FIRST ACCLAMATION.

Conservatives get it in North Waterloo—Reformers Withdraw Opposition.

Berlin, Ont., Oct. 20.—The Conservative nominating convention for North Waterloo was held in the Opera House here yesterday afternoon. Joseph E. Seagram, of Waterloo, the old member, was unanimously chosen. No other name was submitted.

The president laid a proposition before the convention, which came from the Liberal party, whereby they offered to withdraw opposition to Mr. Seagram's election in the Dominion contest if the Conservative party would in return allow the Reform nominees to go in for the remaining period in the Local House. The convention, after some lengthy discussion, ratified the agreement. The constituency is now vacant for the Local House, owing to the unseating of the late Reform member.

TOOK RISKS AND WAS CAUGHT.

George W. McClurg, a young man said to belong to Carleton Place, Middlesex county, was arrested in London last night charged with perjury. McClurg is employed by the Liberal Association in that city. As soon as the registration booths opened, McClurg was on hand and it is alleged got his name on the list by swearing that he had resided in the city for three months. His arrest was the result.

The Imperial Liberal Council has adopted a resolution in favor of re-organizing the Liberal party upon the basis of social reform at home and of the consolidation and ultimate federation of the United Kingdom with the colonies.

JOHN CHARLTON BOLTS THE LIBERAL POLICY.

John Charlton, who is perhaps the most important Liberal among Sir Wilfrid's followers outside the cabinet, is the latest politician to denounce the present ministerial policy. He has issued an address to the electors of Norfolk in which he says some things that will make hard reading for those Liberals who still believe in the Government. Mr. Charlton has couched his address in very moderate language, but taken as a whole it utterly disapproves of the policy which has been and still is being pursued at Ottawa. In his address Mr. Charlton says:

"The present Administration, which appeals to the people, has a record of something over four years to present. This record, in some respects, falls short of the expectations entertained by those who endorsed the principles enunciated by the platform of the Liberal party convention, held in 1893. It is, of course, difficult to put into practice the ideals of Opposition. Exceptional causes, such as the enlargement of the St. Lawrence Canals, the opening up of the Yukon district, and the expenses of sending a contingent to South Africa, have unavoidably increased the expenditure, and while I do not say that satisfactory reasons cannot be adduced for the large increase of controllable and capital expenditure, and the considerable increase of the public debt, I feel called upon to announce it as my firm conviction that our public improvements are now as far advanced as the necessities of the country in the near future are likely to require, and that the time has arrived more fully to redeem the pledges of the Liberal party, by practising greater economy in public expenditure, and by reducing the public debt. The expenditure should not, in any case, in my opinion, exceed the amount of the revenue, and the public debt should be reduced each year to at least the extent of the sinking fund."

"While holding that Canada is not likely to be able to get preferential treatment for her food products in the British markets, owing to the relatively small amount of our trade with that country, as compared with her export and import trade with foreign nations, I am free to confess that I may be mistaken in this view. Canada now discriminates in favor of the British importer to the extent of 33-1-3 per cent., and this discrimination is purely gratuitous and sentimental, for Great Britain gives to Canada not the slightest tariff concession that does not equally apply to all other nations. In addition to this discrimination, we have put forth great efforts, spent much money and sacrificed many valuable lives for the purpose of maintaining the cause of the Empire in South Africa. All this has been done without a return, and has been done ungrudgingly, and perhaps there may be some force in the assertion that under the circumstances it would have done no harm if a greater effort had been made to obtain from Great Britain some trade concession in our favor, and it is not unreasonable to suppose that at least some slight advantage, such, perhaps, as the removal of the restriction upon the importation of our cattle, might have been obtained from the British Government."

"I should, if again permitted to sit in the House of Commons, urge the opening of negotiations with the Home Government, for the purpose of obtaining, if possible, trade concessions from that nation, which will put us in a more favorable position in her market than that enjoyed by the foreign states."

"The government was fortunate in assuming office just at the beginning of a period of prosperity, which not only applies to us but to all commercial nations, and which is well to realize has been due to the blessings of Providence, and to causes beyond the control of the Canadian government. It is the duty of a government, under such circumstances, to follow the example of a wise ruler of old, and in years of plenty provide for meeting the exigencies of succeeding years of scarcity. The increased prosperity has caused a very large increase in the public revenue. Under the stimulus of overflowing coffers, a scale of expenditure has been set that it will probably be found necessary to recede from, when a period of bad times with decreased receipts comes, and it is desirable that action in this direction should be taken at once."

"The Liberal convention of 1893 declared in favor of selling the public lands to actual settlers only. The restriction of the convention bearing upon this question, was as follows: 'That in the opinion of the convention, the sale of public lands of the Dominion should be to actual settlers only, and not to speculators, upon reasonable terms of settlement, and in such areas as can be reasonably occupied and cultivated by the settler.'"

"I had the honor of first introducing this publicly by resolution in Parliament in 1880. Since the Liberal party came into power no legislation has been placed upon the statute book to give effect to this salutary policy, the observance of which would have been

"Example is Better Than Precept."

It is not what we say, but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, that tells the story. Thousands of testimonials are examples of what Hood's has done for others, and what it will do for you.

Dyspepsia - "I was weak and had fainting spells. Dyspepsia and indigestion in severe form troubled me. Five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla made me well and strong." Mrs. William VanValkenburg, Whitby, Ont.

A Good Medicine - "We have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla in our family as a purifying medicine and used Hood's Pills for biliousness and found both medicines very effective. For impure blood we know Hood's Sarsaparilla is a good medicine." R. S. Feltz, publisher, Box, Atwood, Ont.

the settlement of the Northwest, and to protect the settler from the greed of the land speculator. I shall, if again elected to represent you, press for legislation in the house."

"The policy of making grants of public lands to railway corporations has been carried beyond prudent limits in the past, and I think the time has arrived when the making of grants of this character should either cease entirely or be made to a very limited extent, and with careful regard to the public interest."

Mr. Charlton also expressed unqualified approval of the sending of the troops to South Africa.

Have you registered?
T. A. Smith has always been a fall fellow, well met.

Are we to conclude the Liberals are deliberately trying to avoid the question of prices?
Wonder if The Globe will publish John Charlton's address to his constituents?

Hon. Mr. Fielding came to this section to get the glad hand and is receiving the key mitt.

The Globe has not yet plucked up enough courage to publish the Cook correspondence. Still it pretends to be a newspaper.

RHEUMATISM

No sure cure is yet known for chronic rheumatism. No man living can cure it always. He can try. If he fails he can try another way.

There are many ways. Some harmless; others worse than the rheumatism. Better not take the chance of quack medicines.

Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil cures rheumatism only by crowding it out by vital force.

If that succeeds, it succeeds; if that fails, it fails. It never does any harm.

We'll send you a little to try if you like.

Mr. Stephens has made two speeches, but has not yet been fit to come down to the issues which directly affect the people of Kent.

Ald. Stephens can talk from practical knowledge about binder twine, farm implements and coal oil. Why doesn't he do it instead of wandering off into trade returns?

What is to be expected from the rest of the county when it is necessary to take the Minister of Finance out to Tisbury to try and convince the electors of that section that new Liberalism is the genuine article.

If Kingston Penitentiary binder twine were sold by the Government at five cents and retailed to the farmers at 15, approximately speaking, who got the big rakeoff? Mr. Stephens, who is a dealer in twine, did not, but he could probably give the plundered farmers a good idea as to who did.

Still another life-long Liberal has joined the Conservative ranks in Ottawa. Dan Doyle Darcy, merchant, of By Ward market, has for twenty years been one of the best workers of the Liberals here. In that ward, but, like ex-Ald. Joseph Rowan, and P. O'Rielly, he has broken with the party of broken pledges, and is now in the thick of the fight for Messrs. Birkett and Champagne, the Conservative candidates.

ABERDEEN'S VIEW.

Ottawa Journal.
Lord Aberdeen condemns the Boer war and asks the British people to condemn the "government that had commenced the war." Somebody should tell him that they have done that by firing the Kruger Government.

THIS TEMPERATE COUNTRY.

Ottawa Star.
That drinking is on the decrease in Canada and that Robert Birk's charge made a couple of years ago in the Canadian Magazine that the people of this country were excessive drinkers was not true, is shown by the figures for 1899. Canada used 3-1/2 gallon of alcohol per head of population; Australia 1-7/8 gallons; United States, 2 gallons; Great Britain, 4-1/8 gallons; France, 9 gallons.

THE OTTAWA TOLL-GATE.

The Mail.
The charge levied upon the Intercolonial railway employee for his office was $100.

Let us see how things are going:—
$1,500,000 for a railway subsidy.
$85,000 for a railway charter.
$10,000 for a senatorship.
$100 for a little government office.
How much did the Standard Oil pay for its franchise which enables it to take $1,500,000 a year out of the people?
How much do our industries expect to pay for legislation permitting them to live?
Out with this rotten system.
Out with the men who are responsible for it.

GETTING RID OF THE HESSIAN FLY.

Cincinnati Price-Current.
An Indiana farmer is said to have discovered a method of getting rid of the Hessian fly. Last fall he anticipated trouble from this pest, so as soon as his wheat was up he sowed a barrel of nipsacked lime on the thirty acres he had in this crop. A few days later he repeated the dose and later went over the field a third time. He says that there was not a fly to be seen in the whole field, nor any of its eggs, though adjoining fields were full of them. He sowed the lime with a hand-sower or fiddle. If the fly can be got rid of as easily as this the discovery will indeed prove a boon to grain growers.

What to Feed Cattle.

A good many farmers feed their stock what they happen to have around regardless of whether it is good or bad for the animals. In this way much damage is done to stock. Topping corn has gone out of fashion. It used to be common. The practical use has not been satisfactorily explained. Its discontinuance indicates that it did no good. Farming is going forward, not backward. The manure pile is not a nuisance. It is one of the best things the farmer has on his farm. The fields become "tired" and need assistance. The land in the west does wonders but it should not be overworked.

Never let stock suffer for water. You know how it is yourself if you are out in the field with nothing to drink. Horses suffer the same way, only they can go longer on account of the capacity of their stomachs.

More and more the farmers are patronizing the creameries. The big reason for this is that it saved trouble time and money. However, farmers should see that they get a price for their milk warranted by the circumstances.

Don't be afraid of harrowing wheat land too much. The ground should be clean of all rubbish, well plowed, carefully harrowed and sown with good seed. It is a business proposition and farmers should be careful.

There is really no difference between a roan and red short-horn. Time was when roans were the most common and are associated in the public mind along with the short-horn, but the roans are equally as good, equally as popular and the breed is holding its own.

When you buy Blue Ribbon

there can only be one best.

You Don't Take Medicine

You don't take Vapo-Cresolene into the stomach, you breathe it. Put some Cresolene in the vaporizer, light the lamp beneath and then breathe in the vapor. It's easy, convenient, safe. It can be used with success, even for infants.

Don't you see at once how valuable such a remedy must be for hay fever, diphtheria, sore throat, catarrh, asthma, and other diseases of the air passages? For whooping-cough it is a perfect specific, often curing the disease in from one to three days.

What is Vapo-Cresolene? It is what the doctors call a coal-tar product; that is it's something like carbolic acid, only it destroys disease germs.

Keep Vapo-Cresolene on hand; it's not expensive, for the vaporizer lasts a lifetime and the Cresolene costs but little.

F. N. MILLER, M.D., Rogersville, Pa.

"I find your remedy to be the best I have ever tried in the treatment of whooping-cough, catarrh, fever, asthma, also for disinfecting rooms where scarlet fever and diphtheria prevail."

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere. The Vaporizer and Lamp, which should last a lifetime, and a bottle of Cresolene complete, $1.50; extra supplies of Vapo-Cresolene 25 cents and 50 cents. Illustrated booklet containing physicians' testimonials free upon request. VAPOR-CRESOLENE CO., 160 Fulton St., New York, U.S.A.

has all Canada to its back in testifying to its merits in everything that goes to make it the most perfect stove in the world of stoves to-day—and the army of 'Souvenir' owners recruits by the thousands every year. Would that be the case if it had not been proven "the best by test" for appearance—convenience for up-to-date appointments—improvements—economy in fuel and general good service as a heater, cooker and

BULLER'S TRIALS

In His Own Defence He Tells of the Difficulties

He Had to Face When He First Landed in South Africa—A General Without an Army.

London, Oct. 19.—The Pietermaritzburg correspondent of the Daily Mail writes as follows: "In his speech returning, thanks for the award of honor, Sir Redvers Buller made a spirited defence of his strategy. He said he did not believe that any general had ever faced a situation so difficult as that which confronted him when he disembarked at Cape Town without an army, and with no hope of one for another seven weeks longer. "I found Mafeking and Kimberley beleaguered," he continued, "and the two main avenues across the Free State, Bethulie bridge and Norval's Point in the hands of the enemy, with Ladysmith nearly surrounded. If I had waited for an army, and then advanced on Bloemfontein it would have been at least twelve weeks before I could have exerted any influence on the situation. In that time the Boers would have completely overrun and occupied Natal, and what would have been the effect of that on Europe and the British people? "Gen. Buller then proceeded to make the interesting announcement that Sir Evelyn Wood had wired asking to be allowed to come out and serve under him. He said he was never so tempted in his life to take a man at his word, for he had begun to look upon Natal as a forlorn hope; but it would have been cowardly to have let Sir Evelyn come to take the risk. "I knew that if I failed to relieve Ladysmith," he exclaimed, "I should lose the supreme command. I lost it, and rightly, I think. But I had taken on the risk, and I had to see it through to a conclusion. "Sir Redvers paid the highest compliments to the loyalty and gallantry of his troops under the tremendous strain, a strain, he believed, such as no soldiers in the history of the world had ever to undergo before."

Zinc as a Scale Preventer. It is well known that zinc slabs suspended in steam boilers prevent the formation of scale, and large quantities are used annually for this purpose. The following directions will enable anyone to use it successfully. The proportions necessary to insure complete protection are one square foot of zinc to fifty square feet of heating surface in new boilers, which may be diminished after a time to one in seventy-five or even one in 100 square feet.

Keeping Eggs Cool. "It has seemed strange to me," said Mr. Nagleby, "to see eggs among the things that are set out on the window sill at this season to keep cool. Milk always seems all right there, and butter, and some other things; but eggs didn't seem so clear. But Mr. Nagleby tells me that eggs are always kept in a cool place; usually in the refrigerator; that they keep better cool, and heat much better, and that indeed it is not unusual when eggs are to be kept up to see them first right on the ice." New York Sun.

AFTER THE FELLING OF THE FOREST

Gone is a great ancestral home! To millions was it blest; For centuries its doors have stood Open to every guest. Gone are its wondrous arches now! No more, at night's decline, Will they resound— from countless throats— To melodies divine! No record of its guests have we; Sheltered beneath its dome; But myriads of nature's kin Have called this place their home.

Scattered throughout the land are they, To north, to south, to west— The deer that drank its waters cool, Birds that here learned to nest.

Oh, nevermore will they return, These halcyon days of peace, For gone is their ancestral home Where they were born and bred! Nothing can bring peace but yourself, Nothing can bring you peace but the triumph of principle.—Emerson.

The Man Who Could Shoot

A Tale of the Old Days of the Wild West.

"Talkin' about marshals of tough towns, I often think of Taylor, who was at Baxter Springs, Kas, in the early days," said an old-timer, as he shifted his chair and began his story. "In those days Baxter Springs was the jumpin' off place. It lay close to the Indian Territory line, beyond which was nothing but cattle and cowboys and hell as far as the Rio Grande. Twice a year the cattle were driven from that vast region to the railroad at Baxter Springs, for shipment to market. The cowboys and cowboys had an opportunity to touch civilization, drink up its whiskey, go against faro and monte, and shoot the town full of holes. "The class of citizens necessary for the entertainment of these visitors was no small part of the population of Baxter Springs, in spite of the fact that many of them in the course of a year were killed off, chewed up and used to decorate lone trees on the prairie. The push got so strong sometimes that it was necessary to do these things. I remember once a man named Taylor was called on matters of public importance. Among a few it was known that a vigilance committee was to be organized. Several prominent citizens had been murdered. These men came to the meeting and were suddenly they were seized, hauled to the edge of the town, and swung up in a row on the limb of a big cotton-tree. It was sudden, but it had its effect. "Baxter Springs was built of low, shakelin' frame houses, with a saloon every other door, glittering with lights at night that were an invitation to dangers as well as dissipation. It always seems to me that any man who acted as marshal in a town like that had grown tired of living, but shrank from killing himself with his own hand. In nine cases out of ten, it was about the same as suicide to get the place. The marshal was a mark for every bad man that came up the trail. It was a cowboy's ambition to shoot a town marshal. Many times the marshals were killed, but this only added to the excitement of the fight. He was regarded as the representative of that element of society which the tough citizen—armed and which he had gone into uncharted regions to escape. "Baxter Springs had tried all kinds of marshals, big and little, sluggers and peace officers, but they all had been shot down. The last marshal had just been killed when Taylor was first heard of. Where he came from no one ever knew. He drifted into the town, and he was west. He was never known by any other name than just plain Taylor. He was a quiet, inoffensive-looking chap, with light, dusty-colored hair and a beard that was as white as his hair. He was nearly six feet tall. He had cold, blue eyes without a glint or sparkle to them. He was dressed in a plain suit, and he looked like a man who had been in the army. At first his request for the appointment was laughed at as a joke, as the place was one of more responsibility than most. The mayor, however, in commendation he offered was that he had had some experience in Arizona. In some way which I never understood Taylor got the place. "By the very nature of life at Baxter Springs, Taylor was compelled to begin making a record the moment he put on his star. Every bully in town primed himself to take the new marshal on his own terms. Taylor was a tall, thin man, with a long, straight nose and a thin mustache. He had only two trustworthy friends—his pistol and his physical strength. His strength was remarkable. He was not muscular, but he was like steel. He could take a man by the collar and flounce him all over the street. "The bully of bullies was a farmer named Dave Ramsey, a giant in both size and strength. Taylor always wore a red flannel shirt open at the neck and showing his hairy chest; a big, slouching sombrero, and his trousers, without suspenders, stuffed into his high-heeled boots. His face was covered with a thick coat of black whiskers. Peaceful when sober, he was a Cheyenne with a scarping knife in each hand when tanked up with booze. It was his custom to go on the warpath once a week. He had fought over every foot of ground in Baxter Springs. No marshal had ever been able to take him single-handed or make him knock under with a bluff gun play. "Dave showed up on schedule time a few days after Taylor went into office, and he came down the street spoutin' brimstone. Everybody was on hand to see the fun. Taylor walked up to Ramsey, just as easy as boy's' chips in faro, and told him to stop his war dance and go home. Ramsey leered at Taylor a moment and then roared with laughter, wanting to know "where that tow-headed kid blew from. Ramsey made a few side steps and bantered Taylor to fight. Taylor jumped him like a streak of lightning, and down they went, with Taylor on top. Baxter Springs soon got into a fever of excitement. What about the woman? Well, that's another story."—N. Y. Sun.

Generosity during life is a very different thing from generosity in the hour of death. One proceeds from genuine liberality and benevolence, the other from pride and fear.

THE WAY IT BEGINS

Just a chance meeting in the rain, and so many things to talk about. That means wet feet and a neglected cold. Then comes the hacking, lingering cough, and the doctor look, serious and talks of pine woods or mountain air. That is the time when Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery proves its value. It has cured hundreds of cases of "weak lungs," obstinate, lingering cough, bronchitis, spitting of blood, and other forms of disease, which if neglected or unskillfully treated lead to consumption. "About eight years ago I had a dreadful cough and hoarseness," writes Mrs. Ida F. Johnson, Sterling, Sanpete Co., Utah. "I tried several kinds of medicine but without any effect; at last I tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, of which I have taken four bottles, and my cough is entirely cured. I am now well and strong. Sick people are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence private. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE MORTGAGE.

The mortgage is a self-supporting institution. It always holds its own. It calls for just as many dollars when wheat is cheap as when it is dear. It is not affected by the drought. It is not drowned out by heavy rains. It never winter kills. Late springs and early frosts never trouble it. Potato bugs never disturb it. Moth and rust do not destroy it. It grows nights, Sundays, rainy days and holidays. It brings a sure crop every year and sometimes twice a year. It produces cash every time. It does not have to wait for the market to advance. It is not subject to the speculation of the bulls and bears on the board of trade. It is a loan that galls and frets and chafes. It is a burden that the farmer cannot shake off. It is with him morning, noon and night. It eats with him at the table. It gets under his pillow when he sleeps. It rides upon his shoulders during the day. It consumes his grain crop. It devours his cattle. It selects his finest horses and the fattest steers. It shares the children's bread, and robs them of half their clothes. It stoops the toller's back with its remorseless burden of care. It hardens his hands, benumbs his intellect, prematurely whitens his locks, and oftentimes sends him and his aged wife over the hill to the poor house. It is the inexorable and exacting task-master. Its whip is as merciless and cruel as the lash of the slave driver. It is a menace to liberty, a hindrance to progress, a curse to the world.—Norton's Monthly.

AN AIRSHIP THAT

Can be Operated Successfully
In the Air

Does up 2,000 Feet, Tacks and Steers Against the Wind—Also Makes a Safe Descent.

Friedrichshafen, Oct. 20.—Count von Zeppelin gave his airship another trial
yesterday, and achieved a notable success.
After rising, the airship remained poised at a height of 600 metres for three-quarters of an hour. It then made a series of tacks,
and performed sundry turning manoeuvres,
after which it was steered against the wind.
It finally headed toward Immenstadt,
where the inventor landed after a trip that lasted about an hour.

The King and Queen of Wurtemberg witnessed the trial from the deck of a steamer.

The airship carried four persons besides Count Zeppelin. When it rose the wind was from the north-east, blowing with a velocity of three and one-half miles a second.
When the airship had attained a height of 600 yards it described a circle, and then dove with the wind in a generally circular direction for about six miles. It then again described a circle, after which it made headway against the wind, which was then blowing with increased velocity. Eventually the airship descended with great ease and steadiness into the lake, and was towed to a wharf. The experiment was most successful. Its stability, equilibrium, and steering powers were excellent. It is generally agreed that considerable progress has been made since the first ascent.

NOTICE TO THE WORLD!

London, Oct. 20.—Germany and Great Britain have formed an alliance to maintain the territorial integrity of China and to keep the ports of the empire open to trade. The terms of this agreement, which was arrived at Oct.
16, between Premier Salisbury and Count von Hatzfeldt, German ambassador to England, are officially given in fixed terms as notice to the world.

Twitchy Muscles and Sleep- lessness.

The hopeless heart sickness that settles on a man or woman whose nerves are shattered by disease can best be pictured in contrast with a patient who has been in the "depths" and has been dragged from them by South American Nervine. George Webster, of Forest, Ont., says: "I owe my life to it. Everything else failed to cure."

DOM PAUL HAS SAILED

Afraid of His Own Boers He Stole Secretly on Board a Dutch Warship.

Lorenzo Marquez, Oct. 20.—Mr. Kruger was taken secretly on board the Dutch cruiser Gelderland early yesterday morning. This vessel will take
Mr. Kruger to Holland. The reason given for Mr. Kruger's embarkation was that he feared the Boers here would attack him. The feeling of the refugees against Kruger for feeding from the country is very strong. He left the governor's house in a hired carriage, accompanied by Dr. Hay-mann, the governor following in a private carriage. The party drove through the customs house, and embarked from the customs pier instead of from the passenger jetty. It is reported that the Gelderland will sail
to-day.

Land Grants in Nipissing to be Granted to Those of 1866-70.

Ottawa, Oct. 20.—The veterans of the Fenian raids of 1866 and 1870 held a reunion and banquet at the Brunswick Hotel
last night. In the course of the evening
Col. J. P. McMillan, of Cornwall, announced that the Government of Ontario had promised to give grants to veterans who had resided in the province. He said that he was on his way to Toronto to make final arrangements. He subsequently would go to Sudb. St. Marie. The grants were situated in Nipissing and comprised over 10,000 acres.

STARTS WITH A COLD.

Catarrah is a Lingering Cold Which Refuses to Yield to Ordinary Treatment.

Catarrah usually starts with a cold
in the head, and if left unchecked, it spreads from one part to another lined with this same membrane. This is why catarrh in the head soon effects the throat and finally the stomach itself, bringing on chronic catarrh of the stomach, which is a most obstinate form of dyspepsia.

Everybody is now well agreed that catarrh is a blood disease and not a local one, and the attempt to cure by local applications simply gives temporary relief from the purely local symptoms without the remotest effect
in staying the progress of the disease.

There is a new preparation recently offered to the public that is apparently destined to do away with every other form of catarrh treatment.

This new remedy is not a secret patent medicine, but is a large, pleasant tasting tablet composed of Saugarin, Eucalyptol, Gaiacol, Hydrastin and other valuable and harmless specifics, which are taken internally, and seem to have a remarkably beneficial effect upon the blood and mucous membranes, apparently eliminating the catarrhal poison from the whole system.

These tablets while being pleasant,
convenient and absolutely safe to use
have made cures in long standing cases of catarrh that are little short of marvellous. They are sold by druggists under name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and any catarrh sufferer who has tried inhalers, lotions, ointments, salves, etc., and realized their inco-venience and uselessness, will fully appreciate the good results of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and will surely give up with the effective results of even a few days' use.

All druggists sell them at 50 cents
for full sized package and no matter where the catarrh is located, in the head, throat, lungs or stomach, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets will surprise you with the effective results of even a
few days' use.

THE following extract from a letter of the Inland Revenue Department will be of interest to our readers.

"In accordance with the decisions of the British Courts there can be no doubt that Alum Baking Powders are injurious to the health. The next systematic collection of Baking Powders will be made in December of 1900, and proceedings will be instituted against all vendors of Baking Powders found to contain alum."

That is plain enough—anyone who uses Baking Powder will be just as anxious as the government that these powders should be pure. In the analysis of our Pure Cream of Tartar Powder there was no trace of alum. You are perfectly safe when you get your Baking Powder here.

VERY INDIGNANT.

Catholic Liberals From the Province Meet in Toronto

And Bitterly Denounce Hon. James Sutherland's Alleged Attempt to Put Them Under the Ban

Toronto, Oct. 20.—A meeting of the Roman Catholic Liberals from all parts of the province took place Thanksgiving Day at the Temple building. Among those present were: Charles Murphy, Ottawa; John J. Lyons, Ottawa; Thomas Coffey, London; J. W. Laddell, Cornwall; Dr. McKeown, Thos. Mulvey, Dr. McMahon, W. T. J. Lee, and A. Cottam, of Toronto, and other well-known Catholic Liberals to the number of nearly 100. The proceedings were secret.

The principal event of the day, according to a statement of a Catholic from the Western peninsula, was the reading of a letter from Hon. Jas. Sutherland to a well-known Catholic Liberal, in which he stated that in his opinion it would be inadvisable for the Liberal party in Ontario to place any more Roman Catholic candidates in the field in Ontario.

This letter naturally caused much indignation, although its contents were already known to many of those present. Some of the eastern men tried to square things for the government by maintaining that Sutherland was speaking for himself and not for the government. The delegates from Western Ontario, however, especially those within the zone of Mr. Sutherland's alleged influence, were very indignant in their comments that some of the eastern men, fearful of being censured at Ottawa for party disloyalty, left the meeting. Otherwise, the proceedings were harmonious; no line of action in opposition to the present leaders of the Liberal party was decided upon.

Naturally, however, the freedom from creed prejudice that has always characterized the Conservative organization in its selection of candidates was adhered to, and some of the Ontario ministers in the present government would undoubtedly have realized that comparisons are odious. It was decided that a serious protest should be made to the leaders of the government against the cruel handicap which has been introduced into the present campaign by the Ontario ministers. Incidentally, a great deal of antipathy to the present Solicitor-General, Mr. Fitzpatrick, was discovered among the delegates present.

Elmo Marshall Gets a Couple of Letters From Canadians in the Relief Column

Elmo Marshall, of this city, has received two letters from South Africa. They are from James J. Stokes and Fred Speck, two young men who enlisted from Mr. Marshall's old home in the Niagara District.

Reitfontein, August 18, 1900.
Friend Elmo,—Guess you will be surprised to hear from me out here, but thought as Joe was writing you would send you a few lines to let you know I was still living and doing our best to clean up the Boers. Glad to hear you were all well. We were into it pretty hot at the relief of Mafeking, but pulled through it unhurt. It was pretty warm at times and I thought things were coming our way at last, but we cleaned them out in proper style. There were only the gunners there, the rest came on with the horses. We came into action with mules pulling the guns; quite a novelty. We are now in the Boers' own country. We were cooped up in Rustenburg, for five weeks—nothing much to eat there, and had a pretty tough time. Chilled them several times but never close enough to do much damage. Now we are only 15 miles from Pretoria. Last night we were shut up in Rustenburg for five weeks, not a thing coming in or going out. We did send out a couple of mails, but the Boers got them, also one coming in. Too bad, wasn't it—still we will get even. Our scouts have had scraps there nearly every day, and when our guns went out they would clear out. Shelled them a couple of times but have not had a really good whack at them yet. We are now 15 miles from Pretoria. Last night we were turned up in the Nek and asked Baden-Powell to surrender. B.P. told him to hang around for a couple of days till he had seen the Boers and asked his terms, but if he wanted him extra bad to come and get him. So this morning all the troops and guns have gone out to try and capture the Boers. A message has just come in that he was going northwards, so expect we will have to chase him to-morrow. I wanted to go this morning, but the colonel would not let me. We are getting reinforcements from Pretoria. Have been roughing it lately—given four instead of bread or biscuits in our rations; so have to bake. It is only half rations at that; 12 ounces of flour, no yeast or baking powder. Of course you would not fancy some of the bread; still it's better than nothing; so will have to hope for a better time to come. We wouldn't mind if we could get a good crack at the Boers.
I remain your friend,
JAMES J. STOKES.

FROM DRIVER STOKES.

Reitfontein, August 18, 1900.
Friend Elmo,—I received your nice kind letter of 25th June, on the 15th; glad to hear you and the rest of your folks all well. It found me and the rest of the Falls boys the same. That is the first mail we have received for two months, so it was a big one. I got 17 letters and 14 papers, because we were shut up in Rustenburg for five weeks, not a thing coming in or going out. We did send out a couple of mails, but the Boers got them, also one coming in. Too bad, wasn't it—still we will get even. Our scouts have had scraps there nearly every day, and when our guns went out they would clear out. Shelled them a couple of times but have not had a really good whack at them yet. ## FOR MANY YEARS

Physicians Have Been Seeking a Reliable Pile Cure.

For years physicians have experimented in vain seeking a remedy which would effectually cure piles and similar rectal troubles without resorting to surgical operations. Many salves, ointments and other remedies were found to give only temporary relief, but none could be depended upon to make a lasting, satisfactory cure.

Within the past few years, however, a remedy called the Pyramid Pile Cure has been repeatedly tested in hundreds of cases and with highly satisfactory results.

The first effect of this remedy is to instantly remove the pain and irritation and from that time on the cure rapidly progresses and before the patient is hardly aware of it he is entirely cured.

The Pyramid Pile Cure seems to act directly upon the nerves and blood vessels of the parts affected, as it comes in direct contact with them and sets up a healthy action which in a perfectly natural way reduces the swelling and inflammation.

The Pyramid Pile Cure performs the cure, without pain or inconvenience to the sufferer and is justly considered one of the most meritorious discoveries of modern medicine.

Piles is a most annoying and often times dangerous disease, which which humanity is afflicted. If neglected it frequently develops into fistula or some fatal or incurable rectal trouble whereas by the timely use of this simple but effective remedy, no one need suffer a single day from any form of piles.

The Pyramid Pile Cure is perfectly harmless, contains no mineral poison, opiate or dangerous drug of any kind. It is in suppository form composed of emollient oils and astringents, and is applied at night and absorbed into the parts affected during sleep.

Druggists everywhere sell full sized treatments of the Pyramid Pile Cure at 50 cents per package.

The uniform success of the remedy has made it the most popular and best known of any form of treatment for piles.

THE PROSPECTS.

Tailor—"I wish you would let me take your measure for a suit of clothes."
Young Man—"I have no objections, but that's all you ever get for them."

"What's your husband doing now?" asked a neighbor.
"Well," answered Mrs. Cornselle, "poor as I am, he ain't doing much of anything," "cept scolding our boy Josh for not being more industrious."

For whooping cough and croup, Vapo-Cresolene is a simple and perfect remedy.

Know yourself and your company won't mistake you.

—You have read of the cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla, and you should have perfect confidence in its merit. It will do you good.

A Deep Mystery.

AT THE THEATRE.

Edw. J. Abrams, manager of the "Hello Bill" company, was in the city Wednesday, leaving at midnight for Toledo.

Robert Mantell's new play "A Free Lance," in which he appears here Christmas Eve, is pronounced by the eastern critics the best play he ever had. It was written by W. A. Tremayne, the Dramatic Mirror correspondent at Montreal.

J. Williams Macy, the entertainer, so well known to Chathamites, was booked by Mr. Cairns of the Grand Eastern Lyceum Bureau for a concert at Tisbury next Wednesday evening, under the auspices of W. A. Hutton, head master of the Public school.

The Andrews Opera Co. was booked for an early appearance at the Grand, but Mr. Cairns, not being satisfied with the prospects of a satisfactory performance, cancelled the date this week. He is determined that, if he can help it, there shall be no more "Blue Jeans" fiascos.

Next week's bookings at the Grand are the strongest attractions that local theatre-goers have been offered in a long while. On Monday night Carl A. Hawwin's magnificent production of "A Lion's Heart" will be the bill. Wednesday evening one of the cleanest, brightest farces ever written, "Hello Bill," will amuse and thoroughly please everybody. Mr. Cairns saw the play at the Grand in Toronto last season and commends it highly.

It is now at the Russell Theatre, Ottawa, and goes direct to Toledo from Chatham. On Saturday night, the 27th inst. Vogel & Deming's big minstrels will be the attraction. No less than seven minstrel organizations have tried to get into Chatham during the fall season, and this is the only one Mr. Cairns would let in. The company is said to be one of the best on the road this season.

One of the favorite actors who visits Chatham occasionally is Mr. Carl A. Hawwin. Last seen here in "The Silver King," a part he has played over fifteen years. Through his New York agents, Manager Cairns has succeeded in securing him and his company for a tour of the city, when Mr. Hawwin will present the latest English importation, "A Lion's Heart." The play tells a new story, which is full of interesting incidents and thrilling scenes. While the action is at times so intense that the audience remains breathless, it is void of trashy sensationalism, explosions and other nerve racking devices so commonly used to win applause.

Through all the scenes there is a vein of high-class comedy furnished by a newly married couple, who have no end of trouble while touring the continent. They are worried wherever they go by the "Honey-moon Smiles," which greets them on every occasion. No matter how much they try to disguise it, the fact that they are newly wed is bound to be recognized, much to their annoyance.

The principal scenes of the play are located in France, which gives ample opportunity for scenic display. This has been lavishly taken advantage of by the management. Everything used in the production is carried in the company's special car. Mr. Hawwin is supported by a company of twenty-five competent players.

"HELLO BILL" the play which Manager Cairns brings to the Grand next Wednesday evening is one of the few examples of straightway legitimate farce now before the American public. Its humor is spontaneous, well-balanced and genuine, nor does it require the interpolation of double entendres to exploit its laughter provoking qualities.

Although now here, the play has been seen in nearly all of the other leading cities of the country, and in no instance has it failed to justify the claims of its author, or the promises of its manager. It is noted in the same crucible that gave birth to "The maneuvers of Jane," "Miss Hobb," "My friend from India," "Why Smith left home," and other humorous works of like nature. Smart never had a place on the American stage, and the managers who temporarily profited by such exploitations have found that "Sappho," "The Degenerates," "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray" and concoctions of that ilk were short lived, and moreover, left such ill-favored impressions, those who participated in their presentations have suffered in reputation in the eyes of the public. It is therefore to the credit of the management of "Hello Bill" that their principal claim to public attention lies in the absolute purity of the play. From this it must not be inferred that its fun has been relegated to a back seat, but on the contrary, Manager Cairns, who has seen the play, is authority for the statement that no funnier or better play of its kind has ever been seen here.

SCHOOL AND COLLEGE DAYS.

In This Discourse Is Described the Behaviour of a Young Man Away From Home, With Practical Suggestions for People of Every Age and Class.

Washington, Oct. 14.—Dr. Talmage stayed in London to occupy the famous Wesleyan pulpit in the City Road chapel, where he has preached several times before, always receiving a hearty welcome. Thence he went to Ireland, preaching in Belfast and Dublin. The discourse he has sent this week describes the behavior of a young man away from home, and suggests practical lessons for people of every age and class. The text is Daniel 1:5. "And the king appointed them a daily provision of the king's meat and of the wine which he drank; so nourishing them three years, that at the end thereof they might stand before the king."

My text opens the door of a college in Babylon and introduces a young student, 17 years of age, Daniel by name. He is not surprised in the college you find many hillari- ties. Put a hundred young men together and they are sure to have a good time. There is no harm in that. God does not write out the trees and the grass and the blossoms in dull prose. The old robin does not sit moping in the nest because of the chirpings and the lively adventures of the fledglings that have just begun to fly. Do not come into an orchard looking for winter apples on a May morning.

But Daniel of the text is far from being gay. What oppressive thoughts must have come over him as he remembered that he was a captive in a strange land! The music that came into his study window was not the song of Zion, but the sound of flute, sackbut and dulcimer in the worship of the heathen god. More over, he had no hope of ever getting back home again and meeting those who had missed him long and missed him bitterly, wondering if he were still alive and finding many a luxury tasteless because they did not know but Daniel might be lacking bread.

When you and I were in school or college and the vacation approached we were full of bright anticipation, and we could not study the last night. The lexicon and the philosophical apparatus were transparent, so we could see right through them. And we could not study the last night. He did not know that he should ever escape from captivity, or escaping, he did not know but when he got home the loved ones would be dead, and he would go wandering and weeping among the sepulchers of his fathers. Besides that the king tried to make him forget his home and forget his country; for that purpose actually changed his name. The king wanted to be a prodigy in personal appearance, and so he ordered meat and wine sent from his own table to Daniel, but Daniel refused all this and put himself upon the humblest diet, the poorest of all herbs, called pulse, and plain water. His attendants cry out against this and tell him he will perish under such a diet. "No," he says, you try us for ten days, and at the end of that time we are not full cheeks and robust as any, it will be surprising. Ten days, pass along and the students come up for examination, and all declare that none are so ready and robust as Daniel and his fellow captives.

The days of industrious plugging and the years pass by, and the day of graduation has come, and Daniel gets his diploma, signed by the king and royal notaries, and he returns to his home, and here the story ends, for Daniel the student hereafter will be Daniel the prime minister.

The first thought suggested to me by this subject is that young men may be carried into captivity by their enemies. There is a captivity more galling than the one in which Daniel was transported; it is the captivity of evil habit. Men do not go into that captivity willingly. They are not captured by the chains forged upon them, and one day they wake up to find themselves away down in Babylon. Cyrus afterward consented that some of his captives should return, and 50,000 of them were turned, and here the story ends, for Daniel the student hereafter will be Daniel the prime minister.

The young are in more peril because they are unsuspecting. The lions are asleep in their soul, and their power is not suspected. The time when a ship's company makes mutiny is when the watchman is off his guard. When a spider meets a fly it does not say, "Go down with me to the place where I murder insects." No; it says, "Come and take a bright morning walk with me on this suspension bridge of glittering gossamer." Oh, there is a difference between the sparkle of a serpent's eye and the crush of its slimy folds. There is a difference between the bear's paw toying with the cracking of the bones in the terrific hug. Pike's Peak looks beautiful in the distance, but ask the starved travelers by the roadside what they think of Pike's Peak. Are these those around whom suspicious companions are gathered? Do their jests and their entertainments make the hours go blithely by when you are with them? Have you taken a sip from their cup of sin or gone with them in one path of unrighteousness? Turn back. From Babylon they came and to Babylon they would carry you. If so many plagues stricken men would like to enter your companionship, before any one is allowed to pass into the intimacy of your heart put on their severest quarantine.

My subject also impresses me with the fact that early impressions are almost ineffaceable. Daniel had a religious bringing up. From the good meaning of his name I know he had pious parents. But as soon as he comes into the possession of the king his name is changed, and now, you say, will begin the demoralization of his character. Before his name was Daniel, which means "God, my judge," now his name is to be Belshazzar, which means "the treasurer of the god Bel." Now you expect to see him overthrown amid all these changed circumstances. Oh, no! Daniel started right, and he keeps on right. When I find what Daniel is in Jerusalem, I am not surprised to find what he is in Babylon. I wish I could write upon all parents' hearts the fact that early impressions are well nigh ineffaceable. When I see Joseph, a pious lad in the house of his father Jacob, I am not surprised to see him acting so nobly down in Egypt. When I find Samuel, a pious lad, in the house of his mother Hannah, I am not surprised that he grows up to be a great prophet.

Let me say to those Christian parents who are doing their best in the education of their children: Take good heart, your sons this morning may be far away from you and in a distant city, but God, to whom you dedicated them, will look after them. The God of Daniel will take care of them far away in Babylon. "Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it." He may wander away for awhile and fall in to sin and break your heart, but before he is done with this life, you having committed him to God, he will come back again, for I put my emphasis in the right place and on the word "old" when I repeat that passage and say, "Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it." May you all have the glorious satisfaction of seeing your children walk in the path of righteousness and may you be one with them in heaven!

Let me learn also from this subject the beauty of Christian sobriety. The meat and the wine that were to come to Daniel's table were to come from the king's table. Well, Daniel had no right to take that food. The king was a heathen and, like all the heathen, was accustomed to ask a blessing before he partook of food, and in that blessing they always dedicated the food to the gods. So he would have broken the law which forbade the taking of food dedicated to idols. He chose pulse. It was a miracle that he did not dwindle away. There is nothing in pulse such a poor herb, to make a man ruddy and beautiful. Some people talk as though they were a kind of diet which would make a man dutiful and competent to do the duties of this life. That is not the lesson Daniel would have dwindle away, and when God for his self denial puts upon him this benediction he puts a benediction upon all Christian sobriety. I would not have you class your preacher among those who would put unnecessary restraints upon lawful appetites. There are those in this day who dispute the grant which God gave to man for animal food, and they make a religion of their hunger as the Pharisees expected to drive their fast. Daniel did not always live on pulse. He was not a Grahamsite; he was not a vegetarian. He went through that self denial because the food offered him was idolatrous food. When I see God filling the earth with all varieties of food, I have not much confidence in the teaching of those who would put us on severe regimens. There are parents who, with a wrong theory in this respect, deny their children all harmless luxuries and withhold from them the culture that comes out of boarding schools where their intellects are cultured to the disadvantage of their starved bodies, so that from many a boarding school a class of 20 will graduate, 19 of them ghosts. Now, when I see the three angels sitting the car which Abraham slew and when I find Christ eating broiled fish even after his resurrection I come to the conclusion that the theories of the vegetarian are not from a religious standpoint well founded.

Are you fond of pictures? Here is one drawn by Solomon: Who hath woe? Who hath sorrow? Who hath contentions? Who hath babbling? Who hath wounds without cause? They that tarry long at the wine; they that go to the mixed wine. Look not thou upon the wine when it is red, when it moveth itself aright in the cup. At the last it biteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder.

"Do you know what you are doing?" said a mother who had brought her son into a restaurant, and stood against her, her son inside. She came up to the counter and saw the man of the restaurant mingling the intoxicating cup for her own son. She said to the man behind the counter, "Do you know what you are doing?" "No," said he, "I don't." Says she, "You are fattening graveyards."

I was told at Des Moines of a train of cars going through a very stormy night over one of the western prairies. The young man who was present told us the story. In the night there was a little child in the sleeping car, fretful and worrying and crying hour after hour. A man on the opposite side of the car lost his patience and said, "Either make that child shut up or take it to its mother." Then another man on the opposite side of the car came a man with a broken heart, pushed back the curtain and looked out and said, "Young man, that child's mother is dead in the baggage car, and the little thing is wailing for her." Then the man who had committed the affront and offered his services for the night and took care of the child until morning, and all the passengers in the car were broken down with emotion. Oh, if the cry of one child could arouse so many sympathies, what ought to be the effect of orphanage and widowhood from the inebriate's grave? God save this country from the perils of strong drink.

I think the most thrilling passage of a young man's life is when he leaves home to make his fortune. The novelty and the romance of the thing may keep him from any keen sorrow, but the old people who have seen the destruction of so many who started with high hope cannot help but be anxious. As long as he was in his father's house his waywardness was kindly chided, and although sometimes he thought the restraint rather bitter and rather severe, it was salutary and righteous. Through the influence of metropolitan friends the father has obtained a situation for his son in the city. The comrades of the young man come the night before his departure to bid farewell to the adventurer. The father, in going away, he walks around the place to take a last look at things—perhaps comes upon some object that starts a tear, some old familiar place, but no one sees him. He is up and away in the wagon, the young man is off for the city. He is set down amid excitements and amid associates who are not overcareful about their words and thoughts and actions. Morning comes. No family car. Sabbath comes. No rural quiet. The sanctuaries, but all the faces are strange, and no one cares whether he comes to church or does not come. On his way home from the store he comes to a place of amusement, he has no greeting at the door of the boarding house. He has no appetite for the food. No one cares whether he eats or does not eat, rather he is glad to get out of it. After the tea he goes into the parlor, takes up a book, finds it dull, no sister to look over it with him. Goes up stairs to his room in the hotel, and forgets that any of his story, and in despair he rushes out, caring for nothing but to get something to make him stop thinking. He is caught in the first whirl of sin. He has started out on the dark sea where the gleam of joy is the flashing of the pit and the laughter is the creaking of the gate of the lost. Oh, how many graves there are in the country churchyard which, if they could speak, would tell of young men who went out with high hopes and came back blasted and crushed to disgrace the sepulcher of their fathers!

And yet this exodus must go on. To-morrow morning on the steamboat and in every rail car will be young men going forth to seek their fortunes in our great towns. O Lord God of Daniel, help them to be faithful in Babylon as they were in Jerusalem. Forgive not, O my young friend, in the great seaports the moral and religious principles inculcated by parental solicitude, and if to-day seated in the house of God you are not sure that those to whom you are most indebted and pray God that as old age comes upon them and the shadow of death the hope of heaven may beam through their eyes, through that day of us through our misconduct should bring disgrace upon a father's name or prove a reproach to the love of a mother. The dramatist made no exaggeration when he exclaimed, "How sharper than a serpent's tooth it is to have a thankless child!" Oh, that God would help you as parents and as young people to take to heart the lessons of this important subject, and if we shall leave this world in danger of being carried into captivity, and that early impressions are almost ineffaceable, and that there is something beautiful in a Christian sobriety, and that there is great advantage in a pious Christian life, then it will be to you and to me a matter of everlasting congratulation that we considered how Daniel behaved when he became a college student at Babylon.

HOPE HAD DEPARTED.

THE STORY OF A WOMAN'S RESCUE FROM GREAT SUFFERING.

For Years Her Life Was One of Misery—Her Feet and Limbs Would Swell Frightfully and She Became Unable to do Her Household Work.

From the Enterprise, Bridgeville, N. S.

It is appalling to think of the number of women throughout the country who day after day live a life almost of martyrdom, suffering but too frequently in silence. The story of Mrs. Joshua Wile, will come as a beacon of hope. Mrs. Wile lives about two miles from the town of Bridgeville, N. S., and is respected and esteemed by all who know her. While in one of the local drug stores not long ago, Mrs. Wile noticed a number of boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the show case, and remarked to the proprietor "If ever there was a friend to woman, it is these pills." She was asked why she spoke so strongly about the pills, and in reply told of the misery from which they had rescued her. The druggist suggested that she should make known her case for the benefit of other women of similar sufferers. Mrs. Wile replied that while averse to publicity, yet she would gladly tell of her cure if it would benefit anyone else, and she gave the following statement with permission for its publication:—

"My life for some years was one of weakness, pain and misery, until I obtained relief through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. From some cause, I know not what exactly, I became so afflicted with uterine troubles that I was obliged to undergo two operations. A part only of the trouble was removed, and a terrible weakness and miserable, nervous condition ensued, which the physician told me I would never get clear of. I tried other doctors, but all with the same result—no betterment of my condition. The pains, almost unbearable, which I suffered from my back and kidneys. My legs and feet became frightfully swollen, and I cannot describe the tired, sinking, deathly feeling that at times came over my whole body. I became unable to do my household work, and lost all hope of recovery. Before this stage in my illness I had been advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, but like thousands of other women, thought there could be no good in using them when the medical men were unable to cure me. I was in despair, but my mind to try them, but really without any faith in the result. To my great surprise I obtained some benefit from the first box. I then bought six boxes more, which I took according to directions, and am happy to say was raised up by them from a weak, sick, despondent, useless condition to my present state of health and vivaciousness. Every year now in the spring and fall I take a box or two, and find them an expellient. Other benefits I might mention, but suffice it to say I would strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to all suffering women."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills surpass all other medicines as a cure for the troubles that afflict womanhood. They quickly rebuild the system and all forms of weakness. They enrich the blood, strengthen the nerves and restore the glow of health to pallid cheeks. Sold by all druggists in medicine, or sent direct to you in a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

THE WATCHWORD OF WOMEN.

Modesty is woman's watchword. Whatever threatens her delicate sense of modesty, frightens her. For this reason many a woman permits diseases of the delicate womanly organs to become aggravated because she cannot bring herself to submit to the ordeal of unpleasant, questioning, offensive examinations, and obnoxious local treatments, which some physicians find necessary. Dozens of thousands of the women who have taken advantage of Dr. Pierce's offer of free consultation by letter, have been led to the escape thus offered from a treatment so repugnant to modesty. Any sick woman may write to Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., in perfect confidence; all letters being treated as strictly private and sacredly confidential; and all answers being sent in plain envelopes with no advertising or other printing upon them. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been long hailed as a God-send to women. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. "Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine or other narcotic.

He seldom lives frugally who lives by the hour. Hope is a blessing, and they that trust her promises make little scruple of revelling to-day on the profits of to-morrow.—Johnson.

THE GLASS OF FASHION.

Velvet cravats, gold embroidered, are shown in the shops. The bishop sleeve has made its way to definite favor and, with its furrows at the top, is a most comfortable fashion.

Panne velvet in all over Moorish and Persian designs is being much used for blouses, but the handsome blouses yet seen are in white satin, silk or cloth heavily embroidered.

Autumn neckwear shows but little that is new. Invention seems to have been squeezed dry for summer purposes, and the stocks and cravats worn with summer frocks will be adapted to winter use.

The Russian blouse is once more in evidence, much more Russian and more more chic than its namesake of earlier seasons. In velvet it is particularly effective and is trimmed with bands of embroidery on cloth or silk.

The flannel shirt waist is coming to the front in solid battons and confronts one wherever one turns. Many of the models, braided, embroidered, etc., seem to have lost their own charm of comfortable simplicity and to have gained nothing that takes its place.

Some of the most exclusive shops are showing collars and boleros of cloth of gold, bordered with applique of gold, real lace, and also lace collars and boleros with gold cloth or tissue laid under the large open spaces of the design, while the rest of the lace is left transparent.

More variety and elegance are displayed in black goods than in colors so far this season, despite the prophecy that black is to be less worn than last year save by elderly women. Even in the crapes and crepons and French novelties there is infinite variety.

STAGE GLINTS.

"Uncle Sam in China" is the name of a brand new play.

Marie Tempest may come to this country in "Nell Gwynn."

Virginia Harned recently suffered a rather severe heart prostration.

Angela Russell is this season the leading actress in "The Village Postmaster" company.

Mrs. Leslie Carter is to play in a new drama by H. J. W. Dam and David Belasco, called "The Red Mouse."

Alberta Gallatin, who made a success last year as Fanny Le Grand in "Sapho," will star this season in the same play.

William Gillette will produce "Sherlock Holmes" in Brooklyn and then start on a tour that will last till next May. Then he takes it to Europe.

The National Greek theater, which is now completed, was made possible through the liberality of the king, who will have control of its administration in return for his liberality.

The genius of Sarah Bernhardt is explained by the fact that she is the most indefatigable student on the stage. Many of her favorite parts have been rehearsed a hundred times.

The company of German actors from the Thalia theater, New York, will make a professional tour of Germany this season. This will be the first time an American-German organization of actors has gone abroad.

The larynx of a man in Sydney became useless through disease, and he lost his voice. Professor Stuart of the University of Sydney is said to have made an artificial one, and it can be so regulated as to make the voice soprano, tenor, contralto or bass at will.

ORCHARD AND GARDEN.

The value of dwarf pears consists largely in their early bearing.

For ease of growth and for the richness of its returns the grape is hardly excelled by any fruit.

Perfect planting of a tree consists in placing it as nearly as possible in the same condition as that in which it was before removal.

It is claimed that grapes grown in a clayey soil are darker and more glossy than those grown on gravelly land, and the sweetest and richest tasting grapes are grown on gravelly soil.

While it is an item to harvest the onions as soon as ripe, they should be cured a few days before storing away and then be stored in a rather dark but cool, dry place, spread out in a thin layer.

In planting pear trees avoid a southern or western slope. All others are preferable and an eastern the best. High locations are the most desirable, as affording the facilities of drainage and circulation of air and escape from early spring frost.

In order that fruit shall keep well it is essential that the room in which it is kept be as arranged that the temperature can be kept low, but uniform. It is the changes of temperature rather than anything else that affects fruit, and if the temperature is low, but uniform, there will be no trouble.

TO CIVILIZATION.

Will Stevens Writes He Has Once More Returned.

A Chatty Letter From Stratheona,
N. W. T.—Having a Good Time.

From his son Will, who is with a surveying party in the Northwest, N.
H. Stevens, of the Kent Mills, has received the following chatty letter. It is probably the last Will will write
before coming home:

Stratheona, Alta., Oct. 12th,
The Royal Hotel.

Dear Father,—Arrived here Saturday. We couldn't work because of the snow, so we thought it better to come to town, than to stay out there doing nothing. We left Friday morning and found the roads very bad. Two of the bronches were nearly played out at noon, so they were given lighter loads to pull in the afternoon. We made fourteen miles, and I walked the full distance with heavy boots on. It was a great sight to see civilization again,
and to walk on a sidewalk was a positive luxury I assure you.

At the tents up hurriedly and then looked up town like so many boarding school girls, and though it is putting it strongly, I believe we evinced as much curiosity as they do when a stranger comes to town. The Strath-conians, as you know, are accustomed to seeing people in all sorts of dress, gazed at us curiously, and no doubt wondered what nation we belonged to.

Rip Van Winkle compared to us presented a gentlemanly appearance.
Arch, and I went to get our photos taken, but the photographer must have been forewarned of our coming,
as he was nowhere to be found. Rather than wait over Sunday with the superfuous hair on to have our photos taken, we made out way to the shop and after much scraping, chopping and cutting, the barber got the summer's shell off and found us

PERFECTLY SAFE
beneath it. It was cold in the tents,
so we came up here and got a room.
It was good to sleep in a bed again,
and be able to move without getting the blankets off and freezing.

We called on Mr. Rutherford, brother of Mr. Jas. Rutherford, Benheim, Monday, and had a pleasant chat
with him. I saw the mighty Saskatchewan for the first time Tuesday.
It changed completely the mind picture I had formerly had. It is wider than the Thames, and its banks are so steep and high that it is equal to half a day's work to climb up them.
The current is as swift as the Thames at high water. There were a great many gold dredges along its banks but none of them are working. They are built on the same principle as the Simon's saw saw, which sucks up the sand from the bottom of the Thames. A fine new bridge on three piers is built across the river. I thought Edmonton was just on the opposite side from Stratheona, but it's a good hour's walk between the towns.

I went to Morris' store, (sons of Posthumus Morris, Benheim), store and found them very busy. They have a swell new brick store and warehouse, each two stories high. The store also has a basement. They deal in groceries and dry goods, and seem to be making money fast. They employ three clerks. Joe took me over to the Club House, and put me down on the visitors' book for a week
so that I can go there whenever I wish. I went up to dinner with Jack.
He has just finished his new house,
which is complete to the minutest
detail and has all the latest improvements. His wife is simply perfect.
We had prairie chicken and duck for dinner. After living on pork and beans all summer, you can imagine what a treat this was to me. Something which struck me as

RATHER FUNNY
was their method of obtaining water.
It is delivered the same as ice. Two barrels a week are brought to each house at a cost of $1.50 a month.
In the afternoon Garn, Morris and I went down to Miner's coal mine. We lighted a miner's lamp and started in the main shaft. It is just large enough for a car to pass in, and some places we almost had to crawl. We would bump our Christies once in a while, but we had started, and determined to see the men working. We followed the shaft to the end, finding

no person, so we went into a branch shaft, and after padding through water and grease, we finally came to the miners. They were working in a stooping position, as the shaft was not high enough to allow them to stand, and how they ever managed to stick it out for a day, I don't know.
They didn't take coal from either side
but just kept taking coal from ahead,
making a hole about four feet square
and placing braces every two and a half feet. There is no gas in the mines, so that a match can be lighted there with absolute safety. The miner told us we were in about 600 feet. He said they were working at a disadvantage. They worked their mines summer and winter and went to some expense to keep them going.
Farmers, when there was ice, came and dug the coal where it was easier and at no expense, and the regular miners had to compete with them.
Coal is everywhere abundant, and any person can get it just for the digging
and hauling. At present it is delivered for $2.75 a ton.

A LABOR SAVING FERRY.

I went home at night by the ferry and found here a great saving of labor that sometimes had been done. A strong cable is fastened to either bank high up from the water. Along this two pulleys are run, kept apart by a wooden cross-piece. A long rope is passed through pulleys at each end of the ferry and the ends are fastened to the pulleys on the cable. Midway between the pulleys on the ferry the rope passes around a crank. When the crank is turned it shortens the rope alone
and lengthens it at the other, thus allowing the ferry to change its direction.
When the ferry man wishes to cross he turns the crank so that the ferry is in the direction desired. The current and the water then push it along, just the same as the winds send a sail boat along, and the ferry shoots across in no time.

They were thrashing at Rutherford's farm
yesterday, so I went out there to see it.
Garn, Morris and I were out shooting Wednesday, but the birds were evidently afraid of us. We only saw nine chickens and partridges, seven of which we got. Three ducks were housed, three miles away, and got it fixed so that we wouldn't get to town all right. We didn't have anything to eat all day and didn't get into town until seven o'clock. However, the soon made up for lack of food by finishing two prairie chickens between us.

I will return home as soon as we are paid. When in camp I didn't notice so much what life in the country was, but here I do, and I don't think I would care to remain on a ranch for any length of time.
Affectionately your son,
WILL.

The Only Home Package Dyes in the World That Give Perfect Results.

The scientific preparation of dyestuffs and putting them up in proper shape for family dyeing has been brought to perfection by Wells and Richardson Co., who are proprietors of the celebrated Diamond Dye.
These popular dyes have banished
from the homes of Canada madder, fustic, logwood, cochineal and all other antiquated dyestuffs. The work or home dyeing is now done
quickly and successfully by Diamond Dyes; the process is one that would astonish our grandparents.

To-day, millions all over the world
use the scientific Diamond Dyes in preference to all others. Diamond Dyes commend themselves to all who use them, because they are the strongest, brightest and fastest, and the easiest to work with.

Diamond Dyes, like all other perfect and popular preparations, are largely imitated in style of package and the way they are put up. These imitations are worthless and adulterated
dyes, ruinous to all kinds of goods and dangerous to handle. Great caution is advised when buying dyes for home use. Ask only for the "Diamond," and see that the name is on every packet.

He has not learned the lesson of life who does not every day surmount
a fear.—Emerson.

Just so sure as the celebrated black teas of Ceylon and India have displaced the China growth, just so sure will the new and superior uncolored teas. These new teas being introduced by the Ceylon and India planters supercede the teas of Japan, the British grown teas being full of strength, flavor and stimulating qualities, while the Japanese teas are all more or less adulterated with Prussian blue coloring, which is injurious to health.

The "Salada" Tea Company are offer-

A FINE INSTITUTION.

Three of the C. C. L. teachers, Messrs Paterson, Jewett and Black, made an inspection of the work done in the Central High School, of Detroit, on Thanksgiving day. In the school 60 teachers are employed, and there is an attendance of sixteen hundred pupils.
No expense is spared for the comfort of teachers and pupils and for the efficiency of the work. In a word, the school is splendidly equipped, and there is no complaint as to the expenditure of the school expenses of Chatham, should visit this institution in Detroit, and see with what generous hand public money has been expended.
The auditorium for lectures, concerts
and debates is as large as the Chat-Chatham opera house, and as well furnished. The appliances for teaching science in its various departments are numerous, elaborate, and complete.
The library is a special feature, as many as sixty copies being kept of certain books that are commonly consulted.
