The "Advertiser's" New Improvements.

Pleasant Sentences from Contemporary

WILL BEAT ITS RECORD. Among the latest newspapers to adopt the Linotype is the London "Advertiser," which in thus reducing its expenses has benefited its readers both by its improved appearance and by being set free to give more scope in other directions to a spirit of enterprise which has always kept pace with possibility. The "Advertiser" has now a record of 32 years public service, and is apparently starting out to make the next 32 years surpass the past.—Montreal Wit-

KEEPS UP WITH THE PROCESSION The London "Advertiser" keeps up with the procession. It has long been one of the most progressive journals in Canada, and it bids fair to remain so. The latest development in its management is the introduction of Linotype printing machines, by means of which the chief part of its matter is set up. This alone would not amount to much in the improvement, were it not that it is in keeping with the general spirit of enterprise and the general evidence of ability which have so long secured for the paper a prominent place.—To-ronto Week.

FULLY ABREAST OF THE TIMES. The London "Advertiser" is now set entirely by the Mergenthaler machines, and presents a wholesome appearance typographically and otherwise. The "Advertiser" was founded by John Cameron in 1863, and is therefore in its 32nd year. I is a paper that has an opinion of its own, and usually a sound one, upon all the various public issues that arise from time to time. Its prompt adoption of the Mergenthaler machines shows that it is fully abreast of the times typographically, as in other respects.—Brantford Expositor.

PRAISE FOR A CANADIAN PAPER. (From the Estate, New York.)

The London (Ont.) "Advertiser", of which John Cameron, well known personally to members of the American Publishers' Association, was the founder and is controlling shareholder and manager, is printed on a web press, from Mergenthaler composition. The Toronto Globe says:

The London Advertiser is the latest of our exchanges to put in the Linotype machines. In its new dress the ADVERTISER presents a quite-up-to-date aprearance, while its well-filled ad-vertising columns give it that prosperous look that publishers love as that vertising columns give it that prosperous look that publishers love so well. The ADVERTISER is undoubtedly one of the best newspaper properties in Western Untario, and with its 32 years' record behind it its proprietors are evidently determined that its influence shall not diminish but grow with the years and with the diminish but grow with the years and with the progress of the live community in which it is published.

UP TO DATE.

The London "Advertiser" now comes to us in a bright new type-dress-a dress that never fades, as the paper is set each week by the Mergenthaler typesetting machines, and therefore the dress is always new. The "Advertiser" is now in its 32nd year, and still holds its popularity with a firm grasp, easranking as the best newspaper in Western Ontario.-Welland Tribune.

TYPOGRAPHY BETTER THAN

Our contemporary's typographical appearance is now better than ever, and it is at present fighting a vigorous battle for tariff reform and good government. Thirty-two years ago the "Advertiser" was founded by the man who still controls its destinies-Mr. John Cameron—and although the paper is nearly as old as a generation of men, he is still in the very prime of life. Mr. Cameron has always taken a keen interest in social, religious and general humanitarian work, and his paper has been a reflex of his opinions on the important subjects embraced in this classification.—St. Thomas Journal.

WIDELY CIRCULATED.

Published for nearly a third of a century, the London "Advertiser" has long been known as one of the progresive journals of the Dominion, as well as the most widely circulated daily in Western Ontario. The "Advertiser" is al-ways up to date.—Canada Presbyterian.

A LEADING POSITION.

The London "Advertiser" is now in its 32nd year and easily maintains a leading position among Canada's progresjournals. It is now set entirely by the Mergenthaler type-setting machines.-Watford Guide Advocate.

MARKED IMPROVEMENTS.

Mr. John Cameron, who for 32 years has conducted the London "Advertiser" with such marked vigor that Western Ontario is now largely Liberal, is still so full of energy that he is making marked improvements and advances in the mechanical conduct of that publication. From all appearances it will be even more vigorously conducted during the next 32 years than during the past 32.—Blenheim News.

THE "ADVERTISER" SELDOM BE-HIND.

The London "Advertiser" recently added a battery of Linotypes to its composing room and is now almost entirely set by those machines. The "Advertiser" has led the way in introducing mproved appliances for newspaper publising in London. It was the first o get fast cylinder presses, to introduce olding machines, and to employ the erfecting press which is the acme of e press builder's skill, and now leads way with the most approved mary for type-setting. These are ements of which the "Advertiser" on to be proud, and which go urds establishing its claim to in the newspaper field in tario.—Sarnia Observer.

The Fire Spread With Amazing Rapidity -Fine Buildings Destroyed.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 27 .- At 4:30 o'clock this morning one of the most destructive fires in the history of this city was finally got under control. At that time over $1,000,000 worth of property had been destroyed and twenty business firms had lost their stock and buildings. There were also many minor

The fire originated a few minutes after midnight in the wholesale clothing house of Landaur & Co., on the corner of Fourth street and Grand avenue. Soon the building was a mass of flames. The building at the back of the Landaur building held for a time and it was hoped that this would check the fire in that direction, but the fire finally burst through and the firemen had a hard fight. On the Grand avenue side the flames swept through the building ally devised to Mrs. Leys, who was a niece of the deceased, and her adopted daughter. The Detroit Journal said that Mrs. Thompson was born in Detroit in 1809, and had for over 40 years lived in the house where she died. She occupied by the Tanner Company with house-furnishing goods, and went up almost as quickly as the first building, and then passed over to a two-story the meantime the row of wooden build-ings on the north side of Grand avenue, able in a business way. On the west side of Fourth street the flames leaped across to the handsome four-story building of the Y. M. C. A., which was partially destroyed. The Bon Marche drug store suffered badly. At 12:50 a.m. the public library building on the northwest corner of Grand avenue and Fourth street caught fire. By hard and close fighting the firemen were able to save it and also the Transportation Company's building. The Y. them, and her place among the charities of Detroit would be difficult to fill. ## In All Cases Paine's Celery Compound Cures and Restores Perfect Health.

Headaches are varied in character, f frequent occurrence, and are produced by a variety of causes. The common headache is often produced by some indiscretion in diet, or deviation from or-dinary habits of life. We have also con-gestive headaches, rheumatic headaches, and bilious and nervous headaches. Women are oftener the victims of these troubles than men. When neglected from day to day grave and fatal consequences often occur. Some of the ablest and best physicians freely admit that Paine's Celery Compound is the safest, surest and best medicine for every character of headache. Indeed, this opinion is strengthened by thousands who have given testimony in favor of Paine's Celery Compound. Headaches being more prevalent in the spring season, it is of the utmost importance that every sufferer should know how to act. One bottle of Paine's Celery Compound will often permanently cure. Nature's marvelous spring medicine will, at the same time, build up the entire system. Among the pains and aches cured with marvelous rapidity with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is earache. Assist the Revolutionists, BOSTON, March 27.—Cuban residents in this country are now arranging for throwing hundreds of their impetuous young men into Cuba to assist the revolutionists. The men will go well armed and fully equipped for a stern struggle. On the surface nothing is being done, but among the secret patriotic societies there is much executed. The headquarters of the movement is in New York, according to the best information obtainable, though Fernandez and Key West are the seats of important agencies. The secret societies' agents say the number of young men who have shipped out already reaches into the hundreds. falo-The Kunetzi Family. BUFFALO, March 27.—An unusually pathetic story is told of the Kunetzi family, residing on Lapere street, in this city. The Kunetzis were in fairly huscomfortable circumstances, the husband having steady employment, and the wife adding to the family income by caring for the creature comforts of several boarders. Yesterday Mrs. Kenutzi became insane, and was removed to the State hospital. She is laboring under the delusion that she is a sister of charity commissioned by God to spread light throughout the world. Her husband, she believes to be a holy man, and frequently she would fall upon her knees and worship him. After the woman had been taken away, Kunetzi remained at home, but when the boarders came to the house for supper last night they found only the two children, aged 6 and 8, hungry and crying. A search for Kunetzi was made, and in a few minutes he appeared perfectly nude, with a bottle of water in his right hand. An attempt was made to stop him, when he cried out, "Don't touch me, sinful man; I am going to church to find my confessor." The man was stark mad, the religious mania having completely upset his mind. He was dressed and taken to the police station, and some of the charitable institutions will care for the children.

Two Report Upon the Fire Alarm System.

Purchased-Contracts Awarded

Four Chemical Fire Extinguishers to be -Work of No. 3,

Samples of hose, firemen's caps, clippings of cloth, fire alarm boxes and malodorous tobacco fumes were features of No. 3 committee last night. The presence of the various samples was accounted for by the fact that tenders were due for supplies. After discussing the latter for an hour or so, it was seen that the job was a stupendous one, and the tenders were all referred to the secretary to compile, a comprehensive report to be ready for a special meeting to be held on Friday night. After this a couple of hose representatives were allowed to address the committee and then take their departure. Then the committee went ahead and let a few contracts which were not included in the general supplies. Three tenders were received for chemical extinguishers. The Fire Underwriters' Association ordained that two be secured for each truck, or eight in all. The Eureka Company offered fivegallon size at $35 and three-gallon at $20 each. James H. Bryan offered a five-gallon Baboock pattern for $21 50; three-gallon, do., $19 50; three-gallon (his own pattern), $18. W. P. ## IN A SEA OF ICE.

Rough Sailing Between Newfoundland and Nova Scotia-Schooner Crushed-Lives Lost.

HALIFAX, N. S., March 27.-The steamer St. Pierre, from Newfoundland points, reports: The steamer St. Pierre arrived with the mails from the south coast of Newfoundland. The captain reports a rough and stormy passage. He found the gulf full of heavy ice, extending 50 miles east of Cape Ray on that coast, and 50 miles south of Cape Breton to latitude 45 deg. 32 m.r. north and longitude 59 deg. west. The steamer got engulfed in the ice during the gale of the 16th and 17th and was damaged. The schooner Lome was crushed with the ice and sank. The crew were saved. The schooner Ray lost two men, as did also the schooner Notice. James Sany and his son William put off from Codroy the same day in a small flat boat to take some seals which had been seen from shore. The wind changed and drove them off shore, and they have not been seen or heard from since.

THE NICARAGUA TROUBLE.

Simple Solution of a Diplomatic Difficulty

That Threatned to Cause Bad Feeling Between John Bull and Uncle Sam.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 27 .- It is claimed by those who are in a position to be well informed as to the intentions of the British Foreign Office and also as to representations which our Government has made to Great Britain through Minister Bayard in regard to the British ultimatum to Nicaragua, that there is a misconception of the text of the document

The seven words in the untimatum to which President Cleverand and his Cabinet have attached so much importance, as, in a measure, sweeping away the cordial confidence which has marked all the recent diplomatic transactions of the United States with the British Foreign Office in regard to jurisdiction of the Mosquito strip were those which provided that the third member of the arbitration commission should be "not a citizen of any American republic." This phrase was thought to be an explicit declaration by England that she declined to recognize any force in the Monroe doctrine, and to be a gratuitous reflection upon the United States.

The intention to cast any reflection upon the United States was promptly disavowed by Lord Kimberley, through one of his under secretaries, and it is now stated that the meaning of the un-fortunate sentence used and the intentions of the British Government have been misconstrued.

As ordinarily employed and understood by the British Foreign Office, the phrase "American republic" is limited to the smaller republics of Central and South America. It was these republics that Great Britain desired to exclude from having the casting vote between the Nicaraguan Republic and the commissioner chosen by Great Britain.

As to the course which Great Britain will pursue to enforce a settlement of her claim for $75,000 "smart money" for the affront put upon the British representative by his expulsion. well-informed diplomats are not disposed to think that any complications will arise. It is not for a moment believed that resort will be had to the extreme measure of threatening to bombard Greytown if Nicaragua should satisfactorily show her inability to settle her claim immediately. In that case the fime and method of payment may perhaps be submitted with the other claim to arbitration.

A SWORN STATEMENT.

Mr. G. H. Kent Swears to the Details of His Recovery.

An Interesting Document-A Complete and Concise Description of His Trouble - Rumors Discrediting His Story Thoroughly Confuted-A Remarkable Cure by a Valuable Agency.

(From Ottawa Free Press.)

Owing to the fact that a certain amount of discredit has been thrown on the state-ments recently published in the Free Press ments recently published in the Free Press with regard to the recovery of Mr. G. H. Kent from death's door through the agency of Dodd's Kidney Pills, a representative of the Price 25c per box. Sold by all druggists. Dodd's Kidney Pills, a representative of the paper has obtained from Mr. Kent a sworn statement with regard to the particulars of his disease and recovery. The facts are sufficiently startling to warrant this additional substantiation.

Following is the document: 114 Cambridge street, Ottawa, Ont., March, 2, 1895. I, George Henry Kent, resident at 114 Cambridge street, Ottawa, and employed as printer in the British American Bank Note HINDOO REMEDY Printing Company, in the said city of Ottawa, do solemnly declare that I consider it a duty to myself and to my fellowmen generally to make a declaration as to the efficiency of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

1. That I found them in my terrible case of Bright's Disease from which I suffered for almost one year of the greatest medical value. I can say confidently, and assure anyone interested or a sufferer, that I positively owe my life and present excellent health to the results brought about by their use. I was taken sick and confined to my bed on Dec. 28, 1893, and was successively treated for La Grippe, then Pleurisy, followed by Kidney trouble and latterly Bright's disease. I lost the use of all my limbs, my entire body became swollen to a terrible size, and my skin became as hard and similar to leather, the pores all having closed up, and I suffered the most agonizing pain. I was subject to periodical spells of utter prostration and insensibility to a state of absolute coma. I was also a victim of dangerous convulsions, in which my facial expression and other muscles would become severely contorted and tense.

2. My regular physician attended to me, and though medical consultations were held over my case by two city doctors, nothing could be done. My case grew gradually worse, and latterly was given up as hopeless. My wife, friends and neighbors were certain from what they saw and were told by the visiting doctors that I should die in a very short time.

3. My wife was casually reading a newspaper about this time, and saw a description of an exact similar case in which a patient gave testimony of the relief and cure that had been effected on him by Dodd's Kidney Pills. I started to take them right away, and from the first pill I discovered a change for the better. After the first box I was wonderfully improved and at the end of the fourth I was sure that I was to get well again. I continued taking them until the seventeenth box, and I can now positively declare that I am perfectly cured and able to do a day's work with any of my comrades in the shop, and Dodd's Kidney Pills undoubtedly cured me, because from starting to take them I took no other medicine what-

And I make this solemn declaration conscientiously believing the same to be true and by virtue of the ACT RESPECT-ING EXTRA JUDICIAL OATHS. DECLARED before me at the city of Ottawa, in the county of Carleton, this 16th day of February, 1895. (Signed.) CHAS. A BLANCHET,

A Commissioner, etc. G. H. KENT. (Signed.)

THE DRYGOODS TRADE. MANCHESTER, N. H., March 27 .-The Guardian, in its commercial article, says: Prices are firm and tending upward, with inquiries not numerous and not important. Transactions are very moderate. Shirtings are inactive. A few bleached goods are moving. Yarns have risen so much during the month that consumers have been compelled to raise their quotations upon most lines of cloth, but they do not obtain adequate advances. The sales of yarn are small.

In ordinary cases the Prime Minister is regarded as an autocrat in questions of policy with regard to the duration of Parliament, but on the present occasion, it seems, the understanding was that a session should be avoided. And at the eleventh hour, Premier Bowell "funked," much to the disgust not only of his Minister of Justice-who had prepared his report on the Manitoba school case with a dissolution, and not a session, in view-but of a very large number of Conservatives throughout the country.

They had been told to rush their conventions, to get ready at once for dissolution. They had washed their dirty linen in public in dozens of constituencies, and all of no avail. Their needless expenditure of time, labor, money, and their exposure of their domestic troubles was all to no purpose-the edict went forth, "We cannot now face the public; we have been fooling you; the elections may not take place for a

All this in the face of such strong and unqualified declarations as the following, from the pen of the Conservative M. P. for Cardwell, in the Montreal Gazette: "There is practically no margin left for doubt that the Dominion Government has decided to appeal to the electorate as soon as the new voters' lists have been completed. It is now the end of February, and if an intention of holding another session of Parliament before dissolution existed, the proclamation summoning the members for the dispatch of business would by this time have been issued. The political activity everywhere is confirmation of the purpose to dissolve, which Ministers make no efforts to conceal in their public utterances."

Sir Charles Tupper seems to have been trifled with also, or he would not now resign his seat in the Cabinet. It is made more than ever apparent that Premier Bowell is a leader who cannot lead. His followers pine for the strong. guiding hand of a Thompson or a Mac-

INTELLIGENTLY DEVISED CITY SEWERAGE A PRESSING NE-CESSITY.

The Medical News says that even in filter basins at the rate of 2,000,000 gallons per acre per day. This same result has been accomplished by the London asylum sewage system. Once the sewage water filters through the soil and into the drains which carry it into Carling's creek, it is, on the assurance of sanitary experts, fit for domestic consumption.

Whether or not this system of disposing of the sewage of this city will ultimately be adopted, remains to be seen. But every year it is made apparent that in the near future our civic authorities must grapple with the question of sew-

There is now before the Supreme Court at Ottawa a suit to which residents of South London are parties, and in which a portion of the defense for running sewage into dangerous proximity to a man's residence is the allegation that the sewer was countenanced and devised by the

No matter how this suit is settled it must be evident that this is but the beculty in the disposal of London sewage was chronicled in the report of the last meeting of the City Board of Health, and still another has been a standing menace to the health of residents in the fourth and fifth wards for years past. We refer to the diversion into Carling's creek of sewage from the Military School and other premises. In South London the problem is probably the more pressing, because the nature of the soil makes it difficult for houseowners to put down cesspools, which at best are but makeshifts. But all over the city the sewerage problem crops up and calls for settlement. It presents itself even on Dundas street, with its badly equipped sewer that congutter openings. It crops up in connec-Aged People's Home, the medical attendants of which assert that the taxpayers pay as much for drugs because of defective drainage as would provide the improvement. And so it is in many other parts of the city. Our authorities keep putting down sewers here and drains there, temporary attempts to meet local wants are made that are ludicrously ineffective, and no intelligent plan is pursued.

Surely the time must soon come when the sewerage of the city shall be reorganized and a proper system resolved on and upheld which will apply to the whole city. If by the aid of science a portion of the cost to the taxpayers can be recouped by turning the sewage to account for producing food for the people, so much the better.

ELECTRICAL POSSIBILITIES.

At the Stevens Institute of Technology, Cincinnati, a few days ago, Prof. Hiram Forbes stated that within the next half-century two-thirds of the labor now done by men and women will doubtless be performed by electricity. "The toil of the agriculturist will be most materially lightened by this cheapened, household drudgery cleaned up and sweetened, and every department of human enterprise and effort materially helped." Will society at large be benefited by these improvements? We believe that it will, though temporary disadvantage to many will result. The problem of the future will be how best to manage the labor-saving agencies as to give each member of the community a fair share of the benefits accruing from their operation. RECRUITS FOR SIR OLIVER. Yesterday in the Legislature the unique spectacle was presented of the Conservative Opposition following the down the proposal that the Ontario Government officers should be selected by vote of the electors, instead of by those to whom they are responsible for the proper performance of their

When the Patrons voted with the Government against the foolish want of confidence motion which Mr. Marter and his associates have insisted on putting forward, they are denounced by the Conservative papers as having gone hopelessly "Grit."

By similar reasoning the Patrons can now assert that the Conservative Opposition has also joined the triumphant Liberal forces!

EVIDENCE FOR MANUFACTURERS

Sir Oliver looks on and smiles.

The following interesting letter from well-known firm of manufacturers, which was published in 1882, will prove not uninteresting at the present time, particularly as the general situation is the same now as then:

Brantford, Feb. 25, 1882. To the Editor of the Expositor: Sir,-In an article in yesterday's Telegram anent the duties we pay, the $6,000 mentioned by Mr. Paterson (in the House) is a direct tax caused by the N. P. We ascertained this by tabulating the total amount of goods purchased during the year immediately preceding the N. P., finding the duty on them under the old tariff and the duty on them under the new. The difference is some $6,000. If our business has increased 100 per cent, as the Telegram asserts, this direct tax is simply increased in a corresponding ratio, while the benefits we derive from it by protection to our manufactured articles are simply nil, as we never had any competition from foreign machinery. Yours, THE WATEROUS E. W. CO.

London manufacturers that we could name have had a similar experience. What they ask is free raw material and a revenue tariff, and they can hold their own in Canada and extend their markets in the outside world.

DOMINION CABINET CHANGES.

The Cabinet changes officially announced yesterday were foreshadowed sewage water can be converted into in these columns days ago, and denied pure drinking water by sand filtration by the high tax organs. Hon. A. R. Dickey, of Nova Scotia, becomes Minister of Militia, and Dr. Montague, of Haldimand, Secretary of State. The last-named will have to go back for re-election, and it is likely that the contest will be brought on prior to the filling of other seats which have been left vacant for more than a year. Not much courage is displayed by this expedient. Dr. Montague is a fluent talker, and has forced himself into the Cabinet on that score alone, for he has made no standing for himself off the public platform. It is understood that the proclamation to the Indians of Haldimand will be issued in the Queen's name immediately.

> OUR FARM PRODUCE EXPORTS. Some interesting returns regarding the exports of Canadian farm produce during the year 1894 are given in the report of the Minister of Agriculture, just published. While there were imported into Canada last year 4,132 cattle, 36,771 sheep, 197 pigs and 1,663 horses and mules, there were exported 82,217 cattle and 121,304 sheep. The following table gives comparisons of shipments to the United Kingdom:

Cattle, Sheep 1890 ......122,182 43,780 1891 ......118,547 32.157 1892 ..... 98,755 15.932 1893* .....80,899 1894 ...... 82,217 121,304 *For ten months only.

Prof. McEachran reports that not a single animal exported showed any sign in the least degree suspicious of contagious disease. The inspections before shipment were rigidly carried out; 80 cattle and 17 sheep were either detained or rejected by the inspectors, 16 of which were lame or injured in the land transport, 2 were in poor condition from age, 2 were found affected with tuberculosis, 1 with mange and 59 with lumpjaw. The sheep rejected were lame or injured. The animals collected for shipment came from all parts of the Dominion, with the exception of British Columbia, and the fact or their freedom from lung disease is an evidence of the healthy state of Canadian cattle. The inspection was in every case made by daylight

High water mark has been reached in the cheese industry. Since 1868, when this country began to turn its attention to the export of cheese, the shipments have steadily increased-a result largely due to the enterprise of Canadian dairymen, supplemented by the aid of the respective governments. The exports last year amounted to 154,977,480 pounds, of which 15,439,198 went to Great Britain. The value was $15,488,191. The exports of butter, while not up to 1893, at least show a great improvement over some recent years. The total exports amounted to 5,534,621 pounds, valued at $1,095,588. There is also an increase in the exports of eggs and poultry. What is needed in each department, to increase our sales abroad, is first-class products and a lowered Canadian tariff on those articles which we must accept in payment. Britain imposes no tax on agent," said he. "The work of the what we send her.

HOW HUTTON ESCAPED

From a Deputy United States Marshal at Little Rock.

How the Bold Diamond Swindler Arrested at St Marys Had Worked the Game All Over the States.

The American Express officials here yesterday received from Superintendent Hulbert, of the Southern Express Company, a circular containing photographs of Henry Smythe, alias H. T. Jackman, alias R. L. Miller, alias Hutton; who was arrested in St. Marys on Premier and his supporters in voting | Saturday last at his old game of fleecing manufacturing jewelers or express companies. It also contained a fac simile of the man's writing and a list of the goods obtained by false pretences in Augusta, Savannah, Macon and Atlanta, Ga. Hutton, or whatever his name is, was in St. Louis on March 16, and the Post-Dispatch of that city contains the following account of his escape from deputy United States marshal:

"His plan of operation is to go into country town and inquire around until he picks out some firm with exceptionally good credit. Then he sits down and writes to some wholesale house in express company will probably deliver to a local man. In case they do, he asks that the firm kindly notify him, and he will appear to take enarge of the order. Naturally the wholesale, merchant in the big city would send this order there, thinking it a bona fide one. pay the charge and clear out with the diamonds, or whatever he may have purchased."

"This game was worked successfully all over the western and southern country until last September, when the United States postal authorities at San Francisco got on to him and arrested him at San Lorenzo, Cal., where he had worked some of the San Francisco merchants. He also was wanted at Macon, Mo., Kirksville, Mo., and Chicago, Ill. As the Missouri authorities wanted him badly, and the cases against him were considered good, he was placed in charge of United States Deputy Marshal Henry Miller, of San Francisco, on Nov. 8, and started for St. Louis. His wife and 5-year-old child accompanied him in all his travels though the country, and his wife pleaded so pitifully to be allowed to come with him east that this permission was granted. Friends obtained passes for her and the child, and they occupied berths in the same sleeper with the offficer and prisoner. Miller and Smythe occupied one berth, and the mether and child another. As a precaution Miller made the man sleep without any of his clothes, but that did not prevent his eventual escape. By Monday the travelers had reached Texarkana, on the Iron Mountain. Everything had pros-pered, and Miller felt no suspicion of danger. Mrs. Smythe had been very pleasant all the way. This day, as on the others, she made coffee in the coach—she had been preparing her meals the entire distance. Miller drank some of it in the morning and it made him very ill. He has thought since it the platform to get the air, watching very closely meanwhile the forward end of the car. The back door was locked and he felt secure in that direction, When the train moved out he jumped aboard, but there was no Smythe to be seen. Search failed to locate him, and upon investigation it was found that while Miller was on the platform some watermen had opened the rear door, and Smythe had slipped past them. The deputy wired the Little Rock authorities of the circumstances and when he arrived in St.Louis on Nov.13 he told his story here, but the swindler seemed to have made good his escape. Work on him was begun all over again, and his on his trail. On Nov. 27 he appeared in Tuskahoma, I. T., and played his game there on the Wells-Fargo Company. On Dec. 1 he showed his hand at Waelder. Texas, getting the better of the same company again. On Dec. 5 the Pacific Express Company was made a victim panies out of about $10,000, as they have to stand all such losses.' Coming to Canada, Smythe changed his name to Hutton and started to work the game from St. Marys. He secured diamonds from P. Birtwistle, this city. and had sent his letter to Hamilton and Toronto firms. An item in a trade paper detailing Smythe's modus operandi put the Hamilton people on their guard, and his subsequent capture on Saturday is well known.

On the evening of the 21st the Epworth League of the Methodist Church, Dorchester, held their littrary entertainment, and those who attended enjoyed a treat. After a short programme Rev. R. J. Treleaven, the popular pas-tor of the Methodist Church, Aylmer, delivered his lecture, "Say So." The reverend gentleman was not only entertaining, but highly instructive, his earnest words carrying with them an inspiration that will surely bear fruit.

"My six-year-old daughter, Bella, was afflicted with eczema for 24 months, the principal seat of eruption being behind her ears. I tried almost every remedy I saw advertised, bought innumerable medicines and soaps, and took the child to medical specialists in akin diseases, but without result. Finally, a week ago, I purchased a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and the first application showed the curative effect of the Remedy. We have used only one-sixth of the box, but the change is very marked; the cruption has all disappeared, and I can confidently say my child is cured. LONDON VS. WOODSTOCK. The positively "last" hockey game of the season of 1894-95 was played at the Princess Rink last night between the Woodstock and London teams before an audience that numbered from 50 to 75. The interest in it, however, was probably no keener than that shown by the spectators over a little company clustered in one corner, little company clustered in one corner, attack on this power of the The game was well deserving of who had laid aside their wash-tubs and irons for a little recreation, and who chatted and laughed over the many "slides" which the players took.

The first fifteen minutes of the game were really exciting. The forwards rushed the play for all they were worth, and it looked as though Woodstock was going to get the best of it. The puck was kept in very close proximity to London's goal, until Lind, aided by the balance of the forward line, got in some good work, scoring a goal in six-teen minutes. Three minutes later Beltz tallied. George Sippi in two minutes shot the rubber down, and Wood-stock's goal keeper, in his anxiety and excitement to knock the puck away, struck it on the wrong side, and swelled London's score one more. Lind closed the half by scoring his second goal.

Scort: London, 4; Woodstock, 0. The second half was slow. The players on both sides were completely winded, and the spectators were equally tired. The only good play was made by Lind, who took the puck from near London's goal and, pursued by the entire visiting team (barring the goal keeper) carried it down the ice and scored. Woodstock tallied twice and so did London, making the score at time 6 to 2 for the home team. The players

Yesterday Was Not Patrons' Day in the Legislature.

Two of Their Distinctive Measures Voted Down.

Important Bill Bearing on Relations of Landlerd and Tenant.

(Special to the "Advertiser.") PARLIAMENT HOUSE, TORONTO, March 27.—Today was a bad day for the Patrons, who, twice in rapid succession, found themselves in hopeless minorities. On the question of the election by popular vote of county officials instead of the present method of direct appointment they secured 20 votes, as against 65 adverse to them; and their Medical Bill received but 15 votes, as against 71 votes of members who disapproved of free trade in medicine, as Mr. Haycock defined the principle of his

The first division was taken by the Patrons mainly to place themselves on record, the question having been threshed out when the Conservatives, a week ago, moved to substitute ap-pointment by the municipal councils for appointment by the Provincial Government. There was no debate.

Mr. McNichol moved a resolution that county officials should be elected by popular vote and did not speak at all. Mr. Haycock supported the resolu-tion in a speech which was but a repe-tition of the arguments against the ap-pointment of officials, which have been urged over and over again.

When Mr. Haycock sat down not a word was spoken. Liberals and Con-servatives alike were silent. The divi-sion came on promptly, and in this in-glorious fashion perished the motion. Messrs. Gurd, Haggerty, Reid (Dur-ham) and McLean voted with the Pat-rons, while the rest of the House voted solidly against the motion.

A more serious matter was the Medical Bill, which Mr. Haycock almost immediately afterwards brought in. The Patron leader exerted himself in de-fense of this rather famous bill, and gave a very clear outline of what the bill was intended to do. The principle was full trade in medicine, he frankly explained. The first point in the bill was an attack on the present council's examination. If the Government could impose a uniform matriculation examination on the medical coleges, why not a uniform graduation examination? The Medical Council took some $10,000 or $12,000 a year from the medical profession, and spent but $2,000 a year on the examinations. For the rest the members get one-half thousandth part of an unprofitable real estate venture in Toronto-referring to the Medical Couna strong attack on this power of the Medical Council by which he same man can be at once plaintiff, witness and almost sit on the committee and be the executioner. He asserted that this court had omitted to define what unprofessionalism was, so that the law is defined to the second to the law is defined to the second to fined after the offense is committed. Other features of the bill were outlined by Mr. Haycock, who in a comparatively short speech made a full statement of his case.

Mr. Stratton spoke next, moving the six months' hoist to the bill and arguing against it. His motion put Mr. Haycock in order again, and he imprudently allowed himself to be drawn out by Mr. Stratton's speeh. He replied in a speech which was practically an avowal that the bill was certain to be objected to by the medical profession, and thus left him-self no hance of repling to the subse-quent and much sharper attacks made on the measure.

Sir Oliver Mowat made a vigorous onslaught upon the bill, which he de-clared not in the public interest. It was revolutionary, he said, and he went on to criticise its details. The charge that the fees paid by the students are too high, he met by the statement that they go to benefit the profession, and so to benefit those who pay them. He de-fended the powers with which the medical profession is entrusted. The mat-ters of which they had cognizance were felonies, misdemeanors or infamous conduct, and it was in the public interest that persons capable of such conduct should be kept out of the profession. In any case, Sir Oliver said, only nine cases have been tried since 1887 out of 2,000 or 3,000 practitioners and other said. 2,000 or 3,000 practitioners, and only four of these resulted in convictions. The whole case for the bill broke down, he contended, the present condition of the medical profession, calling for no such revolutionary proposal, and the powers of the medical council not having been misused. There was, therefore, nothing to justify the passing of

Mr. Whitney followed with a slashing attack on the Patrons, whose presence in the House he described as the result of class agitation. "Squads of adventurers" who "presided over oyster suppers with great unition," and "grew sleek and fat," composed, according to Mr. Whitney, the Patron campaigners in Eastern Ontario in the last election, who told the farmers that the professins had special legislation; and Mr. Haycock's bill was intended to keep the misguided people from calling them false prophets or something worse. The bill should be thrown out of the House without ceremony, he said.

Thrown out it was, for the vote followed, and the bill received the six months' hoist by a vote of 15 to 71. Mr. McLean voted with the Patrons, while all the Liberals, except Mr. McLean, all the Conservatives, Mr. Gurd, Mr. Pardo (Patron) and Mr. Haggerty were also against the bill. This practically terminated the proceedings in the House, which adjourned at 6 o'clock to allow of the private bills committee getting through with some of its ac-cumulations in the evening.

An important bill was introduced by the Attorney-General today. It bears upon the relations of the landlord and tenant. It allows the removal of tenants' fixtures at the end of the term; amends the Short Form of Leases Act and several other particulars. It re-stricts the lien of the landlord for rent after an assignment has been made to arrears of rent of one year previous to and for three months following the assignment. It further enacts that the relation of landlord and tenant shall be deemed to be founded on the express or implied contract of the par-ties, and not upon tenure or service, and a reversion shall be necessary to such relation, which shall be deemed to subsist in all cases where there shall be an agreement to hold land from another in consideration of any rent. In reply to a question asked by Mr. Whitney, Sir Oliver Mowat stated to-day that the cost of the fees commission so far has been $3,550.

Dr. Ryerson asked a long question school teachers, which drew from Mr.

Ross the following explicit reply: "Every teacher in the separate schools of Ontario possesses the qualifications required by section 61, chap. 227, R. S. O. The Education Department has never passed any regulation to authorize the members of religious orders or corporate members of religious orders or corporations to teach in a separate school. The 'persons' qualified by law under section 61 are considered to be 'persons' who, at the time of the British North America Act, were qualified in the Province of Quebec, and therefore by that act qualified in Ontario. There is no provision in the Separate Schools Act nor in the British North America Act whereby any teacher, lay or clerical, from the by any teacher, lay or clerical, from the Province of Quebec, not qualified under the British North America Act, may teach, either in a separate school or a public school, and the Government is not prepared to make any proposition for the amendment of the school laws granting such privileges to the teachers of Quebec, to which the British North America Act would not apply."

In reply to another question of Mr. Whitney's Hon. Mr. Dryden replied that inasmuch as the Dominion Government has undertaken to provide cold storage accommodation for butter shipped & the British market, the Government did not see the need of the Province duplicating such aid. In response to yet another question by Mr. Whitney, Mr. Ross replied that the Government at present has no inten-tion of building a normal school in

Sir C. H. Tupper's Resignation the Disturbing Element.

Hon. Wilfrid Laurier Will Rest Until Parliament Opens.

Hon. J. C. Patterson Nominated by Kent Conservatives.

Explanation of Hon. Mr. Angers' Mission to Quebec-Notes by the Way.

THE LIBERAL LEADER'S HEALTH. Hon. Wilfrid Laurier had sufficiently recovered this morning to return to his home at Arthabasca. He is, how-ever, far from well, and yesterday he was visited by Dr. Lachappelle. Mr. Laurier has been ordered to remain absolutely quiet, which he intends doing until the House opens. Mr. Laurier's illness is due to overwork and to a cold contracted in Quebec at the time of the demonstration in his honor.

A MATTER OF FORM. CHATHAM, Ont., March 7.- The Conservatives of Kent county met in convention today to nominate a candidate for the Dominion Parliament. Messrs. Hon. J. C. Patterson, H. A. Patterson, W. P. Killackey, T. A. Smith, and Dr. W. R. Hall, were proposed. A ballot reterson.

> THE TOPIC OF TALK (United Press Dispatch.)

OTTAWA, Ont., March 27.—The whole talk here toda; is the resignation of Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper. Everybody says it is correct, and no one will deny it. The difficulty started with the school matter. Sir Charles prepared the order in council in that case, and is of the opinion that the minority is entitled to separate schools. But the school case was the means of forcing a session, and Sir Charles was opposed to that. He was strongly opposed to a session of Parliament in advance of an election.

In this connection there is a curious bit of gossip. It is that Sir Charles, in sporting parliance prepared to "reds, in sporting parlance, wanted to "ride for a fall"—in other words, that he was quite content to a general election, no matter how great the possibility of the Government's defeat. The point would be that Sir Charles looked to the financial and other difficulties which Mr. Laurier would face-if sucessful in the election—being so great that his Administration would be a speedy failure, and that at the following election the Conservatives would be returned triumphantly for a long term of power, with all the old timber cleaned out of the party, and a clean run ahead, including the Premiership open to Sir Charles Tupper himself. The story, if there is anything in it, might explain Sir Charles' strong feeling against another session of Parliament before dissolution.

Sir Charles was not at the Justice Department, and a reporter who called at his house was informed that he was not in. Some of the other Cabinet Ministers, when questioned, declined to say anything, either in confirmation or de-nial of the rumor that Sir Charles had resigned.

Another rumor states that Sir Charles' resignation is due to a question of the leadership of the House of Commons next session. The Premier, being in the Senate, one of the other Ministers must lead in the Commons, and undoubtedly it must be Hon. Mr. Foster or Sir Charles. The leadership of the Commons will be very significant, as undoubtedly it will designate the next Conservative Premier.

AND WALLACE, TOO. TORONTO, March 27.-The Evening Star says: It is stated on very good authority that Hon. N. C. Wallace will resign immediately.

toba school case. He is opposed to separate schools and also to interference with Manitoba, and the action of the Government, he says, does not mean that the Government intend doing anything further in the matter. NOTES.

MET THEIR DESERTS.

Three Would-Be Train Robbers Received a Deadly Dese.

GREENWOOD, Ky., March 27.-A daring but unsuccessful attempt at a train robbery occurred at 2:30 a.m. in the southern part of Kentucky. Six men undertook to reb the Queen and Crescent train, which left Cincinnati at 8 o'clock last night. One of the robbers was killed outright, another died at 4 o'cleck this morning, a third, giving the name of Miller, now lies here severely wounded and the other three have not been heard from. The train was delayed only ten minutes, and reached Chattanooga at 8 a.m today on

The reason for this summary disposal of so large a body of train robbers was that some intimation of their purpose had been given to the railway and express com-panies, and T. R. Griffin, who serves as superintendent of police on the Southern road, had with him two trusty assistants. The train had just reached the south end of tunnel No. 9, a mile north of Greenwood, when the robbers halted it. They had scarcely disclosed their purpose before Mr. Griffin and his assistants began shooting, and in a few minutes three of the robbers had fallen. The three others fled, and the train was soon speeding on its way. No injury was suffered by any one on the train, and the treasure in care of the Adams Express Company's messenger was saved.

TRAGEDY IN NEW YORK.

An Actor and Actress the Victims. NEW YORK, March 27 .- Murder and suicide were committed some time today in the furnished room of house No. 15, west No. 3-Ladies' Fine Lawn Handker-Twenty-fourth street. What led to the tragedy may never be known. The murderer was John Bigelow, an actor, and the scene of the tragedy was the room of Miss Amy Thill, his victim, who was an actress. It appears that he killed the young woman by firing three shots into her head and then shot himself in the head. The bodies were not discovered until several hours after the shooting.

Miss Thill occupied a room in the house with her two sisters, Alice and Marie, who are at present with a theatrical company at Erie, Pa., and Bigelow was a frequent caller on them. It was said that Bigelow had been very gloomy since he lost his position last Christmas, and had been drinking heavily.

George Nimens Sued the Water Commissioners for That Sum,

But Justice Rose Non-Suited the Action.

Proceedings of the Middlesex Spring Assizes-Other Cases.

Wednesday Morning. On Sept. 28 last George Nimens, of this city, was thrown out of a rig on King street, just west or Adelaide, and by his fall on the block payement received a broken thigh and other injuries. At the time and place of the accident, excavations were made on either side of the roadway by employes of the waterworks, in order that a water service might be put into a house of Mr. Isaac Sargent's. The openings were about five feet long and two and a half feet wide. The sand and blocks were piled up at either side, and a clear roadway of thirteen feet—enough to allow of the passage of two rigs—re-mained. Nimens was driving westward about 10:30 in the morning, and before his rig had hardly got clear of the gaps it collided with a farmer's rig going in an easterly direction. The wheels became interlocked, and Nimens' horse was frightened. It made several plunges, and the driver was thrown out. The farmer escaped unhurt. Nimens was taken to the hospital, and three months elapsed before he was discharged. Now he is unable to do any work. A suit for $3,000 damages for injuries received was entered by Mr. Nimens against the water commissioners, the ground being negligence on the part of the waterworks employes. The case was tried at the assizes before Mr. Justice Rose this morning. James Allston, foreman of the department, was called for the plaintiffs, but gave good evi-dence for the other side. He stated that Nimens admitted he had plenty of room to pass the other rig, and that no fault existed with the employes, but with the farmer. Nimens, in the box, denied this he done this, and (3) that there was room for two rigs to pass. At the conclusion of the plaintiff's case, Mr. Meredith asked for a non-suit. Justice Rose allowed it, holding that there was no negligence on the part of the commissioners which could in any way have caused the accident, and that the accident was, according to the plaintiff's own story, caused by his colliding with another rig. Under authority of the case of Headford vs. McClary, tried in London by himself, and confirmed by all the superior courts in Canada, Justice Rose withdrew the case from the jury, with costs.

Wednesday Afternoon. The entire session of the court was Prescriptions taken up with the case of Smith vs. Lampman, Thorp and Walt. The par-The par ties belong to the township of Bosanquet, in the county of Lambton. The action was brought to compel the removal of certain obstructions in a high-way by the defendants. The plaintiff claimed that his land abutted on the road, and that he suffered loss in various ways through the blockade. The defense held that the road in question was not and never had oeen opened as a highway, and that the plaintiff had suffered no special damage through it being closed. Justice Rose took the case from the jury on the ground that it was practically a question of law. Judgment was reserved, pending an inquiry into Q.C., Sarnia, for the defense.

The case of McGuffin vs. Colbert has been settled on payment by the defendant of $350 and costs. The case promised to be of a very unsavory nature. Elizabeth Ann McGuffin, wife of Hugh Mc-Guffin, con.9, London township, charged Thomas Colbert, who rtsides immediately opposite, with circulating slan-derous statements about her charac-She also charged Colbert with posting a placard on a public highway, the inscription on which was very obscene. Colbert denied this in his statement of defense, but claimed that she had made immoral proposals to him. Colbert is a bachelor, 54 years of age and wealthy.

Yesterday afternoon the grand jury visited the asylum, city hospital and St. Joseph's.

NOTES. A motion was made by the defendants in Down vs. McGillivray to refer the action to the referee under the Drainage Act, Mr. B. M. Britton. The motion was granted. E. R. Cameron for plaint-iffs; T. G. Meredith for defense.

The grand jury visited the jail this morning and were shown through by Governor Kelly. The institution was in its usual tidy condtion. Justice Rose takes a constitutional

FIVE RUNAWAYS.

A Policeman's Life or Death Catch of a Flying Team.

One Team Starts Four Others-Exciting Time on King Street.

A runaway began yesterday at the gas house and ended in a policeman's arms at the Market Square. That is, the original runaway ended there. But in the meantime other horses had been scared by the first team, or had caught the infection, and the stream of misfortune that followed in its wake continued to swell and gather until four other horses were running away, two leaving dismantled and broken rigs and going off with dangling shafts banging against their heels or flying around their ears. One horse was of an "advanced" order, and preferred the crowded sidewalk on the west side of Richmond street in the City Hall block to the muddy street. It was also wise enough to avoid a policeman on the corner, but preferred to stop running when it came to the vile pavement on Dundas street just west of Richmond. It had regard for its feet.
A man named Smith was passing the gas house with a heavy team and teaming wagon about 10:30 a.m. The engineer at the gas house blew off steam just as the team was passing. The horses were scared and ran off, the jerk throwing the driver out. Up Ridout street galloped the team, and at King street it turned east. The empty wagon was making a noise like thunder on the block pavement, and finally McNeill's little grey horse which was standing on King street thought that it would "mosey" along, too. The two rigs needed about all the street, and a milkman bushels of grain were destroyed. Foot who was ahead of the flying team whipped up his horses, and in a moment they were running away also, and heading the procession. The milk wagon turned into the market at the fish stalls on King street, and team No. 1 did likewise. Finlay McNeil's horse ran slapbang into another delivery wagon, and straightway two damaged rigs lay on the side of the road, and a black horse and a little grey mare were scam-pering up King street like all possessed. The black turned north on Richmond street and kept the sidewalk to Dun-das. Here P. C. Monaghan attempted to interrupt the animal, but was unsuccessful. In turning west on Dundas street it lost its momentum and was

P. C. Michael Twohy was on King street when this singular conglomera-tion of runaways came dasning up. The milk team was still leading, and seeing that the driver was staying with it, Mr. Twohy devoted his attention to the heavy, driverless team behind. made a running grab for one of the horse's heads, and secured a hold. He was dragged about fifteen yards before his weight brought the animals to a standstill. Bystanders say that Mr. Twohy virtually took his life in his hands in making the stop, as to have missed his hold would have meant disablement under the horses' heels and the heavy wagon. It was a brave act.
Mr. McNell's horse was padly cut over the eyes, and the wound had to be sewed up by a veterinary. It was also cut on the heels. Another delivery horse ran off, but was captured before going

A Toronto Man Tries to Kill His Wife and Himself.

She Will Live But He May Die-Sheer Malice the Cause.

TORONTO, Ont., March 27 .- Arthur C. Zimmerman, of 16 Brant Place, attempted to kill his wife Maria this morning and then made a desperate effort to take his own life. Zimmerman has been quarreling with his wife for the past three months, and was summoned to appear in the police court today to answer to a charge of ill-treating her. This served only to increase his temper, and going into the house this morning he seized a hammer and dealt her two savage blows on the head. The woman fell unconscious to the floor, and Zimmerman, thinking that he had killed her, then commenced to commit suicide.

Procuring a sharp knife he slashed one of his wrists thinking that he would immediately bleed to death, but finding this too slow he plunged the weapon into his left breast. The blade, however, missed his heart and pierced one of his lungs medical aid was summoned. It was found that the woman's skull had been fractured, but she was not in so critical a condition as Zimmerman himself. Zimmerman is a German, and has been in Toronto only a couple of months. He was employed by the Silver Plate Company, King street west.

THE SINKING OF THE ELBE.

Resumption of the Inquiry-Postponed for a Week.

ROTTERDAM, March 27.-The inquiry into the circumstances of the sinking of the steamer Elbe was resumed here today. The counsel representing the North German Lloyd Steamship Company announced that the company has deposited the £2,000 demanded by the owners of the Craithie as security for the damages sustained by the latter vessel. Counsel for the Craithie's owners asked that the embargo which had been put upon the Craithie be removed, and argued that the owners were in no way responsible for the disaster. He also asked that costs be awarded to the owners because of the embargo. Counsel for the North German Lloyd asked that the inquiry be postponed another week. The court remarked that it would probably be 1896 before the arguments of the counsel were concluded. Nevertheless, the request was granted, and the inquiry was postponed for a week.

"Well, make the most of your enjoyment," said Mr. Raeburn, speaking a little dryly as he rose from his chair. "It's as well, maybe, that you can find your pleasure in such little things; there's no knowing how long you may have bigger ones to enjoy."

He went out of the room rather quickly, looked and Stella, laying down her spoon, looked with a puzzled face towards her aunt for explanation. "He did not seem quite pleased," she said. "Did I say anything that he did not like, auntie?"

'Nothing that he need mislike, my bairn. It's just this; he's got a notion that we don't appreciate all that he's done for us, in building this fine house up at the west end which, in my opinion, is just rideeculous; and he seems whiles to wish that we should not like anything but what's cost money; so that though he himself sups the porridge and likes it as well as ever, he'd have been better pleased, my dear, if ye'd turned up your nose at it and asked for some patty de foy grasse, or whatever they call it, or some of that fine raised pie with truffles and spice and what not. It's just the nature of the man, that's all " man, that's all.'

"I see; I will try to trouble him," said Stella, with a rather pleased laugh. "But my tastes are all quite simple, I believe; I like cold mutton and rice-puddings: so what am I to do?"

"Ye'll just have to do what other women spend their lives in doing—pretend," said Miss Jacky. "We're all weak creatures, my dear; but I'd sooner be a women than a man, because I'd sooner deceive than be

"Oh, Aunt Jacky, you don't mean what you say."

"Indeed and I do, my dear, Why, I'm pretending and deceiving all day long. I'm always pretending that I like this big house and I don't; I'm pretending that I like to be waited on, which is just my particular abomination: and I deceive my brother all day long—for his soul's good, my bairn, all for his soul's good. And I've no doubt but that in the last day, allowance will be made for my situation.

Stella was rather appalled by 'this revelation of duplicity, but while she was still thinking it over her father reappeared. He in better humor now, and looked her with a faint smile on his face.
"I'm going down to the mill," he said.

"I shall take the next car that passes. What's the right time, Stella? Have you a

"Oh, yes, papa dear; you gave it to me yourself just before I went to Brussels. It keeps very good time. Half-past nine; that is right, is it not?"

"A trumpery thing!" said Mr. Raeburn, taking the little silver watch from her hand and turning it over disdainfully. "I'll give you a better one than that, Stella. It's not suitable for your position now."

"Papa, I am sure I don't want anything better." She had forgotten her aunt's recom-mendations until Miss Jacky trod violently upon her toes under the table: and then blushing and starting, she resumed, "I am very much obliged to you, indeed. But really it is not necessary—this watch goes

"Pooh, nonsense!" said Mr. Raeburn, still good-humoredly. "You must have a new one now; something like what Miss Raeburn of Thornbank ought to have. You give me your old watch; I'll see what I can get for

"Oh, not the dear old watch that you gave me, dear papa, I want to keep it always-for your sake.' "She can lay it past with her dolls and her primers," interposed Miss Jacky pacifically. "It is just a little girl's watch; there's no mistake about that, Stella, and you should have a better one now that ye're a young lady. So you go away down to town, Matthew, and get the watch for her if you like; but ye're no wanting to deprive the poor bairn of her playthings, which its but natural that she have a regard for?" "Well, well," said Mr. Raeburn, letting Stella slip her watch back into her poc ket, "as you please. There's no need to exchange it; I can afford two watches, should think, or half a dozen, if I please. A half-hunter, Stells, with your initials in brilliants on the back-what do you think of that now?"

Stella was saved from what was to he the painful necessity of replying by the apparition of a solemn man-ser vant at the door. He had come to announce the approach of the tram-car, for it was one of Mr. Raeburn's peculiarities that he would never take his own carriage and horses out in a morning to convey him to the mill; he preferred the public car. Mr. Raeburn went into the hall, but turned back once more before leaving the "Is that young man-that young lad that I saw on the steamer-coming to-day,

"I don't know, papa." "Well, if he comes, you can be civil to him, but not to civil. I must make inquiries about him before he gets on any intimate footing in this house. Of course, if he was kind to you, and you like to pay him the compliment of asking him to eat his dinner with us some evening, you may; but don't you get so friendly, Miss Stella, with every long-legged lad you come across. Miss Raeburn must remember her position."

"I am sure I have never been particularly friendly with any one, papa," said Stella with flaming cheeks. "Well, maybe you haven't. But mind what I say."

"I daresay he will not come at all, papa."
"All the better," said Mr. Raeburn. don't want too many of his sort round the house. There's no reason why you should not marry a title, Stella, if you manage well. 'My lady' would suit her fine: don't you think so, Jacky?"

"I think," said Miss Jacky, with severity, "that you're a bigger fool than ever I took we for, brother, and that is saving a good. ye for, brother, and that is saying a good deal. And ye'll have lost your tram, more-over." And as Mr. Raeburn hurried out of the room, she subjoined in a tone of peculiar sold in lead packets only.

All acidity, "Why the Almighty created men with so little sense, is what I've tried all my life to find out, and never yet succeeded. They go crowing round like cockerels on a fence, the whole clamjamfry of them, and no one ever knows what it's about."

Stella laughed, in spite of her vexation. "And who's the young man that he means my dear? Somebody that came in the boat with you from London? How did you get acquaint with him?" And then, by a series of questions, Miss Jacky won from the girl a recital of the events of her two days' voyage under Mrs. Muir's sheltering wing, a recital from which Stella carefully omitted all that was particularly interesting to herself, more out of shyness than from any wish to conceal the truth. Miss Jacky listened with her head on one side, and her eyes slanted towards the speaker with something of the aspect of a serious cockatoo, but after all, Stella's story did not impress her much. Mr. Raeburn's inopportune warnings had led her to expect far more.

"Bless us," she said, "what's the good man fashing himself for, I wonder? The young gentleman couldn't do less than make himself agreeable: and to my mind it was no wonder if he was a little bit attracted by somebody's bonny face — not but what beauty's only skin deep," added Miss Jacky hastily, for Stella's moral edification, "and there's no accounting for young men's tastes. Providentially we haven't got to account for them. them; and so"—with a conviction that she was showing great conversational tact and finesse—"let us not try to do anything, of the kind, but just come out with me into the garden, and then we'll look at your frocks and get on with our day's work. What the day's work was, it would have been hard for Aunt Jacky to define.

Stella was glad to quit the subject, and did obediently and joyously all that was required of her. She and her aunt lunched at home, under the eye of a solemn butler and a couple of footman, who made Miss Jadky evidently so nervous that Stella was emboldened to propose a new departure on future occasions. "Don't you think, Aunt Jacky," she said, "that it would be more comfortable to have lunch in the little anteroom opening out of this big dining room, and only one of the maids to wait on us? She said this when the servants had at last departed from the room.

"Your father wouldn't like it, my dear. It would be much more comfortable, no doubt; but I am sure that he would say that it wouldn't be living up to our position. I daren't propose it." "Oh dear! oh dear! what is our position?" cried Stella, a little dolefully; and then laughed at herself for asking the question.

Her heart was beginning to beat more quickly as the afternoon advanced. Would

Mr. Hannington come or would he not? She had gently to combat her aunt's proposition that they should go into the town together, do some shopping, and pay some calls. "People should call on me first, know: auntie," said Miss Stella, with an immense assumption of dignity. "I suppose immense assumption of dignity. "Is they knew that I was coming home?"

"Hoity-toity, set her up! As if folk would call for you," said Aunt Jacky, with much scorn. "A wee bit lassie like you to expect people to come and see you."

But, as both dignity and scorn were mere imitations of the genuine article, aunt and niece immediately laughed at fone another and sat down contentedly for a long and wholesome chat.

BURNED AS A WITCH!

Terrible Murder Perpetrated in Ireland.

A Man Pours Paraffine Over His Wife and Sets Her on Fire.

WATERFORD, Ireland, March 27 .- A most extraordinary case of murder arising from superstition was inquired into yesterday by the special court of Clonmel, 25 miles from here. Ten persons were arraigned before the court charged with murdering a woman named Cleary, because they supposed her to be a witch. The prisoners included the murdered woman's husband and father. The evidence showed that Mrs. Cleary was suffering from nervousness and bronchitis, and her husband, believing her to be bewitched, and in order to exorcise the evil spell, obtained a concection from an herbalist of the neighborhood. Then, while the other prisoners held the unfortunate woman in bed, her husband forced the obnoxious concoction of herbs down her throat. After this the suffering woman was held over a fire and dreadfully burned until she declared in the name of God that she was not Cleary's wife. This torture was repeated on the following day, but the woman refused to conform to her husband's requests, whereupon he knocked her down, stripped off her clothing, poured paraffine over her body, then lighted it, and the woman burned to death in the presence of six male and two female relatives. Cleary declared that he was not burning his wife, but that he was burning a witch, and she would disappear up the chimney.

When the woman was dead her husband collected her charred remains in a sheet and buried them in a dike beneath the mud, where they were found a week later. The prisoners, who were remanded, narrowly escaped lynching at the hands of the excited crowd in and about the court room, and had to be removed to jail under a strong force of

DUTTON.

March 27.-On Feb. 23 John and An drew Caldwell, the Scotch twin evange-lists of London, Ont., arrived in Dut-ton and were given comfortable quarters at the residence of J. A. McLach-lin. On Sunday evening, Feb. 24, the evangelists opened a month's cam-paign in the handsome and commodi-ous new Methodist Church, under the direction of its energetic pastor, Rev. J. E. Moore. Large crowds attended night after night, and the last two weeks witnessed the ingathering of a goodly number of precious souls. Their dialogue sermons were doctrinally sound, and were delivered with such convincing earnestness and zeal that about 25 persons yielded to their persuasive appeals. Their duet "Songs of Salvation" attracted many, who are now singing the "new song" them-selves. The last night of their meetings every foot of available space in the church was occupied. At the close the pastor requested Dr. Shannon to come forward, which he did, and read a beau-tifully worded address to the evangelists, expressive of the appreciation of the congregation for their noble work and efforts in winning souls, and also presented them with $95 as a small token of esteem and love. The next day hundreds of people assembled at the depot of the M. C. R., and as the express rolled in sang "In the Sweet Byand-Bye." Farewells were said, and the evangelists left for Windsor to work with Rev. G. W. Henderson.

Dr. J. A. Shannon, the superintendent of the Methodist Sunday school, Dutton, was presented with a beautifully framed address on Tuesday evening last by the church, expressive of esteem and appreciation of his work, prior to leaving for Sault Ste. Marie. The doctor leaves many friends in Dutton.

City Members Accompany Him, and Instruct and Address the Birr Lodge-Increased Membership Expected.

Tuesday night C. C. Whale, high senior inspector of the I. O. F., drove to Birr, accompanied by a half-dozen members of the city lodges. The object of the visit was principally to instruct and enlighten the district lodge on the work of the order. The visitors took possession of the officers' chairs on motion, and for nearly two hours the members of Court Birr had the pleasure of witnessing the exemplification of the regular order of business and initiation as worked by the order in London and elsewhere. Afterwards the court listened to an address by the inspector, C. C. Whale. It was a masterly exposition of the benefits of the Independent Order of Foresters, and frequent applause was given to the speaker. The advantages of membership in this large and steadily increasing order were explained concisely, and his address was illustrated with incidents that appealed strongly to all men who had neglected to place insurance on their lives. The comparison of results, the low cost of insurance and every prominent feature of Independent Forestry were thoroughly explained by Mr. Whale. He was followed by Atwell Fleming, Geo. Baxter, Alex. Aikman, Wm. Tackaberry and Frank Adams with short addresses. Several members of Birr Lodge also spoke and thanked the city brothers and Inspector Whale for their kindness in attending and the ex-cellent manner with which the routine of the work had been conducted. Afterwards lunch was provided. The visit will no doubt be an incentive to an increased membership to Birr Lodge, which is officered as follows: J. H. Patrick, C.R.; L. Lambourn, V.C.R.; J. C. P. Hughes, P.C.R.; William Gillbank, F.S.; R. M. Hobbs, treasurer; R. H. Morgan, R.S.; F. Campbell, chaplain: Warren McRoberts, court deputy.

Prince of Wales' Yacht Britannia Wins a Race and 5,000 Francs.

NICE. March 27 .- The Ailsa, Britannia and Valkyrie I. started this morning in a race for 5,000, 2,000 and 1,000 francs, with gold, silver and bronze medals. The course was 30 miles. The weather was clear, the wind light and the sea calm. The Ailsa passed the starting line at 10:44:20, the Britannia at 10:49:07, and the Valkyrie at 10:55:37. All three of the yachts carried their headsails and working topsails. The wind freshened shortly after the start. The Alisa turned the east buoy at 11:23.35, mia, 11:25:35, and the Valkyrie at 11:36:50. The wind freshened after the boats rounded the west buoy, making a strong sailing beat. The Ailsa kept in too near the shore, and was obliged to tack to reach the jetty. The Britannia made a long leg and reached the jetty without tacking. The times of passing the LITTLE BLIND TRAVELERS. The latest arrival at the Ontario Institution for the Blind is a youngster from Vancouver Island, B. C., David Little by name, about 11 years old, but, although strong and healthy, small for his age. He is an intelligent child, and gives an account of himself with great exactness. He is sent to Brantford under the auspices and at the expense of the British Columbia Government, there being no educational institution for the blind in that Province. He was placed in charge of a friendly brake-man on the C. P. CONCERT AT THE ASYLUM. A very successful concert was given at the asylum Tuesday under the auspices of the employes of the Hobbs Hardware and Manufacturing Companies, at which some of the best local talent assisted. Mr. J. C. Lockhart.

Character Song.....The Minstrel Boy (parody)
Alr. A. W. Jutson.
Song.....Sweet Mignonette
Miss Edith Hartson.
Recitation.....The Hired Girl
Little Daisy Lewis.
Dance......Sailors' Hornpipe
Master Hugh Galbraith.
Character Song...Tim. Toolan

Master Hugh Galbraith.
Accompanist—Mr. J. W. Fetherston.

Mr. Sim Fax, the popular and talented local comedian, whose company of International Entertainers appears at the Grand this evening, and subsequently makes an extended tour of the Maritime Provinces, was in his best vein, and received an enthusiastic reception, being compelled to respond to numerous recalls. Mr. Fax is a great favorite at the asylum, as elsewhere. Mr. St. George, the well-known cornet ist, played a couple of solos in his usual finished style, and the character songs of Mr. A. W. Jutson afforded him an excellent oportunity of displaying his talents in this line. He was repeatedly encored. Miss Edith Hartson sang sweetly and in good taste and little Daisy Lewis, the clever child elocutionist, recited very feelingly, and received deserved applause. Mr. J. C. Lockhart who is the possessor of a fine tenor voice, which he controls admirably, was heard to great advantage in "The Carnival," and Dibdin's famous nau-tical song, "Tom Bowling." Master Hugh Galbraith's dancing justified the reputation he has made as a graceful dancer throughout the Province, and Miss Alice Galbraith's singing was also well received. Mr. McKeough's rendering of "Swim Out, O'Grady," also received merited applause. Special mention should be made of the splendid accompaniments of Mr. Fetherston, which left nothing to be desired in this direction, and assisted materially in the suc-

The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held in Somerset Hall on Tuesday afternoon. There was a large attendance in spite of the stormy weather, and the interest manifested was very great. The devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. Boyd and were very helpful. A communication was received relative to the meeting which was to be held on Tuesday evening in the First Presbyterian Church of the committee on Sabbath observance, and the union were all strongly urged to attend; also to use all influence for the retaining of our peaceful Sabbath. The subject of cigarette smoking and its awful effects was brought up and the union were much pleased to note that Mr. Grigg had been able to have several convictions
