A SURE RELIEF FOR WOMEN'S DISORDERS.

10 Days' Treatment Free.

Orange Lily is a certain relief for all disorders of women. It is applied locally and is absorbed into the suffering tissue. The dead waste matter in the congested regions is expelled, giving immediate mental and physical relief; the blood vessels and nerves are toned and strengthened, and the circulation is rendered normal. As this treatment is based on strictly scientific principles, and acts on the actual location of the disease, it cannot help but do good in all forms of female troubles, including delayed and painful menstruation, leucorrhoea, falling of the womb, etc. Price $2.00 per box, which is sufficient for one month's treatment. A free Trial Treatment, enough for 10 days' worth, will be sent Free to any suffering woman who will send me her address.

CHAPTER LXI.
"LET ME HEAR ALL"

What you can not as you would achieve. You must perforce accomplish as you may.—SHAKESPEARE.

The two men were almost silent during their journey to the Warren. Sir Charles, seemingly fearful of losing sight of the old lawyer, sent his horse on by the groom and availed himself of a seat in Mr. Reeves's neat and comfortable brougham.

The old gentleman sat with his eyes bent upon the costly rug that lined the floor, with his hand sometimes raised to shield them from the light that unpleasantly pierced through the open windows and conceal from his companion the evidence of the various emotions which troubled his soul.

At last the Warren was reached, and Rebecca stood awaiting them in the grand old drawing-room. She shook the old lawyer's hand with a grateful emphasis.

"I knew you would not desert me," she said, in a low voice.

"And yet to refrain from doing so I must needs desert another," he said, shaking his head. "But come, let me hear all, if I am to hear anything."

"You shall hear all," she said.

After the three had toyed listlessly with the substantial viands upon the luncheon table they went into Rebecca's quiet little room, and there she repeated the story which had so horrified Sir Charles.

Mr. Reeves proved a very different listener, however.

During the whole recital—often interrupted by Rebecca's tears—he made no sign nor uttered a single word. But at every important point he jotted down a memorandum upon his slip of paper, as he had prepared to do in his own room with Sir Charles; and

Applied After Shaving

Keeps the Skin Soft and Smooth

MANY men suffer from irritation of the skin as a result of shaving. With some it assumes a form of eczema and becomes most annoying and unsightly.

By applying a little of Dr. Chase's Ointment after shaving the irritation is overcome and such ailments as Barber's Itch and Eczema are cured.

the best under the circumstances. In the well, in my opinion, lies the clew to the mystery.

"Ah," said Sir Charles; "the well—that's it! We must get at that."

"But how?" asked Mr. Reeves, with a deep sigh. "We can not take possession of it with spade and pick; the steward or the gardener would prevent us. An action for trespass would lie."

"Can it not be done at night—secretly?" asked Sir Charles. "I am a strong man could dig it out before the morning."

The lawyer shook his head.

"No," he said; "that would not do. They would see the lights from the lodge or hear the creak of the spades. Before you had been at work five minutes we should be discovered. No; that will not do. Yet we must get at it by some means. Let us think."

And he put his hand to his forehead.

The two sat quite silent; they knew how keen the brain of the old man was, and were patient.

Presently he looked up.

"I have it," he said, and they noticed that the sad expression of his face had given way to a keen, acute look, that showed he was interested in the pursuit, and had become reconciled to it—"I have it. You are still believed to be Reginald Dartmouth's friend—may, do not shrink; cunning must be met by cunning! You can not but be sensible that you are dealing with a rogue and not a gentleman, Sir Charles! I say you are still believed to be his friend. If I remember rightly you had the planing out of the race-course; it was a pity that you did it so admirably, for your own sake, and he glanced at his now healed arm, then continued: "The steward and the gardener are fully aware of that."

"The gardener is quite manageable," said Sir Charles.

"Just so," resumed the lawyer. "Your plan must be this: This afternoon—for no time must be lost—you must walk round and see the steward. Tell him that you have been requested by Reginald Dartmouth to see that a few alterations are made in the shrubbery. Take him with you to the well, and while looking round decide—as if on the spur of the moment—that you will have that dug out, and ask how soon that can be done."

"He will say a week or two," said Sir Charles, shaking his head.

"Without doubt," said Mr. Reeves, curtly; "but you will, of course, be impatient; declare that you would like it commenced at once, and, if need be, throw off your coat, and, as if in jest, say that you will take a turn at it yourself."

"I see—I see!" exclaimed Sir Charles.

Mr. Reeves, speaking slowly and thoughtfully, went on without noticing the interruption:

YOUNG WOMEN AVOID PAIN

Fashion Plates.

A POPULAR MODEL.

This One Tells How She Was Benefited by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Regina, Sask.—"For two years I suffered from periodic pains and nausea so I was unable to get around. My mother had me take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am much better and able to go about all the time, which I could not do before. I recommend Vegetable Compound to my friends. If I know they suffer the same way, and you may publish my letter if it will help any one, as I hope it will."—Miss Z. G. BLACKWELL, 2075 Guler Place, Regina, Sask.

If every girl who suffers as Miss Blackwell did, or from irregularities, painful periods, headache, dizziness, dragging down-pains, inflammation or ulceration would only give this famous root and herb remedy a trial they would soon find relief from such suffering.

It hardly seems possible that there is a woman in this country who will continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial after all the evidence that is continually being published, proving beyond contradiction that this grand old medicine has relieved more suffering women than any other medicine in the world.

For special advice women are asked to write the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of forty years' experience is at your service.

then; few workmen can resist the temptation of working side by side with a baronet."

"Then for once my title will be of some service!" sighed Sir Charles.

Mr. Reeves nodded—he was still thinking.

"That is not all. I must be on the spot—there must be no lack of witnesses when whatever is to be found comes to light."

"Ay," said Sir Charles. "How will that be managed?"

"Leave it to me," replied Mr. Reeves. "We must not fail. Once make a false step and Reginald Dartmouth will get an inkling. Should he do so I would give little for our chance of success. He is a rogue—if this evidence is trustworthy—but he is a clever one."

"I will go," said Sir Charles, "and do my part at once."

"And I," said Rebecca—"what can I do? Nothing but wait in deavouring suspense. Oh, how much I have suffered in these last few years!"

Sir Charles bent his golden head over her downcast face.

"Be comforted, Rebecca," he murmured. "We are nearing the crisis now, at least."

She looked up with a sigh and a sad smile.

"Yes," she said; "but how nearer are we to finding poor Hugh?"

"Nearer than you may think, madam," said Mr. Reeves, looking up suddenly from his slip of paper. "I am not given to presentiments, usually, but something tells me that he is not far off."

And there was the slightest tremor in the hard, dry voice, as its owner rose and left the room in search of Mrs. Lucas, of whom he wished to ask a few questions.

2739—This pleasing design may be developed in lawn, linen, drill, percale, seersucker, or gingham. The skirt is a four gore model. The waist may be finished with the wrist length sleeve, or with one in elbow length.

The Pattern is cut in 7 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measure. Size 38 requires 7 1/2 yards of 27 inch material. Width of skirt is about 2 1/8 yards at the foot, with plaits drawn out.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 15c. in silver or stamps.

Pattern 3283 is here portrayed. It is cut in 3 Sizes: 16, 18 and 20 years. An 18 year size will require 5 5/8 yards of 36 inch material. The width of the skirt at its lower edge is about 1 1/2 yards.

This is a pretty model for organdie, foulard, taffeta or crepe. Ruffles or ruchings of contrasting material or ribbon form a desirable trimming. The chemise may be of white batiste, net or lace. The trimming may be omitted. The waist may be finished in "slip on" style or with back closing.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 15c. in silver or stamps.

Crisis in European Affairs!

Diplomats view Russo-Polish situation with anxiety--Lloyd George talks straightly to Krassin and Kamenoff--Britain will assist Poland if necessary--Western Union Company cannot land cable at Miami.

IS IT WAR?

LONDON, Aug. 5. Among British officials and the diplomats of other nations here unexpressed anxiety is felt over the Russo-Polish situation. One high official said "the situation is as grave as that in August, 1914."

MAIN WORDS FROM LLOYD GEORGE.

LONDON, Aug. 5. In a statement in the House of Commons to-day in regard to last evening's conference with the Soviet delegates, Lloyd George said that he and Bonar Law made it clear to M. Krassin and M. Kamenoff that an immediate conclusion of an armistice on fair terms was the only course which would remove the suspicion that the Soviet Government was insincere in respect to the liberty and independence of Poland. Lloyd George added for himself and Bonar Law that in view of the fact that ethnographical Poland had been invaded, "we would take effective steps to remove obstacles in the way of transmission to Poland from Danzig of military supplies which could be obtained from that quarter." The Premier concluded "I think in view of the critical state of affairs I would rather not make any further statement this afternoon, but should unfortunately our suspicions be confirmed, I shall make a full statement to the House on Monday as to such further naval or military action which it may be necessary to take."

WILL SUPPORT POLAND.

LONDON, Aug. 5. In the House of Commons to-day Premier Lloyd George was asked whether pressure was being applied by the Allies or Great Britain to Czechoslovakia to assist Poland with men, arms or for munitions against Russia. The Premier replied, "everything depends on the answer we receive. If it is unsatisfactory of course we shall bring pressure to bear on everybody to give necessary support to Poland." Replying to a question as to whether other countries in a new war, Premier Lloyd George said, "You don't go to war necessarily when you follow the transit of munitions." Asked whether in case the Soviet answer was unsatisfactory the House could understand that no pressure would be applied to Czechoslovakia or other border states to assist armed intervention in favor of Poland the Premier replied, "If the answer is unsatisfactory, and if it becomes quite clear that the Soviet authorities mean to destroy Poland I certainly could not give any undertaking of that kind." The Premier's reply brought out cheers.

POLISH STRUGGLE INTERNATIONAL.

WARSAW, Aug. 5. Thirty Soviet armies are progressing in the direction of this city at the rate of six miles a day but are being pushed back in districts east of Lemberg. U. S. aviators are in the fighting against General Budenny's cavalry and infantry. The British, French and Italian Missions are taking the leading role in the decisions of conferences. Munitions from British and French are being rushed to the front and French officers are arriving daily as technical advisers at Polish General Headquarters in preparation for Warsaw's final stand.

HUN TREACHERY.

LONDON, Aug. 5. Soviet Russia concluded a secret treaty with Germany concerning Poland a few weeks ago, before the Great Polish offensive began, according to a correspondent of the London Times.

MESOPOTAMIA LOSSES.

MONTREAL, Aug. 5. A cable to the Montreal Star from London says the Daily News learns that British disaster in Mesopotamia was serious. "The three hundred casualties which the War Office reported as nearly all killed. The departed column was a battalion of Manchester with miners and sappers and six gun batteries. Only a few stragglers returned. Only four guns were saved. A fresh division has been ordered to Mesopotamia from India. Inquiries at Ashton under Lyne, the Depot of the Manchesters, showed that the second battalion was commanded by Colonel Wright, who went to Mesopotamia in March. Kufas garrison on the lower Euphrates is still holding out. The town has been partly burned up. The Arabs lost hundred and twenty dead and many wounded in a new attack northwest of the hills.

RUMANIA WATCHING.

LONDON, Aug. 5. Rumania is concentrating troops on the Russo-Rumanian frontier, says a wireless despatch from Moscow.

A CABLE COMPLICATION.

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 5. Four United States destroyers and one scout patrol, under orders from Washington, waited outside the harbor to-day to prevent the British cable layer Colonia, from laying the Miami end of the Western Union Telegraph Company's cable from Barbados. On board one of the destroyers is a British Vice Consul who will direct the Colonia's captain to disregard the Western Union Company's orders to begin at once the work of landing the cable.

MUST WAIT PERMISSION.

MIAMI, Aug. 5. The British Cableship Colonia, chartered to lay the South American cable from Miami to Barbados, in British West Indies, will not enter American waters until permission is granted by the State Department in Washington, according to advices received to-day from the British Ambassador, Sir Auckland Geddes, by A. Hubbard, British Vice-Consul in Miami. Hubbard was instructed in a long code despatch from the Ambassador to take command of the cable ship and to keep it outside the three mile limit until further instructions from Washington.

CHAMBERS OF COMMERCE CONGRESS.

MONTREAL, Aug. 5. Word was received to-day by Capt. Evan Edwards, Senior Trade Commissioner for Canada and Newfoundland, from the Imperial Government that five hundred delegates to the Congress of the Chambers of Commerce of Empire to be held at Toronto next month, would arrive at and spend some time here before proceeding to the Toronto Congress.

WAR STEPS IN PROGRESS.

LONDON, Aug. 5. The Evening News learns that the Government to-day considered the Polish situation and that large quantities of war materials are to be sent immediately, in concert with France. "There is no intention on the part of the Allies," the newspaper adds, "to depart in the slightest degree from their position regarding Poland. The British Government may have to call for volunteers within the next few days to aid in the preservation of the Versailles Treaty. It would be possible for the War Office to send four divisions within the next few weeks, two divisions immediately. Steps are being taken to mobilize the navy but the Cabinet has not yet definitely decided."

POLES STILL CONFIDENT.

PARIS, Aug. 5. Polish circles in Paris claim that the advance of the Northern Red Army is becoming slower and that the resistance of the Poles is more stubborn. They declare that Polish forces still are holding Ostrolenka, forty miles southwest of Lomza, and say the Warsaw-Danzig railroad is in no immediate danger.

A NEGLIGIBLE VOTE.

LONDON, Aug. 5. The Government suffered defeat in the House of Lords late last night on an amendment to the Mines Bill, proposing that instead of a Minister of Mines there should be a Parliamentary Secretary. Lord Peel, for the Government, urged that the amendment constituted an attack on the principle of the Bill, but the Peers carried the amendment by 25 to 23.

A RAY OF HOPE.

LONDON, Aug. 5. Premier Lloyd George was told at the Conference yesterday with the Irish deputation, that great progress has been made among Irish Unionists the last few months, favoring a broad policy giving self-government to the Irish, says the Times, reporting the meeting.

A COSTLY IDEAL.

SAN SEBASTIAN, Aug. 5. It is now costing forty thousand pounds sterling a month to run the League, according to an estimate by Sir Herbert Ames, submitted to the Council of the League of Nations.

FLAWS IN ELECTION.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 5. On account of several members of the Legislature holding office under the Crown, the whole Winnipeg election may be rendered invalid, the Tribune says.

K. OF C. AND IRISH QUESTION.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5. The Knights of Columbus in annual convention here, adopted resolutions yesterday stating they believe "that Ireland has the right and ought to be a free and independent nation."

Notes From Brigus.

Captain Ralph Clarke returned from St. John's by Saturday night's train.

Mr. Jas. French arrived from Grand Falls, on Monday night, to spend a holiday in his old home town.

Messrs. Harry Hiscock, Jas. Morrissey and Richard Whelan, who had been spending a time with friends at home, left by Tuesday's express to resume their occupations in the land of Uncle Sam.

Mr. F. G. Jerrett went to the city by Tuesday evening's train.

Mr. John Brien came home from the city on Tuesday night.

On Monday night a few young folks, who were taking passage on Tuesday's express for the U.S.A. and some friends held a very enjoyable dance in the Court House.

On Tuesday night a very interesting lecture on the Bible was given in the Methodist Academy Hall, by Rev. Canon Kühring of St. John, New Brunswick. The Rev. lecturer served as chaplain with the British forces in the Mediterranean and also in France. He is now on a month's holiday, during which time he is making a lecture tour for the British and Foreign Bible Society.

On Wednesday evening the marriage of Mr. Charles Stamford of Hartford, Conn., to Mrs. Emma Wilcox of this town, took place at Georgetown, whether the party proceeded in motor cars. They leave in a few weeks for their home in the U.S.A. Their friends wish them many years of wedded bliss.

During the past week the squid have "struck in" in large quantities. But even with these for bait no codfish are obtainable. Good catches of haddock were taken by trappers yesterday. This would indicate that one of the poorest codfishery's for seasons is about concluded, as no cod is taken after the appearance of these fish.

Messrs. Hall and Murphy of the Bank of Nova Scotia, left by motor on Tuesday evening to spend the holiday in St. John's. They returned again to-day.

There was a limited supply of baked apples on the market last week, but like the strawberries, they went to the highest bidder.

Mr. Louis Bartlett of the Health Department is here spending a holiday with his parents.

Obituary.

JOHN VICTOR DREW. There passed away at the General Hospital, on July 12th, John Victor Drew, oldest son of Capt. and Mrs. Con. Drew of Bay Bulls, born at Brooklyn, N.Y., 1906. Victor was very popular with his school fellows and beloved by all who knew him, because of his pleasing disposition and will be missed by his many friends. June 25th he entered the General Hospital to undergo an operation for appendicitis from which he passed away. The news was a severe blow to his father who was in U.S.A. at the time. To the bereaved parents the Telegram extends sympathy.

St. Andrew's Garden Party and Sports. The programme for the St. Andrew's Garden Party, which will be held on the 18th inst. at Cowan's Farm, Topsall Road, will be finalized at a meeting of the various committees in the Presbyterian Hall tonight. Those in charge of the arrangements are making every effort to have the programme excel the Highland Games of former years.

Queen Alexandra has always loved dogs. At one time were some 50 dogs of almost every variety in the kennels at Sandringham, though these have now been reduced in numbers, Borzois, or Russian wolfhounds, were at one time Her Majesty's favorites, and she was frequently photographed with them. Several former four-footed favorites of Her Majesty are buried in the grounds at Sandringham.

Since Sir Ernest Musgrave Harvey was appointed chief cashier of the Bank of England, his autograph has been keenly pursued by collectors. Others equally valuable, and even more scarce, are those of his predecessors in that post since 1875—J. G. Nairns, H. G. Bowen, and Frank May. For a very brief period, pending Mr. Bowen's appointment, the bank-notes were signed by Mr. Kenneth Grahame, the author of "The Golden Age." He is a high official in the Bank of England.

DIAMOND DUST

Nothing But the Truth—Without Fear or Favour.

LAST NIGHT'S RESULTS.

WANDERERS: . . . 000 10 01—11
C. E. L.002 2 00—4

After having the game won in the fourth Harvey's crew went down to ignoble defeat when they let the Wanderers' aggregation score 10 runs in their portion of the stanzas, and 1 in the seventh.

Owing to the fact that the evenings are now getting short, the League in their infinite wisdom has decided that the second round shall be all 7 inning games.

What happened the C.E.L. is not definitely known, but it was hard to expect them to repeat two days in succession after winning such a glorious victory on the Pond the day before.

The Wanderers were considerably strengthened by the "come-back" of Hartnett. Timmy toted a great big stick last night, having a three bagger, a double, and a single to his credit, which together with errorless guardianship of first, wasn't a bad record.

Double sackers were the order of the evening, both sides securing their quota.

The Wanderers used Smith and Donnelly in the box, and the C.E.L. Churchill and Gabriel, though Don and Alan were the mainstays.

When the Hartnett crew showed their 4th run across the plate, tying the score, Billy Clouston went in pinch hitting for O'Regan. When he swung on his third strike Churchill's curve got him full in the mouth. We are glad to say the injury is not serious, but his physiognomy will be spoiled for a few days.

Back in the far days when we tried our hand at the game, we seemed to have an impression that when a batter swung at his third strike and got hit that he was out, but evidently the big chief no longer agrees with this.

All the fans were glad to see Major Montgomerie watching the base circuit last night. Monty's decision as usual were good, and certainly final.

Harvey replaced Drover backstopping in the fourth, but the damage was done and the blue-and-whites had too long a lead to pull down.

THE SYDNEY VISITORS.

Mr. John B. Orr, who is the manager of the city team, received a wire from Manager Nathanson of the Sydney boys, saying that they would arrive here on the 15th inst., and would play their first game on that evening, the second on the next day, Tuesday, and the final on Wednesday afternoon, the 17th. The Monday and Tuesday games will start at 8.30, and the gate fee will be 25 cents, with reserved grandstand seats at 50 cents each.

Manager Orr, with Chief Chessman and Treasurer Power selected the City team yesterday afternoon. Four batteries will be used, viz.—Walter Callahan, Coke Cahill; Cannals, DeMeters; Hall, Clouston; Britt, Donnelly. The positions have not been apportioned to the others, but Hiltz, Billy Callahan, Doc Power, McCrindle, Phelan, Ellis, Kelly, Andy Clouston will be used, with Charlie Quick as Captain.

Fractures will begin at once as the visitors have a very formidable team and have been eating up the Cape Breton league.

Angus Lannon, who, fans will remember played ball with the Shamrocks the first year the League was started here, is captain; and some of the custodians of third, will it is reported, be able to learn a great deal by watching his action.

The fans are greatly interested in the forthcoming clash as it will give St. John's an idea of what our brand of ball is, compared to that of our neighbouring cousins.

Wonderful Oriental Swords.

In old Japan every nobleman maintained a personal guard of two-sworded men-at-arms. The higher his rank, the greater the number of these followers. If a daimio, he had a standing army of his own.

It was a feudal age. But the revolution of 1868 totally demolished the system and four hundred thousand two-sworded professional fighters lost their jobs. Thereafter they were forbidden by law to carry swords; and when Japan was fairly opened to foreigners, those weapons found their way to the curio shops.

Different causes brought about a like situation in China, where the mandarin of to-day goes about with an umbrella instead of carrying the sword of his grandfathers. Thus great numbers of Chinese swords, many of them exquisite works of art, have come into the possession of "foreign devils" with an enthusiasm for collecting.

We have read a good deal about the famous swordmakers of Milan, of Toledo and of Damascus, but their rivalry was mild compared with that of the old Japanese and Chinese experts in this art. The armorers of Nippon formed the richest and most powerful guild in the Orient. So keen was the competition among the swordmakers, they produced inventions the secrets of which are unknown to ourselves to-day.

Wonderful Steel.

The steel they made was wonderful. They knew how to make sword blades with tints of violet, blue, green, silver and gold. Swords like that of Saladin, which could cut through a veil or a sofa cushion, or like that of Richard Coeur de Lion, which could sever a bar of iron at a blow, might have been duplicated in a hundred shops in the days of the shogunate, and the eighteenth century mandarins.

Some of the blades bore figures of flowers and leaves or Oriental characters, the effect being the same as that produced by the "magic mirrors" of Japan—the tracery now visible, and again invisible—though nobody knew how the thing was done. Many of these old Chinese and Japanese swords are poisoned (so that it is well to handle them cautiously), the favorite method adopted for the purpose being to dip the blade in decaying human blood.

These were times when the eastern seas were beset by Chinese and Japanese pirates, whose favorite weapon was a stabbing dagger that resembled in shape the soe of spears, fastened into a wire-bound handle. The business end of another had the form of the soe of diamonds, ornamented with red lacquer to represent spots of blood. These daggers were effective not only at close quarters, being thrown, when occasion served, with great precision.

Odd and Interesting.

As a result of the fuel shortage five thousand men at Gary, Ind., are idle. One big plant is out of commission, and several others are operating only intermittently.

According to a traditional story, 10 casks of rum, intended for the Indian trade, were buried 150 years ago at Cumberland House, the Pas, Manitoba. Now they are digging for it.

The City of Adana, in Asia Minor, with a population of seventy thousand Christians and ten thousand Moslems, is entirely cut off from the outside world by the Turkish Nationalists and is on the verge of starvation.

Paderewski is no longer Prime Minister of Poland, to be sure; but he still has "a handle to his name." He is now Dr. Paderewski, having been given the degree of LL.D., at Oxford. At the same time and place a famous Greek statesman became Dr. Venizelos.

Operated upon five times, twice given up for dead during his lifetime, John Gallis, of Hull, G.B., is still going strong at the age of 103 years. Born at Mexborough, he says, he distinctly remembers his christening, when the clergyman threw water upon his face and told him to stop crying. That was when he was three years of age.

At Bartlett, England, Mrs. West was severely burned when she was caught in a thunder storm and her umbrella was struck by lightning. Her hat and clothing took fire and she was badly burned about the chest and neck. Her hair was also singed. Since the occurrence she has also been completely deaf.

A locomotive engineer on the Northern Pacific, living at Helena, Mont., undertook in his wife's absence to do the week's washing in an electric machine. Just after he had dumped the clothes in and started the washer a call-boy rang the bell and told him he had been called for an emergency run. Thinking only of his engine, he hurried out and did not see the washer again for five days. It was still on the job, but of the clothes only a handful of white shreds remained.

After the nominating speech demonstrations at the San Francisco Convention, more than ten and one half tons of debris, including paper, remnants of lunches, bottles, boxes, hairpins, women's gloves, enough to fill twenty-one Street Department wagons, were removed from the auditorium.

A Mechanical Car.

Two of the hospital ships of the American navy, the Mercury and the Comfort, both have a machine that makes milk in any quantity whenever it is wanted. The "mechanical cow" needs to be fed with a combination of unsalted butter and skimmed milk powder, and it will give milk with any degree of butter fat which is required. It also produces cream that will whip and the fluid which it yields tastes like the best quality of dairy milk and cream that can be procured ashore.

Valuable Hog.

Frank M. Clark of Hedley, Tex., has just received $5,000 insurance on the life of the largest hog in the world, which died on his Silver Crest farm. Not long ago Mr. Clark refused $8,000 for the animal. This herd boar of Mr. Clark's weighed 1125 pounds, was three years old and was registered as Mc's Big Chief, 331,253.

2000th Birthday.

Reading, England, which celebrated last week 2,000 years in existence, is rich in memories and in history, but poor in riches and beauty. The castle has quite vanished; of the Benedictine monastery, once third of the English abbots, only substantial traces remain, and fragments represent the palace of Henry VIII. The churches possess a few features of interest. But, on the whole, the town burned by the Danes, where parliaments were often held, during the CIVIL WAR is as plain and prosperous a conglomeration of dull houses as can be found in England. Most of it looks as bare and newly baked as one of the local biscuits.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

"THAT'S GRATITUDE."

A household helper wants me to write about the woman who pays her helper her washerwoman-as small a wage as she can possible get for, makes it up by giving her gifts, and then expects gratitude for these gifts.

make it up in gifts and privileges. It is because they can't pay it, one is sorry for them. If it is because they won't, one is not. In either case, they have no right to expect gratitude if the gifts have simply helped make up a wage that was deficient.

The Helper Who is Ungrateful.

On the other hand, we all know helpers who are given a fair wage, and on top of that, granted favors and given gifts out of kindness, and who abuse the privileges and are ungrateful for the gifts, and who, when their own chance comes to make a return--as in time of illness or household stress--are unwilling to do it.

I have had my auto mended, had its valves and doocards ground, and to-day it's running splendid, with no harsh or jarring sound; and my heart is in a panic, and my roll is also-ranic, for the heaven-bult mechanic touched me for my bottom pound.

Oh, the sun is shining brightly on the meadow and the sea, and the birds are singing lightly, but there bring no joy to me; there is sorrow in my gizzard, for the greasy auto wizard, knowing cars from A to Z, stripped me of my final V.

Oh, he fixed the carburetor and he made the starter start, and he rubbed his greasy sweater over the cushions, rich and smart; all the busted parts he showed him, and I stood around to gaud him; then he told me what I owed him, and I had a broken heart.

No Reason for Gratitude. Of course one would rather like to see the employer's side of this case before making a final judgment, but I think we all know women who act just the way this woman describes. Because they either can't or won't pay the current wage, they try to Household Notes.

When punch is served in a full course dinner it should precede the game course.

The home medicine cabinet and emergency linen drawer should be well stocked.

Iron cooking utensils not in use should be coated with saltless grease to protect them.

When buying pecan nuts avoid those that have been treated with a bright red color.

When canning pineapples, cook in boiling water until nearly soft. Finish cooking in syrup.

Chill glasses before serving iced drinks. This saves ice and the beverage stays cold longer.

A good salad is cabbage and pineapple finely chopped and served with cabbage salad dressing.

If parsley is to be kept, place in fresh water in the ice chest and change water every day.

See that the lids of your earthen baking dishes fit tight enough to keep in all moisture and heat.

Bits of ham left over can be minced and used to flavor and relish a dish of scrambled eggs.

To save measuring butter, mark in four parts with the back of a knife concealed in waxed paper.

When sweeping a carpet, keep the broom close to the floor, and sweep with the grain of the carpet.

STICK FAST TO YOUR YOUTH.

Stand fast to your faith. Through the darkness of grief Hold the torch of belief.

Through the long hours of care, Thick with doubt and despair, When the brambles and thorns Tear your flesh, and the scorns Of the thoughtless attack, And men stab at your back-- Stand fast to your faith.

Stand fast to your faith. Meet your care face to face, Do not stoop to disgrace; To the dangers that wait Journey head high and straight, And fall, if you must, But go down to the dust Clinging still to the truth Which was taught in your youth-- Stand fast to your faith.

Stand fast to your faith! 'Tis your armor of might As you dare to be right; 'Tis your strength for the blow That is struck by your foe, Your counsel and guide When your soul's being tried, The one treasure real That no pirate can steal-- Stand fast to your faith!

GOOD WORK.

The interest taken by the members of the Newfoundland Motor Association in the work of getting the connecting and city thoroughfares put in good condition is very commendable and no effort in co-operation should be spared by citizens in lending assistance to a project which has for its purpose the betterment of the city and suburban roads. To the pedestrian no less than the autoist, good roads are something greatly to be desired and the initiative and enterprise of the motorists who have voluntarily undertaken the task of putting the highways into first class repair, deserve the fullest recognition and call for such assistance as all can give. All drivers of vehicles realise that there is a growing necessity for the betterment of traffic conditions and the Good Roads movement will bring about this desideratum, to the satisfaction of all. The inauguration of the work is due to the push and energy of the Motor Association Executive, backed up by the strength of the members and assisted financially by the Government. The result of the work thus undertaken will make for the comfort and convenience of all who have occasion to travel, whether afoot or awheel.

The publication of a number of extracts from the Bye-Laws of the Association in the advertising columns of the press, to which motorists, pedestrians and drivers of other vehicles are requested to give attention, is a step in the right direction. Familiarity with these will obviate accidents, and it is as much to the advantage of the public to possess a knowledge of the rules for sane and considerate driving, as it is to motor owners and chauffeurs. Once all are acquainted with the form of signals and the rules of the road, it will be quite easy to determine the safe course to pursue whether driving or walking, and due observance of the regulations laid down will minimise the possibility of danger. Too much emphasis cannot be laid on the necessity for care on the part of all concerned, but with the information as published, closely studied and adhered to, there will be less peril from ordinary accidents. The Motor Association members are doing their part, and we are sure that they will have the co-operation of the public.

C. E. I. Enter Protest.

Just as we go to press we learn that Harvey Thomas, manager of the C.E.I. team, is protesting last night's game on a decision of Umpire Chesman's. It appears that according to Section 7 of Rule 61, if a batter swings at and misses the third strike and the ball hits him he should be declared out. In Clouston's case last night, this was not done, but if it had, the score would have been tied, as when it happened two Wanderers were down with 4 runs across. A meeting of the League will be held this afternoon, we understand, when the matter will be thrashed out between Umpire Chesman and Montgomerie, Managers Smith and Thomas, and the League officials.

Motor Accident.

MR. A. J. BAYLY INJURED.

Yesterday afternoon, while motoring out the Topsail Road near Cowan's farm, Mr. A. J. Bayly, of the Agricultural Office, met with an accident in a head-on collision. At the time Mr. Bayly was sitting in the front of the car with the chauffeur, they keeping close to the side of the road. A lumber truck came in the opposite direction, followed by Mr. J. Meehan's car, which in turning to pass the truck, bumped into the car in which Mr. Bayly sat, he being thrown forward by the impact and had his face badly cut by pieces of the windshield. The cars were damaged to some extent, one having its front axle bent and the other receiving damages to the wheels. Mr. Bayly was driven to town and was attended by Dr. Fallon, who had to insert several stitches to close the wounds. The occupants of the other car were not injured except for a shaking up.

Serious Outlook in the Seal Fishery.

The failure of the seal hunt this year is a matter for grave concern, and the future of the industry is exercising the minds of the business community and the seal hunters alike. The catch has declined heavily each year since 1916, when the number of seals caught was 241,302, and has touched its lowest level in the present season, when the seals caught numbered 33,985. Newfoundland's fishery year opens with the seal hunt, and if that is successful it influences the spirit of the fishing population generally and encourages the merchants who own and finance the boats. The original fleet of wooden steamers is steadily diminishing owing to wear and tear, and the steel vessels which were employed for a few years were not sufficiently satisfactory to warrant their re-purchase from the Russian Government, to whom they were sold by order of the British Admiralty to carry munitions and supplies to Archangel, in the early days of the war. As yet no satisfactory type of ship has been devised to replace the wooden vessels that have carried on the industry for the past fifty years. Although only nine boats took part in the seal fishing this year, it is stated that the cost of outfit was $300,000 approximately, this being nearly twice as much as was required to fit out twenty-two steamers in 1900. The loss to the Dominion resulting from the small catch this year is placed at $800,000.—United Empire Journal.

Canine Decorated.

Last December when the steamer Ethie ran ashore on the coast of Newfoundland with 92 passengers, including a new-born infant in immediate danger of death in the heavy sea, Reuben Decker, of Bonne Bay, called his dog, and putting the end of a rope in his mouth started him to swim to the wrecked ship. The dog, holding the rope fast, plunged into the heavy sea, and after struggling for more than an hour reached the steamer. With the line aboard, the passengers were sent ashore in a breeches buoy, the baby carried in mail bag. Now the dog has a silver collar, the gift of a number of humane societies of Philadelphia.

A Coincidence.

Messrs. Ron and Albert Martin, members of the winning Amateur crew in Wednesday's Regatta, are the sons of Mr. W. J. Martin, Registrar General, who thirty years ago on the same date rowed in the Iris, winning the Amateur Race in 10.02 or 28 seconds quicker than Wednesday's time. The Iris crew on that date were: Frank Barnes, stroke; W. Rennie, W. Martin, Fred Hayward, H. Hayward, and G. McKay. Messrs. F. Hayward, W. Martin and W. Rennie, the surviving members of the crew, were at the lakeside on Regatta Day, and though not rowing took a very lively interest in all the contests.

Replacing Propeller Blade.

During the run from New York to Halifax the Rosalind lost one of her propeller blades through striking a piece of submerged wreckage. The ship has been tipped by the head and workmen are to-day engaged putting a new blade in place, the work being done from a floating stage. The ship will not be ready to sail before Saturday night.

Personal.

Mr. M. G. Martin, Business Manager of the Telegram, and his brother, Mr. W. J. Martin, Registrar General, left by the S.S. Portia yesterday on a round trip vacation.
Adjutant H. A. Hurd, Subscribers Representative of the Salvation Army for the Maritime Provinces, Canada, arrived on the S.S. Rosalind. The Adjutant has made an annual visit to his old home city now for many years, and he says that there is no place where he enjoys himself better than in Newfoundland. The Adjutant has had a very busy year, having been nine months of the last twelve away from home, travelling in the interest of the Army. He reports the work of the army going ahead splendidly in Canada. The Adjutant will remain in the city for a week. Then he goes around to see his mother's people in Brigus, and will also visit Bay Roberts, the place of his birth, also Harbor Grace, returning he will sail by S.S. Rosalind on August 21st for New York and from there will go to Boston, to see his sister, afterwards returning to Moncton, N.B., where he has been living for the last four years.

Fishery Reports.

Between Cape Race and St. Shott's the catch of codfish is reported on 7950 quintals for 36 traps, 87 gories and skiffs and 3 motor boats. Some of the traps did well last week but the dormies did practically nothing. Fish is very scarce for trawling. Local traps did well yesterday and also hook and liners, the latter crews getting from 3 to 5 quintals.
At Bonavista there is squid enough for bait but no fish are being taken either with hook or trap.
At Cape Broyle there has been no squid for bait during the past few days and no fish has been taken.

To-Day's Messages.

POLES HOLDING THE REDS.

PARIS, Aug. 5.
The Bolsheviks are being held by Poles at Brest-Litovsk, and have suffered a loss of five hundred killed and wounded there, on repeated attacks to throw their forces across the Bug River, according to Wednesday's communication from Warsaw, which officially confirms the facts previously announced. The communique reports fierce fighting along the Bug, Reds having forced the stream in the region of Orlechyn and Polish troops are endeavoring to throw the Bolshevik back across the river.

LOSS OF WARSAW PROMISED.

LONDON, Aug. 5.
The Russian Soviets' reply to Great Britain's call for halt of the Bolshevik advance in Poland is a refusal, according to the London Times. The newspaper says the ground taken is that the armies would not obey an order to halt, and will only be content when they reach Warsaw, which has been promised to them for loot.

SHOWING HER TEETH.

BERLIN, Aug. 5.
The German Government is determined to prevent, by all means, the Entente from sending troops through Germany to help Poland, according to a declaration made in the Reichstag to-day by Dr. Walter Simons, Foreign Minister. Mr. Simons intimated that if the necessity arose, Germany would fight to prevent such a violation of German territory.

LABOR ACTIVE.

LONDON, Aug. 5.
An official statement, issued to-night, declares there is no truth in a report printed in the newspapers that large quantities of war materials are being sent to Poland, and that the War Office would be able to send four divisions of troops there in the next few weeks. Arthur Henderson, leader of Laborites in the House of Commons, is seeking by a circular to local Labor parties through the country to rally the Labor Party into organization demonstrations against intervention in Russia, or of supplying men or munitions to Poland. The circular favors the immediate raising of the blockade against Russia, and the resumption of trade with that country, in view of the hostility of the Labor Party to military aid for Poland, it is believed here that the Government will limit any needful action to economic pressure on Russia.

POLISH SUCCESSES.

WARSAW, Aug. 5.
The Bolshevik offensive against the Poles, along the Bug River, between Brest-Litovsk and the confluence of the Nurzec, has been stopped. A Polish counter offensive north and south is developing successfully, and a Polish army, concentrated between Narew and the rivers, has driven the enemy back to the edge of the province of Grodno, notwithstanding the pressure of Bolshevik forces, which crossed the Narew opposite Lomsa.

STARTLING ILLITERACY.

COBURG, Aug. 6.

(Western Star.)
His Excellency the Governor availed of his visit to Curling last week to invest Magistrate MacDonnell of St. George's, as a Member of the Order of the British Empire and to present the Imperial Service Order to ex-inspector Bartlett. The ceremony took place at the Government grounds near the Magistrate's residence, on Tuesday afternoon. The downpour of rain at noon that day and the continued threatening condition of the weather right up to within a few minutes of the appointed time no doubt tended to keep away many who otherwise would have attended. At 4 p.m. His Excellency the Governor, accompanied by his Secretary and A. D.C. entered the grounds and the gathering sang the first verse of the National Anthem.

M. B. E.

Magistrate Scott presented to His Excellency for investiture Richard MacDonnell, Esq., Etpendary Magistrate, St. George's, awarded the M.B.E. (civil division) for special service for Patriotic work during the war. Both in the general work of his district and the country and the efficiency with which he smoothed over many difficulties. Mr. MacDonnell earned the highest praise of the Government. It will, however, be remembered that an honour of this nature is intended to be a compliment to the whole district in which the recipient works.

I. S. M.

His Excellency then presented the I.S.M. to late Inspector of Constabulary, I. W. Bartlett. Mr. Bartlett came to Curling as Constable in the earliest days of the district, and was largely instrumental in establishing law and order in the troublesome days of the dispute with the French. He then went to St. John's and served with great credit in other districts, eventually being promoted to Inspector and coming back to Curling. The Imperial Service Order is only given for long and faithful service.

As His Excellency pinned the decorations upon their breasts, he congratulated the recipients and wished them many years to enjoy the honour that had been bestowed upon them by His Majesty the King.

Kelligrews Garden Party

The Church of England Garden Party was held on Wednesday 4th inst. at the Rectory grounds and proved a grand success, realizing the handsome amount of $460.00. The Rector, Rev. H. W. Facey, and his Committee worked like trojans with the result as stated. The proceeds will go, as practically all proceeds for the past two years have gone, to swell the "New Church Fund." The tables were very attractive and enticing and numbers fell victims.

There were several side shows among which was "Old Sport" and his powers of fascination were such that two young ladies could not resist the powers and stood on either side and kindly awaited the photographer's pleasure. As the shades of night fell, the young people wandered their way to the L.O.A. Hall, kindly lent for the occasion, where they tripped the light fantastic step till the small hours of morning, a recess being taken at midnight to partake again of the good things provided by the ladies, such as soups, drinks, light suppers, etc. We take this opportunity of thanking our city friends who are spending the summer months at this favorite resort, and also those who came by train or motor, for their kind patronage. We appreciate it very much indeed, and hope that ere many summers pass they will see the concrete result of these garden parties, etc.

CORRESPONDENT.
Kelligrews, Aug. 5, 1920.

Personal.

Miss Kathryn I. White, of Pittsburgh, Pa., is a passenger on the S.S. Rosalind arriving here on August 5th from New York City, on a visit to her mother, Mrs. Philip D. White, of 48 LeMerchant Road. Miss White will remain in St. John's about four weeks, before returning to re-open the K. I. White School of Music in Pittsburgh for the fall and winter season. In the past fifteen years Miss White has won considerable fame in the United States as a popular composer, ballad writer, and arranger for several of the larger music publishing houses in America. While in St. John's Miss White will devote some time to an exposition of modern thought in the theory, harmony and composition of music.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND GARDEN PARTY.—A General Meeting will be held in Canon Wood Hall on Friday evening next at 8.30 o'clock. It is important to have a large attendance at this meeting to make final arrangements for the Garden Party to be held on Wednesday, August 11th next.

Antiquity of Belief in Dreams.

Dreams are frequently spoken of, and in almost every possible aspect, in the oldest books in the world. In the Bible, God speaks in a dream to Jacob about the increase of his cattle, and warns Laban not to obstruct Jacob's departure. The dreams of Joseph, unsurpassed even from a literary point of view, and of Pharaoh, with a history of their fulfillment, occupy a large part of the first book. The dream of Solomon and the dreams of Nebuchadnezzar, the warning of Joseph to take the young child into Egypt, are parts of the history of the Christian religion. The Bible distinguishes between natural dreams and those attributed to supernatural influence. It states very clearly the characteristics of dreams. Cleero says that men of greater wisdom among the Romans did not think it beneath them to heed the warnings of important dreams, and affirms that in his time the Senate ordered Lucius Junius to erect a temple to Juno Sospita in compliance with a dream seen by Cecilia. Scipio's dream, philosophical, imaginative, grand, published in the works of Cleero, called the most beautiful thing of the kind ever written, has always been the subject of discussion as to whether it was composed by Cleero for a purpose or is the veritable account of a dream. Almost all the great characters of the Greek historian Herodotus believed that dreams were of supernatural origin. Kings resigned their sceptres, Cambyses assassinated his brother, priests attained great powers as commanders, cities which had been destroyed were restored by men who changed their plans and performed these acts because warned, as they supposed, in dreams, and with the invasion of Greece by Xerxes such night visions had much to do. Fenelon relates that when the father of Plato wished to have his son educated he took him to Socrates, who, by some strange coincidence, had dreamed the night before that he bore in his bosom a young swan which as soon as the feathers came upon it displayed its wings, and, singing with increasing sweetness, raised itself into the highest regions of air, soaring with intrepid flight. Socrates never doubted that the swan typified Plato and the boundless fame he was destined to enjoy. Plato and Socrates believed in dreams, and Aristotle admitted that they might have a supernatural origin.

Some of these contests are decidedly quaint, as, for instance, the cock-crowing matches of Belgium, where specially-bred and trained fowls are matched to see which will crow the greatest number of times within a certain time limit. The lark-singing contests of England are far more musical, these contests being promoted and conducted by an association having a good membership. The birds are kept for some time in a dark room, and then placed before a mirror in the light. Imagining his own reflection to be a rival, the bird at once bursts into song, a careful record being made of the length of the song. There used to be in Hamburg a famous collection of wild animals which included a number of giant tortoises, each weighing several hundred pounds. Children would mount upon the backs of these strange steeds, and holding a lettuce leaf on the end of a stick just beyond the reach of the tortoise, coax them into an amusing race toward a fixed goal. Much more exciting are the turtle races which may be witnessed in some of the South American countries. Turtle fishers select a number of the great sea turtles, and, attired in bathing costumes, mount their backs, grasping the forepart of the shells with both hands. The turtles are then released and at once make for the sea. Ordinarily the turtle would plunge with his rider to the bottom of the sea, but this the jockey would prevent by throwing his weight on the back part of the shell and at the same time pulling the forward part up with his hands, which keeps the animal's head above the surface. By pulling the shell to the right or left, the rider is able to guide his mount, and a circle is made about a boat anchored off shore, and so back to the starting point. These turtles cover a course of eight or nine miles in an astonishing short time. In Siam is found a particularly warlike fish, and fish fighting is almost a national sport in that country. When a contest is to be staged, two of the fish are placed in a large glass bottle, and these natural gladiators do the rest.

Britain and the Dominions.

Great Empire Trade Mission.

Mr. Thos. Feilden, Editor-in-Chief of the Empire Mail, who is accompanying the Imperial Press Conference Delegates to Canada is undertaking, on behalf of his paper and the Imperial Trade Propaganda Organization, a great mission in the Dominion, has had a remarkable career. He was born in 1863, and comes of an old Lancashire stock, distinguished in the arts, sciences and industries of Great Britain, as well as in military affairs. His forebears were the founders of the cotton industry in Lancashire, and therefore the cotton industry of the world, which is a proud distinction. His grandfather was contemporary with Arkwright and other pioneers, and his family were ever to the front, introducing invention after invention in the great industry with which their name is bound up, and being in consequence, mainly responsible for the wonderful cotton machinery of to-day and for the immense trade in cotton goods which Lancashire does with all parts of the world.

Mr. Feilden took to journalism, as a duck takes to water, when quite a little lad. His first literary effort was a paper written in his own hand, and circulated in the first preparatory school he attended, when only about seven years of age. At 14 he ran a monthly magazine, very well printed and edited, called "The Excelsior Journal." In this connection it is interesting to note that the late Sir Leander Starr Jameson, of "Raid" fame, and afterwards Prime Minister of South Africa, was his colleague at the Godolphin School, Hammer-smith, which they both attended, and was the first literary contributor to Mr. Feilden's little paper. Subsequently Mr. Feilden produced a weekly newspaper in West London called "The Comet," which had a meteoric existence, flashing across the sky for a few strenuous weeks, and then disappearing into the limbo of things that were, for want of the necessary capital to keep it going. At 21, Mr. Feilden founded his first trade paper "The Manufacturer and Inventor," which was succeeded by "Trade and Industry," produced for the engineering industries during the great engineering "lock-out" of 1897-98. At the end of that year Mr. Feilden met Sir Robert Leicester Harmsworth, M.P. for Caithness, (then Mr. R. L. Harmsworth), and started a famous paper in his time under his own name—"Feilden's Magazine"—which was promoted to accentuate and carry forward Mr. Feilden's previous efforts on behalf of British trade and industry. It had a wonderful career for some years and was the only real competitor, and a very successful one, to the American invasion of "Cassier's Magazine," which had secured a considerable foothold in Great Britain. He was Editor-in-Chief of this remarkable paper, which did great service to British commerce, under his direction. Owing to a difference with the principal shareholder, however, whose views did not fit in with Mr. Feilden's ideals as to how the paper should be run, he retired, and was subsequently Editor for a year or two of "The Electrical Magazine." In 1908 Mr. Feilden was invited by the late Mr. Moberly Bell, the famous Managing Director of "The Times," to join the staff of that great newspaper, and was responsible for "The Times" Engineering Supplement," which Mr. Feilden brought to a high state of efficiency and success. He subsequently initiated "The Times" Trade Supplement," which was equally successful. During the period that he was at "The Times," Mr. Feilden was responsible for the propaganda work in connection with the majority of the great issues brought out by "The Times." His visit to Canada on behalf of "The Times" in 1911 will be within the memory of many people in the Dominion. On that occasion, he represented the business side of the Empire Day Number of that great newspaper, and secured from the Canadian Government, and a number of cities, towns and institutions of Canada a considerable number of propaganda announcements, which were afterwards published in the Empire Day number of 1911, and circulated the world-over. He was the most successful man in this connection ever sent by "The Times" to Canada.

In 1917 Mr. Feilden retired from "The Times," and at once started on the promotion of what might be fittingly termed his "piece de resistance."

His great idea at that period was to produce a real Empire paper—a paper that would have no touch of politics attached to it, and which would represent everything that is best in British ideals and British trade and industry. He considered that the fitting time to produce this paper was in the middle of the Great War, in order to assist in the construction of a National trade policy before the aftermath of the war presented itself, and, in the meantime, to keep the British trade flag flying in the markets of the world, whilst the manufacturers of the United Kingdom were engrossed in the production of munitions of war. To this end he gathered round him a band of earnest workers, secured the co-operation and financial support of some twenty of the greatest capitalists of industry, bankers and commercial men of the country, and founded an association of interests under the title of the Imperial Trade Propaganda Organization. The British Government, acting under Orders in Council, would not permit a new paper to be started at that time. Mr. Feilden therefore very heavily. Every male member of looked round, and succeeded in purchasing what was then a very small and unobtrusive publication under the comprehensive title of "The Empire Mail." He took this paper over in March, 1918, and produced his first issue under the new organization at the beginning of the following month; just at the time when the Germans flamboyantly announced that "A single combat has been opened between England and Germany to decide our future position in the world, and whether Anglo-Saxons shall continue to press their will upon the world." It was a faithful hour to start a great economic movement, and many British manufacturers in consequence looked askance at it, but, nothing daunted, Mr. Feilden pressed forward with the publication, and the paper was produced—a 32 page Royal quarto issue, which was the size of the paper for the next two or three months. In August, whilst the Imperial Conference was sitting in London, he produced a 54 page issue, which was a remarkable compilation, as it contained exclusive articles, (all autographed, and illustrated with the photographs of the writers), contributed by the Empire leaders assembled in London. The first of these articles was written by the Rt. Hon. Sir Robert Borden, and was followed by contributions by the Hon. Arthur Meighen, the Hon. N. Rowell, the Hon. J. A. Cairns, the Hon. W. M. Martin—names too well known to Canadian readers to need further comment. The Prime Minister of Australia, the Rt. Hon. W. M. Hughes, the Prime Minister of Newfoundland, the Rt. Hon. W. F. Lloyd, the Prime Minister of New Zealand, the Rt. Hon. W. F. Massey, the Minister for the Australian Navy, the Rt. Hon. Sir Joseph Cook, the Minister of Finance for New Zealand, the Rt. Hon. Sir Joseph Ward, Bt., and the Solicitor General for Australia, Sir Robert Garran, also contributed to the issue, and one and all sent messages of encouragement and support to Mr. Feilden's paper, endorsing his propaganda as a means of drawing the Empire closer together.

From that time onward Mr. Feilden registered success after success for the Empire Mail, and in May of this year produced a truly remarkable Empire Day Number of 100 pages, which contained autographed messages and special articles from many of the greatest men in the Empire. This issue contained, from the pens of these Imperial Statesmen and others, a unique collection of views and opinions upon our Imperial destiny, aspirations and obligations, which have been read with the deepest interest wherever the Union Jack opinion, and have drawn from the Prime Minister, Mr. Lloyd George, his thanks on behalf of the Government.

The toll that Mr. Feilden and his family have paid in the War has been his family volunteered for active service. Some have made the supreme sacrifice, others have been grievously wounded, and all have suffered. His three sons joined up immediately after the outbreak of hostilities. The eldest carried through a forlorn hope in Mesopotamia, and returned home only to find that his second brother had "gone west." At the end of the War, after serving gloriously through-out, Mr. Feilden's youngest son, a Lt. in the 4th Lancashire, came through, but with a smashed leg. Mr. Feilden's only brother, a medical man over 50 years of age, left his practice, volunteered during the most terrible days of the campaign. The doctor's son, himself also a medical man (Mr. Feilden's only nephew), did splendid work in East Africa, where his Red Cross car was fired on by the natives under the instructions of a German officer, and he was left to die, with a bullet through his intestines, but was miraculously saved by the Providential appearance of another doctor on the scene. Cousins and other members of Mr. Feilden's family unfortunately went down. Mr. Feilden himself did meritorious military service, as indicated above.

In 1904, Mr. Feilden was a delegate to the St. Louis Electrical Convention. During the early part of the War he was a member of the Council of the Entente Trade League, Lord Desborough being Chairman, and was actively engaged in organizing various Trade Committees. He also helped with Lord Roberts' National Service League, receiving his Lordship's commendation.

Mr. Feilden is a Fellow of the Royal Colonial Institute, and a member of various trade, technical, commercial and Empire associations. Throughout an active life he has been in the van of progress, particularly in commercial and industrial matters, with special regard to Overseas trade. He has been described as a man who gave British industry a lead. His firmness of purpose is undoubted, and he has perhaps done more for the promotion of British trade in every part of the World than any other living journalist. One of the main planks of his platform is to promote a better feeling between employer and employed, and he has been particularly active in this direction, both during the War and since the Armistice.

Another great ideal of Mr. Feilden's is to keep constantly before the public the immense sacrifices which the Empire has made in defence of the National heritage of freedom or commerce and personal liberty, and to emphasize the obligation of individuals towards the State in the struggle to maintain our supremacy in the markets of every issue of the Empire.

In the responsible position he has held, Mr. Feilden has been entrusted with the most delicate and difficult propositions, all of which he has carried through to a successful issue. He is personally acquainted with the Premiers of the Overseas Dominions and other Empire leaders, and with hundreds of leading manufacturers in Great Britain, all of whom have recognized the great work he has accomplished. Mr. Feilden has an intimate knowledge of the conditions prevailing in connection with trade in the United Kingdom and abroad. He has had unique opportunities of frequently visiting the most important manufacturing establishments in Great Britain, various parts of the Empire, and in foreign countries, and has studied commercial and industrial subjects in all their branches. He will be a man worth meeting in Canada, as he can supply first-hand information, and will be glad to impart his view and to give the benefit of his experience to Canadian manufacturers and commercial men. He is travelling with the Imperial Press Conference Delegation, not as an official member thereof, but as an independent unit to represent the great interests referred to. The main reason of his visit to Canada is to secure the most reliable information and data possible in connection with Canadian conditions—financial, commercial and industrial. The information he will obtain together with his impressions, will be placed before the readers of the Empire Mail in a special Canadian edition on his return to England, and will be made known to the world over. This information is intended to portray all the best elements of Canadian life, and to indicate how trade can be expanded between the Mother Country and the Dominion, to show the advantages of settlement in Canada, and generally to present an up-to-date and true picture of the Canada of to-day, its potentialities and its opportunities.

Mr. Feilden recognizes to the full the position which Canada occupies as a great country, with abounding opportunities for British capital, enterprise and emigration, and his tour will therefore be one of vast importance to the trade relations between the Homeland and the Dominion. The information he will be able to give readers of the Empire Mail will doubtless stimulate action in the development of Canada, and be of inestimable value alike to British manufacturers and the business men of what he describes as "the wonderful country," he is visiting.

When carrying a full pan of milk, move hands slightly, to keep pan slowly turning from right to left or vice versa, and the milk will not spill. The water in which potatoes or rice has been boiled is a good substitute for milk and flour in thickening gravies. Browned flour may be added if necessary.

Torbay Garden Party.

The energetic parish priest of Torbay, Father Ashley, will hold a Garden Party in that thriving and historic village on Wednesday next, and it is needless to say that it will be well patronized by the general public of St. John's, as well as his own people of the parish. The object is a very necessary and most laudable one. The Church is very old, and beyond repair, so nothing is left for the beloved priest to do but to erect a new one, and, notwithstanding the many calls made upon the people of late, Father Ashley is most sanguine of success. He deserves to succeed. Torbay Sunday has always been recognized as an important day in connection with church affairs in this country, and for many years past hundreds of people of both sexes, old and young, have visited the village on that date.

The corner-stone of the old church was laid on the 9th October, 1859, when that pioneer and patriotic priest, Rev. Father Troy, had charge of the Parish. This venerable cleric passed away to his reward on April 2nd, 1872, and his name is a household word and highly venerated, even to this day. Father Troy was succeeded by the no less zealous and saintly Father Clarke, who was mainly instrumental in raising the village from a second or third class to one of the most prosperous and independent in the country. On the 1st November, 1879, he, in conjunction with other leading citizens founded the Total Abstinence and Benefit Society, which exists to-day and is in a flourishing condition. He encouraged agriculture and every industry for the advancement of his people, and education received a great impetus chiefly attributable to his untiring exertions. He fought the good fight, and, in the evening of his days, owing to failing health, he retired to his Native Land—Ireland—where he passed peacefully away some few years subsequently. He was indeed the "Father of his people."

But the edifices, social and otherwise, erected by those zealous and enterprising pioneers could not last forever, and the duty now devolves upon the shoulders of their no less zealous and energetic successors, to take up the plough, the share of which they left in the furrow and continue the good work carried out by them during the many years they so carefully, diligently and zealously looked after the spiritual and temporal welfare of their flock. Hence it is that Father Ashley appeals to the people of all classes to assist him in accomplishing his object, viz.—to erect a new church and presbytery, for which the present edifices are entirely unsuited, having outlived their time, after a period of over sixty years. We feel fully convinced that the people generally will, with their usual generosity, render all the assistance necessary, so as to enable Father Ashley to accomplish his grand object of once more having a House erected to the Glory of God, to succeed the old one in which so many thousands have rendered up their prayers to the Most High for well over a half a century.

This can be done by our people attending the Garden Party on Wednesday next, 11th inst., in their hundreds and otherwise assisting the reverend gentleman to successfully carry out the good work handed down to him by his illustrious and saintly predecessors.

In Touch With Victorian.

The Signal Hill wireless telephone station was in communication with the U. S. Victoria on her way down the St. Lawrence River. The U. S. D. by an route to England was also spoken to. Messrs. Morridge, Hunt and Edwards, who erected the station here, will leave shortly for England, thoroughly pleased with the success of their demonstrations. The station will not be dismantled, but will be continued by the Canadian Marconi Co., with Mr. Collins as manager.

The King's Touch of Healing.

According to James Fraser, in the "Golden Bough," the healing touch attributed to many kings dates back to the time of the magicians from whom kings in general were evolved and who retained some magical functions for a certain length of time.

The first king to whom suffering superstitious humanity, thronged for succor from pain was Clovis of France, in the misty days of Christianity, who by the laying on of hands cured those who were afflicted with the king's evil. His edacious touch is vouched for in the "De Mirabilibus Struamus" "narrative" of Laurentius, physician to Henry IV. of France. The healing power also was used by the pleasure-loving Louis XIV. of extravagant tastes and amorous proclivities as well as by numerous other French kings. Louis dispensed his gifts with royal generosity, touching, it is asserted, sixteen hundred persons, who came to him on Easter Sunday, 1686, to be healed. To each he said, "Le Roi touché; Dieu te guerisse," after which he handed each one 15 sous.

The "Gift" in England. English authorities say Edward the Confessor was the first king upon whom was bestowed the God-given power of healing by the laying on of hands; and furthermore that this gift was used by sovereigns of England for many centuries. Some authorities cite that it extended to Queen Anne's time; others put it later.

Shakespeare in Macbeth gives the holy office to King Duncan, who was a contemporary of Edward the Confessor.

"Strangely visited the people. All swollen and ulcerous, pitiful to the eye. The mere despair of surgery, he hangs a golden stamp around their neck. Put on with holy prayers."

A ceremony in connection with the laying on of hands was established by Henry VII. It can be found in the Common Prayer Book of the year 1571, by Thomas Parnell. The form most frequently used by the English kings was "I touch, but God healeth." These words always were said in the presence of a bishop or a priest who introduced the patient to the royal presence.

Certain days were set aside for the healing ceremony. A rather interesting announcement of Charles II. is worth quoting: "His sacred majesty having declared it to be his royal will and purpose to continue the healing of his people for the evil during the month of May and then to give over till Michaelmas next, I am commanded to give notice that the people may come to town in the interim and lose their labor."

The Touching Place. Among the thousands who came to Queen Anne to be cured was Dr. Johnson, who received at this time a small gold piece called the touching piece. The practice of presenting the person touched by the king with a small piece of silver or gold originated with Henry VII., but was discontinued later because of the many deceptions practiced by people who had the "itching palm." Dr. Johnson's coin was decorated with a relief of St. George and the Dragon on the reverse and a ship on the obverse. The legend on one side is "Soli deo gloria," and on the other, "Anno, by Grace of God, of Great Britain, France and Ireland, Queen."

William III. was skeptical about the healing power, calling it a silly superstition. Once, at the close of Lent, when his palace was besieged by a crowd of sick, he is reported as saying: "Give the poor creatures something and send them away." Another time, when he was importuned into laying his hand on a patient, he said: "God give you better health and more sense."

Superstition in connection with the belief in the kingly gift of healing led to many uncanon customs among the peasantry in the early days. The chronicles of Twyford record a marvelous cure of a baby afflicted by a villain named Marley of Oakford, whose medicine reminds one of the ingredients stirred in the cauldron of the witches of Macbeth. Marley gave a box of ointment to the child and told him to dip a pin's head in it and strike the wound nine times each day. He was then to catch a toad, cut off one of his hind legs, put the leg in a calico bag, tie the bag up to the wound and let the toad go away alive, and as the toad died the wound would heal.

Notice to Taxpayers.

Section 7—(1) Income War Tax Act:—
"Every person liable to taxation under this Act shall, on or before the thirty-first day of March in each year, without any notice or demand, deliver to the Minister a return on Oath, in such form as the Minister may prescribe, of his total income during the last preceding calendar year. The Oath shall be in the Form V prescribed in the schedule to this Act."

Section 8—(1):
"If the Minister, in order to enable him to make an assessment, desires further information, or if he suspects that any person who has not made a return is liable to taxation hereunder, he may, by registered letter, require additional information, or a return containing such information as he deems necessary to be furnished him within 'thirty days.'"

NOTE.—Persons to whom forms have been sent under this Section are bound to return them filled in accordance with their income for the period named, even though no tax has to be paid.

Section 9—(1):
"For every default in complying with the provisions for the next two preceding sections, the taxpayer and also the person or persons required to make a return, shall each be liable on summary conviction to a penalty not exceeding one hundred dollars for each day during which the default continues."

NOTE.—Taxpayers and those suspected as being liable to taxation under the Income War Tax Act, and who have not yet made returns as required by the Act, are now given Thirty days from the Second day of August instant, to complete and send in returns for the accounting periods of 1917, 1918 and 1919. Persons who are in default with their returns after the expiration of the above number of days will be prosecuted in accordance with the Act.

Halifax Extends Glad Hand to the Pilgrims of the Press

Halifax, N.S., July 29.—At 11 o'clock yesterday morning a public reception was tendered in the Legislative Council Chamber to the Imperial Press Conference delegates now in Halifax. Practically all of them turned up, and there was a goodly representation of prominent citizens and representatives of the city and the Provincial governments. The programme of addresses did not begin until nearly twenty minutes past eleven and the gathering took on something of the air of a private informal reception for the visiting journalists, who made themselves acquainted with citizens, chatted gaily, and asked many questions of the "hisses and thats" of Halifax. They were especially interested in the historic apartment. Just before the addresses were read, they were all presented to the Lieutenant-Governor by Lord Burnham, President of the Empire Press Union.

THE GOVERNOR'S WELCOME.

The Lieutenant-Governor tendered the welcome from the Province and city. He said: "Your Lordship, Ladies and Gentlemen—"

In my capacity as Lieut-Governor of the Province of Nova Scotia, I tender to you a warm welcome to this old city, whose Port is the ever open gateway to our Great Dominion and whose people to a man, extend to you the same hearty welcome, linked up with the earnest hope that your visit here, although far and away too brief, may prove to be nothing short of a delightful preliminary canter—Here you will find and meet strong sturdy and loyal sons of worthy staves, of the land of their forefathers, England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales. You will also find that the bloom of the Rose, the Thistle and the Shamrock have lost none of their charm or coloring, on the cheeks of the daughters of the same lands, but rather made more lovely and beautiful by our sunny and invigorating climate.

We welcome you as members of one of the most effective forces on earth, because we own and recognize that the pen, when righteously wielded, is more mighty and powerful than the sword. To each member of your distinguished party I again say welcome assuring you that whatever pleasant welcome or surprises await you on your trip over Canada, none will prove to be more sincere or come more direct from the heart, than from the hearts of the "blue nose," sorts of which are in evidence before you.

Lord Burnham's Reply.

Lord Burnham spoke for the Fourth Estate. He said that since he had been the youngest member in the House of Commons, he felt it an especial honor to stand in the Legislative Council Room of one of the most venerable Constituent Assemblies in the British Empire. He apologized to the Premier, as represented by Mr. Finn, for having come at an inconvenient time but, without trying into provincial politics, he desired to congratulate the Prime Minister of Nova Scotia upon his success in being returned and in the confirmation of his seniority of Prime Minister of the Empire. It was a great thing to be a Prime Minister and also a great thing to establish such a record.

"Pilgrims of the Press."

Lord Burnham described himself and his colleagues as a band of Pilgrims of the Press, coming across the ocean which had become the great combine, instead of the great divide of nations. The welcome had preceded their expectations and they had been very much touched by telegrams from the Governor-General, the Prime Minister, the Premiers of the Provinces, and, he believed, the Mayor of every town and city in the Dominion.

He referred to the horror and sympathy England had felt in reading about the disaster of 1917, and her equal admiration of the energy which had promoted the city's speedy recovery. The assistance of Massachusetts was indicative of the friendly relations existing between the Empire and the great republic to the South.

Lord Burnham said that he realized the historic ground upon which he stood, ground soaked with the blood of the two great nations which had struggled for Canada. Those who said that there was no romance here, had been rebuked by Sir Gilbert Parker, who had shown the romance of the Canadian French, and it was evident, after the French misrule had been thrown off, that Canada had advanced through the collision of the two types, the absorption of their complimentary qualities.

He also mentioned with interest the birth of the provincial federation idea in Nova Scotia and its consummation by Nova Scotia statesmen. To Joseph Howe and Sir Charles Tupper he gave praise as statesmen and men.

Lord Burnham said that the Maritime Provinces claimed that the world had overlooked them, but suggested this might be because they had overlooked themselves, had not made enough of their own opportunities. The delegation had not come for propaganda, but to tell the truth as its members saw it, to observe things as they really are, to ascertain facts. There was no reason to fear that they would be disappointed.

Lord Burnham spoke also of the power of the Press, the voice, if not the mind of democracy, speaking from shore to shore, from multitude to multitude. In conclusion he quoted Howe's remark relating to the only annexation Canada wishes being to Great Britain, and claimed that this annexation had already come to pass. The whole Empire was now one community in spirit.

Kirvan, of Australia, speaking for the Overseas Dominions, expressed his appreciation of the reception and said that no citizen of any Dominion felt a stranger in Canada, because of

W. H. BRANDES, of Des Moines, Iowa, who declares he gained twenty pounds in thirty days after taking Tanlac and now feels like a different man.

"Thirty days ago or a little more, I only weighed 125 pounds, but now I balance the scales at 145 pounds and Tanlac did it," declared W. H. Brandes, a well-known and highly respected citizen of Des Moines, Iowa. Mr. Brandes has been looking after the plumbing work of the Des Moines Public Schools for the past nineteen years.

"And many of the teachers and scholars can tell you how different I look since I began taking Tanlac," he said. "I suffered from indigestion of the worst kind for the past year or more and was often so weak and dizzy I couldn't stand up, let alone walk. Nothing helped me. I finally had to take my bed and stay there for several weeks. Finally a friend persuaded me to try Tanlac and I have never seen or heard of anything to equal it. It relieved me entirely of indigestion and put me right back on my feet. I have not only gained twenty pounds in weight, but I feel like a new man in every way. I just think Tanlac is the finest thing ever sold in a drug store."

Tanlac is sold in St. John's by M. Connors; by Reg. Sullivan, Pouch Cove; Sound Island Store, Sound Island; Dennis Flynn, Avondale; J. J. O'Brien, Cape Broyle; J. W. Smith, Baine Harbor; W. A. Burdock, Belleoram; John Morey, Fermeuse; Mrs. Joe. Quinn, Renewa.—adv

the trait of kinship throughout the Empire. He echoed the remarks of Lord Burnham and said that his colleagues had come to learn more, to meet one another and to discuss Imperial affairs, since all were interested in the furtherance and progress of the Empire.

Hon. W. S. Fielding said that the Council Chamber was an interesting spot to him because, as predecessor to Mr. Murray, his term of office had also been a record one. He was very pleased to mingle with friends of the Press, since he himself was a bit of a Pressman as well as a politician. He referred to the close relationship of the Press to politics in Nova Scotia, saying that one paper in Halifax had supplied no less than three Prime Ministers.

Other speakers were the Hon. R. E. Finn, Mr. F. B. McCurdy, M.P., and Mr. G. S. Campbell.

MAYOR PARKER'S ADDRESS. His Worship's welcome was worded as follows:—Lord Burnham and members of the British Imperial Press Conference:

On behalf of the City of Halifax, it is my privilege to extend to you the most cordial welcome in the giving of our citizenship.

We had hoped to have been the first to have greeted you at the gateway of Canada. Unfortunately that has not been our special honor. But we are assured that Sydney rose to its unexpected opportunity in a splendid manner and so bow gracefully to the will of the Fates.

You will find, if you search with great diligence, that we in Halifax are a proud people. We are proud of the contribution the City had made to education, to the development of responsible government and to journalism. For Nova Scotia, which gave to Canada its first University and its first free parliament, also gave to Canada its first newspaper. But you will also find that while we are proud of our past, we look with even greater pride to the possibilities held out for our City by the future.

We trust that your exceedingly brief stay amongst us will be as enjoyable as we wish to make it, and we trust further that your impressions will last and that you will have no reason to forget Halifax and Nova Scotia in your future journeyings amid the splendors of Canada.

Ladies and Gentlemen the City is Yours.

Welcome of Business Community.

The luncheon given the delegates was unique in as much that it was not civic in the real sense. The visitors were the guests of the heads of an industry upon which this potential Britain of America aspires to the traditions of the Motherland. Among the local guests were Lieutenant-Governor Grant; Hon. M. F. McCurdy, Minister of Public Works; Hon. W. S. Fielding, M.P.; Hon. R. E. Finn, representing the Provincial Government; Mayor Parker, and men and women representing every leading factor of the life of Halifax.

Mr. J. E. McCurg, General Manager of the Halifax Shipyards, Ltd., was chairman. He presided with marked ability. In a well delivered speech of welcome, he referred to the ideal site which Halifax holds, commanding the greatest highways of the Atlantic. The plans for the future may well be without limitation.

Mr. Selig, of Christ Church, New Zealand, in acknowledging the address of welcome, said that Canada was well known and deeply admired in New Zealand, where he believed that journalists knew more about the Dominion than they did in England (laughter).

Old Scotland's Pride in the New.

Mr. Donald interposed his address with many laughter provoking references, none more so perhaps than when by slip of the tongue he said the sojourn of the press delegates in Canada would be six months (meaning six weeks). Mr. Donald as a Scotsman, referring to Nova Scotia, said: "We from the Old Scotland, coming to the New Scotland (cheers) must naturally feel the deepest emotions when surrounded by so many reminiscences of the old land." He made special reference to the splendid equipment which has been provided for the conveyance of the delegates across the continent by the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Canadian National Railway. Nothing had been omitted by these roads to give comfort and luxury to the travellers.

At the conclusion of the luncheon, the delegates were guests of motor car owners, and were toured through the city and surrounding districts. A number devoted the afternoon to golf, while still others found the tennis courts of the Waegwoltic attractive. At four o'clock many of the visitors were entertained at tea at Government House. There were many Halifax citizens also among the guests.

An Evening on the Arm.

The item on the programme for the evening's diversion was an excursion in two large boats from the Dockyard through the harbor and up the North West Arm to a double-headed band concert at the Waegwoltic and St. Mary's Boat Club. The visitors could not have obtained a better impression of the favorite playground of Halifaxians if a special and flattering stage set of it had been constructed for them. Conditions were in every way ideal. Banks of fog, which had been ready to swoop in all day, filling those in charge of the arrangements with intense apprehension, behaved themselves with remarkable consideration and didn't come any closer than the vicinity of Camperdown while the party was on.

There was a sunset and an afterglow of unusually exquisite coloring, and upon their heels followed the shimmer of moon and star sheen on the waters, crowded with the craft and canoes through which the staff carrying the journalists threaded their way. And the journalists appreciated the scenic glories of the Arm, in afterglow, twilight, and under the moon, perhaps more than anything that Halifax had offered them in the landscape line during the day. There was a continual fluttering of "oh's" and "ah's" of delight, and "I've never seen anything like it" was repeated so often that it almost verged upon bromidity.

A Scene of Beauty. The grounds of the Waegwoltic and of St. Mary's glittered with lights, while the incandescents on the facades of all the other boathouses were turned on to the last little bulb. At St. Mary's, St. Patrick's Band played an excellent programme, while the splendid instrumental aggregation of the Army and Navy Veterans, dispensed melodies from the Waegwoltic bandstand. There were great crowds at each club.

The journalists were landed at the Waegwoltic. Some of them amused themselves with a bit of dancing, but most strolled through the grounds, listened to the music, and gazed out at the water with its pleasure craft brought into prominence by the lights, the silver shimmer of the dusty water beyond, the silhouette of the shadowy hills beyond against the star-spangled sky-line. "I've never seen anything like it" seemed to be the key phrase of their emotions.

When the party was about to leave, Lord Burnham borrowed a verandah of the club as a rostrum and lent oratorical ornatness to this phrase. He congratulated the people of Halifax upon the possession of such a spot of beauty and facility for pleasure uses as the North West Arm, upon its clubs, and the welcome the Waegwoltic had given him-

Lord D'Abernon First Ambassador.

TO THE TETRATIC REPUBLIC.

Lord D'Abernon's appointment as British Ambassador to Berlin is exciting bitter criticism because he was not the nominee of the Foreign Office, but that of Phillip Kerr, Premier Lloyd George's principal secretary, whose influence over the chief is paramount. It is objected that D'Abernon, who managed the Liquor Control Board during the war with marked success, had his only previous training as an international financier while controller of the Ottoman Imperial Department. Foreign Secretary Curzon is said to have opposed D'Abernon's appointment, but Kerr's influence over-ruled him.

Lord Curzon is declared to have been smarting for a long time over the knowledge that Kerr carries on foreign affairs over his head, and important political decisions are only communicated to him by Kerr after they have been taken.

Kerr, whose aunt is the Duchess of Norfolk, is himself heir to the Marquisate of Lothian. Therefore, belonging to one of the oldest Roman Catholic families in England, has to the great distress of his ultra-Catholic relatives adopted Christian Science, it is said, under the influence of Lady Astor, who is a noted propagandist of this cult. Lord and Lady Astor are intimate friends, also Lloyd George, but he has so far been proof against Christian Science propagandism.

Apart from all this, undoubtedly D'Abernon is an excellent man for the position. He is in sight in the diplomatic service is equally equipped. His wife is a younger sister of the late Duchess of Leinster and a very beautiful woman, while he himself is a man of commanding presence and charm of manner as well as an exceptional linguist.

Curiosities of the Earth's Formation.

Certain curious facts must be taken into account in any theory which attempts to explain the formation of our world. Among these are:

First—There is a great preponderance of land in the northern hemisphere and of water in the southern.

Second—Most oceans and most continents are more or less triangular in shape and they nearly all point southward.

Third—The land forms an almost unbroken ring in the north and water in the south.

Fourth—If we place a map of the northern hemisphere over the southern it will be found that land never fall over land, but always over water, except in a few small patches. These curious facts have given rise to the so-called "tetrahedral" theory of the formation of our globe. It has been found by experiment that a round tube under pressure tends to collapse into a triangular form. This gives the greatest amount of surface for the relative area. Our earth in cooling shrinks, and consequently its spherical form (maintained by its revolution or spinning) tends to fall into this triangular or tetrahedral shape. The result of this is that certain flat surfaces are formed and also certain points or angles which project. Water, being fluid, tends to flow on to the flat spaces, being nearer the centre of gravity than the projecting corners.

The result is that the "continents," which correspond on this theory to the corners, would project or rise above the level of the water, and if we examined a map of the world with this theory in view it will be found that the general conformation of the land and water and their distribution on our globe correspond precisely to this theory.

Putting All Cranks in One Basket.

A third national party has been organized in the United States. It is an excellent idea. All the cranks, egotists, Bolsheviks and other lads and lasses can now get together under one head. For a time Henry Ford was boomed for leader, but this seems to have collapsed. However, there are a lot of others who would be likely timber. There is Hearst and Pinchot and La Follette and the fellow who discovered Peruna; and Doc Cook who did not discover the North Pole. Of course, these people would be dangerous if sufficiently numerous. But the common sense of a great majority of the American people will pronounce against the leadership of such men as John Fitzpatrick, who told the Chicago Third Party Convention that he found the Russian situation to his liking—(loud cheers)—or La Follette, who is probably the most unpatriotic of American citizens. Under the circumstances, the personnel of both the Democratic and the Republican parties will be much improved.—Saturday Night.

Liquid or Plaster

They end corns
now in this scientific way

People who know—millions of them—now end all corns in this way.

They apply Blue-jay, either in liquid or in plaster form. It means but a touch and takes but a jiffy.

The corn pain stops. Then the Blue-jay gently undermines the corn so it loosens and comes out.

The modern way

Blue-jay was invented by a chemist who studied corns.

It is made by a laboratory of world-wide repute.

Old-time treatments were harsh and inefficient. Blue-jay is gentle, quick and sure.

Now all corns are needless. All these pains can be avoided. To let corns remain while you are and pad them is folly. You can stop a corn ache the moment it appears. You can end a corn completely before it can develop.

Blue-jay has proved these facts to millions. It will prove them to you—tonight—if you let it.

Quit the old methods of dealing with corns and see what this new way means. Your druggist calls Blue-jay.

Trinity Past and Present.

Following the waterfront on the town side of the Harbor of Trinity, from the quiet and deserted location of the late Slade and Kelson, going north, it is refreshing to find on almost the next portion of the shore a new scene of increasing busy activity, and the bare, jagged rocks that have been washed and polished by the tides of centuries, are now being covered with buildings. This is being done by Mr. Archibald Christian in the fishing interests of Harris & Son, Grand Bank, and no less in the interests of those in Trinity to whom the catching, curing and shipping is entrusted, and all others who benefit by the circulation of the money earned. This waterfront property, together with the land in the rear of it belonged to, and forty years ago was occupied by Capt. Nicholas Facey. The dwelling house that has recently been taken down, was at the time it was built, one of the finest residences in town. We regret that the honorable name of Facey is no longer on our list of citizens, though it is creditably represented by Mr. Robert Facey at St. John's, and his sons, Rev. Dr. Facey of Queen's College, and Rev. Hugh Facey, Rector of Kelligrews.

The store, wharf, and residence of Mr. Hussey, are reminders of another name, well known to us some forty years ago, but now extinct—the name of Stoneman. Though not in the running with the larger business firms of the town, George Stoneman had a well-defined place amongst those who catered to the needs of the fishermen; and to them as to all others who had dealings with him, Capt. George Stoneman was well known and highly respected. Seventy years ago he superintended the building of vessels in his own dock-yard, and then sailed them to foreign ports and return; and to the old people his name is still associated with the brig "Catherine," "Times" and "Henry Thomas." All his property was kept in best repair, and always presented a clean and tidy appearance, as it does to-day. In shop and store supplies, such was his careful selection of the practical requirements of every day life, that when some little thing that would be required, could not be found anywhere else in town, you would be sure to find it at George Stoneman's.

The fact that the main road at that time wended through the Churchyard, and led out to the shore, suggested the point of outlet as a good business location, and influenced Mr. Stoneman to build his shop and store there. With the present road going in another direction, the main reason for Mr. Stoneman having built there is entirely lost sight of.

Following the waterfront going north, passing Candlestick Point (so called because the man who stole the candlesticks from St. Paul's Church threw them from this point into the water), we come to a part of the shore on the old Spence property, where the conditions referred to on the Facey property have been reversed. Here the waters of the Harbor, in a line with the Narrows, run continuous riot over jagged rocks and slimy boulders, that once were the foundations of two fine stores that constituted a well known business premises, though known only by report to the present generation. James Lockyer was the last successful agent in connection with this premises. He was so successful that William Kelson reported him to headquarters at Poola, as a dangerous rival, and suggested that they get rid of him by buying him out. They acted upon the suggestion by offering Mr. Lockyer a fancy price for his stock in trade and a position as clerk in the office of Slade and Kelson at Trinity. Mr. Lockyer accepted the terms and held this position for a year. Then he resigned it to become storekeeper at Garland's, which position he held till some years before his death, and was succeeded by his son George, who, first as a cooper, and then as storekeeper served on the premises under Garland, Brookling, and Bremner for sixty years.

Rounding the Neudic Point, we come into that part of the Harbor front which has witnessed the greatest development of the fishing industry in the town. In what is still known as the Doctor's Cove, old premises have disappeared, and new ones have been established. This part of the shore was called the Doctor's Cove, because Rev. John Clinch, who was a doctor of medicine lived there a hundred years ago. The house in which he lived, and in which his children were born was an old house sixty years ago, and has long since disappeared. The Crockers, the Eagens, the Whites, the Fields and others have all died out, and new names are now associated with the old homesteads. The present premises of Mr. Joseph Morris, on which he has done business for over fifty years, was at one time a scene of the busiest business activities, under the ownership and administration of Mr. Vallance. Later it passed into the hands of Mr. James Verge, who with his limited knowledge of practical business requirements, failed to make good. To-day Mr. Joseph Morris and Son are using the premises in such a way as to constitute it an essential and useful part of the present business outfit of Trinity.

The greatest of all the premises ever built up in Trinity, and that which had most to do with the building up of Trinity, is that which now belongs to Ryan Bros. This property takes us back to the hoary past, and is immortalised by the names of Brookling, Garland, Lester, Drawbridge, Lockyer, Cole, Hepburn and others, who were either owners or agents of long years ago. Here we have a group of fine buildings, which because of many unavoidable changes are larger and more in number than present requirements demand. As they stand to-day, however, they are effectual reminders of better things long ago, and silent witnesses to a glory that has departed. The one building of the group, known to-day as the pork store, is the oldest building in Trinity, as it alone escaped the fires of the French, when, during one of their whirlwind raids on Trinity, they tried to burn the whole premises. The little building in which the storekeeper does his clerical work is also used as a retail powder house. For years this building had a high wall around it, in which was a gate (with a massive lock and heavy bar). This gate was opened and closed with a little ceremony, and because of this wall the building was known as Jerusalem. Although the wall disappeared years ago the name still sticks. My father, as the storekeeper, used to mystify some of the old fishermen by telling them that he had spent forty years in Jerusalem, and they respected him accordingly. When we think of a premises of this kind as it was in Garland's time, and then remember that another of the same extent and standard of efficiency, did duty at the same time for Slade, and that both outfits were absolutely necessary for the looking after, and the taking care of the annual local harvest of the sea, we get an idea of how greatly that harvest has changed. Even though we remember that the resources of well nigh the whole of Trinity Bay were then brought to Trinity for collection and shipment, even that does not greatly lessen our realization of the many changes that have come to us—that, "The times are changed, and we are changed with them."

Owing to the failure of the fishery in Trinity Bight, many of the young men have given it up, and have gone to work at Grand Falls, Millertown, Badger, and other places.

We wish to thank the American Consul at St. John's for recommending Trinity as a summer resort, to the American visitors. He made no mistake in doing so. They came, they saw, and they were conquered. They thoroughly enjoyed every hour of a week of ideal Newfoundland weather. The views from Gun Hill, the South Side Hills, Fort Point, and Trinity East, were revelations to them, while the beautiful S. W. Arm, Glen Cove, N. W. Arm, and the trouting picnic at N. W. Arm Brook, will have a permanent place in the happy memories of their 1920 Summer outing. They have gone back to New York with new ideas of Newfoundland; wonderfully impressed with the kindness and hospitality of our people; pleased with the hotel appointments, and thankful for the spiritual privileges provided in connection with the Parish Church. We, too, are glad they came to us. We enjoyed their presence, and as church people, we are grateful for their priestly, and pulpit services generously rendered in St. Paul's Church. Come again.

Mr. Walter N. White, of Ryan Bros., spent a week of holidays at his home in Bonavista.

Guests registered at Garland Hotel, Mrs. Jenkins, Prop.—Dr. V. Burke, Mrs. Burke and child, of St. John's; Rev. C. G. Hill, of Trinity Chapel, New York City; Rev. T. A. Sparks, Rector of St. Clement's Church, New York City; Professor Lincoln, of Massachusetts; Mr. T. C. Gilmore, St. John's; Mr. E. A. Crowther, St. John's; Mr. W. Parsons, St. John's; Mr. A. Skelton, representing the Valley City Seating Co., Dundas, Ontario; Hon. D. Ryan, St. John's.

Rev. George Malmind, of Bonne Bay, thoroughly enjoyed a week in native air, and together with the New York clergy shared in the Sunday duties at St. Paul's.

Mr. Joseph Morris has received and stored a cargo of coal; and a second cargo has been imported by Ryan Bros. Wood will probably be more plentiful and cheaper this winter, and with three cargoes of coal we should be warm.

Dr. Fitzgerald, of Trinity East, is visiting his parents at St. Jacques.

Miss Sophia Rowe, of South Side, was married to Mr. Ralph Haylor in St. Paul's Church on July 31st. They will make their home in Grand Falls.

The body of John M. Clarke, of Dunfield, who died in St. John's, was brought to Trinity by the Prospero, and buried in St. Paul's Cemetery.

Capt. John Randell, of Port Rexton, died last week, and was buried on Sunday, August 1st.

The many friends of Mrs. Earle will be glad to hear that she is well enough to be up, and out of doors on fine days.

Mr. Thomas Jenkins, of Ayre & Sons, St. John's, together with Mrs. Jenkins and Miss Gardner, spent a delightful week in Trinity. We were glad to have them with us, and they were sorry when it came to an end.

Mrs. Emma White spent a week-end at Trinity East.

Mrs. Mary Fowling, of Trinity East, celebrated her 80th birthday last week. Several old friends called to extend congratulations, over a cup of tea.

Miss Edith White, of the Rectory, is spending a holiday with her sister, and Mrs. White, at the Orphanage, St. John's.

Mrs. Jenkins, of Garland Hotel, treated her guests to a motor boat excursion around the Harbor and Arms on Wednesday evening. It was thoroughly enjoyed and appreciated.

Miss Nettie Hiscock returned to St. John's last week, after an enjoyable time at Trinity.

Guests at the "White" House, Mrs. John White, Prop.—Rev. E. Pardy, Reuben Martin, J. Elliott, E. L. Willis, E. Cooper, John Fry, Wm. Newell, Geo. Field, Arthur Waton, Geo. Toop, James Miller, Luke Ivamy, Orlando Ivamy, Amos Watton.

Dr. Vincent Burke's interest in the history of Trinity, was a special inducement for him to visit us. We were glad to see him, and we believe he will come again, and Mrs. Burke too.

A Change of Figure.

At the great Memorial Service in Toronto, for the late Admiral of the Fleet, Lord Fisher, O.M., the Rev. Dr. Alfred Hall, Senior Chaplain to the Royal Naval and Merchant Marine Institution of Canada, suggested the alteration of one of the well-known Hymns. He pointed out that considerable objection had been urged, since the war, to the use of the verse

"Like a mighty army, Moves the Church of God."

It was felt that the great military machine of German devastation could not suggest anything for which the Church stands. But the work of our Navy had been a benefaction to all mankind; securing, under God, the overthrow of injustice and tyranny. He proposed to change the figure from a military to a naval one, to read:

"Like the naval squadrons,
Move the Church's hosts,
Keeping watch and vigil,
Throughout all our coasts;
Ready eye for action,
Against the powers of sin,
Keen, with utmost daring,
That the right may win.
Brightly gleams our ensign,
White, with cross of red;
Leading on to victory,
Under Christ our Head."

Governor Visits Bonne Bay.

(Western Star.)
 On Monday, July 15th, Magistrate James was in receipt of a wire from the Private Secretary, intimating that His Excellency the Governor expected to arrive at Bonne Bay the following Sunday at noon.

A meeting was convened in the Court House Tuesday evening for the purpose of making arrangements for the coming event, and a representative committee was appointed. Owing to intervening inclement weather little was done in the way of decorations apart from a liberal display of bunting, but we are sure that His Excellency was well satisfied as to our loyalty and to the nature of the welcome accorded him.

Coming up the Straits conveyed by H.M.S. Calcutta—one of the latest productions of her class in the Royal Navy—calls were to have been made at Port Saunders and Cow Head, but the thick fog prevented this and consequently the Calcutta dropped anchor in Bonne Bay Saturday evening.

Magistrate James with Constable Walters proceeded on board and after arrangements for tomorrow were finalized.

Sunday at one o'clock the Magistrate lunched on the ship with His Excellency and staff. Admiral Sir Allan Everett and Captain Noble, R.N., and at 2 p.m. returned to shore in company with the Governor, who was attended by Capt. Hamilton, Private Secretary and two Naval officers. A large number of citizens were at the landing place. The party continued around the main street and stopped at the Church of England school house where the Sunday School was in session under the Superintendency of Mr. Roland Roberts. His Excellency graciously made a most acceptable short address and at its close was presented with a handsome bouquet by one of the tiny scholars. Leaving here a call was next made to the Roman Catholic church where Rev. Father Brennan was met, and in company with the rest repaired to the Court House which was soon filled.

An indication of His Excellency's character was here shown. A large number of children were around the door and naturally desirous of being inside but doubtless felt somewhat awed at appearing before their Governor. His Excellency knowing of this asked specially that they come in before the meeting commenced and with a little further urging all trooped in and standing in front close to His Excellency were at once put to ease by his kindly manner.

Magistrate James then read the address, which owing to lack of space we have to hold over till next issue.

His Excellency's reply was in a humorous and pointed style. In expressing his pleasure at being in Bonne Bay for the first time, he made it known that this was his third attempt, each here but that the elements had been too much for him. The beauty of the spot was enlarged upon, and the necessity of a better standard of fish was shown. The party by Bonne Bay in the war was commented on and congratulations tendered Mrs. Jimmie Wilton, M.B.E., who was but recently decorated, and who was present in the room. Sensible suggestions as to what form war memorials should take were entered into and in closing he hoped it would not be too long before he would be in our midst again and accompanied by his wife and daughter. The National Anthem being sung, all were given an opportunity of meeting His Excellency and he genially chatted with many.

The party then left for Norris Point where a visit was made to the fox ranch of A. B. Harding and subsequently returning to the ship, tea was served, and at 6 o'clock His Excellency and the Magistrate again landed at Woody Point and attended service at the Church of the Epiphany. In the absence of the Rector, Rev. Mr. Maitland, the services was ably taken by Mr. Roland Roberts, who, it may be noted, has put in two years at the Diocesan College, Montreal. A large congregation was present and rose as the Governor entered. Following the Benediction the National Anthem was heartily rendered. Return was then made by the Governor to the Calcutta.

At 8 o'clock next morning His Excellency and party, including the Magistrate took launch for Lomond where the big mill and surroundings were inspected. The Calcutta steamed up at 10 o'clock and all with the exception of Mr. James going on board, she left immediately for Curling.

This was brought to a close the visit of His Excellency Sir Charles Alexander Harris, Governor and Commander-in-Chief of Newfoundland.

In conversing with the Governor he expressed himself as highly pleased with the time spent here and we on our part are heartily pleased to have had him with us. In him is seen the best type of the English gentleman; one who has given long years of faithful service to the cause of Empire, and who by his experience and personality is ably qualified to represent His Gracious Majesty in this His Dominion of Newfoundland. That many more years of usefulness lie before him is our sincere wish.
