Roman Intelligence

"Vox Urbis," writing from Rome to the New York Freeman's Journal, among other things, has the following: The Holy Father, continuing his plan of reform, has just laid down very rigorous rules for the foreign clergy of Rome. Some of these affect American priests who have established their residence in the Eternal City, or who may think of doing so, and it is well that they should be clearly understood.

1. Priests from other dioceses who desire to take up their residence in Rome must first send an application to the Cardinal Vicar, accompanied by the necessary papers, and especially by the formal consent of their bishops, who are also asked to express their opinion on the reasons upon which the application is grounded. The giving or refusing of consent to the application is reserved to the Holy Father himself.

2. Priests who come to Rome to immediately present themselves at the office of the Vicariate, with the Dismissal granted by their bishop; and this Dismissal must expressly declare the motive they have in coming to Rome, and limit the time for which the permission is granted. For Italian priests permission is to be granted for only three months, for others six months. In case a prolongation is necessary the formal permission of the bishop will be required.

3. All such priests must have the approval of the Vicariate for the residence they select.

4. Those who do not comply with these regulations will not be allowed to say Mass in the Eternal City, and their bishops will be informed to this effect.

5. To avoid the danger of priests residing temporarily in Rome, assuming offices which imply a permanent or long residence, it is ordained that they shall not be admitted to qualify for or to hold offices, benefices or any other occupation without the explicit consent of the Vicariate.

6. When this consent is not obtained all such appointments are to be considered as null and void.

7. These provisions are to hold good in all cases; and no influence, ecclesiastical or other, no matter how powerful, shall suffice to render them inoperative.

8. With regard to priests of other dioceses, now residing in Rome, those who will be permitted to remain who possess a benefice or ecclesiastical occupation, or who have been here at least ten years without counting the years during which they studied for the priesthood, with the consent of their ordinaries, and whose conduct has never been blamable. The others must return to their dioceses or find occupation elsewhere with the consent of their bishops.

These rules have been unfortunately rendered necessary by the presence in Rome of a considerable number of priests who have no business here. A few years ago there were some hundreds of priests and students living in private houses and practically free from all control. Leo XIII, during the closing years of his Pontificate, made some stringent rules to remove the evil, but even these were found not to be drastic enough, and hence the present regulations.

Ex-President Cleveland on Woman Suffrage.

Grover Cleveland, ex-president of the United States, is at one with Cardinal Gibbons in believing that woman suffrage—the introduction of women into the arena of politics—would not be a good thing either for the women or politics. Mr. Cleveland has an article in the Ladies' Home Journal for October in which he discusses the question: "Would Woman Suffrage be Unwise?" and arrives at the conclusion which Cardinal Gibbons and many others of the most influential men in Ohio and State have already reached, namely, that general woman suffrage is inexpedient. Mr. Cleveland believes that man and woman have each a separate and distinct, but an equally important, place in the world. Man has his work. Woman has hers. But neither should invade the other's province, and this because Almighty God has created them to serve Him in different ways. "It is a mistake to suppose," says Mr. Cleveland, "that any human reason or argument is needed or adequate to the assignment of the relative positions to be assumed by man and woman in working out the problems of civilization. This was done long ago by a higher intelligence than ours. I believe that trust in Divine wisdom, and unflinching submission to Divine provide, will enable dutiful men and women to know the places assigned to them, and will induce them to accept well their parts in the sight of God."

Woman Suffrage Does Not Elevate Politics.

It is indeed very gratifying to all people who believe in religion to find, in these days when there is a tendency to ignore God and our relations to Him, such a man as President Cleveland writing in this way, and acknowledging so frankly and naturally the place of God in the affairs of the world. These sentences of his are thoroughly Catholic, and are in accord with right reason. A close reader is Mr. Cleveland also when he proceeds to discuss the question even on a lower plane; and he proves logically and clearly that the claim made for woman suffrage, to wit, that if granted it would elevate politics, is erroneous. "It is sometimes claimed," he says, "that woman suffrage would have the effect of elevating and refining politics. Neither its short trial in four States containing in the aggregate a population very slightly in excess of one-third the population of the city of New York, nor our political experience or observation, supports this claim. The States in which full female suffrage prevails are Colorado, Utah, Idaho, and Wyoming. In the first two of these States the proportion of female voters is considerably greater than in others; and yet the voters of Utah have lately elected through their legislature to the United States Senate a man whose fitness is now the subject of a pending senatorial investigation, and not long they elected to Congress another man whom that body rejected." (Secret Heart Review.)

In The Home Circle.

IT IS NOT THE CORRECT THING.

To think that only the rich can have happy homes.

To lay aside good manners with one's best clothes, to be used only in society.

For a man to spend money for cigars, expensive luncheons, clubs, newspapers, suppers and base ball, to find fault if his wife indulges in candy, concerts, flowers, magazines, pretty clothes, and insists on entertaining his friends.

For a woman to plan her house-keeping on a scale beyond her income.

To sacrifice comfort for the sake of keeping up appearances.

For a woman to imagine that her neighbors care particularly whether she keeps one servant or a dozen.

To forget that it is an utter impossibility to please everybody, and that if one pleases one's self and one's household there is a certainty of pleasing somebody.

For a woman to neglect her personal appearance at home, reserving all her taste and trouble for society.

To imagine that children raised in an atmosphere of wrangling, temper, selfishness and coldness are not going to develop traits in keeping with their surroundings.

To be discourteous, overbearing, selfish, blunt, and cold in the home circle.

To think family prayers are obsolete.

To act as if the day belonged to one's self and need not be sanctified by prayer, and that only at night is the assistance of God required.

To think that grace before meals should only be said in convents, and that worldlying, like horses, are excused.

To make the dinner table the tribunal for hearing all the family complaints.

To act as if one took an especial delight in eating.

To serve meat on Friday at a Catholic table (hotels excepted).

For children to rail their parents and the household.

For children to be able to speak "pieces" before they are able to say their prayers.

To permit a profane word or a doubtful conversation before children.

To allow children to have the immodest or coarse pictures which unfortunately are only too plentiful.

To have vulgar paintings in the parlors.

Items of Interest.

The Catholic Fortnightly Review, which cannot be accused of being intemperately temperate, in its news on the liquor question, says, commenting on the Anti-Treating League in Ireland: "We should like to see the League established and making headway also in this country. The abuse of hospitality which it is intended to suppress works havoc everywhere. Large numbers of people, who enter a saloon without any intention of indulging to excess, come out intoxicated, simply owing to this vicious custom. It is probably responsible for at least one-half of the drunkenness which is wrecking homes."

"Those horrid Spaniards are bringing their wicked bull fights to the very doors of this Christian state," says the Leader. "A troupe of picadors and matadors have been exhibiting at the Tia Juana, across the Mexican line from San Diego. Their audiences are composed chiefly of cultured Americans, men and women, who have been tempted from the paths of rectitude by these base foreigners. Oh, my dear brethren, it is positively dreadful. Our dear prize-fighters may be led astray by the unseemly conduct of the bulls. Can't we have another war with Spain? Has that effect monarchy any more islands?"

"The true physician is a well-spring of hope to the sick-room," says the Pittsburgh Catholic. "His gentle influence is a tonic, a stimulant. He cheers the timorous, encourages the despondent, and comforts the despairing. He will never stoop to dishonorable practices. No motive of sympathy, no plea to hide shame, disgrace, no sickly spirit of accommodation to friends, no adjustment or blandishment, no tempting offers of money will permit him for a moment to yield to wrong-doing or use his services to conceal wrong doing by a still greater crime. Entreaties and solicitations he will meet with a refusal, prompt, strong and positive."

"The Catholic Congress at Strasbourg has adjourned after a brilliant session," says the Catholic Transcript. "These German Catholics are not speakers and hearers merely. They have the knack of doing things. The Pope knows their record and paid them a neat compliment when in his letter to the local committee he asked what better means he could desire for the promotion and development of the Catholic religion than the earnestness and fertile zeal of the Germans. There is hardly any sphere of activity which their zeal has not embraced. They have their mercantile associations, their teachers' societies, their social courses for men and women, and halls for almost every sort of meeting. Germany teaches. What a pity the Catholics of France do not try to keep step with their Teutonic neighbors. The Centre was instituted as a defensive and combative party. It did not rest content with playing politics. It acted its part as a member of the Church Militant."

"There is an act on the statute books of this State," says the Michigan Catholic, "which forbids exhibitions in theatres on Sundays, except for purposes of charity. And there is another law which says that any person found selling cigarettes to minors is liable to fine or imprisonment. We may be told that Sunday theatres contribute a portion of their receipts to charity. But this halfway method of giving a small portion of box-office receipts to charity is a scheme to get around the law. The spirit and true intent of the act is being audaciously violated in Detroit and in other cities and towns of the State, where theatre exhibitions are given on Sundays, and which are not exclusively for charitable purposes. The law forbidding the sale of cigarettes to minors is practically a dead letter in Michigan so far as the authorities are concerned. A boy can obtain in Detroit cigarettes, and if he desires the other adjunct of advanced civilization—intoxicants—the youth has but to step up to a saloon bar, show his money, and be drugged."

The woman who buys Dress Goods now-a-days; has yet to buy right, but buying right does not mean a matter of "How Cheap." A-how cheap dress that is old fashioned and that will not stand the wear and tear is not the one wide awake people buy. They want a dress right up-to-date in every particular. Quality, style, we have, and good wearing-resisting qualities. This is the kind we sell. Send for sample.—Stanley Bros.

Sick With Worms.

Mrs. J. D. Mayo, South Stukely, P. Q., wrote the following: "One of my children took sick with worms and after trying everything without getting relief we procured Dr. Low's Worm Syrup which acted promptly and effectually."

"I wish they'd invent a new expression occasionally," said Top, as he perused the account of a recent wedding. "It's always 'the blushing' bride."

"Well," said Mrs. Top, "when you consider what sort of husbands most girls have to marry you can't wonder at them blushing."

SUBSCRIPTION—$1.00 A YEAR, PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY JAMES MCISAAC Editor & Proprietor.

Sir William Mulock's Retirement.

Sir William Mulock has resigned the office of Postmaster-General of Canada, and retired from membership in the House of Commons. Ill-health is assigned as a reason for his retirement from political life.

At that time the conservatives were making the expenditure. Three years later the conservatives were still in charge. The current expenditure was then $36,949,142.

Then came the change of government. The returns for the fiscal year ending June, 1905, are now made up, and we are able to show what has happened in the last ten years.

The following table gives the expenditure in the last conservative year and the nine years of liberal rule:

Sir William was in Opposition when he made the speech above quoted from, and introduced the bill above referred to. Since becoming a member of the Government, in the following year, he has been a party several scores of times to the violation of the principles he then professed, in the appointment to office of members and recently retired members of Parliament.

A Cause of Alarm.

(St. John Sun.)

"We cannot but view with alarm the large increase of the controllable annual expenditures of the Dominion."

So said the Dominion liberal convention of 1893, assenting to a resolution proposed by Hon. W. S. Fielding.

The current expenditure which Mr. Fielding and his associates viewed with alarm was $36,814,052.

At that time the conservatives were making the expenditure. Three years later the conservatives were still in charge. The current expenditure was then $36,949,142.

Then came the change of government. The returns for the fiscal year ending June, 1905, are now made up, and we are able to show what has happened in the last ten years.

The following table gives the expenditure in the last conservative year and the nine years of liberal rule:

Table with 2 columns: Year and Expenditure. 1896: $36,949,142; 1897: $38,349,729; 1898: $38,832,525; 1899: $41,903,500; 1900: $42,975,279; 1901: $46,866,987; 1902: $50,759,391; 1903: $51,691,902; 1904: $55,612,832; 1905: $63,306,305.

It will be seen that the expenditure of every year is larger than that of the year before. Also it will be noticed that the increase of last year is greater than that of any previous year. Even Mr. Fielding was surprised at it, for the expenditure was a million greater than he expected almost at the end of the year.

This statement does not include capital expenditure, which in the year of Mr. Fielding's alarm was $3,088,317. In the last year of conservative rule the capital expenditure was $3,781,211. The following statement shows the subsequent progress:

Table with 2 columns: Year and Expenditure. 1897: $3,523,160; 1898: $4,124,231; 1899: $6,201,515; 1900: $7,467,370; 1901: $7,693,859; 1902: $10,077,094; 1903: $7,049,684; 1904: $11,049,203; 1905: $15,441,403.

the party and coming out in support of Haultain. Walter Scott, rightly regards this as an ill omen for his prospects, and strenuous efforts are being made to keep the rank and file solid, but the process of attrition goes on nevertheless. Of the cabinet ministers Scott will carry Lumsden, but provincial righters confidently expect to beat Calder in South Regina and Motherwell in North Qu'Appelle, while in the three-cornered fight at Prince Albert city, with Mayor Gilmore out as an independent liberal, Lamont has not more than a fighting chance.

Banquet to Ontario Premier.

Hon. James Pliny Whitney Premier of Ontario, was the guest of the Jacques Carier Club, the leading French-Canadian conservative organization of Montreal, on Tuesday evening last, at a banquet tendered in his honor. The banquet was tendered Mr. Whitney principally because he is the first Premier in the history of Ontario who has honored the French-Canadians of the province by inviting a member of that nationality to enter the cabinet.

Trouble for American Fishermen.

Gloucester advices of the 12th inst., say: This city was seriously disturbed today by the receipt of private despatches from the coast, explaining at Bay of Islands, N. F., saying that the cruiser Flora, with the minister of marine and fisheries, has arrived at the Bay of Islands from St. John's, and had forbidden all vessels with American registers to fish for herring there, notwithstanding their hitherto undisputed treaty rights.

Anarchist Disorders.

The Red Flag demonstration in Nevsky Prospect, St. Petersburg, on Sunday afternoon, drew out large crowds of spectators, but a squad of gendarmes and cossacks drove the demonstrators away without resorting to force. There were no disturbances in the industrial quarters of the city.

Northwest Elections.

Regina advices of the 16th says: With candidates for both parties in the field for almost every constituency, the Saskatchewan provincial campaign may be said to be in full swing. Neither side has yet nominated candidates for Batoche, and Prince Albert districts and the liberals are at present also unrepresented in Yorkton and the provincial rights party in Humboldt and Redberry, but these gaps will be speedily filled up.

Fatal Railway Accident.

Another fatal accident occurred Sunday morning on the Halifax and Southwestern railway, making three disasters, two of which were fatal within a few weeks on this line. This accident took place at the blockhouse crossing, two miles from Mahone, N. S. An engine running light at 10:30 Sunday morning struck a riding wagon containing three people, Harry Ernst, his wife and son. The engine blew a whistle for the crossing, but the occupants of the vehicle, it appeared, did not hear. Mr Ernst was instantly killed, his head been crushed and the forearm fractured. He was dragged six hundred feet by the cow catcher of the train and his collar bone broken. His wife had a double fracture of the jaw, as well as many internal injuries, and died at six o'clock at night. The boy still lingers, he having a fractured collar bone, arm dislocated and a fracture of the skull, and is not expected to live.

Tragedy of the Sea.

The murder of Captain Ramill and four of his crew of the four-masted schooner Harry A Berwind, in a mutiny while the vessel was bound from Mobile to Philadelphia, is the story told in a special from Southampton, North Carolina. The schooner Blanche B King, Capt J W Taylor, bound from Brunswick, Ga., to Philadelphia, put into Southport on the 11th, bringing in three negroes, all that remained of the crew of the Harry A Berwind. The captain, mate, cook and an engineer who did hoisting work aboard the latter vessel, apparently had been killed in the mutiny and their bodies thrown overboard, and the body of a fourth sailor, a negro, was found lying on deck, where he, too, had been killed. The Harry A Berwind was bound to Philadelphia from Mobile, which port she left Sept. 23. She was sighted early on the 11th, 30 miles off the Cape Fear bar by Captain Taylor, whose attention was attracted by the reckless manner in which the ill-fated vessel was being steered, her course threatening to run down his own vessel. Capt Taylor and crew boarded the vessel and placed the negroes in irons. It develops from the stories of the negroes that the mutiny arose as the result of a quarrel aboard ship early on the morning of the 10th, about the coffee made for breakfast. The King was signalled by the Berwind, 30 miles east of Frying Pan Lightship, and in response to a signal, Capt Taylor sent his mate, engineer and others on board the Berwind. The decks of the schooner were crimson with blood. The berth of the mate was spotted with blood, indicating that he was butchered in bed. After the board party from the King handcuffed the mutineers on the ship, one of the negroes complained the irons were too tight and hurt him. The bracelet on the negro's arm was loosened, when the captive whipped out a pistol and shot one of his own crew. The total list of killed is four whites and one negro.

Prince Charles Edward, Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, nephew of King Edward, was married on the 11th, at Glouceburg, Holstein to Princess Victoria Adelaide, daughter of Duke Frederick and niece of the Empress Augusta of Prussia. This was a genuine love match.

Sir Henry Irving, the greatest of English actors, died suddenly at Bradford on Friday night. He had played that evening in one of his favorite roles, and returned to his hotel in his usual health. All at once he was stricken with syncope and died in a few minutes. He was about 70 years of age.

Advices from the Gulf Coast to Houston, Texas, indicate that the beach for a hundred miles is strewn with dead fish, cast up by the waves, believed to be washed in from the sea. Their death is due to some marine disturbance which likely was the cause of the big wave which swept the steamer Campania.

The War Office moves slowly. On October 1st it was arranged by the Imperial authorities that the Royal Garrison Regiment at Halifax should be disbanded, and today Canadian troops were to be in control. So far neither has happened. Until the Canadian Regiment has been reformed, Canada cannot take control. The exact date when this will take place is not yet known.

According to returns which have reached the fisheries department Ottawa the sealing schooners this year have had excellent success. The seventeen vessels which have returned, took in Behring Sea 10,592 skins, and on the British Columbia coast 2,364 skins, or a total of 12,956, as compared with 11,000 last year. After a catch per schooner will be about 800, compared with 475 last season. Only one more schooner has to arrive in port.

According to the London Express the battleship Dreadnaught, building at Portsmouth, will break naval tradition by having the officers quarters in the fore part of the vessel and the seamen's quarters astern. The innovation, it is stated, is due to the necessity for furnishing accommodation for a crew of 900 men and extraordinary allowances of ammunition, coal and provisions. The Dreadnaught will be the largest battleship in the world.

The attention of Teachers in Schools having mid-summer vacation is called to the following announcement: Owing to misunderstanding respecting a change in the mode of paying the teachers whose schools have mid-summer vacation, and their unpreparedness for the proposed alteration, these teachers will be paid as formerly during the current school year. Those who are situated, and are engaged for the whole year, but have received only part of their first quarter's salary, will be paid the balance with as little delay as possible.

L. L. Beer of this city died at Winnipeg on Sunday last. He had gone as far as Calgary in August, with his son, who was en route to the Yukon. There he became ill and entered a hospital. Recovering somewhat he started for Banff Lake, N. Y. where he had previously spent some time under treatment. He again became ill at Winnipeg and entered a hospital where he died as above reported. He was a member of the firm of Beer and Sons, who at one time conducted extensive business in this city and in different parts of the country.

The High Court of Quebec at Quebec Hall, Toronto, has condemned the Bertha L. Cockell, a fishing tug, seized in Lake Erie, on Sept. 12th, by the Vigilant. The Cockell was fishing in Canadian waters. She is owned at Erie, Penna. The evidence disclosed that a fleet of fishing vessels have been poaching on this side after despoiling American waters. It is estimated that the vessel had taken $12,000 worth of fish daily. This threatened to ruin the Canadian fishermen. It was in this connection that the United States government sent a gunboat to keep its citizens from committing this breach on the international laws. The Cockell was declared condemned, also all her nets and fishing tackle.

Michael McNeill of Boldale, C. B., is reported hale and hearty at the age of 103 years, and is the oldest man in Cape Breton. During the past season he has lived on his work on the farm, taking his place among the harvesters this autumn and doing his share of the work. He insists on doing all the chores necessary about the house on those days when his services are not needed. He has begun to fall of late, yet manages to read his daily paper with the aid of glasses. He has lived to see three generations of the McNeill stock grow up beside him, and apparently has many future years of life in which to make a record for longevity.

The Dominion Iron and Steel Company's rail mill at Sydney rolled eleven hundred tons of rails on Thursday last. This is a new record for the mill. Procy the eighteen year old son of James A. McNeill, merchant tailor at Stanley, N. B., was killed at Digby Monday evening in a driving accident. He was exercising a smart two year old colt in a sulky when the animal took fright and started to balk. Meeting a carriage going in the opposite direction the young man hauled to one side of the road when one wheel collided with a telegraph pole against which the driver's head struck with terrible force. He was immediately picked up but his skull was so badly fractured that the brain was bulging out and life was extinct.

The anarchist, Vittorio Jaffi, was arrested at Marcellines Thursday at the request of the Italian government. It is reported that he was implicated in the assassination of King Humbert. Jaffi, who is 27 years old, went to Italy from Paterson, N. J., with Gaetano Bresci, the assassin of King Humbert. Shortly before the assassination Jaffi met Bresci in Switzerland, and it was charged, took part in the plot to murder the Italian King. Five lives are known to have been lost and more than thirty persons injured, some of them seriously, on the Canadian line steamer Campania on her way to New York last Wednesday, when a gigantic wave rolled over the vessel and swept across a deck thick with steerage passengers. So sudden was the coming of the disaster and so great was the confusion which attended and followed it, that even the officers of the steamer themselves were unable to estimate the full extent of the tragedy. It is possible that five persons known to be missing from the steerage may not constitute the full number of deaths.

Saturday was the last day of the Lewis and Clark Centennial Exposition at Portland, Oregon, Monday the work of wrecking the immense exhibit palaces and state buildings began. The Exhibition will be a memory of its success as the expositions for President Goode had made public announcement that the stockholders will receive a dividend from 30 to 40 per cent on their stock, a record said to equal any exposition of this character ever held in the world. The success of the Exposition was not marred by any elaborate literary exercises but there were fireworks display, bands rendering patriotic airs and to the tune of Auld Lang Syne by the United States Artillery Band, President Goode formally declared the exposition closed. It is probable that with Saturday's attendance the fair will have attracted over 2,600,000 people.

The Prices.

There was a poor market yesterday. The attendance was small and the supply proportionately limited. There was very little change in prices, which generally ranged as follows:

Table listing various goods and their prices, including Butter, Eggs, Flour, and other commodities.

Belts—25c. A big variety of pretty belts—leather and silk, all new, all colors. Belts really worth 35c. to 40c. Big purchasing enables us to sell them at 25c.
Embroidery 4c. Thirty pieces of Embroidery one to four inches wide, worth from 5c. to 15c. Most of it worth 8c. and 9c. Because slightly damaged &c.

75 Coats Price—Cut for Quick Selling.

About 75 last season's Winter Jackets were left unsold—now they're in the way—out they must go regardless of profit, or even cost. They're splendidly made Coats—tailored and finished equal to any of this season's goods. But because they are last year's Coats, STYLES differ in some respects from this year's. That's the sole reason for the price cutting. For reasons of economy—to save your good coat from wear and tear you should secure one. But it will be necessary to come at once—these prices will soon clear them out.

Table showing coat prices: $2.50, $3.50, $4.50. For all Coats formerly sold up to $5.00, choose now for $2.50. Less than actual cost of making exclusive of materials.

BARGAIN SKIRTS and WAISTS. Splendid Purchasing Opportunities.

Table listing skirt and waist prices with descriptions, such as '21 Silk Waists, price cut ridiculously low' and 'Skirts of good quality, Navy, Chevot, very full'.

The Catholic Sweetheart and Spinster.

[MARY SANFIELD GILMORE, IN N. Y. FREEMAN'S JOURNAL.]

Popular fallacy ascribes perfect happiness to heart-free girlhood; but in truth there is a pathetic side to its dreamy comedy.

All Stuffed Up

That's the condition of many sufferers from catarrh, especially in the morning. Great difficulty is experienced in clearing the head and throat.

No wonder catarrh causes headaches, impairs the taste, smell and hearing, pollutes the breath, deranges the stomach and affects the appetite.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Cures catarrh—It soothes and strengthens the mucous membrane and builds up the whole system.

But the Catholic "engaged girl" and her elder sister or whole lifelessness is established as a permanent state of life have escaped the perils of youthful mistake, and solved the problem of girlhood differently, yet with equal results.

Comparison of the social value and personal happiness of these representative types is neither just nor delicate. Under Divine law, each legitimately is a spiritual law unto itself, bringing free will to the service of destiny!

Yet the truism is irrefutable that "all the world loves a lover;" and the pretty, poetic, blushing, smiling, magnetic joyous and hopeful young "sweetheart"—as the beautiful old name signifies the maiden loving and beloved—undoubtedly monopolizes popular favor.

To sustain the ideal of love in the face of realities, is the characteristic mission of the Catholic sweetheart. To her alone is marriage a sacrament of the spirit, and not a mere social convention.

Popular fallacy ascribes perfect happiness to heart-free girlhood; but in truth there is a pathetic side to its dreamy comedy.

Where she but left to her own soul—wherein Christ, with the spirit of love and light, lives and acts—she would solve in due time, and with no risk of error, the deep and delicate problems of womanhood and vocation.

In the fit and blush of self-consciousness and life knowledge, a girl is not only a sensitive plant, but a sensitive plant, indelibly and disproportionately impressed by the social environment; and many a precocious and disastrous marriage made in heaven results from the social microbe inoculating even the immature school-girl with an unbolting horror of coming into the unpopulated title of "old maid."

"To be, or not to be—love and marriage?" In truth is the vital question of every girl's life; but it should be left to ask and answer itself in God's good time; and the spiritual and social credit that anticipates it in mere wanton frivolity, has an account—a grave immortal account—to render.

alone! She rides at anchor in sight of the heaven of love, and if her outlook is optimistic, she is worthy to have her "dream come true," inasmuch as she is worthy of love.

The Catholic sweetheart has not giggled or boldly acquiesced her way into marriage engagement "for fun," or in desire for a solitary ring!

questioning its own personal worth, or scrapping its scant or graceless reciprocity. It is critical of its neighbor, and perchance dutifully punctilious rather than spontaneously generous in its love and service of God.

But love's divine miracle changes all this, expanding the heart by the identical emotion that concentrates it. God is revealed, or realized with new vividness—so the living God, prayer becomes impassioned, and all the human world is near and dear in its joy and sorrow—man and woman and little child.

Can Eat Anything Now.

How many Dyspeptics can say that? Or perhaps you are dyspeptic and don't know it.

Have you any of these symptoms? Variable appetite, a faint gnawing feeling at the pit of the stomach, unassisted hunger, a loathing of food, rising and souring of food, a painful load at the pit of the stomach, constipation, or are you gloomy and miserable? Then you are a dyspeptic.

FALL Tailoring

First Showing of Fall Woollens

We are satisfied if a good line, but your opinion is more valuable to us, and we would like to have it.

However, tailoring don't amount to much—we mean the name tailoring—unless you get good cutting, good workmanship and the right style.

We make our clothes with the determined purpose of getting the same man back again for his next suit.

We have never had a better lot of fabrics than we have now—seven eighths are British manufacture, the rest are domestics.

To advertise the price of custom clothing means little. What the tailor gives you for your money, means everything. We would like to be your tailors. Give us a trial!
