-Canadian leader, Sir John A. Macdonald said: "But for Him Confederation Could Not Have Been Carried."

THE first stone of the national monument erected at the foot of Mount Royal in honor of the memory of Sir George Etienne Cartier, champion of Canadian liberties, statesman, legislator and patriot, was laid on September 2, 1913, with state ceremonial, by Sir Charles Dugas, C.M.G., administrator in the unavoidable absence of H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught. Many notables were present, among them the Prime Minister and Mr. W. Tait (ex-President U.S.A.).

September 4, after six years delay, caused by the war, the monument was unveiled with fitting ceremony by His Majesty the King. Although seated in the heart of the Empire, the marvelous advance of electric appliances has enabled him, by touching a button, to inaugurate the monument in Montreal, which is so closely and fittingly in memorial to one of the most faithful servants of the Crown and Empire, and devoted champion of British interests.

Only a brief resume of the life and work of Sir George Cartier can be given here, for both may be held to represent the history of Canada during the twenty-five years of national events, in which he figured on the public stage. He was born of sterling old French-Canadian stock at St. Antoine-on-the-Richelieu, September 6, 1814. He was barely more than of age when, in a law office headed by an enthusiastic constant for constitutional rights and liberties, he found himself in the midst of the political agitation which culminated in the great insurrection of 1837.

That he took a part with those who were "rebellious" is true, and judging from the history of the times he was not wholly inexcusable. But the unfortunate friction were smoothed away and evil influences in the struggle of Government were removed. Ten years later, when certain people, many not classed as rebels, formulated a program of annexation, Cartier was foremost in denouncing the proposition and asserted, in a resolution in which opinions were correct, that British institutions would remain all provincial evils and "publicly and solemnly protested against the union enunciated" in the annexation manifesto. And his whole life after that dark period was devoted to the cause of Canada, advancing Canadian interests, under the all-prevailing British flag.

Until the year 1848 that he left the seclusion of his law office and studies, and entered public life, but from that date until his death in 1873 he never left it, and his life was given to the welfare and advancement of the country he loved so well. And it was not long before his great ability placed him in the foremost offices of public trust, firstly Attorney-General of Lower Canada. From 1843 to 1845 he occupied the position of Prime Minister in the old Province of Canada, and his tenure of office was signalized by great provincial progress and administrative ability. He notably devoted himself to reform in legal matters. Civil laws were codified and Superior Court districts established.

The period was one in which political agitation ran high and Cartier held the helm with a firm hand and kept the ship of state on a steady course which led to the haven of Confederation. When the great scheme was brought within the arena of possible accomplishment he fought for it with all his great force and influence in the teeth of great and well conducted opposition. And with such effect that we have the recorded assurance of Sir John Macdonald that "but for him, Confederation could not have been carried."

Charles Tupper has also stated that "without Cartier there could have been no Confederation," and has truly added that, "therefore Canada owes him a debt of gratitude that can never be repaid." Did nothing else stand to his credit he would deserve the best monument his country could give him. But he has to be credited with the promotion and construction of the Grand Trunk and Victoria Bridge. Sir George Cartier's abolition, establishment of Normal schools and organization of the educational system, canalization, establishment of the Provinces of Manitoba and British Columbia, and the International. It was he who, in 1872, introduced the Canadian Pacific Railway proposition into the House of Commons. This proved to be his valdictory for his premature death occurred in the following year.

Great indeed was Cartier's work for Canada, and the lasting mark of popular applause for years indicated that his fellow citizens felt and appreciated the fact. But in the year 1872 the uncertainty of popular applause was demonstrated in Montreal East when he met parliamentary defeat, a comparatively unknown opponent to parliamentary favors being his opponent. Although elected elsewhere within a few days, the sting was evidently keenly felt by his sensitive nature and he went to England, a sick man. The best specialists failed to check the fatal malady he was suffering from and he died in the following year. Every form of public honor was paid to his memory. Parliament adjourned after passing eulogistic resolutions and deciding to erect a monument, now on Parliament Hill, and voting for a state funeral. And the tribute was more than deserved. After his defeat in Montreal, Lord the Governor-General.

HELP CAMPBELLTON

Here is the girl's own story: "For years I had dyspepsia, sour stomach and constipation. I drank hot water and olive oil by the gallon. Nothing helped until I tried buckhorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-ika. ST. STONFUL helped me INSTANTLY." Because Adler-ika flushed the entire alimentary tract it relieves ANY CASE of constipation, sour stomach or gas and prevents appendicitis. It has QUICKEST action of anything we ever sold. (A. Mc G. Donald, druggist).

Paying Toll for Neglect

Needless exposure to damp and cold frequently result in a derangement of the Kidneys and Bladder.

When these important organs fail to do their duty, various evils arise, such as rheumatism, swollen hands and ankles, stiff joints, lumbago, sciatic neuralgia, stone in the bladder or gravel, excruciating pains in the back and sides, constant headaches, dizziness, spots floating before the eyes, weakness of mind without reason, and general debility.

These are signs of serious kidney and bladder trouble, which require immediate attention. The most dependable remedy is found in GIN PILLS. They often prevent the operations which constant neglect may render necessary. They quickly and safely relieve congested kidneys, passing stone and gravel, healing and soothing inflamed organs and restoring them to normal. Thousands of letters from people who have been relieved are continually coming to us. Their writers often beg us to spread the good news to other sufferers that GIN PILLS certainly and surely will bring the help they need. Send for free sample, or go direct to your druggist or dealer. 50c a box. Money refunded if relief not given.

ral (Lord Dufferin) wrote to him a sympathetic letter in which the following words were truly summarized: "The distinction you have won has not been merely personal for your name is incorporated with the most beautiful and most glorious page of our country's history, commencing as it does, with your entrance into public life and culminating in that consolidation of the provinces to which your genius, courage and ability so materially contributed."

The monument erected by the public in Montreal is a noble specimen of the sculptor's art. A base and column topped with a winged figure, it is a fitting monument to the life of Cartier, a very fitting tribute. Other people are ungrateful of the work of the sculptor. Strategem Used by Horse Thief.

Among the many interesting stories told by members of the Canadian Mounted Police is one that has to do with the cleverness of an Indian.

One snowy morning a band of Crees awoke to find that about a dozen of their ponies had been stolen during the night. A band to go in pursuit was immediately organized, and in the course of an hour the trail was struck. The band followed it for thirty miles or more, till it entered a river and headed for a little wooded island.

Smoke was rising from the trees, a opening, apparently by mouth of a cave, was in plain view. Presently a Piegan Indian showed himself in front of the opening. At his heels was a dog.

Pretty soon the dog scented the Crees, who were lying low, and began growling and barking. The Piegan looked up, glanced about him for a moment and then instantly entered the cave. In about ten seconds another Piegan came round the rocks and also went in, then another, and another and another. The Crees lay silently in the bushes, counting, till upward of fifty Piegans had come round the rocks and gone into the cave, and still they kept coming. Each carried a rifle.

When at last seventy men had disappeared in the cave, the supernatural and cautious Crees concluded that the evil spirit had something to do with it. So thoroughly were they filled with this idea that even when re-enforcements came, which was in a few hours, they were reluctant to attack the island.

That night, however, one Cree, less credulous than the others, crossed over the ice to investigate. On approaching the supposed cave, he found that it was no cave at all, but simply an opening leading some ten feet into the rock, where it made a turn and came out on the other side. There was the remnant of a single camp fire, the ponies were gone, and not a Indian was in sight. The ingenious Piegan thief, by making the circuit of the passage and the end of the island seventy times, had so deceived his pursuers as to gain the time necessary for his escape.

CUT DOWN OUTPUT.

An investigating committee has reported in favor of reducing the staff of the Government printing bureau at Ottawa by the introduction of new machinery and dispensing with 403 of its staff. If the output of Government publications were cut down to about one-tenth of their present volume, no public interest would be injured thereby. The committee report is not drastic enough. It contemplates maintaining about the same output by improved methods. It should have recommended the abolition of the Official Record and several other periodical publications. — Chatham World.

MUST PUT THE LOAN OVER

Two millions of dollars more in Canadian Savings Banks deposits during August, fashionable tailors and dress-makers with more orders for expensive clothes than ever in the history of their business; a reported brick demand for diamonds; tremendous heavy travel at a time when its cost is very much greater than ever before; high prices for all the products of the farm and dairy; these are indications of prosperity which warrant the expectation that the forthcoming Victory Loan flotation will be a success.

There are other conditions however, which seem to some observers of greater significance. Without the stimulus supplied by the war, Victory Loan committees have a greater task on their hands than ever before. Upon the success of the loan depends so many things which have an effect upon the economic well being of the nation, that failure is unthinkable. To assure success Canadians as a people will have to put their shoulders under the load with greater determination to succeed than ever they have had to do. Canada cannot afford a failure; the effects would be too disastrous.

U. S. RED CROSS WORK IN RUSSIAN PRISON CAMPS IN GERMANY COMPLETED

Berlin, Aug. 25—The work of the American Red Cross in the Russian prison camps of Germany is finished. In response to the orders of Marshal Foch, the Inter Allied Commission and the Red Cross has turned over the work to the German authorities. Its accomplishment during the past six months has been mainly the care of the Russian prisoners during the most critical time, between the armistice and the period when the blockade was raised on the work without outside assistance. It distributed clothing, medicine and food to camp and hospitals.

That this work has been appreciated is shown by a letter from General Harries, Chief of the American Military Mission, who wrote: "Among the great achievements in connection with the Russian and other war prison camps in Germany."

AS WAR MEMENTO

Public Square of Arras is to be Preserved.

Just as War Left it, It Will Serve to Remind the World That Here the Marauding Huns Were Checked.

In the Little Place of Arras, where once stood the Hotel de Ville, with its belfry and its peal of bells, led by La Joyeuse, is today a notice board in English. It says that this place is to be preserved in its ruin as war has left it.

Other places will be rebuilt again, and will forget, but this Little Place will remain empty, and one day Arras will be more proud of that emptiness and of those few broken stones than are other towns of the most beautiful things that they possess.

For so Arras still remains always, as it is today one of the rocks visible on which the great waters of invasion broke and surged and broke again, but could flow no farther. There they were held. There in the center of Arras you come suddenly today on the dark line of their highest tide.

Elsewhere, across the open country, you come more gradually to the land of war, by roads where troops move, by fields where are lines and lines of brown and white trenches, ready but never used; by empty villages, with here and there a house broken; and so at last into the great No Man's land of France, uninhabited, uninhabitable, where armies fought and fought again, until all is destroyed and men live a gypsy life by the roadside. But in Arras you turn a corner of one of the little streets and it is as if a window had opened suddenly and you looked out on war.

For three years one could only enter Arras from the west, by the road from Doullens through the Anders gate or by the road from St. Pol past Dead Man's corner, where nightly the reliefs, coming up, were shelled. Beside both these roads the trees stand, and the fields are tilled and there are woods across the hills. You enter Arras today through a country unchanged by war. The change is not yet.

It is a silent town. Its houses stand, though scarcely one is quite whole. Their shutters are closed—their broken faces bunched up. The town is like a man that sleeps after long suffering.

So you pass through cobbled streets, very gray, clean, silent streets, between those exhausted houses, going down the Rue St. Aubert and by the white hospital with its green vine leaves. Then you turn up other little streets, with their narrow sky above them and come, very suddenly, on an open lane with hanks on either side, where nettles and coltsfoot and loosestrife grow. But this that looks like a country lane is cobbled, and its banks are heaps of brick.

It is as you enter this lane that you are conscious of something more unexpected and more awful than any ruined and broken things—of an enormous emptiness in the middle of that town of tall houses and narrow streets.

When the years have passed and all the country to the east of Arras has long been made whole; when the trees grow again beside the Cambrai and the Bapaume roads and there are cottages once more in Beaurains and Remy and Vis-en-Artola, there will still be that sudden emptiness beneath the sky among the narrow streets of Arras.

Standing there, men will remember that once one could come into Arras only from the west. They will think of it then as of one of those towns, now far inland and surrounded by quick fields, which once were on the seashore. They will look at that gray ruin of the town hall as at the ruins of a great rock where once the storms beat.

It Still Held Good.

George Ade was talking about the high cost of living at Palm Beach. He said:

"While a Palm Beach barber was shaving me one day, I asked him if he knew the significance of the red and white striped pole outside his shop." "I do, sir," the barber answered. "That pole dates from the days when barbers were also surgeons. It means that the barber bleeds his customers."

"So saying, the man handed me a check for 65 cents."

"Well, well," said I. "Sixty-five cents for a shave, eh? Whatever you do, my friend, don't take down your pole."

Defining an Impression.

"So you're on the water wagon at last?" "Nothing so limited," replied Uncle Bill Bottletop. "Water has become so predominant wherever I look that I feel more as if I were on a steamboat."

No End to That.

"I thought more than a year ago they agreed not to quarrel any more." "So they did but they've been wrangling about the peace terms ever since."

Some Gardener.

"Husband very fond of his garden?" "Very. He's even hired a man to come once a week to keep it weeded."

He is Really Anxious.

"What's become of the old-fashioned man who used to say that the first thing we know reformers would pass a law making it a criminal offense for a man to kiss his wife?" "Oh, he's still about her. He didn't really mean what he said then, but this anti-tobacco crusade has him so worried he's no longer making facetious predictions."

Too late

Take Hall's Wine NOW!

It is not courage, but grave folly, to keep on working 'till you drop,' 'till it is too late to do anything but put all work aside perhaps for weeks and months of rest.

'HALL'S WINE' has prevented many a serious breakdown

These words, from a doctor, are of vital meaning nowadays to men of business and industry, or overworked men.

"Don't let too late."

DOCTOR PRAISES ZAM-BUK

"For sixteen years," writes Dr. A. P. Shibley of Washington, D.C., "I have used Zam-Buk in my practice, and am convinced that there is nothing to compare with it for skin troubles, from roughness and irritation to chronic skin diseases. Zam-Buk, without a doubt, has wonderful curative properties, and when I have occasion to recommend a balm to my patients, I always recommend Zam-Buk. I have found the results from its use to be perfectly satisfactory."

Members of the medical profession are asked for their caution in recommending a remedy—only doing so when they have absolute confidence in it. The fact that Zam-Buk is so highly recommended by doctors the world over, and that in Dr. Shibley's experience it has stood the test of sixteen years' constant use, puts it, undoubtedly, in a class by itself.

In the home, in the office, shop and factory, on the farm and when travelling, Zam-Buk should be kept always handy. It is indispensable for a sore, eczema, boils, ulcers, blood poisoning and piles, as well as for burns, bruises and scalds. All dealers sell boxes.

An Indian Rip Van Winkle

In his "Book of the National Parks," Robert Sterling Ward recalls a delightful old Indian parallel to Irving's story of Rip Van Winkle—or perhaps it is the original of Irving's Rip.

The hero of the Mount Rainier story was a wise and wily Sahemian and hunter. He always had salmon and berries when food became scarce and prices high. Gradually he amassed large savings in blagga, the little perforated shell which was the most valued form of wampum, the Indian's money. The richer he got the stronger his passion grew for blagga, and when a spirit told him in a dream of vast horizons at the summit of Rainier he determined to climb the mountain. The spirit was Tannamou, which is the vague Indian personification of the supernatural.

So he threaded the forests and climbed the mountain's gleaming side. At the summit he looked over the rim into a large basin, in the bottom of which was a black lake surrounded by purple rock. At the lake's eastern end stood three monuments. The first was tall as a man and had a head carved like a salmon; the second was the image of a canoe; the third was four times as big. The eleven sat themselves in a circle around the lake and began to sing. The first was tall as a man and had a head carved like a salmon; the second was the image of a canoe; the third was four times as big.

DECISIONS MADE

BY PHARMACISTS

To dispense no liquor if it could be handled for medical purposes by any other system, to preserve the Canadian market for Canadian made goods, to accord to the returned soldier pharmacist graduate the most generous treatment possible in the matter of inter-provincial reciprocity of diplomas, and to meet in Montreal in 1920, were among the notable decisions at the Friday session of the Pharmaceutical Convention at Winnipeg.

The new officers were elected, J. R. Barnabe, Montreal, being chosen as the Dominion president for the ensuing year.

LIQUOR PRICES TO BE LOWER.

New Regulations in Effect on November 1.

Controlled prices of liquor, sold on physicians' prescriptions in New Brunswick, will go into effect on Nov. 1, when the present wholesale and retail vendors licenses expire.

Conferences have resulted in the fixing of the profits, which will be allowed and, it is stated, that wholesalers will carry on at a 20 per cent. basis, while retail vendors will be allowed to add 22 1/2 per cent. to the cost of liquors as their profits.

Vendors say that standard brands of Scotch whiskey, which have been selling at $3.50, will retail at about $2.75 per bottle of 24 ounces, under the new system, while there will be a similar reduction in prices of other liquors. The new price lists will be published and vendors will be subject to penalties for selling in advance of the schedule which will be posted in their establishments.

A MAN OF DEEDS.

Col. Ripley Never Looked for the Spotlight.

The khaki of returned men is fast being relegated to the limbo of half-forgotten things, and the thoughts of their experiences are transient now in the pursuit of the much longer tar-

Blair, D.S.O., C.B.E., O.C., who

of Battalion Railway Troops, whose plendid leadership, untiring indusname to be a revered one among the men who had the good fortune to come under his command. A quiet and reserved man, he has that which comes from big under-setback of the war, and the record and experience in supervising the laying of steel and the erection of bridges.

"Railways are the arteries of modern warfare"—this fact was early recognized by Sir Eric Geddes, and in the first of the Great War, the of light gauge railway track was laid with the rapidity of spreading a carpet, but it only partially relieved the congestion. Broad gauge railways were urgently required to bring troops and supplies to the rail heads. In the autumn of 1916, the 1st Battalion

C.P.R. worked on the Sohier, building narrow gauge, at Maricourt,

Couba, le Forel Farm, Rouge, and Doncheville.

Early in the following spring the German, yielding to pressure from the British, evacuated Bapaume and Peronne, leaving a vast tract of wilderness in their wake, and the British was possible to lay heavy steel on this indecipherable waste of mud, and in region shell and mortar fire was the tremendous effort? There was a diversity of opinion and many of-project.

Col. Ripley undertook the job, and in less than two weeks a train ran over broad gauge rails into Peronne

(the jumping off place of the first German offensive), to the British

Wood, through Clercy, then a heap

the 36 feet gauge of rail, by num-up through the snow on motor locomotives, and the 1st C.P.R. applied

An Unfortunate Name.

It is customary in China, when the number of children—daughters preponderant—begins to exceed the family income, to name the latest comer "Enough." Acting upon this superstition, the Lees, a native Christian family, presented their seventh child for baptism, relates World Outlook. "What is her name?" inquired the missionary pastor. "Enough!" answered both parents in fervent unison. "That will never do!" the pastor frowned. "Think of a more fitting name." But Mr. and Mrs. Lee were smitten with stage-fright and could think of nothing. The Bible woman sitting near whispered: "Call her 'Dorcas'." So Dorcas she was named. But fancy the dismay of Mr. and Mrs. Lee when they discovered that Dorcas, translated into the native dialect, is identical in sound with the Chinese words, "Many more!"

Canadian Houses in England. Agent General Wade, of British Columbia, interviewed by the London News, said that hundreds of thousands of half-timbered houses will be imported from British Columbia in a short time and erected in Britain within a few days of arrival, and thus relieve the housing problem. Mr. Wade admits that architects and builders would oppose the importation, but such houses, he says, would have a high proof and greater than any ever seen in the West of England.
