POLICE EXPECT TRUE BILL IN WILSON CASE

Los Angeles Authorities Proceeding With Trial of Former London Evangelist.

PRISONER UNPERTURBED Securities Taken From the Accused's Safety Deposit Vault Are Checked.

(By Direct Wire to The London Advertiser.)

Los Angeles, Jan. 20.—Whether Herbert L. Wilson, former London pastor, and his alleged confederate, Herbert R. Cox, will be held in the special charge that on the night of November 3 last, at the corner of First and Alameda streets, they participated in the daring robbery of a United States mail truck and a violent assault upon Nelson Grimes, the driver, is being decided by the federal grand jury which met at 10 o'clock this morning and at 2 o'clock this afternoon was still in session.

There is no doubt in the minds of the police or court officials but that a true bill will be returned but it is considered problematical whether an indictment will actually be brought in today and the consensus of opinion of all quarters is that several hearings may yet ensue before a final decision is rendered.

The appearance of both Cox and Wilson for preliminary hearing in United States Commissioner Long's court this morning as the grand jury was meeting was of little significance. With the latter body in session nothing could be accomplished.

Cox was brought into the court first, but after a few moments' delay, was hurried back to the county jail, departing just as Wilson arrived handcuffed to United States Deputy Marshal Walter Williams.

Wilson Remains Calm. After a brief wait while the post-office authorities conferred with United States District Attorney Herron, Wilson was also returned to the county jail to wait the opinion of the grand jury.

Up until the present time Cox has not been called upon and the belief is that although it is now acknowledged he has made certain statements considered by the police to be of great importance, he will not take the stand until the government presents its case at the forthcoming trial.

Never since has timely arrest and near "get-a-way" three weeks ago has the former London evangelist shown such remarkable composure as he did today in Commissioner Long's court.

At intervals since his apprehension he has been subject to grueling cross-examinations but has never once, the police admit, acknowledged by word or action his participation in any one of the various robberies last year totalling $3,000,000 in different cities along the coast, that have been credited to him as leader of a gang with a nationwide reputation.

No further action has yet been taken with respect to the third man, Lacey, who is also at the county jail following his arrest more than a week ago, as a member of the Wilson band. While the search is still being maintained in the East for Lewis Wilson, brother of Herbert, and said to be the custodian of hundreds of thousands of dollars stolen by himself and pals, two other suspects have long since vanished across the border in the general direction of Tia Juana, and although sharp look-out is kept at border points, the chances of their immediate capture are now considered indeed slim.

Securities Are Checked. This morning Commissioner Long, Postoffice Inspector Cookson and Assistant U. S. Attorney Herron, visited the local bank where the money and securities taken from Wilson's safe deposit box at the time of his arrest and checked over the holdings that are now in the hands of the government.

Attorney Silverstein, one of the Wilson attorneys, announced at noon today that following the latest move by the government, the previous motion to reduce Wilson's bond of $100,000 will not be pressed.

When the grand jury opened this morning Nelson Grimes, who drove the mail car that was held up and robbed on the night of November 3 last, at the corner of First and Alameda streets, related the occurrence in detail up until the moment that he was assaulted and rendered unconscious.

He stated that loot to the approximate value of $750,000 was taken by the "stick-up" men. His description of the latter the police aver tallies with that of the Wilsons and their alleged associates.

Other witnesses who were called this morning were Aldro Denier, Henry Davies and J. R. Alexander.

ROBBERS GIVEN LIFE SENTENCES Toronto, Jan. 20.—Imprisonment in the penitentiary for life was the sentence imposed today on Andrew Sachuk and John Kapulinsky, for the robbery of the branch of the Bank of Montreal here on October 18 last. The court postponed sentence on Sam Seniloff, who was also convicted. The other two prisoners had made affidavits to the effect that Seniloff had nothing to do with the robbery.

JOINT MEETING OF RAIL UNIONS FAILS IN AIMS

A. R. Mosher, President of Canadian Body, Detained in Montreal.

FEW MEMBERS ATTEND

International Organization Official Alleges "Certain Moves in the Dark."

The failure of A. R. Mosher, of Montreal, president of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, to reach London as expected for the general mass meeting in the Labor Temple Thursday night, prevented what had been predicted as a final "show-down" in Canada, between the national organization which he heads and the international body, the Brotherhood of Railroad and Steamship Clerks and Freight Handlers, with headquarters in the United States.

A. C. Hay, of Ottawa, vice-president of the latter brotherhood, arrived in London on Thursday afternoon and attended the scheduled meeting, which for certain reasons did not measure up to fullest expectations.

M. S. Carr, of East St. Louis, Ill., representing the B. of R. and S. C., throughout the Dominion of Canada, which body is affiliated with the "Big Four" Brotherhoods of America, lays unqualified blame, as he can discern it at this moment, for the failure of Thursday's meeting upon certain of the local representatives of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, headed by Mosher.

C. P. R. Men Transfer. But a few days ago the Canadian Pacific clerks and freight handlers turned over to a man to the international organization, and Local No. 1485 as inaugurated.

In the local Canadian National shops and offices are two unions, one national and one international. When Representative Carr announced earlier in the week that he would endeavor to weld the members of the two unions into one, he was told, he explains by Mosher's officials in the city, "not to worry about the matter," as they would notify all their members, and incidentally, advised that they would bring to the city for a joint debate, in the hopes of an amicable understanding, no less a person than their president, A. R. Mosher.

It developed that A. R. Mosher failed to appear, without the information, it is said, that he was "held up" in Montreal on business. On Friday morning Vice-President Hay, of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks and Freight Handlers, returned to Ottawa, somewhat disappointed over the turn of affairs.

While a trifle unwilling to attach direct blame upon any of the members of the local national organization, M. S. Carr feels that on the face of things there has ensued "certain moves in the dark." He fully believes, until convinced otherwise, that some of the members of the Brotherhood of Railway Employees were cautioned to remain away from the general mass meeting on Thursday, which accounted for a rather poor attendance.

Meet Again Monday. Another meeting has been called for Monday night next, however, in the K. of P. hall, when the question of the differences between the two rival organizations will be thoroughly discussed.

Since the expulsion of the union by the Dominion Trades Congress in Winnipeg in 1921, the local C. B. of R. E. necessarily have not been allowed seats in the local trades and labor council.

While one of the main arguments emanating from the C. B. of R. E. is that too much money is being contributed to the headquarters across the line, the representatives of the international body claims that three times as much money is sent to Canada from the American unions to pay strike benefits and the like than is ever paid here by the members of the union.

WOMAN DYING FROM ANTHRAX

New York, Jan. 20.—(Canadian Press).—A woman's death from anthrax in Brooklyn was traced yesterday to a shaving brush, which she used to lather her husband's neck.

The victim was Mrs. Borghild Meland, 22, of 525 Fifth Street, Brooklyn. She died in the Kingsboro Avenue Hospital after a sudden seizure with the mysterious ailment. Dr. William Jacobson of the health department made an investigation.

It shows one of the most peculiar cases in medical annals. Singularly enough the husband was not affected. A tiny pimple on Mrs. Meland's left cheek had become infected on Christmas Day, when she aided her husband to shave, the physician found, Belgian Minister of War Discusses Anglo-Belgian Agreement.

Brussels, Jan. 20.—M. Devezze, minister of war, talking today to the Anglo-Belgian agreement, expressed the hope that it soon would make a tripartite agreement by taking in France.

Concerning doubts that recently have been circulated in Belgium, with regard to the efficacy of British intervention on behalf of Belgium, the minister declared history had shown that Great Britain when she made engagements kept them, using all the force at her command. Concerning the alleged slowness of Great Britain's intervention in 1914, M. Devezze declared that the situation had changed—Belgium's defence being better organized and Great Britain having immense quantities of materials and reserves at her disposal.

The minister said he considered the Anglo-Belgian pact constituted an element of considerable safety to Belgium and to European peace, without in the slightest diminishing Belgium's liberty. He added, however, that the country must make the necessary sacrifices. This would in nowise imply a show of militarism.

DISLIKE ACTIONS OF LIQUOR BODY

Members of Quebec Legislative Assembly Demand Changes in Commission.

Quebec, Jan. 20.—Canadian Press.—The Quebec Chronicle says: "That some of the members of the Quebec Legislative Assembly are beginning to kick over the traces as regards the activities of the Quebec liquor commission, was manifest yesterday afternoon when sixteen members waited on Premier Taschereau before the sitting of the house, and demanded certain changes.

The fact that the meeting was not altogether a love-feast was evident from the fact that the interview delayed the premier from arriving at his seat in the house, and as a result the meeting was twenty minutes late in starting.

The members did not mince words in voicing their grievances, and one member, like Salome of old, demanded a head. He wanted the head of Hon. George Simard, chairman of the liquor commission. After lingering as long as he could with the irate members, the premier told them that the house was sitting, and he said that they would be given full opportunity to air their grievances at a caucus of the Liberal party, which will be held next week.

INSANE PRISONER IN N. Y. JAIL KILLS CONSTABLE

New York, Jan. 20.—A crazed negro, awaiting examination as to his sanity, last night shot and mortally wounded Patrolman Otto W. Motz, in a rear room of the West One Hundred and Twenty-Third street police station. Motz, who had a wife and two children, died in less than an hour. He had been shot with his own gun. A second killing was averted when the gun misfired. Patrolman John Halter was the second intended victim. In the room when Motz was shot he leaped at the negro as he stood over his victim's body. The maniac wheeled about, pressed the weapon against Halter's abdomen, and pulled the trigger.

The negro, who later gave the name of Frank Whaley, was subdued after a terrific fight, in which a score of policemen beat him down.

FINANCE BOARD TO CUT PRICES OF RESIDENCES

Will Offer Commission-Built Dwellings At $4,560 and $3,100.

SEEKS AID OF REALTORS

Decides On Effort To Dispose of Properties as Soon as Possible.

The selling price of the Garfield avenue houses of the Housing Commission is to be $4,560, and the Pine Lawn houses, $3,100.

The above prices were agreed to by the Housing Commission and Finance Committee of the city council on Thursday night. The cut is a little better than 20 per cent.

There are 36 houses in all to be sold, 22 at Pine Lawn and 14 at Garfield, besides 10 lots, and the balance of the Pine Lawn land.

The reductions in price mean a loss to the city of more than $30,000, the cut on the actual cost exceeding that amount. Besides there is the accrued interest for over a year on each Pine Lawn lot at 5 per cent and Garfield Avenue at 6 1/2 per cent. About $140,000 is involved and the deficit close to will bring the total deficit close to $40,000, or about two-thirds of a million on the tax rate.

The city has one chance to reduce the loss, the 104 Pine Lawn lots which are in question have been advanced to $250 for a 36-foot lot—these may be disposed of at a profit. Commissioner Hessel of the Housing Commission pointed out that the money invested in these lots would have to be returned to the provincial housing body, having been advanced by them, but any profit could be used to reduce the city's loss. Selling the lots at $10 a foot would reduce the city's loss by $14,000.

Erected at High Costs. Chairman Hessel, at the opening of the meeting, stated that the houses in question were erected at a time when costs were at the peak. Prices have now fallen and the proposal was to cut the prices and get the houses sold.

Chairman Childs of the Finance Committee asked why 36 houses were being sold when there was no buyer for them?

Ald. Watkinson replied that they would have been sold had prices remained up. The houses were built to relieve the housing shortage and to keep people in the city.

Mr. Hessel stated that the mortgage companies would not advance small loans for the erection of homes which brought the return from Mr. Childs that their judgment seems to have been pretty good.

"Selfish, but not good for relieving the housing shortage," said Mr. Hessel.

City Clerk Baker stated that a list of the cost prices of Pine Lawn houses showed the run of the prices to be $3,700, $3,800, $3,900 and up to $4,200. The average was from $3,700 to $3,900, which would make an average of $3,800 and selling them at $3,100 will mean a $700 cut. This makes the total cut on the 32 houses in the vicinity of $16,000. The loss on interest paid will have to be added to get the net loss and the selling price of the city will be $3,100 plus selling commission. While the cost to purchasers will be the latter figure plus the cost of a furnace and electric fixtures.

Would Not Sell at $5,100. The city clerk said that the cost of the Garfield avenue houses ran from $5,700 to $5,900, or an average of $5,800. These houses were recently offered at $5,100 and did not prove attractive at that figure. The new price is to be $4,560, which means a cut of $1,730, plus the interest. The selling conditions of these houses will be the same as the Pine Lawn.

It was decided to place the sale of the properties in the hands of all the realty men of the city in an effort to get them sold as quickly as possible.

Following the meeting, the finance committee, Chairman Hessel and ex-chairman J. W. Cunliffe, met and decided that in regard to the Pine Lawn houses they would make the price of the four-roomed houses $3,100 and would ask $200 more for the five-roomed houses. This will reduce the loss on these houses by a small amount, perhaps $1,000.

W. C. KENNEDY PLAINTIFF IN LAND SALE ACTION Windsor, Jan. 20.—Hon. W. C. Kennedy, minister of railways and canals in the Liberal cabinet, is the plaintiff in an action brought against Gundy & Gundy, local realtors, which is being heard before Mr. Justice Miller in the supreme court at Sandwich today.

Mr. Kennedy is asking for an accounting of the proceeds from the sale of lots in a subdivision in Sandwich West township, in which he holds a one quarter interest.

WARNS YOUTHS TO TELL TRUTH AT LESLIE TRIAL

Toronto Judge Aroused by Conflicting Testimony in Murder Case.

PHYSICIANS TAKE STAND Collins Testifies He Gave London Woman Accused of Murder $10.

BULLETIN. The case of Mrs. Louise Leslie of London, who is up on a charge of performing an illegal operation, will go before the jury late today and the verdict may be brought in tonight.

Mrs. Leslie showed evidence of strong emotion at court this morning and at one time broke down altogether, having to be put in the care of a policeman for a time. The defence addressed the jury this morning, making a strong plea on behalf of the children of the accused.

TORONTO, Jan. 19.—Conflicting testimony given by Norman Urquhart and John Collins today in the trial of Mrs. Louise Leslie of London, Ont., on a charge of murder in connection with the death of Eileen Lyons of Toronto, led to a warning by Justice Riddell that should charges of perjury be proven against them he could send them to the penitentiary for life.

Certain statements made by both men were shown by W. K. Murphy, counsel for the defence, to be different from evidence given at the inquest and preliminary hearing in police court.

Miss Eileen Lyons, a stenographer, died on Nov. 13 in the General Hospital, following an operation, which it is alleged Mrs. Leslie performed. Only three witnesses remain to be heard tomorrow. The trial, which lasted all day, attracted a large crowd.

Pale and nervous and with tear-stained eyes, Mrs. Leslie took her place in the dock. She was attired in a dark blue costume and green hat and followed the selection of the jury with evident interest.

Mrs. Hannah Lyons, mother of the deceased, disclaimed any ante-mortem knowledge of her daughter's condition.

Found Blood-Poisoning. Dr. Alfred Belfry stated that when called to see Miss Lyons on Nov. 8 he found signs of blood-poisoning, which might have been due to fever or influenza. Three days later he decided she was suffering from peritonitis and had her removed to the hospital.

Dr. Alex. McKay, who was called on Nov. 1, testified that he thought at that time she was suffering from a severe cold. He made no physical examination, but her symptoms then might have been compatible with an operation performed on the previous Saturday, he testified.

That Miss Lyons died from puerperal septicemia, was the testimony given by Dr. A. J. Harrison, who made the post-mortem examination. The evidence of Norman Urquhart was, in the main, a repetition of that given at the inquest. He repeated that a man named Collins had been responsible for the introduction of Miss Lyons to a woman alleged to be Mrs. Leslie, and that the two Turn to Page 13, Column 4.

G. R. TAGGART SEES NEW ERA OF PROSPERITY

American Consul Believes Spring Will Mark Dawn of Better Conditions.

BACK FROM WASHINGTON

Reports Note of Optimism Abounds Among Officials of U. S. Capital.

Giles Russell Taggart, American consul in the London district, has just returned from a six weeks' stay in Washington, where he had been interviewing the heads of the different departments of the American Government regarding the consular work in this district. He conferred with the authorities of the commerce department concerning business relations between the United States and Canada as they affected this district, sought information from the department of the interior about income tax, and cleared up certain immigration difficulties.

The stay of the consul in Washington permitted him to observe at close range the general atmosphere of the American capital during the great arms parley of the nations, now in progress.

On New Year's Day the consul met President Harding, and during his stay interviewed Samuel Crompton, head of the American Federation of Labor, and talked with ex-President Taft.

Optimism Abounds. There abounds in all departments of the American Government, said Mr. Taggart, a pronounced note of optimism concerning business and industrial conditions in the republic. All are hopefully looking forward to a revival of trade and the opening up of business on a broader scale in the spring of 1922.

The arms parley, which has summoned people of every class and description to Washington, lends a different aspect to the capital, in Mr. Taggart's opinion.

Though the influx of delegates and others has swollen to the greatest extent a transient population, always comparatively large, there was no profiteering in hotel rates, nor yet any advance in the cost of living, a cost which, however, is greater than in Canada, ordinarily, said Mr. Taggart.

A comparison of the price of different foodstuffs had shown him, he said, that the only article which was lower in Canada, even despite the rate of exchange, was coffee, which could be had cheaper here than in Washington.

Attended Senate Hearing. At the time during which Mr. Taggart was visiting Washington, the American Senate was debating one of the most sensational political cases in recent years. Mr. Taggart attended the hearing.

A great number of wrong impressions prevail in the United States concerning the climate of Canada and other things. It will be one of the big concerns of the consulate to correct these, which it does whenever occasion presents itself.

The "Lady of the Snows" as a poetical title for Canada, may be all right, but it gives a very wrong impression, said Mr. Taggart.

The things accomplished by his trip, Mr. Taggart believes, will materially aid him in carrying on his consular work, to the furthering of the most cordial relations between this country and the United States.

MEXICO CITY CARMEN STRIKE TO AID BAKERS

Mexico City, Jan. 19.—The street car motormen and conductors of Mexico City have declared a partial strike in sympathy with the bakers, whose absence from their ovens since Tuesday, has put the capital on short bread rations.

Beginning tomorrow no cars will be operated during the early hours of the morning. This program will be followed for ten days, after which the carmen plan a complete strike, unless the bakers by that time are satisfied.

There is no indication that any other unions contemplate sympathy strike action. Bread for Mexico City is being brought in by train from Puebla and outlying cities.

Police Search For Sender of Letter With Deadly Contents.

Toronto, Jan. 20.—It has not yet been determined by the police whether the poisonous package, sent in a letter, which killed Anderson Buchanan, was mailed or delivered to his home at 228 Riverdale avenue. The police yesterday spent most of the day trying to clear up this point.

"We do not know how the letter was delivered at the house," said sergeant of detectives Cronin, who has charge of the case. "I asked Mrs. Buchanan yesterday when I interviewed her, and she told me she was ready to go into the witness box and swear that the envelope had a two cent stamp on it, the postmark 'Toronto' stamped on it. Beyond this we have no other information as yet regarding how the letter got into the house."

Chief of detectives Guthrie stated that the detectives had interviewed a young woman yesterday, who is a friend of Mr. Buchanan's, that the woman stated that she had no knowledge of anything concerning the envelope or the delivery of it.

The impression the police received from the young woman was that she appeared to be quite honest in telling her story and answering the questions and showed no hesitancy in telling all about herself.

So far the police have been unable to locate the origin or manufacturers of any so-called beauty powders that should be taken into consideration by the police in connection with the case but refused to disclose why they are anxious to locate her.

ENGLISH FARMERS END LABOR CRISIS

Break Deadlock by Agreeing To Pay Workers 15 Cents an Hour.

London, Jan. 20.—(Canadian Press Cable).—The deadlock between the National Union of Farmers and the Agricultural Laborers Union as a result of a dispute over the question of wages to be paid this year, has been broken, according to a statement of a representative of the former.

The average rate of pay agreed upon is 15 cents per hour, and this, it is understood, is not likely to be reduced. A 48-hour week agreed upon for the months of January and February will probably be extended to 50 hours in March and April, and later, in some counties, 54 hours may constitute the week. A fixed rate for 48 hours is being made, beyond which overtime is to be paid, and extra time allowed for Sunday work.

A comparison between the wages paid agricultural workers in the United States and Great Britain showed that for 1921 the average in the former was 42s 9d per week, against 42s 6d in the latter.

Great Throng Assembles Outside Vatican To Await Latest News.

PRAYERS ARE OFFERED Head of the Roman Catholic Church Stricken With Bronchial Affection.

Rome, Italy, Jan. 20.—At 2 o'clock today physicians attached to the Holy See intimated that His Holiness Pope Benedict XV. was in a dying condition.

A great throng assembled in St. Peter's early in the forenoon to await news from the Vatican.

The Eucharist was solemnly carried to the pontiff at 11:30 o'clock, and in the presence of eighteen cardinals the Holy Sacrament was placed in the Palatine Chapel.

Prayers were said in all Catholic schools, and all business at the Vatican was suspended.

The grave condition of Pope Benedict is the result of the spread of the inflammation which had been confined to the bronchial tubes to the right lung.

The pontiff's respiration is becoming difficult.

Professor Bignami was called at 3 a.m., when the change in condition became marked. He returned again at 7 o'clock with Professor Marchisaglia, and they went into consultation with Dr. Battistini and Dr. Cherubini. Afterwards a bulletin signed by all was issued, reading: His holiness passed a sleepless, agitated night. The inflammation reached the right lung last night. Respiration is difficult. Temperature, 38 Centigrade (100 Fahrenheit); pulse, 102; respiration, 38."

Cardinal Giacomo Della Chiesa assumed the name of Benedict XV. when he was elected pope by the sacred college, Sept. 3, 1914, in succession to Pius X.

Benedict XV. was Archbishop of Bologna when he was elected pope. He was born at Regli, in the Diocese of Genoa, Nov. 21, 1854, and was ordained a priest Dec. 21, 1878. He served as secretary of the Nonciature in Spain from 1883 until 1887, later being appointed secretary to Cardinal Rampolla.

The pontiff was appointed substitute secretary of state in 1901, and in 1907 was elected to the post of adviser to the Holy office.

In 1907 he was appointed papal nuncio of Madrid in succession to Mgr. Rinaldi, but this appointment was cancelled three days later. This incident occurred just before he was made Archbishop of Bologna.

There have been two hundred and fifty-seven pontiffs from St. Peter until the election of Benedict XV. in 1914.

Hamilton, Jan. 20.—It was learned this morning that arrangements have been made by the defence in the Martine Bullock case that if the appeal against deportation, which is at present pending, fails and Bullock is sent back to New York state, he will be immediately arrested by the Buffalo police on a technical charge. This action has been taken in order to provide plenty of time for the defence to communicate with Governor Miller, of New York, and to assure that Bullock cannot be railroaded out of New York state by the Norlina authorities without waiting for the observance of formalities. Should the appeal succeed, Controller Trevelyan will immediately endeavor to secure Bullock's release from jail, where he is held at the request of the Carolina authorities, by writ of habeas corpus. The mode of procedure has operated successfully in previous cases of similar character.

INDICATES NEED OF COURT FOR CITY JUVENILES

Inspector Kelly of Children's Aid Society Presents Annual Report.

DELINQUENCIES INCREASE

Records Show 362 Juveniles Appeared in Local Court in 1921.

Direct necessity of a Juvenile Court is indicated in the annual report given by Inspector Kelly of the Children's Aid Society. "The need of a Juvenile Court is urgent," Inspector Kelly stated, and the amount of juvenile delinquency reported throughout the year gives his assertion a strong backing. The report reads:—

"The records show that 362 juveniles appeared before the court in the year ending November 30, 1921. The number for the previous year was 251. The need of a juvenile court is urgent, but all we can say is that we hope it is a little nearer to establishment than a year ago. The court attendances of your officers numbered 358 and cases were followed up to the limit of our capacity.

Offences committed by juveniles during the year were for theft, 52; breaking, entering and theft, 17; disorderly conduct, 53; damage to property, 19; vagrancy, 9; trespassing, 2; truancy, 10; assault, 13; playing ball on street, 35; smoking cigarettes, 2; breach of motor act, 4; discharging fire crackers on street, 5; breach of bylaw, 68; neglected children, 30, making a total of 362; dispositions: committed to industrial schools, 16; sent to reformatory, 42; fined, 75; discharged, 17; warning, 9; discharged, 32; withdrawn, 8; committed to Children's Aid Society, 18; committed to soldiers' aid commission, 12, making a total of 362.

The following figures indicate the number of children who came under the society's immediate care during the year in shelter beginning of year 41, in Mount St. Joseph, 3, in Salvation Army, 5, returned from foster-homes, 26, neglected and dependent children received, 91, children received from juvenile court, 24, received from soldiers' aid commission, 13, making a total of 203.

Try to Improve Conditions.
"It is well known that the Children's Aid Society uses the powers conferred on it by the children's protective act of Ontario, to remove children from unfit homes, to provide a last recourse. Every possible means are first employed to improve conditions in the home and to awaken parents to a sense of their responsibility.

"The fact that in connection with 491 complaints received and 1,008 investigations made, and the giving of 491 warnings (involving an average of 273 children each month of the year), in the cases of only 35 of these children was it found necessary to take action leading to commitment to the society's guardianship by court order. Twenty of these were committed to the Middlesex society and fifteen to the London society.

"In addition to these 35 children, a number of wards were returned to the society's care, and altogether, a total of 54 placements of children in foster homes were made, being 15 more than in the previous year.

"We have at the present time in wards' savings accounts, balances to the amount of $1,699.49.

Take Children for Year.

"The new adoption act, passed by the Ontario Legislature in 1921, has placed the society in the position to make over absolutely the guardianship of children to foster-parents who have taken children in the spirit of adoption, and have charge of such children for at least one year to the satisfaction of the society's officers.

"Such provision and assurance has long been needed in connection with the home-finding operations of the society.

"The act for the protection of the children of unmarried parents, also passed by the Provincial Legislature in 1921, is unquestionably an enactment which, if properly enforced, will to a considerable extent solve the problem of the child born out of wedlock. We trust that the Ontario government will follow up this piece of legislation by an adequate provision for its enforcement, so that it will be financially possible for the local societies to give it effect.

To Enforce Act.
"The enforcement of the Act has been placed in the hands of Mr. J. J. Kelso, provincial superintendent of neglected and dependent children, who has appointed the inspectors of Children's Aid Societies throughout the province as local officers. We have at the present time eleven cases under advisement. Several cases have been settled out of court, for which proceeding the Act makes provision.

During the past year the following dispositions were made:
Placed in foster-homes, 54; placed in institutions, 2; returned to parents, 72; placed in institutions, 6; returned to outside society, 3; died, 2; Soldiers' Aid Commission, 19; died, 2; in St. Joseph end of year, 12; in Protestant Orphan's Home end of year, 2; in Salvation Army Home end of year, 1; in shelter end of year, 27. Making a total of 203.

The number of children receiving immediate care, 203, is an advance of 31 over the previous year.
Total number under care, 203; in institutions, private homes, 36; cared for in shelter, 167 additional returns within the year, 33; number of periods of stay in shelter, 200; number of days passed by children in shelter, 932; average length of stay in shelter, 46 days; average number of children in shelter, 26.
The shelter was, therefore, emptied almost eight times in the course of the year.
"In our efforts to help the neglected child, the underprivileged boy and girl, we are trying always to build for the future—to give the care and control at the present time that will count for future good citizenship and community welfare.

ELECT OFFICERS OF ORANGE ORDER

Royal Scarlet Chapter Name 1922 Executive.

Royal Scarlet Chapter of the Loyal Orange Lodge in London held their annual election of officers at an enthusiastic and well-attended meeting Wednesday night. J. W. Carson, county master, presided over the election. The installation of the new officers followed immediately upon their election, the officers being installed by C. W. Cross, district master. The meeting was held in Orange Hall, and was well attended.

The following are the newly elected and installed officers: J. T. Todd, worshipful companion in command; Wm. B. Savage, past worshipful companion in command; Ivan A. Thatcher, E. C. in C.; Nelson Langford, chaplain; E. J. Bessas, scribe; H. O. David, treasurer; William McFadden, herald at arms; C. W. Cross, first lecturer; Jas. Berry, second lecturer; Wm. Black, first conductor; J. Kildare, second lecturer; H. Clements, inside herald; Jas. E. Welch, outside herald; Companions Johnston, Walker, and Murray acted as scrutineers.

AGRICULTURISTS ELECT OFFICERS

Dr. G. A. Routledge Again Heads East Middlesex Association.

Members of the East Middlesex Agricultural Association unanimously re-elected Dr. G. A. Routledge of Lambeth as their president, at an annual meeting of the organization, held Thursday afternoon in the Western Fair rooms in the Dominion Savings Building.

Much of the time of the meeting was taken up with the laying of organization plans to be carried out during 1922, and with the routine business of the association.

It was decided that there would be a field crop competition of white oats at the next Western Fair. The auditors' report, presented at the meeting, showed that after paying all expenses, $129 has been left to pay to the Western Fair association.

The annual meeting was well attended and was presided over by Dr. Routledge.

FIRE DEMOLISHES CARMEN'S SHANTY

Three thousand dollars' damage was done by fire at 2:30 o'clock this morning when a blaze started in some oil-soaked waste in the carmen's shanty in the Grand Trunk station platform.

Although no merchandise was stored in the building, the tools and apparatus in the building, together with the shanty itself, brought the total loss to $3,000.

Firemen prevented the flames spreading to the adjoining freight building, which was packed with valuable baggage.

RAILROAD WORKERS JOIN AMERICAN BODY

Both Canadian Pacific and Canadian National employees who are members of the International Brotherhood of Railroad and Steamship Clerks and Freight Handlers met in general session at the Labor Temple on Thursday night. Several visiting and local officers will address the gathering, including S. S. Carr, the brotherhood's representative in Canada.

The recent organization of the C. P. R. employees practically marks the termination in London of the national organization, the Brotherhood of Railway Employees under A. R. Mosher. Apparently the local workers have concluded that it will be more conducive to their interests to affiliate with the "Big Four" international rail brotherhoods rather than with a national body.

SPARK SHOWERS ALARM GUESTS
Quite a volume of sparks flying from a low-set chimney of the Tecumseh House down onto Richmond street a little after 10 o'clock last night, sent a call for the fire department, the first impression being that the large hotel was afire.

COUNCIL HEARS
PLEA FOR FINED
CITY DRUGGISTSMay Take Action As Result of Chamber of Commerce Communication.

WILL INTERVIEW POLICE

Mayor Wilson Describes the Action of Constables as
"Petty Persecution."

"It's petty persecution, all right," said Mayor Wilson, Thursday night, at a meeting of the finance committee while discussing police prosecutions of drug stores for Sunday selling.

The matter came before the committee in a letter from Gordon Philip, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. The letter condemned the action of the police and found ready response from the members of the committee.

The communication read as follows:

"A number of our members, including members of the medical profession, see grave danger in the continued prosecution of city druggists for petty infringement of the city bylaws, which seem lately to have been considered necessary by the city police."

"It was pointed out that retaliation in the matter of closing on Sunday would be very much in the interest of the druggists and might be rather a serious matter for the city."

"I was requested, therefore, to write to you, suggesting that this matter be looked into immediately as it is alleged that there has been undue and unnecessary activity on the part of the police recently, which, if continued, is likely to lead to conditions which will certainly not be to the advantage of the city."

"Absolutely right," said Ald. Judd. "It's petty persecution, all right," said Mayor Wilson, "it's all right to live up to the law, but this is unnecessary."

"They have been after them if they sold a chocolate bar," said Ald. Judd.

Ald. Childs told the committee to remember that the police were continually receiving complaints in regard to druggists selling cigars. "Nevertheless," he added, "it has never paid a druggist to keep his store open on Sundays, and he shouldn't be held down too closely. If a small customer wants a small article, it's pretty hard not to accommodate him with something else. He told the committee that if it had not been for him, the druggists in the city would already have closed up on Sunday. He fought it and got them to wait for a while."

Sees Serious Situation.

"It's going to be serious for the medical profession," said Mayor Wilson, "if the druggists are forced to close. The medical men frequently need drugs and if they are not able to get them, it will mean hardship."

Ald. Judd remarked that it looked of late as if they were making a run on one druggist.

Ald. Childs, in stating that he could appreciate the position of the police, added that the prosecution of the Standard Drug staff for taking stock on Sunday was pretty "small stuff."

The matter was left in the hands of the mayor who will take it up when the police commission meets.

City Solicitor T. G. Meredith wrote in regard to the proposed election act amendments. Mayor Wilson outlined in his inaugural address. The solicitor pointed out that such amendments would not relate to London only and he suggested that a petition be sent to the legislature asking for changes in the general law, rather than submitting the matter in the city of London bill. He expressed the opinion that the legislature would not grant special election legislation effective in this city only. However, if the council desired,

Londoner Reports Activities of Near East Relief WorkersMiss E. Thom of 167 Grey Street Declares Helpless Are Constantly Menaced by Empty Larders and Empty Fuel Bins in Famine-Stricken Areas.

New York, Jan. 20.—The spectres of empty larders, medical chests and fuel bins are constantly before Canadian workers of the Near East Relief in the famine areas of trans-Caucasian Russia, according to Miss Elizabeth A. Thom of 167 Grey street, London, Ont., whose report on the situation in Alexandropol, Armenia, was received today by Charles V. Vickrey, general secretary of the relief organization, with headquarters here.

Miss Thom, who served for five years with the Imperial Canadian forces in France, is chief nurse at the Polycon Orphanage, Alexandropol, where almost half of the 20,000 homeless youngsters under Canadian care in the city are sheltered. She is a graduate of the Victoria Hospital Training School for Nurses, London.

Though the Canadian woman paints an optimistic picture of the prospects for the winter, she qualifies her statements with the provision that sufficient food, medicine and fuel must be kept constantly on hand, no small task in a country where the first two items must be shipped in from North America and where one can go for miles without seeing a tree.

Besides the oil from the wells at Baku, now practically closed down, wood is the only available fuel in that region.

"If the supplies continue to come in, we should be able to carry on satisfactorily," Miss Thom states in her report. "The hospitals are in better condition than ever before though the supply of medicine is limited. A number of our children died because we were unable to procure the necessary drugs to fight the diseases from which they were suffering."

"Shortly after the commission from Canada visited us, early in the fall, we took in more children, as they were crowded out from the city. These youngsters were in very poor condition, but immediately responded to good food and treatment."

"Scabies, favus, and trachoma furnished the largest percentage of cases in our hospital. Many of the new comers are afflicted with these diseases. Trachoma cases are isolated in orphanages, designated for that purpose, or in the new trachoma hospital, which has recently been opened up."

"Some of the older girls from the Kazachl Post orphanage are being trained to help out the personnel of the hospital. They are very much interested in the work and take to it willingly. They are anxious to become self-supporting. We are having uniforms made for them, largely from old clothes sent out from people back home. These clothes are about all that are available for our native personnel. But their new owners are so thrifty and so adept with the needle that their garments are difficult to recognize as old clothing."

According to Miss Thom relief in the Alexandropol area is being administered efficiently and at a very low cost.

FOR TODAY

As for God, His way is perfect, the word of the Lord is tried. For who is God save the Lord? or who is a rock save our God? — Psalm 18: 30, 31.

Could we judge all deeds by motives? That surround each other's lives. See the naked heart and spirit. Know what spur the action gives. Often we should find it better, Purer than we judge we should.

We should love each other better. If we only understood. —Rudyard Kipling.

"THE CHURCH UNITY OCTAVE" is now being celebrated in the Catholic churches of the city, as it is in the Catholic churches the world over. It started on what is known as "The Feast of St. Peter's Chair," Jan. 18, and concludes on the Feast of St. Paul, Jan. 25. It is an octave of prayer for church unity, originated in 1908, and has gradually spread out until it is universal in the church.

PROF. A. J. SLACK
TELLS HOW FOOD
IS ADULTERATEDLecture at Institute of Public Health Heard by Large Audience.

DEMONSTRATES BY TESTS

Specialist Declares Practice of Certain Manufacturers Is Diminishing.

"Food adulteration" was the title of the lecture given by Prof. A. J. Slack at the Institute of Public Health Thursday night. The lecture was one of the series now being given by the Western University extension department. In introducing the subject of food adulteration the lecturer declared that only a very small portion of the population was not interested in the subject of food to some extent.

After reading a synopsis of the food and drug act as it applies to Canada, the speaker gave a definition of what food really is. A lot of food adulterations were to a large extent mythical and imaginative, he said, such as chalk in milk, etc.

The reason that foodstuffs were adulterated was to lessen the cost, to reduce their strength, and to improve their appearance. Starvation was added to salt to make it run freer from the shakers, and it had no material harm.

Some Adulterations Allowed. A manufacturer was allowed a certain amount of adulteration provided that the label on the package contained the information that certain articles were added.

Throughout the evening tests were carried out to show just how adulteration of food was determined, and of what the adulteration consisted of. Milk was tested for preservatives, and also for its specific gravity.

All the staple articles of food coffee, cocoa, flavoring extracts and meat.

Instances of 100 per cent adulterations were recorded, one of which was the nutmeg. The speaker said that a firm in the States at one time put on the market small, oval shaped pieces of wood, soaked in oil of nutmeg, and coated with a fine layer of nutmeg, and sold them as genuine nutmegs.

Practice Is Diminishing. Taking the question of food as a whole, the lecturer said that today there was very little adulteration going on, and this was due largely to the fact that an article of food could be found out by analysis in the laboratory.

A large audience attended the lecture, and were much interested in the experiments.

The next lecture will be given on Thursday next in the Public Library on the subject, "Our Mother Tongue."

ADDRESSES MEN
ON "A MAN'S JOB"Rev. J. N. Norton Talks to Members of St. Andrew's Church Brotherhood.

More than fifty members of St. Andrew's Church Men's Brotherhood were present at the monthly banquet held in the church Thursday evening. Rev. J. N. Norton, who was recently appointed secretary of the Federation of Brotherhoods for Western Ontario, gave an inspiring address on "A Man's Job."

At the conclusion of Rev. Norton's address, the members went into a short business session. It was decided to send representatives to the meeting of the Federation Brotherhood, which will meet in February, the date to be set by the executive.

Other speakers were John Laughton and A. E. Silverwood, who acted as chairman.

In the course of his speech, Rev. Norton stated that the brotherhood could be carried out in everyday life and among all sorts and conditions of men and women by the simple application of the golden rule.

Previously held, according to the speaker, the technical papers before the congress were all of great interest. The machinery exhibit, including everything used in road-making from a shovel to a 25-ton locomotive was most complete.

ARRANGEMENTS to carry on relief work in the school districts of the county were made on Thursday evening by the Simcoe Street Mothers' Club. Mrs. Hartley, Grey street, was appointed convener of the relief committee, which will give assistance to urgent cases. Mrs. Harry Winnett gave a helpful address on "The Mothers' Club and the Problems of Parents."

A couple of recitations by Lucetta Livingstone added interest to the program. Mrs. Nelson Foster presided.

THREE AUTOS met at the corner of Waterloo and Queen's avenue on Thursday morning. The one with the right of way kept on going, as did also one of the others. The car with the right of way, No. 65-635, an out-of-town car, had to take to the curb to avoid a collision. A pole on the corner got in its way, and it lost one of its rear wheels. The third car which was moving slowly, had quite a time in getting out of the way of the dodging cars, and it ended up against the water hydrant. The erring car, the one that did not heed the traffic regulation, got off unscathed.

DISCUSS ACTION
IN STOPPAGE
OF ALLOWANCETrades and Labor Council
Take Up Case of Mother Deprived of Pension.

HAS FOUR CHILDREN

Woman in Sanatorium Has Allowance Discontinued
On Technicality.

At a recent meeting of the trades and labor council, the question came up as to what action was being taken in the case of a London mother whose allowance from the mothers' pension board for the support of her four children has temporarily stopped, due to a technicality of the law. It has been necessary for the mother to go to the Byron Sanatorium for treatment.

As the allowance is only given in cases where the children are actually living with the mother, it became the duty of the mothers' pension board to cut off the allowance when the mother was removed to the Sanatorium.

T. D. McCullough, secretary of the local branch of the Social Service through which the mothers' pension act is administered in the city, stated that while the mother herself would not draw the allowance, it would be paid out for the care of the children just the same. The children, however, would have to be put in charge of some one who would be responsible for them. The allowance would be either paid over to such person or handled by the local organization.

"The children most certainly would be cared for," said the secretary. Major T. S. Murphy, who is a member of the commission which directs the affairs of the mothers' allowance act, said that several similar cases had come to their notice, and in every case the children had been well looked after. If a case arises which the commission cannot settle, it is submitted to the governor-general for settlement. The act is for the children, and while some cases may need special attention, it is the opinion of Major Murphy that everything possible is being done by the commission for the cases that come to their notice.

ETIMARS BOYS WIN
IN CHURCH DEBATE

Outpoint Excelsior Club in Argument At St. Paul's Cathedral.

In the opening debate of the Inter-church Debating League, held Thursday night in Croydon Hall, St. Paul's Cathedral, when the Excelsior Boys' Club of Knox Church were the guests of the Etimars Club of St. Paul's, the Etimars debaters succeeded in winning the decision over their opponents of the Excelsior Club.

The resolution presented to the debaters as a subject was, "Resolved that the growing indifference to church attendance is a sign of social retrogression." Strong arguments were put forth by both sides, but the judges, however, after a length decision, awarded the debate to the Etimars Club.

This is the first debate of a series arranged jointly by the members of the young men's clubs of Knox Church, Dundas Center Church and St. Paul's Cathedral. The next debate will take place at Knox Church, and will be held between teams from Dundas Center and Knox.

A hearty sing-song and banquet followed the close of the debate.

RECEIVES 2-WEEK
SENTENCE IN JAILLorne Mason, charged in police court on Thursday with being drunk and assaulting a police officer, was sentenced to two weeks in jail by Deputy Police Magistrate P. H. Bartlett
on Friday morning. Mason hit Constable James Singleton across the mouth with a billiard cue on Wednesday night in the poolroom of D. Casolito on Dundas street, and broke the cue in two.

Mr. Bartlett told Mason that any fine imposed would have to be paid by his father, who was not in a position to spare the money. The court sympathies were all with the boy's father, and Mason was told that he could consider himself as being very fortunate that the sentence was not much heavier. Mr. Bartlett hoped that when the prisoner served his time that he would be able to get a job and keep it.

Lawrence Ghosh, 18 years of age, was allowed to go on suspended sentence by Deputy Police Magistrate P. H. Bartlett in police court Friday morning, after he pleaded guilty to entering the Wortley road public school on Jan. 11 and stealing a quantity of ammunition, a lady's valuable purse, and seven Yale lock keys, the property of the board of education.

"I think from inquiry that this case is one for suspended sentence," stated Crown Attorney J. B. McKillop, who asked that the boy be made to report to the police department on the last Saturday of each month for four months. The court agreed to this.

Medical Treatment, of Chief Emphasis Still Laid
On Spiritual Side of Work —

"The keynote of leper work at the present time is one of expectancy and hopefulness," was the message brought to the London Auxiliary of the Mission to Lepers on Thursday afternoon by W. H. P. Anderson, formerly of Guelph, Ontario, head of the organization, with headquarters in London, England.

In a heart-to-heart talk to the audience which gathered to hear him in the Wellington street residence of the Y. W. C. A. at 3 o'clock, Mr. Anderson presented the striking contrast between the outlook in the work for the lepers now and some years ago, telling of the tremendous advance that has been made in medical treatment, through the use of the principles of Chaulmoogra oil; of the awakening of the government of India to a sense of responsibility for the welfare of the lepers of the country, and, finally, of the spiritual life pulsating through all efforts in China, Japan, Korea, Siam, as well as "No one speaks of a cure or specific remedy," said Mr. Anderson, "but wonderful results have been met through the treatment, and there is a feeling of great hopefulness and expectancy that science may be on the eve of great discoveries."

"Leprosy, it has been discovered, is not hereditary, and only slightly contagious. What was thought to be a means of transmission from one person to another has been discovered to be not so serious as was formerly believed. When the source of contagion is discovered, then it will be a long step in the direction of preventing the disease."

Make Marked Improvement. "Unquestionably, a great step has been made in advance. Of 700 cases in one asylum, 450 under treatment made such improvement that they requested more food. In Korea, the lepers under the treatment of Dr. Wilson improved so physically that they asked to be given tools to do 'In years gone by,' he said, 'apart from making the lepers as comfortable as possible, through food, clothing and housing, thus endeavoring to alleviate their dreadful sufferings, efforts were mostly in a spiritual direction, giving them the message of pardon and hope in a life beyond.'

"In closing, Mr. Anderson emphasized the point that, whatever the outcome of the new treatment, it will be necessary for the mission to lepers to carry on as it has been doing for at least 25 or 30 years more. Mrs. George Woods, recently elected president of the London Auxiliary, presided at Wednesday's meeting."

All this has changed on the physical side. A point emphasized by Mr. Anderson was that nothing is possible in fulfilling the purposes of the medical treatment without the asylums. Touching upon the extent of the medical research work and the enormous cost, the speaker expressed pride and gratification in the fact that the entire expense has been borne by the British government of India, which makes it possible for the doctors in the mission to go to Calcutta for a month, learn how to administer the treatment, then return to the missions to use it, without expense to themselves.

Further, the government is now suggesting the establishment of farms colonies for lepers, and has asked the mission to lepers to provide the management.

Lepers' Child Becomes Ordained Minister. The worth-whileness of saving the children of lepers was illustrated by a number of specific instances. A baby boy, taken a number of years ago from a leper mother's arms, has grown up to be the first Burmese ordained as a Wesleyan minister, taking highest standing as a student. In conclusion, he re-emphasized the statement that, though he had given much time in his address to presenting the advances made in medical treatment, the great emphasis is still laid by the mission on the spiritual side of the work. A baptismal service was held in the evening.

"It was always a joy to be among the lepers," he said, "though we were not unmindful of their sufferings and sadly-marred bodies. Through the new treatment there will be less and less of the marred bodies in future years. The joy came in seeing the transformation wrought through Christian fellowship, the utter gratitude of the people for what God had brought about in their midst, their joy in new hope."

During the evening several vocal solos were rendered by Miss Viola Williams, accompanied by Miss Verma Syford and Miss Sinclair. The committee in charge of the entertainment included William Mood, Stanley Lee and Wilfrid Lang.

First Intimation Londoners
Had of Vote Was Through Press Reports.

Although several days have elapsed since it was reported from Montreal that Division No. 4 of the Federated Railroad Shop Crafts had by a close vote accepted permanently the 12 1/2 per cent reduction in wages, which became effective on July 16 last, the local representatives of these unions declared on Friday that as yet they have received no official intimation that such is the case.

Following a meeting of the executive of the local crafts in the Labor Temple on Thursday night, George Murphy, chairman and machinist delegate to the London trades council, explained that the only information that they had to consider was in the press reports emanating recently from the east. He felt personally, however, that the report was correct, and expected some written communication to the same effect from the headquarters of the various unions.

A few of the rank and file, however, do not appear so confident that the matter has actually ended, despite the fact that a vote of acceptance may have been recorded. It is the general opinion, however, that the action of the three American districts, No. 1, 2 and 3, will have no real influence upon the Canadian situation.

On Feb. 2, Harry Kerwin of Toronto, president of the Ontario branch of the Canadian Labor party and grand lodge representative of the International Association of Machinists, will address a general meeting of the railmen of the district upon "Need for Closer Federation."

COUNTY UNEMPLOYED
FILL PIPE LINE GULLY

Filling the gully east of the Springbank Park gates on the Pipe Line road with earth taken from the long hill that winds from Bucher's corner to Brick street, is keeping busy two recent members of the county unemployed. Westminster township is killing two birds with one stone, for it is not only widening the Pipe Line road, but making the long climb to Brick street infinitely more safe by widening that thoroughfare also.

The men were hired by Robert Brown, relief inspector of Westminster township, and are under the direction of County Engineer Charles Talbot. The filling in of the gully was made necessary, when it was decided by the Suburban Area Commission that the Pipe Line road should be paved in 1923.

THOUGHT TO HAVE SLAIN
HIMSELF AND DAUGHTER

New York, Jan. 20.—Belief that Mrs. A. H. Bull, wife of an assistant teller at the Harrison National Bank, may have killed herself and her young daughter, was expressed today by Ralph Costa, who disappeared with the pair from their home in Ridgewood, N. Y., two weeks ago.

Costa yesterday wired Mr. Bull, from Toronto, saying he was returning to help in searching for Mrs. Bull. He reached New York this morning. Police officials state Costa said he left Mrs. Bull because she threatened to kill him.

Vocal Entertainment.

With an illustrated lecture entitled "A Trip Through Canada," a large gathering was entertained at Hyatt Avenue Methodist Church Thursday evening. The lecturer, L. M. Nicholls of London, treated the subject chosen comprehensively, enlarging on the outstanding things met with in a trip through the Dominion from the Atlantic coast to the Pacific coast.

The lantern slides, used in conjunction with the lecture, depicted many of the scenic wonders throughout Canada, the impressive buildings in the larger centers and cities, and other scenes amid the waterfalls, plains and mountains of the country.

Mr. Nicholls traced the journey of a traveler from the eastern part of Canada to the farthest west, pointing out what one would turn aside to see on such a traverse, and submitted certain statistical information regarding places visited.

He spoke of what could be seen on a visit to Montreal, Toronto, Quebec and the larger cities of the provinces, and also in the Northern Ontario district and the plains and mountains of the west.

During the evening several vocal solos were rendered by Miss Viola Williams, accompanied by Miss Verma Syford and Miss Sinclair. The committee in charge of the entertainment included William Mood, Stanley Lee and Wilfrid Lang.

REVIEWS WORK OF CELEBRATED LUNG DOCTORL. G. Cargill, Western University Student, Addresses Historical Society.

"Trudeau and His Work on Tuberculosis" was the subject of an address delivered before the Western University Historical Society Thursday night by L. G. Cargill, a fourth-year medical student at the above institution. The speaker reviewed the life work of Dr. E. L. Trudeau, founder of the largest sanatorium in North America for the treatment of tuberculosis, which is located at Saranac Lake, New York State.

Cargill declared that the life of Dr. Trudeau, who was himself a victim of tuberculosis, should prove an inspiration to others. While in the Adirondacks in the early eighties, Dr. Trudeau envisioned an outdoor hospital for tubercular patients, and from that time until his death in 1915 labored incessantly to fulfill his vision, the large sanatorium at Saranac Lake now standing as a monument to his memory.

Dr. Trudeau was an enthusiastic huntsman, shooting his last deer while propped up on a stretcher in the woods. He conducted extensive research work on the "white plague," and was one of the first in the medical profession to advocate open-air treatment for tuberculosis. Cargill, very capably described the obstacles encountered by this pioneer in his battle against tuberculosis, and the classroom at the new Medical School was filled to capacity with those interested in his address.

Following this part of the program, a discussion on the subject was held, led by Dr. Moyie of Queen Alexandra Sanatorium. Others taking part included Dr. John E. Gordon, Dr. J. W. Crane and Lieut.-Col. Murphy, A. D. M. S. of Military District No. 1. J. L. Kirk, M.D., of Western University, acted as chairman at the meeting, while R. H. Walker, M.D., '22, was secretary.

ALLEGED COMPLETE RECORD NOT KEPT

Trades and Labor Council Inquire Why Voting of City Council Not Registered.

Why is it that a complete record is not kept of the "yeas" and "nays" as recorded at the regular meetings of the city council?

This is a point raised by delegates of the Trades Council, and will be brought up for further discussion at the next regular session of that body. The question was asked:

"What was Mayor Wilson's opinion as a member of the 1921 council when the question of votes for wives of tenants and property owners was discussed last fall and subsequently rejected?"

Certain of the delegates desire definite information as to this point as well as the attitude of other members of the present council on several affairs of moment.

They reason that as no record is seemingly kept, a citizen has no way of ascertaining how any one member of the council voted on any particular issue.

WILL PREACH AT ST. PAUL'S SUNDAY

Rev. Canon Cody To Dedicate Improvements Made to Cathedral.

An event of outstanding interest in church circles in London this week-end will be the visit of the Hon. and Rev. Canon H. J. Cody, who will preach both morning and evening in St. Paul's Cathedral. The late minister of education of Ontario, who some time ago was offered the office of head of the Church of England in Australia, is coming to St. Paul's in connection with the services to dedicate the new work that has been done on the cathedral. The Bishop of Huron will dedicate the improvements at the morning service.

The "new work" includes a new roof for the cathedral and decoration of the interior. The walls have been painted a warmer tone of grey than the original and on the ceiling of the chancel symbols of the church have been painted in a group of panels.

the whole forming a fine effect of dignity and unity. The work has cost approximately $10,000.

The special services will be continued the following Sunday, when Provost Seager, recently appointed to succeed Provost Macklem of Trinity College, will preach.

ORGAN RECITAL IN CHURCH PLEASURES

First Methodist Program by A. D. Jordan Proves Rare Treat.

An outstanding musical event of the month was the organ recital held last night at the First Methodist Church, when A. D. Jordan furnished a very fine program, thus giving the public an opportunity of hearing the organ of that church, which, since its recent overhauling, has become one of the purest-toned in the country.

The program included such interesting numbers as Mendelssohn's Sixth Sonata, Humoresque; Nivins' "A Day in Venice," "The Gondoliers," "The Venetian Love Song" and Dvorak's "Carneval."

Mrs. Frederick Schofield substituted for Mrs. Edward Wyatt in the solo work of the Schubert's "Praise the Lord" and Gounod's "Gallia," and her singing was indeed a treat for music-lovers, as well as the excellent choral singing.

Miss Topley-Thomson's reading of Francis Thompson's "The Hound of Heaven" was delivered with an eloquence which was much appreciated.

The next of the series of musicals will be held in February. Visgo Kihl is to be the soloist.

CHURCHES REPORT YEAR OF PROGRESS

Presbyterian and Congregational Bodies End Successful Year.

The annual meeting of the Chelsea Green Presbyterian Church was held this week in the church building. Rev. Mr. Crawford of Westminster was chairman for the evening in the absence of Rev. Peter Nichol, the pastor. E. F. Reeves was secretary for the meeting. Reports from the different organizations of the church were given, and showed the church and Sunday school to be in a flourishing condition. The Ladies' Aid Society presented an excellent report. Mrs. M. Matland being president of this organization. A splendid report was also received from the choir, of which F. Aldridge is leader and Miss Ella Symons organist. Much credit is due these two organizations for the splendid work they have done during the year.

After receiving the reports, the election of officers took place with the following results: Managers, E. F. Reeves, G. Snow, G. Haynes and J. Smith. The young women of the church served a dainty lunch and a social hour was very much enjoyed. The singing of the doxology brought to a close one of the most successful meetings ever held in the church.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL. The eighty-fourth annual meeting of the First Congregational Church was held this week and proved to be a very happy function.

After supper, provided by the women of the church, the pastor, Rev. Matthew Kelly, presided over a large gathering. Following the opening devotional service, a series of very satisfactory reports were given by the officers of the various organizations connected with the church.

Increases in membership, in voluntary offerings, missionary interests and attendance at meetings were registered, work among the young people of the church had intensified, and the formation of the Men's Congregational Club had been very successfully accomplished. Special note was taken of the valuable services of the Ladies' Aid Society and the Women's Board of Missions, as well as that of the Sunday school, the attendance at the latter reaching the high level of 73 per cent on the full year's attendance.

As usual, the church treasurer's report was very satisfactory, every bill paid, with the property in good condition and under no liability whatever. Unanimous hearty votes were tendered the pastor and officers of the church for their services during the past year.

The following appointments were made for the present year: Pastor, Rev. Matthew Kelly; Secretary, F. W. Robins; Treasurer, R. Johnston; Stewards, weekly offering, R. W. Wrighton; missionary, Miss A. Moule; Trustees, E. A. Bock, J. Creighton, R. Johnston, W. J. Walker, W. T. E. Wrighton; Deacons, Messrs. Anderson, Drennan, Johnston, Marshall, Robins and Rev. F. A. Steven; Ushers, Messrs. Creighton, Harrison, Johnston, Walker, Widdowson and Wrighton; Board of management, Dr. Parkin, Messrs. E. A. Bock, J. Creighton, A. E. Gibbons, S. M. Jepson, R. Johnston, J. Harrison, E. H. Martyn, W. J. Nutkins, Robins, W. J. Walker, R. W. Wrighton, W. T. E. Wrighton, the pastor and the president, secretary and treasurer of the Ladies' Aid Society. Sunday school superintendent, Alfred Anderson. Auditors, S. M. Jepson and E. H. Marshall. Organist, J. L. McAlpine. Janitor, Lewis Carter.

ST. JAMES, SOUTH LONDON.

An enthusiastic meeting was held in the schoolroom of St. James' Church, South London, on Thursday night of the Men's Club, the annual meeting and election of officers taking place after an hour spent with cards, followed by refreshments. The new officers for 1922 are: E. Hessel, president; R. Smith, 1st vice-president; Colin Palmer, secretary-treasurer; E. J. Dawson and W. H. White, auditors; representatives to church council, E. J. Dawson. Votes of thanks were moved to the retiring officers. The secretary's report showed a total of receipts amounting to $175.15, with a balance in hand of $94.11.

The rector spoke of the work accomplished during the year and what a great assistance it had been to him in his work in the parish. Capt. Tom Robson spoke of the pleasure it gave him to be present. There were nearly 50 in attendance. Proceedings closed with the National Anthem.

ADELAIDE STREET BAPTIST.

Reports given at the annual congregational meeting of Adelaide Street Baptist Church showed that splendid progress had been made during the year. The sum raised during 1921 totaled $16,749.78, and of this the contributions for missions amounted to $4,827.25.

A present of $100 was made William Gurney in appreciation of his faithful service as church clerk during a period of a great many years.

Rev. G. A. Leitcher was relieved of paying $300 a year rent, the pastorage being granted him rent-free. It was a ranked that a Sunday school, to take the form of a rear addition, facing King street, should be built some time in the near future. The following officers were elected for the coming year: Church clerk, Wm. Gurney; minute clerk, Miss Grace Norton; treasurer, G. A. Leitcher; financial secretary, Luther L. Bissett; envelope secretary, D. H. Gillies; communion roll clerk, Fred Norton; envelope clerks, John Manning and Frank Tuttle; finance committee, J. K. McDermid, E. Noel, D. H. Gillies, A. E. Brown, F. C. Pierce, W. Wigmore, F. J. Short, R. Cherry, G. Bedgood, W. H. Watson, E. Unstead, O. G. Keene, L. L. POINCARÉ BARES FOREIGN POLICY OF NEW CABINET

Takes Firm Stand To Make Germany Abide by Peace Terms.

"MUST PAY EVERYTHING" Claims "Country Across the Rhine" in Blooming Financial Condition.

PARIS, Jan. 19.—The Chamber of Deputies this evening gave Premier Poincaré and his new ministry a vote of confidence, 472 to 107. This action followed upon the ministerial declaration presented by M. Poincaré in the chamber, and by M. Barthou, minister of justice, in the Senate, and after a discussion of the interpellations submitted by Marcel Cachin, the Socialist leader, and others.

Premier Poincaré took a firm stand on the foreign policy of France, and demanded strict adherence to the terms of the peace treaties. The keynote of his declaration was the right of France to exact full reparations.

"Germany was not only responsible for the war," he declared, "but for the manner in which it was conducted. Until everything due us has been paid we cannot afford generosity to the vanquished."

"I have been accused of being responsible for the war, the war broke out in spite of the French government," M. Poincaré added.

At this point great applause interrupted him momentarily; then, pointing to M. Cachin, he continued: "I should exonerate myself and chamber were there a shadow of truth in that statement. But once war became inevitable had no other thought than victory."

Alluding to reparations, he said: "Germany Must Pay."

"With the strictest economies and the heaviest taxation, we cannot live unless Germany pays us. Every day, the premier said: question of internal politics must be subordinated to our foreign policy. We have peace abroad; let us have peace at home."

"I neither defend nor criticize the Versailles Treaty, but I want its integral execution."

Discussing Germany's ability to

"Her corporations return enormous dividends; her factories are in full activity. In a word, her economic strength grows every day, and if the state itself is in ruins, the nation enriches itself. It was in the name of the German nation that the Versailles treaty was accepted."

With reference to those guilty of war crimes the premier asserted he would establish that there was a conspiracy between the imperial German high staff and the great financial institutions to put the French mines, the spinning and weaving mills and the chemical factories beyond the possibility of operating.

KING GETS BIG OVATION IN HIS ONTARIO RIDING

North York Electors Show Resentment At Nomination of Armstrong.

PREMIER ALONE OPPOSED

All Other Members of Liberal Cabinet Are Returned by Acclamation.

NEWMARKET, Ont., Jan. 19.—There was no abatement of Liberal enthusiasm in North York today when the by-election campaign of Premier W. L. Mackenzie King and his opponent, Mr. J. A. M. Armstrong, opened here with a joint Liberal and Conservative rally following the nominations of the candidates.

The town hall was jammed in defiance of all fire regulations and a delirium of applause greeted the premier when he appeared on the platform.

At the last minute it was announced that Mr. Armstrong was ill and unable to speak.

The invitation of the chairman, Howard Kane, did not go unaccepted, however.

A deep and impressive voice spoke up from the rear of the platform. "I will speak for Mr. Armstrong," it was none other than Mr. Archie Drainin of Toronto.

Mr. Drainin made a good many votes for the premier of Canada this afternoon. He occupied the platform for fifteen minutes. His performance was a burlesque.

Drainin started well by peering under the table with the remark: "I see there's nothing there so I guess it's safe."

He followed this by announcing that Mr. Armstrong is running for one reason, and one only, "the Sutton liquor raid, engineered not by men like Mr. Kane here, but by some Grits, and certainly by Mr. Kane and his paid detectives."

He followed this by a few pleasantries regarding the harmless habit of indulging in an odd drink at times.

"Were you at Sutton?" asked a voice. "Yes," bawled Archie. "I was there and I had a drink."

Archie turned then to personalities and his accent began to give way under the strain. He described in detail Mr. Armstrong's virtues, proclaimed that he was "not afraid of a dozen Mackenzie Kings," and said that his hearers should vote for the Conservative party because it is the only patriotic party in Canada.

A Sad Mistake.

Then Archie made a sad mistake. He told the audience why they should not vote for the Liberals. "It is Quebec, and Quebec is the disloyal section of this country. They sent no men to the war, they—"

He got no further. A wild roar smothered him. A semicircle of ferocious gentlemen surrounded him from the rear. Flats were brandished menacingly, and things looked decidedly bad for Mr. Drainin.

"Take it back," roared a dozen—"kill him," from another dozen—"throw him out the window," from others.

Archie tried to smooth it over, but the crowd wanted blood.

Finally he capitulated, apologized, and withdrew his remarks.

The remainder of the oration of Mr. Armstrong's representative did not matter much, because little of it could be heard.

One gathered between interruptions that Archie was expressing a desire to waiver large sums of money with one and all on some subject in which he manifested interest by brandishing a large roll of bills. Finally he saw it was useless, and made a discreet exit, with the pleasant information that he is to be here throughout the campaign and that he is "a Jew and proud of it."

"Now that the entertainment is over," said Chairman Howard Kane, "we can proceed to business," and in a very neat little speech introduced the premier.

Mr. King, who had been quietly smiling all through Drainin's efforts, was greeted with wild enthusiasm which prolonged into moments of steady cheering.

In Class by Himself.

The premier opened his address with an expression of his sincere and humble gratitude to North York for their verdict on Dec. 6. He referred laughingly to the present contest, and reading telegrams telling of the acclamations of all his cabinet ministers said that he is "evidently the only unworthy member of the cabinet."

Referring to former Premier Meighen's candidature in Grenville, the premier said that it was an example of Meighen's autocracy in choosing Grenville as close to Ottawa instead of following the path of democracy by waiting for the people to choose him. At the same time he had requested that there be no opposition to Mr. Meighen.

"As a matter of fact," said the premier with a smile, "I'll be very glad to see Mr. Meighen in the House of Commons. I want him as leader of the opposition because he is a typical Tory, and he serves admirably to show the distinction between the principles of Liberalism and Conservatism."

Premier King then turned to Mr. Armstrong's position in opposing his return to Ottawa. He dealt with it with good humor, without rancor and with sympathy.

He read Mr. Armstrong's recent statement of his motive in accepting nomination, pointing out that it contained no mention of national questions, but rested entirely on a personal matter of Mr. Armstrong's reputation.

"It is personal, not public, not local, not national," he said, "and interests Canada only in so far as it may hinder the speedy establishment of government and the expenditure of large sums of money in campaign arrangements."

"There is an old saying," he continued, "that the lady protesteth too much, and to my mind Mr. Armstrong is only doing himself harm by too much denial, especially if his friends permit the affair to go on to a verdict of the people against him by 4,000 or 5,000 majority. If Mr. Armstrong has a grievance the courts of Canada provide a remedy, and it is to them that he should appeal. I have had a good many things said against myself, even this afternoon, but I know what I have done, and I am not afraid of my friends interpreting wrongly.

"Mr. Armstrong should have confidence in his past record. He asks for British fairplay. I believe that that includes sportsmanship as a good loser."

The premier turned to the future, stating his intention of observing the democratic instincts of the Canadian people, and acting on the principles he had proclaimed during the campaign.

"He told the words in which the governor-general had asked him to become premier. They were: 'Mr. King, you are the elect of the people, are you ready to take over the government?'"

"Those are remarkable words," commented the premier. "They express the democratic foundation of our government."

Mr. King explained his attitude in selecting a cabinet. "The sentiment of the country was plain," he said. "When I approached the Progressive element it was not with any idea of amalgamation or compromise. It was that the sentiment of the people might be fully represented if it were desired."

MURDOCK WINS SEAT.

[Special to London Advertiser.]

CHATHAM, Jan. 19.—Hon. James Murdock, minister of labor, was elected as representative for Kent in the House of Commons this afternoon by acclamation.

Before leaving for Wallaceburg, where a public reception for the minister will be held, Mr. Murdock dispatched the following telegram to Premier King: "As a result of the consideration given by our Conservative and Progressive friends to the verdict rendered by the Canadian people on Dec. 6 last, I have been elected by acclamation as member for the county of Kent. I am indeed glad to now be in a position to give you and the people of Kent and of Canada the best there is in me to carry on and to perform the duties before us. I trust the people of North York will also concede your election by acclamation."

In an interview Mr. Murdock stated: "Words will not express my feelings at the kindness shown me by the electors of Kent, and particularly the Conservative and Progressive parties. I appreciate the courtesy. It is a great encouragement to me. I will be able to return to my duties almost immediately. I trust that the electors of Kent will never have cause to regret the confidence they have placed in me."

W. C. KENNEDY UNOPPOSED.

WINDSOR, Jan. 19.—As was expected, Hon. W. C. Kennedy, minister of railways and canals in the King cabinet, was the only one nominated for the by-election in North Essex, and he was returned to his cabinet seat by acclamation.

MOTHERWELL GETS SEAT.

REGINA, Jan. 19.—Hon. W. R. Motherwell, minister of agriculture, was returned by acclamation for the Regina seat.

KING TO JOIN CABINET.

VANCOUVER, Jan. 19.—Hon. J. H. King, provincial minister of public works, who is here today from Victoria, announced that he is leaving for Ottawa within the next three days to be sworn in as minister of public works for the Dominion.

MCKENZIE RE-ELECTED.

SYDNEY, N. S., Jan. 19.—Hon. D. McKenzie, solicitor-general, was declared elected by acclamation for the constituency of Cape Breton North and Victoria this afternoon at the close of the by-election nomination proceedings made necessary by his appointment to the Dominion cabinet.

ROBB GETS ACCLAMATION.

HUNTINGDON, Que., Jan. 19.—Hon. James A. Robb, minister of trade and commerce, offering for re-election following his acceptance of a portfolio in the cabinet of Premier King, was returned by acclamation this afternoon.

CRERAR REMAINS IN WEST.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 19.—Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the National Progressive party, stated today he would not go East to take part in the by-election in Grenville, Ont., where the Progressive candidate, A. K. Patterson, is opposing Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen.

B. C. MEMBER RESIGNS.

CRANBROOK, B. C., Jan. 19.—R. E. Beattie, M.P. elect for East Kootenay, has resigned. His resignation was received at a meeting of the executive of the Liberal Association here last night, and was accepted. This will necessitate another federal by-election.

The Liberals of the riding will probably hold a nomination convention, when, it is intimated, Hon. J. H. King, minister of public works in British Columbia, recently named for the federal portfolio of public works, will be offered the nomination.

It was stated at a recent meeting of the Conservative executive it was decided, in the event of Dr. King

CONSTIPATION
BAD HEADACHES,
FAINT, DIZZY SPELLS

Constipation is one of the commonest ills of mankind, and one too often allowed to go unlooked after, until some serious complication sets in.

A free motion of the bowels daily should be the rule of everyone, then there will be no constipation, sick or bilious spells, dizziness, heartburn, coated tongue, foul breath, sour stomach, floating specks before the eyes, jaundice, water brash, etc.

Keep the bowels properly regulated by the use of

and you will enjoy the best of health. Mrs. Frank Wilsey, R. R. 3, Belmont, Ont., writes: "I have been troubled with constipation for nearly two years. I had bad headaches, faint and dizzy spells, and would blot terribly. I was nearly discouraged, for I had tried so many things that gave me no relief. My mother got me a vial of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and told me to give them a fair trial. After I had taken one vial I felt much better and continued their use. Now I have no faint and dizzy spells and am gaining nicely. I would not be without Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills for the world."

West York Physician Attacks Legality of Prescription Ban

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 19.—Dr. Forbes Godfrey, M.L.A., West York, this afternoon issued a writ against J. Hales, W. S. Dingman and G. T. Smith, board of license commissioners for Ontario, asking for the suspension of the order by which the commission prohibited him from issuing prescriptions for liquor as a qualified medical practitioner, when necessary for the health of his patients, or in case of actual need, or when in his judgment the use of liquor is necessary in the course of his professional practice.

Dr. Godfrey also asks for a declaration that the alleged suspension is invalid and unauthorized, and for a declaration that the commission had no power to limit the prescriptions to be issued, and that section 51 C of the Ontario Temperance act is unauthorized and ultra vires.

contesting the riding, the Conservatives would not oppose him.

It is believed that the only way in which Mr. Beattie can at this juncture render his constituency vacant is by accepting a place of profit under the crown.

This course was followed by A. C. Casselman, member-elect for Grenville, Ont., to make way for the candidature of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen. Otherwise, Mr. Beattie will have to wait until after the opening of Parliament and a speaker is chosen before he can tender his resignation.

A Man's Wages.

THERE are several wage adjustments taking place in various parts of the country, and it is natural that there should be disputes about these.

Many a man got his first taste of high wages when the war was on.
There were plenty of people who,
prior to that time, had not been making over $12 to $15 per week at the best. Inside of a few months
they were making, in many cases,
from two to four times that amount.

The result is easy to trace. The standard of living increased at once,
and the whole family had a taste of things that had never been possible before.

When war work was over, all that remained in thousands of homes,
was the memory of the high wages.
The increased amount had been used up in increasing the standard of living. When lower wages were offered a man had the backing of his home, in many cases, in his efforts to resist the movement toward a lowered wage.

A correspondent in a Toronto paper, writing of his own experience in the matter of wages says, of a proposed 30 cents an hour wage in that city: "Now, I am a married man and am getting $10.30 per week.
There are just my wife and myself.
I am not living. I am only existing on that. How would you like to work for 30 cents an hour and keep a wife and three or four kiddies, pay rent, coal, gas and car fare to work
not to say anything about clothes?"

The wise employer is the one who tries at all times to keep the standard of living of his employees up as high as possible. The fallacy of grinding men down to the last cent has been so amply proven many times that it has been discarded by the thinking employer.

On the other hand, the employer has to meet world competition, and this will always be the case in spite of tariffs. His costs sheets tell him the story, and it is a story that has everything to do with the success or failure of his business. Moreover, he has always to keep in mind the buying power of the people to whom he wants to sell. There are firms in London and elsewhere today that find their greatest problem in trying to get their products down to the point where their former customers can come into the markets and do business on a satisfactory basis.

That is the situation as Canadian business men have to face it. They can pay wages if they get a performance in return that will enable them to meet competition and go ahead.

Then, there is another important factor that enters into the consideration of this question, viz., the purchasing power of the dollar. If a man has been making $30 a week, and found one day that his pay had been cut to $20, it would make very little difference to him if, when he came to spend his money he found that things he had to buy had come down in ratio of 30 to 20. The dollar is not a fixed unit. It is simply a purchasing power, going up and down according to the markets of the world. The desirable situation would come when we could get simultaneous action between lowered wages and lowered living costs.
No doubt these two follow each other to some extent, but it is in a rather awkward and aimless fashion, and one that fails to satisfy the man whose wages have been reduced.

It is highly desirable that the standard of living should be maintained on as high a level as possible.
A man who is making a decent wage is a better worker and a better citizen than the man who is getting just enough to be eternally running behind in his household expenses.
Good service calls for good money,
and the reverse must also go with it
—good money calls for good service.

Blondin's Mimic.

A YOUNG English girl announces that she is coming to Canada to duplicate Blondin's feat of walking over Niagara Falls on a tight rope. It was in 1859 that Blondin did this remarkable trick, although others have since crossed on a rope, including the late S. J. Dixon of Toronto, Clifford Calverly of the same place, and Macdonald of Owen Sound.

It took Blondin four weeks to get his rope in shape at the falls, and there were some 10,000 spectators.
At the appointed hour, cannon announced the start, and Blondin began out from the American side to cross the chasm. Arrayed in spangled tights and armed with a 50-pound balancing pole he stepped nimbly along the rope whose middle point sagged to 15 feet. One-third of the way out he suddenly threw himself down and rested. Then up and off again. Midway he stopped again, and letting down a ball of twine to the old "Maid of the Mist" which lay below, he drew up a bottle of wine which he drank. In a few minutes the intrepid Frenchman

The Dology.

was tripping up the slope and on to Canadian soil.

Next year when the Prince of Wales visited Canada, Blondin far outdid even these feats. He carried a man across the Niagara Gorge on his back then "wheeled him across on a wheelbarrow, and even performed the incredible feat of walking the entire 1,100 feet of tight rope over that awful gulf, on stilts. Enroute thus Blondin suddenly slipped, catching himself by his thigh. The crowd gasped though some said the slip was merely a stunt. The young Prince was among the spectators and Blondin offered to carry him across on his back and refund the spectators their money if he let the helmet to Britain's throne drop into the river.

After this performance Blondin had to pass the hat in order to get his reward for what was probably one of the most spectacular feats ever attempted.

What good reason any capable English girl has of coming to this country now to attempt a duplication of Blondin's acts is more than anyone can readily understand.

It should be within the province that some of the government authorities to take this young lady, gently, but firmly, and head her back to the place from which she started. Much better to do this than take chances of trying to fish her remains out of the Gorge afterward.

Good Work.

FOR THE PAST few days London Chamber of Commerce has been putting on a series of group meetings, the idea being to bring out ideas for lines along which the organization could work to best advantage during 1932.

There is nothing that will make any chamber of commerce so useful as to set it to work.

It's just human nature in a collective way. There is no surer way to make a man big than to give him a big job.

The chamber of commerce is out looking for work—wants it—but is anxious that its every effort shall be directed in a channel that is going to bring the best results to London.

The idea is that the will of the majority is the policy of the organization, and the first of the year is a splendid time to gather up a pile of big jobs for 1932.

Our Own Investments.

THAT CANADIAN finances are greatly strengthened by so much of our war loan being placed in this country is the contention of Thomas Bradshaw, formerly finance commissioner of the city of Toronto.

He urges that loans placed to take care of any war bonds maturing should be offered to the people of Canada, the point in this being that loans floated in Canada would be chiefly absorbed by Canadians, and to them instead of outsiders interest and principal would be payable, and from a national standpoint it makes us much stronger and more independent.

It must be kept in mind that many of the Canadian holders of maturing bonds would be very glad to exchange them for those of a refunding issue. Although the fact that the maturing bonds are tax exempt made them much prized by investors, yet it is believed that a new issue bearing the same rate of interest, 5½ per cent, could be successfully floated in Canada, without this feature, providing financial conditions continue to improve and money remains plentiful.

It is also worth noting how very unfavorable would have been our position in these last few years had we been compelled to pay to investors outside of our own country the large amounts paid in interest to Canadians. The heavy investments made in government bonds during the war by our own people astonished even those supposed to have an accurate knowledge of our people's savings and resources. The raising of money in this way not only made us more independent, but failure to have done so would have placed exchange on a much more abnormal basis than has actually been experienced, and would extend the adverse conditions over a much longer period of time than is likely now to be the case. Having thus established the fact that we can provide funds on a generous basis for national purposes it would appear that it should be the government's aim to continue to obtain them in this way, and only when absolutely insurmountable difficulties are met should offerings elsewhere of our government bonds be contemplated.

J. J. don't need to feel so, be-

Some writers are trying to draw inspiration from the fact that Hexxy Fork was poor seventeen years ago.
The trouble is in this era of quick action we don't want to be bothered about thinking in seventeen-year periods.

Some of the first war loans come due soon, and these issues are tax free. If it is necessary to renew these it should be on the understanding that they are not exempt from taxation. This move was a mistake, and that the government financiers realized this was shown by the fact that the later issues are taxable.

Although the population of many of the smaller centres is on the decline, the expenses of the town do not go down accordingly, and the per capita tax must be greater. The Forest Free Press, discussing the decline of population in towns, makes this point. "Every resident of Forest, whether in business or not, is vitally interested in the progress of the town. No matter how much the population may decline the cost of maintaining all our public institutions and our public works will remain as high as ever, or, if anything, will increase. Therefore,

HOW TO KEEP WELL—
Ventilation

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP.

FEW weeks ago
a nurse from a board of health
was called to examine the children
in a township school. It was reported by the teachers that children were suffering from sore throats or developing contagious disease.

A thorough inspection of the noses and throats of the children revealed greatly reddened and thickened mucous membrane, but no sign of contagion. The cause of these conditions was later found to be tightly-fastened down windows, and a large hot stove in a small room.

Nothing can contribute more rapidly to the lowering of resistance than extremely high temperature and poor ventilation.

The modern, artificial system of ventilation so widely used in larger school buildings frequently fails to fall under the true definition of ventilation. Most of these systems demand that no one open a window and let in some real fresh air.

Tests have been made again and again which conclusively prove that children enjoy better health and make greater progress when they have open window ventilation.

Vendors of these ventilating systems claim that such systems keep the rooms warm. This is true. In most cases they keep the rooms too warm. The temperature of a room should never exceed 68 degrees Fahrenheit. Growth is not stimulated by heat. Inhabitants of temperate zone always have led the world in every field of progress.

CHARACTER

[By Digby Phillips.]

NO. 98—THE GOOSE-NECKED "D."
You've seen the goose-necked "D"
many times, no doubt. Perhaps there are several among your friends whose handwriting exhibits this peculiar formation of the letter, which is an important indication of character.

By the goose-necked "D" is meant that formation of the letter in which the final down stroke of the stem is dispensed with, and the up stroke is ended with a slight flourish to the right.
Some people make a "d" this way only when it occurs at the end of a word.
Others use it even in the middle of a word, causing a break in the continuity of the pen stroke.

Do you really know somebody who makes a "d" this way? Reflect upon his characteristics, or hers, though it's more likely to be a "him" than a "her."
Is he not inclined to be what you'd call scholarly in his outlook upon affairs and people generally?

This particular pen stroke is typical of those more than usually interested in the cultivated arts. Understand, all who are so interested do not necessarily make their "d" this way; but of those who do make it this way you may be sure that they have inclinations toward literature and the arts, whether they are producers or critics, professional or amateur.

Where the goose-necked "d" is found in a woman's writing, and the hook or flourish with which the letter ends is exaggerated, you may be sure that woman is fun-loving, that she has a gay disposition, and that in all likelihood she is a bit of a coquette.

LEARN A WORD
EVERY DAY

TODAY'S word is DASTARD.

It's pronounced—with accent
on the first syllable.

It means—a coward, one who shrinks from danger.

It comes from—Icelandic "daestr," exhausted.

Companion words—dastardly, das-tardiness.

It's used like this—"The man who will not aid a woman in danger is a dastard."

25 YEARS AGO TODAY

Here We Have Items of Local and District Interest,
'As Recorded in The Advertiser of 1897.

Friday, January 20, 1897.

Weather—Generally fair and milder.

A very successful convention of Young People's Societies of Christian Endeavor belonging to the Presbyterian of Maitland was held in the Presbyterian Church, Wingham, yesterday. Rev. G. Ballantyne, moderator, presided.

A Presbyterian society was organized, with the following officers:
President, Rev. R. S. G. Anderson, Presbytery of Wroter; first vice-president, G. F. Blair, barrister, Brussels; second vice-president,
Miss Sharp, Teeswater; secretary-treasurer, Mr. Norris, Kin-cardine; corresponding secretary,
Rev. W. T. Hall, Belgrave; executive committee, Henry Woods, St.
Helens; Miss Vanstone, Wingham;
J. H. Cameron, Brussels; Miss S.
Henderson, Whitechurch, and Mr. R.
Malcolm, Kinlaw.

At the evening session, Rev. A.
McNab, M.A., Whitechurch, read an interesting paper on the history of the church in Scotland prior to the reformation. Rev. G. Munroe, M.A., gave an impressive address on "Christian consecration."

The young people of Christ Church, Delaware, will give a grand concert next Friday evening, when distinguished amateurs of London will be present to take part. Dr.

McLaren, formerly of Delaware, will be chairman.

A. Walker, teller in the Traders' Bank at St. Marys for the past four years, has accepted a similar position at Glencoe.

At the annual meeting of the Delaware Agricultural Society the finances of the society were found in a prosperous condition, with a balance of $116.67 in the treasury. Officers elected for 1897 were: President, W. S. Kidd; vice-president, Jas. Bradt; secretary, Norman Bodkin; treasurer, H. C. Johnston; directors, John Ackland, J. R. Hammond, W. Baker, W. C. Harris, S.
Sutherland, R. W. Stevens, D. Ryck-man, James Howlett, M. Henderson.

Anniversary services of the Delaware Memorial Methodist Church will be on Sunday, Jan. 24. The president of the London conference,
Rev. George Jackson, will preach, and the Rev. R. Leitch, pastor of the Presbyterian Church.

Miss Eva Duffield of Dorchester is visiting her cousin, Miss Lizzie Duffield, Horton street, city.

Miss Mabel Wilson of St. Thomas has returned home after spending a few days with her cousin, Miss Gertrude Hilslop, South London.

Mr. J. C. Calvert of Maudamin

has accepted the agency of the London Life Insurance Company for Sarnia, under Assistant Superintendent N. N. Monray.

A very pleasant time was spent at the residence of Mr. B. J. Nash, Stanley street, last evening by the members of the Askin Street Methodist choir, who assembled there to do honor to their late organist, Mr.
Frank Callander. An excellent supper was served by Mrs. Nash, after which G. R. Westlake was voted to the chair, and an impromptu program was carried out, the following participating: Miss Land, the Misses Nash (three), Messrs. Bert Callander, Switzer and Alb. Curtis.
Mr. Callander was then presented with an address and a silver-mounted umbrella, on behalf of the choir.
The address was read by Miss Jessie Boake, and Mr. Wm. Cooper made the presentation.

An anniversary tea and entertainment was given last night in the lecture room of the First Congregational Church, under the auspices of the Sunday school. The program was begun with a few remarks by Rev. Thomas Wilson. This was followed by a unique dialogue by Miss Crossin and Masters Wm. Johnston and James Porteous. The remainder of the program was as follows: Instrumental solo, Miss Steer; reading, Fred Chapman; solo, Gussie Gram-ham; recitation, Miss Ollie Langston; quartet, Messrs. Alf. Anderson, E. Wrighton, J. L. Dixon and Albert Bock; harmonica selection, Messrs. E. Moule and E. Effner; recitation, Miss McKay; trio, "Three Black Crows," Masters Wilson; dialogue, Miss Long, Miss Edith Cross-sin, Miss Anthistle, Miss Jean Porteous, Miss Maggie Knowles and Miss Clara McNaughton.

The entertainment concluded with a drill by Misses L. Anundson, H.
Chapman, J. Thompson, C. Thompson, G. Bowman, I. Bowman, Jean Porteous, M. Porteous, H. Moule, A.
Burnip, E. Moule, M. Pink, M.
Knowles, N. Richardson, H. Dunn
and M. Anthistle. Mr. R. Marshall presided.

LEGAL QUERIES

Rodney, January 14, 1923

London Advertiser:
Kindly answer through your valuable paper. My collie dog was killed by a car, going at a rate of 30 or 35 miles, while the speed limit in the village is 15 miles.

Can I make the owner of the car settle for loss of the dog, or his chauffeur, who drives the car without papers to act as chauffeur?

SUBSCRIBER RODNEY

Answer—The owner is liable, no matter whether he was driving it or not.

Hensall, January 19, 1922
London Advertiser.

Sir—Would you kindly answer a question for me through your paper.
I am a hired man on a farm, by the year, with house, garden and wood, without a written contract. It was agreed between both parties that I was to have legal holidays, but as I have worked most of them, and every Sunday also, which consists of choring most of the day, would I be compelled to put in the full 365 days, which my employer thinks I should. How many days would I be compelled to work for one year?

Yours truly,

READER

Answer—You must work out your full year, but you need not work on Sundays and holidays if it was agreed that you were not to do so.

ON THE SPORT TRAIL

The O. H. A. season is getting down to where some ancient grudge games are being staged. If the weather holds, there'll be some great hockey next month getting down to the finals.

Warton Red Men who were in and outers last year seemed to have struck something like their old stride again. Markdale beat Warton last year, but Wednesday night at the Sound, the Red Men sent the Markdale supporters home with nothing but their railway ticket stubs.

Some of these towns move out entirely to see a hockey game and leave nothing but the town pump behind when they get the hockey bug.

So Greyhounds beat North Bay, 4-2 Wednesday, but they were extended all the way. Tommy Munro, the London referee, is up in the north country handling the games.

Halleybury looks to have the intermediate series of the N. O. H. A. sewed up tight. The standing is:

Halleybury	Won. Lost. For. Avg.
New Liskeard	1 3 11 20
Cobalt	1 3 7 19

Varsity's defeat at Kitchener last night does not eliminate the Allan Cup holders from the O. H. A. senior race, but by a long shot. The collegians still have a chance, but will have to make a strong finish to stay in the running. Under the O. H. A. group, the teams finishing first and second play off for the championship. There are endless possibilities to what might happen. Today Aurs Lee leads the race with four wins and no defeats, but they have their hardest games yet to play, including two games with Granites and one each with Varsity.

Kitchener, Hamilton and Argonauts. Aurs Lee has the best goal average of any of the teams. Granites are in a good position, despite their defeat by Argonauts, as they have won both their away-from-home games at Hamilton and Kitchener. They have to meet Hamilton here on Saturday night and then take on Kitchener the following Friday at the Arena, to be followed by the return game with Varsity and two games with Aurs Lee. The Tigers have as good a chance to win out as any of them, due to their unexpected win on Kitchener ice. Kitchener will be a factor from now on, and the Argonauts are liable to cause an upset at any time. It's a great race, whichever way you look at it.

A big time is planned for the opening of the Galt Arena Friday night when Preston and Galt again play. The O. H. A. executive will practically be there in a body.

Percy Lesueur is very much in the eye of the hockey fans at present. Lesueur was one of the greatest players that ever lived on skates, and while with Ottawas was considered an authority on the game. No more stylish goalkeeper ever played forward of a net than Lesueur. He was a marvel at clearing and was seldom scored on by a rebound. He was the acme of grace, and every move he made was a picture.

Ottawa acquired Lesueur under dramatic circumstances in 1906. In that year Smiths Falls won the Federal League championship. They gave Ottawas a score when they challenged for the Stanley cup mainly through the wonderful work of Lesueur. That year Ottawas and Wanderers tied, and Ottawas lawas' goalkeeper blew up in Montreal. This game was won, 9 to 1, by Wanderers. Ottawas were in desperate straits and imported Percy from Smiths Falls. The Senators evened up with Wanderers with ten minutes left to play. Lester Patrick broke loose twice in the concluding minutes and scored. There never was a more spectacular game, and the hero of the game was Lesueur. In his prime he was greater than any goaltend in the business. Lalonde once said of him that when Lesueur was playing, he was the greatest he ever played against.

Recalling that famous scene was a recent dispatch from Victoria which stated that Lester Patrick played goal for ten minutes, while Fowler was ruled off. Patrick is grey-haired now, but in his day was a wonderful player. He played regularly up to two years ago, but his only recent appearance was in the capacity of goaltend, and then only to fill an emergency.

Carson Cooper has not gone to the west after all. He figures that the offer from Saskatoon should be backed up by something better than promises, and unless some guarantee is given him in a financial way he will not go west.

And while talking about pro leagues if the Kitchener arena is ever built it is quite possible that they will slip into the National Hockey League. The latter would welcome them, along with another team, with open arms—Kitchener Ottawas and Wanderers tied, and Ottawas Record.

GUELPH FANS GIVE REFEREE HOT TIME

Claim He Favored Kitchener Juniors in Last Night's Game.

GUELPH, Jan. 19. — Kitchener Juniors, touted coming champions of the O. H. A., received the scare of their lives in their fixture with the Guelph Juniors here tonight. It took them ten minutes overtime to defeat the same team which they beat last week in Kitchener 10 to 6. The local management is protesting tonight's game on three different accounts. Mainly because of the rank incompetence of referee Uffelman, of Waterloo, who failed to catch off sides on three of the occasions when the Kitchener team scored goals. There was an immense crowd on hand and the greatest of dissatisfaction prevailed over the action of the O. H. A. in sending Uffelman here to referee the game as he is a Kitchener man.

The local boys played an aggressive game from the start to finish and with just 30 seconds to go they scored what looked to be the winning goal but the whole Kitchener team was shoved up on the forward line. Hemphill took a pass from Hearn and shoved the puck past Clough, evening the count. In the first five minutes of the overtime period Kitchener scored an easy goal from the wing and it looked like the winning count, but in the next five minutes Brill sent in an easy roller which Farrell let go just about four inches over the line and the score was tied again. This sent the crowd wild but in less than a minute Kitchener scored the winning goal when Hass took a trip up the ice, passed to Hearn, who beat Clough easily and the game was over a few seconds later.

Referee Uffelman was repeatedly booed during the game, and at the close the crowd surrounded him on the ice and he had to get police protection and finally sought out the seclusion of one of the dressing rooms until the crowd left the rink.

The stars for the Kitchener team were Hass and Moison, both on the forward line, while O'Halloran, Kelso and Clough, the kid goal tender, were best for Guelph.

ACCEPT GENOA INVITATION.

LIBRON, Jan. 19.—The Portuguese government has accepted an invitation to be represented at the Genoa economic conference. Two delegates will be sent.

There is no question as to the popularity of the new "COLONIAL LENSES." These are rapidly taking the place of the oval lenses that have been worn ever so long. You get the same careful examination and expert fitting as for ordinary lenses, but, in addition to this, you have the most up-to-date glasses possible.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—The greatest moment in a drama, staged, photographed or lived, is its simplest moment. It is the birth or death of an emotion or ideal, as birth or death is the greatest and simplest moment in life.

When playwright or dramatist presents such an episode in the life of a character without the trappings of his own emotions or reactions, true drama is achieved.

"The Song of Life," a new film, in its opening scenes gives promise of being one of those rare dramas of simple theme.

Flag station in the prairie. Section boss, wife and baby. One other house in sight. Blowing sand. Desolation.

Dishes to wash three times a day.
Kitchen range, crib and oil-clothed table wife's only instruments of culture or advancement.

Railroad president's car pulls into siding. Prairie woman sees another world. Women in fine clothes. Servants waiting upon table—and washing dishes. She climbs into coach of train and abandons husband, baby and home.

But her life was spent in hard work. Old, grey and worn, she washes dishes in a restaurant to earn her living.

She becomes a member of her son's household eventually and recognizes him as her son.

As in Maugham's stage play, "The Circle," the son of a runaway mother faces a runaway wife. But in the movie the mother prevents the son's wife from going.

It is in the manner in which the climax works that the merit of the picture is lost. There is a shooting of "the other man." The mother takes the blame. So does the son.
After the son reveals his respect for the woman who protects him she control of the French government, between New York and Brest, France, via the Azores.

"The disposition of these two ex-German cables," said Mr. McKay, in his statement today, "is now in the hands of the five allied powers, to whom the cables were ceded by Germany under the treaty of peace, and the Commercial Cable Company has filed a very substantial claim against them on account of its former contract for the operation of these cables, which contract was impossible to fulfill at the close of the war, because of the seizure of the cables by the British and French governments. In making the contract for the laying of the new German cable, the Commercial Cable Company in no way ceded any of its rights or claims against the allied governments in connection with the former German cables."

Really worth-while attractions for the second half of the week at the Grand Theatre drew a full house
Thursday night.

Princess Sierra Elona, a real Indian princess from Mexico, who is playing a return engagement by special request, delighted patrons with her unusually clever imitations of famous singers and vaudeville artists seen on European stages, as well as by her interpretation of Indian dancing.

Princess Elona's personality and vaudeville technique are of a standard and seldom surpassed on the vaueville stage.

"Moss and Trato" "In a Surprise," present some witty repartee, and some colored singing which kept the audience convulsed with laughter.

Seymour and Dupree in a very amusing dialog exemplifying the conversation of a lady with a very matter-of-fact Chinese servant, are exceptionally good. The lady proves herself a dancer of no mean ability, and the Chinese servant amazes the audience with his performance on some weird Chinese instruments. His imitation of the babbles on an instrument which looks as much like a bow and arrow as anything moves one look around the corner for kites.

In "Marooned Hearts" Conway
Tearle, now a real star in his own right, appears in the role of Paul Carrington, a young physician, whose entire career it seems to be sacrificed to satisfy a woman's whim. And,
who, to forget her capriciousness, plunges into hard work which he believes will be a lasting benefit to humanity. The woman in the case is most ably depicted by Zena Keefe.

The story calls for the two to meet again on a South Sea island under the most romantic conditions. The scenery screened in this part of the picture is a treat in itself.

After a series of thrilling incidents, including a shipwreck and a yacht burning at sea, the story works out to a happy conclusion, and the scientist and the siren depart for civilization well satisfied with each other's company.

Larry Semon's new film "The Rent Collector," is an added feature, and as is customary with this famous comedian's films, it keeps the audience in continued spasms of laughter.

Inspector Moore came here last October, succeeding A. T. Rowell, who vincial constable at South Porcupine.

COBALT, Ont., Jan. 19.—Inspector of seven counties in that section. Inspector Moore came here last October, succeeding A. T. Rowell, who resigned. Previously Moore was provincial constable at South Porcupine.

GLASGOW, Jan. 19.—J. Austen Chamberlain, government leader in the House of Commons, today dismissed any idea of an early general election by telling a conference of Scottish Unionists the government had decided that until the legal establishment of the Irish provisional government and its equipment had been completed there could be no sort of dissolution of parliament.

PROTEST USE OF SMALL FISH NETS

TORONTO, Jan. 19.—A delegation of fishermen from the western end of Lake Erie waited on Premier Drury today to protest against the continued use of nets with smaller mesh than authorized by government legislation.

It was charged that fishermen at the eastern end of the lake were buying nets of 2½-inch mesh, although according to fishery regulations nothing smaller than 3-inch mesh is to be used at the end of the 1922 season. The delegation asks that permission to use the small mesh be cancelled.

Georgia Woodthorpe is the mother who rebelled at dishwashing.

That climax is sincere because it is elaborated with the scenicist's idea of drama, thus getting away from the real drama of the moment.
The mother is put into jail, but be-

from the action he exonerates everybody. No one had any intention of shooting him—it was all an accident.

CLAIMS CANADA IN URGENT NEED OF OIL SUPPLY

C. O. Stillman Declares Dependence Upon Foreign Wells Causes Anxiety.

URGES WIDER SEARCH

Imperial Company Head At Annual Meeting Sure Dominion Has Big Fields.

TORONTO, Jan. 19.—Necessity for discovering oil supply in Canada
as a national source of wealth, rather than any details of plans in the company's own exploration, was emphasized
at the annual meeting of Imperial Oil Limited, today.

President C. O. Stillman said that the Imperial had built up a large manufacturing, marketing and distributing plant, but it was desirable to round out its organization by securing a domestic production of petroleum.

"Dependence upon foreign sources of supply for crude oil had caused great anxiety in the past, especially during the war, but the company's relation with foreign oil fields in the United States had enabled it to obtain a continuous and sufficient supply."

"While this is reassuring, when we contemplate any possible recurrence of such a shortage in the future," said Mr. Stillman, "there exists, however, many disadvantages in the fact that we are forced to import about 98 per cent of our raw material."

"High freights are, of course, the most important of these, but in addition to this we have been heavily penalized in the past two years by the depreciation in Canadian exchange. In order to buy funds with which to pay for our raw material abroad our expenditure in the last year has been about four million dollars, or an amount almost equal to that paid out in dividends."

Mr. Stillman gave out no details of the company's financial operations.
Has Ten Million Flow.

Vice-President V. Ross, reporting for the production department of the west, stated that a well at Pouce Coupe had a flow of 10,000,000 feet daily of gas, but no use was being made of it, owing to its remoteness from civilization. Drilling was continuing on this well in the hope of finding oil. The company had abandoned operations at four wells, but were working at fourteen other points outside of Fort Norman. The deepest well abandoned was Twin Butte in Southern Alberta, which had reached a depth of 3,975 feet.

President G. H. Smith of the International Petroleum Company, a subsidiary of Imperial, of which he is also a vice-president, reported on the year's operations in Peru and Colombia. Production of oil had doubled in Peru during the year and was now 11,000 barrels a day.

In the election of directors the vacancy on the board through the retirement of Mr. Mayer was filled by the election of F. J. Wolfe, while Victor Ross succeeded Mr. Mayer as vice-president.

PEKIN, Jan. 19.—Gen. Chang Tso-ling, governor of Manchuria, has ordered the withdrawal of his troops from Pekin to Mukden. This is regarded as an indication that the government does not fear further trouble from Gen. Wu Pei-fu, who recently issued an ultimatum demanding that the cabinet of Premier Liang Shih-yi resign.

Mayor Has Girl's Salary Cut So Others Won't Become Jealous.

WINDSOR, Jan. 19.—Engaged as telephone operator at the new Windsor police building, at a salary of $25 per week, Miss R. Begg faces a cut to $5 per month.

This action was taken by the police commission Thursday afternoon following a complaint by Mayor H. W. Wilson that the commission, by paying "such a high salary" to Miss Begg, might cause dissatisfaction among other girls in the employ of the city.

Mayor Wilson doubted the wisdom of having a switchboard at police headquarters.
Figures, however, showed the service would save $100 a year.

FIND SMALLPOX
OF SEVERE TYPE

TORONTO, Jan. 19.—The present outbreak of smallpox in Toronto is of a severe type but not sufficiently widespread to be called an epidemic. There were 18 cases in all reported today.

A physician of the health department stated that the number of persons who were vaccinated two years ago would serve to prevent the disease spreading now to a great extent.

GUELPH JUNCTION
WILL LOSE NAME

GUELPH, Jan. 19.—Word was received by the chamber of commerce today from the C. P. R. authorities to the effect that in the near future
a new name would be given to what is now called Guelph Junction. They have received a number of complaints from the patrons, who say that they have been confused in thinking that when they arrived at Guelph Junction they are in Guelph,
when in reality they are sixteen miles away. The giving of this station a new name would do away with any such confusion in the future. The new name has not yet been selected.

14 DRIVEN INTO STREET BY TORONTO CAFE FIRE

TORONTO, Jan. 19.—Fourteen people were driven into the street in their night attire following an outbreak of fire in the Astoria Cafe, 433 Yonge street, at 4:40 o'clock this morning, and which spread into the Imperial Bank branch, 431 Yonge street, corner of Ann street. Mrs. Edith Hoban of the city health department staff was rescued by the fire-fighters from her apartment on the first floor above the cafe. She was hanging out the window partially suffocated by smoke when the firemen found her and carried her down the ladder to the street.

"THE HOME OF SATISFACTORY SERVICE."

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

The report of a revolver, followed by hurrying footsteps on the stairs, causes Detective Barry and his friend, Professor Semynov, to rush from the latter's rooms on the fifth floor of a New York apartment house. They discover the body of beautiful Miriam Vane, society portrait painter, in her studio apartment on the third floor. Ladd, a young artist on the second floor, Griswold, an irascible bachelor on the fourth, and Patricia Shaw, a magazine writer on the sixth, deny having heard the shot. Miss Shaw, the first interviewed, says that she knew Mrs. Vane very slightly, and had not been in her studio for three weeks.

GO ON WITH THE STORY.
"Let's have a talk, then, with the affable gentleman on the floor below," Barry suggested. "I'll wager he won't take so long this time to answer a summons."

The unmusical notes still sounded from the rear of Henry Griswold's apartment as they reached his floor, but with a word to the officer on guard, Barry knocked peremptorily on the door and announced in loud tones:

"Police headquarters! Sergeant, if he doesn't open the door in three minutes, break it down!" The snoring ceased instantly in a sound between a squeal and a grunt. The next instant there came a rattle of bolts and the door was flung open, to disclose Griswold's lanky frame clad in a scant night shirt, with a skullcap upon his grizzled head.

"What the devil do you mean?" he began furiously, but Craig, at a gesture from Barry, stepped forward. "I'm the detective assigned from headquarters to investigate the murder on the floor just below you here tonight, sir, and I'd like a word with you," he said gruffly. "If you don't want to answer my questions, I'll call the wagon and you can come down town and talk to the chief."

"Well, shut the door behind you, both of you, and sit down, unless you want to call in the whole police department," exclaimed Griswold. "I suppose I can put on a dressing-gown."

He turned and padded off toward his bedroom with Craig doggedly in his wake, while Barry seated himself and glanced about him. In a shadowy corner an old hound stood with drooping ears and one paw lifted as though to advance, and the sergeant looked twice before he discovered that it was an ancient and sadly moth-eaten specimen of the taxidermist's art.

Griswold returned presently in the tattered dressing-gown and flapping slippers.

"Let us get this farce over as quickly as possible, if you please."

"Do you know any of the other occupants of this house?"

"Personally, no, and I do not want to," retorted Griswold. "I have no idea of the people who live here."

"I don't want to waste your time," she began a trifle hesitantly, "but something escaped my memory and I told you an unintentional falsehood. The matter is quite trivial and irrelevant, but I do not care to have the least misunderstanding about this. When I told you that I had not entered Mrs. Vane's studio since my call upon her until tonight, it was not strictly true, although I held it in communication with her. A few days ago I was passing her door; she was out, but Mrs. McGrath was cleaning in there, and I asked if I might take a peep at the portrait."

"That's all right, Miss Shaw."

"Honest relief shone in Craig's eyes. 'It's as well that you did tell us, and if anything else comes to your mind, no matter how unimportant it may seem to you, just call up police headquarters and ask for me, Sergeant Craig, or for Sergeant Barry here. We'll be glad to have you keep out of it as much as we can.'"

"Thank you, I'm sure that you will, sergeant," she responded with a nod that although still dignified, was almost cordial. "Good-night."

"Ain't women funny? Did you see how her manner changed all of a sudden when she thought she had got herself in wrong? 'Twas nothing, that visit of hers to the Vane woman's studio, after all, but it's a good thing she told us after Griswold mentioned it, for we might have gone off on some wrong track entirely. Do we get after young Mrs. Ladd now?"

"Yes," Barry replied as they passed the tragically vacant rooms of the dead woman. "If he knew Mrs. Vane, as Griswold says, we ought to get something worth while at last."

Gordon Ladd was anticipating their coming with an eagerness which he made no attempt to conceal.

"You're headquarters men, aren't you?" he demanded. "For heaven's sake, come in and tell me if you've found out anything! Those chaps from the local precinct are dubs, and I'm almost mad over this thing. Right use for any of them!"

"You did not, then, know Mrs. Vane?"

"Most assuredly not! I never spoke to the woman in my life! There was outraged dignity in the disclaimer. 'Not that I am aware of anything to her discredit, but I know nothing about her at all!'"

"What can you tell me of the other tenants here?" Craig asked.

Griswold licked his thin lips avidly, as though over a choice morsel of gossip. "The young man Ladd has frequently called upon Mrs. Vane, and at least once I have seen Miss Shaw issuing from her apartments."

"From Mrs. Vane's, you mean?" Barry interposed quickly. "When was that? About three weeks ago?"

"Three days ago," corrected Griswold, with emphasis. "I am positive it was Tuesday, because I am rarely late at getting to my office, but on the previous night I had suffered an attack of indigestion, which kept me awake, and it was quite ten o'clock in the morning when I came down stairs and saw the Shaw girl coming out of the apartment on the floor below. I did not see Mrs. Vane."

CHAPTER IV.
CRAIG was so visibly dumbfounded at the unexpected contradiction of Miss Shaw's testimony that his fellow-sergeant continued in command of the situation.

"You mean," Mr. Griswold, that Miss Shaw had been alone in Mrs. Vane's studio Tuesday morning?" he asked.

"I don't know," he said. "I don't know," he said. "I don't know," he said.

"What the devil do you mean?" he began furiously, but Craig, at a gesture from Barry, stepped forward.

"I'm the detective assigned from headquarters to investigate the murder on the floor just below you here tonight, sir, and I'd like a word with you," he said gruffly.

"If you don't want to answer my questions, I'll call the wagon and you can come down town and talk to the chief."

"Well, shut the door behind you, both of you, and sit down, unless you want to call in the whole police department," exclaimed Griswold.

"I suppose I can put on a dressing-gown."

He turned and padded off toward his bedroom with Craig doggedly in his wake, while Barry seated himself and glanced about him.

In a shadowy corner an old hound stood with drooping ears and one paw lifted as though to advance, and the sergeant looked twice before he discovered that it was an ancient and sadly moth-eaten specimen of the taxidermist's art.

"You're headquarters men, aren't you?" he demanded. "For heaven's sake, come in and tell me if you've found out anything! Those chaps from the local precinct are dubs, and I'm almost mad over this thing. Right

this way; you'll find cigars and things on that stand."

"You knew Mrs. Vane, Mr. Ladd?" It was more a statement than a question, as Barry seated himself.

"Knew her? Good Lord, I—!" The young man controlled himself by a visible effort and added lamely:

"Yes, I have known her for some time, several years, in fact, and although she had a host of friends, I think I can claim to be one of the closest of them to her. It's the sheer impossibility of this thing, gentlemen, which has driven me nearly mad. I know that—that she was shot. I saw her body, and yet I would be more ready to believe that a bolt from heaven struck her down than a bullet sped from a human hand."

"Why?" This time the question came so sharply as the report of a pistol itself upon the outburst of nerves stretched beyond the breaking point, and Gordon Ladd cast discretion to the winds.

"Because she was alive and well an instant almost before that shot must have been fired! I saw her. I spoke to her. I—!" Too late the young man realized the slip he had made, and his face turned livid, but hastily he made an effort to retrieve his error. "It must have been the closing of my own door here when I returned that muffled the shot so that I did not hear it."

"When you returned from where?" Craig leaned forward suddenly.

That he had made such an error was instantly apparent, for the length of his accusatory speech had given the ordinarily well-poised young man an opportunity to place himself in a measure upon his guard, and his reply came in a coldly collected tone.

"You are mistaken, sergeant—or whatever your rank may be termed. When I said that I returned, I meant that I had only then returned from the mountains, on East-Ninth street, where I had dined and spent the earlier part of the evening."

Craig turned in frank appeal to the larger experience of his colleague, and Barry resumed the interrogation. "Will you tell us, Mr. Ladd, just exactly what did happen last evening, from the time you left the house where you dined until from your apartment here you heard Officer Boyle hammering upon the entrance below?" he asked in a courteously persuasive tone.

DR. WEIR ASKS SALARY BOOST

In an interview on Thursday morning, Dr. George S. Weir, public school attendance officer, pointed out that there existed some misunderstanding as to the request that he has made to the board of education for an increase in salary, the same to be considered at the next meeting of that body.

"It has been stated," said Dr. Weir, "that I have applied for an automobile. I did include in my communication to the board the suggestion that it might be advisable for the trustees to consider the advisability of furnishing my department with a machine in order to save considerable time each day that I lose by my visits to the various localities in the city. I did not make a direct request for an automobile, but merely suggest consideration of the matter. I am seeking an increase in salary, however."

NIGHT COUGHS

Terribly wearing on the system is the cough that comes at night and prevents sleep.

The constant coughing keeps the lungs and bronchial tubes in such an irritated and inflamed condition that they get no chance to heal.

Mrs. John McKerney, Lower Montague, P. E. I., writes: "About three years ago I caught a very bad cold accompanied with a sore throat and hoarseness, and was so hoarse you could hardly hear me speak. I could get no rest at night with the terrible annoying, hacking cough. I tried several remedies, but they did me no good. Finally I saw Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup advertised; got a bottle, and at once it gave me relief, and after using four my cough had all gone. Now I always keep 'Dr. Wood's' in the house, and shall recommend your wonderful remedy to others."

J. B. HAY TELLS HIGH IDEALS OF KIWANIS CLUBS

District Governor Reviews
Progress of Movement
Launched Seven Years Ago.

FOSTERS GOOD FEELING

Makes For Better Business and Helps Those in Need.

At the noon luncheon of the Kiwanis Club Friday, District Governor J. B. Hay addressed the members on the growth and development of the organization, the occasion being the seventh anniversary of the founding of Kiwanis clubs. Seven years ago the first Kiwanis Club was organized in the city of Detroit, and during that year three clubs were established. At the end of the first year there were 38 clubs, and since that time the numbers have doubled every year until now there are 640 clubs with 60,000 members all over the United States and Canada.

Speaking of the meaning of Kiwanis, the speaker said that nearly everybody had a different idea as to what it meant, but to him it meant an ideal, making for better relationship between man and man, and city and city.

Referring to the work of Kiwanis, Mr. Hay said that since the clubs had been started in the cities around London, much better feeling existed between the people of different cities, especially among the businessmen.

Kiwanis was the best and biggest organization of its kind in the world, and its sphere for influence was almost unlimited.

Last year the different Kiwanis clubs of the continent helped about 500,000 families at Christmas time. The object of the Kiwanis clubs was to get together businessmen who were in different lines of business, and so create clean and keen competition throughout the city.

If the members were full of the ideals of Kiwanis they would do the right and square thing all the time.

Next week's speaker will be Rev. T. S. Roy. At this meeting the Kiwanians plan to give Mr. Roy a hearty sendoff before he leaves for his new duties in New England.

Ed. Morley was the "silent booster" of the day, and gave a short address on "Boosting."

ORDERS DISPOSAL OF SPOILED MEAT

A round-up of the various slaughterhouses which send meat to the city, and an inspection of the meat in storage, owned by various butchers of the city, by Dr. Tamblin, veterinary inspector of the board of health, has resulted in quite a clean-up.

Fully a dozen cases of veal, weighing about 100 pounds each, have been ordered destroyed. This was in storage, and quite a number of turkeys, geese and chickens were also ordered to the incinerator. The trouble in this case was that rats had got at the fowl.

At the slaughterhouses many sink veal carcasses were found. In each case the excuse was that the veal was to be fed to hogs, and as there was no indication of evidence of sale, nothing could be done.

LIKELY TO TAKE STEPS TO TEST LONDON HERDS

Dr. C. F. Tamblin, veterinary inspector of the board of health, is just back from Ottawa with some fresh information in regard to the testing for tuberculosis of herds supplying milk to the city. As a result of information gained it is likely that steps will be taken immediately to have the London herds tested.

The Dominion government veterinary inspection department will do the work on the request of the city board of health. However, the council will have to give its approval also. The government foots the bills for two years, and when tubercular animals are found they are slaughtered and the owners compensated.

Dr. Tamblin thinks the test will be a good one for the city, as it will provide a supply of certified milk.

While at Ottawa Dr. Tamblin attended the pet stock show.

DELHI VOTE RECORDED AGAINST NEW POLICIES

London, Eng., Jan. 20.—The London Times reports that a telegram has been received in London from Delhi, British India, saying the legislative assembly there voted 33 to 33 against a resolution recommending the abandonment of Government repression.

An amendment covering the policy of non-co-operation and government repression, demanding the release of all prisoners, arrested in pursuance of the Government's policy, and asking for a round-table conference also was defeated.

CENTENNIAL CLASS HONORS PRESIDENT

Presents Silver Casserole to Mrs. Walton At Reunion.

The Senior Bible Class of Centennial Methodist Church Sunday School held its class reunion and banquet. The chair was occupied by Mrs. Watkin, president of the class, when the following program was rendered: Duet by Misses R. Tuft and G. Udy; piano solo by Miss Smith; reading by Mrs. C. T. Allen; solo by H. Watkin, and a piano solo by Jos. M. Calk, after which a dainty banquet was served in the dining hall of the church. A very pleasing feature of the evening was the presentation of a silver casserole to the teacher of the class, Mrs. Walton, from the class members. The address was read by Mrs. Watkin, and the presentation made by Mrs. M. Smith. Mrs. Walton made a suitable reply, and speeches were also made during the evening by the pastor, Rev. A. E. M. Thomson, Wickett, Golding and R. Tuft, superintendent of the Sunday school. The tables were tastefully decorated in pink and white by Jos. M. Calk, and tea was served by the teachers of the primary class of the school, Misses Wright, Skinner, Watkin and Lancaster.

Town Topics.

THE SECOND NOTICE, or rather a warning to those who ignored the first call for Ward 4 income returns to the city assessment department, is producing results, and the belated papers are steadily being filed.

The assessment office will be open Saturday afternoon to take income affidavits.

BUILDING PERMITS continue slowly. The average so far this month being well below one a day and the total to date being 15 with a value of $12,245. The latest permits were issued to L. B. Kerr, 195-198 Simcoe, new veranda, $500; W. E. Clark, 474 Grosvenor, stereo garage, $150, and J. B. Blackwell, 227 St. Julien street, new kitchen, $500.

A CITY-WIDE DRIVE for increased affiliation, has been instituted by the labor men of the city. All unions which are not at this moment represented on the floor of the local Trades and Labor Council are being petitioned to meet in general session next week with delegates from the latter body, when an effort will be made to straighten out all alleged differences.

CLAIMS "WATERWAYS" WILL AID PRODUCERS

Park, N. D., Jan. 20.—Completion of the Great Northern Lawley deep waterways project would result in northwest wheat producers receiving from eight to twelve cents a bushel more for their grain, former governor W. L. Harding of Iowa told the tri-state growers' convention here last night.

DR. KING REPORTED TO HAVE PORTFOLIO OFFER

Ottawa, Jan. 20.—The prime minister returned to Ottawa this morning from Toronto and is expected to be joined here within the next day or so by members of the cabinet, who, having received acclamations yesterday, are freed from further attendance in their constituencies. Hon. Charles Stewart and Hon. Dr. J. H. King are both expected to arrive from the West within the next week or so. Hon. Dr. King, it is said, has been offered the portfolio of public works and on his arrival here he will confer with the prime minister as to his acceptance.

QUEBEC UNEASY ABOUT CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

Quebec, Jan. 20.—Canadian Press.—That there is a decided uneasiness in the civic health department at the present time with regard to contagious disease and influenza in the city of Quebec, was affirmed by Dr. O. R. Paquin, chief city medical officer, in a statement which he made to the Quebec Chronicle last evening.

All precautions should be taken, Dr. Paquin said, to guard against flu. He understood, he said, that Spanish influenza was raging in London and in Paris, and he recalled that in 1918, when the dread disease had manifested itself in London and Paris, it had not taken long to reach Quebec. The public, he said, should not disregard the fact that flu attacked all the organs, and frequently resulted in the death of the persons who were ill or in weakened condition when this disease attacked them.

OLD LAW MAKES WEDDINGS ILLEGAL

Thousands of Quebec People Rendered Unlawfully Married by Statute of 1829.

Quebec, Jan. 20.—Because a law passed in the year 1829, providing that only clergymen who are British subjects may perform marriage ceremonies in the province of Quebec was never amended, thousands of people in the province who were married in good faith before clergymen are not legally wedded. Remedial legislation, it is understood, will be put through the legislature this session to deal with the matter.

In 1829 Quebec was known as Lower Canada, and was governed by the constitutional act of 1791. When Confederation came in 1867 no change was made in the statute regarding marriage. Since that time nobody has ever bothered about the matter, until a few days ago, when matters were brought to a head by a Unitarian clergyman in Montreal being refused a register for 1922 because he "was not a British subject." Quebec was immediately communicated with, and the situation is now to be dealt with by the government.

WARNS YOUTHS TO DISCLOSE TRUTH

women had gone to a hotel on Queen street on Oct. 23.

Counsel Demands Truth. W. K. Murphy, counsel for the defence, claimed several times that Uquhart's evidence did not agree with previous testimony. This, witness explained by saying he had read his solicitor's account of his previous evidence, and also the papers. Finally, he admitted knowing what an oath was, and that he had not said certain things at the inquest.

If I had my mind that you were swearing what was not true, I could direct you to the indicted, and if found guilty, you could be sent to the penitentiary for life," said the judge, who also warned Collins after he had given his evidence.

Collins denied ever receiving any money at any time for acting for Mrs. Leslie, although he had done so before in a similar case.

She had only sent him $30 from London to keep for her until she arrived in Toronto. The fact that she had sent him a postal order for $15 was brought out in evidence given by Mrs. Dean, sub-postmistress, London.

He told of telephoning her to come to the city, "as a girl was in wrong." He denied mentioning to Mrs. Leslie the word "operation," the girl's name, or anything else, and he did not know Miss Lyons at all, even though she had been with Uquhart when he had introduced him to Mrs. Leslie on Queen street. He gave Mrs. Leslie $100 when she had asked him for $30 to pay a doctor's bill.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Jan. 20.—Although the aggregate was not as large as yesterday, trading this morning embraced a wider range, with over 300 stocks appearing in the sales column. Canadian and Toronto Railway were again the leaders. Canadian sold as high as 31 1/4 and closed at 30 1/4, a fraction above yesterday, with Toronto Railway unchanged at 71. Steamships preferred showed early strength, with sale at 42 1/2, but later sold off to 42 1/4, its close of yesterday. Dominion Steel at 27 1/4 was 1 1/2 above yesterday's close. War Loans were dealt in freely.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

EGGS NOW SELLING AT 55 CENTS DOZEN

Slight Decrease in Price Is Registered On Local Market.

There was a small attendance at the local market on Friday. A few loads of hay were offered for sale, but the demand was slow.

The prices of wheat remains steady. Live hog prices advanced slightly, now being quoted at $10 75 per cwt.

Dressed hogs are in good demand and are quoted at $14 25 per cwt. There is very little demand for potatoes. Those that are sold bring $15 00 per bag. The majority of citizens purchased their winter supply in the fall, when they were cheaper, and when there was a larger variety to select from.

The demand for apples is good, but those that have been offered lately have been of a poor quality. Eggs are in good demand, and from 46 1/2 to 48 a dozen wholesale, and 50 to 52 a dozen retail is being paid.

It is expected that there will be a large attendance at Saturday's market. The roads are reported to be in good condition, and this is the only thing that usually deters farmers from attending the London market.

STANDARD EXCHANGE

Toronto, Jan. 20.—Trading on the Standard Mining Exchange this morning fell far below that of the early session yesterday, and McIntyre, Holly and Dome Mines were the only gold leaders to improve. McIntyre added 2 points and closed at $2 25; Holly was 10 better at $7 95, while Dome Mines strengthened to $32 50. Lake Shore, Teck-Hughes and Kirkland were down a point to $1 25, 27 1/2 and 31c respectively. In the silvers, Beaver was unchanged; Trethewey lost 3/4c.

NEW YORK STOCKS

New York, Jan. 20.—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Gulf States Steel resumed its seasonal advance at the opening of today's stock market. The first transaction showed a 3-point rise to $5, duplicating yesterday's maximum price.

After reacting point the stock rallied to $7, a new high record. Republic, which is prominently mentioned in connection with one or more proposed mergers of independent steel companies, suddenly shot forward on a succession of dealings to 41, a gain of 10 1/2 points.

Within the first fifteen minutes Crucible, Midvale, Vanadium, Republic and Colorado Fuel registered gains of 1 to 5 points. Other stocks, including prominent rails and specialties, were irregular.

COLORED MAN PREFERS DEATH TO N. CAROLINA

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Declaring that he would "rather jump from Brooklyn Bridge," William Whitfield, colored, today started back to Onslow County, North Carolina, in custody of Sheriff Taylor, to face a hold-up charge.

Captured last June on request of North Carolina authorities, Whitfield waged a long but unsuccessful fight against extradition.

"THE NATIONAL WAY" TO OTTAWA.

On your next trip to Ottawa travel "The National Way." The train service of the Canadian National Railways between the "Queen City" and the capital is unexcelled. Solves Pelee Island Troubles

PELEE ISLAND ICEBOAT.

PELEE ISLAND, Jan. 19.—A man's prosperity is not measured in automobiles, but in iceboats on this island. It's all the style to own one of these speed kings.

At present the heavier types are in favor for the terrific winds of the last few days have been a constant source of dread for the owners of the lighter models. And so, despite the weather, the parties and dances on the island are being well attended by the residents across the channel. Only once last week was mail for the islanders cut off.

POWERS READY TO ADOPT NAVAL PEACE TREATY

Clause Relating To Fortifications Now Alone Still Awaiting Revision.

RESTRICTS PLANE SIZE

Kato Lauds Work of Conference At Tokio Meeting of Kensei-Kai.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 19.—The preamble to the naval or five-power treaty, which is now understood to be complete with the exception to article 19, relating to fortifications, is as follows:

"The United States of America, the British Empire, France, Italy and Japan, desiring to contribute to the maintenance of the general peace and reduce the competition in armament, have resolved with a view to accomplishing those purposes to conclude a treaty to limit their respective naval armaments and to that end have appointed as their plenipotentiaries (here follows the names of the representatives of the powers in Washington)."

The most important article of the treaty is that naming capital ships of the powers which are to be retained. The text of the articles of the new treaty dealing with aircraft carriers are as follows:

Restrict Plane Size.
"Article Nine—No aircraft carrier exceeding 27,000 standard tons displacement shall be acquired or constructed for or within the jurisdiction of any of the contracting powers; provided, however, that any of the contracting powers may, without increasing its tonnage of aircraft carriers, build not more than two aircraft carriers each of a tonnage not more than 33,000 tons.

"And, in order to effect economy any of the contracting powers may use for this purpose any two of their ships whether already constructed or in course of construction, which would otherwise be scrapped under the provisions of this treaty."

Another paragraph of the treaty of importance is that relating to the conversion of vessels, which reads textually as follows:

"Clause Three (second part of rules for scrapping vessels)—Not more than one capital ship may be retained for these purposes by any of the contracting powers.

"Of the capital ships which would otherwise be scrapped by this treaty in and after the year 1931, France and Italy may each retain two sea-going vessels for training purposes especially, either gunnery or torpedo schools. France and Italy respectively undertake to remove and destroy their training towers and not to use such ships as vessels of war."

JAPS ASSAIL SEIYU-KAI.
TOKIO, Jan. 19.—The Seiyu-Kai, the Japanese Government party, must be held responsible for maladministration at home and abroad, says the platform of the Kensei-Kai, or opposition party, formulated at a mass meeting today preparatory to the resumption of the diet next Saturday.

Among the announced policies of the Kensei-Kai are: Co-operation with the powers for maintaining peace; universal suffrage; regulation of prices so as to lighten the burdens of the people; limitation of armament; development of education; naval retrenchments, and improvement of popular economic methods.

Viscount Kato, president of the party, delivered a speech, in which he saw no reason to decry the work of the Washington conference, since, he said, the Kensei-Kai had first advocated the restriction of armaments. But he deplored what he called disregard for the spirit of the Anglo-Japanese alliance. He expressed dissatisfaction with the limitation of naval armaments.

The four-power treaty, he thought, was insignificant, beyond accomplishing the abrogation of the Anglo-Japanese alliance; but the speaker found merit in the declaration in favor of peace on the part of the strong powers.

He ascribed the failure of the Shanghai negotiations to impatience and indiscretion on the part of the Japanese authorities. He said general military reorganization was necessary in line with the proposed naval limitations.
