OR
MABEL HOWARD, OF THE LYRIC.

CHAPTER XXI.
MABEL HOWARD, OF THE LYRIC.
A gentleman in an ulster with the collar turned up—the stage was rather draughtily—stepped forward, and clutching his umbrella in one hand and a sheet of music in the other, remarked, in the tone he would have used if he had been ordering a mutton chop for his lunch:

"The night approaches, and all is dark and drear; yet would my heart beat gladly if she—if she were near!"

Then he burst into song, singing something about the way of life and the path of love, and singing in the most indolent, devil-may-care fashion. It was very strange to Iris. She recognized the man by this time as one of the most popular actors, and knew that he would, on the night of performance, be all that was fascinating in some brilliant costume. But it was very singular indeed to see him drolorously gesticulating with his umbrella, and singing from behind the utter collar.

Then a young lady came forward, and the two indulged in a dialogue, exactly as if they were talking about the weather, and presently broke out into an act.

By this time Mr. Stapleton was getting anxious, for no Miss Alfrede had put in an appearance.

"We must go on!" he said, irritably. "Cut out her part and get on with the rest. She'll be here directly, I dare say."

The rehearsal proceeded, but it soon became apparent that it could not go on to its close without the missing lady. Mr. Stapleton stamped up and down the stage, swearing under his breath; the author threw himself into a chair and clutched his hair; the actors and actresses exchanged glances, and muttered audible complaints of Miss Alfrede, the manager, the author, and each other.

When the confusion and general ill-temper were at its height, the call-boy ran on to the stage with a note, which Mr. Stapleton took, and tore open as a lion rears a lamb.

Then he uttered a yell of rage and impatience.

"Yah! Look here! Just what I expected!—Miss Alfrede's compliments and her throat is too bad to attend rehearsal!"

There was immediate and profound silence.

The author groaned.

"We'd better all go home," said the tenor, beginning to roll up his music resignedly.

"Yes!" shouted Mr. Stapleton. "Yes, that is the only thing you can do! But I tell you what, and he clinched his fist and shook it at no one in particular; "you can stop there! I won't be hangered and baited like this any longer! I won't produce the opera at all; I'll shut the theatre! I'd sooner never open it again than endure this treatment! Here am I risking a fortune, and slaving night and day, and I'm to submit to the whims and foolishness of a girl that I've treated like one of my own children! No! I'll shut the theatre, and—and go and take a farm!"

The climax, uttered in the wildest of voices, produced a roar of laughter. Mr. Stapleton on a farm was a little too absurd, even at such a moment as the present.

"You think I don't mean it!" he said, actually pale with anger. "Ladies and gentlemen, I give you the usual notice! The treasurer will pay you your salaries, and—the Lyric is closed! Good-morning!" and he dashed his hat on his forehead and stalked toward the wings.

They laughed no longer. Instead, they exchanged glances of dismay and horror. The tenor hurried forward and caught the retreating manager's arm.

"Can't something be done, Mr. Stapleton?" he said. "Miss Alfrede will turn up to-morrow, no doubt—"

"I don't risk it!" he retorted.

"And—and all will be right," said the tenor. "Look here; can't some one read and sing her part this morning? That will tide us over this rehearsal."

"Can't something be done, Mr. Stapleton?" he said. "Miss Alfrede will turn up to-morrow, no doubt—"

"I don't risk it!" he retorted.

"And—and all will be right," said the tenor. "Look here; can't some one read and sing her part this morning? That will tide us over this rehearsal."

She felt sorry for all of them, and very sorry for Mr. Stapleton. With all his roughness and vulgarity, she felt that he was generous and good-natured, and she pitied him.

As she sat and watched, wondering what they would do, she felt some one touch her arm, and, looking down, saw that it was Paul leaning over the orchestra barrier.

"Oh!" she said, with a little start; "is it all over? Are you coming?"

"Mabel!" he said, in a low voice.

"Yes!" she answered.

"Mabel, I wonder whether—oh! but I dare not."

"What is it, Paul?" she said, gently, for he looked pale and distressed.

"Did you hear what has happened?" he said, in a whisper.

Mabel nodded.

"Yes; Mr. Stapleton says that he will close the theatre. It is a pity, is it not?"

"A pity! Ah! you don't know what it means," he said, sadly. "To all of them it is a blow, and means a loss; but to some of them, to those poor people at the back there—the chorus—it means right down privation, and—and perhaps starvation. For it is a bad time to get a rough engagement, you see. And all the fault of Miss Alfrede! And he has treated her so well, and given her such a tremendous salary, too. She caught cold going down after the theatre to a supper party at Richmond, and she don't care how she inconveniences the rest of the company; she cares nothing for anybody but herself."

"I am sorry, Paul," said Iris. "Poor things."

"Yes," he whispered, sadly. "And—and it will make a difference to me, too, Mabel; but that doesn't matter so much. I haven't got little children depending on me, as some of them have."

"To you?" said Iris.

"Of course; I shall lose my engagement," he said, quietly.

"Oh, Paul! Cannot something be done?" she said, anxiously, for his own loss had brought that of the others home to her.

He looked up at her quickly.

"Yes, something can be done, Mabel; and you can do it!"

"It!" she exclaimed, amazed.

"Yes, you, Mabel, didn't you hear what he said? That none of them could sing her part at sight. And it's true; they couldn't save their lives, none of them! But you can!"

"You can! You would do it beautifully! And the rehearsal would go on without her, at any rate, this afternoon. She would come to-morrow. Oh, Mabel, say the word! Quick! Look, they are beginning to go, and when they have gone it will be too late! Mabel, let me speak to Mr. Stapleton!"

As she still shrank back he continued, pleadingly, "Think of all those poor people, Mabel! Shall I?"

Her face paled, then went crimson. "If you think—" she murmured.

Paul did not wait for the conclusion of the sentence. Limping forward, he called Mr. Stapleton, who stood in the centre of the dismal group.

"Well, what is it now?" he demanded, irritably. "Oh, it's you, is it? What do you want? I am just going."

"Mr. Stapleton," said Paul, timidly, "Miss Howard will take Miss Alfrede's place this afternoon, if you like!"

Mr. Stapleton stood still. Some of the actors, who had heard Paul's stammered words, pressed up closer and stared into the dim theatre.

Iris shrank back as far as she could. "Oh! Miss Howard?" said the manager. "Can she read at sight?"

"Try her!" said Paul, proudly. "Oh, Mr. Stapleton, it is not for herself—she does not want to, and I have had hard work to get her to say she would—but it is for you and for us!"

Mr. Stapleton jumped down from the stage and approached Iris.

"Is this true, Miss Howard?" he said. "I will try, if you think I can do it!"

said Iris, in her quiet, gentle voice.

"Try, for Heaven's sake!" he exclaimed. "I am as anxious to keep the theatre open as any one can be, but I can't stand up against continual annoyance and disappointment. Come and try, and—and we shall all be very much obliged to you."

He held out his hand as he spoke and assisted Iris, by the help of a chair, to mount the stage.

The group, expectant and curious, eyed her scrutinizingly.

"This lady," said Mr. Stapleton, "is a friend of Mr. Paul Foster—the lady who sang at the Duchess of Rosedale's yesterday"—they exchanged glances, and the eyes bent upon Iris grew more interested and even respectful.

"This lady has kindly volunteered to sing Miss Alfrede's part—confound her! Now then, where's the music? Take it, you are, Miss Howard. We'll take it as slowly as you like. There is the book of the words. We'll all help you in common gratitude."

"Yes, yes," said some voices, eagerly.

Iris took the music, and, pale and confused, looked round.

"I will do my best," she said. "I am very sorry that it should be necessary."

The actors looked at one another. Here was a very different person to the absent Miss Alfrede; but perhaps, after all, she would fail!

Paul sat trembling at the orchestra, his ardent blue eyes fixed upon her. He, at any rate, knew that she would not fail.

"Now then," said Mr. Stapleton, "let us begin. Stop us when you like, Miss Howard, and take all the time you like."

They began. When it came to the speaking part of the character, Iris read from the little book they had given her, and, though her voice sounded rather tremulous, it was so clear and distinct that Mr. Stapleton nodded and perked his hat over his eyes to hide his satisfaction.

Presently she came to the vocal part. All eyes were bent upon her. A moment she would decide whether she could accomplish what she had so bravely attempted. Unflatteringly, though low and somewhat slowly, she sang the music. A murmur rose, a murmur of surprise and satisfaction. The rehearsal went on. They came presently to the first solo; the clear, sweet voice rose and filled the theatre. Without a false note, without a moment's hesitation, she sang it to the end, and then looked round almost frightened, for a silence, profound and appalling, reigned everywhere. Had she broken down, sung it wrongly? What was the matter?

BREAD AND BUTTER.

I've even chicken a la king And many a fancy dish. I think I've tasted everything The heart of man can wish. But nightly when we dine alone My grateful praise I utter Unto that good old stand-by known As mother's bread and butter.

Some think it very common fare And may be they are right. But I can take that wholesome pair At morning, noon and night. And there's a happy thrill I feel That sets my heart a-flutter. As I sit down to make a meal. For mother's bread and butter.

Though poets sing their favorite foods And each unto his different moods Tells what he likes to eat, I still remain the little boy Who gleefully would matter A youngster's gratitude and joy For mother's bread and butter.

So now for all the joy I've had From such a wholesome pair Since first I was a little lad In a hanger's deep design I hold the finest food of all— Though epures may sputter And sneer me from a banquet hall— Is mother's bread and butter.

Women of Middle Age

THE critical stage of a woman's life usually comes between the years of 45 and 55, and is often beset with annoying symptoms such as nervousness irritability, melancholia, heat flashes which produce headache and dizziness, and a sense of suffocation. Guard your health carefully, for if this period be passed over safely, many years of perfect health may be enjoyed.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is especially adapted to help women through this crisis. It exercises a restorative influence, tones and strengthens the system, and assists nature in the long weeks and months covering this period. It is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and contains no harmful drugs or narcotics. Its value is proven by many such letters as these:

Regina, Sask.—"I was going through Change of Life and suffered for two years with headache, nervousness, sleepless nights and general weakness. Some days I felt tired and unfit to do my work. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and found good results, and I also find it a very helpful Spring tonic and useful for constipation from which I suffer much. I have recommended Vegetable Compound to several friends, and am willing you should publish this."—Mrs. MARTHA W. LEINSAY, 810 Robinson St., Regina, Sask.

Lascelles, P.Q.—"During the Change of Life I felt so weak and run down I could hardly do my work. The perspiration would pour over my face so that I couldn't see what I was doing. We live on a farm, so there is lots to do, but many who felt as I did would have been in bed. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it did me a world of good. I tried other remedies but I put Vegetable Compound ahead of them all, and I tell every one I know how much good it has done me."—Mrs. DUNCAN BROWN, Lascelles, Prov. Quebec.

Letters like the above do influence women to try

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

IF WE WOULD ONLY SPEAK OUT.

The other day I heard two men talking over a business deal.

One man wanted to make a certain business arrangement with a newly established firm, but was afraid that the firm to which he sells most of the product he manufactures might hear of it and not understand his reasons.

"Well, if they ever hear of it and don't like it you can explain to them exactly why you did it. I think your reasons are absolutely justifiable," said the man whose advice about the step had been asked.

Never Sure What the Trouble Was.

"There is no doubt of that," said the man who was contemplating the step, "and if they came to me and told me that they didn't like it, I have no doubt I could make them understand why I did it and remove any resentment they might feel. But the trouble is, they wouldn't come to me. A coldness would arise that might have come from that or half a dozen other things. They would probably show it by complaining that my goods weren't up to the mark. It wouldn't be anything I could put my fingers on."

They would vanish into Thin Air.

So many times the frank bringing to the surface of little misunderstandings and feelings of offense mean that they would vanish into thin air like the bubble that comes to the surface of the water. If you can forgive and forget a small offense without threatening it out that is best of all. But if you can't forgive it until you have brought it out and had it explained, or if you forgive but do not forget, better bring it out. Frankness is justice in such cases. Indeed, I think that in friendship, in love, and in business, we shall all get on vastly better with about five times as much frankness as we use.

THE MOON.

The learned Professor Pickering finds life upon the moon; there men, perhaps, are mooning, and chasing the double moon.

We've a l w a y s thought it tenantless, and cold and gray and dead, without baseball, a n d penmanship, with none to paint it red. But now Professor Pickering sees

The Influence of Virol on development.

"No trouble during teething"

92, Esme Rd., Sparkhill, Birmingham.

Dear Sirs,—

The enclosed photograph is of my son, who is nine months old, and I am glad to say it is due to Virol, with cow's milk, that he is such a bonny lad.

He is very strong, and his flesh is quite firm, and he weighs 27 lbs. 3 ozs.

A happier child one could not wish for, and even though he has seven teeth he was no trouble during teething.

It is a pleasure to give you this letter of testimony, and I hope others may benefit by my experience.

Yours faithfully,
O. E. FRANCIS.

French Premier Asks Awkward Question.

Germany Not Reducing Military Armament--Balfour Pledges British Support to France--Ulster Will Not be Driven Out of Imperial Union.

LAND ARMAMENTS.
 WASHINGTON, Nov. 21. Washington Conference turned its attention to Land Armaments to-day, with Premier Briand of France presiding to present at its third plenary session what was expected to be a frank statement of the reasons that impel his country to maintain the largest army in the world.

BRIAND'S QUESTION.
 WASHINGTON, Nov. 21. Germany, while apparently disarmed, Premier Briand of France, told the Armament Conference to-day, could with her present machinery raise an army of six or seven million men. At least 350,000 Germans were receiving daily military instruction, he added. Although part of Germany evidently wants peace and is ready to get back to peaceful pursuits, Briand declared, another portion, headed by Hitler and others of the military type, is continuing to preach the Prussian doctrine. How can anyone ask France to disarm under present conditions, he asked?

BRITAIN PLEDGES SUPPORT.
 WASHINGTON, Nov. 21. Speaking for Great Britain, and in reply to Premier Briand of France, at a conference to-day, Arthur J. Balfour, heading the British delegation, practically pledged the support of Great Britain to France, "in the face of lust for dominion."

A CRYPTIC SAYING.
 WASHINGTON, Nov. 21. The British attitude to the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, British spokesmen said to-day, was submitted by Lloyd George when he said it would not be proper to say to Japan, "You stood by us during war, but we don't need you now, so good-bye." The British emphasized, however, that the Prime Minister also declared that this did not mean that Britain would continue the Treaty against the interests of any other, and certainly not against the United States.

FAIR PLAY FOR CHINA.
 WASHINGTON, Nov. 21. The committee on Far Eastern questions issued a communique to-night, saying it was the firm intention of America, the British Empire, Italy, France, Japan, the Netherlands, Belgium and Holland hereafter (1) to respect the sovereignty, independence and territorial integrity of China; (2)

THE DIVORCE MANIA.
 LONDON, Nov. 21. A new high record was made in the Divorce Court to-day, when Lord Justice Sir Henry Duke, made absolute 297 decrees nisi, the highest number in any single day in the courts of the country.

BELFAST RIOTING.
 BELFAST, Nov. 21. One man was killed and another wounded in renewal, this forenoon, of rioting which broke out in Seaford District of East Belfast on Sunday. The recurrence was brought speedily under control.

SOMEONE LOVES HIM.
 FUNCHAL, Nov. 21. Former Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary is receiving a hearty welcome from the residents of Madeira, particularly of this city.

HUNGER STRIKING.
 CORK, Nov. 21. The Cork Corporation, to-day, adopted a resolution urging the Dail Eireann Cabinet to suspend peace negotiations until the question of prisoners is satisfactorily disposed of. Seventeen prisoners in Waterford Jail have begun a hunger strike, because the Government refused to grant increased time for recreation.

THE PRINCE'S RECEPTION.
 LONDON, Nov. 21. The Prince of Wales, continuing his way through India, reached Poona, Bombay Province, to-day and received a great reception, according to official cables received by the Indian office here.

CLOUDBURSTS IN SICILY.
 MESSINA, Nov. 21. Cloudbursts have devastated the whole country-side in the region of this city, entire villages being swept by floods. Hundreds are homeless and several are reported dead.

PERSONAL.
 Mr. D. C. Kennedy was a passenger by Sabie I. yesterday from North Sydney.
 Mr. Jas. Dwyer, Chief Steward of S.S. Rosalind, who for the last month has been staying over at New York in connection with a trial in which he was principal witness, is back on the ship this trip.
 Mr. W. Collins of Bowring Bros., returned yesterday from New York, where he had been on a health trip.
 NASCOPIE ARRIVES. — S.S. Nascope, 3 1/2 days from Port Burwell, arrived in port at 1 a.m. to-day to the Hudson's Bay Company. The ship reports exceptionally good weather north for this time of year.

Don't Shorten Your Lease of Life.

A Month's Suffering From Dyspepsia or Constipation Shortens Your Life By Two Months.

The stomach is the motor of life—food is the fuel, the stomach is the laboratory where combustion and the resulting changes take place. Therefore, digestion is the indispensable function, the absolute necessity to keep up the "vital fire."

Any trouble of the digestive tract affects the entire organism, and if this trouble is allowed to continue for any length of time it brings on most serious conditions that may often result in death. That is why it can be said without exaggeration that a month's suffering from dyspepsia or constipation shortens your life by fully two months.

If you are suffering from loss of appetite, nausea, pains in the bowels, heartburn, sense of fullness or weight in the stomach, or any one of the numerous ills resulting from the poor functioning of the digestive organs, take one or two "Gastronals" after meals.

They will cleanse your system, purify your blood and generally tone your digestive organ. "Gastronal" is a new scientific discovery that is the specific in all troubles of the digestive tract.

Each box contains 50 Gastronals, each one bearing its own name—see that you get full count. If your dealer cannot supply you, address remittance direct to Dr. J. O. Lambert, Limited, 396 St. Antoine Street, Montreal. The largest manufacturers of Cough Syrup in the British Empire. nov15,11,1f

FOR DEFENSE ONLY.
 WASHINGTON, Nov. 21. Japan wants only such an army, Baron Kato of the Japanese delegation told the Arms Conference, as was "absolutely necessary for purely defensive purposes, necessitated by the Far Eastern situation."

SPANISH FOREIGN LEGION.
 MADRID, Nov. 21. Fifty-five British members of the Spanish Foreign Legion, including several Canadians, reached Madrid yesterday on their way to England, having been released from their enlistments, after protest by the British Government. Eight of the men have been wounded, while nine of their countrymen are said to be in hospitals in Malia. The men generally describe conditions in the Legion and in Morocco as terrible, saying that the hospitals are so unhygienic that the sick prefer to remain on duty, even while suffering from malaria and dysentery, to entering hospitals.

ULSTERITES' RESOLUTION.
 LONDON, Nov. 21. A demonstration of supporters of Ulster held here to-day, passed a resolution calling on the British Government to enter into no agreement on the Irish question until Sinn Fein not only swore allegiance to the Throne, but gave effective proof of the reality of such allegiance, and until the idea of a separate army for Ireland was abandoned. The meeting placed on record its deep sense of humiliation that negotiations were taking place between the Government and persons steeped to the lips in an expressed policy of assassination, and gave "its emphatic opinion that any endeavor to compel Ulster to submit to an all Ireland Parliament would be a gross breach of faith and a betrayal of national honour."

In Memoriam.
 The sudden death, of heart failure, of Mr. James Brine O'Donnell, on or about Nov. 12th, has severed another link with the past, and has removed from earth one who was an honourable and upright gentleman, and conscientious almost to a fault! Mr. O'Donnell was educated at the Church of England Academy, of which the Rev. G. P. Harris was Principal, and distinguished himself as a scholar at an early age, and later, was engaged in commercial work at various well-known firms in the city of St. John's; his health finally causing him to resign his work, at Mr. Robert Mare's office, which he was Cashier and Bookkeeper, and he left for Canada to recuperate, later taking a diploma at a Business College in Toronto, Canada. On returning to this country Mr. O'Donnell took charge of the "Commercial School," at Trinity, where he taught for some years; and he was well-known and respected in various outposts in Newfoundland, both as Teacher and Lay-Reader, in the Anglican communion for some twenty years or more, when his health—never very robust—obliged him to retire from active work, and he was then pensioned off, after his many years of exacting and trying work, as a teacher, had taken a heavy toll of his energies, and since then has resided in St. John's. Mr. James O'Donnell was the elder son of the late John F. O'Donnell, Esq., of Clonmel, Tipperary, Ireland, (who was once well known in St. John's) and Fanny O'Donnell, of St. John's, whose father, Mr. James Brine, was a prominent and well-known man in the business world in the city of St. John's years ago. Mr. O'Donnell's sudden death was a shock to his relatives and friends, as apparently until quite recently he was enjoying his usual health and up and about. The deceased gentleman preferred to live alone, in spite of his friend's objections—seeking rather solitude and quiet rather than publicity and social intercourse. His life was a singularly blameless one; his word was his bond, and he wronged no man, and is now at peace, passing on at the age of 51 years, leaving a sister, Mrs. (Rev.) C. Jeffery, of Whitebourne, and Mr. John O'Donnell of Wauchula, Florida, U.S.A., to mourn a brother, "not dead but gone before." For both much sympathy will be felt. May he rest in peace! A PUPIL.

Harbor Grace Notes.
 On Tuesday night last Mr. I. E. Forsey held a grand vocal concert in St. Paul's Hall. Those taking part comprised the leading talent of both Carbonear and Harbor Grace. The night proved to be very unsatisfactory, that is, from the weather standpoint, nevertheless a goodly number attended the concert and very much enjoyed the different items rendered, each performer being encored and highly applauded. A two-reel comedy, which added to the merriment of the night, concluded the items on the programme.

Get Nerve Force from Nuxated Iron. It will strengthen your nerves and increase your vigor and endurance, often in two weeks' time. It contains the principal chemical constituent of active living nerve force in a form which most nearly resembles that in the brain and nerve cells of man. It also contains organic iron like the iron in your blood, and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. Organic iron enriches the blood and plenty of rich red blood means more nerve force, so you do not feel that only nerve force that is termed artificial nerve force to the nerve cells, but it stimulates the blood to manufacture a greatly increased supply of new nerve force. Get a bottle of Nuxated Iron to-day, and if within two weeks' time you do not feel that it has increased your nerve force, and made you feel better and stronger in every way, your money will be refunded. Sold by all druggists.

Will Stand By the Returned Soldiers.

Editor Evening Telegram.
 Dear Sir.—Whoever wrote that article published in your issue of the 14th, under the heading of "Patriotic Stephenville Crossing" struck the right note when he stated that the person who handed a returned soldier or sailor a crooked deal should keep away from Stephenville Crossing.

I dare say that we are as divided here as the people of the next town on general public matters, but when it comes to a question of defending the rights of returned men or claiming for them the consideration to which their services entitle them we take second place to none in concerted action or unanimity of opinion, and he who thinks that our memories are short in remembering any injustice done the gallant boys who sacrificed so much to respond to the Empire's call to arms, is reckoning without his host, as we have already proved. We will remember the plaudits with which our sons and brothers and friends were greeted when they joined up to march away to the blood-stained battlefields of France and Flanders, and we as readily recall the alluring promises of preferment held out to them when they returned covered with wounds and glory. Promises that have in many cases resulted in the bitter ashes of disappointment aggravated by the knowledge that slackers and sluggards have in many cases reaped the rewards that should have gone to returned service men.

Yours truly,
 REFORM.

Co-operative Fish Marketing.

To-day we commence the publication, by instalments, of a letter by Mr. Morine, K.C., upon co-operative marketing of fish, and incidentally commenting upon a speech by Aaron Sapiro, upon farm commodity marketing, which the Advocate has recently been publishing. Mr. Morine points out the "high lights" in Mr. Sapiro's speech, in their application to this Colony, and shows how the principles advocated run counter to Coaker's Fish Regulations. He thinks the principles of co-operative marketing, as applied in the United States and Canada, can be made the basis of co-operation here, to the very advantage of the Colony. The very essence of the plan is, however, that control shall be by voluntary co-operation, and that there shall be no political or outside interference. Mr. Morine's letter treats of a very vital subject, and is worthy of careful consideration.

Co-operating Marketing COMMODITY CONTROL BY EXPORTERS AND PRODUCERS.

ARTICLE I.
Dear Sir—The principles and methods of co-operative marketing, and the practicability of applying them to the sale of fish, in the Colony and abroad, have engaged my attention for some time. I have made enquiries from persons in California and elsewhere financially interested in co-operative marketing of fruit, and have collected some informative literature upon the subject. The Advocate has recently been publishing a really illuminating speech, concerning it, by Aaron Sapiro, introduced to a Kentucky audience as "the guiding genius of the great farm commodity marketing association of California." Unfortunately, the limits of the space at the disposal of the Advocate day after day has so dragged out the publication as to rob the speech of much of its interest, but I shall draw upon it largely in the following remarks.

The speech made by Mr. Sapiro is very logical and convincing, and one rises from perusing its lucid explanations with a feeling that if co-operative marketing could be brought about in disposing of our fish, great benefit would accrue to all the people of the Colony. Discussion upon the subject by the Advocate has treated it, as though it were a "class" matter, concerning exclusively the fishermen, whereas the truth is, that as one prosperity is based on fish, profitable marketing concerns every person in the Colony.

As Mr. Sapiro points out, producers co-operate to "sell," and consumers to "buy," and this fundamental difference results in this way, that cash capital is not essential to co-operation in selling, though it is absolutely necessary to co-operative buying. The members of a selling association turn into the association the commodities they have previously acquired, while the members of a buying association pay cash for shares. The former get paid according to kind and grade of commodity turned in, and the prices realized by the association, less expenses; while the latter share in profits, by getting dividends on shares, and bonuses, sometimes, proportionate to the purchases they have made from the association of which they are members. Merchant-exporters would form a co-operative association, to sell their fish abroad, and fishermen-producers could do so, to sell their fish in the Colony, or elsewhere. There is a clear distinction to be made, however, between hired fishermen, whether paid fixed prices or by shares, and those who purchase the fishery on their own account, either singly, or in partnership; for the former must be classed as laborers, and the latter as producers. The former could join a trades-union, but not a co-operative marketing association, for they are not sellers of commodities. There is no co-operative commodity marketing association in this Colony. The Union Export Co., Ltd., having share capital, comes nearest to being such an association, but is not, in reality, for its shareholders need not be fishermen, nor need they deliver their own fish to the Company. It is merely a capitalistic concern for both buying and selling fish, and its profits are not divided amongst producers of fish, by way of bonus, but amongst its shareholders as dividends.

According to Mr. Sapiro all the raisin growers in the United States reside in California, and of these 75 per cent. joined the association. The only raisins competing with their product come from Spain and Greece, and against these the Customs tariff affords protection. The association, therefore, has "Commodity Control" in the home market, for Mr. Sapiro was not dealing with marketing outside the United States, which would have been a very much more difficult matter. "Commodity Control," under such circumstances amounts to monopoly, and makes the association virtually a monopoly in the situation.

Such a monopoly, says Mr. Sapiro, "is fundamental, leaders of industry agree, and without it co-operation is of little or no benefit." The lack of this "fundamental" was one cause for the failure of Coaker's Regulations. Our fish shipped to market came into competition with the product of other countries, over which we had no control, and any withholding of our fish for higher prices resulted, therefore, in giving the market to our rivals, and in piling up our fish here until so much accumulated that shipment became necessary, and then the shipments glutted the markets, and the prices slumped to a lower rate than they would have reached if marketing had not been interfered with. In other words, we had no "commodity control." There was another sense, in which under the Regulations, there was no such control as Mr. Sapiro regards as essential to successful co-operation. The Codfish Regulation Board had no fish to sell; it could only say "thou shalt not sell" to would-be exporters; and the latter could not export without the consent of the Board, so that control was divided, whereas according to Mr. Sapiro, centralization of power to sell is essential to success. Members of a co-operative marketing association sign long term contracts to deliver all their produce to the association.

"As tight a contract, as you have ever seen," and the association grades, ships and sells the whole amount, without interference from members as individuals, with the result that practically there is no competition amongst sellers. But under the Regulations, the old time competition, continued, with this difference, that the members of the Board were insisted, able to undersell outsiders, and Chairman Coaker was the chief sinner in this respect.

Yours truly,
ALFRED B. MORINE.

Co-operative Marketing of Produce.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir—The people of Newfoundland are realizing to-day as perhaps never before that the prosperity of the Government and people depends chiefly on the price obtained for the catch of fish. The National Revenue, so largely in the hands of the fishery, is the lifeblood of the country. The manufacturing industries, and the individual worker's income are directly and adversely affected if the price obtained for fish is such as to greatly reduce the purchasing power of the people. After a hard winter combined with general stagnation which was world-wide, the fishing industry manfully faced the task of reaping the national harvest, and trade has since been conducted with the hope that the returns from the fishery would put the commerce of the country again on its feet.

The situation as it stands to-day is that about three-fourths of the entire catch has been rushed to an eager market, and sold or offered at prices which mean a bare existence for a majority of the population of Newfoundland, including much unemployment. It is generally considered that the balance of the catch will be disposed of within the next two months. The question which concerns us all is that if our foreign markets can purchase our entire catch at such a rapid rate, is it not possible to devise a practical method of selling the catch at a price which will enable the whole of the country to finance, the wheels of industry to revolve, and the people to live in decency and comfort. In other words should present methods of marketing fish be scrapped?

For many years I have considered that the solution of our difficulties lay in co-operative marketing of fish, which is now successfully operated in other countries. Plenty of evidence can be obtained to prove that competition among local exporters in an effort to sell does more to reduce the price than the competition of the fishery on their own account, either singly, or in partnership; for the whole country is "sand-bagged" and kept poor. If all fish owners would co-operate, form an association, and pool the entire catch placing same in the hands of the association, with an expert general manager and Board of Directors—meeting daily—local competition would be avoided, and the highest price that the market could stand would be obtained, and shared with the owners of the fish. Such an association to be absolutely non-political and without any Government control or interference; the Board of Directors to be chosen from amongst our most successful commercial men, and to be such as would inspire the confidence of the whole fishing industry.

If such an association were in existence to-day it is conceivable that the purchasing power of the people would be raised by millions of dollars above its present low condition, and men who sold their fish early would receive as much as those who sold their fish late, all being paid an equal price according to standardized grades. It should be possible to have this matter fairly discussed on its merits and clear of politics by the press, the Board of Trade and the debating societies, in the interest of all concerned.

Thanking you for space, I am,
Yours truly,
WM. WHITE.

Found Starving Seaman.

A half starved, poorly dressed seaman who recently deserted his vessel was found last night in Bennett's Grove by a resident of Cuckold's Cove, Mrs. Duke. She at once informed the police and the man who appeared to be ill, was taken to the Police Station. He had no boots, and Mrs. Duke had to lend him a pair of rubbers to protect his feet. The man was bound over to Judge Morris this morning in the sum of $100 or 10 days imprisonment, and the police are, in the meantime, investigating his case.

Football Champions Dined.

The St. Bon's team which won the Intercollegiate Football Championship again this year, was tendered a dinner by the Christian Brothers at the College last night. Covers were laid for about 100. There were some thirty guests which included the team, some former football captains of the college and a number of the clergy. Speeches were made by Rev. Bro. Ryan, Captain Halley of the football team, Rev. Father Murphy of Conception, Rev. Dr. Greene and others. Several songs were sung, and the whole affair was a special occasion consisting of Messrs. Phelan, J. Skinner, B. Skinner, C. Egan and D. Meaney provided excellent music. An artistic souvenir of the occasion, the work of Mr. Dan Carroll, was presented to the team on behalf of the college. The affair was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

Relief Work.

CUTTING PIT PROPS.
The Government is now arranging with the members for the Southern Districts about the cutting of pit props during the winter as relief work. Arrangements have already been made for the Northern Districts where pulp wood will be cut, while further arrangements for the cutting of 10,000 cords of pit props in Placentia, St. Mary's and Trepassay Bays have been practically completed.

PILOVER SEEN.—On Sunday last a flock of Plover were seen at Buckmaster's field by a well-known sportsman of the Civil Service, Buckmaster's field was, in years gone by, a favorite hunting ground for Plover and Curlew. It is a remarkable thing to see these migratory birds about at this season of the year.

Fish All Exported.

GOOD PROSPECTS FOR NEXT YEAR
There is a lesser quantity of fish held in the country at the present time than for some years past. The price of shore fish is from $4.50 to $7.75 according to grade. Labrador fish is pretty well all in the hands of shippers. One schooner arrived in port yesterday with practically the last of the soft cure from the north side of Bonavista Bay down. With practically all the fish gone forward there would seem to be brighter prospects for next season's catch, and it is reported that the West Coast bankers will extensively prosecute the voyage the coming winter.

Helping Fire Sufferers.

A fund has been started to help the Walsh family, who were left destitute by the fire which occurred on Pleasant Street last week and is being well supported. These people lost everything they possessed, including what little ready money they had, and it is only through the good offices of Mrs. Edwin Knight of Atlantic Avenue and Mrs. John McGrath of Pleasant Street that they have anything to subsist on. These ladies met the immediate requirements of Mrs. Walsh and her two little ones, and have made efforts to secure another house for them. The following relief subscriptions have been received up to the present—

Sir R. A. Squires $20.00
Sir M. P. Cahill 25.00
Mrs. J. A. Robinson 5.00

HILDA MAUD AT HARBOR DEEP.
In the message received by the Marine and Fisheries Department re the schooner Hilda Maud and published in another column, there would seem to be an error in transmission, as a message received by the Department this morning from the operator at Concho states as follows: "Sch. Hilda Maud, Kennedy, master, is at Harbor Deep, unit to go south. The crew safe and coming home by S. S. Sebastian. The vessel is owned in Caribonear and probably has a cargo of fish on board."

Skeleton Only Found.

The Deputy Minister of Justice has received a report from Magistrate Somerton of Trinity re the finding of the body of the girl Driscoll at King's Cove. According to the report of the Magistrate, who was sent especially to investigate the affair, the girl's skeleton only was found in a cave in the woods and was identified by the corsets and boots which she had worn four years ago when she disappeared.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

FRANCE MUST PROTECT HERSELF.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—An emotional plea for national security, pronounced by Premier Briand, France informed the armament conference yesterday that however deeply she might be moved by the call to lighten the burden of armament, she would not destroy the effectiveness of her army, so long as the situation in Europe remained as it is. With all the dynamic force of his eloquence, the strong man of France held the rapid attention of the conference for an hour, as he recounted the perils that beset his people. Briand declared that the people of France were not teaching a religion of war, and hoping to turn to its advantage at the very door of France, seven millions of men trained in arms, while beyond lay Bolshevik Russia, while behind millions stirring in unrest, whose final course no one could predict. When Briand concluded, Arthur Balfour responded for Britain, with a virtual pledge of British support, should the civilization of Europe be again threatened as it was in 1914. Secretary Hughes, for the United States declared the plea of France would never fall on deaf ears in America, and Italy and Belgium added a word of appreciation for the peculiar situation of France. Admiral Kato, for Japan, expressed profound sympathy with the declaration of the French Premier, and added "Japan herself desired to maintain on land only such military forces as seemed necessary for national security and the maintenance of order within."

Mr. Warren pointed out that twenty-five years ago Newfoundland ranked fifth among the copper-producing countries of the world. A British company is now experimenting with copper at Green Bay with a view to the development of the deposits in that district. During the summer a staff of geologists was prospecting for petroleum in several parts of the island.

In the House of Assembly Mr. Warren represents Fortune Bay, a constituency with a population of 10,000. He carried the seat by a majority of 1321, this large majority being proof of his personal strength. Before entering public life he practised in the courts of St. John's.

Case Concluded.

In the matter of the Cape Race Shipping Company, wherein Captain Burke, Jr. was sued for the return of money overpaid on account of board money, Mr. McNelly, for the complainant, concluded his argument before Judge Morris this forenoon. Judgment was not given, but the Judge intimated to Counsel for the defense, Mr. Mews, that it would be based on the evidence of a principal witness; he also said that the board money allowance would not amount to $2 per day.

TUESDAY, Nov. 22.

As winter comes apace you will need a good antiseptic throat pastille—one that you can depend upon to prevent a slight "common cold" from turning into something serious. Such a reliable pastille is to be found in Preston's Antiseptic Throat Pastilles which are sufficiently medicated to relieve and cure a throat cold in many cases without the help of anything else. We advise those who take cold easily to provide themselves with a box of Preston's. Price 30 cents a box.

If it is your liver, take Tania. Multitudes have used it for liver and stomach troubles with remarkable success. Price $1.50 a bottle.

Monday, November 21st.—To Water Street and there to a barber's where I did hear much complaint of how of the trade was reducing his prices to the great discontent of the other barbers, including mine own. To the Police Station where I did hear of certain of the force did search premises on Bartley's Hill, to which I know not. I learn, to my great discontent, that England had severed negotiations with Egypt. To the Board of Trade where charter members of the new Rotary Club did hold converse concerning things not within my knowledge. To dine with some bachelor friends and I, the only Benedict. Did hear much talk of the Municipal Elections and how one seeks after Civic honors will address a public convocation. My Friends and do say that few there will be left to vote. REGULATIONS

Relating to the Examination of Engineers (Chapter 1).

GENERAL RULES.

1. These Regulations are issued in pursuance of an Act respecting the qualification of Engineers (6 Edward VII., Cap. 24).

In accordance with Section 9 of the said Act "No steamers registered in Newfoundland shall go to sea from any port in or of Newfoundland or its dependencies unless the engineers thereof have obtained and possess valid certificates for sea-going ships, appropriate to their several stations in such ships, or of a higher grade from the Board of Trade in the United Kingdom, or valid certificates of competency appropriate to their several stations in such ships, or of a higher grade granted in any British possession, and declared by Order of His Majesty in Council, published in the "London Gazette" under the provisions of the Merchant Shipping (Colonial) Act, eighteen hundred and sixty-nine, or of any Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdom containing such provisions, to be of the same force as certificates of competency for foreign-going ships granted under the Acts of the Parliament of the United Kingdom relating to merchant shipping, or a certificate of competency under the provisions of this Act. And every person who, having been engaged to serve as an Engineer of any sea-going ship, as aforesaid, without first ascertaining that he at the time is entitled to, and possessed of such certificate, shall for such offence incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred dollars.

Women Who Grew Beards.

The women of the Imperial City of Rome once got possessed with a morbid ambition to raise beards, like their brothers and husbands. They used to shave their chins and smear unguents over them. It appears, however, that the men of Rome did not favor this feminine eccentricity, for Cicero mentions a law that was passed to prevent women raising beards.

Bonavista Wants Railway.

Faced with the possibility of a closing down of this branch of the railway during the winter months, a public meeting was held in the L.O.A. Hall on Wednesday the 16th inst. The meeting was called by a committee of representative citizens, selected by the various Societies to act on behalf of the people. Already a petition has been drawn up, to present to His Excellency the Governor in Council. It was for the purpose of soliciting the whole-hearted support of the populace and securing a ratification of the petition, by them, that the meeting was instituted. The main idea of such petition, was, to impress upon those in authority, that owing to the state of things in general and the havoc wrought by the late storm in particular, the closing down of the branch this winter would be disastrous. It is asserted; that there has been such wholesale destruction of fishing gear, that the only means of procuring new timber is by the railway, and it must not be closed or the result will be detrimental to the welfare of the fishermen. Again we are told the shutting off of railway traffic, will necessitate the laying in of large stocks of provisions by the merchants. This will mean higher prices for the consumer, and the fishermen, under existing circumstances are neither in the position, nor willing, to have such an extra burden laid on their shoulders. The meeting was attended by members of all the mercantile firms, and also by a goodly number of the "bone and sinew." Judging by appearances the latter were prepared to make a determined effort to have the matter adjusted to their satisfaction.

MacAulay After Big Honors.

Windsor Wonder Will Have Crack at Smoke, Scholes and Other Upper Canadian Stars.

Victor MacAulay, Eastern Canada's premier long distance runner and winner of the Herald Marathon last month, is going after the big title in Upper Canada next fall. MacAulay is at his former home in Windsor and expects to return to main this month. The Windsor runner has beaten the best in New England and Eastern Canada and those who have seen him in action, state that he should defeat Smoke, the Indian star, Scholes and other stars of Upper Canada, in any distance from 10 to 25 miles.

MacAulay is a member of the Dorchester club, which has some of the finest runners in the Eastern States. A few days ago, he received a telegram from the coach of the club, urging him to compete in the annual New England championship. The coach figured on MacAulay winning the race, but the Nova Scotian decided to spend his holidays at his old home.

Hungarian Reformed Church Members.

JOIN EPISCOPALIAN BODY.
Nearly the entire membership of the Hungarian Reformed Church in America, including twelve congregations in Eastern states, of which three are in the vicinity of Philadelphia, will affiliate with the Episcopal Church, according to an announcement by Bishop Philip Mercer Rhineland, Episcopal Bishop of Pennsylvania.

The affiliation is said to be a direct result of the recommendations of the recent Lambeth Conference on church unity, and to mark the first tangible indication of the carrying out of the programme adopted at that conference.

The Episcopal Church will not absorb the Hungarian Church, but rather permit it to retain its identity as an organization with the right to preserve its forms, to retain titles to all its property and to continue its deacons, while at the same time its congregations place themselves under the pastoral care of the Episcopal bishops in whose diocese they are located and conform to the fundamental rites and laws of the Episcopal Church.

SUGGESTION No. 3.
OBTAINING REVENUE FROM OUTSIDE SOURCES.

The St. John's Taxpayer is already taxed too high and, in my opinion, one of the first objects of the new Council should be to reduce local taxation as far as is practically possible. Funds, however, are required for civic improvement and it appears that at least two fruitful sources of revenue which would not affect the pockets of the St. John's taxpayer have not yet been tapped.

(1) In the past four years three costly buildings have been erected on Water Street by the Canadian Banks doing business in St. John's. These buildings were erected by a Toronto construction firm, as far as I am aware no local tenders being asked for. In one instance even the plumbing contract was given to a firm of plumbers in Sydney—a burg that was never heard of till some three hundred years after John Cabot planted the "Pink, White and Green" on Terra Nova's shores. One would imagine from the action of the Canadian Banks that there were no plumbers or contractors in St. John's. Now these Banks are not located here for their health; they are not erecting handsome buildings to improve the appearance of Water Street. What they are doing is erecting costly buildings out of a very small percentage of the profits they make out of Newfoundland. If they and similar outside corporations establishing in St. John's are not prepared to employ Newfoundland contractors and Newfoundland tradesmen, as a small part of reciprocation, for the business they are getting out of the Colony, tax them ten per cent. of the bill of every foreign tradesman or contractor they import.

As soon as times improve a little there will be further building going on by outside firms establishing here for money making purposes and if these outsiders are not prepared to employ Newfoundland labor of every kind, tax them to the hilt for every foreign contractor, builder, carpenter or plumber they import.

(2) There is also the matter of the influx at certain periods of the year of hundreds of drummers of English, Canadian and American firms unrepresented in Newfoundland. The trade could be equally well served by these firms appointing Newfoundland representatives and the trade would save the salary and travelling expenses paid these drummers. I certainly advocate for taxation (at not less than one hundred dollars per trip) of representatives of outside firms soliciting business in St. John's which are not represented by a local agent. I understand there are one or two lines which could not be handled by local representation, but such lines could be easily definitely ascertained by consultation with the Board of Trade and the representatives of such lines exempted from the tax.

I AM ABSOLUTELY STRONG FOR THE REDUCTION OF LOCAL TAXATION AND THE OBTAINING OF ADDITIONAL REVENUE BY TAXING OUTSIDE FIRMS WHO ARE MAKING MONEY OUT OF THE COLONY.

(In Wednesday's issue I propose treating on "Women's help required in the proper conduct of the city: why they should have the vote, Municipal, which some of them have—and Political.")

Obituary.

M. J. O'Brien.

The late James H. Sullivan, of Pouch Cove, died October 24th last, aged forty-one years. He complained of not feeling well inwardly in November, a year ago, but did not finally refrain from working until January, of this year. In February he was taken to the General Hospital and was operated upon for ulcer of the stomach. The operation, although prolonging life, did not permanently cure. He was there about two months and seemed so well after the operation that his friends were very optimistic of his getting better, but it was otherwise ordered. He left for his home in a precarious condition and after arriving there gradually declined during the summer and autumn. Dr. Cowperthwaite attended him while in the city, but Dr. Donahue was the family doctor and attended him at his home. Dr. Macpherson was called in May last and his treatment of the case, it was thought, helped to make easy and to prolong life, but though treated and nursed with the greatest care and attention by tender and loving hands, life gradually ebbed away and death claimed its victim. He left a widow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Ryan, of that place, three children, the eldest only eleven years, a widowed mother who resided with him, three brothers, Reginald and John, of Pouch Cove, and Andrew, of Boston, United States, three sisters, Mrs. Wm. Struggnell, of Pouch Cove, Mrs. A. J. Martin, New Glasgow, Nova Scotia, and Mrs. Morrison, of Seattle. James was a grandson of the late Francis Sullivan (Skipper Frank), one of the great viking fish killers of by-gone days, and was very energetic in following up the calling of his ancestors, being very successful as a general rule. He, through earnest and steady effort, built up a cosy and comfortable plantation, and was getting well on the road to comparative ease and comfort for himself and family when he was called home—G.A.M.

To-night we would draw the attention of our citizens, who will be marking their ballots in a few weeks from now for the candidates of their choice to the following: Mr. O'Brien in his canvass finds many kind friends, both ladies and gentlemen voters, who are so earnest in wishing him success in the election that they promise to give him a plumper vote. Now, he desires one and all voters to take particular note that when they are handed their ballot papers that, as he is not desirous of being selfish, they will kindly remember that they each have six separate votes for six Councillors. All he asks you to give him one of those six votes and then mark your remaining five votes one each for the other five candidates of your choice; to mark all six for O'Brien would not be using your full privilege of the franchise, and he is desirous that you get the full benefit of your voting rights; and he hopes that other candidates will also get their share. O'Brien has no fear of the outcome of your verdict, especially if you all be sure to mark one of the six of your choice opposite his, O'Brien's, name on the list. Furthermore you will be honoring that new portion of the municipality by giving those new citizens their, so far, one and only candidate your support, and thereby help elect a councillor from "the annex," or new portion of the city. Among the urgent problems that O'Brien sees facing the city is—mass-pollution facilities for the growing population on the higher levels; he believes that falling street car extension we can solve this for eight months of the year at least by either a trackless trolley or belt line of motor busses, such as other cities, of less pretentious numbers, enjoy. Either of those factors or utilities would go far in improving matters for those of us who dwell on the highlands and should you elect him he will endeavour—bearing in mind, however that he being, if honored by you, only one councillor, that he shall depend upon the support of his fellow councillors to help carry out and give effect to those of us who dwell on the highlands and should you elect him to be operated by or under the management of the Civic authorities. What a blessing such would be on dusty, wet, or windy days will cause all right thinking citizens to wake up to the fact that if we want improvement we must elect men with good modern progressive ideas and they shall help do so when they vote for O'Brien—adv.

ALL ABOUT BRIDGE

As a consequence of my few articles on the game of Auction Bridge, I have received repeated requests from readers for more information. I have therefore, after mature consideration, decided to write a short book about the game and am willing to sell the rights of reproduction for anything between five cents and five thousand dollars. (Ed. Note: Far too cheap.) In this book I intend to fully expound all the various problems which form part of the game and I sincerely hope that it will be favorably received. I shall call it ALL ABOUT BRIDGE.

CHAPTER I
HISTORY OF BRIDGE.

Bridge is supposed to have been originated by Noah during his wanderings in the Ark at the time of the Great Flood of the year untemple. Tired of the ceaseless chattering of the deckers the irritating quacking of the ducks, and the constant bickering amongst his daughters-in-law, he looked about for some means of relieving his monotony, and he hit on Bridge, a game which has since become a part of the present century and was treated with welcoming arms by all business men who were at their wit's end for some form of amusement for their guests. In its present form, bridge is a game which requires deep concentration, a considerable amount of brains and at least half a dozen shillings and so, it has become almost the national game and in some cases is taught the infant in its mother's arms. Besides developing grey matter and guaranteeing to make one's vocabulary as expressive as that of an army sergeant major, and to possess this, the very height of many men's ambition, it is the best chapter which may be polished later. If I feel inclined to write, I shall begin at the beginning and explain how the game is played by some people and the difference between these methods of play and the way it should be played.

AND STILL THEY COME.

There is no lack of candidates for councillors and mayor and citizens who've paid their rates the daily growing crowd of candidates for office on earth they're going to choose.

There's more men from such a crowd, and who will lose.

Day by day the long line grows of those who seek election, and who imitates the other's pose.

To make a fair selection. From all who to be councillors aspire. Will working out by calculus require.

Headache

Recurring headaches usually come from an exhaustion of the nervous system, and they do not disappear until the vigor of the nerve cells is restored by such upbuilding treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Temporary relief by use of powders is often obtained at an enormous expense to the nervous system and the general health.

Get the nerves right and the headaches will not return.

Mrs. W. J. Pearce, Nunn St., Cobourg, Ont., writes:
 "My system became run-down and I suffered greatly with pain in my head. This was so severe that I would have to bind a cloth tightly about my head so that I could get my work done. A friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and after taking the first box I found quite an improvement in my condition. I continued using them until I had taken about seven boxes, and they strengthened and built up my system splendidly, completely relieving the pain in my head."

Her Misfortune.—A vicar of a scattered rural parish had a remarkable knowledge of fungi. So keen was he on his hobby, that he sometimes neglected his pastoral work to search for specimens. One day he stopped to see a bedridden old lady, who immediately reminded him how long it was since he had made his last call. "If I had been a toadstool," she declared, "you'd have been to see me long ago!"—London Post.

Buy "Diamond Dyes" and follow the simple directions in every package. Don't wonder whether you can dye or tint successfully, because perfect home dyeing is guaranteed with Diamond Dyes even if you have never dyed before. Worn, faded dresses, skirts, waists, coats, sweaters, stockings, draperies, hangings, everything, become like new again. Just tell your druggist whether the material you wish to dye is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton, or mixed goods. Diamond Dyes never streak, spot, fade or run.

Truckmen's Union Reinstates Members.

At a special meeting of the Truckmen's Protective Union held in the L.S.P.U. Hall last night, Messrs. C. F. Lester, Peter Joy and J. Lewis were reinstated to full membership by a unanimous vote. A returned soldier who works for a West End firm and who on several occasions was refused admission to the Union, was also elected to membership. Messrs. Lester and Joy were expelled from the Union at a previous meeting on account of some friction over the hauling of winter loads. Whatever misunderstanding now exists has been cleared up, and the Union will now work in complete harmony as far as possible with all concerned.

Lost Christmas Supply.

An outport man who has been saving scraps all the year and had managed to collect enough to furnish him with 28 ounces of liquid refreshment, had these valuable documents stolen from the pocket of his coat, which was hanging in the cabin of his schooner. Several dollars in cash also followed the disappearing scraps. The victim has reported the matter to the police but it is very doubtful if any of the "Christmas cheer" has been left unsummed by the thief.

Precious American Stamps.

Some of his finest United States stamps were acquired from Charles Hayland McKee, one of the oldest American dealers. The most valuable was a hitherto unknown two-cent black St. Louis local stamp issued by the Comstock Express Company, for which $200 was paid, equivalent at the time to $2,435. He also got from Mr. McKee some exceedingly rare early Confederate postmasters' stamps, used in most cases for only a few days prior to the appearance of the official Confederate postal issues, and a great collection of United States locals, the majority of which are now practically unobtainable.

Two high records for prices paid for postage stamps at public sale, and so far as is known at private sale, were established at the Ferrary auction last June. One was for a sale of stamps, the celebrated two-cent circular British Guiana issue of 1850, for which M. Burras paid 210,000 francs, equal at the exchange rate to $16,212. With the French Government tax added, these stamps cost him $19,948. With the exchange rate at its normal status, the cost in American currency would be about $40,000.

One of the celebrated "missionary" Hawaiian stamps, 1851, two-cents, blue, sold for 150,000 francs, also purchased by M. Burras, equal to a little more than $12,000, and with the tax the actual cost was $14,150. Under normal exchange conditions the value in American money would have been approximately $30,000. This is a sale record for a single stamp.

The high prices paid for these stamps are due not only to the extremely limited number of copies known (many being damaged), but to the fact that the Ferrary specimens were the finest extant. The Hawaiian stamp has been acknowledged the finest specimen of that type and is very lightly postmarked. The British Guiana pair comprise the choicest examples of that issue, of which very few copies are known. To the discriminating collector their value is enhanced from the fact that they are preserved on the original envelope. In speculating on the high bid for this British Guiana pair, Fred J. Melville, the British stamp authority, a few days before the sale predicted that it would doubtless bring "more than 100,000 francs." The winning bid was more than 200,000 francs.

The 81 paras stamps of Moldavia, 1858 (among the rarest European stamps) brought, in American money value, $2,318, and exactly twice that sum was paid for a superb copy of the 2 penny indigo blue Mauritius issue of 1858. An "error" of the same value (the word penny being spelled "pence") brought more than $2,500. It is interesting to note that about forty stamps in the first sale realized 5,000 francs or more apiece. They included, besides the countries already mentioned, early issues of Tuscany, Switzerland, Newfoundland, Cape of Good Hope, Ceylon and two Sicilies.

Issues from only thirteen stamp-using countries were in the sale, one being Uruguay, the entire collection of that country being offered in one lot, comprising more than 2,000 stamps, with errors and curious varieties. The French dealer Champion outbid a Peruvian collector, getting the lot for 110,000 francs, representing, with the tax, about $10,000.

One of the surprising things to foreign collectors especially, is the later sale is that many of the great rarities in the first dispersal are duplicated, thus showing the eagerness of Ferrary to get together as many of the extreme rarities as the dealers could find for him. Among them are copies of the much prized Hawaiian missionary issues, Cape of Good Hope, "wood blocks" (triangular stamps), the first

British Guiana circular issue, and two copies of the valuable Mauritius "Post Office" issue. These two copies were used together on a letter, and it has been predicted they will bring considerably more than the $19,000 paid in June for the scarce British Guiana pair. (To be continued.)

Build up a Healthy Appetite

Very often loss of appetite is caused by the system being run-down, a condition which is aggravated by indigestion. A course of as a tonic, at these times is unequalled. From the start, food is enjoyed and assimilated, the system gradually gains strength until robust health is secured.

ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR CARNOL

The Joy of Living.

When you waken with no appetite, a dread of the day's work and your head heavy, your digestive organs are probably calling for just the help which Kessler's Syrup can give them. The medicinal extracts of more than ten different roots, herbs and leaves restore the natural healthy action of liver and stomach. Meals are enjoyed, that tired feeling disappears, and you know the joy of living. Sold in 50c. and $1.00 bottles at drug stores.

Placentia News.

Three residents of a nearby settlement were before Magistrate O'Reilly on Wednesday, charged with breaches of the Prohibition Law. Mr. Carter prosecuted for the Crown. Mr. Halley appeared for the defendants, a conviction obtaining in each case, one fine of $250 and others of $100 were imposed.

S.S. Argyle arrived to-day from West.

Miss Mona Blandford of St. John's was a visitor in town last week. Her very many friends were glad to see her.

Last night a very enjoyable card party was held in the Jersey Side School-Hall, after which the participants enjoyed several hours dancing.

It is time some repairs were effected on the Ferry landings, which are in a very unsafe condition.—CORR Nov. 19, 1921.

Concert and Dance.

ENJOYABLE EVENING AT ST. JOSEPH'S.

There was a very large attendance at the concert and dance held at St. Joseph's Hall last night in aid of the Institute funds. The concert programme was an excellent one and opened with a song by Miss Angela McGrath, which was well received. The next item was a Spanish Dance in costume by the Misses Mary Vincombe, Jean Gosse and McGrath (2), followed by a song by Mr. Canning in his well known style, horn solo by Mr. W. H. Darcy, fancy dance by Miss Millie Byrne, which was encored right heartily, songs by Miss Eva Harris, whose well known voice needs no comment, and Mr. Augustus Neary, followed by a dance neatly executed by Miss Nellie Marshall, which brought a most enjoyable concert to a close. The music for the dance was provided by the C. C. Band, which was up to its usual form.

Bell Is. Poultry and Horticultural Show.

The second annual exhibition of the Bell Island Poultry Association opened in the C.L.B. Armoury on Tuesday, 15th inst., and closed on the following Friday. The poor weather of the first two days was not favourable for large attendances, but the door receipts exceeded those of last year. Hence, the Exhibition was the most educational affair witnessed on Bell Island. Though hampered by inadequacy of space, the various exhibits were spectacularly arranged, and labelled so as to afford the maximum of information in the poultry and other lines. Henceforth, we will expect that Bell Island will not be referred to as "them speckly ones," nor the Rhode Island Reds as "them red-ones."

For number, and variety and excellence of exhibits, this year's Exhibition completely outclassed that of last year. This was of course anticipated, but the most sanguine supporters of our Exhibition did not expect so much popular interest as was shown in this second exhibition. Altogether there were 550 individual exhibits. All classes of Fancy work were represented and the display of domestic handicraft was an education in itself.

The Dominion and Nova Scotia Companies exhibited the various products of their Sydney and New Glasgow works. This was an attractive and educational exhibit.

Mrs. J. B. Petrie demonstrated the use of a cream separator; Mr. J. A. Hughes the Family Churn; and Mr. J. T. Lawton the working of an incubator and poultry appliances.

The success of the Exhibition was due to the generous response by the public to the call for exhibits, to the generosity of friends of the Association who increased the Association's funds by their donations, and to the valuable assistance rendered by Messrs. Stan White, J. F. Calver, Otto Rusch and Miss Mary McKenzie Bremner.

Mrs. Lindsay and her associates served teas and hot suppers, and the C.L.B. Band was in attendance every night with the result that four enjoyable nights were spent for the small sum of ten cents.

Counting school children, who were admitted free, about 1300 people visited the Exhibition.

Fishermen! Here's the Boot for You-"Excel"!

"EXCEL" Made "All in One Piece"

"EXCEL" The Fishermen's Friend

All fishermen know from experience what happens to ordinary boots when used in fishing. You've seen how salt water seems to take the life out of rubber and how the uppers crack and the soles wear through in a surprisingly short time.

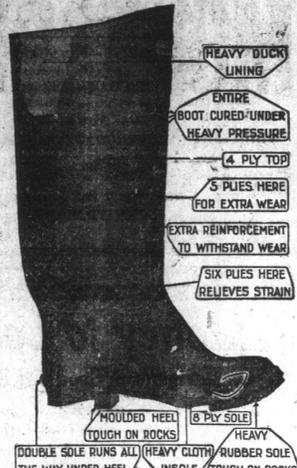

The "EXCEL" is a different and better kind of boot. It has been made especially to stand up under the unusually hard use a fisherman's boot gets. The rubber and fabric in "EXCEL" boots are of the very highest quality. But it is the special method of curing, under tremendous pressure, that makes the "EXCEL" so wear-resisting. The pressure forces the layers of rubber and fabric together so that they are actually "one-piece", without losing the least bit of the life or resiliency of the rubber. Salt water has practically no effect on "EXCEL" boots. The UPPERS remain pliable and weatherproof, and resist the drying-out action of sun, heat and extreme cold far longer than other boots. Consequently they don't crack anywhere near so quickly. The SOLES are almost wear-proof, because they are made like an Auto Tire, with 8 plies of rubber and fabric welded by tremendous pressure into a "fire-tread" sole that rivals an automobile tire for toughness and durability.

strain. There is not a single feature but what has been proved necessary and desirable by tests of severest use. Your own experience will tell you that a boot with these features simply must be a better boot.

Study this picture. Learn these features. Remember them when you compare "EXCEL" boots with ordinary boots. And remember, too, that very important point which the picture cannot show, namely, that "EXCEL" boots are cured under tremendous pressure, which leaves the rubber pliable, weatherproof and wear-resisting. It is only by the use of this tremendous pressure combined with highest quality materials that the best results are obtained.

Pliable Uppers. Weatherproof and Wear Resisting. Tough Tire Tread Soles. Made "All in One Piece."

"EXCEL" Boots are sold by all reliable dealers from Coast to Coast.

Whitbourne Notes.

Rev. E. Hunt of New Harbour, N. B., detained here for Finance Cove, a distant part of his mission, on Friday the 11th inst.

Whitbourne was startled, not to say horrified, shortly after dark on Friday, the 11th, to see lurid flames and smoke ascending from the roof of Mrs. Pettipas's picturesque and fine old home; a strong westerly wind blowing at the time, the building was soon enveloped in the cruel flames. A crowd quickly gathered, and strenuous efforts were made to save the household effects, but very little could be saved, as the fire occurring in the attic, the second story was soon ablaze, and in an incredibly short time (forty minutes) the building was razed to the ground; the cellar and bath adjoining were fortunately uninjured. Mr. and Mrs. Peter Pettipas, who were recently married, have practically lost all; the sum of nearly two hundred dollars included, and much sympathy is felt for them, and Mrs. Pettipas, senior, who dearly loved her home, and was noted for her hospitality and kindness of heart. Collections are being made among friends to help alleviate their trying circumstances somewhat, and already a gang of men are cutting and hauling logs for a temporary home.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Tipple and family, who were burnt out barely two weeks ago, are at present renting the Methodist Parsonage, which happened to be unoccupied.

Rev. J. Reay, who has lately returned from England, arrived at Whitbourne on Tuesday, 15th, and is looking very well after his voyage across the Atlantic. Mr. Reay is intending to settle down once again at Whitbourne, we understand.

Thursday, 17th was a gala day for the good people of the Anglican communion here, for His Lordship Bishop White, accompanied by his Chaplain, Rev. Jacob Brinton, arrived by the noon train. The Bishop was given a hearty reception, and was met at the station by the clergyman, and church wardens and the L.O.A. Band made things lively. The good and much loved Bishop was then conveyed in carriage to the C. E. Parsonage, boys big and small, hauling the carriage up the road, accompanied by the whole school; hunting and arches made everything wear a festive look, and a fine day added to everyone's enjoyment. During the afternoon the Bishop was driven by Mr. J. Rogers to Blaketown, where a Confirmation Service was taken by the Bishop, who returned by the morning train on Friday, 18th inst.

We are glad to see Mr. Peter Pettipas' friends are determined to help him out with a new house, and a nice little bungalow is now being built up on the old site, and willing hearts and busy hands are now engaged in the good work.—CON.

Bell Island Cadets.

"G" WABANA CO. MAKING GREAT PROGRESS.

Last week was another most successful period for the Catholic Cadet Corps "G" Wabana Co., Bell Island. Nearly twenty recruits joined during the week, bringing the total strength up to 260 all ranks. On Monday evening a largely attended Card Tournament was held in the Star Hall by the Officers Mess, over seventy devotees of the "game of auction" attending. The proceeds go to the Band Fund. On Tuesday notwithstanding the fearful hurricane raging, many of the Senior Company under Lieut. Thos. Neary attended at the Armory, and all assisted at fatigue work that urgently needed attention. Wednesday, Friday and Saturday saw the Band under the able tuition of Instructor A. S. Murray at work, and a start was made on parade to full strength. The Band are making rapid strides and after New Year with the generous co-operation of friends it is hoped to increase the number of instruments from twelve to nearly twenty. On Wednesday at Lance Cove Lieut. Patrick Stoyles had his Lance Cove picnic on parade to full strength. The Lance Cove lads are taking a great interest in their platoon and a club is being formed among the senior lads. During the week several card tables were sent to Lance Cove for the use of their newly formed Cadet Club.

Thursday saw a transformation in the Armory when instead of the usual throng of boys and young men the Ladies' Committee, composed of the mothers and sisters of the Cadets turned out in strong numbers and under the chairmanship of Mrs. W. E. Murphy, assisted by Mrs. J. L. Connors, Vice-President and the other members of the Executive a most successful meeting was held. Another ladies signing the roll, which now numbers nearly fifty. Arrangements were made to hold a Card Tournament in St. Peter's Hall on the 21st under the management of Miss Nellie Denahy, the capable Secretary of the Committee; while the Committee meet again Thursday night to finalize matters for the big dance on Friday night in the Star Hall, which the ladies are running off.

Friday night saw the Armory filled to capacity, when over 100 of the Junior Company besides the Bugle Band numbering twelve and the Brass Band numbering nearly fifteen were on parade. Capt. John Murphy was Orderly Officer and Lieut. Tom Connors proved an able assistant. Major J. M. Greene inspected the parade and was accompanied by Rev. Fr. Edward J. Rawlins, who visited the Armory officially, and in an eloquent address to the boys exhorted them to be true Cadets, to attend regularly and to be true to the ideals which the Brigade espoused. Cheers were given, right heartily for Rev. Fr. Rawlins, after which he visited the Band Room and congratulated the bandmen on the work they are doing.

This week is also a busy week in Cadet circles—something is scheduled for every night—the Seniors meeting Tuesday; the Juniors on Friday; the Band practicing Monday, Wednesday and Saturday; drums and bugles parading Thursday; the big Dance being held on Friday, while on Saturday all ranks are being tendered the annual treat by the Officers at the Star Hall.

How fine cooks make cream soups to-day

After eating a rich cream soup somewhere, do you sigh and say to yourself "If I could only afford to use real cream, I could serve soup like that, too!"

The chances are that the soup you would like to duplicate was not made with cream at all. For many fine cooks have learned a culinary secret that makes of cream soups a banquet dish at every day cost.

The secret is—make them with Libby's Evaporated Milk. For twenty years Libby has worked to give a finer and richer milk to consumers. Their plans were far-reaching. First they sought out the finest pasture lands in America. There they encouraged the breeding of splendid milk herds and the use of all the appliances and practices of scientific dairying. And there they established their milk condenseries so equipped as to assure absolute purity and cleanliness.

At those condenseries the whole milk from the fine herds, with the cream left in, is canned for you. Half the moisture is taken from it by evaporation. Nothing is added to it. So you have in this milk just the rich, pure product of the finest cows, but with twice the food value, twice the butter fat, of ordinary milk.

This milk makes cream soups so smooth, so rich, so mellow that they taste like the soups made by extravagant cooks.

Used in coffee, this milk gives a creamy richness at half the cost of cream.

Try it in your favorite recipe where cream or milk is called for.

Your grocer has it or can get it for you.

Prohibition in U. S. A.

ITS EFFECT ON SOCIETY.

Prohibition in U. S. A. is evident from the fact that Mr. W. G. Shepherd, in the Metropolitan Magazine, writes: "Prohibition officials are doing their best to stop liquor, smuggling."

Shepherd says: "I talked with enforcement officials, sheriffs, town officials and other officers in Florida and in other States. They seem to be in a deadly earnest about Prohibition enforcement—that they had reached a state of desperation, they couldn't understand why they were not able to keep Florida dry."

One man who had been head-waiter in a restaurant informed Mr. Shepherd he had $60,000 in a New York bank, the result of his bootlegging operations. He also had $30,000 working capital. When his bank balance arrives at $200,000, he will retire from the risky business.

A resident of the State of Louisiana told Shepherd that his State never went dry for white folks. "Whenever we voted dry by local option we were voting the niggers dry. My niggers are dry and I'm going to keep them dry."

We can almost fancy one of our Water Street Prohibitionists saying: "We want to keep our labourers and the fishermen dry."

I may add that in Mr. Shepherd's opinion all the Prohibition officials including those in the department of justice, are in a deadly earnest. And

Rev. E. Hunt of New Harbour, N. B., detained here for Finance Cove, a distant part of his mission, on Friday the 11th inst.

Whitbourne was startled, not to say horrified, shortly after dark on Friday, the 11th, to see lurid flames and smoke ascending from the roof of Mrs. Pettipas's picturesque and fine old home; a strong westerly wind blowing at the time, the building was soon enveloped in the cruel flames. A crowd quickly gathered, and strenuous efforts were made to save the household effects, but very little could be saved, as the fire occurring in the attic, the second story was soon ablaze, and in an incredibly short time (forty minutes) the building was razed to the ground; the cellar and bath adjoining were fortunately uninjured. Mr. and Mrs. Peter Pettipas, who were recently married, have practically lost all; the sum of nearly two hundred dollars included, and much sympathy is felt for them, and Mrs. Pettipas, senior, who dearly loved her home, and was noted for her hospitality and kindness of heart. Collections are being made among friends to help alleviate their trying circumstances somewhat, and already a gang of men are cutting and hauling logs for a temporary home.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Tipple and family, who were burnt out barely two weeks ago, are at present renting the Methodist Parsonage, which happened to be unoccupied.

Rev. J. Reay, who has lately returned from England, arrived at Whitbourne on Tuesday, 15th, and is looking very well after his voyage across the Atlantic. Mr. Reay is intending to settle down once again at Whitbourne, we understand.

Thursday, 17th was a gala day for the good people of the Anglican communion here, for His Lordship Bishop White, accompanied by his Chaplain, Rev. Jacob Brinton, arrived by the noon train. The Bishop was given a hearty reception, and was met at the station by the clergyman, and church wardens and the L.O.A. Band made things lively. The good and much loved Bishop was then conveyed in carriage to the C. E. Parsonage, boys big and small, hauling the carriage up the road, accompanied by the whole school; hunting and arches made everything wear a festive look, and a fine day added to everyone's enjoyment. During the afternoon the Bishop was driven by Mr. J. Rogers to Blaketown, where a Confirmation Service was taken by the Bishop, who returned by the morning train on Friday, 18th inst.

We are glad to see Mr. Peter Pettipas' friends are determined to help him out with a new house, and a nice little bungalow is now being built up on the old site, and willing hearts and busy hands are now engaged in the good work.—CON.

Bell Island Cadets.

"G" WABANA CO. MAKING GREAT PROGRESS.

Last week was another most successful period for the Catholic Cadet Corps "G" Wabana Co., Bell Island. Nearly twenty recruits joined during the week, bringing the total strength up to 260 all ranks. On Monday evening a largely attended Card Tournament was held in the Star Hall by the Officers Mess, over seventy devotees of the "game of auction" attending. The proceeds go to the Band Fund. On Tuesday notwithstanding the fearful hurricane raging, many of the Senior Company under Lieut. Thos. Neary attended at the Armory, and all assisted at fatigue work that urgently needed attention. Wednesday, Friday and Saturday saw the Band under the able tuition of Instructor A. S. Murray at work, and a start was made on parade to full strength. The Band are making rapid strides and after New Year with the generous co-operation of friends it is hoped to increase the number of instruments from twelve to nearly twenty. On Wednesday at Lance Cove Lieut. Patrick Stoyles had his Lance Cove picnic on parade to full strength. The Lance Cove lads are taking a great interest in their platoon and a club is being formed among the senior lads. During the week several card tables were sent to Lance Cove for the use of their newly formed Cadet Club.

Thursday saw a transformation in the Armory when instead of the usual throng of boys and young men the Ladies' Committee, composed of the mothers and sisters of the Cadets turned out in strong numbers and under the chairmanship of Mrs. W. E. Murphy, assisted by Mrs. J. L. Connors, Vice-President and the other members of the Executive a most successful meeting was held. Another ladies signing the roll, which now numbers nearly fifty. Arrangements were made to hold a Card Tournament in St. Peter's Hall on the 21st under the management of Miss Nellie Denahy, the capable Secretary of the Committee; while the Committee meet again Thursday night to finalize matters for the big dance on Friday night in the Star Hall, which the ladies are running off.

Friday night saw the Armory filled to capacity, when over 100 of the Junior Company besides the Bugle Band numbering twelve and the Brass Band numbering nearly fifteen were on parade. Capt. John Murphy was Orderly Officer and Lieut. Tom Connors proved an able assistant. Major J. M. Greene inspected the parade and was accompanied by Rev. Fr. Edward J. Rawlins, who visited the Armory officially, and in an eloquent address to the boys exhorted them to be true Cadets, to attend regularly and to be true to the ideals which the Brigade espoused. Cheers were given, right heartily for Rev. Fr. Rawlins, after which he visited the Band Room and congratulated the bandmen on the work they are doing.

This week is also a busy week in Cadet circles—something is scheduled for every night—the Seniors meeting Tuesday; the Juniors on Friday; the Band practicing Monday, Wednesday and Saturday; drums and bugles parading Thursday; the big Dance being held on Friday, while on Saturday all ranks are being tendered the annual treat by the Officers at the Star Hall.
