CHICAGO, Ill., March 3.—As previously dvertised, the excursion via the G. W. R. and M. C. R. left the Union station, Toronto, at 1 o'clock on Wednesday last. The train was made up of the regular express and baggage cars, two extra baggage cars and six coaches, the latter three of which were reserved for through passengers to Winnipeg.

WHO WERE ON THE TRAIN. On making a tour through these cars I ound that there were one hundred and twenty passengers bound for Winnipeg, esides several for Grand Forks, Grandin. Emerson and Colorado. Among these were party of French Canadians numbering fifteen bound for Colorado, Next to them sat an individual of large dimensions munching cheese at an enormous rate. This individual, on being accosted thus by The World: Winnipeg,? jumped up, and with his choler at its greatest height, exclaimed, "Meen Got in Hemmel! no, I vas going sent me off vor Veenepeg!" By the time the train reached Port Credit the drizzling rain which had been falling all that day and the previous night had subsided, and the sum coming out very brightly did much to enliven the already too despondent colonist. OTTAWA, March 5.-The underhand work in connection with the redistribution of constituencies is now in full blast under the subdirection of Mr. Bunting. The conservatives will exercise every ingenuity to make everything tell in their favor. The vigor with which the work is being carried on may be conjectured from the fact that there has been in Ottawa for several days past four representatives of the liberal conservative ingenuity in conjunction with Mr. Dalton

McCarthy to have North Simcoe made safer than it is. Agents from other constituencies are arriving here in considerable numbers to make representations about their particular constituencies. When the readjustment bill is brought in there will be any amount of acrimonious discussion.

Application for letters patent will be made by the Ontario and Qu' Appelle land company, Dominion colonization cattle breeding and coal mining company, Morton dairy farming and colonization company, and Dominion lands colonization company, and Dominion lands colonization company. THE RAILWAY REVOLUTION In recent articles on the railway question in Ontario, in connection with various applications for charters now before the local vast importance. The fact we have pointed out is that the sale of the Canadian Pacific railway and the accession of the Syndicate s really a great and remarkable event in our history, which is rapidly changing the situtions in our railway system altogether. In other words, we have entered upon a railway revolution of the first magnitude, and we had better open our eyes and try to realize the fact. This Syndicate business is forcing great changes east and west, changes which must materially affect the country's future; but people generally do not seem to understand it. Most people appear to have from the first taken the impression that the Canadian Pacific arrangement is something which has to do only with transportation to and from the great Northwest. Syndicate has to do with this and a great Northwest, we are at the same time revolutionizing that of the old provinces of Quebec and Ontario. This is what the public seem slow to understand, but they will hear it "on the deafest side of their heads," as the old proverb says, importance, with its connections. It is now a part of the Canadian Pacific. The St. Lawrence and Ottawa has been "gobbled up," and now there is practically but one southern outlet from Ottawa, instead of two, as before. The worst of it is that this really useful little line has been "gobbled up" by the wrong party. It could not really run itself and should properly have passed into the hands of the Grand Trunk. No more legitimate and necessary a case of the kind, in the interest of the public. can be mentioned, than would have been Ottawa by the Grand Trunk. With the Syndicate in the possession of the Brockville and Ottawa connections, public opinion would have supported this very natural and necessary acquisition "by a large ma-We cannot imagine what the Grand Trunk authorities were thinking about that they did not make all efforts and stretch several points to secure this short branch line to the Dominion capital, which a song. In other quarters the Grand Trunk has been agressive and enterprising enough in the acquirement of local roads as feeders how this very necessary adjunct to the main line was allowed to slip into the hands of the Syndicate we are puzzled to under stand. The formation af the Midland com bination, and its becoming a part of the Grand Trnnk system, is another of the i.

portant changes which have been precipitated by the great railway event of last session'; the building of at least one Sault St. Marie line will be another. Still another entrprise, that of the Quebec and Ontario, though projected before, has been forced forward by the ame event; the visible necessity for this new line having made zealous friends of those who before were taking only a languid interest in it. Let us ob serve further, what is now going on in the province of Quebec. The sale of the North Shore road, long talked of, is now an accomplished fact, or very soon will be. The eastern section from Montreal to Ottawa 120 miles, is sold for four million dollars to the Syndicate, which thereby secures a short and easy continuation of its line to Montreal. Of this sum $400,000 is retained by the company for the cost of certain works yet unfinished, to the completion of which the local government is pledged. The eastern division, Montreal to Quebec. some two hundred miles, is to be taken over by a new Syndicate, compaising among its members, so a semi-official statemen informs us, a fair representation of the different sections of the province and nationalities doing business wit the road, and some of the strongest names financially in Quebec, Three Rivers and Montreal, who pay for it the sum of $4,000,000 as it stands. But, in addition to that they agree to pay the government in cash $500,000 for its claim against the city of Quebec, and to settle all matters now in dispute between the provincial administration and that municipality. In addition to this the new syndicate undertakes to thoroughly ballast the road between Monworks within the latter city which have this spring. been already arranged for ; and further to construct all the crossings and bridges necessary for the ferry there; and in addition to all this to carry out all the work in connection with the St. Charles branch, as it would have fallen within the province of the local government to construct, had it retained the railroad within its own hands. The value of the work is some $1,000,000

Montreal Gazette says: "From this it will be seen that the gov ernment obtain a sum of $8,100,000 in cash for the road as it stands, and secure an expenditure upon its completion and perfection of an additional $1,000000, making, in round figures over $9,000,000. We believe that these arrangements will be found acceptable by all parties concerned, that they will be accepted by the legislature, and that the government may be congratu-lated upon having completed arrangements which must innre to the welfare of the province. We believe that this opinion will be shared in even in Quebec, where for a moment some dissatisfaction prevailed at the sale of the line. That dissatisfaction, and incorrect information as to the pro posals of the government, and with fulle odds. Respecting these arrangements the ition that the Allan-Rivard syndicate (Sir Hugh's) is to come in also, and the two ilities for carrying east as far as Quebec, where the large new vessels of his of necessity be very brief. A slight glance line can load in natural deep water. The Pacific Syndicate will work against them and in favor of Montreal, and there is much dissatisfaction at the "ancient capital" in consequence. It will surely be admitted now that we have actually entered upon a great railway revolution in Canada.

Mohn & Brothers, William H. Reinhoel & Co., J. N. Levan & Sons, Hendel, Bobst & Co., George Hendel & Co., and many others. They passed resolutions protesting against the government's proposed admission of foreign-made wool and fur hats without the customary duty of fifty cents per pound and thirty-five per cent. Heretofore Canada was supplied with American-made wool hats, but manufactories are established along the border, and the American destroyor canada wool hats, but manufactories are established along the border, and the American market is being flooded. Canada gets her wool free of duty, and if the fifty cents per pound is taken off the foreign hats the difference will be at least $2 per dozen, which will close the forty-one manufactories in the East entirely. Australia is also desirous of sending a large quantity of wool here. A very strong letter, fully setting forth all the facts, was prepared and sent to Washington, and it is likely that the Pennsylvania and New England manufacturers will send a full delegation to the national capital."

A CREDITABLE REPORT.

In a previous issue and again to-day we space to carefully prepared summaries of the registrar-general's report for the province. Nothing is of more importance than the Nothing is of more importance than the health of a community, and nothing assists in maintaining it like accurate statistics. Figures will not cure a man, but figures show what diseases make the most ravages, in what districts they abound and where they do not abound, and show how and where the health of the people can be improved. Mr. Hardy and those under him who prepared the report of 1880 have performed a difficult task satisfactorily.

The province of Quebec has much need of something to stir up life and productive enterprise among the French majority of its population, and it is to be regretted, the state of the sta therefore, that the financial panic in Paris should have intervened to check some really romising undertakings, mainly dependent apon capital supplied from France. The flight as a defaulter of M. Legru, who has peen captured in New York, will be further liscouragement. He was sent out here as the agent of French capitalists, and acted for them in the Credit Mobilier, the Union Sucriere, phosphite mining and other schemes. But, though he has not proved the right man in the right place, others may be found to do better. The expansion of the Credit Mobilier system in Lower Canada may be an experiment more dangerous than profitable, but the making of eet sugar and the mining of phosphate are bona fide productive industries, which must prove successful when they get into the right hands. It is to be hoped that the present misfortune will not too much discourage our French fellow citizens in their efforts of "go ahead.".

IN THE TIME of the Crimean war, and for long after, France and England were regarded as joint protectors of Turkey, and Germany had next to nothing to say in the matter. In this respect things have very changed of late, however, and now Bismarck and the sultan, it is said, are managing Turkey's busines in concert, with very little regard to the western powers; and this new combination is likely to develop events that wil be worth watching.

Balloons have crossed the English channal before to-day. In 1837 a balloon left the Vauxall gardens, London, on a Mondey at half-past one. They were over Mondey at hair-past one. They were over the content of the content hours' time. In the morning the aronauts descended at Weilburg in Nassau, having travelled a distance of 345 miles.

(From the Monetary Times.) There is one other subject besides that of filling the freasury which the tariff must be admitted to have accomplished. It has tended to foster and develop manufacturers. This fact is so patent, it lies so clearly on the surface, that no one can have failed to notice it.

It is reported in Washington that prominent senators and officers of the government have been striving to induce Conkling to accept the nomination of the supreme court. It is understood that if Conkling declines the judgeship the president will strongly urge Edmonds to accept it.

For Qu'Appelle.

The eyes of our ambitious young men are turned in the direction of Qu'Appelle and the forks of the Sasketchewan, where they believe that soon another great city will turned in the direction of Qu'Appelle and the forks of the Sasketchewan, where they believe that soon another great city will spring up. Almost every other day a large party starts out to squat in these districts, and each one expects to squat on a town site. The meaning of the word Qu'Appelle is pecular. A beautiful picture illustrative of Our marked as in the case of the woman of Samaria the downfall of that wall of separation, which ages of bigoted pride and a relentless caste prejudice had set up between the legally righteous and the common, unclean canaille. It substituted spiritmon, unclean canalite. It substituted sparse ual worship for legal ceremony, forgiveness of sins, for repentance of heart instead of priestly sacrifice. The "woman taken in the act" case will not bear the construction put upon it by J. L. F. The Jawish law condemned both man and woman to Where were the man? had law condemned both man and woman to death. Query—Where was the man? had he been already stoned? The law also provided that the witnesses who accused the prisoner should themselves cast the first stone, it being presumed that they themselves were innocent of the crime charge, their zeal being for the honor of God and the purity of their nation. In both of these essentials these accusers were lacking. They brought the woman to Jesus that He, Christ, their enemy might be entrapped and be brought into collision either with the people, or the Roman authorities. Now, mark the result. Did Christ, as J. L. F. asserts that he did, abrogate the law in this woman's case? We have received instructions from the Toronto Office of MESSRS. VAUGHAN, DENNIS

100 GOOD TOWN LOTS IN MORRIS.

To those who contemplate investing their money in some of these lots, a brief description of the town of Morris may be interesting. The original town site was surveyed out in 1877. At that time the only buildings here were a few small houses. Since then it has steadily grown, till now it claims to be the fourth largest town in the Province. Morris is 1877. At that time the only buildings here were a few small houses. Since then it has steadily grown, till now it claims to be the fourth largest town in the Province. Morris is stituted on the west bank of Red River, midway between the international boundary line and the city of Winnipeg. Its location is high, and is surrounded by picturesque scenery. The town is thoroughly drained by the Red and Morris (or Scratching) Rivers, both of which run through and alongside the town site. In the immediate vicinity of the scenery. The town is plenty of sand, limestone, and first-class clay for brick making. At the present time the following businesses and industries are represented here: A flour and grist mill, town is plenty of sand, limestone, and first-class clay for brick making. At the present time the following businesses and industries are represented here: A flour and grist mill, town is plenty of sand, limestone, and first-class large saw mill, capable of turning out 2,001 feet of oak lumber per day; four general stores, a wholesale liquor store, a boot and shoe shop, a with four run of stones; a large saw mill, capable of turning of oak lumber per day; four general stores, a wholesale liquor store, aboot and shoe shop, a with four run of stones; a large saw mill, capable of turning such a harness shop, a tin and hardware store, stationery and fancy goods store, two blacksmith and carriage merchant tallor, a weekly newspaper and job printing office, two physicians, a harness shop, a tin and hardware stores, a wholesale liquor store, a boot and shoe shop, a bakery three loan, insurance, and land shops, two lumber yards, four builders and contractors, furniture stor

Morris is so favorably located that the Government has chosen it as the county seat of Morris County, and has selected it for the office of the County Court. Next year a registry office will be established here. Istry office will be established here.

The country surrounding Morris is thickly settled by industrious and thrifty farmers. The land is the best, and not surpassed by any other part of the world for the growing

COMMUNICATIONS.

At the present time this town is without railway communication, but we have every confidence that within the next year a line running through this town—a Manitoba Central—will be under contract, and the work of construction commenced, which line will give us communication with the north, west and south, and in all probability to the east, connecting with the South-western, Northern Pacific and Canada Pacific Railway. The Pembina Mountain branch of the C. P. R. passes to the west of Morris about five miles.

During the navigation season, boats stop here on their way from Winnipeg to West Lynne, also on the return trip. The present winter a boat is to be built by a Morris firm, and be put on Red River next season.

PRICE OF LOTS.

Notwithstanding that we have, as yet, no railway facilities, influential capitalists feel so confident of the future of Morris that they have invested considerable of their money in real estate in the town. The price of town lots has rapidly advanced. Two years ago, desirable business site lots could be purchased at from $60 to $100, but to-day they sell readily at from $400 to $600 each. Other lots have risen in proportion, and those that could have been purchased at from $18 to $25 two years ago are now held at $50 to $100. Next year, we venture to predict and feel confident that our hopes will be realized, property in Morris will advance 100 per cent. above present value.

If any doubting Thomas is suspicious as to the correctness of our statement in regard to the value of property here, they are at liberty to refer to any of the following gentlemen, residents of Winnipeg, who will give an uninterested opinion: Col. W. N. Kennedy, Registrar of Selkirk; S. Mulvey, Collector of Inland Revenue; Capt. D. H. Momen, P. L.; Capt. H. S. Donaldson, of Donaldson Bros.; R. Adamson, of Gordon, Adamson, & Co., Bankers; C. S. Rankin, Barrister; F. H. Scobell, Real Estate Agent.

THE TOWN OF MOBERLY.

One of the Johnston Bros., the firm who placed the paper town of Moberly on the market, called in The World office on Saturday and objected to the item in that day's paper regarding this town, "the best and safest investment yet offered in Manitoba property," a town which "must, from the property," a town which "must, from the nature of things, soon develop into a place of great importance." He said he didn't care what The World said about it as a tobe town, but he objected to the inference that Moberly was in a marsh. He thereupon produced some papers from the department of the interior showing that the section whereon Moberly is, or rather is to be, is dry, the marsh being on the next section. Mr. Johnston was anxious to have it understood that Moberly was high and dry.
