RUSSIAN REDS ARE DRIVEN BACK ACROSS BUG RIVER DURING COUNTER-ATTACKS LAUNCHED BY THE POLES

Bolshevik Advance Is Stemmed Around Warsaw—Desperate Battle Is Being Fought Toward the East Prussian Border —Premiers Lloyd George and Millerand Will Confer Tonight On Question of Sending Military Aid.

London, Aug. 7.—Russian Bolshevik armies hammering the Polish lines northeast and east of Warsaw seem to have encountered stern resistance. With the exception of the area around Brest-Litovsk, east of the Polish capital, no new advances by Soviet troops have been reported, and even there they have been limited by the desperate fighting of the Poles. Polish forces have been compelled to retire from Terespol, about four miles west of Brest-Litovsk, and have lost Muramiec, about five miles to the south. Thus the Bolsheviki have gained a foothold on the west bank of the Bug River in this region, but it is probable their further progress will be very slow, as permanent forts erected years ago to defend the city must be stormed if the Soviet legions are to gain ground there.

Northwest of Brest-Litovsk, along the Bug River, the Polish have launched vigorous counter-attacks and have succeeded in driving back across the river Bolshevik detachments which had succeeded in reaching the left bank of the stream. Further north along the battlefront, toward the East Prussian frontier, a great battle is being fought, but no details of the outcome have been given in late dispatches. At Myszyniec, about five miles from the German boundary, the Poles are well intrenched and appear to be holding their own in spite of savage assaults against their positions.

In the southern sectors of the front, fighting of a serious nature is going on, and the Poles seem to be gaining ground at some points.

PREMIERS WILL DISCUSS PLAN TO SEND MILITARY AID TO THE POLES

Paris, Aug. 7.—Premier Millerand will leave at 7:30 o'clock tonight for England, where he will confer with Premier Lloyd George relative to the Polish situation. Newspapers here declare Marshal Foch will be present at the premier's conference.

Military aid for Poland, consisting of one or two divisions each from France, Great Britain, Hungary, Rumania Letvia, and possibly other nations, is one of the emergency measures to be discussed by the two premiers.

This plan, as well as other measures, has been recommended by the French and British missions at Warsaw, it having been pointed out that Hungary probably can send good cavalry into the field. These divisions, it is understood would be fully equipped.

POLISH ATTITUDE OUTLINED IN NOTE TO WORLD LEAGUE

Warsaw, Aug. 7.—The Polish foreign office has sent to the league of nations a note presenting the Polish side of the peace and armistice controversy with the soviet government of Russia. A proclamation calculated to quiet the Polish people, asking them to remain calm and to support the government, will be issued by government officials.

POLAND SENDS NOTE TO ALLIES AND AMERICA

Warsaw, Aug. 6.—The Polish foreign office has sent a note to the Allies and a special note to the United States on the actual political situation, it was learned today.

POLES WILL NOT ACCEPT TERMS THAT RESTRICT RIGHTS

Warsaw, Aug. 7.—Essentials of the terms of peace Poland would agree to were to have been sent by wireless to Moscow Thursday, accepting the soviet proposal to send delegates to Minsk to negotiate simultaneously an armistice and peace.

The note declared that Poland was compelled, however, to demand formal guarantees that the Polish delegates would be permitted free and direct communication with the Polish Government by wireless and couriers. The Government also said that because of the fact that the soviet had previously refused to negotiate an armistice, hostilities should now cease on both sides from the moment of the beginning of the negotiations at Minsk. The Poles, continued the note, were ready to conclude peace on the principle of national rights, and would try for such a solution of all questions as would guarantee future peace and friendly relations between Russia and her neighbors.

The note stated that Poland could not accept any terms that would be an attack on her sovereign rights or interfere with her internal affairs, and she asked an answer that would be the basis for future peace terms. The note added that the fact that the first armistice negotiations were broken off because the Polish delegates were empowered to negotiate only an armistice and not peace compelled the Government to conclude that the soviet would make an effort to continue military operations, and that therefore the Russians must take all responsibility for the continuance of hostilities. The Polish Government was making every effort to win the war, the note asserted.

GERMANY TO PLACE ARMED TROOPS ALONG EAST PRUSSIA BORDER

Paris, Aug. 7.—Dr. Geoppert, head of the German commission, delivered to the French foreign office yesterday a note relative to the retention of a German military force in East Prussia. The Government, according to this morning's papers, announced that armed groups will be formed in that province out of fear of the Bolsheviki, and that "in the interests of public order" the Government is obliged to take a hand in the organization of this militia. The note presented by Dr. Geoppert further recalls the request recently made to the council of ambassadors for permission to send German Government troops into the plebiscite territory at Marienwerder and Allenstein. Editorial opinion professes to see in this note an attempt by Germany to take advantage of the situation to violate the Versailles treaty.

"Everything," says the Petit Parisien, "shows that an imposing force will be ready at the German polish frontier to hold up the hands of the Bolshevik advance guards."

COUNTER-ATTACKS BY POLES RESULT IN HOLDING REDS

Paris, Aug. 7.—Polish counter-attacks against the Russian Bolsheviki have been successful, according to newspapers here. France and England, says the Matin, can without furnishing troops, give powerful aid to Poland in her battle against the soviet armies.

The Czecho-Slovak minister to France declares in an interview printed today in Excelsior that Czecho-Slovakia would consider intervention in Poland only if the territorial integrity and sovereignty of that country should be threatened. He says his country considers the existence of an inde-

O. B. U. LEADERS HANDLE OPPOSITION SPEAKERS IN ROUGH MANNER

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 7.—Following a hot debate between international and O. B. U. leaders last night, W. H. Hoop, one of the international speakers, was surrounded on the speakers' platform and roughly handled by some of the O. B. U. partisans.

The case for the international was presented by Hoop and R. H. Cutcheon, while Joe Knight and J. Houston were the O. B. U. champions. About 4,000 attended and there were frequent interruptions. F. J. Dixon, M. L. A., acted as chairman, but there were no judges, other than the audience, as to which side presented its arguments to the greater advantage.

MAY NOT ALLOW MANNIX TO LAND AT LIVERPOOL

London, Aug. 7.—In view of a police report of the possibility of rioting in Liverpool, the Government has decided that Archbishop Mannix shall not be allowed to land there, says the Daily Mail.

The newspaper quotes "an authority in close touch with the matter" as saying the archbishop may land at Avonmouth, Plymouth or Southampton, or that he may be taken off the Baltic on a tug and landed at some unnamed place.

IMMIGRATION SHOWS BIG INCREASE FOR APRIL, MAY, JUNE

Gain 68 Per Cent Over Corresponding Three Months in 1919.

Ottawa, Aug. 6.—(Canadian Press).—Immigration to Canada during April, May and June of the present year shows an increase of 68 per cent over the corresponding months in 1919, according to a statement just made public by Hon. J. A. Calder, minister of immigration and colonization. Of the 49,242 immigrants who entered Canada in April, May and June of this year, 28,457 were British; 16,397 were from the United States, and 4,358 from other countries.

In the five years previous to the war the total immigration to Canada was 1,661,425, of which 37 per cent were British, 36 per cent from the United States and 27 per cent from other countries. During the war period immigration from Great Britain fell off very greatly and from the United States considerably. The total from all countries was 405,476, of which 18 per cent were British, and 67 per cent from the United States. With the conclusion of the war British immigration showed a rapid increase and the proportions for the first year after the war are 51 per cent British, 42 per cent from the United States, and the remainder from other countries. The shipping situation is still a factor limiting British immigration, but this is gradually being corrected.

The foreigners showing rejections of immigrants desiring to enter Canada indicate the vigilance of the department in this connection. During the five years previous to the war 93,745 persons were rejected, the rejections amounting to more than five per cent of the total immigration.

During the war period the rejections rose to 19 per cent of the total immigration and during the first year after the war they have been 17 per cent.

Immigration to Canada from all sources during the fiscal year 1918-1919 totalled 57,702 persons. During the fiscal year 1919-1920 the total rose to 117,336 persons, and during April, May and June of the present year 49,424 immigrants have entered Canada.

DENVER PLACED UNDER CONTROL OF U. S. TROOPS

Martial Law Proclaimed As a Result of Riots.

STRIKE CALLED OFF

Union Leaders Decide To End Walkout of the Street Car Men.

Denver, Aug. 7.—Denver was placed under military control at 1:30 o'clock this morning in a proclamation issued by Mayor Bailey after a conference with Col. Bailtous of Fort Logan and state officials. Troops already had begun to arrive from Fort Logan.

Two hundred soldiers under Col. Bailtou arrived here early today, from Fort Logan to maintain order just as leaders of the Tramway Men's Union voted to recommend calling off the strike of street car men which has been followed by two days of violence, resulting in the deaths of three men and wounding of a dozen persons last night.

The tramway men were to meet at 9 o'clock this morning to take a vote on the recommendation of their executive committee. Governor Shoup, in a statement at Colorado Springs, said that the action of the union leaders would not serve to halt the arrival of troops. Five hundred more soldiers were under orders at Camp Funston to leave early today.

In a statement issued shortly after the announcement of the Union leaders, Frederick W. Held, general-manager of the tramway company, announced that the striking car men would be taken back, but that there would be no working agreement with the union and the union would not be recognized. The statement also declares that preference in filling vacancies would be given the strike breakers employed by the company to run cars.

The call for federal troops was issued last night when a mob attacked the East Denver car barns and was repelled with rifle fire. Three men were killed and a dozen persons, including women, girls and boys, were wounded. Several similar gatherings had been broken up earlier in the evening by the police with the assistance of a thousand volunteers recruited from American Legion members.

Five Dead and Fifty Hurt.

The leader of the strike-breakers at the East Denver car barns declared that the shooting there was caused by attacks of the mob on an automobile load of strike-breakers, who were arriving at the car barns. Rocks and bricks were hurled at the car, and the men in the car barns replied with rifle fire. Hundreds of persons in the neighborhood were attacked by the firing and four children, two girls and two boys, and a woman were among those hit by bullets.

The rioting of last night brought the casualties resulting from the strike disturbances to five dead and fifty known injured. Heavy property loss to the tramway company and the Denver Post also resulted.

Henry Silberg, president of the union, was informed of Mr. Hold's condition and his only comment was: "I wish he had reserved this statement. It will make our task harder."

Harvest Hands To Ask $7 Per Day

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Winnipeg, Aug. 7.—While wheat, rye and oats are being cut already in the west, the rush of harvest is not yet on but farmers are looking none the less eagerly for the arrival of Ontario harvesters' excursions. Rumors floating westward are not reassuring to farmers, however, for it is said harvest hand are going to ask for $7 a day this fall.

AMUNDSEN SAILS TODAY.

Nome, Alaska, Aug. 7.—Captain Roald Amundsen, Norwegian explorer, who planned to sail yesterday on a five-year expedition into the Arctic regions in an effort to reach the North Pole, was forced to postpone his departure on account of delay in stowing supplies on board the Maud. He announced he would sail today. A gold medal was presented to the explorer by the city council at a public reception.

Lovelorn Swain Will Pay More for Sweeties

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 7.—The high cost of living for the lovelorn swain will increase during the coming season, according to President W. J. Hoplins of the Confectionery Salesmen's Association. "There cannot but help to be an increase in the retail price of candy of all grades," he said, "particularly those of the fancy class, during the coming year. The sugar and raw materials of all kinds have been very scarce and costly. There is no relief in sight and consequently we must increase our prices."

COUNSEL FOR LORNE HELMER HINTS THAT HIS CLIENT HAS ADMITTED STRIKING LEARN

W. E. Kelly, K.C., in Appeal For Reduction of Murder Charge Declares "Both Boys Agree in Their Stories" Regarding Altercation Which Took Place Between Accused and Aged Norfolk Count y Farmer.

[By Staff Reporter.]

SIMCOE, Aug. 6.—That Lorne Helmer, 20-year-old Norfolk County farmer, committed for trial today on a charge of murder, has admitted to the crown that he struck down James Learn, aged Walsingham Township resident, on July 13 last, was indicated by W. E. Kelly, K.C., counsel for Helmer, in addressing Squire John Abel, who presided at the preliminary hearing at Silver Hill today. He asked that the charged be reduced to manslaughter and that release of his client on bail be thus made possible.

"Both boys agree in their stories," he declared in referring to the statement made by Charles, 15-year-old brother of the accused, who swore that he saw Lorne strike Learn with his hands after the old man had struck the prisoner. No story from the prisoner has been made public, and if any such statement corresponds with that of Charles Helmer it must have been a confession. Intentional or otherwise, his counsel made the above remark at the hearing.

Committed for Trial.

However, James Learn, whose badly decomposed body was found on the Helmer farm near here last week, was struck down during an altercation between Learn and Lorne L. Helmer on the Helmer farm near here on the morning of July 13 last, according to the evidence of Charles Helmer, 15-year-old brother of Lorne, given at the preliminary hearing of the latter on a charge of murder, on which charge Lorne Helmer was later committed for trial by Squire John Abel, justice of the peace, after hearing the evidence, despite the plea from W. E. Kelly, K.C., counsel for the accused, that the charge be reduced to one of manslaughter.

Crown Attorney T. R. Slaght of Simcoe opposed a reduction of the more serious charge, stating that in his opinion this was a matter for a judge to decide later, and the presiding justice upheld this contention. Prior to Helmer's committment, the coroner's jury brought in a verdict that James Learn came to his death by external violence at the hands of Lorne L. Helmer on July 13, on lot 19 or lot 20, concession 7, North Walsingham Township.

Accused Hears Evidence.

Helmer was present at the inquest and hearing, which were held concurrently in a small hall, which was packed to capacity by mobidly curious ones, with crowds at every window, from the district. Coroner Dr. F. E. D. McGilvery of Simcoe directed the inquest, and Provincial Detective John Miller, who arrested Helmer last week, was present. The 20-year-old prisoner sat on the platform beside the jury, with his back turned toward the spectators. He retained his composure throughout the hearing of evidence, his favorite position being with feet crossed and arms folded in his lap. He wore a soft felt hat, blue serge suit and white running shoes. His mother and wife of nine months were not present, although the former was at a farm nearby during the proceedings.

Eve's First Frock Would Have Looked Like Raincoat Compared With New Abbreviated Gown

Chicago, Aug. 6.—The gown exquisite, the daring suggestive creation that made sophisticated Paris gasp, took Chicago by storm today. Youth laughed and thought of the care-free lives of the South Sea barbarians; old age chuckled and cracked its heels together. And religious circles threw up their hands and called for a halt.

It all happened when dispatches clattered in over the cables from Paris that a new gown which made Eve's first frock look like a raincoat, was to be the style this year. The abbreviated masterpiece has two panels sewed together only part of the way, so that the slightest gypsy breeze would — —.

But wait, a charming young woman donned one of the gowns at the shop of a well-known modiste soon after arrival of the Paris dispatch. It had a safety skirt under the two helter skelter panels. But even so, Chicago groaned. "It's too much even for Chicago," the clubwomen and social welfare leaders wailed. "Amen!" echoed the ministerial world.

Thereupon the storm of criticism burst forth.

"The style as reported by Paris would indicate an unbelievable decline in the virtue of decorum that decency requires," declared Rev. Robert D. Scott, pastor of Olivet Institute Church. "The Bible declares that men and women shall be known by their fruits. Jesus Christ himself says 'Do men gather grapes of thorns or figs of thistles?'"

"It does not speak well for the would-be French fashion makers that there is in their hearts a fountain out of which can flow a stream of fashion plates the very sight of which shocks the sensibilities. The proposed style, as Paris outlines it, is not only an evil to be condemned—it is a black crime against the purity of womanhood—a stain on the good name of man."

MADE A FINE SHOWING.

Paisley, Aug. 7.—The pupils of the Paisley continuation school were exceptionally successful in the recent departmental examinations in the lower school. The eighteen who wrote succeeded in passing, two with honors; and in the middle school twelve out of the thirteen who tried, three with honors.

FRENCH SOCIALISTS OBJECT TO SENDING TROOPS TO POLAND

Party Appeals To Its Members To Help Prevent France's Intervention.

INAUGURATE CAMPAIGN

Urge Support of Russian Revolution Against Capitalist Imperialism.

Paris, Aug. 7.—Opposition to intervention in Poland against the Russian Bolsheviki on the part of the French unified Socialist party, has resulted in that organization appealing to members to take action intended to prevent France from becoming involved in the struggle before Warsaw.

"An appeal for the Russian revolution against capitalist imperialism" is the caption under which the committee makes its announcement.

"In concert with the general labor federation," the announcement continues, "it has been decided to immediately organize vigorous action against the plan of brigandage directed against the Russian revolution, which may again set fire to the whole of Europe. Until the projected action can be begun, sections and federations are invited to organize from now on all the agitation desirable so that public opinion may at once be informed of the criminal plans of our rulers and the consequences that may result.

"Not a man, not a sou, and not a shell for reactionary capitalist Poland!

"Long live the Russian revolution! Long live the workers internationale!"

WARD 1 MAY SHOW INCREASE

Assessment For Taxation Will Be Completed Before End of Month.

Assessment of Ward 1 for 1921 taxation will be completed before the end of the month. This will also mean the completion of the assessment for the whole city, as the work in Wards 4, 2 and 3 has been finished.

Judging from the increased assessment in these wards a similar increase in Ward 1 will undoubtedly show a large increase. Ward 1 includes almost the whole business district. Many building changes have taken place there since the last assessment was made, and these will account for much of the increase.

Ward 4 showed a total increase of $1,607,579; Ward 3 had an increase of $1,281,333, and Ward 2 an increase of $3,158,345.

WILL ATTRACT MANY STUDENTS TO LONDON

Proposed Extensions to the Health Institute Course Important to City.

As a result of a decision arrived at by the sub-committee of the board of governors of the Western University, the plans for the extension and specialization, along various lines, of the work of the Institute of Public Health will be proceeded with just as rapidly as possible. Proposed extensions of the work of the institute have been under consideration by the university authorities for some time, and it was in line with this purpose in view that Dr. H. W. Hill was induced to return to London to resume the headship of the institution.

Some of the plans have still to be worked out in detail. Dr. Hill stated today, but the consensus of opinion of all members of the sub-committee which met Friday night, was that as much as possible of the proposed new extension of the work be got under way for the opening of classes in September or October.

A. W. White, chairman of the committee, stated that it was a little too early to say just what new changes and developments in the work of the institute would be proceeded with right away, but that no time would be lost and the courses offered by the institute would be added to as rapidly as possible.

The proposed developments in the university's faculty of public health will make London unique among the educational centres not only of all Canada, but of practically all the United States. London's university is proposing to offer courses that only one other university in North America offers, and that university is the long-established and richly endowed Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, Md.

The opening of the classes in the new public health courses, for which curriculi are now being framed, ought to be the means of attracting to London immediately many students from neighboring states and provinces, as well as from all parts of Ontario.

GOV. COX TAKES AN UNEQUIVOCAL STAND IN FAVOR OF LEAGUE OF NATIONS IN SPEECH ACCEPTING DEMOCRATIC PARTY'S NOMINATION

Presidential Standard-Bearer For Democrats Outlines Policy and Firmly Approves of Wilson's Attitude—Supreme Issue of Election Campaign To Be U. S. Acceptance or Rejection of League Covenant—Denounces Profiteering, Favors Woman Suffrage and Promises Strict Enforcement of Prohibition Laws.

Dayton, Ohio, Aug. 7.—Peace for the United States and the world by this nation's entrance into the league of nations with "interpretations" not disturbing its vital principle, was pronounced today by Governor James M. Cox, the Democratic presidential standard bearer, as his paramount policy.

In his address here accepting the Democratic nomination, Governor Cox militantly championed the league as proposed by President Wilson ,with interpretations insuring good faith and understanding, and denounced what he termed the dishonorable proposal from Senator Harding, his Republican opponent, for "a separate peace with Germany."

League or no league, the Democratic nominee declared, is the issue between the two parties—"the supreme issue of the century," he said.

"The question is," Governor Cox declared, "whether we shall or shall not join in this practical and humane movement. President Wilson entered the league in our name. Senator Harding, as the Republican candidate for the presidency, proposes in plain words that we remain out of it. As the Democratic candidate I favor going in.

"The first duty of the new administration will be ratification of the treaty," Governor Cox said, predicting that friends of the league would rally to elect a senate with the requisite majority for ratification.

Condemns Lodge Reservations.

Condemning the Lodge reservations as "emasculating," Governor Cox suggested two specific "interpretations," as outlined several months ago in a newspaper article. One declared America's continuance in the league should depend upon the league use only as an agency for world peace; the other stated the understanding that this nation could act only within the constitution, declared unalterable by any treaty.

No room for doubt was left as to the governor's position on the league as the pre-eminent political battle-ground. As on other subjects, he stated his position squarely.

"We are in a time which calls for straight thinking, straight talking and straight acting," he said. "It is no time for wobbling."

The league question led the candidate's address and to it he devoted three thousand words of the 10,000 odd total.

The prohibition amendment and Volstead law were not specified in the address, but Governor Cox promised emphatically strict law enforcement.

Favors Woman Suffrage.

Regarding woman suffrage, the governor urged the ratification of the proposed constitution amendment, declaring women "are entitled to the privilege of voting as a matter of right, and beeause they will be helpful in maintaining wholesome and patriotic policy."

His opposition—candidate, platform leaders and congressional record—were flayed by Governor Cox in scathing terms throughout his long address. A "senatorial oligarchy," led by Senators Lodge, Penrose and Smoot, Governor Cox charged, selected Senator Harding to lead the Republicans, and fastened "into the party platform the creed of bitterness and hate and the vacillating policy that possesses it."

Governor Cox said he took up the Democratic standard "a free man, unfettered by promises."

"Our view is toward the sunrise of tomorrow. The opposition stands in the skyline of the setting sun, looking backward at the old day."

A graceful tribute to President Wilson was paid by Governor Cox, when, scoring the Republican platform for absence of "a line that breathes emotion of pride," in the nation's war achievements, he said that while soldiers fell in the trenches, Mr. Wilson "was broken in the enormous labor of his office."

Denounces Profiteering.

The Republican proposal for a separate peace, Governor Cox declared, would be "the most disheartening event in civilization since the Russians made their separate peace with Germany." Citing difficulties in the plan, Governor Cox said that if accomplished "no nation in good standing would have anything to do with either of us."

Discussing domestic questions, Governor Cox denounced profiteering at length, and promised that profiteers should "suffer the penalty of the criminal law."

Collective bargaining by labor through its own representatives was approved by the governor.

Agricultural subjects formed another extensive feature of the candidate's speech, many expedients for agricultural development being advocated.

Advocating more home owners, Governor Cox said that under Democratic rule "the prosperity of the country had been widely diffused."

Repeal of war laws restricting freedom of speech and assembly, and liberty of the press, was advocated, together with Americanization of alien residents, and extension of education work "without encroachment by the federal government on local control."

"I accept the nomination of our party," he said in conclusion, "obedient to the Divine Sovereign of all peoples, and hopeful that by trust in Him the way will be shown for helpful service."

WILL FIGHT FOR ACCEPTANCE OF LEAGUE COVENANT

GOV. JAMES M. COX OF OHIO.

AGED RADICAL IS TURNED DOWN BY HIS NATIVE LAND

New York, Aug. 7.—By the Canadian Press.—MacGregor Ross, now detained at Ellis Island, appears to be a man without a country.

Ross was arrested in Seattle as a radical, and the United States immigration authorities ordered his deportation. His name indicated Scotland as the logical place to send him, but Scotland refused to accept him as a Scotchman. Ross himself, claiming to be a citizen of the United States, tried to get free on a writ of habeas corpus, but the court turned him down.

Turned down by the United States, and cast off by the land of his ancestors, Ross seems likely to have Ellis Island as his address for some time. He is 60 years old.

GENERAL PANET PAYS VISIT TO HARRISTON

Harriston, Aug. 7.—General Panet of London was here Friday in connection with the reorganization of the 30th Regiment in Wellington County. He was accompanied in his car by Col. Robinson and Major Marnie and was met by Col. Head of Guelph, who has received the command of the regiment. After going over the general routine necessary for the reorganization, the party inspected the armories, which will be equipped for the headquarters of "C" Company to be stationed here under the command of Capt. O. Nickle, assisted by Lieuts. Ross, Shannon and C. L. Washburn. Major Livingstone, who for several years has been in command of the company of the regiment, has been retired to the reserve list of officers, with the rank of lieutenant-colonel. Capt. G. L. Ziegler has also been taken on the strength of the regiment as second in command.

Harriston has been alloted a trench mortar as a souvenir of the late war. It is expected to arrive here any day.

MOTORIST WAS MAROONED BY LARGE SWARM OF BEES

Car Owner Was Held Up For More Than Five Hours and Bees Were Finally Smoked Out.

[By Staff Reporter.]

Simcoe, Aug. 7.—A local motorist was marooned on the main street here Friday in a peculiar manner, when a swarm of bees alighted on his car parked in front of the Royal Bank. The bees were flying along the street, when an employee at the Hotel Melbourne hammered a tin pan loudly, and the swarm came to earth. The queen bee chose a suitable landing spot on the front mud guard of the car, and her winged subjects immediately followed suit.

The landing took place about noon, and when the car owner appeared on the scene he immediately sought safety in flight. Several citizens attempted to transfer the swarm to a hive brought to the scene, but were stung, and beat a hasty retreat. However, a well-known veteran bee keeper of the district put in an appearance about 2 p.m., and after various means, including the use of tobacco smoke, succeeded in driving in the obstinate ones into the hive, which he carried away in triumph.

The bees left the car about 5 p.m., delaying the distressed motorist over five hours, during which time the chief of police was an interested spectator, although he made no arrests, and will not prosecute the motorist for breaking the parking limit. The latter it is understood will not charge the swarm current taxi rates for waiting five hours, being satisfied to escape without having his skin punctured by the uninvited guests.

WESTERN STUDENTS HOLD LAWN PARTY

Entertain Faculty—Informal Games of Tennis Played —Association's Second Year.

Most delightful was the lawn party at the Western University yesterday afternoon, when the members of the faculty and their wives were entertained by the student body of the summer school.

The mutually pleasant terms, which the students and professors maintain in such agreeable fashion, is one of the happiest features of life at the summer school. The last social event of the season, this enjoyable at-home was a fitting climax to a most pleasant and profitable summer.

Informal games of tennis and croquet came as prelude to refreshments, which were served al fresco. Before the gathering broke up Dr. Sherwood Fox, on behalf of the professors and their wives, thanked the students for the pleasure which their hospitality had been responsible for and led the faculty in singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows." In the evening the students went over to South London to see Dr. Woolverton's collection of geological specimens and Indian relics.

The Summer School Students' Association has been in existence for two years, beginning its activities in the second year of the summer session at "Western." It has control of the social and literary interests of the students and arranges special features for their pleasure and instruction. W. A. Dent of Sarnia is the president this year.

The committee in charge of yesterday's entertainment were: Miss Menhennick, Miss McKee, Miss Deane and Miss Loney.

GRAND ARMY IS IN FAVOR OF BIG UNION

Will Hold Mass Meeting To Further Proposition — Notifies Headquarters.

The topic of the amalgamation of all the soldiers into one big union received much discussion at the regular meeting of the G. A. U. V. last evening. It was unanimously decided that the secretary write to headquarters in Toronto telling of the feelings of the London branch in regard to the one big union. If this union is formed London will be termed as "the father" of it. "In unity is strength," said one of the members of the association. "When we all get together and form this union we can demand our rights, which will only be men's rights."

A mass meeting of all the veterans in the city and military district will be called shortly for the purpose of making the union a success.

The holder of the lucky ticket for the watch, which was raffled off at the picnic last Saturday is James Hicket, 158 Dundas street. The number of the ticket is 98.

CHILD HIT BY AUTO

Marjorie Lucas, 519 Ontario Street, Escapes With Slight Bruises.

Marjorie Lucas, six-year-old daughter of Frederick Lucas, 519 Ontario street, was run down by a Ford Sedan driven by Arthur Hadden at the corner of Clarence and Dundas streets at 7:10 o'clock last evening. The little girl was not seriously hurt, but received a bad scare. Her right leg was bruised and cut.

According to eyewitnesses, Hadden was proceeding south on Clarence street at a fair rate of speed. The little girl had broken away from her father's hand, and was in the act of going across the road, when she saw the car and made an effort to escape it. She turned and ran back, but the car hit her leg and knocked her down, dragging her several feet.

One of the witnesses, Mrs. J. W. Mitchell of 566 Richmond street, said it was the little girl's fault, while a gentleman, who saw the accident, said that the driver was to blame.

CAR DAMAGED.

Auto bearing license number 50509, driven by Stewart Costan, 11 MacDonald avenue, was badly damaged, when it collided with auto 5031, driven by Robert Brownlee, 17 Briscoe street, at the intersection of Carling and Richmond streets at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon. The former was coming south on Richmond, when the latter turned off Carling street, directly in front of him, police say.

BUY COAL WHEN YOU CAN GET IT, URGES CARVELL

Says People Will Get Anthracite If They Purchase Early.

BITUMINOUS DIFFERENT

Railway Commissioner Not So Confident About Soft Coal.

OTTAWA, Aug. 6.—(By Canadian Press).—When asked today as to the general coal situation in Canada and the effect of the embargo recently issued by the board of railway commissioners against the exportation of coal, Hon. F. B. Carvell, chairman of the board, stated that, generally speaking, all of Canada west of Fort William will be able to obtain whatever coal might be required, and the same was true of the Maritime Provinces. So far as he could see, while there would be a scarcity of anthracite, yet, in his opinion, there would be enough to meet the actual needs of the people, providing the people were willing to purchase their coal as rapidly as it could be delivered, but if, as has been the custom in the past, householders wait until the cold weather arrived, they may find great difficulty in laying in a sufficient store.

Somewhat Excessive.

He regretted that the price would be probably somewhat excessive. When asked as to what could be done regarding the fixing of the price he stated that it was impossible at the present time to do anything, because all the anthracite coal consumed in Canada, all the bituminus coal for Ontario and a very large part for Quebec comes in from the United States, where there is no price-fixing, and therefore our people are compelled to pay whatever price the producer may demand, and as these prices vary in many cases as much as from $4 to $5 per ton, in his judgment any fair measure of price-fixing at the present time would be practically impossible. If, however, in the future evidence of profiteering is brought to the attention of the board it will not hesitate to take whatever steps may be necessary to overcome it.

Not So Confident.

As to the bituminous situation he was no so confident, but stated that the American railways and the Interstate Commerce Commission set themselves the task of delivering 4,000 cars of bituminous coal per day to lake ports, and should they succeed in their undertaking it would give about 6,000,000 tons to Canada which would relieve the situation to a very great extent. He regretted, however, that up to the present time he is advised that they had been unable to meet their expectations. He was very positive in the assertion that the people of Ontario had better buy coal whenever they can get it, even if the price was considered excessive.

Cars Under Demurrage.

Mr. Carvell was just in receipt of a telegram from Washington, stating that 20 cars of American coal were under demurrage on the tracks in Toronto which could not be disposed of, and the representatives of the producer was asking to divert this coal to American use. If this condition of affairs continues the people of Ontario will not be in a very good position to ask for sympathy later on.

When asked of any information about the closing down of plants for the lack of coal he replied that he thought this was very much exaggerated. There were one or two bonafide cases, but even in these cases he believed they could obtain the coal if they would pay the price.

The chief commissioner believed that with the additional coal available at Montreal, and the additional amount being rushed to lake ports there was no immediate danger of industrial plants closing down. He frankly admitted, however, that the bituminous coal situation was not pleasant, and strongly advised every person to buy coal wherever they could obtain it.

AMUNDESEN WILL RENEW ATTEMPT TO REACH POLE

NOME, Alaska, Aug. 6.—Capt. Roald Amundsen, Norwegian explorer, will leave Nome tomorrow to resume his attempt to reach the North Pole, he announced today. He plans to steer his vessel, the Maud, for Wrangell Island, off the northern coast of Siberia, and from that point to drift with the Arctic ice pack.

RABBI OF TORONTO SYNAGOGUE IS DEAD

TORONTO, Aug. 6.—Rev. Solomon Jacobs, rabbi of Holy Blossom Synagogue, this city, died at his home here this afternoon. He was born in Sheffield, England, in 1861, and had been a rabbi since 1886. His connection with Holy Blossom Synagogue began eighteen years ago.

Rabbi Jacobs was widely known. His activities in philanthropic and charitable organizations were exceptionally large, and he was a prominent worker in various societies for the social betterment of the people. He was a public-spirited citizen, who will be missed from numerous useful public orders. His wife, one son and two daughters survive him.

ANOTHER VICTIM OF RHEUMATISM

Entirely Well After Six Weeks' Treatment With "Fruit-a-tives."

MR. AMEDEE GARCEAU.

32 Hickory St., Ottawa, Ont.

"I was for many years a victim of that terrible disease, Rheumatism. In 1913, I was laid up for four months with Rheumatism in the joints of the knees, hips and shoulders and was prevented from following my work, that of electrician.

"I tried many remedies and was under the care of a physician; but nothing did me any good. Then I began to take 'Fruit-a-tives' and in a week I was easier, and in six weeks I was so well I went to work again.

"I look upon this fruit medicine, 'Fruit-a-tives' as simply marvellous in the cure of Rheumatism, and strongly advise everyone suffering with Rheumatism to give 'Fruit-a-tives' a trial.

UNION PICNIC HELD BY ILDERTON SUNDAY SCHOOLS AT SPRINGBANK

Flax Crop in District Is Heaviest in Many Years.

ILDERTON, Aug. 6.—The different Lobo churches are holding open air union services in the memorial park, Poplar Hill, during August and Rev. Mr. Merry of Poplar Hill will preach on Sunday next. All the choirs will unite in the service of praise and the park will be well lighted.

Ivan Sunday school held their annual picnic at Springbank Park on Tuesday, when a big crowd motored down. The ball game, boys vs. men, was a scream. The fielding was fierce. S. Chapman made a fine one-hand catch of a straight fly, but mostly they were muffed, but the batting was immense, three-base hits quite common. J. D. Campbell umpired and Superintendent William McIver kept score until his card was full, 20 to 15 in favor of the boys. After lunch a good list of races was run off and the winners each received a cash prize. The roller coaster was much enjoyed by the lads and lassies until time to motor home again. All enjoyed the day, coming as it did between the wheat and oat harvests.

Heavy Flax Crop.

The flax harvest is now on and some immense fields are to be seen between Ilderton and Clandeboye and south as far as Hyde Park. The new mill at Denfield will be taxed to capacity, as some very large fields are ready. Ernie Robson, Denfield road, has about 50 acres and the crop seems heavy all through the district. Lo, the poor Indian, feels the pinch of the H. C. L. and has demanded bigger wages this season, about $20 per acre is the rule, and very few whites are working, the red man having this work mostly to himself.

NORTH MIDDLESEX FIELD CROP RESULTS

The winners in the standing field crop competitions in oats conducted by the North Middlesex Agricultural Society are as follows:

A. E. Rosser 91½ points.
John Oliver 91 points.
D. McArthur 90 points.
Leitch Bros. 88½ points.
J. C. Shipley 83 points.
Ed Hughes 82 points.
James McFarlane 80½ points.

Others in order of standing are William Kennedy, George Hindmarsh, James Darling, Neil McLachlan and Charles Lynn. The judging was done by L. Cascaden of Aylmer.

Dominion Fire Chiefs' Convention Ends in Blaze of Glory With Foamite Tests.

Before the Dominion Fire Chiefs, in session at St. Thomas, a series of demonstrations on Foamite were given.

Walls, floors, ceiling, containers holding oil and an immense structure were ignited and successfully extinguished by Foamite Firefoam Chemicals.

One test was of two barrels of gasoline on fire. Sand was used and failed to put out the fire. Water was used and failed. Through the courtesy of the St. Thomas Fire Department, two soda and acid extinguishers were used. These extinguishers not only failed to put out the fire, but if anything seemed to aggravate it. Foamite Firefoam was then used, and extinguished the fire in the amazing time of 29 seconds.

The last test, the most spectacular of the day, consisted of an immense structure arranged so as to provide draft from all sides. In this structure was dumped two wagon loads of lumber, excelsior, hay and rubbish of various kinds. Over all of this was thrown 30 gallons of oil and gasoline, and in addition, in the midst of all was a barrel of gasoline. At a given signal the structure was ignited, the crowd fleeing from the intense heat, shielding their faces. A 40-gallon Foamite engine then played a stream of smothering foam upon the blaze, which now resembled a building completely enveloped in flames shooting 30 feet in the air. Almost instantly the fire was under control and in record time it was completely put out by the Foamite Chemicals. The immense crowd of chiefs assembled showed their approval by applauding most vigorously this most modern method of smothering fire.

JURY SAYS CAVILL DIED OF WOUNDS CAUSED BY GREEN

Inquest Held At Chesley On Friday Afternoon—Green Absent.

MAY PLEAD INSANITY

[Special To The Advertiser.]

CHESLEY, Aug. 6.—That Bert Cavill died on August 2 of wounds inflicted by Jeslin Green on July 28, was the verdict recorded by the coroner's inquest held here this afternoon.

Bert Cavill, aged 38, a local drayman, the evidence showed, was shot on Thursday morning, July 26, about 8 o'clock, by Jeslin Green, aged 57 years, a factory-worker and long-time resident of the district. A number of witnesses told of the shooting, but added little to what is already known of the tragedy.

Drs. Mair, Morgan and Rannie, who conducted the post-mortem examination, testified that Cavill's death was caused by two gunshot wounds, the fatal wound being that caused by the entry of a bullet through his back and its lodgement in his liver.

Accused Not Present.

Green was not present at the inquest, but his interests were watched by A. E. McNabb, of the law firm of Robertson & McNabb of Walkerton.

The accused, at his preliminary hearing in the police court, was charged with shooting with intent, and was committed for trial at the assizes in November. He has engaged David Robertson, K.C., to defend him. The verdict of the jury means that Green will now face a charge of killing Cavill.

Coroner Dr. Raney presided, and the jury was as follows: Sam Davis (foreman), George Warmington, Joseph Legge, Stewart Malcolm, Joseph McNeill, Robert Wright, William Heiserman.

Victim Leaves Family.

Bert Cavill, the dead man, it is stated, was a quiet, industrious, inoffensive man, who made few enemies. He leaves a wife and two small children.

Green, the prisoner, is a big man, who weighed over 200 ponds in his younger days. It is reported that he had been acting queerly of late, and it is expected that a plea of insanity will be entered. He had a son severely wounded in France, who died about fifteen months ago, and it is said he took his death very greatly to heart. He was born and raised at Green's Corners, a short distance north of Hanover, and is a brother of Charles Green of Southampton, who opposed C. M. Bowman at the last provincial election. For some time he acted as constable. He has a wife and grown-up son and daughter.

Had Sneezing Fits.

As far as can be learned, there was no quarrel between Green and Cavill. A current story that is locally given credence is to the effect that Green had been subject to bad sneezing fits lately, and had the motion that somebody was throwing dust at him, and believed that Cavill was one of the offenders.

Green only shows that he is worrying over the shooting in the fact that he is eating lightly. He has shown some disposition to talk about the shooting, but has been warned by the officials to say nothing except to his lawyer.

Physician Explains Why He Prescribes Nuxated Iron for Run-Down, Anaemic People

Says It Quickly Increases the Strength and Energy of Men and Brings Roses to the Cheeks of Nervous Run-Down Women.

Ask the first hundred strong, healthy-looking people you meet to what they owe their strength and energy, and see how many reply "Nuxated Iron."

Over Four Million People Annually Are Taking Nuxated Iron.

Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly Physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), of New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, says: "Thousands of nervous, run-down, anaemic people suffer from iron deficiency, but do not know what to take. There is nothing like organic iron—Nuxated Iron—to quickly enrich the blood, and thereby put roses in the cheeks of women, and give men increased strength and energy.

Unlike the older forms of iron, Nuxated Iron does not injure the teeth nor upset the stomach, but is readily assimilated, and you can quickly recognize its action by a renewed feeling of buoyant health.

No matter what other iron remedies you have used without success, if you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test:

See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired; next take two five-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained. To be absolutely sure of getting real organic iron, and not some form of the metallic variety always ask for Nuxated Iron in its original packages. Nuxated Iron will increase the strength, power and endurance of delicate, nervous, run-down people in two weeks' time in many instances.

Manufacturers' Note: Nuxated Iron, which is recommended above, is not a secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products, it is easily assimilated, and does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach. Each tablet of genuine Nuxated Iron is stamped, and the words Nuxated Iron are stamped into each bottle, so that the public may not be led into accepting inferior substitutes. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser, or they will refund your money. It is dispensed by all good druggists in tablet form only.

SETTLEMENT BOARD CLOSES ITS DOORS

Has Performed Much Service On Behalf of Returned Soldiers.

After having given long service, the Soldiers' Settlement Board closes its offices on September 1. During the time this office has been open to soldiers, 400 ex-service men were placed on farms in this district, which comprises Middlesex and adjacent counties. A total of $2,000,000 was loaned to the men. Capt. P. S. Harding, K.C., has been at the head of the office since June, 1919.

From now on the business of the land board will be transacted through the Toronto office. Applications may be forwarded to the London office before the closing date.

During the fifteen months that the office has been open, several thousand applications were received from ex-service men in regard to securing lands under the federal loan system. Of that number, 400 have proved fit for agricultural life, and, it is stated, they are prosperous members of the community and successful farmers.

The average holdings for veterans in this county and eleven adjoining ones is 100 acres. This represents a grand total of 40,000 acres that are yielding crops.

Among the number of prosperous farmers there are fifteen ex-imperial service men, eight of whom are married. Capt. Harding expects a great rush of these men to the country in the spring, and they will be handled by the Toronto office.

The closing of the office, it is stated, will mark the close of another page in the story of Canada's reconstruction, a story, it is pointed out, that will in the future years be turned to with reverent admiration by the Canadian citizen of tomorrow.

Both parties in the case are Londoners.

OFFERS COAL.—Considerable uneasiness among local manufacturers has been felt lately over a probable shortage of coal for industrial purposes. The situation is now reported to be somewhat more favorable, and a representative of an American coal company called on Secretary Philip of the Chamber of Commerce today and offered to supply as much steam coal as London manufacturers require at $8 per ton at the mines.

DISCUSS AWARD. — The Grand Trunk car shops employees, at a meeting of the federated trades, held in the Foresters' Hall, East London, last night discussed the new award which has been announced in the United States. The men await the return of Joseph Corbett, their representative, who is now attending a conference in Montreal. It is believed that he will have a definite announcement to make regarding the award.

IRISH OF LIVERPOOL PLAN RECEPTION FOR ARCHBISHOP MANNIX

Australian Prelate May Be Removed From Baltic.

Liverpool, Aug. 7.—"If Archbishop Mannix lands here we will give him a reception such as never before has been accorded any Irishman in Liverpool," said Councillor J. P. Kelly yesterday. Mr. Kelly, who is president of the Irish Self-Determination League, and an ardent Sinn Feiner, is organizing the demonstration to welcome the Australian archbishop.

Prominent Irish estimate that 30,000 Irish residents of Liverpool, Manchester and nearby cities will participate in giving Archbishop Mannix a most enthusiastic greeting, probably on Monday, when the Baltic is expected to dock here.

Just where the reception is to take place has not yet been announced, but it is stated that it will not be at the landing stage, which the authorities declare is to be closed to all but duly authorized persons. The program for his reception is already prepared, and it is expected to have been wirelessed to the archbishop on the steamship Baltic. Canon Madden, a cousin of Archbishop Mannix, has been chosen to present him with an address.

It is even intimated that the freedom of the city of Dublin may be conferred on him in Liverpool. All sorts of reports are in circulation as to what the government intends to do to balk the demonstrators. One of them is that the archbishop will be taken off the Baltic by a government craft before the steamer reaches Liverpool and landed at some other port, perhaps Southampton. It is rumored the Irish Channel will be patrolled by destroyers to guard against the archbishop being taken aboard some unauthorized craft and spirited away to Ireland.

GUELPH JEWELRY STORE IS ROBBED

Front Window Smashed and Diamonds Taken.

Guelph, Aug. 7.—Savage's jewelry store was robbed in a daring manner for the second time within three months at an early hour this morning. The same method as was used in the previous effort was attempted on this occasion. The front window was smashed by a stone and the diamonds in the window were pulled forward until the thief could get his hands on them. Efforts were also made to enter the store from other parts of the building, but these were not successful. Savage's store is in the heart of the city, but the police heard and saw nothing until the theft was discovered. Mr. Savage's loss will amount to several hundred dollars.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS AT CITY SCHOOLS

Pupils Will Hardly Know Old Haunts When They Return.

When public school pupils return to their studies in September many of them will find that their surroundings have been changed considerably. At several schools building operations will be under way, and at others a number of small property changes will have been carried out.

Noticeable among these will be the grading at the Lord Roberts school on Princess avenue. Work on this has just been commenced. Several hundred feet of earth will be taken out from the space between the sidewalk and the curb, and the level will be made to conform with the remainder of the lawn. Improvements of this nature in the past have been very successful at this school. It is surrounded by one of the largest areas of well-kept lawn to be seen in any part of the city. The grading work now under way will add still more to this.

VISCOUNT BURNHAM GIVEN MOOSEHEAD

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—Viscount Burnham, chairman of the Imperial Press Conference, was presented with a fine moose head by his fellow delegates at an interesting private ceremony this morning.

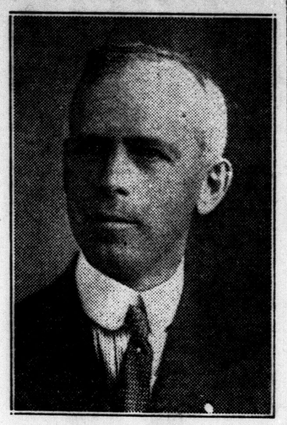

FRACTURED HIS SKULL.

WINDSOR, Aug. 5.—Engaging in a friendly scuffle with friends from Detroit at the corner of McEwen and London streets late last night, Elmer Johns, Jefferson avenue, Detroit, fell to the pavement and fractured his skull. He was taken to the Hotel Dieu Hospital, where his condition was reported grave. Physicians tonight reported his progressing favorably.

WILTON GROVE WON.

The Wilton Grove baseball team beat the Wellington Street Methodist Church team in a snappy game of ball at Wilton Grove last night. The score was 11 to 7. Batteries—Wilton Grove, C. A. Murray and H. R. Murray; Wellington Street, Wally and Wally and Smith.

VICTIM OF PNEUMONIA

A. E. MILLER, managing editor of the London Free Press, who died very unexpectedly at Bayfield.

LATE A. E. MILLER BURIED AT WOODLAND

The funeral of Alfred E. Miller, managing editor of the London Free Press, who died at his summer home, Bayfield, on Thursday evening, was held this afternoon from his residence, 30 Elmwood avenue, to Woodland Cemetery.

Though the funeral was of a private nature, it was largely attended by many friends. The casket was completely covered with floral tributes from friends and relatives in this city, and other parts of Western Ontario. Rev. Mr. Harvey of Hespeler, a former pastor of the Askin Street Methodist Church, of which Mr. Miller was a member, conducted the services at the house and grave.

The pallbearers were F. L. Taylor, R. Pearce, Fred White, W. F. D. Jarvis, H. Higgins and A. Langford.

DOUGLAS AND MARY PLAN VISIT TO LONDON

Cannot Come Just Now, But May at Some Future Date.

Having visited the great capitals of Europe, including "Old London," Mary Pickford and her husband, Douglas Fairbanks, are now anxious to get a glimpse of "Little London." While they will be unable to come here immediately, they have given definite promises to make a visit as soon as they can arrange to come to this part of the continent.

An invitation to spend a short vacation here was forwarded to the famous film favorites through the United Artists' Corporation, Limited, by H. H. Nash, director of publicity for Loew's London Theatre. With much regret Mr. and Mrs. Fairbanks announced that they were not coming even as far as Toronto, owing to the fact that everything is in readiness for them to start work on their next release for the United Artists' Corporation, and that they must return to Los Angeles without delay.

They give every assurance that if they had been able to come to Toronto that they both would have been glad to accept London's hospitality as well

RETIRING MANAGER IS GIVEN SEND-OFF

Farewell gatherings are more or less of a gloomy character, and this is only natural; nevertheless when the entire staff of the Heintzman Piano Company met in the Tecumseh House last evening as guests of Gordon Chase, retiring manager, and his wife, on the occasion of their departure to Toledo, the cheerful countenances of these assembled would have convinced an outsider that a family reunion was in progress.

Towards the end of the festivities, Howard Featherstone, the new manager, on behalf of the employees, presented Mrs. Chase with a fancy gold vanity box, and Mr. Chase with a beautiful gold chain, eulogizing Mr. Chase and his work, whilst with the company in a very choice speech, his remarks being similarly voiced by Arthur Reading.

Mr. Chase, on behalf of his wife and himself, who showed themselves to be quite taken by surprise at the presentations, most suitably responded, commending to those present the new manager, and Mr. George Edgecombe, who has come from the Windsor branch to take over the duties of assistant manager. These two appointments are very popular with the local staff, and everything points to a continuance of the happy relationship that has ever existed amongst them.

Pleasant reminiscences of times spent together were recalled by Man. A. Wellman and Mr. Wilber Short, Mr. Ernest Mills delighted the company with some of his witticisms; the floral effects were well taken care of by the Misses A. Element, Helen Bowers, and Laverna Stanfield. The evening's festivities was concluded by a car ride around the country.

Mr. Chase has been connected with the Heintzman Company for some seven or more years, being manager of both the Sarnia and St. Thomas branches, before taking on the more responsible position here. He is proceeding to Toledo, to engage in the same line of business, but as general organizer for new branches being opened in various Michigan and Ohio centres for a large music house.

COLLINGSHAW RECEIVES FURTHER DECORATIONS

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—Squadron Leader Raymond Collishaw, D.S.O., D. F. C., D.S.C., who had been in Ottawa for a few days, left yesterday for Montreal en route to England. While in the capital he received notification that he would be employed upon a special commission for the Royal Air Force in Poland, but no details of the nature of his duties there were vouchsafed.

Collishaw, one of the most distinguished Canadian pilots in the Royal Air Force, was also informed by the air board, London, that he had received the Order of the British Empire for services rendered while employed in Russia, and yesterday the purple of that order was added to his already long string of British and foreign decorations. He has been granted a permanent commission in the Royal Air Force, and has been spending the last few months in Canada on leave. Prior to coming to Canada, Collishaw had just completed eighteen months' service with the British forces in the vicinity of Archangel, Russia.

CRUMLIN DEBATERS FAVOR RECALL SYSTEM

At the August meeting of the United Farmers' and Farm Women's Clubs, held at Crumlin, the feature of the program was a warmly-contested debate entitled "Resolved, that the recall system as advocated by the U. F. O. is necessary in the interests of democratic government." Both sides were ably handled, but the judges rendered a decision in favor of the affirmative. Messrs. H. M. Urquhart and Frank Wilson supported the affirmative, the negative being taken by Messrs. Howe and Vining. Messrs. R. Fitzgerald, Cecil Stamp and Colin Leitch acted as judges.

Pleasing numbers of the program were songs and recitations by Misses Cation and Ida Parkinson, vocal quartet by Mesdames Smith, Logan, Pratten and Miss Ida Bell, and an instrumental duet by Messrs. Ramsay and Pardy of the Thorndale U. F. O. Club. The community sing-song, in which all present took part, was heartily enjoyed. Mesdames Ramsay, B. Fitzgerald and F. Gee acted as accompanists. Mrs. W. C. Smith occupied the chair. At the close of the meeting the directors of both clubs, members of the program committee and the visitors from the Thorndale club spent a pleasant social hour at the home of the Misses Campbell.

FOUR HOURS' LIBERTY MAY COST PRISONER EXTRA TIME IN JAIL

Sarnia Barbers Warned To Comply With City Bylaws.

SARNIA, Aug. 6.—On Saturday, Milton Ramsay, who escaped Thursday from the county jail but was recaptured four hours later, will appear in the police court to answer a charge of jail breaking. An information was sworn out to this effect late this afternoon by Governor J. N. Dodd.

Officials of the Sarnia Trades and Labor Council announced tonight that plans for a great labor demonstration are under way, and that about 23 labor organizations will be represented in the local labor day parade.

The Sarnia Chamber of Commerce officials tonight received a telegram to the effect that Lady Stramor has joined the Imperial press party, and will be a visitor in the Imperial City on Thursday next.

Five Months in Jail.

A the result of his battle with a local policeman, Cecil Rodd of this city will have to spend the next five months in the Lambton County jail unless friends come to his aid and pay his police court fines.

The Imperial Oil Company will stage their annual picnic next Saturday at Lake Huron Beach Park, and representatives from all parts of Western Ontario are expected to be guests of the company.

Chief of Police Forbes tonight issued warning that all Sarnia barbers must close within the bylaw hours or face police court proceedings.

CHARIVARI RESULTS IN $15 FINES FOR FOUR PARTICIPANTS

Others Likely To Face Court — Civil Actions Are Threatened.

SARNIA, Aug. 6.—As the result of the charivari at Lake Huron Beach Park some weeks ago and following inquiries made by Attorney-General Raney, an aftermath of the fracas developed in police court today before Police Magistrate Jarvis, who fined two young men and two young women each $15 and $3.25 costs for taking part in the event which caused much comment throughout Western Ontario.

As the result of the hearing of a number of witnesses it was stated tonight that several other participants in the fracas will appear in police court, and that civil action will be started by a number of beach residents, whose cottages were damaged during the charivari.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

DEATH OF MRS. McDONALD.

Mrs. Martha Jane McDonald, wife of James McDonald, 359 Grey street, died early this morning after an illness extending over two months. Her death was quite unexpected, as on Friday evening she appeared to be in a very bright condition. She was a member of the Eastern Star, and was born in London. The funeral will be held on Monday.

ACCIDENTALLY DROWNED.

Essex, Aug. 7.—Word has been received in Essex of the death of James Guthrie, father of Miss Ethel Guthrie, B.A., of the staff of the Essex High School. Boys fishing in the Mississippi River at Appleton, near Renfrew, saw the body floating in the water. Mr. Guthrie was 66 years old, and was visiting his sister, Mrs. Robt. Baird of Appleton. He was for years a merchant in Renfrew, but recently was in business in Kinburn. He is survived by his wife and eight children.

DIED VERY SUDDENLY.

Robert Bentley, aged 12 years, died very suddenly at Port Stanley on Friday from heart failure. He was the son of Mrs. H. Bentley and the late Harry Bentley, who was killed at Courcelette on the Somme. He is survived by his mother, one sister, Nellie, and a brother, Harry.

The funeral will be held from the First Congregational Church on Sunday at 1 o'clock. Rev. Matthew Kelly will conduct the services. The young boy was a scholar at the Alexandra school and played in the orchestra of the First Congregational Sunday school.

PIONEER OF McGILLIVRAY.

The death occurred recently in Parkhill of Edward Holland, one of the oldest residents of the town. Mr. Holland was born in England, and came to Canada at an early age, settling near Wortby with his parents. He later moved to McGillivray Township, where he was among the first settlers. He was married in 1863 to Miss Katherine Kennedy of the same township.

Mr. Holland, who was engaged in farming, retired in 1907 and settled in Parkhill. Three sons and four daughters survive him. Interment was made in the Baptist Cemetery on the eighth concession in McGillivray Township.

NEWSPRINT SUPPLY AND PRICES THEME OF PRESS DISCUSSION

Conference Delegates Hear Experts of Publishers and Manufacturers.

Ottawa, Aug. 6.—Newsprint and the supply of this commodity to the newspapers were the chief theme at the afternoon proceedings of the Imperial Press Conference. Exports on behalf of both the Canadian publishers and of Canadian manufacturers were heard on the subject. Newsprint difficulties at the Antipodes were emphasized by a number of the delegates.

Resolutions calling for improved facilities for the telegraphic transmission of news throughout the empire, and cheaper cable rates, were adopted unanimously. Governments in the empire will be asked to assist in providing such facilities, but emphatic opposition to any procedure which might endanger the freedom from other than journalistic influence of the British press was voiced by several delegates with the warm support of the whole delegation.

In Australia, one delegate said, they paid as much as $450 a ton for newsprint—when they could get it—and they had to depend on Canada for it. And why it should increase 100 per cent in price over the Canadian and United States prices was another thing they could not understand.

Shown No Preference.

P. D. Ross, Ottawa Journal, pointed out that Canadian newspapers were shown no preference in prices, and at the same time expressed the opinion that Canadian manufacturers had no desire to discriminate against Australians or other members of the empire.

The following resolution was carried:

"The question of paper being of vital importance to members of the Empire Press Union, steps should be taken to insure adequate supplies throughout the empire; and that a standing committee be appointed to give effect to the above, such committee to consist of two representatives of the British Isles, and one delegate appointed by each delegation, and the president, who is to be chairman."

Many other important resolutions were passed, including one sponsored by Sir Gilbert Parker, seeking cheaper postal rates with a view to the re-establishment of the "penny post."

Cheap Postal Rates.

In the beginning of the afternoon C. P. D. Ross of Ottawa, presenting a resolution asserting "that postal rates on periodicals within the empire should not exceed the lowest rate in force between any foreign country and any part of the empire."

The world had gone into the war and it had cost an incalculable amount and there was much waste, materially, but everything came along all right. He referred to the very marked difference between postal rates on papers going from Canada to the States, and from Canada to Great Britain, and said that there was no more justifiable expenditure than to enable the printed word easily to circulate in the empire without obstruction.

HEAVY FREIGHTER SINKS BIG BARGE IN DETROIT RIVER

Nine Men Hurled Into Water Have Miraculous Escape From Death.

WINDSOR, Aug. 6.—Confusion in signals at 3 o'clock this morning resulted in the collision of the freighter Edward Buckley and the big barge Homer on the Canadian side of the Detroit River in the vicinity of Belle Isle and just about Ford City, when the latter vessel was wrecked and the lives of nine members of the crew saved only by the heroic and timely aid given by the crew of the tug Ufasco.

Traffic Hampered.

The big boats were proceeding in opposite directions when the accident occurred, which resulted in the heavy barge being completely overturned and sunk in 30 feet of water directly in the heart of the main channel, seriously hampering traffic on the Great Lakes, owing to the difficulty which vessels find in negotiating the narrow passage in the river, the sunken barge having gone down broadside with the stream.

The Homer is owned by the United Fuel and Supply Company of Detroit, and was travelling light in tow of the tug Ufasco, which escaped injury. J. E. Williams, marine engineer of the company, declared late today that according to Howard McKeane, who was in charge, the barge Homer was well lighted and he could give no reason for the ramming by the huge freighter. The Buckley reported the accident at Detroit on its way down stream.

Crew in Bed.

Members of the crew of the ill-fated barge had a miraculous escape from death, for immediately following the crash the barge rolled over and sunk almost instantaneously. The men, some of whom were in their berths, were hurled to the floor and scrambled on deck, only to be plunged over into the river as the boat rolled and sank in the deep waters. Ready assistance was rendered by the crew of the Ufasco in the confusion and darkness, and luckily all were saved. Efforts are being made to raise the wreck and clear the passage way for lake traffic.

HARRIETSVILLE

HARRIETSVILLE, Aug. 6.—On Monday evening last about 75 friends of Mr. and Mrs. F. Hunt met at their home and spent a very pleasant evening in games, contests, etc. During the evening Harry Carn read an address, and Mrs. J. B. Sandy presented Mr. and Mrs. Hunt with several pieces of old colony silverware. Mr. Hunt replied suitably. Speeches were also made by Revs. Thompson and Viale.

B. R. Barr of Harrietsville has been appointed township clerk and treasurer.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Toronto, Aug. 7.—Lewis Everist this morning reports the following wholesale fruit quotations:

Raspberries—22@32c.

Peaches—6 quarts, 60@90c.

Plums—6 quarts, 40@75c.

Black Currants—6 quarts, $1 50; 11 quarts, $2 50@3.

Apples—6 quarts, 30@60c; 11 quarts, 40c@$1.

Tomatoes—11 quarts, 60c@$1.

Cucumbers—11 quarts, 40@50c.

Beans—11 quarts, 40@50c.

Potatoes—Per bag, $2 50@2 75.

GRAINS.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—Unexpected rains in Illinois and other states last night caused a sharp break in wheat prices at the opening of the market today. At the start initial quotations were off 4½c to 5½c, with December at $2 31@2 32, and March at $2 33. There was little rallying, however, displayed, prices for a time hovering about the opening figures.

Corn followed the course of wheat, opening prices ranging from 1¾c to 2¾c net lower. The trade became active all the way down when liquidation got under way. Some stop-orders were caught on the decline, but fair support developed from shorts and commission houses, which caused a rally.

Oats declined in sympathy with other grains, starting ½c to 1⅜c lower. Buying against bids soon became a factor in checking the decline.

PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—Provisions were weak and lower with grains.

Overland

Across Continent 32.6 Miles a Gallon

IN a remarkable night and day continuous run an Overland stock car arrived in San Francisco on July 26, only 7½ days after leaving New York, averaging 19.2 miles per hour for 3,442 miles. Its average of 27.2 miles per wine gallon was the same as 32.6 miles per Imperial gallon.

Twenty-five different drivers, who had never even seen this particular car before, drove it through every known condition of weather and road.

Come in today and see a duplicate of this remarkable Overland with Triplex Springs, whose Economy and Stamina is being established in new records every day.

SUNDAY SCHOOL HAS GOOD TIME AT PARK

Epiphany Church Scholars, Teachers, Parents All Participate in Races.

The annual Sunday school picnic of the Church of the Epiphany was held at Springbank Park on Thursday afternoon. A short service in the church was conducted by the lay reader in charge, Rowland Heathcote, prior to the start for the park. The weather was ideal. A varied program was gone through, and all the races were contested in a spirited and sportsmanlike way. A bounteous repast followed. A large number of parents and friends then sat down and did ample justice to what the children had been "kind enough" to leave. Ice cream and candy were then served to all, after which the great event of the program for this year's picnic was held, namely, the baby show.

Mr. Heathcote was fortunate in securing the services of three ladies unknown to any members of the church to act as judges. The first prize for babies under 1 year went to Mrs. Carfrae, second to Mrs. Dodman, and third to Mrs. Coade. For babies over 1 and under 2 years—First, Mrs. Garside; second, Mrs. Bear.

After the show the fun began, when the fathers and mothers contested their events, and showed that they had not lost the ability to run, guess the beans in a bottle, and whistle. It was pronounced by one and all to have been the most enjoyable picnic yet held.

The following are the race results:

Boys' Races.

Flat race, under 10—Roger Ardy, Bob Morrell, Percy Williams.

Flat race, under 12—A. Newby, B. Morrell, Clarence Ardy.

Flat race, over 12—W. Young, A. Newby, W. Mathers.

Hopping race, under 10—R. Ardy, B. Morrell, S. Scaldwell.

Hopping race, over 10—L. Bear, T. Morrell, W. Edwards.

Three-legged race—L. Bear and E. Evetts, R. Taylor and W. Edwards, W. Mathers and T. Morrell.

Wheelbarrow race, under 10—G. Twiddy and P. Williams, S. Wright and R. Ardy.

Wheelbarrow race, over 10—W. Edwards, J. Stacey, R. Taylor and L. Bear.

Backward race—J. Stacey, L. Bear, W. Mathers.

Girls' Races.

Flat race, under 10—Vera Baker, Alice Bear, Hilda Vaile.

Flat race, under 12—Alice Young, Violet Payne, N. Twiddy.

Chums' race, over 10—Alice Young and V. Payne, E. Taylor and E. Bear, N. Wheeler and V. Morrell.

EASY FOR LONDON.

Strathroy, Aug. 6.—The Orient baseball nine of London won here easily tonight in a game at Alexander Park, trimming the locals 15 to 4. Outside of the second inning, in which the visitors scored ten runs, the game was not a bad one. Down and Armstrong were the battery for the Orients, while for the locals Cann, Kay, Gough and McCandless officiated.

HYDRO-ELECTRIC COMMISSION BALANCE SHEET NIAGARA SYSTEM

HYDRO-ELECTRIC POWER COMMISSION OF THE PROVINCE OF ONTARIO

Presents Summarized Statement of the "Hydro" Assets and Liabilities of One hundred and Fifty-Five Municipal and other Utilities Receiving Power from Niagara Falls

INVESTMENT OF OVER FORTY MILLION DOLLARS

An Average Operating Period of Five Years Produces Aggregate Surplus of Over Two Million Dollars, and Reserves Exceeding Seven and a Half Millions—Frequent Reductions of Rates, Despite increased cost of operation—The Figures Interpreted

Ten years ago the Hydro-Electric Power Commission began to deliver power at cost to 12 municipalities within 120 miles from Niagara Falls. To-day the Niagara System is distributing 225,000 horse-power of energy to 115 Municipalities, 12 Rural Systems, 23 Companies and 5 Government Industries.

A comprehensive statement of the Hydro-Electric business of the entire Niagara System has just been completed by the Commission's Accounting Staff. This Balance Sheet of a great and successful experiment in Municipal Ownership and co-operation includes every asset, and sets forth every liability of each participant, and of all in combination. It visualizes the financial position of the System after an average operating period of five years, ending on December 31st last, and gives overwhelming proof that the "Hydro" is built upon solid and enduring foundations.

The total investment at the Falls and in all the Municipalities is $40,693,070.00. The accumulated Reserves are $7,564,370.83. The aggregate Surplus is $2,177,934.37, and the balance of liability is $30,950,764.80. This result has been achieved in a period of great economic uncertainty, unrest and change. The industrial paralysis caused by the declaration of war was followed by extreme activity as the munitions business developed. The end of the conflict brought new and serious difficulties. The vast expenditures of all countries, together with the scarcity of war-time, compelled a sharp upward trend in the cost of labor and materials. By the end of 1919 the inflation was such that operating and maintenance charges in all "Hydro" Municipalities had doubled, as compared with expenditures in 1914.

Yet, during this period, Hydro-Electric rates were being reduced. If in abnormal and unprecedented circumstances, and despite rate-reductions, the Niagara Hydro-Electric System can make such a remarkable showing it must be an institution of rock-ribbed financial solidity and stability.

The Balance Sheet Explained

Each Municipality contracting with the Hydro-Electric Power Commission for the delivery of energy must assume its just share of the investment in the Niagara Transforming and Generating Plant, and in such Transmission Lines as serve that particular Municipality. That just share is determined by the yearly average horse-power of energy transmitted and the distance from the point of generation. Interest on the investment, current operating expenses, cost of energy at the Falls, and fixed charges are apportioned on the same basis.

As more Municipalities enter the co-operative union the allotments are varied from year to year so that each local system will have its proportionate investment and bear its proportionate liability. The sum of these proportionate investments appears in the first column of the Balance Sheet as an asset. The amount of money advanced from time to time by the Provincial Treasury (acting merely in the capacity of a friendly Bank) to create that Asset is shown as a liability in the fourth column.

Analyzing the Totals

The statement of Grand Totals at the bottom of the Sheet is bald and uninforming, owing to the necessity of extreme abridgment. Here follows an analysis of the composition of these totals. It gives a clear understanding of the conservatism of the Accounting, as compared with that of an ordinary joint-stock corporation with an irreducible share-capital. The entire "capital stock" of the Hydro-Electric System consists of serial-debentures and bonds, which must be taken up as they mature. Not only are payments made to Sinking Fund sufficient to cover the entire investment, but a Renewals Fund is accumulating, sufficient to replace the central plant within 25 years, and the local distribution plants well within a period of 20 years.

Consumers Carry the System

There is only one source of revenue for any Municipal Hydro-Electric System; that is, the Service bills rendered to the consumers. No tax-levy has ever been necessary to support, or carry temporarily, any "Hydro" enterprise. No tax-levy can ever be necessary. The rates are adjusted annually to cover all charges against the service.

The Commission, out of the yearly revenue from the participating Municipality pays annually, as that Municipality's Trustee, (1) Operating Cost and Interest on the allotted share of the Niagara investment; (2) the Sinking Fund deposit as it becomes due; (3) an instalment on a Renewal Fund which, with interest improvement will be sufficient to replace the allotment of plant-value within twenty-five years; (4) a fixed levy to meet Contingencies as they arise.

The local investment for transforming high-tension power as delivered, and for distribution, is carried by the revenue from consumers. The Municipality, besides paying for its power and meeting the expense of local operation and maintenance, pays the interest, sets aside an annual amount for a Renewal Fund sufficient to replace its own Plant at the end of its natural life, and deposits with the Treasurer of the Municipality a sufficient Sinking Fund instalment from year to year.

One Municipality's Results

The following Statement is presented to make the preceding paragraphs more clear. It is a typical "Hydro" Operating Report for the year 1919 and shows in detail what became of the money collected from "Hydro" customers in that Municipality.

The rates fixed by the Commission for a number of Municipalities of the Niagara System have proved themselves, in practice, to be slightly under the actual cost of power. Twenty-six Municipalities, operating for an average period of 3½ years, report a total "operating shortage" of only $39,078.53. (Note the Last Column of the large Balance Sheet.) Such deficiencies are carried as deferred expense against future Revenue which will be produced in these Municipalities by increased rates if necessary. The periodical adjustment of rates by the Commission is based solely upon the financial condition of the various local systems.

All Hydro-Electric Accounts are audited, and subjected to the closest scrutiny by competent accountants and engineers who protect the Capital from the inclusion therein of items of expense properly chargeable to Revenue.

Obviously the Niagara Hydro System is self-sustaining; and more, as the sums in Reserve clearly demonstrate. It is always maintained at the highest point of efficiency, and at the same time, is accumulating a Fund which, in less than 25 years, will be sufficient to replace the whole central and local plant, serving the district between the Niagara Frontier and the St. Clair River.

The Saving to the Public

The surpassing benefit of the Hydro-Electric System to the general business of the Province is found in the low service rates charged to the consumers. The saving greatly strengthens the economic position of Ontario and gives a decided stimulus to industry. A typical Annual Operating Report appears above. In the Municipality referred to the pre-Hydro domestic and commercial rate for electric service was 9 cents per kilowatt hour. In addition, a monthly charge of 25 cents was made for meter rental.

The first Hydro rates in this Municipality for the same service, nine years ago, were 4.5 cents (domestic) and 3 cents (commercial) all charges included. After successive reductions, based on the prosperous operation of the Utility the rates are 2.4 cents, and 1.9 cents per kilowatt hour respectively. The Hydro reductions to the users expressed in dollars and cents, amount to $378,825.15. If the pre-Hydro rate had been maintained in that one community the consumers would have paid in the eight years, $3,181,290.39. The Hydro service has cost them in all $883,264.12, a difference of $2,298,026.27.

Consider the case of fifty-seven of the Niagara System's Municipalities. Before they became associated with the Hydro-Electric co-operative enterprise they were served by private electrical plants. The average rate per kilowatt hour for domestic and commercial service throughout the Fifty-seven was 9.8 cents. In Thirty-seven of these an average additional charge of 21.2 cents a month was made for meter-rental.

If the Fifty-seven had been content; if they had declined to take Hydro power, the consumers in that group of communities would have paid for electric energy in the period reviewed $35,758,596.15—providing those private rates could have been continued on the same level. They actually paid for Hydro service $11,022,972.60, thus creating a direct money-saving of $24,735,623.55.

Generally the first Hydro rates quoted were about one-half of the rate in force under private ownership. But these first rates were not maintained. Successive reductions have been made from year to year in accordance with the financial circumstances of the Utilities. If the original Hydro rates had remained in force until December 31st last, the consumers, served from the Niagara System, would have paid for electric energy $35,858,636.58. They actually paid $30,811,954.41, thus benefitting to the extent of $5,046,682.17. Otherwise stated, if there had been no rate-reductions on the Niagara System the Surplus obtained would have been $7,224,616.54 instead of $2,177,934.37, as shown in the Balance Sheet.

The Saving in Coal

In countries where electrical energy must be developed by steam-power there is a great variation in the efficiency of such plants. The most complete and modern steam-installation, designed to generate not less than 100,000 to 150,000 horse-power burns a minimum of 1.9 tons of coal per horse-power per annum. In smaller electric plants the rate is considerably higher, while in industrial plants, generating power for their own use, it may rise as high as 32 tons per horse power per annum.

In calculating the actual coal saving to Ontario by reason of the existence of the Hydro-Electric System it is fair to take 20 tons per horse-power per annum as a working average.

Since the Hydro has been in operation the horse-power transmission and distribution has been as follows: December, 1911, 20,000 horse-power; December 1912, 38,000; December 1913, 50,000; December 1914, 83,000; December 1915, 110,000; December 1916, 137,000; December 1917, 148,000; December 1918, 148,000; December 1919, 200,000 (about). To-day the full capacity of the plant is being utilized. The average annual distribution of energy during the nine year period ending last December was more than 100,000 h.p., the equivalent of 2,000,000 tons of coal annually.

Steam-coal to-day is quoted in Toronto at $14.75 a ton. During the period reviewed the average price has been about $6. That is to say, the electric energy supplied by the Commission for distribution throughout the Niagara district since the introduction of Hydro power has been equal to 18,000,000 tons of coal, worth $108,000,000. That great sum is more than twice the entire capital expenditure for the co-operative plant at Niagara, the 1,400 miles of transmission lines, and all the local distribution plants mentioned on the Balance Sheet.

Following the Consumer's Dollar

Let a consumer's Dollar be followed, from the time it goes over the counter of a Municipal Hydro-Electric office in payment of a lighting bill.

Twenty-seven cents is applied to the cost of maintaining, operating and administrating the Municipal Distributing System.

Twenty-three cents meets interest, a sinking fund deposit, and a Renewal Fund instalment.

Forty-three cents is paid to the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario for power delivered at the Municipal Sub-station.

There is a remainder of seven cents. That is Municipal Surplus.

Now follow the 43 cents paid to the Commission.

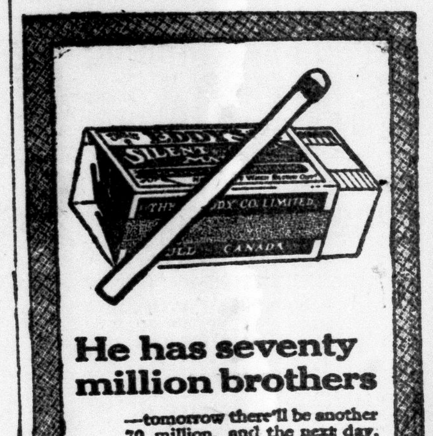

Fourteen cents is used by the Commission, on the Municipality's behalf, to pay interest, sinking fund and renewal charges on that portion of the Niagara plant for which the Municipality is liable.

Twenty-eight cents is applied on the operation, maintenance and administration of that same portion of the Niagara Plant.

One cent is the remainder. That is credited to the Municipality in the books of the Commission as "operating surplus."

It is probable that next year after the adjustment of rates the consumer will pay 99 cents instead of $1.00 for the same service. If, owing to unforeseen circumstances, the cost of power in this specific case had been 44 cents, what would have happened? The shortage of 1 cent would have been charged to the Municipality, and probably next year the cost to the consumer for the same service would be $1.01 instead of $1.00.

It is understood that the Dollar just followed was actually paid to one of the Municipalities in the Niagara System, and that the percentages were worked out (fractions omitted) from the actual operating statement of that Municipality. The sub-division of the Dollar will vary in other cases, but this instance maybe taken as an illustration of the drastic principles of accounting followed in every part of the Hydro-Electric System.

A liberal [...] foot races, nail driving, baby shows and association football contests. Mr. and Mrs. William Todd's hopeful won the baby prize. Mrs. Case of Siloam was first in nail-driving. The big feature of the day was the baseball contest, resulting in a score of 1 to 0 in favor of the Fifth line of Uxbridge team against the Greenbacks. The football games resulted in a tie between North Claremont and Brougham, and a score of 1 in favor of Greenwood against the South Claremont team. Claremont's aggregation near their goal most of the time, but went home with nothing but a dispute over the last goal and an unfinished contest in the darkness. Thomas Oliver, Greenwood, and Norman Adamson of Uxbridge umpired and were the important members of the audience in the oratorical effusions of the score disputants. The committee awarded the prizes of $30 each to Greenwood and Brougham. Claremont's brass band rendered a good program of music be-

TOLMIE WITHDRAWS ORDER CONCERNING MANGE IN CATTLE

Experts Says Thousands of Dollars Will Be Saved by Move.

OTTAWA, Aug. 6.—(By Canadian Press).—After being in force for the past 25 years or more, a blanket order covering mange among cattle in Western Canada was put out of commission by an order-in-council passed today at the instance of Dr. S. F. Tolmie, federal minister of agriculture. The order affects over 2,640 square miles of Saskatchewan and Alberta, and some idea of its passage will be gained when it is stated that 200,000 head of cattle which have recently been dipped under the mange regulations will be available for shipment from the affected areas.

Notice of the withdrawal of the regulations has been sent to the affected area. Local livestock experts declare that this will prove one of the greatest boons that has come to the Canadian livestock world in several decades.

It is just a year ago since Dr. Tolmie inaugurated a strenuous campaign to wipe out the mange trouble in Canada. Although the quarantine has been lifted, inspection of cattle will be continued, although if any new outbreaks of mange occur individual quarantine will be tried. Dr. Tolmie figures that the removal of inconvenience and loss to the farmers will mean the saving of many thousands of dollars within the course of a year.

RANEY BLAMES OTTAWA GOVT. FOR ILLICIT LIQUOR TRADE

Attorney-General Defines Drury Government's Position Regarding Liquor Trouble On Border — Calls Windsor Greatest Resort of Gamblers and Criminals in North America.

ERIN, Ont., Aug. 6.—In an exhaustive speech delivered at the U. F. O. picnic here this afternoon Hon. W. E. Raney, attorney-general for Ontario, defined the Provincial Government's position on the liquor traffic. While claiming that the Ontario temperance act has abolished 80 per cent of the evils of the liquor business, he pointed out that it did not go to the root of the trouble, as it did not touch the questions of manufacture and importation.

Dealing with the trouble in the border cities, the attorney-general emphasized that the geographical situation of Windsor in connection with race track betting allowed under Dominion legislation, had made that city the greatest resort of gamblers and criminals on the North American continent. In this connection he accused the police of the border cities with laxity in the enforcement of laws against illicit liquor traffic. He charged the Dominion Government with deliberately refusing to allow the people of Ontario to vote on the question of the prohibition of the manufacture of liquor, and with the responsibility for delaying the referendum vote.

Exceedingly Complex.

"Circumstances have conspired to make the temperance situation in this province exceedingly complex and difficult even to understand," said Mr. Raney. "One of the difficulties is the division of jurisdiction between Ottawa and Toronto. Another difficulty is in our neighbors to the east and south and west. The third is in the system of law enforcement, which has been heretofore in vogue. And there are other difficulties. Let me explain as best I can.

"It is generally known that the Ontario temperance act, excellent law that it is, does not go to the root of the matter. It prohibits the sale, but does not interfere with manufacture or importation for domestic use. It accomplished one great thing. It abolished the barroom of hateful and despised memory, and I have no patience with those who say that the Ontario temperance act is a failure. So far from being a failure the Ontario temperance act has put an end to four-fifths of the evils of the liquor traffic and there is no one in Ontario, not even the hotel men themselves, who would tolerate a return to the wide open conditions of half a dozen years ago.

Permits Manufacture.

"But the Ontario temperance act does not touch manufacture or importation of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes, because lawyers advised that these subjects were within the jurisdiction of the Parliament of Canada and not within the jurisdiction of the Legislature of Ontario. And so after the war came there was pressure put upon the Government of Canada to implement the Ontario temperance act by a war-time provision that would put an end to the manufacture within the country and importation into the country of intoxicating liquor for beverage purposes. This was a measure to conserve food grains which were being made into beer and whiskey, and to conserve sorely needed manpower which was being dissipated by indulgence in strong beer, and under this pressure in 1917 war-times orders-in-council were passed at Ottawa, forbidding the manufacture and importation into Canada of intoxicating liquor for beverage purposes.

"Then after the war on the 31st December last, these war-time orders-in-council were repealed, and Ontario was left with no protection against manufacture and importation. Since then, under the stress of conditions to which I will refer in a moment, there has been an ever-increasing difficulty in the enforcement of the provisions of the Ontario temperance act.

Bill Introduced.

"Before the repeal of the Dominion war-times orders-in-council and in anticipation of their repeal a bill was introduced into the Parliament of Canada early this year to authorize a voting of the people of the different provinces on the question of manufacture and importation. The intention was to give the people of the different provinces a right to decide by a popular vote, called a referendum, as to whether or not they desired to implement their provincial laws by a Dominion law which would prohibit the manufacture and importation. This bill passed the House of Commons, but was defeated in the Senate. Then in the second session of the Parliament of Canada of last year another bill was introduced, this time authorizing the taking of a vote of the people of the different provinces, to be ordered by the Government of Canada, on the request for such a vote by the Legislature of the province, but confined to the question of importation. The omission of the prohibition of manufacture was apparently a concession to the Senate of Canada.

"On the 17th of April of this year, under the authority conferred by this Dominion act, a resolution was passed by the Legislature of the province of Ontario requesting the Government of Canada to submit a referendum to the people of Canada on the question of importation. The resolution was promptly transmitted to Ottawa. It was at first thought that a vote might be had in June or July, but the 25th of October was finally fixed upon and a public announcement made that the Ontario referendum would be held on that date. The same date was fixed for the submission of the question to the other provinces that had passed similar resolutions. Then on the 31st of July, being by the statute for the issuing of the proclamation for the taking of the referendum vote, the Dominion Government issued a proclamation dated the 4th of June, postponing the vote in Ontario until the 18th of April 1921, that is to say, until a full year after the passage of the Ontario Legislature's resolution.

Other Elements.

"I will take occasion to refer to this action in a moment. In the meantime permit me to refer to two or three other elements which are contributing to the difficulties of the situation.

"Within the past few months the United States has gone bone dry. But there is still a consuming thirst in some millions of throats in that country. If you will look at the map you will observe that Ontario is thrust like a wedge into the midst of the Northern States. Across the Niagara River is the city of Buffalo, with its half-million inhabitants. A little further along are Cleveland and Toledo. Over the Detroit River is Detroit, with its million of people. A little further beyond is Chicago, with its two or three millions. So much for the south and west boundaries and the arid regions beyond. But to the east is Quebec, with many storehouses filled with whiskey and docks to which freely come steamships from Europe with holds filled with renewed supplies.

Vast Wealth Made.

"Added to these conditions is the fact that vast wealth is made by transporting these goods into and across Ontario to points in the United States in defiance of United States laws, and that there are as many thirsty people in Ontario proportionately to population as there are in Michigan, Ohio and New York, and that the liquor business is in the hands of greedy and unscrupulous men, and that the conditions that I have referred to have attracted criminals and gunmen outside the penitentiaries of half a continent, and it will be seen that we are confronted with a problem of vast proportions.

"But these are not all the elements of difficulty. The chief seats of the trouble at present are Windsor and the other border cities and the Detroit River frontier generally. For years Windsor has been the chief headquarters in Ontario of the betting house fraternity. The criminal code of Canada contains a prohibition against the carrying on anywhere in Canada of common betting houses and anyone found by the police operating a common betting house in defiance of the prohibition of the criminal code in this respect is liable to be sent to prison and this is frequently done.

Pressure of Politics.

"But some years ago under pressure of men of great political influence, including a member of the then Government of Ontario, the Parliament of Canada amended the criminal code so as to license betting houses within the inclosure of a race track association. Under this legislation Windsor has become the greatest gambling resort on the North American continent, perhaps the greatest in the world. There are there three great amphitheatres in each of which betting houses are conducted for fourteen days each year, making 42 days of unrestricted gambling for the year 1920. This sort of thing is prohibited in the State of Michigan, as it is in the State of New York and in every other state of the American Union except Kentucky and Maryland. The consequence is that tens of thousands of people flock across the ferries from Detroit to Windsor to attend these race meetings and many of these people are of the criminal class. This kind of thing has been going on at Windsor for years. Two results have followed. One has been, as I have intimated, the attraction to Windsor of a great number of undesirable persons from all parts of the continent. The other has been the demoralization of the public conscience. This fact is seen in the fact that the police officials in the border cities do not give that attention to the enforcement of the laws against illicit traffic in intoxicating liquor that they ought to give, and that is given in other cities and towns.

"Now the Government of Ontario is not shirking any responsibility. It will do everything that can be done to enforce the law, but I would be doing less than my duty if I failed to bring to public attention the great responsibilities of the Government and Parliament of Canada under the circumstances.

Great Responsibility.

"The first great responsibility of the Government at Ottawa is for delaying the referendum vote. I am not suggesting that the vote should have been taken on unrevised lists, but it would have cost no more to revise the lists for the vote in October, as was announced we were to have, than a vote six months later. The Legislature and the Government of Ontario availed themselves of the Dominion legislation of last year in good faith. The law provides that the Government of Canada shall act within three months after the receipt of the request from the provincial legislatures. The Government of Canada actually acted within five or six weeks after receipt of the request from Toronto, because the proclamation now published is dated June 4. Then on representations made to the Government of Canada, and without conferring with the Government of Ontario, the Government of Canada on the last day of the three months altered the date, with full knowledge of the conditions existing in border localities, thus deferring the vote for six months and tying the hands of the people of Ontario, so far as the prohibition of the manufacture of intoxicating liquors is concerned.

"Then the Parliament of Canada has deliberately refused to allow the people of Ontario to vote on the question of the prohibition of the manufacture of intoxicating liquor. So long as the manufacturer continues, the illicit sale will continue in a greater or less degree. There can be no justification of the refusal of the Parliament of Canada to permit the people of the provinces to pass upon the question of manufacture.

"And in the third place, the Parliament of Canada is to be reprimanded for imposing on the people of Ontario, and particularly upon the people of Windsor, the betting-house evil. This province is brought into contempt over the whole North American continent by legislation enacted at the instance of wealthy men and powerful interests tolerating conditions that are not tolerated by the neighboring and self-respecting commonwealth. And not only so, but, as I have already intimated, the result of that kind of legislation and the toleration of evils of that character is to confuse the standards of right and wrong, and to immensely increase the difficulties of the enforcement of the law.

Has Been Criticized.

"The Ontario Government has been criticized for collecting a tax from these betting houses. The fact is that the former government taxed them $1,250 a day for each day's operation. The present Government increased the tax by six-fold, and this year they paid $7,500 for each day's business. But it is to be borne in mind that the license to carry on business is not given by the Government of Ontario, but by the Parliament at Ottawa, and the Government of Ontario was presented with the option of allowing these men to carry on their demoralizing business without any tax or of compelling them to contribute to the funds of the province. Speaking for myself, I do not hesitate in saying that the revenue derived from this disreputable business is no compensation to Ontario for the injury done to the young manhood and young womanhood of the province."

FLAVELLE BELIEVES TRAFFIC DECREASING

TORONTO, Aug. 6.—In the opinion of Chairman Flavelle of the Ontario Board of License Commissioners, the liquor handling on the Essex border is being considerably checked. Asked if any change in organization was being contemplated in the license force there, Mr. Flavelle said: "I think if you go down there you will find they are doing satisfactory work. They have put a large check in the rum running."

"Are you taking into consideration the statement of Art Edmunds with regards to the system?" he was asked.

"We have a full report on the matter," said the chairman, "and I am satisfied."

There are ten inspectors in the county now and a number of special officers are being sworn in and are sworn in to aid the license department, as well as a number of provincial poice. Attorney-General Raney is in Erin today where he will explain the Essex County situation to his constituents. Crown-Attorney Reod of Windsor was in the city today consulting Government authorities.

TARIFF INQUIRY WILL START ON SEPTEMBER 15

Commission Will Sit in This City Later—Winnipeg is First.

DRAYTON'S STATEMENT

Finance Minister Says Effort To Finish Work For Next Session.

OTTAWA, Aug. 6.—(By Canadian Press).—The tariff commission will open its sittings at Winnipeg on Wednesday, September 15. The commission will consist of Sir Henry Drayton, minister of finance (chairman), Hon. J. A. Calder, president of the privy council, and Senator Robertson, minister of labor.

"It is necessary," Sir Henry Drayton informed a Canadian Press representative tonight, "that the commission's sittings should commence as soon as possible, so that the labors of the commission be completed in time for consideration at the next session of Parliament.

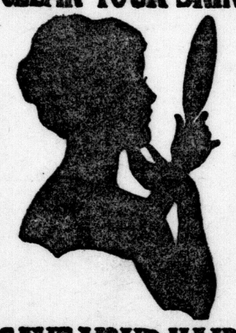

"It has been determined to open the meetings at Winnipeg on Wednesday, September 15. The commission after the initial sittings in Winnipeg will proceed direct to the coast and take evidence in British Columbia and hold sittings in the prairie provinces on the return journey in October, so as to meet the convenience of those whose farming operations would render their attendance in September difficult.

"On the return journey a second meeting will also be held in Winnipeg. The exact dates of sittings at other points will be stated in the near future. The proposed itinerary of the commission is as follows: Winnipeg, September 15; Vancouver, Victoria, Vernon, Nelson, Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Regina, Brandon, Winnipeg, Port Arthur, Sault Ste. Marie, Windsor, London, Hamilton, Toronto, Kingston, Montreal, Sherbrooke, Three Rivers, Quebec, St. John, Moncton, Sydney, Charlottetown, Halifax and Ottawa."

FLURRY IN FOREIGN EXCHANGE MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—A flurry in the foreign exchange market today carried the English pound sterling up to $3.67, or 5¼c above the close of last night, on current reports of an early peace in England. A quick reaction, however, followed with the quotations dropping to $3.65½, which was 3¾c above the close yesterday.

DOCTORS STAND AMAZED AT POWER OF BON-OPTO TO MAKE WEAK EYES STRONG—ACCORDING TO DR. LEWIS

Guaranteed to Strengthen Eyesight 50 Per Cent In One Week's Time in Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home.

Philadelphia, Pa. — Victims of eye strain and other eye weaknesses, and those who wear glasses, will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope and help for them. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored by this remarkable prescription, and many who once wore glasses say they have thrown them away. One man says, after using it: "I was almost blind. Could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without my glasses and my eyes do not hurt any more. At night they would pain dreadfully. Now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can read even fine print without glasses." Another who used it says: "I was bothered with eye strain caused by overwork, tired eyes which induced fierce headaches. I have worn glasses for several years both for distance and work, and without them I could not read my own name on an envelope or the typewriting on the machine before me. I can do both now and have discarded my long distance glasses altogether. I can count the fluttering leaves on the trees across the street now, which for several years have looked like a dim green blur to me. I cannot express my joy at what it has done for me."

It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by the use of this prescription. Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and let it dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation and redness will quickly disappear. If your eyes bother you even a little it is your duty to take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have saved their sight if they had cared for their eyes in time.

Note—Another prominent physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Yes, the Bon-Opto prescription if truly a wonderful eye remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them, I have used it very successfully in my own practice on patients whose eyes were strained through overwork or misfit glasses. I can highly recommend it in case of weak, watery, aching, smarting, itching, burning eyes, red lids, blurred vision or for eyes inflamed from exposure to smoke, sun, dust or wind. It is one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for regular use in almost every family." Bon-Opto, referred to above, is not a patent medicine or a secret remedy. It is an ethical preparation, the formula being printed on the package. The manufacturers guarantee it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It can be obtained from any good druggist and is sold in this city by the Standard Drug Company, Strong's Drug Store, and others.

THE DECAY OF THE HOME.

Of the insidious evils that beset society and endanger the country's future, none are more to be feared than the decay of family life. In creating the home, humanity achieved its greatest social triumph for the reason that it insures its perpetuation upon a true and enduring basis. With no comparable substitute in sight, it would be folly to disregard this crowning result of age-long experience established upon Christian principles. For its permanent preservation publicist and pulpit can unite upon the common ground of a paramount need. To the present and to posterity it asserts an equal obligation.

Modern tendencies conspire against the home. The exactions of business life, the opening of so many pursuits to women, multiplying organizations and the swirl of town diversions distract and divert from the household. The American type of life in flats, while adapted to the elderly, leisured class, is far removed from the desirable family-rearing habitat. Small wonder that someone has put into the mouth of modern childhood the caustic reproach: "When my father and mother forsake me, then the community will take me up!" Luxury and ease may be attained and the responsibilities of parenthood evaded, but often at too great a cost. Children have an inherent right not only to be well born but to a proper home start in life. Press reports from Chicago recently cheerily announced that Judge Frank Johnston had "made a record" by the issue of 453 decrees of divorce in a couple of weeks' sitting, in order to "clean up" arrears that were choking the docket. Doubts may arise as to the thoroughness of the cleaning, but at all events 906 persons were loosed for future matrimonial adventures. Could the true inwardness of those cases be laid bare it would doubtless show the court record to be a symptom of deep-seated disorder in which ill-considered fancy, cupidity and still lower motives were in control. From such sowing little but a harvest of misfortune could be expected. Evidently, for the individual and common good, efforts should be concerted upon wholesome, constructive measures in the education of the youth.

As an institution, the family comes to us with the indorsation of the Sacred Scriptures confirmed by the best of human intelligence. Without citing traditional injunctions, it is sufficient to say that students are familiar with the many allusions all through the Old and New Testaments to the family relations. Perhaps as significant and impressive a reference as could be cited are the opening words of the Lord's Prayer, "Our Father," together with the sublime invocation in the letter to the Ephesians, "For this cause I bow my knees unto the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, of whom the whole family in heaven and earth is named." The terms fatherhood and family are honored by such use and suggest the unity, solidarity and affection that should prevail.

Pre-eminent among the authors and patriots of the last century Mazinni exalted the family ideal, because he discerned in the home security for the national future of Italy. Upon the Italian conscience he pressed unflinchingly the tremendous responsibility of the Christian rearing of children as an educational mission. Were he alive today he could be no less strenuous. Later on, that rare and genial soul, Pastor Chas. Wagner, who proclaimed to frivolous Parisians the supremacy of The Simple Life, declared that no words of his could do justice to the subject of home. "Poor moderns," he exclaims, "always moving or re-modeling! We, who from transforming our houses, our customs and our creeds, have no longer where to lay our heads. Let us not add to the pathos and emptiness of our changeful existence by abandoning the life of the home." John Howard Payne, an American living in France and England, made his name imperishable by writing the dearest song on earth, "Home, Sweet Home." In "The Cotter's Saturday Night," Robbie Burns, with his unerring instinct for what is true and noble, depicts in language that will survive a thousand "best sellers," the religious home life of the humble Scot:

> From scenes like these old Scotia's grandeur springs
> That make her loved at home, revered abroad."

CANOEING.

> "August is laughing across the sky,
> Laughing while paddle, canoe and I,
> Drift, drift,
> Where the hills uplift
> On either side of the current swift."

Someone has said that the pleasantest and most comfortable mode of travel is by canoe, and in these days of aerial flight and speedy motor traffic it is saying much. The lure of lakes, rivers and woods, however, can never lose charm, and as testimony to this it is interesting to watch tourists hurry from trains at summer resort depots and hasten to the canoes in waiting at the waters' edge. Their love of the wild has heard and yielded to the call of the dark waters and the woods, deep and cool, and busy motors are forgotten and the soaring of a bird is more wonderful than the flight of an aeroplane.

Part of the moonlight of summer nights, and the musical lap of the waters as the bow of the canoe cuts its path through them, part of the sunsets' afterglows and the deepening night sky alight with stars, part of the mysterious night-sounds of drowsy birds and insects, wind-stirred leaves and paddle-touched water, caught in the Spirit of All Things Beautiful, glides the canoe, its drifting the very poetry of motion, or its hastening purpose part of a restful rhythm. So silent is its approach along wooded shores, the wild things of the forest resent it not at all, and wonderful opportunities present themselves for the study of animals and birds, and the beauties of the growths of the wild.

In many large cities canoeing is made the chief attraction of parks and resorts. The brilliant cushions in amazing abundance might be bits of flame, rose and gold from sunsets, captured as backgrounds for maids as lovely as the summer and elusive as wood-sprites. Oriental and lovely are the effects of gorgeous parasols of silk and Japanese figuring as the canoes trail in and out the sunshine and shadows on the natural or created canals. Many enthusiasts in London are anxiously awaiting the return of the old days of access to Springbank by canoe, and the restoring of sufficient water depth to the river with the erection of the dam at Byron will lengthen the course by water and afford privileges of better enjoyment of the wooded banks of our wonderful natural park.

NATURAL INFERENCES.

[Hamilton Spectator.]

Is it to be assumed that those who are so vehemently condemning the action of the Drury Government with reference to hydro-radials are opposed to the principle of taking stock?

THE NONPAREILS.

[Chicago Tribune.]

The ease with which some four million men in this country were able to return to peace time pursuits is indicative both of the less violent shock to which the war subjected our industrial system and of the adaptability of our system to rapidly-changing conditions.

NOT DEAD YET.

[Kitchener Telegraph.]

Gen. Ludendorff's proposal to raise an army of 1,500,00 in Germany to fight the Russian Reds indicates that the military spirit has not been wholly annihilated in that country.

NEED SOME IN ONTARIO.

[Border Cities Star.]

Sixty-five Hollanders with $80,000 cash have just taken up land in Alberta. They are expert farmers. This is the sort of immigration Canada wants.

A STORY OF PAT AND TRIXE.

[Amy E. Campbell in Rod and Gun.]

Pat was a bit of a beaver baby whose home was in our wonderful Algonquin Park. In some way he got hurt, and as he was unable to follow the rest of the family, was deserted. He wasn't to die just then, however, and his plight was discovered by some of the young lads from the Bordentown Military Camp on Lake of Two Rivers, when they were out for a paddle.

The boys rescued Pat and took him to Superintendent Bartlett at headquarters. He was a sick, forlorn little chap, and his life seemed to hang by the merest thread. Professor Morris and Mrs. Morris of Peterborough were at the park headquarters, and Mrs. Morris immediately adopted him and tried to bring him up with milk. For some days all went well, and he became so attached to the kind lady who had befriended him that he would cry for her when she was out of sight. But in spite of her care Pat took ill again and she brought him to headquarters, where he died.

The tiny body was placed in a box and left in a nearby shed to be buried, and now comes an interesting part of a rather sad story. The superintendent of the park has an Airedale of exceptional intelligence. Trixe came along, and after looking at the baby beaver for a while, took it carefully in her mouth and carried it away up into the marsh and buried it beside the water. As she covered a distance of at least an eighth of a mile, it is entirely certain that Trixe knew the baby beaver, little Pat, should be buried near his natural home.

THE CALL OF THE HARVEST.

[Montreal Star.]

One-third more men than were engaged in farm work last year are needed to handle bumper crops expected in Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan. The call is sent eastward for workers to harvest a yield promising to surpass the most optimistic estimates made when seeding began.

The area under cultivation this year is smaller than formerly, but Nature has done wonders in bringing out the crop. Agriculture gives every indication this season of going "over the top" with unbounded enthusiasm.

It is a matter of keen satisfaction that Canada will be able to exert the maximum of her influence towards human welfare through heavy production of farm products. The appeal for harvesters deserves spirited acceptance.

A BAD OMEN.

[Chicago News.]

Though they scoff at the prediction that Scotland is going dry, the hearts of the wets are in their boots. They remember that Kentucky went dry.

ETIQUETTE OF THE FOREST.

[Vancouver Sun.]

Forest fires are already taking heavy toll of the natural wealth of the Eastern Provinces this summer. Two hundred square miles of timber have been destroyed in New Brunswick. So far no serious fires have yet occurred in British Columbia.

The prevention of forest fires in 99 cases out of 100 is in the control of individuals, because that proportion of fires start from individual carelessness.

Camp fires and cigarettes are the most frequent causes of the destruction. Only an ignorant Cheechacko will go away from camp leaving a fire unextinguished. The real out-door man who takes a pride in his knowledge of the woods and a strict observance of etiquette of the hills, will go to much paints to extinguish the last embers of his camp fire. He will not throw cigarette ends in dry grass or on the gum-sodden soil under balsam or spruce trees. He will see that his camp fire does not "run." The true camper or out-dooor man is always considerate of the public rights, and careful not to incur danger or annoyance to others who may come after him. He leaves his tent pegs up and the camp site clean. He is scrupulously careful of his fires. Thus he is a public benefactor instead of a menace and nuisance. If all campers observed the ethics and etiquette of the wilds there would be practically no forest fires.

COMMUNITY YARDS.

[Montreal Star.]

Montreal might very profitably follow a scheme that is being outlined in many cities of establishing what is known as "community" yards.

The idea is to abolish sheds devoted to individual family uses and have "community" outbuildings substituted. A general square is to be secured, and upon this central community square would open gates from the back yards of the various residences.

In this plot, moreover, it is proposed to establish the following: A building containing an electric power washing and wringing machine—for the use of all. Facilities for heating water and for starching and ironing.

A community garden to furnish families in the square with fresh vegetables, berries and flowers. This would be loooked after by a man employed by the various families.

Community kitchen to supply families with staple meals, which could be supplemented by special dishes cooked by the families themselves on their own gas ranges.

A community heating plant, with steam pipes radiating to the dwellings on the square.

As an alternative proposal it is urged that back yards in congested districts should be turned into playgrounds for children. Details are gone into as to how this is feasible under amicable arrangements.

Undoubtedly this latter plan would aid greatly in keeping children from playing on the streets; would improve hygienic conditions and add materially to the well-being of tenants.

Montreal backyards are far from being ideal, and there is much in the above that is worthy of serious thought.

THE MIDDLE TEMPLE MURDER

A Detective Story by J. S. Fletcher.

"I gather from this report," said Spargo, "that everything came out suddenly, unexpectedly."

"That was so, sir," replied Mr. Quarterpage. "Sudden? Unexpected? Aye, as a crack of thunder on a fine winter's day. Nobody had the ghost of a notion that anything was wrong. John Maitland was much respected in the town; much thought of by everybody; well known to everybody. I can assure you, Mr. Spargo, that it was no pleasant thing to have to sit on that grand jury as I did—I was its foreman, sir—and hear a man sentenced that you'd regarded as a bosom friend. But there it was.

"How was the thing discovered?" asked Spargo, anxious to get at facts.

"In this way," replied Mr. Quarterpage. "The Market Milcaster bank is in reality almost entirely the property of two old families in the town, Gutchbys and the Hostables. Owing to the death of his father, young Hostable, fresh from college, came into the business. He was a shrewd, keen young fellow; he got some suspicion, somehow, about Maitland, and he insisted on the other partners consenting to a special investigation, and on their making it suddenly. And Maitland was caught before he had a chance. But we're talking about Chamberlayne."

"Yes, about Chamberlayne," agreed Spargo.

"Well, now, Maitland was arrested one evening," continued Mr. Quarterpage. "Of course, the news of his arrest ran through the town like wildfire. Everybody was astonished; he was at that time—aye, and had been for years—a churchwarden at the parish church, and I don't think there could have been more surprise if we'd heard that the vicar had been arrested for bigamy. In a little town like this, news is all over the place in a few minutes. Of course Chamberlayne would hear that news like everybody else. But it was remembered, and often remarked upon afterward, that from the moment of Maitland's arrest nobody in Market Milcaster ever had speech with Chamberlayne again. After his wife's death, he'd taken to spending an hour or so of an evening across there at the Dragon, where you saw me and my friends last night, but on that night he didn't go to the Dragon. And next morning he caught the 8 o'clock train to London. He happened to remark to the stationmaster as he got into the train that he expected to be back late that night, and that he should have a tiring day of it. But Chamberlayne didn't come back that night, Mr. Spargo.

"He didn't come back to Market Milcaster for four days, and when he did come back it was in a coffin!"

"Dead!" exclaimed Spargo. "That was sudden!"

"Very sudden," agreed Mr. Quarterpage. "Yes, sir, he came back in his coffin, did Chamberlayne. On the very evening on which he'd spoken of being back, there came a telegram here to say that he'd died very suddenly at the Cosmopolitan Hotel. That telegram came to his brother-in-law, Corkindale, the saddler—you'll find him down the street, opposite the town hall. It was sent to Corkindale by a nephew of Chamberlayne's, another Chamberlayne, Stephen, who lived in London, and was understood to be on the stock exchange there. I saw that telegram, Mr. Spargo, and it was a long one. It said that Chamberlayne had had a sudden seizure, and though a doctor had been got to him, he'd died shortly afterward. Now, as Chamberlayne had his nephew and friends in London, his brother-in-law, Tom Corkindale, didn't feel that there was any necessity for him to go up to town, so he just sent off a wire to Stephen Chamberlayne asking if there was aught he could do. And next morning came another wire from Stephen saying that no inquest would be necessary, as the doctor had been present and able to certify the cause of death, and would Corkindale make all arrangements for the funeral two days later. You see, Chamberlayne had bought a vault in our cemetery when he buried his wife, so naturally they wished to bury him in it with her."

Spargo nodded. He was beginning to imagine all sorts of things and theories; he was taking everything in.

"Well," continued Mr. Quarterpage, "on the second day after that they brought Chamberlayne's body down. Three of 'em came with it—Stephen Chamberlayne, the doctor who'd been called in, and a solicitor. Everything was done according to proper form and usage. As Chamberlayne had been well known in the town, a good number of townsfolk met the body at the station and followed it to the cemetery. Of course, many of us who had been clients of Chamberlayne's were anxious to know how he had come to such a sudden end. According to Stephen Chamberlayne's account, our Chamberlayne had wired to him and to his solicitor to meet him at the Cosmopolitan to do some business. They were awaiting him there when he arrived, and they had lunch together. After that they got to their business in a private room. Toward the end of the afternoon Chamberlayne was taken suddenly ill, and though they got a doctor to him at once he died before evening. The doctor said he'd a diseased heart. Anyhow, he was able to certify the cause of his death, so there was no inquest, and they buried him, as I have told you."

The old gentleman paused, and, taking a sip at his sherry, smiled at some reminiscence which occurred to him.

"Well," he said, presently going on, "of course on that came all the Maitland revelations, and Maitland vowed and declared that Chamberlayne had not only had nearly all the money, but that he was absolutely certain that most of it was in his hands in hard cash. But Chamberlayne, Mr. Spargo, had left virtually nothing. All that could be traced was about three or four thousand pounds. He'd left everything to his nephew Stephen. There wasn't a trace, a clue to the vast sums with which Maitland had intrusted him. And then people began to talk, and they said what some of them say to this very day."

"What's that?" asked Spargo.

Mr. Quarterpage leaned forward and tapped his guest on the arm.

"That Chamberlayne never did die, and that the coffin was weighted with lead!" he answered.

CHAPTER XX.
Maitland Alias Marbury.

This remarkable declaration awoke such a new conception of matters in Spargo's mind, aroused such infinitely new possibilities in his imagination, that for a full moment he sat silently staring at his informant, who chuckled with quiet enjoyment at his visitor's surprise.

"Do you mean to tell me," said Spargo at last, "that there are people in this town who still believe that the coffin in your cemetery which is said to contain Chamberlayne's body contains lead?"

"Lots of 'em, my dear sir!" replied Mr. Quarterpage. "Lots of 'em! Go out in the street and ask the first six men you meet, and I'll go bail that four out of the six believe it."

"Then why, in the sacred name of common sense did no one ever take steps to make certain?" asked Spargo. "Why didn't they get an order for exhumation?"

"Because it was nobody's particular business to do so," answered Mr. Quarterpage. "You don't know country town life, my dear sir. In towns like Market Milcaster folks talk and gossip a great deal, but they're always slow to do anything. It's a case of who'll start first—of initiative. And if they see it's going to cost anything—then they'll have nothing to do with it."

"But the bank people?" suggested Spargo.

Mr. Quarterpage shook his head.

"They're among the lot who believe that Chamberlayne did die," he said. "They're very old-fashioned, conservative-minded people, the Gutchbys and the Hostables, and they accepted the version of the nephew, and the doctor, and the solicitor. But now I'll tell you something about those three. There was a man here in the town, a gentleman of your own profession, who came to edit that paper you've got on your knee. He got interested in this Chamberlayne case, and he began to make inquiries with the idea of getting hold of some good—what do you call it?"

"I suppose he'd call it 'copy'," said Spargo.

"'Copy'—that was his term," agreed Mr. Quarterpage. "Well, he took the trouble to go to London to ask some quiet questions of the nephew, Stephen. That was just twelve months after Chamberlayne had been buried. But he found that Stephen Chamberlayne had left England—months before; gone, they said, to one of the colonies, but they didn't know which. And the solicitor had also gone. And the doctor couldn't be traced, nor, sir, not even through the Medical Register. What do you think of all that Mr. Spargo?"

Poetry and Jest

A WOMAN'S LOVE.

[Anon.]

A beautiful thing is a woman's love,
And to think that day by day
Some men are killing a woman's love,
No two in the selfsame way.
With thoughtlessness as a wound,
Neglect and spite and scorn,
Till aching souls are cased in gloom,
And bleeding hearts are torn.

A beautiful thing is a woman's love,
A sacred thing and true;
Some men are killing a woman's love—
It's an awful thing to do.
For its delicate petals fail
As swift as death in the north wind's breath
On the flowers along the wall.

A sacred thing is a woman's love,
A solemn and wondrous gift;
Some men are killing a woman's love
With the tide toward which they drift,
Some men are bringing to beautiful lives
Neglect, with its awful sting;
A terrible dart that in the heart
Is the end of everything.

A terrible thing is a woman's love,
For it must have love to live,
And men are killing a woman's love
If they cease their love to give.
It may not die in a moment, no,
Nor yet in a thousand years,
But it takes the happiness out of life,
And it drowns the world with tears.

EVIDENCE.

[Passing Show.]

"Look, grandpaw, a gowf ba' I foond, lost on the links."

"Are ye sure it was lost, Sandy?"

"Oo, ay; I saw the mannie an' his caddy lookin' for it."

CHANGED.

[C. S. Calverley.]

I know not why my soul is racked;
Why I ne'er smile as was my wont;
I only know that as a fact,
I don't.
I used to roam o'er glen and glade
Buoyancy and blithe as other folk;
And not unfrequently I made
A joke.

A minstrel's fire within me burn'd.
I'd sing as one whose heart would break.
Lay upon lay: I nearly learned
To shake,
All day I sang of love, of fame,
Of fights our fathers fought of yore.
Until the thing almost became
A bore.

I cannot sing the old songs now!
It is not that I deem them low;
'Tis that I can't remember how
They go.
I could not range the hills till high
Above me stood the summer moon:
And as to dancing, I could fly
As soon.

The sports, to which with boyish glee
I sprang erstwhile, attract no more;
Although I am but sixty-three Or four.
Nay, worse than that, I've seem'd of late
To shrink from happy boyhood—boys
Have grown so noisy, and I hate a noise.
They fright me, when the beech is green,
By swarming up its stem for eggs;
They drive their horrid hoops between
My legs—
It's idle to repine, I know:
I'll tell you what I'll do instead:
I'll drink my arrowroot, and go
To bed.

ENOUGH FOR A HONEYMOON.

[Boston Transcript.]

He (proposing)—I've saved up enough to live on at the rate of $10,000 a year.

She—For how long?

He—Oh, six months.

THE LIFE BEYOND—BUILDING.

[Gerald Massey in Boston Herald.]

Although its features fade in light of unimagined bliss,
We have shadowy revealings of the Better World in this.

A little glimpse, when spring unveils her face and opens her eyes,
Of the sleeping beauty in the soul that wakes in paradise.

A little drop of heaven in each diamond of the shower,
A breath of the eternal in the fragrance of each flower.

A little low vibration in the warble of night's bird,
Of the praises and the music that shall be hereafter heard!

A little whisper in the leaves that clap their hands and try
To glad the heart of man, and lift to heaven his thankful eye!

A little semblance mirrored in old ocean's smile or frown
Of his vast glory who doth bow the heavens and come down!

A little symbol shining through the worlds that more at rest
On invisible foundations of the broad Almighty breast.

A little springlet welling from the wings we fold within,
And tells of that full heaven yonder which must here begin!

A little springlet welling from the fountain-head above,
That takes its earthly way to find the ocean of all love!

A little silver shiver in the ripple of the river,
Caught from the light that knows no night forever and forever!

A little hidden likeness often faded and defiled,
Of the great, the good All-Father, in his poorest human child.

Although the best be lost in light of unimagined bliss,
We have shadowy revealings of the better world in this.

AN ALIBI.

"Now, Johnny," said the Sunday school teacher, "can you tell me who carried off the gates of Gaza?"

"No, ma'am," said Johnny promptly. "I wasn't out with the boys Halloween, and so I didn't have anything to do with it."

REMARKABLE FRENCH.

[New York Globe.]

A critic said at the Players' Club: "All our popular authors managed to get to France on one excuse or another during the war and now they all interlard their stories with French phrases. Those French phrases! How awful they are! How they make you laugh if you know French at all! A woman magazine writer, who gets $300 apiece for her short stories, came into a restaurant the other day and sat down near me. She wore a 'Y' uniform. I knew she'd had a week or two abroad. 'Got any bon vivant?' she said to the waiter. 'But, madame, I don't understand,' the waited, a Parisian, stammered. 'Go on! I thought you were French!' said the woman magazine writer. 'Bon vivant means good liver. Bring me some with bacon.'"

WHAT PRUNES ARE NOT.

[American Legion Weekly.]

Private Jackson had long been a thorn in the side of the mess sergeant, but at last they had got together in an amicable what-are-you-going-to-do argument. "Where are you going after the war, Jack?" inquired the sarge. "I don't know exactly," replied the long sufferer, "but one thing I know, I'm going somewhere where they don't call prunes fruit."

STUCK UP.

[London Tit-Bits.]

Johnny startled his mother by asking, suddenly:

"Mamma, is there hair oil in this bottle?"

"Mercy, no, dear!" she exclaimed. "That's glue."

"Oh!" said Johnny. Then, after a short silence: "Perhaps that's why I can't get my hat off."

TO SIR THOMAS LIPTON.

[Boston Herald.]

All America salutes you. Yachtsmen and land lubbers, adepts in every sport afloat and ashore, weather-beaten experts who have driven racing sloops through the brine with lee rails under and armchair critics who argue while others perform, all render you a genuine tribute of admiration and affection. You are a real sportsman—never censorious, always optimistic; eager to win, generous in defeat; scorning to seek any unfair advantage, quick to accept every official ruling; asking only a fair field and no favor, magnanimously paying tribute to your victorious adversary. When from the bridge of your steam yacht you saluted Charles Francis Adams, Robert W. Emmons, and their council and crew, and led the cheers for the Resolute as she crossed the finish line, you did a becoming and manly thing, which this country gratefully approves. It may comfort you to know at the end of your twenty years of endeavor that the people of the United States during these days of racing have been of divided mind, hoping to keep the historic trophy, yet loath to see so gallant a challenger for the fourth time beaten. So all Americans salute you, Sir Thomas.

A GERMAN COMPLIMENT.

[Westminster Gazette.]

In Princess Blucher's interesting book I read that, towards the end of the war, the Germans took to praising the English. One who did so with extreme cordiality was Baron von Mutzenbecher, the censor of correspondence at Ruhleben. He was looking on, one day, at a football match between two barrack teams. It was a very hotly contested match! and at the end of it, the baron turned to the captain of the camp, who was standing near him, and remarked genially: "When I see the way you fellows play football, cease to feel any surprise at our failure to beat the 'contemptible little army.'"

A POWERFUL FOE.

[Farmers' Sun.]

The temperance forces must not become discouraged over the uncalled for delay in holding the referendum. They must recognize that they are "up against" a powerful, resourceful and unscrupulous foe and should govern themselves accordingly.

Puts the gain on ALL the hog

All-'round development is what the hog feeder wants, insuring higher grade pork as well as higher finish.

Purina Pig Chow is a scientific balance of concentrates for making bone, flesh, blood and fat. It develops and fattens pigs simultaneously, and brings hogs up to a maximum weight in record time. One feeder last year cancelled a car of Purina Pig Chow, because this feed finished out his herd a month earlier than he expected.

Purina Pig Chow contains Hominy Meal, Digester Tankage, Blackstrap Molasses, Ground Barley, Corn Gluten Meal, Cracked Corn, Linseed Oil Meal, and Alfalfa Flour, with a trace of charcoal and salt.

Compared with corn, barley, shorts, hominy or similar ingredients by weight, Purina Pig Chow will produce 100 lbs. of live hog with one-third to one-half less feed. Fed individually or in combination with other feeds, Purina Pig Chow will produce 25 to 50% more weight.

Only for ladies who end corns

Dainty shoes are only for those who end corns.

The way is simple, quick and easy, and is sure. Millions of people employ it.

Apply Blue-jay, the liquid or the plaster. That touch will stop the pain.

Then wait a little and the corn will loosen and come out.

Then why does anybody suffer corns? Just because they don't know. They pare corns and keep them. Or they pad them. Or they use a treatment harsh and ineffective.

Blue-jay is scientific. This world-famed laboratory created it.

Year after year, it is keeping millions entirely free from corns.

Perhaps half the corns that start are now ended by it.

Ask your druggist for Blue-jay. Learn tonight how much it means to you.

NEARLY EVERY GIRL CAN MAKE HERSELF PRETTY AND ATTRACTIVE

Some Wholesome Truths That Every Girl Should Think About.

Probably you know just such a girl. Perhaps she is sixteen—good to look at, and pretty—quite interesting because she reflects the graces and charm that give promise of happiness to herself and others. But she is not strong. The color in her cheeks, once so rosy, has faded away—her eyes are listless—the buoyancy of spirit and vigor she once possessed are sadly lacking. Parents, friends, this girl needs Ferrozone—needs it that her blood may be renewed—needs it to restore the nerve force that growth, study and the development of her fresh youth have exhausted. This girl will become a queen with Ferrozone—which will restore her color—bring back her old-time energy—give brightness to her eyes and vivacity to her spirits. In Ferrozone every girl finds strength—then she can do things. In Ferrozone there is endurance—that drives away morning tiredness and languor. For the girl or woman that wants to be happy, healthy, winning—who values rosy cheeks, laughing eyes and abundant good spirits, nothing can compare with Ferrozone; 50c per box, or six for $2.50. Get it today from any dealer in medicine, or by mail from The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

BISHOP—PATTERSON.

A quiet wedding took place in Detroit on Saturday, July 31, when Miss Derfla Patterson, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Patterson, of Bothwell, Ont., was united in marriage to Mr. W. H. Bishop of Detroit. After a honeymoon at Bay City and Niagara Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Bishop will reside in Detroit.

FISHBACK—JACKSON.

At Wilton Grove, August 4, Miss Ethel Beatrice, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Jackson of 2nd concession, Westminster, and John Henry Fishback of Nilestown, were married in the First Presbyterian Church at 10 o'clock, a.m., Rev. J. W. M. Crawford, minister of the church, officiating. The happy young couple left for their honeymoon trip and on their return will take up their residence at Nilestown.

FLECK—NESBIT.

A pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nesbit, Concession 8, Moore Township, Lambton County, on Wednesday, August 4, when their youngest daughter, Mary Frances, became the bride of Mr. Robt. C. Fleck, son of Mr. Charles Fleck, Petrolea, the Rev. A. M. Shannon, Corunna, officiating. The bride was given in marriage by her father, and looked lovely in a pretty gown of white organdy and lace, with corsage bouquet of Ophelia roses and sweet peas. Miss Ruth Fleck, a niece of the groom, was a charming ring-bearer, daintily frocked in pink silk, while Miss Mary Broughton played the wedding march.

A reception and wedding breakfast followed the ceremony, at which the immediate relatives of the bride and groom were present. Among the many beautiful and useful gifts was a complete set of aluminum cooking utensils presented by the young people of Knox Church, of which the bride was an active member. Mr. and Mrs. Fleck will reside on the groom's farm in Moore Township.

SPODE CHINA.

Spode was manufactured at Stoke-on-Trent in England from 1749 until about the beginning of Victoria's reign. The record tells us that on April 9, 1749, "Siah Spode was apprenticed to a potter for the sum of two shillings and threepence."

Spode designs were often peculiarly English, consisting of mistletoe, holly, holly wreaths and the robin. The ware feels to the touch like ivory, is light in weight and can readily be distinguished from the glassy porcelains. Its glaze is very even and smooth.

About 1805 Spode introduced a fine ware called opaque porcelain, which became very popular in England and in France, really superseding the French fayence. It was called "Spode's New Fayence" or "Spode's Stone China." Its decoration was largely influenced by Japanese art.

Some early pieces of Spode ware have the name Spode impressed in the paste. Other pieces are printed in black with the word Spode impressed.

The successors to Spode were the Copelands; the first mark which denoted the change was the name "Copeland Garrett," set in a circle in the centre of which were the words, "Late Spode." Later the mark became a circle made of the names "Copeland and Garrett" with a crown in the centre and below the circle in printed capitals the initials "C" and "G." It was also sometimes marked "New Blanche" or "Royal Opal," or "New Japan Stone," according to the composition or decoration.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

We make provision for this life as if it were never to have an end, and for the other as if it were never to have a beginning.—Addison.

Reliable Recipes.

Eggless Cake.—One cup sour milk, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 cup chopped raisins, ½ cup hickory nuts or walnuts, ½ cup fat, 2 cups flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 teaspoon nutmeg, teaspoon allspice. Bake in loaf tin. This is the best, inexpensive cake I know of. It is easily made, is soft and keeps well without icing.—Annie.

Grape Juice Dessert.—Ten cent bottle grape juice, or 1 cup of home-made grape juice, 1 cup water, 2 tablespoons sugar, 2 small tablespoons corn starch, pinch of salt. Put grape juice and water on stove to boil. When boiling add corn starch moistened in water. Cook 8 minutes, stirring carefully. Cool and add salt. Whip in the beaten white of an egg. Serve with cream or egg custard. This makes a delicious summer dessert. I have tried and proven its value.—Old Cook.

Canned Beans—Here is my method of canning beans that has never failed me: Prepare beans just as for ordinary use (I mean by that, stem and cut in pieces), and to every quart of water put one teaspoonful of cream tartar and one teaspoonful of salt. Boil for 20 minutes, and seal as fruit.—Mignonette.

Potato Cheese Cakes.—Six oz. mealy potatoes (boiled), 2 oz. butter (melted), 1 oz. shredded candied peel, 3 oz. currants, 4 oz. sugar, 2 eggs well beaten, 1 lemon (rind and juice). Mash the potatoes, taking care there are no lumps; add butter, sugar, lemon and eggs, beat well, add currants. Bake in patty pans lined with short pastry.—Felixstowe.

Apple Frosting—Here is a recipe for apple frosting.—White of 1 egg, 1 grated sour apple, a scant cup sugar. Beat all together with a silver fork about 30 minutes or until stiff enough to stand; use this for filling layer cakes, and also for top dressing. For immediate use.

Also a recipe for butter tars—One egg, 1 cup sugar, butter size of an egg, 3-4 cup currants, 1-4 cup of sweet milk, 1½ teaspoonfuls of vanilla. Fills about 20 tarts. OKEH.

REQUESTS.

Dear Miss Grey,—Could you tell me through the medium of your valuable paper if there is such a publication as the Weavers' Monthly, or any such devoted to the weaving of rag carpets or the new colonial rugs, and any particulars about it. I presume you would not know their adveptising rates? With thanks. MRS. W. K.

Ans.—Inquiries fail to give any information of the journal you ask about or any others of the kind. If any reader can come to your assistance we will be grateful.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am again coming to your Mail-Box for help. Have you or any of the Boxites any pretty lace patterns from two to three inches wide? If you have, may I have them in the inclosed stamped envelope? Has anyone a yarncraft crochet book which I could borrow? Could you give me a mixture or recommend anything to make streaked brown hair all one color. Is sage tea good to rub on the hair, and how long should you rub it on before you could see the results? I rub it on every night just before going to bed. Is that often enough?

I am enclosing a pattern, also directions of a duck in crochet for children's garments for use of the Mail-Box.

I have a little book called "Probable Sons," which is awfully nice for children, and if you would like me to, I will send it to you for the sick children's hospital. CARNATION.

Ans.—I am sorry to be unable to publish the other letter you inclose, as it is decidedly against our rules. Don't tamper with your hair. Shampoo it carefully and when necessary, and massage the roots daily with the finger tips. We shall be glad to have the book you offer later on when the hospital is established.

Miss Grey,—Just another line to the Mail-Box, as I've been kind of lagging on the job.

Now, Boxites, I'd just love to have a second correspondent. Won't somebody about 17 years old, and who likes writing lettres, please step out of the ranks, and send your address to Miss Grey and she'll send it on to me. I'll write first if you wish. I delight in writing to girls that I have only seen by them sending me snaps of themselves.

THE GYMNASIUM GIRL.

Dear Cynthia Grey,—I received the songs I asked for from both Erva and Turah Tenrub, and I hape you will thank them both through the Mail-Box. I have copied the words and am returning them. I saw where you asked for some patterns of lace for pillow-slips, so mother told me to send the inclosed patterns for the use of the Mail-Box. Where are Mrs. Homebird and the Sunshine Baby? Please forward inclosed letter to Chicken.

LADY BELLE.

Ans.—Thank mother very much, Lady Belle for inclosed patterns. Your letter has been forwarded to Chicken.

REQUESTS.

Dear Cynthia Grey,—I saw my last letter in print, so I thought I would try again. Could any of the readers send the words and music of "The Dying Cowboy," or could tell me where I might obtain them? OKEH.

Ans.—I have the words in the Mail-Box, but not the music of the song you ask about, Okeh. Your recipes went in another column.

Kindly answer the following question:

1. Is it proper for a man to go ahead of the lady upstairs, where admission is paid, and which is first coming down? Thank you. F. B. B.

Ans.—A gentleman precedes a lady going upstairs, and the lady precedes the gentleman coming down.

BULLETINS.

A Singing Lark's note has been forwarded to Iona Ford.

Mrs. T. W.'s panel for Hollyhocks has been forwarded.

Requests.

Dear Miss Grey and Boxites.—This is my first letter to your cosy corner, and hope I will be welcome. Could any of the readers supply me with the song, "In The Gloaming"? Could I have the famous stocking-foot pattern? I am sending self-addressed envelope for the song and pattern, and a dime for Children's Hospital. MATILDA.

P.S.—I hope I can bring some help next time.

Ans.—Thank you for hospital dime. Have filled several of the requests in your letter from the Mail-Box. The other is referred to Boxites.

Dear Miss Grey,—This is my second letter to your wonderful Mail-Box. I saw where I could be of some use, so I am sending the words of "Hello Central, Give Me Heaven," which was asked for by Turah Tenrub. Will you kindly forward it to her, Miss Grey? Could any of the readers send me the words and music of "Oh, What a Friend Was Mary?" I would be very pleased to get it. I will send a three-cent stamp for postage, and if it's more I will send it next time. I will leave my address with Miss Grey. Good luck to the Mail and Miss Grey.

THOUGHT IT WAS SUICIDE

A prominent merchant was discovered a few days ago brandishing a razor at midnight. His wife called for assistance, but found her Hubby was only paring his corns. Far better not to risk blood poisoning—use Putnam's Corn Extractor, 25c, at all dealers.

THE CAT'S PUP.
Part Three.

Poor little Chu did not know he was an outcast. How was he to know that all the little dogs in the neighborhood had called a meeting to discuss him, and had resolved that they would have nothing to do with a dog that was brought up by a cat—for cats were detested by all dogs in this neighborhood.

"His mother was always a stuck up little dog, anyway," declared Biff, the Poodle. "Because she won prizes at the shows she thought she was better than the rest of us."

"That's not true," spoke up Grubby, the old Bulldog. "Chu San was a polite little dog, and much too gentle-natured to play with such rough dogs as live on this street."

If any other dog had said that there would have been a row, but Grubby was greatly feared and respected, and no one dared bring him to task for his remark.

"It was too bad she died," sighed Imp, the Fox Terrier. Imp had a guilty feeling in his heart, for he suspected that the poison little Chu San had got was intended for him. He knew that he had killed someone's chicken about that time, and the owner had threatened to poison him.

"Well," said Skinny, the whippet, who had received a good scratching from Tabby once when he had tried to bite her, "I certainly won't associate with a dog that has been educated by a cat."

"It's a sign of lost dignity," declared Star, the Boston. Star was always talking about dignity—he considered himself a dignified dog—but you and I would have said he put on airs.

So the resolution was passed, everyone voting in favor of banishing little Chu except old Grubby, and that dog was so disgusted with the proceedings he walked away and left the party.

It was Grubby who told Chu what had happened. "Don't you mind," he told him, "I will be your friend, and the other dogs do not matter." By this time Chu had grown to be a six-months-old puppy, and he had learned a great many things. Just the same he still liked old Tabby, the cat, and would not hear a word against her.

It was not nice being snubbed by all the dogs in the neighborhood except one, and what made matters worse that one slept a great deal of his time, and little Chu was left to play by himself. Poor Chu was almost forgotten. He tried to make friends with other cats, but none would make friends with him. They, too, hated him it seemed. Then one day old Tabby disappeared. What had become of her? Chu soon found out. Tabby came from under the barn one morning bright and early, and Chu guessed at once what had been keeping her. Under there she had a family of four tiny kittens. Now he had a new interest in life—some little foster brothers to mind. We'll hear how hard Chu finds his task tomorrow.

THERMOKEPT TRADE MARK

Have you seen the Thermokept Container?

YOU CAN BUY— Thermokept Coffee from these and other stores:

Have You Enjoyed the Fragrance of the Coffee that comes out of it, and Tested its Strength?

THE aroma that has been passing on into the air from the coffee packed by former methods is all secured for you by this wonderful new Thermokept process.

Until you have had a container of THERMOKEPT COFFEE in your house, you cannot know what "good coffee" means, and if you go to any of the grocers named below and ask for a package of Thermokept Coffee, it is our contention that you will never again buy any coffee that is not packed "THERMOKEPT."

The reason why you do not like coffee is not because the coffee is not good. Most coffee is good, but just packing it in either paper or tin does not insure its strength and quality.

Where there is no air, there can be no deterioration.

The "Thermokept" process which takes the air away from the container, has been perfected by expert food chemists after years of work!

During the war, the United States Government successfully shipped butter, milk, coffee, etc. to Europe packed by this method. In fact, all the coffee which could be packed—was packed "Thermokept"!

Soon you will buy, in addition to coffee, such foods as butter, milk, nuts, fruits, syrups, packed by this wonderful process.

THERMOKEPT COFFEE IS ALWAYS FRESH

Look for this Trade Mark and guarantee on every container.

THERMOKEPT COFFEE

is sealed under vacuum and is guaranteed to indefintely retain all flavor and strength while in the original sealed container. It is a selection from the world's finest coffee, blended and roasted so as to produce a drink combining strength with fine flavor. It is steel cut by the most modern methods whereby the chaff and other objectionable parts are removed

TALKS ON HEALTH

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D., Noted Physician and Author.

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS.

Here is a striking letter from a little girl. It contains a strong appeal to mothers and daughters:

"My dear Doctor Brady: Will you please, through your most valuable column, urge mothers to tell their children about human reproduction, etc.? Some mothers say they don't know how to go about telling it. Isn't it better for them to tell it any old way, just so it is true, than have their children hear it from some nasty, vulgar girl in school, who tells untruths about one of the most sacred things of life?

"For this is the case with a girl at school. A girl friend of mine has been told by several girls in her class at school some of the nastiest jokes and things that go along with such 'jokes.' I call them vulgar speeches. Don't think that all girls are like that, for they aren't. I went all through grammar school and never heard such things from any of the girls. Last year, my biology teacher at high school gave her girls lectures on human reproduction. But high school is too late for some girls, for they already have their vulgar views which are hard to change. So please urge mothers to tell their children. It makes me sick to hear of such things. Please don't publish this letter. I am fifteen years old and . . ."

I prevailed upon this little lady to give me permission to publish her letter, with certain possible marks of identification omitted.

The United States Public Health Service surgeons found that the average age at which boys pick up their first distorted and unclean information, concerning human reproduction, is nine years, whereas the average age at which boys are offered clean and truthful information on the subject is sixteen years—seven years too late. I don't know how it is with girls, but perhaps there is not much difference. This very illuminating letter from one sweet little girl is certainly conservative. The matter might be presented much more forcibly without overstating the truth. I hope it may make a million mothers think, yes, and a million fathers, too. However, it is up to mother to attend to daughter's education while father is responsible for the instruction of son.

Our sincere and womanly little preacher mentions lectures by her biology teacher. Biology—knowledge of life—ought to be taught at least as early as geography is taught. Instead of figuratively hiding our heads in the sand—which is very figurative indeed, for naturalists declare that no sane ostrich ever does such a fool thing—we should have the courage to assume full responsibility for the education of our own children, and take such steps as may be necessary to beat the purveyors of filth and immorality in the race for the child's soul. Sins of omission in this sacred duty are grievous and unpardonable in this day of enlightenment.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Heat for a Six-Room House.

Mrs. L. and myself are planning a modest six-room home in Pittsburg, and desire to know whether it would be hygienic to have sleeping rooms on the ground floor. What would be the ideal heating method for a small house, from the health viewpoint?—J. J. L.

Answer—The only advantage of upstairs sleeping apartments is better circulation of air when buildings are close around. I should think a furnace with air inlet from outside and one large register in the middle of the house would be ideal, provided a very large water pan is built in.

Going Barefoot.

What should we do with our children's feet in vacation time? Some mothers think sandals are indispensable, but I confess I favor the old-fashioned way of going barefoot, though I have not yet permitted our children (eight, nine and thirteen years old), to do so yet, as I desired your advice about it first. When I was a girl in Vermont, I went barefoot in vacation time until I was 16 and never suffered any injury from the habit.—Mrs. A. B. M.

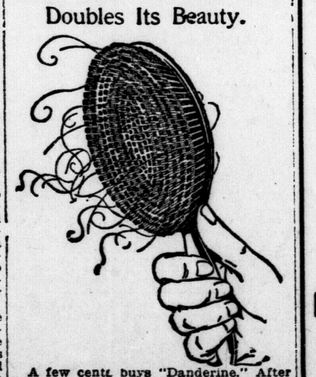

Answer.—I know but one objection. In the southern states, where hookworm infestation prevails, it is dangerous to go barefoot in some sections, because the ground is polluted with hookworm larvae and "ground itch," "toe itch" or "dew itch" occurs about the feet—the evidence of penetration of the parasites into the system. But in the north, or in properly sanitated cities in the south, going barefoot is always beneficial to the health of child or adult. Far from favoring flat feet or other weakness of the feet, going barefoot strengthens the feet against such deformities. Another wholesome feature is that the more of the body surface exposed to the sun the more the blood is strengthened.

WHAT'S IN A NAME

NELLIE.

There is considerable room for doubt in assuming that Nellie is a derivative or a contraction of stately Eleanor. Though some etymologists claim that the former name is evolved in the lengthy process between the original Helen and the final Lina, there are two other sources from which Nellie might well be sprung, without such a formidable history of derivation.

The Dutch have a name which they call Nelle, meaning "horn," which is pronounced the same as our Nellie, and might easily be the direct progenitor of this popular little name. For those who reject this derivation, there is the German Nelle, which has wide vogue in all countries under Teutonic influence. It has evolved through the quaint English Petronella, a feminine name given in honor of St. Peter.

The first Petronella was said to have been his daughter. For that reason the name was exceedingly popular in Spain as Petronilla. In Norway it made its appearance as Petronille, and was shortened to Nille, a name which corresponds very closely to our Neille.

The bloodstone is Nellie's talismanic gem. It will preserve her health and protect her from diseases, especially from those which affect the blood. Tuesday is her lucky day, and 1 her lucky number.

PLAY GROUNDS HOLD EFFICIENCY GAMES WITH GOOD RESULTS

Thames and Queen's Park Have Goodly Number Out To Take Part.

Yesterday afternoon found the children of Thames Park playgrounds holding their second efficiency contest, under the direction of Miss Marion McCartney, who has made the grounds one of the most successful in the city. All the events for the children were entered into with great enthusiasm and were strongly contested throughout.

The results:

Pushball race, girls under 7—Jennie Tishy, Lenola Forsythe.

Chum race, girls under 10—Patricia Collins and Eleanor Law, Irene Tapping and Dahlia Cosert, Gertrude Burks and Marie Burke, Elna Wood and Daisy Wheatley, L. McGlonne and Lenore Mercer.

Chum race, girls over 10—Florence Fletcher and Ethel Fullarton, Jean Buchanan and Hilda McCabe, Edna Johnston and Florence Wheatley; Katy Gould and Mannie Law.

Baseball throwing, girls under 10—Irene Tappin, Patricia Collins, L. McGlone, Dalhia Cosert, Marie Burke.

In the junior hustle ball, Katy Gould's team was victorious over that of Minnie Law.

Queen's Park held its efficiency contest yesterday afternoon, with good results and a lot of excitement among the young folks who were looking for the honor of winning some of the events.

The results:

Pushball, girls under 7.—Hilda Benstead, Reta Fitzmorris, Marjorie Tennant, Lillian Castore, Marjorie Fitzmorris.

Pushball, boys under 7—George Keatt, Fred Short, Harold Delaney, Leslie Benstead.

Tecs and the Beavers Protest Game But Tribe Have Runs

4--3 Victory of Wetzell Men Comes in Crashing Last Frame Rally With Briger Big Stick.

London won yesterday by a score of 4 to 3. At least, that's the way the game ended on the score board. However, in the eighth Wetzel protested Kyle's fly, which crashed into a car along the right field line and drove in two runs, tieing up the game 2—2, and Beatty, when Umpire Franklin ruled that McCallum should not have run for Phillips after the catcher had driven in another counter with his single to centre, protested, too, as his backstop had to get out of the game. That made them even on the league of nations stuff.

Outside of protests, however, London came back and won the game strictly on merit in their half of the eighth, when Witry doubled and Crichlow was on through Morgan's miscue and both were driven across the plate on Pittenger's hard choice and Briger's smashing drive that caroomed off Bornhoeft's shins and behind short field.

It was a nice finish if some of the loudness could have been kept out of the game. Dad Franklin had anything but a pleasant time of it yesterday, and everything was made hard, whether it looked that way or not. Norris was banished when he said something unpleasant to Dad under his breath as Delotelle whiffed him in the sixth, and when Manager Beatty tried to slip Norris back into play again and the crowd loudly pointed out the deceit, Dad held up the game until Sharpe took his place. That made Dad suspicious of the youngsters and the game was frequently interrupted while Dad examined balls or bats or exchanged repartee with the Beaver players.

Old Twenty Good.

Delotelle, who pitched a nice game until the eighth, hurled a nice brand of ball, allowing but eight hits and three of these were bunched in his last effort. Carmen, who had pinchhit for Dowling in the London half of the eighth, mowed the Beavers down in one, two, three order for the last inning.

Bornhoeft hurled a good game, too, though touched for ten safeties. He undertook to skin Pitt's fingers in the third and did the job too well, as Pitt was given a base. He scored later for London's first run on Kennedy's single.

London gathered their second in the next frame, when Kuhn and Witry singled and the former was driven across by Pitt's single. The Tribe didn't threaten until the seventh, when two singles and a walk filled the bases. Bornhoeft made Shay pop up to him and Neitzke into hitting a grounder at third. In the eighth, after all the noise and protests had been made and filed, Joe Briger, as a follow-up pinch hitter to Carmen, slashed into the hit that brought in Crich with the winning counter.

A walk, a single and a sacrifice, which counted for two runs when the ball went into the car, was Kitchener's first come-back, and then Phillips banged into a single, which brought Kyle in for the third counter. Dowling made a wonderful stop of Eckstein's liner for the second out and McCallum, running for Phillips, was nabbed at second.

STERLINGS GIVE BAINS DECIDED TROUNCING

The City Championship of Woodstock Now Rests in Sterlings' Hands.

WOODSTOCK, Aug. 6.—Two thousand fans turned out to see the first of the three games series between Bains and Sterlings for the City League championship and the honor of representing the city in the Ontario League games. The result was a decided victory for Sterlings by 18 to 3. It was the hardest hitting contest ever staged in the City League.

The game went along in bang-up style until the fifth, with Bains leading 3 to 2. Here Thompson, who had pitched clever ball up to this stage, went to pieces, and the Sterlings netted five runs on clean hitting.

In the sixth the Sterlings continued the bombardment, and Thompson was yanked. Frank Turner took up the task, but the Sterlings would not be denied and made eight circuits before being retired. A home run clout by Reynolds with two on netted three more runs for the Sterlings in the final frameup. "Spike" Arnott was on the slab for the winners and was in good form; he allowed but four hits, three coming in the third. The fielding features were contributed by Hagerman, Martin and McNab. The score: R.H.E.
Sterlings 18 17 7
Bains 4 4 5

Batteries — Arnott and O'Bright; Thompson, Turner and Turner. Umpires—Kennedy and Harvey.

At Edmonton, Alta., on July 6, "Jim" Stewart won the 2:25 pace with Romola in straight heats, in 2:18½, 2:15½, 2:16¼. The next day, July 7, the mare repeated the dose in the 2:17 pace in 2:12¼, 2:14½, 2:13¾. On July 8 she won the 2:20 pace in 2:11¼, [illegible] race [illegible] a workout.

RAY CHAPMAN

The Naps' trail of hard luck isn't strewn with so many players this year, though Johnston's charley-horse is giving Tris concern. Ray Chapman is a great key for a great infield and is doing some great hitting, too.

RUTH BANGS OUT TWO MORE HOMERS AND YANKS WIN

The Elephants Take Cleveland's Measure in Ten-Inning Affair—Kerr Wins His Own Game.

DETROIT, Aug. 6.—"Babe" Ruth added two more circuit blows to his string in the second game of the Tiger-Yankee series here today, bringing his total for the season to forty-one. New York won the game, 11 to 7. Ruth's first homer came in the third inning. The first man up, he knocked the ball into the top tier of the bleachers in centre field. The second homer, in the sixth inning, cleared the wall over right field. The second drive scored Peckinpaugh and Ward ahead of him.

OWEN SOUND WINS GAME 2--0, BUT LOSES ROUND

OWEN SOUND, Aug. 6.—In an exceedingly good game tonight, the Owen Sound football team won from Listowel by 2 to 0, but lost the round by one goal, Listowel having defeated Owen Sound on Tuesday in Listowel 8 to 0. This was the third series of home and home games, the score being a tie each time.

Fiebig of Stratford handled the game, which was witnessed by the biggest crowd in football history in Owen Sound. The Owen Sound team played excellent football and had the advantage of the play at all times. The Listowel goalkeeper did some good work and stopped several hard shots.

MANUFACTURERS' BALL

The snappiest ball game of the season in the Manufacturers' League was played last night at Queen's Park between Greene-Swifts and the London Bolt and Hinge Works. The London Bolt came out victorious in the last inning, when they managed to get across the only run of the contest.

Hits were few and far between throughout the game. Wray allowed three and Clinton two. The game was called at the end of the sixth on account of darkness.

The score: R. H. E
Greene-Swift 0 2 1
London Bolt 1 3 2

Wray and Steeper; Clinton and Bice

Juno, 2:03¼, owned by D. E. McNicol, East Liverpool, Ohio, trimmed John Henry, 2:03¼, last Saturday. Nat Ray figured that she had a great chance to win one division of the Edwards at Cleveland, but she was not herself that day. This mare has about as much speed for a quarter as anybody's wiggler, being able to go a couple of furlongs in 28 seconds, and she stepped a half right at a minute in [illegible] workout.

Hams Beat Red Sox and Keep Pace With Tecs

Behan, On the Mound For the Shagmen, Held the Lee Crew To Five Hits and a Goose Egg Score, Win--ing 5--0.

HAMILTON, Aug. 6.—By judicious hitting, the Hams won today's game from Brantford by 5 to 0. They hit Walters, a southpaw, hard in the third and sixth innings. Petie Behan, on the mound for Hamilton, was baffling throughout. He allowed only five hits and had only 30 hitters face him. In two innings the Brants threatened to score, but, with men on the paths, they could not solve the Behan brand of offerings.

Eddie Weinberg's first basing was a feature of a game that was interesting, though one-sided.

ACES TAME WOLVES

SAGINAW, Aug. 6.—Returning home after nearly a month on the road, the Aces rewarded President Clements with a ninth inning rally that netted two runs and a 7 to 6 win over Bay City today. Doubles by Lipps and Hegedorn following Camarek's boot, gave the needed counters.

Saginaw hit Hauser and Laurent hard, but wasted chances by wild base running. Dodson, who started for the Aces, was hard to hit, but was wild. Sam Dodge held the Wolves safe in the last two innings. The score:

O'Rourke Who Was Up in 1912 Is Stronger With Bat Now

BY ERNEST J. LANIGAN.

Frank James O'Rourke, shortstopping for the Toronto Maple Leafs now and destined to shortstop for the Washington Nationals after the season of the new International League closes, made half as many hits in two games this year as he did in 61 contests in the National League eight years back. And in these two games he might have had a trifle more than half as many hits if he hadn't retired from the second before it was finished.

The new Washington infielder is the same O'Rourke who played in 61 games with the Boston Nationals during the season of 1912, being the predecessor of Walter J. Maranville as shortstop of the Hub team. Hitting in 1912 was not O'Rourke's strong point, for the averages calculated by John Arnold Heydler, then secretary (now president) of the National League, awarded him a mark of .122.

Frank wasn't quite as good a hitter as Lurid Lew Richie, but he was a better sticker than Albert Peter Liefield, who still sticks round the fast time circuits, and than Johnny Dodge, Ed. Roulbach, Earl Moore, Art Fromme, Don Carlos Patrick Ragan and 'Gene Woodburn.

O'Rourke got his average of .122 by making 24 hits in 196 times at bat, three of the blows being for extra distance. Two were doubles, one was a triple.

That was in 1912.

In 1920 Frank James, who is a native of the same state as James M. Cox and Warren C. Harding, showed early that two dozen blows for a season was not going to be enough for him.

On the day the championship lid of the new International League season was lifted this year—Thursday, April 22 (Jupiter Pluvius saw to it that most of the teams couln't get away from the barrier the day before)—O'Rourke helped himself to six safeties, half of these being for extra distance.

Frank James couldn't get more than six hits the first day, because he only batted six times.

On Saturday, July 3, in Toronto, O'Rourke making his six hits again, this time against Rochester, would have had seven trips to the plate had he stuck to the combat all the way along. This the new National didn't do, for after the seventh inning was completed Frank retired to have his leg bandaged in time to catch the train for Rochester. He was replaced in the batting order by Bader, who went to centre field. In the eighth, O'Rourke's successor got a chance to hit, popping to Allie White, former Catholic University boy and property of the Giants, for the third and last out of the inning.

O'Rourke, the day he was beating up the Rochester pitchers, did no popping. His harvest for the afternoon was three singles, one double and two homers. The two-bagger and one of the four baggers were propelled in the same frame—the seventh.

If any minor or major leaguer ever before made six hits twice in a season as O'Rourke has done this year, none of the dope hounds know anything about the matter.

Another thing out of the ordinary accomplished by the new Griffman this year is to score from second on a sacrifice fly. Frank did this in the ninth inning at Toronto on Wednesday, May 12, in a game with the Syracuse club, John Enzmann pitching. The score was knotted when the Leafs took their last turn at the bat, and Enzmann, now with the Phillies, retired the first batter up. O'Rourke then doubled, Vernon M. Spencer, who now is with the Giants, hit a long fly to Howard McGraner, a pitcher, who was covering centre for the Starless Stars. The moment the ball was caught O'Rourke lit out for third at his fastest clip.

Experts in the press coop predicted that O'Rourke wasn't going to tarry at third, for the ball was hit so far out Frank could have walked from third to the hot corner. For once said experts were right. He kept on going and beat the relay to the plate, McGraner pulling something new in the pastime and making the return to the infield via left—the long way home, in other words.

O'Rourke has been a bear cat in the International this year. He is credited with having a weak arm and a pair of legs that are not up to par, yet no shortstopper outside of Boley of Baltimore, who really is a better prospect than O'Rourke (better, because younger), has turned as many sensational plays.

Frank heretofore always has been a bloomer in the majors. The Braves had him as far back as 1912, and then he averaged almost one strikeout to the game, whiffing 50 times in 61 contests. The Reds had him and so did the Superbas. His last major league berth was with Brooklyn in 1917. During the time Frank played in the National he hit .180, being in 125 games, batting 394 times, scored 29 runs, making 71 hits (59 singles, 10 doubles and 2 triples), sacrificing 14 times and stealing 12 bases.

This is what the new Senator did in his large two days this year, on April 22 at Reading, and on July 3 at home:

At Reading, April 22.

Three singles and three doubles in six times at bat.
First inning—Singled to right, out trying to stretch hit into double.
Fifth inning—Doubled to right.
Sixth inning—Singled to centre, scoring two men.
Seventh inning — Singled through third.

At Toronto, July 3.

Three singles, one double and two home runs in six times at bat.
First inning—Singled to left.
Third inning—Singled to centre.
Fourth inning—Singled past third.
Fifth inning—Planted home run in right field stand, two men scoring ahead of him.
Seventh inning (batted twice)—Doubled to centre, and planted home run in right field stand, two men scoring ahead of him.

Then, as told, O'Rourke quit the combat to have his leg bandaged. Had he stuck to the game he would have had a chance to strike seven blows, or seventeen less than he got in 61 games with the Braves in 1912.

RUTH KEEPS WORD

DETROIT, Aug. 6. — Babe Ruth of the New York Americans, made his 40th home run of the season today in the game with Detroit here. Ruth, the first man up in the third inning, knocked the ball to the top tier of bleachers in centrefield.

Ruth made his 41st home run with two men on bases in the sixth inning.

PHILLY MISPLAYS GIVE CINCINNATI A STRONGER HOLD

The Giants Take Two From the Cubs and Close Red Lead.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6. — Poor fielding, due to weather conditions, played a large part in Cincinnati's 8 to 2 victory over Philadelphia today, the locals committed six errors, and the few hits the visitors made off Smith were timely.

The score: R. H. E.
Cincinnati ...... 000 201 041—8 9 1
Philadelphia .... 000 101 000—2 7 6

Ring and Wingo; Smith, Betty, Ensemann and Wheat.

GIANTS WIN BOTH.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—New York won both parts of a double-header from Chicago today, the first by the score 5 to 2, and the second 6 to 2. Benton and Douglas held the Cubs safe in their respective games. Alexander lasted only four innings in the first game, and Tyler retired in the second after six innings. The scores:

First game— R. H. E.

LONDON COMES OUT HEAD IN W. O. L. GAMES

Ingersoll tennis team were the guests of the London Tennis Club in the first home contest of the W. O. T. League yesterday and succeeded in winning the majority of the men's events, the London ladies, however, being successful in their section. The results:

Ingersoll—Mr. Ingram, 6-2; Mr. Beattie, 6-2; Mr. Hutt, 6-2; Mr. Wood, 6-2; Mr. Bartlett, 2-6; Messrs. Wood and Beattie, 2-6; Messrs. Ingram and Hutt, 6-3; Messrs. Horton and Bartlett, 3-6; 6-0.

London—Mr. H. Fetherston, 6-4; Mr. D. Walker, 6-2; Mr. F. Beattie, 6-2; Mr. E. Fetherston, 6-2; Mr. J. B. Ferguson, 4-6; Messrs. Beattie and Walker, 1-6; Messrs. Fetherston and Fetherston, 6-4; Messrs. Saunders and Ferguson, 6-2.

Ladies' Events.

London—Miss A. MacKenzie, 4-6; Miss H. Gibson, 4-6.

Last Saturday, over a track far from fast, Prince Loree, 2:03¼, the Transylvania winner of 1919 showed that he could very easily secure the world's championship honors for double-record performers, as he worked in 2:04½ quite handily, and Mike McDevitt and his owner, Capt. Shaw, are more than pleased with the manner in which he is showing up in his education at the pace.

TORONTO TROUNCES BALTIMORE, WHILE BISONS DROP TWO

Leaf Move Up Into Second Place With One Point Lead.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 6.—Toronto hit three Oriole hurlers freely, taking the first game of the series, 11 to 1, and breaking the Birds' winning streak, which had reached a total of nine. Shea, who pitched for the Leaf's, held Baltimore to five scattered hits, no two of them in the same inning. The batting of Riley, who poled out three bingles in four trips to the plate among them a homer, featured.

The score: R.H.E.
Toronto ....001 103 402—11 13 0
Baltimore ....000 100 000— 1 5 2

Shea and Devine; Groves, Sullivan, Fike and Egan.

NUMATICS KEEP UP.

SYRACUSE, Aug. 6.—Akron's ability to make long hits off Sell gave them a 5 to 4 victory over Syracuse this afternoon. The score: R.H.E.
Akron ....012 100 010—5 13 0

Moseley, Culp and Walker; Sell and Niebergall.

MARINES COPP TWO.

READING, Aug. 6.—Reading opened the series with Buffalo here today by taking both ends of a double-header from the Bisons, 3 to 2 and 8 to 5. Seven innings was the limit of the second game by agreement. The scores:

First game— R.H.E.
Buffalo ....000 000 200 0—2 7 0
Reading ....000 101 000 1—3 10 4

Werre and Bruggy, O'Brien; Barnhardt and Cotter.

Second game— R.H.E.
Buffalo ....210 002 0—5 9 5
Reading ....022 202 x—8 7 2

Carruthers and O'Brien; Holmes, Swartz and Cotter.

Glints From the Mint Diamonds

Crichlow made one fine peg to the plate to get Norris in the third inning, when he was breezing in on his boss' safety to the middle garden.

Beatty claimed that Witry had said McCallum could run for Phillips. However, Buzz said he didn't know anything about the arrangement and that satisfied Dad Franklin.

What will likely happen on the protests is that President Maines will cancel one against the other and look up the score of the game, which by way of repetition was 4—3.

One of the police sergeants did a fine job of shadowing on Manager Beatty during the hottest part of the heated argument. He never changed his disguise once, depending on changing from his three-stripe side to his even only unornamented sleeve. Interested spectators thought it was a fine example of the 13th lesson in detecktiting.

The Brants lost again yesterday. Their threats still spread terror, however.

It looks as if the Brants would have left a lot undone when the season closes.

When the Kitchener dugout gave off too much advice yesterday, Umpire Franklin made a threat of umpiring the game from in front of it.

There doesn't seem much reason for Kitchener having a dugout anyway. They spend most of the time surrounding the umpire and making him look like a human island.

In fact when Beatty and his gang get into their talking stride, the umps looks more like an island. All that's needed is a pot and a fire and the South sea doesn't look so far away.

The Beavers do a double appearance today, and the Tribe having helped them to the extent of one game probably won't be so strong on the uplift.

A Skillful Fisherman

What the Press Agents Say About the Shows

AT THE GRAND

Boyle Woolfolk's Vanity Fairy of 1920 To Open 1920-1921 Season At the Grand Opera House.

"Vanity Fair" has toured the principal theatrical circuits for the past six years, and its originator and founder has the distinction of over a hundred musical successes to his name. Last year, in addition to "Vanity Fair," Mr. Woolfolk presented "Honeymoon Town," one of the popular musical hits of the year, and the composer of the music in this classic, Mr. Felix G. Rice, has outdone himself in this season's "Vanity Fair" in whistly and popular airs. This season's "Vanity Fair" is headed by Elmer Coudy, said to be one of the foremost musical comedy comedians. "The Vanity Fair" chorus is the pride of the organization, and is gowned equal to any musical attraction on tour. Among the new songs this season bound to be popular are: "Fiddling Around," "Will You Love Me in America as You Do in France?" "Art Is a Wonderful Thing," "When the Famous Women of the Past Do the Dances of Today," and many others. The engagement is for three days, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, August 16, 17 and 18, with popular matinee Wednesday at 2:30. This company is one of the most pretentious of the big attractions that will tour Canada, and is now making the tour from coast to coast.

Seats go on sale on Thursday next at 9 a.m. Mail orders received now, if accompanied with check, express order or postal order, including war tax.

AT LOEW'S

PICTURIZATION OF NOTED DRURY LANE PLAY TO BE SEEN AT LOEW'S THEATRE ON MONDAY.

"The Best of Luck," a picturization of the celebrated Drury Lane melodrama by Cecil Raleigh and Henry Hamilton presented by an all-star cast, is announced as the next photoplay at Loew's Theatre for a run of three days, beginning Monday next.

"The Best of Luck" was converted to the silver sheet by Screen Classics, Inc., and is released by Metro. Upon its stage presentation at the Theatre Royal, Drury Lane, London, in 1917, the play was described by British critics as containing more realistics effects and more thrills than any melodrama that had ever been produced before in that theatre, which is historic as the home of vivid action plays.

An outline of the plot of "The Best of Luck" gives an idea of the highly exciting nature of the story. The action revolves about a chest of jewels, once the property of a Spanish queen, which lies at the bottom of the sea in a wrecked galleon. Leslie Macleod, a beautiful and daring Scottish girl, is pitted against General Lanzana, a rich and unscrupulous Spaniard, who seeks to possess not only the lost treasure but Leslie herself.

Lanzana lures Leslie to his apartments and attempts to overcome her; but she escapes with a chart of the ocean bed where the Spanish wreck, the "Santa Ginevra," lies five fathoms deep. With her sweetheart, Lord Glenayr, Leslie goes in quest of the trasure aboard a submarine. They find Lanzana in a diver's suit ahead of them and a thrilling conflict in the deep leads to a surprising climax.

An excellent bill of vaudeville, a funny comic and Loew's screen pictorials are included in the program for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday next.

ANITA STEWART, IN "THE YELLOW TYPHOON" AT LOEW'S, THURSDAY NEXT.

The screen's greatest dramatic delineator, Anita Stewart, will grace the screen at Loew's for the latter three days of next week, in a new First National Attraction, "The Yellow Typhoon."

"The Yellow Typhoon" is replete with tense dramatic climaxes and furnishes Miss Stewart with a delightful vehicle to display her dramatic talents. Playing a dual role of an adventuress and sleuth, she repeats another huge success, declared by critics of the celluloid to be the best work she has ever done for the screen. An excellent supporting cast will assist in making "The Yellow Typhoon" one of the best dramatic hits of the season.

A rattling good comedy, Loew's Screen Pictorial, and Loew's extraordinary vaudeville concludes the program for the last three days of next week.

AT THE ALLEN

GIANT APEMAN BATTLES WITH FEROCIOUS LION IN "REVENGE OF TARZAN" AT ALLEN MONDAY.

Coming to the Allen Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday is undoubtedly one of the most sensational and unusual pictures which has ever played on any screen "The Revenge of Tarzan," being the story of the giant apeman's return to the primitive jungles where he was born.

Gone were the memories of ultra-smart society, the man who once glided over polished floors in the most sophisticated and luxurious ballrooms, now sat in a tree in the African jungle his brother, a giant ape, squatting by his side. The apeman's sojourn in civilization had not taken away his taste for raw flesh, nor the lure of dim jungle trails had not erased the memory of his friendships with the gorrilas and the great elephant. Again was he to roam on Suma's great head, through dark forest glades and roar his savage hunting cry down the dim aisles of the green green jungle.

And it was in the jungle that he met his sweetheart, and there he battled for her life with the great Nubian man-eating lion, fighting with his bare hands the king of beasts to the death.

You will thrill as you have never thrilled before—to thrills that will be absolutely new to you—as you follow this half man, half beast, who, handsome as a god, had been suckled by a she-ape, and who struggled and fought his way from battles with the gangsters of Paris through shipwrecks into those far lands where he was raised, so that he might rescue the girl of his heart, who had been stranded on a wilderness shore, surrounded by all the terrors of the unknown, and depending on no one but her savage lover for life and food and love.

Special music with Mr. A. D. Jordan at the organ will be a feature of this program.

BEAUTIFUL KATHERINE MACDONALD AND ALL-STAR CAST IN THRILLING WESTERN DRAMA.

You have seen lovely Katherine MacDonald in pictures of luxurious beauty, with gowns that would make a queen envious—now you may see her back to the primitive life, the sweetheart of a western outlaw—and she is more beautiful—more appealing than ever in her new picture "High Rockets," in which she is featured with an all-star cast at the Allen next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

When we tell you that she is supported by the famous western actor, Louis Bennison—with others equally as good—you will gain some idea of the excellence of her new production. Then you will understand that in this western drama, thrilling action, tense suspense, beauty and spectacular stunts abound, and that never for a moment are you left without admiring your favorite and most lovely star, or gasping to the excitement of some daring feat of strength or skill. "High Pockets" is the story of a two-gun badman of great notoriety, and his love and regeneration at the hands of a lovely girl he rescues from bandit enemies in the fastnesses of the western deserts.

A big Sunshine comedy, interesting films and many added film attractions, with a special musical program, will be features of this program.

AT THE PATRICIA

SPAIN SCENE OF HAYAKAWA FILM—"THE BRAND OF LOPEZ" MELODRAMATIC STORY OF THE ADVENTURES AND ROMANCE OF A BULL-FIGHTER.

Sessue Hayakawa, the Oriental star, shifts to sunny Spain for the scene of "The Brand of Lopez," the Robertson-Cole Superior picture in which he is to be seen at the Patricia Theatre opening next Monday and remaining for three days. This is a Haworth production which was directed by Joseph De Grasse.

Hayakawa plays the part of Vasco Lopez, one of the most famous matadors, or bull-fighters, in the kingdom of Spain. He is a man of very quick temper, and of marked jealousy, and these traits draw him into escapades which make his career one of thrills and adventure. There is more action and conflict in this picture than in any Hayakawa recently has made, save perhaps only "The Tong Man."

Jealousy motivates the early part of the picture, and leads the matador into a duel with a young military man who flirts with Lola Castilio, the matador's sweetheart. After he has risked his life in a fierce battle with daggers the girl refuses to fly with the matador to escape the police who want him for dueling. He is arrested and imprisoned. Before going behind the bars he threatens revenge upon the girl and the man she marries.

Elmer Condy and girls in the sparkling musical comedy success "Vanity Fair of 1920," at the Grand Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, August 16, 17, 18. Special Wednesday matinee.

"MIMIC WORLD" COMPANY TRAVELS IN GREAT STYLE

The twenty members of the "Mimic World" Company, coming to the Loew's the entire week of August 16, and the retinue of attendants which comes with it, consisting of manager, electricians, stage hands, wardrobe woman and three chaperones carried by the troupe, making thirty people in all, travel in wonderful style across the country. The company has a special section of four cars, consisting of their own two Pullmans, own baggage car for their scenery, and a day coach, where they spend the daylight hours while traveling. This section is attached to a regular train, and only members of the company are allowed the use of it. Two porters and two maids attend to the wants of the company while traveling. On long trips a special dining car will also be attached for the exclusive use of the "Mimic World" players. This is the famous organization which has proved the greatest sensation New York theatrical circles has ever known. Several of the feminine stars in the troupe, including Margaret Smith, Morley sisters, Ruth Morgan, and others, carry their personal maids with them on the trip. The twenty chorus girls in the troupe are all properly chaperoned, three of the mothers of members of the company accompanying the troupe wherever it goes, under salary to the management, to look after the welfare of the girls, because of the extreme youth of the majority of them.

Sessue Hayakawa in "The Brand of Lopez," at the Patricia, Monday, for three days.

Kathryn Adams and Fred Malatesta in "The Best of Luck"

The great Drury Lane melodrama, which will grace the screen at Loew's for the forepart of next week.

Katherine Macdonald, starred in the Thrilling Western drama "High Pockets," at the Allen, next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

ONLY TRUE ASPIRIN

If you don't see the "Bayer Cross" you are not getting Aspirin at all

BAYER

OK

The name "Bayer" identifies the only genuine Aspirin,—Aspirin prescribed by physicians for twenty years and now made in Canada.

Always buy an unbroken package of "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" which contains proper directions for Colds, Headache, Toothache, Earache, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Rheumatism, Neuritis, Joint Pains, and Pain generally.

Tin boxes of 12 tablets cost but a few cents. Larger "Bayer" packages.

There is only one Aspirin—"Bayer"—You must say "Bayer"

Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada) of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid. While it is well known that Aspirin means Bayer manufacture, to assist the public against imitations, the Tablets of Bayer Company will be stamped with their general trade mark, the "Bayer Cross."

Tarzan the Apeman and his half-brother, two of the leading characters in that super-thrilling picture of the African jungles, "The Revenge of Tarzan," at the Allen, Monday, Tuesday Wednesday.

ONE-REELERS

INA CLAIRE AT WORK.

Ina Claire, famous stage star, is hard at work at the Loew-Metro studios, New York, on her picture, "Polly With a Past," the Belasco production in which she made such a startling success on the stage. At the same time, Miss Claire is completing a year's run at the Lyceum Theatre in her latest Belasco success, "Gold Diggers," one of the biggest dramatic hits the American stage has ever known.

STARS AT LOEW'S AVENUE B THEATRE.

At the corner of Avenue B and Fifth street, in the heart of New York's great east side, stands a beautiful theatre. It is Loew's Avenue B, built on the site of Marcus Loew's birthplace, where more stars have appeared in person than any theatre in the world. Those who have visited the theatre in the past few weeks include Evelyn Nesbit, June Elvidge, Lew Cody, Bert Lytell and Enid Bennett. Chaplin, Norma Talmadge, Clara Kimball Young, Alice Brady, "Fatty" Arbuckle and all the great stars have appeared at this theatre.

WORK STARTS ON NEW 'FRISCO THEATRE.

Constructive work on Loew's new State Theatre in San Francisco has been started. In addition to the theatre an eight-story office building will be erected. The theatre will seat over 3,000 and the entire project will cost over $1,000,000.

LOEW TO SPEND $18,000,000 FOR THEATRES.

After working for four days auditors and construction experts of Loew's Enterprises decided that over $18,000,000 must be spent in the next year for construction work alone. Over fifty new theatres are being built.

JEWEL CARMEN BEATS THE HIGH COST OF APARTMENTS.

Jewel Carmen, film star, who recently completed her picture "Out of the Darkness," has beaten the high-rent problem. She has a yacht, a beautiful power yawl, on which she lives. The yacht is anchored at the foot of 72nd street, in the Hudson River. It takes but a moment to row ashore, and a taxi takes her to Times Square in six minutes. In the meantime she laughs at landlords.

The completion of his first two-reel western, "Beyond the Trail," for Brentwood, has brought Tom Santschi the assurance of unusual success. Into the curtailed number of feet allowed him the big star has put some of the finest acting he has ever done. His part is that of a hard-riding, heavy-fighting man.

The fear that popularity is not all that it should be is beginning to creep into the mind of Mildred Davis. Not long ago she purchased a dog. Surely one animal in the house would do no harm! A few days later an ardent fan sent her a parrakeet and then another sent a cat. This movie life is one darn menagerie after another, says Mildred.

George Probert, one of the best-known actors on the speaking stage, has been selected by Mme. Nazimova to play the leading male role in her Metro production. "Madame Peacock."

You're footsick! Your feet feel tired, puffed up, chafed, aching, sweaty, and they need "Tiz."

"Tiz" makes feet remarkably fresh and sore-proof. "Tiz" takes the pain and burn right out of corns, callouses and bunions. "Tiz" is the grandest foot-gladdener the world has ever known.

Get a box of "Tiz" at any drug store and end foot torture for a whole year. Never have tired, aching, sweaty, smelly feet; your shoes will fit fine and you'll only wish you had tried "Tiz" sooner. Accept no substitute.

PARSON'S ATTACK ON DOPE RING LAUNCHED

Rev. H. D. Peacock To Throw Light On Underground Sale of Drugs.

WINDSOR, Aug. 6.—Capt. (Rev.) H. Dobson Peacock, secretary of the Border War Veterans' Association, and second fighting parson of the Essex frontier, today came out in another smashing attack on the drug traffic, which he commenced a week ago, when he stated his intention of throwing the searchlight of publicity on the underground sale of narcotics, which is exceeded here in extent only by the activities of the rum-runners.

The war veterans today, in demanding a clean-up of the business largely responsible for the peddling of dope, told of a young woman recently corralled by the Windsor police who had become a slave of the habit following a small dose taken as a joke when offered by a waiter in a local cafe.

COALITION JAMS IRISH MEASURE THROUGH HOUSE

OTHER MEMBERS LEAVE

Labor and Nationalists Walk Out of Chamber After Scene.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—By an overwhelming majority the Government this evening jammed through the Irish crimes bill, designed to restore order in Ireland. Lengthy debates preceded the voting in the House of Commons, but lacking the presence of Premier Lloyd George and Herbert H. Asquith, they did not stir the interest which attached to yesterday's discussion and were far less acrimonious.

A notable exception was a furious outburst by Joseph Devlin, Nationalist member from Belfast, who defied the authority of the House to bring him to order and precipitated an exciting scene, as a result of which he was suspended. He stalked out, followed by all the other Irish members and almost the entire Labor representation.

For a time it seemed as though there was no way for suppressing Mr. Devlin except removing him bodily. He unloosed a flood of invective against the Bill, demanded that Mr. Lloyd George be summoned to "share responsibility for this iniquitous measure," and vehemently asserted the reason the premier was absent was that he might "concoct another war with Russia."

From the Government benches cries of "order! order!" arose, with admonitions to respect the House.

Despises House.

Mr. Devlin shouted in reply: "I have no respect for the House of Commons; I despise it."

Bedlam then broke out. When the chairman finally managed to make himself heard he severely admonished Mr. Devlin, threatening to expel him from the chamber if he continued to ignore the authority of the chair. Devlin, who had now worked himself up to a high pitch, continued defiant, whereupon the chairman called on the sergeant-at-arms to remove him. He refused to budge and the chairman found it necessary to summon the Speaker, who was absent, as the House was sitting in committee.

The sergeant-at-arms placed a huge, formidable mace on the chairman's table. The galleries anticipated rough-and-tumble developments.

"Bring on the army of occupation," shouted Mr. Devlin, but he calmed down when the Speaker, impressive in wig and gown, entered the chamber and with dignity seated himself on the dais. He was acquainted with Mr. Devlin's conduct and put a motion to the House to suspend him.

Walked Out Rapidly.

Mr. Devlin appeared to take his sentence philosophically, and when the vote on the motion to suspend him was announced he walked out rapidly before the Speaker could conclude the request that he leave. The ensuing exodus of Irish members and labor champions left only a handful of Liberals to continue the fight on the bill, and there was no further excitement until application of closure met with angry shouts of "gagged."

The only interesting point of the debate was an ineffectual attempt to induce the Government to limit the operation of the act to one year. Sir Donald MacLean, who moved an amendment to this effect, declared that to place the Irish under permanent martial law would strike a blow at any future attempt at approchement between the two peoples.

Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland, opposing this amendment, said the Government would consider the matter, and it hoped it would be possible to repeal the act before a year expired. The amendment was rejected by a large majority.

Any persons upon whom sentence of imprisonment have been passed in Ireland could be conveyed to and detained in any prison in the United Kingdom under the terms of the I. C. B., which passed the third reading today in the House of Commons. This section of the measure applies to persons already sentenced, as well as to those who may hereafter be sentenced.

In general, the new law would transfer the duties of crown tribunals in Ireland to courts-martial. The military courts-martial could take over the duties of coroners, and would have the power to decide cases without jury.

The text of the bill follows:

Text of the Bill.

1. Whereas, as it appears to his majesty-in-council that owing to the existence of a state of disorder in Ireland the ordinary law is inadequate for the prevention and punishment of crime or the maintenance of order, his majesty-in-council may issue regulations under the defence of the realm consolidation act, 1914, (herinafter referred to as the principal act), for securing the restoration and maintenance of order in Ireland, and as to the powers and duties for that purpose of the lord lieutenant and the chief secretary, and of members of his majesty's forces and other persons acting on his majesty's behalf, and in particular regulations for the special purpose hereinafter mentioned.

2. The provisions of the principal act with respect to the trial by courts-martial or courts of summary jurisdiction and punishment of persons committing offences against the defence of the realm regulations shall extend to the trial and punishment of persons who have committed crime in Ireland, whether before or after the passing of this act, including persons committed for trial against whom indictments have been found, so that:

(a) Any crime when so tried shall be punishable with the punishment assigned to the crime by statute or common law.

Punishable by Death.

(b) A court-martial when trying a person charged with a crime punishable by death shall include as a member of the court one person (who need not be an officer) nominated by the lord lieutenant, being a person certified by the lord chancellor of Ireland, or the lord chief justice of England, to be a person of legal knowledge and experience, and regulations under the principal act may be made accordingly.

3. Regulations so made may also:

(a) Provide that a court of summary jurisdiction when trying a person charged with a crime or with an offence against the regulations when hearing and determining any application with respect to a recognizance, shall, except in the Dublin metropolitan police district, be constituted of two or more resident magistrates, and that a court of quarter sessions when hearing and determining an appeal against a conviction of a court of summary jurisdiction for any such crime or offence shall be constituted of the recorder or county court judge sitting alone.

Confers Civil Powers.

(b) Confer on a court-martial the powers and jurisdiction exercisable by justices or any other civil court for binding persons to keep the peace or be of good behavior for estreating and enforcing cognizance, and for compelling persons to give evidence and to produce documents before the court.

(c) Confer on persons authorized to summon with, before a court-martial, the power of issuing warrants for compelling persons to attend as witnesses, and any warrant so issued shall have the like effect and be executed in the like manner as if issued by a justice of court of summary jurisdiction having jurisdiction in the place in which it is executed or sought to be executed.

(d) Authorize the imposition by courts-martial of fines, in addition to or in substitution for any other punishments for offences against the regulations, as well as for crimes, and provide for the manner in which such fines are to be enforced.

Detention in Prisons.

(e) Authorize the conveyance to and the detention in any of his majesty's prisons in any part of the United Kingdom of any persons upon whom a sentence of imprisonment has been passed in Ireland, whether before or after the passing of this act.

(f) Provide for any of the duties of a coroner, or any coroner's jury being performed by court of inquiry constituted under the army act instead of by the coroner and jury.

(g) Provide that where the courthouse or any other building in which any court has been usually held is destroyed or rendered unfit for the purpose, the court may be held in such other courthouse or building as may be designated by the lord lieutenant.

Trial Without Jury.

(h) Authorize the trial without a jury of any action, counter claim, civil bill, issue, cause or matter in the high court or county court in Ireland, which part from this provision would be tried by a jury.

(i) Provide for the retention of sums payable to any local authorities for the local taxation (Ireland) account, or for any parliamentary grant, or from any fund administered by any government department or public body where the local authority has in any respect refused or failed to perform its duties, or for the purpose of discharging amounts awarded against the local authority, in respect of compensation for criminal injuries or other liabilities of the local authorities, and for the application of the sums so retained in or toward the purpose aforesaid.

Applicable Anywhere.

4. Any such regulations may apply either generally to the whole of Ireland or to any part thereof, and may be issued at any time, whether before or after the termination of the present war and the principal act shall continue in force as far as may be necessary for that purpose and the regulations may contain such incidental, supplemental and consequential provisions as may be necessary for carrying out the purposes of this act and shall have effect as if enacted in this act.

5. In this act, unless the context otherwise requires, the expression, "crime" means any treason, felony, misdemeanor or other offence punishable, whether by indictment or on summary conviction by imprisonment or by any greater punishment and other offences against the defense of the realm regulations. The expression "persons committed for trial" shall include a person who has entered into recognizance conditions to appear and plead to an indictment or to take his trial upon any criminal charge or who has been committed to prison thereto await his trial for any crime.

FREQUENT HEADACHES

A Sure Sign That the Blood Is Watery and Impure.

People with thin blood are much more subject to headaches than full-blooded persons and the form of anaemia that afflicts growing girls is almost always accompanied by headaches, together with disturbance of the digestive organs.

Whenever you have constant or recurring headaches and pallor of the face, they show that the blood is thin and your efforts should be directed toward building up your blood. A fair treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will do this effectively, and the rich, red blood made by these pills will remove the headache.

More disturbances to the health are caused by their blood than most people have any idea of. When your blood is impoverished, the nerves suffer from lack of nourishment, and you may be troubled with insomnia, neuritis, neuralgia or sciatica. Muscles subject to strain are undernourished, and you may have muscular rheumatism or lumbago. If your blood is thin and you begin to show symptoms of any of these disorders, try building up the blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and as the blood is restored to its normal condition every symptom of the trouble will disappear. There are more people who owe their present state of good health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills than to any other medicine, and most of them do not hesitate to say so.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

BASEBALL REVIEW

Chicago, Aug. 7.—The three leading batters in the American League continue to feed up their averages, but "Babe" Ruth, the home run champion, who is in fourth place, suffered a slump before Dick Kerr in the last game of the series between Chicago and New York. He was at bat five times, but connected for only one hit. Tris Speaker, the Cleveland manager, who tops the batters, gathered eleven hits in seven games and boosted his mark from .411 to .417, which is 15 points better than that of George Sisler, the St. Louis star, who is the runner-up, with an average of .402. Joe Jackson, the slugging outfielder of the Chicago White Sox, is third, with a mark of .398, while Ruth is hitting .391. The averages are of players who have participated in 50 or more contests and included games of Wednesday.

Ruth continues to be the sensation of the league. This was evidenced again in the games between the Yankees and the White Sox. For the four days a crowd officially set at 126,000 came out to witness the games, with a hope of seeing the big southpaw slugger crack the ball out of the field. Three times during the series was Ruth able to deliver on his specialty. On the second day he drove the ball on a line into the right field bleachers for four bases. Claude Williams was pitching, and it was the third homer Ruth had collected at his expense. This smash marked Ruth's 38th home run. Against Faber the following day he was unable to hit, because the game was close and he was ordered passed. In the opening game with Cicotte on the mound Ruth was helpless. Yesterday he added two to his record, which is now 41, he having landed on Ehmke of Detroit the day before.

Rice Leads Base-Stealers.

Rice of Washington is far out in front among the base-stealers, showing the way with a total of 43 thefts.

Rice, Washington, .366; E. Collins, Chicago, .364; Meusel, New York, .354.

Roger Hornsby of St. Louis continues to head the National League batters who have played in 50 or more games. The St. Louis star knocked out 13 hits in his last six games, and boosted his average to .372. J. Smith, a teammate, who was the runner-up among the regulars last week, went into a slump and dropped to fifth place with an average of .326, while Nicholson of Pittsburg came along strong and now is runner-up to Hornsby, with an average of .336.

Roush of Cincinnati has pulled up into third place with a mark of .333, and Young of New York is holding fourth place with .327. Hornsby is far in front of the total base hitters with 220 acquired on 143 hits.

Cy Williams of Philadelphia bagged a brace of homers in the past week, and now tops the circuit drive hitters with 11. Max Carey of Pittsburg leads the base-stealers. He is showing the way with 36 thefts.

Other leading batters:

Williams, Philadelphia, .323; Konetchy, Brooklyn, .321; Myers, Brooklyn, .320.

PEACHES ARE PLENTIFUL.

Cedar Springs, Aug. 7.—The oat harvest is in full swing, and the crop promises to be a record-breaker this year.

Peaches are being marketed, and an unusually large crop will be handled this season.

RUSSIAN REDS

POLISH CRISIS IS YET GRAVE; MUCH RESTS ON FRANCE

LONDON, Aug. 6.—The Polish crisis is still grave, but as a result of today's developments it is regarded as being easier. There has been no rupture in the negotiations with the Russian delegation. Much, it is now held, will depend on the attitude of France.

It has been decided that Premier Lloyd George, who will be accompanied by Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson, will meet M. Millerand, the French premier, and Marshal Foch, Sunday either at Folkestone or Bolulogne to decide upon the future course of events.

After a cabinet council today, held to consider the answer of the Soviet Government to the British representations, sent through M. Kamenoff, of the Russian delegation and which was regarded on the whole as conciliatory, Mr. Lloyd George and Andrew Bonar Law, Lord Privy Seal, were in conference with M. Kamenoff and M. Krassin, another Soviet representative, for more than five hours at the premier's official residence in Downing street.

The entire situation was exhaustively reviewed and the Government's view communicated to the Russians. Especial emphasis was laid on the necessity for stemming the advance of the Red army into Poland proper. As a result of the conference, M. Kamenoff will now be in a position to communicate with Moscow and get the Soviet Government's answer by Sunday, when it can be considered by the Allied conference and decisions taken which will be communicated to the House of Commons Monday, as already has been promised by Mr. Lloyd George.

It is believed that if France is willing Mr. Lloyd George will agree to peace being negotiated direct by Poland and Russia. It is generally granted that in accordance with the practice of previous wars Russia is not called upon to suspend operations until an armistice is signed. The Polish delegates to the Bolshevik conference were expected to arrive in Minsk today and begin negotiations.

Warsaw dispatches claim that the Bolshevik offensive on the River Bug has been arrested. It is clear that the Poles are putting up bitter resistance.

The British Labor party is taking a strong stand in the matter of the Polish-Russian situation with a view to arousing the country against war with Russia.

PLAN TO DELAY ARMISTICE, REPORT

Johannesburg, East Prussia, Aug. 6.—Deserters from the Bolshevik army reaching here assert that the plans of the Russian general staff are to delay an armistice with Poland, while the boundaries of Russia are re-established as they existed in 1914.

WASHINGTON EXPECTS ALLIED INTERVENTION

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—The Polish situation has aroused the greatest interest in United States Government circles, where the developments are being closely watched.

The general opinion is that is it impossible to save Poland without military assistance on the part of the Allies, and in the present circumstances there seem to be no likelihood that the United States would join in such assistance if it were decided on.

In any event, it is pointed out, the Government is powerless to act without the authority of Congress, which does not meet until December unless President Wilson calls an extra session.

In the event of Allied intervention, however, the United States could undoubtedly be relied upon for moral support and the use of such official agencies as the Red Cross for relieving distress and supplying foodstuffs.

FATE OF WARSAW STILL IN BALANCE

PARIS, Aug. 6.—The fate of Warsaw still hangs in the balance. The latest news reaching Paris tonight, which was somewhat sparse, indicated that the Bolsheviki are making little progress, that the impulse which carried them forward continuously during the past week has spent itself, but that they apparently are gathering force for a fresh onslaught.

Military observers here still cherish the hope that the situation may yet be saved.

Advices received by the French foreign office from the Polish front give the impression that there has been a lull in the fighting and a stabilization of the line during the past two days. The enemy artillery apparently is short of ammunition and there has been delay in bringing up guns and shells to a position from which they can be rushed for the final dash to within shelling range of Warsaw. Aeroplane scouts over the Red line report a heavy movement across the Bug River of stores of ammunition, guns and material of all kinds by the enemy.

Several squadrons of cavalry are reported to have been bivouacking on the same spot for the past 24 hours, resting.

The foreign office has no official confirmation of the report received from Warsaw that Gen. Maxime Weygand, assistant to Marshal Foch, has offered to assume supreme command of the Polish army.

No official Bolshevik communication concerning the fighting was picked up by the Effel Tower Wireless Station from Moscow today. The only message received confined itself to reporting the meeting of the Third Internationale and a protest against "Polish atrocities."

POLISH GOVT. HAS FLED, SAYS REPORT

JOHANNESBURG, East Prussia, Aug. 6.—A report that the Polish Government has fled to Posen, and that the Soviet forces are only forty kilometres from Warsaw is printed in the Johannesberger Zeitung today. The report is alleged to have emanated in Warsaw.

The Warsaw correspondent of the newspaper says that the fall of Warsaw is imminent, that the Bolsheviki are still advancing, and that it is believed they have cut off the escape of the Polish troops into the Polish corridor.

The Johannesburger Zeitung has been receiving private reports from the Russo-Polish fronts which later events proved to be correct.

According to its correspondent in Warsaw, the Polish workers have issued a proclamation, urging the workers to accept Soviet principles. The dispatch says nothing has been heard about an armistice.

TWO FOREST FIRES RAGE IN MANITOBA

WINNIPEG, Aug. 6.—Thousands of dollars worth of timber is burning tonight in two forest fires ranging in Northern Manitoba, one on the east side of Lake Winnipeg, at the head waters of Manigotogan River, and the other on the east side of Lake Winnipegosis, north of Lake Pickerel, according to word received by the Winnipeg office of the Dominion Forest service. The north country is drier than it has been for twenty years, officials said.

The fire on the Manigotogan River spread from fires in the Ontario forest along the Manitoba boundary.

PICNIC AT RONDEAU.

Cedar Springs, Aug. 7.—The annual picnic of the Sunday schools of the Cedar Springs circuit, held at Rondeau Provincial Park, was very largely attended. Much interest centred in a baby show for the members of the cradle roll department, and a baseball match between the Union and the Fourth Line appointments.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

PRICES OF POTATOES ARE ON TOBOGGAN; TOMATOES DOWN ALSO

Heavy Offerings On the Local Market Found Many Buyers.

Although the majority of the farmers of the district are working from dawn until dark to get their crops in, today's fruit and vegetable market was one of the largest of the year. Potatoes were offered in great quantities, and found a ready sale at from $1.75 to $2.25 per bushel, and 40c to 65c a peck. Small potatoes brought $1.25 per bushel. Potato prices are expected to go much lower.

Tomatoes are also coming down steadily. Today they sold wholesale at from 10c to 17c per pound, and from 18c to 22c per pound retail.

Peas were easier. The quotation retail by the quart, shelled, was 35c. Wholesale they brought 30c per quart.

Green corn was offered at 30c to 40c per dozen. The corn offered so far this year is of the very best grades.

Black raspberries brought 33c retail and 30c wholesale. The demand for the black berries is slow.

Red raspberries were firmer at 28c and 30c per box. Next week is expected to wind up the raspberry season.

Apples were offered in large quantities, and by the bushel sold from 50c to 75c. Eleven-quart baskets brought 40c, and box quotations were 7c.

Creamery butter was a little firmer at 64c per pound retail, and from 60c to 62c wholesale.

Eggs were unchanged in price, but the demand is active.

Hogs, fat sows and live ones were unchanged in price.

No oats were offered.

WALL STREET REVIEW.

New York, Aug. 7.—The stock market this week suffered from drastic liquidation and bear selling, which depressed industrial shares 3 to 28 points, with partial recoveries at the end. Constructive factors such as the railroad rate increases, big crops, easier call money and the intention of the railroads to spend $700,000,000 for necessary improvements and equipments had little weight in the face of hurried selling.

The gravity of the Polish situation and the sensational weakness in sterling exchange, which fell 15c, with a recovery of about half the loss, were instrumental in driving down prices to the year's lowest mark. Conjecture as to the earnings and business outlook of various corporations affected by the traffic congestion and fuel shortage, was an influence which also played a part in unsettling confidence. Passing of the American Cotton Oil dividend provoked discussion as to the future dividend policies of other corporations.

Railroads were well sustained, the investment inquiry for these stocks serving to intimidate the shorts in some of the specialties which were reputed to have been oversold.

Leaders in the downward movement comprised the oils, steels, shippings, leather and paper issues.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

New York, Aug. 7—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Speculation was uncertain and business light at the opening of the stock market today. Variations were fractional for the most part. The bullish impulse which was so marked yesterday in special stocks was lacking, but on the other hand, the bear pressure was slight. Bethlehem, Republic, Crucible, Mexican Petroleum and Utah Copper were lower, while Reading, Baltimore and Ohio, American International, Baldwin and Cotton Oil advanced. New York, Chicago and St. Louis, which rumors say is to be taken over by the Delaware and Lackawanna, opened 18 points higher at 53, while Lackawanna improved 6½ to 245.

G. T. R. EARNINGS.

Montreal, Aug. 7.—G. T. R. traffic earnings for the week ending July 31, 1920, $3,837,569; 1919, $3,068,335; increase, $769,234.

MAGISTRATE DEALS OUT PRISON TERMS TO O. T. A. VIOLATORS

William Duncan First To Be Affected by Policy At Windsor.

WINDSOR, Aug. 6.—Magistrate Miers today commenced putting into effect a policy of administering prison terms to violators of liquor laws, as ordered recently by Attorney-General Raney, and promised to mete out harsher terms in future unless the wave of rum running and bootlegging along the border showed signs of betterment.

William Duncan of Petite Cote, who was caught with 48 cases of liquor in an automobile along the river front, was fined $1,000 and costs, together with two months in Sandwich jail, and an alternative of six month in the Ontario Reformatory at Burwash, when he appeared in Windsor police court today. He claimed he was ignorant of doing wrong in transporting whiskey in his possession. It was his first offence.

Several other liquor cases were in the carpet, but were remanded for later hearing.

FALL DOWN STAIRS WAS FATAL TO AGED MAN

Inmate of Chatham House of Refuge Dies of His Injuries.

CHATHAM, Aug. 6.—As the result of a fall from the stairs in the House of Refuge to the tile floor, John Spears, 75 years old, suffered a fractured skull, a broken nose and a hemorrhage from the ears. He was rushed to the general hospital, but died there last evening. It is thought that Spears, who was partially paralyzed, lost his balance and was unable to recover his footing owing to his disability.

They Used To Strap On Spectacles!

Old pictures and collections show grotesque shapes in early spectacles.

In the earliest styles the lenses were round, very large and fastened in a rind of black horn half an inch wide.

They were strapped on with a leather thong over the nose and another about the head. Small wonder wearers of spectacles were ridiculed in those days. Obviously, the adjustment could not have been very good. Such crudeness makes those shudder who appreciate the scientific necessity of delicate, accurate adjustment, as practiced at

DRIVER OF AUTO GUILTY OF WILLFUL NEGLIGENCE

Judge Barron Warns Accused His Sentence Will Be Heavy.

STRATFORD, Aug. 6.—Valentine Weitzel was this morning found guilty by Judge J. A. Barron of willful negligence while driving a motor car on July 4, and causing bodily injury to Mrs. Joseph Satchell. Weitzel was remanded to jail for sentence, and in so doing Judge Barron warned the accused that his sentence would not be a light one. Prisoner was the driver of an auto which struck a buggy in which Mr. and Mrs. Satchell and babe were driving. Mrs. Satchell suffered injuries to her head, a broken collarbone and arm.

GERALD DEMING OF DETROIT DROWNED AT LEAMINGTON FRIDAY

Was Spending Holidays At His Grandparents' Summer Home.

LEAMINGTON, Aug. 6.—Nine-year-old Gerald Deming was drowned this afternoon while swimming in the river just east of the boathouse with two companions. Aid was promptly given and three doctors worked hard to save the boy's life, but without success. The little fellow was spending his holidays with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Deming of Windsor, at their summer home here. He is the only child of the late Gerald Deming, formerly of Leamington, and Mrs. Deming of Detroit.

COUNSEL FOR

Long before 10 o'clock, the hour specified for the inquest, a crowd gathered in front of the little hall, while scores of motor cars from the adjoining countryside were parked along the road nearby. The jury and all connected with the case occupied seats on a small platform, and Helmer arrived under escort from the county jail at Simcoe shortly prior to the opening hour.

Victim's Son Testifies.

A surprise by the crown was the appearance of Gordon Learn from Napoleon, Ohio, son of the tragedy victim, whose whereabouts up until today no one seemed to know. He was called as the first witness, and testified that he last saw his father on New Year's Day, 1920. He informed the crown attorney that the dead man was 67 years of age, and when seen by him prior to his death was in good physical condition, although he showed his years.

A murmur of expectation passed through the hall when Charles Helmer, 15-year-old brother of the accused youth, was called to the stand. He stated that he was engaged as a farm laborer for his mother near Sparta, and that Learn had come to live at the Helmer farm in North Walsingham on August 4, 1919. The witness came to the latter place on Saturday, July 10, where Lorne Helmer and wife and Learn resided. He saw the victim on Saturday and had a talk with him in the house on Monday. On that day in company with the prisoner he went over to see Squire John Abel about getting Learn off the place. Learn informed them that he was going over to the squire's place for the same prupose.

Played Prank on Learn.

Returning the two brothers met Learn riding on a milk truck with William Roney, and the aged victim returned to his room that night, where witness saw him reading a letter. Charles then stated that he plugged the old man's chimney that night for a prank, and that on the morning of July 13 Learn blamed Lorne Helmer for the trick. Accused made Learn take it back, according to a later statement made by him to Charles, who stated that the manner of accomplishment was unknown to him, owing to the fact that he was up on the roof "unplugging the chimney at the time."

In a short time Learn and the two Helmer lads went down a back lane to the woods, together, about 8:30 a.m. Coolly giving evidence the boy described the tragedy as follows: "Learn took down the bars at the gap from the lane to the woods, and Lorne said he did not want the horses to get in on the crops. Learn said he was going to let the horses out, as he thought he was running the place.

Saw Blows Struck.

"Lorne said not to, and Jimmie hauled off and hit Lorne. They were about one yard apart, and I was ten feet away. Lorne then hauled off and hit him some place above the breast. He hit him again. I stood there, watching him and Jimmie fighting it out. The second time Learn fell over. Lorne and I went back to the house, thinking Learn was knocked senseless. He was lying there just mopin.'"

Cross-examined by the crown as to what he meant by the latter statement Charles continued: "He was quivering and shaking, and a little blood came out of his nose." He declared that he and Lorne then drove to Port Rowan to see a lawyer and get a tooth fixed at the dentist's office. He never saw Learn again, and he did not come back to the house that night. Next morning he talked with Lorne. "I did not see anything," he declared, "but thought likely he would be doing away with him. He told me about 11 a.m. that he had buried him near the line. He told me to keep it quiet and not to tell about it."

Did Not Assist in Burial.

The fifteen-year-old witness denied making a statement that he had helped bury the body, and stated that Lorne made no effort whatever to prevent him from giving evidence. Cross-examined by W. E. Kelly, K.C., representing accused, he stated that he and accused did not sleep together on the night of the crime.

Dr. Edward Meek of Port Rowan, was the third witness called by the crown. He stated that Learn's body was partially exhumed from the crude grave when he first saw it. He read his formal report on the post-mortem examination, which, in part, said: "Owing to decomposition external marks of violence could not be distinguished. The mouth contained tobacco, the tracha was not fractured, and all the organs examined were normal."

Death Caused by Shock.

"From my examination," said the medical witness, "the cause of death was shock, due to external violence. Death was sudden, practically instantaneous."

George Alexander of lot 18, concession 8, North Walsingham, was the next to testify, stating that he lived about a quarter of a mile from the scene of the tragedy. He knew the victim had possession of certain writings between Mrs. Helmer and Learn. These were given to witness by the old man to keep for him, and were entered at this point as evidence.

The writings were in the form of an agreement between the two parties, drawn up at Sparta on August 4, 1919, whereby Learn was to rent, with promise of sale, for two years lots 18 and 19, of 50 acres each, of concession 7, North Walsingham Township, Learn was to cultivate same in a husband-like manner, and to keep the farm in repairs. Stock and machinery was reserved, but Learn was to have use of same, "given as recompense for his kindness to me since I knew him." Learn was to pay $50 and taxes for the first year, and the second year $100, with agreement to buy the lots for $2,000, of which $100 was to be cash, and Learn was to live on the premises.

Witness stated that this document was left with him by Learn one month ago It was signed by Mary Ann Helmer, mother of Lorne and Charles.

Alarmed at Absence.

Witness informed the coroner that he had dinner with Learn on July 12, when the old man visited him, and he engaged him to go to work for Roy Marshall on Tuesday, July 13, and for himself on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. He did not show up as promised, and he never saw him alive again; consequently, he was worried. He went to Lorne and Charles Helmer about the absence of Learn, and one of them (he could not swear which), told him Learn had gone out by the road and had not returned. About three weeks before this accused had told witness that he threatened to kick the old man off the place, when County Constable Roy Marshall had served Helmer with papers issued by the victim to vacate the premises. He told witness it made him so angry that he shook the old man.

Dispute Over Farm Upkeep.

Cross-examined by Helmer's counsel, Alexander admitted that he knew there was a dispute over the damage done to the farm and fences to be kept up, and he was personally aware that "the old man did not do what was right in the upkeep of the farm." The witness produced Learn's diary, found about July 15, but this was not read. the crown attorney, however, deciding to retain it for future use.

Thomas Murphy, the last witness called, stated that there was no doubt of identification of the body. The prisoner, through his counsel, declined the invitation of the crown attorney to give evidence, and the latter then asked for a committment. W. E. Kelly, K.C., pleaded for a reduction of the charge to one of manslaughter, citing other cases as precedents, to which the crown attorney successfully objected.

In his address to the jurors, Coroner McGilvery stated that there were two probable causes of death. One was as a result of shock to the nervous system directly, and the other due to sudden dilation of the arteries. The fact that tobacco was found in the victim's mouth at the post-mortem indicated that Learn was instantly killed, because had death been lingering, with hemorrhage and vomiting, the tobacco would have been expelled. The condition of the heart in the body also pointed to a sudden demise. He pointed out that the degree of the charge against Helmer was not for them to determine, but they had to decide the manner of Learn's death.

The prisoner chatted with an Advertiser reporter after his committment, and informed him that he enlisted in the 133rd Norfolk County Battalion, and served in France as a member of the 42nd Canadian Battalion Ammunition Column. He declined an invitation to be snapped by The Advertiser cameraman, although his younger brother, Charles, chief witness in the case for the crown, readily accepted the invitation, posing several times for the photographer.

Shoup Murder Recalled.

One member of the coroner's jury, of which William McIntosh acted as foreman, J. W. Kreiss, was a brother-in-law of Christian Shoup, aged miller, who was murdered by Emerson Shelly in 1915, within a stone's throw of the scene of the Learn tragedy. Shelly was later hanged for his crime, and was committed for trial on the murder charge by John Abel, J. P., who today committed Lorne Helmer.

One of the main crown witnesses against Emerson Shelly in 1915 was present at the hearing today. Provincial Detective John Miller, who ran down clues in the Learn case and arrested Helmer, has acted in his present capacity for 26 years, during which he has participated in many similar cases and provided important crown evidence at the various trials held throughout the province.

W. R. McDonald, assisted Crown Attorney Slaght in conducting the prosecution, and David E. Kelly assisted his father at the hearing in the interests of the accused.

Helmer was brought back to the Norfolk County jail at Simcoe this afternoon, where he will be held for trial at the autumn assizes next October. The hearing and coroner's inquest this morning were combined to expedite matters, the evidence of witness who were sworn in twice being taken in duplicate.
