office states that the Haytien provisional government has communicated to Germany that Hayti regarded the Firmist gunboat Crete-a-Pierrot as a pirate, and that the interests of Hayti were untouched by the action of the German gunboat Panther in sinking the Crete-a-Pierrot at the entrance of the harbor of Gonaives. SURPRISED THE PIRATE. The German marine ministry has given out the following official report ditions would be much more marked of the sinking of the Firminist gunboat Crete-a-Pierrot: "Captain Rekarmann, of the Panther, had received orders to capture the pirate gunboat the Crete-a-Pierrot. The German commandant sent the following ulti-

"Strike your colors within fifteen minutes and disembark from your ship without undertaking any defensive measures whatever; otherwise an immediate attack will follow.' The Panther had already cleared for action. The Crete-a-Pierrot hauled down her flag within the allotted time and the crew disembarked.

MAGAZINE EXPLODED. "The Panther then intended to take the Crete-a-Pierrot in tow, but an explosion of her after powder magazine soon occurred, which was evidently effected by the Crete-a-Pierrot's crew. The explosion destroyed her stern, and set the vessel on fire, rendering taking her in tow impossible, as further explosions followed. As this was regarded as a hostile act, and as the afore were still in condition, the Panther's captain caused the forward magazine to be exploded through a cannonade. After this the Crete-a-Pierrot broke up and sank. The admiral was on board with the rebels. Ganovies is in the hands of the re-

NEWSPAPER COMMENTS. London, Sept. 8 .- A few of the afternoon newspapers, in commenting on the subject, seem to anticipate that the sinking of the Firmist gunboat by the German gunboat Panther may prove controversial. Washington, Sept. 8 .- The state department officials have not changed their views that the Cape Haytien incident was one between the German and Haytien Governments, and that it was not the busines of the United States. The Berlin advices to the effect that the Haytien Government had expressed its satisfaction with the situation being brought to the attention of the department here went to confirm the officials in their position. On the whole it is felt that the termination of Killick's career in summary fashion may have a salutary effect not only in Hayti, but also in South and Central American countries, heretofore the slightest revolutionary disturbance has been made the pretext for vexatious and expensive terference with foreign merchant ves-

COMMANDER McCREA'S OPINION. Boston, Sept. 9.—Commander Henry McCrea, of the gunboat Machias, now at the navy yard here, who recently was in Haytian waters in charge of the United States interests, was much interested in the reports of the sinking of the Firmist gunboat Crete-a-Pierrot at the entrance of Gonaives harbor by the German gunboat Panther. He said: 'From the newspaper accounts I presume the orders of the German commander were to seize the Crete-a-Pierrot and prevent further interference with innocent foreign commerce, and to sustain the position that the Cretea-Pierrot had no right to seize or search foreign merchantmen, since the Firmist Government had not been recognized as belligerents. Where the figures for England are more satisfactory than those of France is in the latter's inability to reduce its death rate. The French birth rate in 1900 was 22.4, and the mortality was 23 per 1.000. France's population stands practically where it did five years ago. Port Rowan Ont Sent. 9.-The steamer Stevens, of Buffalo, loaded with copper and flour and bound from Duluth to Buffalo, was burned to the water's edge off Clear Creek, Port Rowan, last night. Crew all saved. Southampton, Sept. 8 .- This morning

one of the fishing boats from this place discovered part of a wreck about ten miles west of here, in Lake Huron and towed it to shore. The lake shore two miles from here is covered with wreckage, deckplanks, cabin fur-niture, ports, doors and other articles. IT WAS THE LOUISE.

Port Huron, Mich., Sept. 8.—The wreckage cast up along the shore of Lake Huron near Kincardine is from the yacht Louise, which was abandoned by her crew of pleasure seekers on Friday 60 miles northeast of Sand Beach. Cambaceres had been poisoned, and the authorities ordered the body to be disentombed and a post mortem examination made. When the coffin was opened it was found, to the horror of everyone, that the veil which covered the face of the unfortunate girl was torn, and her face scratched all over. From these facts it appeared clear that Mlle. Cambaceres had been buried alive, and had torn the veil scratched her face in her struggles to get out of the coffin.

The case, though not reported in the press, has produced a most painful impression in Buenos Ayres, and more so as Mlle. Cambaceres was very pretty nor Stone refused to comment on this and beloved by all who knew her. ALIVE IN COFFIN.

From Malmoe, the picturesque little Swedish town which faces Copenhagen, across the Sound, comes a ghastly story of premature interment. A servant girl of the town who suffered from severe toothache had placed in the hollow of a decayed tooth, before she went to bed, a small wad of cotton wool, which had been steeped in narcotic oil. While she was asleep the cotton dropped into her windpipe, and she was found the next morning apparently dead.

The master, believing that she had taken poison for the purpose of committing suicide, and being anxious to avoid publicity of the matter, at once sent for a coffin; the body was placed in it, and it was screwed up. Later on, in order to obtain the medical sertificate, without which the burial could not take place, a doctor was sent for, and, on his arrival, the offin lid was unscrewed. What was the horror of all to discover from the appearance of the girl's body that she had evidently recovered her senses after being enclosed in the coffin, and had made violent and ineffectual efforts to free herself-efforts which had finally ceased only when death really came to her aid.

Pennsylvania Legislature

If Assured That They Could Legally Settle the Strike.

New York, Sept. 9 .- Governor Stone, of Pennsylvania made a brief state-ment today relative to his presence here and the coal situation. He said: "I am here on private business. I am as anxious to have the strike in Pennsylvania settled as anyone can possibly be. I can only repeat what I have already said, that if I can be satisfied that the legislature would pass a law that would be constitutional, and that would settle the strike killed yesterday and ten were wounded in a conflict between troops and strikers at Candela, a small town in Southeastern Italy. Owing to a dispute with the landowners on a question of wages 400 peasants stopped work. The strikers occupied all the roads in the district, and prevented others from proceeding to their work. The gendarmes, in attempting to intervene, were assailed with stones and sticks. Troops were then called out, and were received with volleys of stones, which felled several of the soldiers. The troops then fired, killing five strikers and wounding ten.

The young men had been warned against starting out in the storm, but they laughed and rowed away. That was the last seen of them. Miller's coat was found in the lake Sunday after-

As an epigrammatic talker he could discount the Hon. William Devery. His witticisms and plain speech used to keep his New York audiences in a continued roar of laughter, and to an excent detracted from the seriousness of the subject he used to handle so

He was wont to intersperse his lechave done credit to Joe Emmett or Gus Williams, in their palmy days. He was wont to denounce the Republican party and speak of the Democrats as "rubicund-nosed individuals." He was fond of telling that he had been official reporter of his state's senate, and was consequently in a position to know something of the traits and habits of professional politicians. [St. Thomas Journal, Sept. 8.] The city street railway system is tied up today, not a car being run. Remarkable Recovery From Nervous Collapse

A Methodist Minister Tells How He Was Rescued From a Helpless Condition by

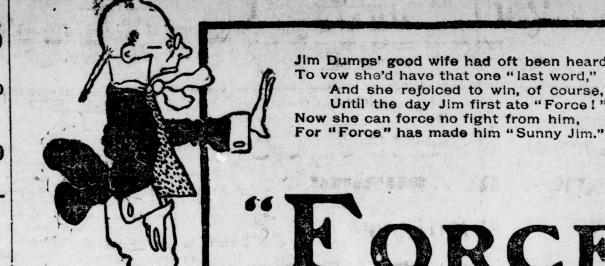

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

That Dr. Chase's Nerve Food possesses unusual control over the nerves and rekindles nervous energy when all other means fail is well illustrated in the case described below. Mr. Brown was forced to give up his ministerial work, and so far exhausted that for a time he was positively helpless. Doctors were consulted and many remedies were resorted to, in vain. Every effort to build up the system semed in vala and it is little wonder that the sufferer was losing hope of recovery, when he began to use Dr. Chase's Nerve

Already the receipts equal one-half of the total receipts of last year's exhibition. In addition, the reports from the railroad managers indicate that the attendance this week will exceed by many thousands the people handled by the roads last year into Toronto. Equipment is being pushed out on the line for the accommodation of exhibition visitors. Every day this week big excursions will be run from different directions. Saturday the receipts were $9,000. "Secondly, this country has been asleep for 20 years—or during the whole period of the Salisbury administration. England has seemed content to rest on its laurels. We imagined ourselves so far ahead of every other country in the world that we saw no necessity for exertion. We are just waking up to a realization of the fact that we are getting left. America has set the pace, and we shall have to follow her example, both as to government methods and commercial system if we wish to retain any position in the world's affairs, or, indeed, regain Vancostello was shot in the leg and Portay, was knocked down, his gun his life is despaired of.

of Big Grain Terminal.

Buffalo, Sept. 9.-In a private car, which pulled into the Erie station of the Grand Trunk Railroad at 8:30 o'clock Saturday night, was a party of prominent officials of the Grand Trunk road. They came to this city direct from Montreal, and some secrecy is attached to their visit.

In the party were C. M. Hays, the first vice-president of the Grand Trunk road, and the following directors of the road: Frank M. Morse, F. H. McGuigan, John W. Loud, Henry Philips and George R. McLeod.

After the party had registered at the Iroquois Hotel, boxes were secured at Shea's Theater, where the railroad men enjoyed the vaudeville entertainment. None of the party would state what brought them to Buffalo at this time. It was rumored, however, that the officials were in the city for the purpose of looking over improved terminal facilities, and that the terminal may be located on the Canadian side. The story goes that it is the intention of the company to build warehouses, elevators and a big terminal station on the Canadian shore nearly opposite Buffalo.

This plan was exploited a short time ago. It was originally discussed at a meeting of the directors, which was held in Montreal about three weeks ago. It was stated at that time that the directors would visit this city for the purpose of looking over the ground.

It has been stated that the Canadian side is not at all available for a terminal and the elevators which the Grand Trunk is contemplating erecting. Experts agree that the land over on the other side is too soft to permit of sound foundation, which would be required for the elevators and new sta-

It is hinted that the Grand Trunk may look for a more favorable terminal on this side of the Niagara River. But as none of the officials would even intimate the object of their visit to this city at this time, it is impossible to state what plans are contemplated.

He says he never made such a remark to any person. It is Cape, with a view to encouraging trade with both countries. Mr. Moore's trip was taken in connection with military supplies for the war. He says that in each of the centers of trade that he visited, he was impressed with cordial and friendly spirit displayed by the people generally towards Canada and Canadians.

"The existence of this sentiment." he says, "at the present time makes it specially opportune for the intro-duction of Canadian products. His Wife.

Wayne, W. Va., Sept. 9.-At Genoa, a small town ten miles south of this place, occurred on Saturday morning a tragedy that has startled the entire southern section of this State. In a frenzy of religious excitement Maurice Wilson, a minister, who for more than 50 years has been prominent in the councils of Baptist churches in this section, drew his razor across the throat of his aged wife, causing instant death.

As she sank lifeless to the floor the gray-haired parson repeated the scriptural passage: "Without the shedding of blood there can be no remission of

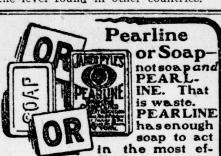

A neighbor, who was attracted to the parson's home, broke down the door. The minister waved aloft the bloody razor, and, with his eyes turned upward as to his God, proclaimed in a tone of ecstatic fervor: "The Lord's will be done. Blessed be the name of

Before the neighbor had recovered from his astonishment sufficiently to stop the murderer, he had taken up Bible, and, still waving in the air the bloody weapon of death, escaped from the house by a back door. He has not since been seen, but it is thought he is hiding in the dense woods near his home. He is more than 80 years old, and it is not thought that can remain long in the forest. The evening before the murder Wilson had preached at Genoa from the text, "Without the shedding of blood there cannot be any remission of sin," and the fervor of his utterances at that time was remarked by many of his hearers. Rev. Mr. Wilson was one of the oldest divines of his church, of the oldest divines of his church, and although he has not been in active work for some time, he has filled the pulpits in some of the most important churches of the State. For three weeks religious meetings have been in progress at Genoa, and the aged minister had always taken an active part. The popular theory is that his mind has become permanently deranged by religious excitement.

The passage of Scripture which he quoted as his wife lay lifeless before | him was always a favorite passage, and he was often heard to repeat it. He had been married three times, and is the father of fourteen children, many of whom are prominent citizens of this section of the State. His wife was 70 years old, and their relations had always been of the most amicable nature. Wilson was known personally to nearly every man, woman and child in Wayne county, and his crime is more startling than all others to those among whom he has spent the declining years of his life, who were wont to look up to him as the embodiment of all that was good and noble.

The Two Trade Policies.

Since its exile from office six years ago, the Conservative party has been floundering on the trade question, una footing or a vantage from which to assail the Government. At first it took comfort by ascribing the wonderful access of prosperity, which has accompanied Liberal rule, to the retention of the National Policy, under which the country stagnated for eighteen years. This was the burden of its song at the last general election. It virtually indorsed the Government's tariff policy. British preference and all. Lately there has been a change of tune. The Conservative leaders are repudiating the policy which they claimed as their own offspring. They have come out unequivocally for a general increase in the tariff and the abolition of the British preference, or at least the nullifying of it by making the minimum tariff to high that it will check the flow of British imports. The Liberal party need have no fear in challengcountry well, and the country is disindustry cries for a remedy, but why which every branch of "industry is flourishing? The Conservatives try to make political capital out of Mr. Tarte's advocacy of higher duties on Mr. Sifton's preference for a tariff have yet to learn that Mr. Tarte and Mr. Sifton have not loyally accepted the present arrangement as a compromise, while free to urge their own opinions. It is the definite policy of the Government, as promulgated in Parliament, and not the individual views of Cabinet ministers, by which the Liberal party must be judged. At of the hypocrisy of posing as the champions of Imperial preferential trade, on the basis of excluding British imports—the products of this country's best customer-from the Canadian market. It is only recently that the Conservative party has dared to attack the preferential feature of the Canadian tariff. That feature has been splendidly vindicated by results and will be the nucleus of the commercial federation of the Empire, if such a system is to be brought about. party in Canadia is badly stultified.

Manitoba's New Problem.

When the Manitoba Government last year closed the deal by which it practically took over the Northern Pacific and Canadian Northern railway systems. Sir Wm. Van Horne declared that it would bankrupt the Province. He may have overstated the case, but the financial sequel of the deal will probably bankrupt public confidence in the Roblin Government. Roughly speaking, the Government leased all the lines of the Northern Pacific in Manitoba, and these were connected with the line of the Canadian Northern Railway Company (Mackenzie and Mann) from Winnipeg to Port Arthur, the management of the whole system being handed over to the Canadian Northern. The Province assumed the indebtedness of the system, thereby incurring a liability estimated at $442,000 a year, but retained control of the railway rates. This control of rates was the Government's trump card, in appealing to the Legislature and the public for support. The farmers were promised effective competition against the C. P. R. Premier Roblin declared that they would no longer "sweat drops of blood in order that the C. P. R. might have more lords, more dukes and more knights setting upon the banks of the River Thames." In moving the second reading of the of the lines would prevent the Province from having to meet any of its liabilities in the premises. He estimated the profits in the first year at $181,675. Mr. Greenway, the leader of the Opposition, strongly opposed the arrangement, and said that anyone who supported it would dig his own political grave. The Winnipeg Board of Trade also pronounced against the deal. It has now been in operation about a year and a half. Within the past few days the Province has been surprised by a new tariff on the system under Government control, which increases freight rates on many classes of merchandise, amounting in some cases to 50 per cent. Equally surprising is the fact that this new tariff has been issued simultaneously with another by the C. P. R., and that the rates exactly correspond in both cases. "The effect of these increases," says the Winnipeg Free Press, "is to add to the cost of the commodities in every store of merchants doing business at or tributary to stations on the Canadian Northern, to quote the official language set forth which goes out of Winnipeg to points written nearly sixty years ago: "It is poetical expression he'll pop the queswithin the Province, fully 90 per cent | my carnest desire . . to provide | tion.

consists of shipments of goods by the wholesalers of Winnipeg. That is to say, this new schedule of rates fixed by the Provincial Government applies to every article in every retail store in Manitoba outside Winnipeg, which has been supplied by a wholesale house in this city. This is the manner in which Mr. Roblin, railway commissioner of Manitoba, fulfils his pledge to stand by the farmers of Manitoba against the exactions of the C. P. R." The same paper charges that the C. P. R. and the Government have worked in collusion. The inference is that the Government has been obliged to advance the rates, order to avert a railway deficit, which the Province would have to make good. This may be only a temporary necessity, but it will tell heavily against the Government, as the electors were fed with promises of cheaper railway rates.

Can Do Good Work. There is a well-founded objection to the multiplying of civic bodies, causing overlapping of public business and irresponsible expenditure of public money by those which are not amenable to the control of the city council. The proposed appointment of a park commission for this city, however, is not open to the same complaint, as Ald. Campbell has wisely provided in his bylaw that the council shall govern the appropriation. The City Council of Hamilton petitioned the Legislature at the last session to abolish the local park commission, but the reason aleged was that the commission was extravagant and insisted on spending the whole proportion of the tax rate ing the Opposition on these issues. The allowed it by the statute, regardless of present moderate tariff has served the the financial exigencies of the council. With the taxpayers safeguarded on posed to let well enough alone. There that point, a park commission will be may be some pretext for tariff tinker- able to do effective service in this city. ing in a period of depression, when It is a duty that could be performed better outside the council by a comdisturb and unsettle conditions under mittee of citizens with special knowledge of the work, who would be able to spend to much better advantage the money that now goes for the same purpose. What is badly needed is more system in the beautifying of the even lower than the existing one. There at present for the planting of shade for want of uniformity in this particular. The commission, in addition to this, might devise some scheme for keeping the boulevards tidy. The question of additional playgrounds and park spaces is also too important to. be ignored much longer.

Germany has asserted her rights in sinking a Haytien pirate ship which On this question the Conservative the feeble government of that republic was unable to do. > Major Maude, the English official swell who prescribes etiquette for the blooming colonials at Ottawa, ruled several aldermen out of a public function at the capital on the ground that they were not dignitaries. What do Ald. Cooper, Ald. Dreaney and Ald. Douglass think of that? The Ottawa civic solons must be a poor-spirited lot to put up with such an affront.

Mr. Joseph Gould, of Boston, a large cattle buyer, writes the Toronto World that Chicago cattle are superior to Canadian cattle, not because of breedng, but because the United States farmer has an advantage over the Canadian in an abundance of cheap corn. Mr. Gould is a Canadian, who spent most of his life in this country, and he should know what he is talking about. The remission of the duty on corn has been the salvation of the Canadian live stock business in the past few years.

The metric system of weights and measures, which has been recommended by the Imperial Conference for adoption throughout the Empire, is not generally understood in this country. The meter is the standard measure of length; it is usually divided measure he affirmed that the earnings | into 100 centimeters, of 1,000 millimeters - (one meter equals 391/3 inches). The meter can be squared for measures of surface, or cubed for measures of bulk or volume, just as yards or feet can be squared or cubed. Water has been happily chosen as the material that determines the weight. One cubic meter of cold water weighs 1.000 kilos, or one ton. The liter is the standard measure of fluids, grain, etc.; it can be divided into ten deciliters, or 100 centiliters (one liter equals 1% pints). One liter of cold water weighs one kilo. The kilo is the standard measure of weight; it is usually divided into 1,000 grams-(half a kilo equals 1.1 or 1 1-16 pounds).

The Ottawa Free Press has a most appreciative review of the sketch of Dr. Ryerson, just published by Dr. J. George Hodgins, ex-Deputy Minister of Education, and now librarian of the Provincial Department of Education. The Province, it says, owes Dr. Hodgins a debt of gratitude. He seems to have had before him in the preparation of the booklet a passage from Dr. on the schedule. Of all the freight Ryerson's letter accepting office and Truly is it said that "in founding the school system of his native province and in promoting the establishment of free schools he displayed the rare gifts of a far-seeing and enlightened statesman." The late Dr. Ryerson might be called an educational statesman, and it is well that the record of his life work, which is interwoven with the history of this Province, has been preserved in such admirable form by Dr. Hodgins, to whom the task must have been a labor of

Good Enough for a Horse. [London Chronicle.]

A well known North of Ireland gentleman, greatly interested in Irish industries, was recently making a tour through county Donegal. While driv-ing through an Irish speaking district, he remarked that the jarvey spoke to the occupants of the car in Irish, while he abused his horse for being slow in English. At length the gentleman inquired why he made the distinction? Jarvey-Arrah, sure, yer honor, isn't English good enough for a horse.

The Man Who Clipped.

'Aha!" he mutters to himself, "Here's 'How to Make Rice Fritters,'

And 'Home-Made Stomach Bitters.'"

Then from his pocket forth he took A pair of scissors small, And severed from the printed page The helpful hints and all.

He clipped "The Way to Scramble Eggs,"
And "How to Make Peach Butter," As well as half a dozen more "That's all"—again his mutter. "A thoughtful man," at once I mused, Anarchists in Spain celebrated the anniversary of the assassination President McKinley.

A child three years of age died of drunkenness the other day in New York City. The parents said they had given child whisky to strengthen him. In their absence he found a bottle of whisky and drank from it, until he fell over in a drunken stupor, from which the physician could not arouse him. That is only one case in several cases of baby drunkards recently noted. The important fact is that alcoholic stimulants quickly develop the alcoholic habit in children. This fact is just as true when the alcohol is disguised as a medicine, a "sarsaparilla" or other "compound." So many medicines contain alcohol, to the same extent that it is contained in beer or whisky, that parents should be cautious what medicines they give their children.

There is absolutely no alcohol, whisky or intoxicant in any form in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, neither does it contain opium or any other narcotic. It is a blood-making and body-building medicine. It does not make flabby flesh but good, firm flesh and muscle. It is pleasant to the taste.

"My four year old daughter had suffered from indigestion and bowel trouble from birth," writes Mrs. Lizzie Aten, of Buldmount, Lackawauna Co., Pa. "The treatment given her by home doctors afforded but temperary relief. Last February she was taken with severe pain in the bowels, followed by violent vomiting. She experienced difficulty in passing urine, which, when cool, deposited a milky sediment. I became alarmed from her symptoms and wrote to the World's Dispensary Medical Association of Buffalo, N. Y., receiving in reply a letter, advising the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, together with a special medicine which they sent. This line of treatment I followed for about two months, at the end of which time my child was eujoying good health, and she has had no severe attack of indigestion since."

Quebec, Sept. 9.-Napoleon Gagne, of St. Evariste de Forsyth, Beauce, who has been in the Klondike for over two years, arrived yesterday morning at Levis, by the G. T. He states that a detective from Dawson City made the trip with him, and is going to St. Evariste de Forsyth to see the father of Beaudern, one of the three miners who were murdered and robbed in the Yukon, and take him back in order to identify the clothes which his son wore and had in his trunk. Mr. Gagne brings home with him some $30,000.

Typographical President Resigns.

Toronto, Sept. 9.—By a majority vote Typographical Union No. 91, at a meeting held in Richmond Hall on Saturday night, demanded that President James Wilson apologize to Mr. Klein, a member, or resign. President Wilson chose the latter course, declaring that the meeting was packed, and that he would stand for re-election. The union's action arose out of a police court case, in which Mr. Wilson charged Mr. Klein with soliciting advertisements for a Labor Day programme, purporting to be in the interests of the Typographical Union. The defendant was discharged, and several members of the union held that an unbrotherly spirit had been shown by Mr. Wilson in bringing the charge, hence the action taken at the meeting.

Ottawa, Sept. 8.-The creamery men of the Northwest will have to be on he watch, otherwise in a year or two they may find themselves having to compete in the British Columbia markets with Danish butter produced in Siberia. In 1897 nearly ten million pounds of butter were exported from the country, last year two establishments run by Danes exported more than that quantity.

gript and straw—Only one load of insterior hay offered. There should be a good demand for the balance of the week, as quite a few buyers were seeking good hay. There is very little hay marketed during the fair week, and hotelkeepers and others should lay in their supply at once. It is conceded by many that we have the largest crop of straw in many years. One large contract was made at $450 per ton.

Butter and Eggs—No change in prices was noted in this line; crock butter sold at 15c to 15c, and pound rolls at 16c to 17c for large lots; a few small lots of gilt-edge butter sold at 18c for pound rolls. Eggs were steady, at 14c per dozen by the basket and crate.

Vegetables and Roots—A few loads of potatoes sold at 66c to 65c per bag; sales at these figures were easily made. CONSTIPATION

Causes Headache, Abdomina Pains, Piles and in Severe Cases Insanity and Apoplexy.

It is a common mistake to conclude that Constipation is not a dangerous condition. Although at first it is only accompanied by slight inconvenience and pain, yet if not corrected, it will inevitably lead to very dire results. Great care should be used in selecting a remedy for constipation, because if a violent purgative is employed, it is sure to set up pain, irritation and congestion, and finally result in piles. The experience of those who have tested all the cures for constipation, seems to prove that Ferrozone is the most agreeable and satisfactory treatment. It makes the bowels so well ordered that natural and unassisted action is established. Nothing can equal the immediate sense of comfort It produces, and pains in the head, and stomach, and in the intestines, disappear almost at once. Ferrozone is very mild and certain in its action, and never causes inconvenience or distress. Ferrozone can be taken early as long as required, and it in no way interferes with business or pleasure, and nothing may be feared from its use however prolonged it may be. Constipation, Piles and Sick Headache, Ferrozone stands unrivaled. The driver of the City Express Com-pany, who suffered from piles, says: Constant sitting on the wagon seat produced a rectal irritation, which combined with constipated condition of the bowels, brought on a severe attack of piles. I used without benefit different ointments, and other remedies; but got quick relief and most satisfactory results from Ferrozone. I can recommend Ferrozone to all who suffer from piles."

Ferrozone always cures, and can be purchased at any reliable drug store for 50 cents a box or three boxes for $1 25. Sent to your address by mail if price is forwarded to N. C. Polson &

CHURCH STATUS OF WOMEN

Radical Change Favored by the Committee of Conference.

Action Postponed-Committee on Memorials at Work.

Winnipeg, Sept. 8.—A brief session of the Methodist conference was held on Saturday, when the report of the committee on memorials was discussed. The committee reported the election of Rev. E. B. Ryckman, D.D., as chairman, and Dr. A. D. Watson as secretary. It recommended that the discipline be amended by the substitution for the words "layman," "laymen," and other masculine words wherever and other mascuine words wherever they occur the words "lay member," "member," "delegate," and "lay dele-gate." The effect of this would be to authorize the admission of women as members to district meetings, annual conferences and the general confer-

The point was raised that this was a constitutional question, which would require a two-thirds vote to carry the recommendation, and had been decided to be such by the general conference of 1894.

Rev. Dr. Ross moved that this decision be reaffirmed. Mr. R. J. McLaughlin argued that the conference as a legislative body could not interpret the original constitution, that is the basis of union; and the first discipline, that of 1883; that this constitution declares certain matters to be constitutional, and that these can only be amended in certain

An amendment declaring that the question was not a constitutional one but was settled by a majority vote

A motion by Mr. N. W. Rowell, K. C., was finally carried that the conference deems it inexpedient to reverse its former decision and reaffirms such

CASE OF ST. JAMES' CHURCH. This afternoon the matter of St. James' Church, Montreal, was taken up. The pastor of the church, Rev. John W. Graham, presented a me-morial from the church, asking for help to wipe out the enormous debt with which it is saddled. The conference probably will refer the matter to a committee to be adjudicated on

The committee on memorials is still reporting on its recommendation re admission of women to equal footing with men in the church courts. Two other committees are ready to make partial reports-the committee on state of the work and the committee on church union.

Willow Glen was immediately put into the hands of carpenters and decorators to undergo thorough repairs, and Arthurthrew Limself with zest into the work of supervision, feeling that he must have employment if he would not lose his reason.

Arthur Halstead and Ida Montrose were married on the sixth of May, the wedding taking place in the First Congregational Church of Albany, after which a reception was given in the grand parlor of the hotel where Mr. Montrose had made his home during the last few weeks.

Late in the afternoon of the same day the young people started on their totr, which was to comprise a trip to the White Mountains, up the St. Lawrence and the great lakes, thence to their own home.

That very evening, in glancing over a paper, Arthur read, among a list of pas-sengers bound for Europe upon a great gleamer, the name of Hon. Dudley Wal-demar and wite, and Miss Audrey Walde-

For a moment it seemed as if his heart had stopped its beating forever, and if he could have dropped into oblivion then and there, he would have welcomed death without a regret.

After their return from the mountains and lakes, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Haistead took up their abode at Willow Glen, but Ida Haistead had discovered ere this their base bushond's heart was not wholly

There was nothing tangible that she could complain of, but she knew in her heart that he did not love her.
She grew quiet and sad; the light died from her eyes, the color from her cheeks, the smiles from her lips.

But only for a time; then she became caim and serene, a peace that was almost divine gradually dawned upon her face, and she took up the burden of life with the patience and sweetness of an angel, meekly bearing her cross and striving to do the best that she could, even though she had nothing but the husks of a dead love to feed upon.

CHAPTER IX.

Meanwhile, as we know, Audrey Waldemar had gone abroad with her parents. They roved from place to place, wnerever there was anything of interest to be seen, trying to bring back the light to the eyes, the smiles to the lips of their daughter.

But it appeared to be all in vain.

She seemed to droop and fade—nothing aroused her interest, nothing gave her any pleasure; and the terrible fear that perhaps they were about to lose the one treasure of their old age, began to follow them about like the grim shadow of some monster watching for his pres. But at length something happened to nange all this. During their sight-seeing they were detained one day at a small ned one day at a small country inn a heavy storm coming suddenly upon est, but it seemed as if fate had doon

Not a thought of any danger to themselves disturbed them; their anxiety was all for their idolized child, who, they leared, in her present weak and nerveless state, would be liable to fall an easy

But their fear. But their fears were groundless, and now Audrey herself was about to be aroused from the lethargy which had hitherto wrapped her about like a somber garment, for within a fortnight after the night spent at that country inn, both father, and mother were stricken with the night spent at that country inn, both father and mother were stricken with that dread disease, and before the end of another two weeks both were quietly sleeping their last long sleep under the green sods of a small town in Germany. Thus the delicate girl was stripped of the love and care which, until now, had shielded her from every ill that could be turned aside from her, and she was left to battle with the world alone.

Alone' it is almost the saddest word in Alone! It is almost the saddest word in the world, and it was one of fearful sig-nificance in that far-off country, where she was a stranger and a wanderer, But, as it happened—if such things ever do simply happen—another American family were stopping in the same town where Mr. and Mrs. Waldemar had died, ing for and supporting her through the last sad rites performed over her loved ones, and then brought her back with them to her own country and to her now desolate home. Before leaving America Mr. Waldemar Before leaving America Mr. Waldemar had made his will, appointing a long trusted friend as its executor, and the guardian of his child, in the event of his death, and to him Audrey at once appealed for sympathy and counsel in her borrow and loneliness.

She preferred to reside in the home of the childhood, at least while her grief was so fresh, and her guardian had sequired Mrs. Allen, whom we have already mentioned, and who was a woman of pulture and refinement, to act as companion and housekeeper to the desolate

panion and housekeeper to the desolate

nd here she had lived a sad, secluded life for six years—up to the time when we first saw her—never going into society, scarcely ever receiving company, but occupying her time with study and music, of which she was passionately food on the same statement of music, of which she was passionately fond, and in performing deeds of charity ong the poor in the vicinity of her home.

She had never met Arthur Halstead since his marriage. She knew that he was married for she had re d in some papers, which had come to her across the Atlantic, a description of his grand wedding and his lovely bride. But that was all she knew about him. She never spoke his name, she never mentioned that sorrow and disappointment of her life, but she never ceased to love him; and often, as she sat on that balcony where we have seen her with little Rich, and where she loved to sit at sunset and gaze upon the distant mountains, she would almost unconsciously murmur those sad words of Whittier's: those sad words of Whittier's:

"God pity them both, and pity us all, Who vainly the dreams of youth recall; For all sad words of tongue or pen. The saddest are these: 'It might have

But as the years went by she developed into the loveliest womanhood, and at twenty-three, had she mingled in society, she would have been the sun and center of its most brilliant circles. Sorrow had strengthened and refined her character, added dignity, to her bear-ing, until her name had become the syn-onym for kindness and benevolence among those who were the recipients of her charities, and to whom she had be-come a veritable priestess, who was to be reverenced and almost adored. And so, with this outline of her previous history, we will take up our narrative where we left it, just as she was on the point of adopting the little waif who had been so strangely thrown upon her tender mercies.

LAWN BOWLING.

Two interesting competitions are at present in progress on the greens of the London Bowling Club. One is the annual rink competition, in which 25 rinks are entered. The preliminary round in this competition has been completed. The other match is the club handicap singles, in which 152 members are entered. The results of the preliminary round have already been published in The Advertiser of Wednesday last, while the scores in the first and second rounds are given below. In the handicap singles, in addition to the regular first prize, the winner takes possession for a year of the handsome cup and pedestal presented by Mr. C. H. Ward. The member winning the cup for two years in succession becomes its owner. This is the first year that the cup has been competed for, and it is giving additional interest to the match. THE OAR.

THE COMING REGATTA. Arrangements are going on for the annual regatta of the London Rowing Club, which will be held toward the end of the present month. The gratifying height of water in the river during the present season has afforded abundant opportunity for training, and one of the results of the members' consistant practice was the excellent showing made by a local four at Rondeau, when they defeated two crack fours from Walkerville. coming regatta should be one of the most interesting aquatic events ever .10 held in London. The club have been endeavoring to secure some outside clubs for the regatta, and have succeeded in securing the promise of the .15 attendance of a junior four from the Argonaut Club of Toronto. This will result in imparting added interest to the various contests to be pulled off. No date has yet been set for the regatta, but the last Saturday of the month will probably be selected.

LIPTON'S PLANS. London, Sept. 8.—It is now practi-callly settled that Sir Thomas Lipton's next challenger for the America cup will be built entirely of steel. Mr. Fife's experiences with recent challengers have made him distrustful of new metals and alloys, and he has decided to drop them. Consequently the contract which the Dennys have in hand provides for the building of a cup racer wholly of steel. frames are to be of bulbed angle steel and the plating will be thin pates of

The Dennys' experimental tank has been used, but the experiments have not been allowed, as previously, to dominate the model. The latter will e prepared at Fairle, principally from knowledge of the faults and conditions which the designer recognized in the first Lipton challenger. This completed model, when tested, may be found satisfactory and no alterations may be made. This is directly opposite to Mr. Watson's method for the

Mr. Fife declines to discuss the matter, but long prior to the talk of even the second Shamrock, he said that with his knowledge of the faults the Shamrock, I. he was confident he could produce a boat fifteen minutes faster over the cup course. Commenting on the preparations being made on the Clyde in connection with Sir Thomas Lipton's intention to challenge again for the American cup, the Yachting World Saturday says: "The Shamrock I., which is undergoing a thorough overhauling, is wonderfully well preserved. Capt. Wringe, who is expected to have sole control of the next challenger, is superintending the work on the Shamrock I., and is constantly in consultation with Mr. Fife. By the time the Shamrock I. returns to winter moorings at Gare Loch, Scotland, it is practically certain that a good start will have been made with building the Shamrock

MUSIC AND DRAMA

Effie Ellsler in "When Knight hood Was in Flower.'

"When Knighthood was in Flower. presented at the Grand Opera House last night to a fair-sized audience, is probably the one exception to the rule that a book-play cannot be as satisfactory to the spectator as the original story is. Mr. Paul Kester has taken Charles Major's sloppy-styled, crudely-written, disjected and woefully padded story, and out of it has made a compact and interesting play. Its very divergencies from the book are an improvement, and the result as a whole is an enjoyable production so far as the work of the dramatist is concerned. To those who had not had the opportunity of seeing Miss Julia Marlowe's magnificently appointed presentation of the play and charming rendition of the leading role, last night's performance was a satisfactory one. The task of Miss Effre Ellsler was a hard one, following as she did an actress of the consummate art and personal winomeness of Miss Marlowe. It is all the more creditable to Miss Ellsler that she made her characterization of the fiery, impulsive and willful Princess Mary such a pleasing and enjoyable piece of acting. Equally good was the work of Mr. Walter R. Seymour as Charles Brandon, the commoner, who, though living centuries too soon to have read the modern poet's rendering of the advice of the old Persian Hafiz,

"Seek not for favor of woman, So shall he find it, indeed," had nevertheless so acquired the spirit of it that he won the love of the king's sister through following it. The efforts of the principals were discounted, however, by the monotonous mediocrity of the support accorded them. The stage management also was not above criticism.

"SHORE ACRES" COMING. The most successful of the late James A. Herne's plays is "Shore Acres," which has become a veritable classic There is so much that is original and in this unique comedydrama that its remarkable success can readily be explained, and the play deservedly promises to hold the attention of theater-goers for many years "Shore Acres" is announced for production at the Grand next Friday and Saturday evening, with a matinee on Saturday. For this season Mr. Ernest Albert, a well-known scenenainter of New York city, has furnished entirely new scenery and several other novelties have been added to make the entertainment attractive.

CITY COUNCIL REVERSES DECISIONS OF COMMITTEE

in Report of No. 1.

Ald. Cooper Makes Grand Stand Play for Popular Notice.

The city council held a meeting last night, which was not the least interesting of those that have been held this year. The aldermen were not burden-ed with the work they had before he characterized as shameful and disthem, but even this they took very seriously. Practically the only important business they had came by way of No. 1 committee's report, in which were the recommendations referring to the tenders for advertising and printing. These were not adopted, and in the course of their rejection Ald. Cooper and Ald. Winnett were rivals in nimbly performing two contortion acts, which, even in Ald. Cooper and Ald. Winnett, caused some astonishment.

Clause 7 of the report recommended that the tenders of The Advertiser and Free Press for the city advertising be accepted.

No one would move the adoption of this, but instead, Ald. Greenlees moved that the tenders of the News and the that the tenders of the News and the track that the tenders having "The amendment is lost on a t're amendment is lost on Echo be accepted, the tenders having been read and the prices shown to be as follows: The Advertiser, 10 cents per line; the Free Press, 10 cents per line; the News, 5 cents, and the Echo, 4 cents. Ald. Dreaney seconded the motion, and he and Ald. Greenlees supported it on the grounds of economy.
Ald. Cooper moved in amendment, and was seconded by Ald. Douglass, that the contract be awarded to the Free Press and the News at their figures. Ald. Stevely said that if it was simply a matter of having it, The Advertiser had as much right to the contract as the Free Press; whereupon Ald. Cooper fell to eulogizing the paper which he says he takes, and Ald. Dreaney did the same, but their views upon the subject of the excellences of would be a sin against nature and a dissemination of false news to publish them. The aldermen listened with woe on their countenances till the man with Advertiser is by all odds the best and brightest paper west of Toronto. That matter having been satisfactorily

He was the strengous advocate of the Free Press-News combination, the more expensive one compared with the News-Echo duo. As such, he was teased by Ald. Greenlees, who drew a horrible picture of Ald. The the News-Cooper's own amendmentand, of course, he voted for it. It was Ald. Cooper's. The vote upon the motion to give it to the News and the Echo, which he had opposed, was then taken, and he superseded Ald. Greenlees in calling for the yeas and nays upon it, and actually voted for the motion that he had argued against as forcefully as he could. This was so that it might go on record that he had voted for the cheapest way of doing the advertising. The aldermen all burst into roars of laughter when he made his coup. That he voted for effect was shown when he subsequently gave notice of motion to reconsider the awarding of these con-

AN OLD WAR.

Pretty Near Time to Stop.

Wouldn't it make your friend mad to tell her she was in reality a drunkard, but many women are drunkards unconsciously from the use of coffee, which wrecks their nervous systems, and they seem unable to reform. A lady in Philadelphia, Pa., was very badly affected by coffee, causing her to have nervous prostration, and she finally woke up to the fact that she was in reality a coffee drunkard. Her doctor had told her that she must give up coffee, but she seemed unable

One day she read an advertisement about Postum Food Coffee and thought she would give it a trial. She says: "Coffee had such a strong hold on me, that at first I did not make it all Postum, but added a tablespoonful of coffee. After a while I quit putting coffee in at all, and soon found I felt much better. Cintinued use stopped my headaches and biliousness, and I soon noticed that my nervousness had evidently left me for good. Now I would not use anything else, and the smell of coffee makes me sick. Notwithstanding this, Ald. Dreaney suggested that the tenders be referred back and advertised again. Cries of "No! No!" met this proposal, and Ald. Campbell said that the tenders having been opened and the prices published, it would be unfair and unbusinesslike to do such a fair and unbusinesslike to do such a thing. Thereupon Ald. Cooper made graceful the awarding of a contract to the company which, he said, was responsible for the expenses to which the city had been put by the ballot investigation of some months ago. Ald. Gerry vigorously took Ald. Cooper to task for the language he had used. "Ald. Cooper has made assertions that are hardly warranted, I think," he said. "I don't think that any alderman around this council board has the right to get up and make such assertions as Ald. Cooper did. No proof has been brought forward to show that the Talbot Company was responsible in the way he has said they were."

"The judge said so," said Ald. Cooper. "The judge did not say so," Ald.
Gerry warmly replied. "I have no use for a man who gets up and makes such an assertion with no proof to back it up."

The vote was then taken and was vote, it being a negative motion," sail Acting Mayor Winnett.

"Do you vote?" he was asked. The yeas and nays were called for, and were as follows: Yeas—Douglass, Abram, Jolly, Drea-so the chief will have $8 left with which to have a time. Ald. The proposal was sustained, however, notwithstanding that Ald. Cooper spoke in favor of it. Under the usual conditions, Mr. Lillie was allowed the use of the city hall on Thanksgiving Day and the three succeeding days for the purpose of holding meetings under the auspices of the Plymouth Brethren. This request was strongly opposed by Ald. Cooper. He spoke for about half an hour with this application as a text, but the other aldermen felt that the city was not so good that it should refuse the brethren a chance to do some work. The drift of Ald. Cooper's remarks was that the city hall should not be used in competition with the churches. The council smiled. A C. P. R. engineer asked the council to recommend to his company that he be allowed to live in Toronto instead of in this city, where he now lives in accordance with the agree-ment between the C. P. R. and the corporation. Ald. Campbell thought that it was purely a case of the interior economy of the road, and did not concern the city. He moved that the communication be filed, which was

THE CATARRH OF SUMMER.

Two Letters from Thankful Women Who Were Cured of Catarrh of the Stomach by Pe-ru-na.

MISS EMILY LYON, 218 Richmond street, London, Ont., writes: "I am pleased to inform you that am entirely cured of catarra of the stomach by the persistent use of Pe-runa. I suffered everything and took everything both from physicians and proprietary medicines, but got no relief until I tried Peruna, and it will always be with the loudest praise that I recommend this wonderful remedy Peruna."—Miss Emily Lyon.

Catarrh of the stomach is usually called dyspepsia. Catarrhal dyspepsia cannot be cured by pepsin powders or any other temporary relief. The only cure for real dyspepsia is a removal of the catarrh from the mucous membrane of the stomach. This Peruna will do. This Peruna has done thousands and thousands of times. Congressman Botkin, of Kansas, was cured of catarrh of the stomach of many years' standing. Hundreds of other cases have been reported to us through unsolicited testimonials, Poruna is the only internal systemic rem. edy for catarrh yet devised. Every one afflicted with catarrh in the slightest degree ought to take a course of Peruna. Mrs. Nancy Ogden, Armel, Frederick county, Va., writes:

"If any one had told me that Peruna would cure the heart-burn and sour stomach as long as I have had it I could not have believed it, but it has after so many years standing.

"I have had it thirty-five years. Have doctored with everything that I have heard of, and have tried some of the best doctors-but all did no good. "They would say I had stomach trouble and that they could not cure it. I will always praise Peruna. If anyone wishes to write to me I will be glad to write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a answer them .- Mrs. Nancy Ogden.
