Vancouver, March 30.—(Special)—The new school known as the Lord Roberts school was formally opened yesterday, with 200 children present. Trustee Banfield presided and Trustee Gordon delivered an oration on the life of Gen. Roberts. Other trustees spoke, and an interesting programme was rendered by the pupils. About 70 trees were planted in honor of public men of Vancouver, and one in honor of Miss Ruth Cassidy, the young lady who obtained the highest number of marks in the recent examination. Three cheers were given for Miss Cassidy when the tree was being planted. Word has been received of the death of Mrs. Joseph Brown at Hongkong. Mrs. Brown formerly lived in Vancouver.

Suddenly the Spanish officer, noticing that Agninaldo's aid was watching the Americans suspiciously, exclaimed:

"Now, Macabebes, go for them."

The Macabebes opened fire but their aim was rather ineffective, and only three insurgents were killed. The Filipinos returned the fire.

On hearing the firing, Aguinaldo, who evidently thought his men were merely celebrating the arrival of reinforcements, ran to the window and shouted:

"Stop that foolishness; quit wasting ammunition."

When the firing began, Gen. Funston assumed command and directed the attack on the house, personally assisting in the capture of Aguinaldo. The insurgent bodyguard fled, leaving twenty who was wounded in the lung by the rifles. Santiago Barcelona, the insurgent treasurer, surrendered without resistance.

When captured, Aguinaldo was tremendously excited, but he calmed down under Gen. Funston's assurance that he he would be well-treated. Gen. Funston secured all of Aguinaldo's correspondence, showing that he had kept in close touch with the sub-chiefs of the insurrection in all parts of the archipelago. It was also discovered that Aguinaldo, on January 28, had proclaimed himself—dictator. He had been living at Palan-

Hon. Mr. McBride pointed out that the information referred to by Mr. Clifford was contained in an appendix to the report, which had been printed. The appendix contained a great deal of interesting and valuable information and reflected credit on Mr. Justice Martin, who had evidently taken much pains to prepare it. He would be glad to see the appendix published and circulated. (Applause.)

Briefly stated, what we have in mind s the formation of a terminal transportstion enterprise, wholly independent of every railway on the Mainland, but with traffic agreements with all of them now or hereafter to be constructed and under government control. The idea is that, for all time to come, transportation north and south along the Pacific Coast of Canada, and between the termini of all the transcontinental or other railways extending into the interior of the Mainland shall be rendered absolutely free from monopoly or discrimination, by being dissociated from such railways and by being placed under government Delivered by Carrier at 20c. per week, or control. Divisions of the City and the Names.

The enumerators appointed to take the census received their final instructions yesterday, and will commence their work this morning. They are sworn to secrecy and have been particularly instructed to gain all information required and ask all questions in as gentlemanly a manner as possible. It is hoped that all information sought will be given freely, thereby assisting the enumerators to make the census as complete and comprehensive as possible. ROSSLAND ORE SHIPMENTS.

Rossland B. C., March 30.—It leaked out today that the Le Roi, War Eagle and Centre Star will undertake the bringing in of water from near Sheep Lake, and the erection of one or two very large concentrators. A line to bring in the water will cost $150,000 and the cancentrators will cost considerable more, as they will be of large capacity. When the plants are in operation it is claimed that $4 ore can be made to pay. The operation of this plant would double the output of the camp. It is claimed it will be put in operation this summer. The output for the week reached a total of $,478 tons, being 132 tons less than returns for the previous week. There water from Putney to Mortlake. It was summer. The output for the week reached a total of $478 tons, being 132 tons less than returns for the previous week. There is abundance of evidence accumulating that the $,000 tons limit has been permanently passed, and that henceforth each succeeding week's shipments will exceed that average, if not shortly approxiate the 10,000 ton mark. The Le Rol for the past seven days sent down 4,060 tons, a slight falling off of 190 tons as compared with the preceding week. The record of Le Rol No. 2 also falls short by 262 tons. On the other hand the shipments of the Rossland Great Western reached 600 tons or 250 tons in excess of the previous week. The War Eagle is also beginning to show up well, now that its surface facilities have been improved, and this week is credited with 700 tons against 170 tons the previous report. There is every likelihood that this figure will continue to show a cumulative increase each succeeding week. The total shipments this year te date approximate 95,559 tons.

At the start Cambridge was considered to have a great advantage, for, winning the toss, she was able to choose the Surrey side, and so secure some protection from the effect on the water of the half gale which blew from the southwest.

The start was made at 10:31. Off Duke's Head Cambridge was rowing 30. At Oraven Steps, Oxford led by a quarter length. Oxford was rowing 30. Oambridge took advantage of the turn and pulled up until she was a quarter of a length to the good. Slowly she dragged her smooth sides ahead, and at Thorneyoroft's the light blues led by more th

"There, drink that. and say if it isn't the divinest liquor ever laid the dust in your guilet."

"Ah, yes, it's good!" quoth Vermeil.

"Good! Don't insuit it with a word like that. Try again: there! Good, eh? It's divine, it's spiritual, it's inspiration, it's all the blessings in one, it's battle and sword play and sudden ceath. It's Rhenish! And fair's fair: come I'il have a goblet, now! Sit down to it man! Drink away and I'll slig you a song."

And waving the goblet round his head, Gaspar began to roar out a German catch:

Up with goblet and down with the wine; Drink, ho!

Who dines on red Rhenish he knows not to pine; Who, sups on red Rhenish three suns on him shine;

Drink, ho!

"Drink to it, drink to it, and give me the other bottle. You don't take your share, man. More for me. Come, give us a song yourself! Why, you're as duil as that fool the captain! What, you won't? Well, I'll give you another. Pass me the other bottle first! Ah... now then:

When the lass she did beg me to stay, I gave her for answer a "nay."

Back to the burgomaster's house once again he hurried through the dark deserted streets.

"Mistress de St. Trond, woman; tell her I wait on her," he said gruffly to a serving maild.

"In that state!" she cried. "Pho! a pretty thing." For his hair and beard were wet and bedraggled. and his hands and coat bore the wine stains thick and wet; and he recked, I dare swear, of Rhenish.

"Ten thousand flends! yes, in this state. Go when you are bid," he thundered, and the woman turned and fairly fled from him. Doubtless he was a terrible sight enough to a serving mail. Six feet and a half of him leaning menacingly forward, a huge fist whistling through the air, a red face flushed dark with the wine looking out of a ring of tangled matted yellow hair and beard, and two big gray eyes flashing in the candle light; it was enough to frighten a serving mail.

She was soon back again, and stood at the other end of the passage beckoning to him.

"She will see you; the second door upstairs." She cried

"But there are gallons—hogsheads—" began the Innkeeper. O, he has gone! Well, well, if he can drink it, let him. God's name. These Germans pay much better drunk."

Down the market place Gaspar ran, bare-headed, and the folks in the streets sprang out of his way, and stood against the wall, looking at him in stolld surprise. But Gaspar ran, heedless of round-eyed Dutchmen, till he was all but back at the burgemaster's again, and there in the street he met Vermell. Mand where's he, eh, Gaspar? "Where's master's again, and there in the street he met Vermell. No, not yet. We will be soon. Ah, my little Frenchman, there is liquor come straight from Heaven—or the Rhine land—'tis all one." The Yellow Pig. "And Gaspar caught his arm and dragged him along. "You shall taste, ach! such wine as we have not tasted since we came into this country of frogs. Teutel! I drank a bottle in two minutes, and we'll drink a hogshead in an hour!"

The two staggered along back, and Vermell was not folk to go, for he loved wines what was not toth to go, for he loved wines well as Gaspar. And so in due course they came to the inni.
