New York, Aug. 18.—Three important developments, all calculated to cheer the spirits of New York's Theatrical strikers, were reported tonight in the labor dispute of the Actors' Equity Association.

The spirit of the bureaucracy toward it.

"To take away the British troops," he said, "means to condemn these unhappy people to extinction; the remnants of them will be slaughtered almost to the man, woman and child. If there is any competition between help for Tientsin (for anti-Bolshevik cause) in southern Russia, and help for Armenia, Armenia surely has the first claim."

The laborer's sharply criticized the government's coal mining proposal and its failure to nationalize coal mines.

William Bruce, labor member for South Glamorgan and president of the South Wales Miners' Federation, described the government's plan as "the establishment of a glorified combine."

The 1919 Question. T. P. O'Connor, president of the United Irish League of Great Britain and Nationalist member for the Scotland division of Liverpool, complained that in a three-hour speech Mr. Lloyd George had not uttered even a word of sympathy with the workers.

He declared that one of the causes for the present situation in the United States is the failure of Great Britain to grant the workers their just demands.

Members spoke of when their Premier's statement concerning the withdrawal of the British troops from the continent.

Mr. Robert Bonar, government spokesman, replying, said he had reason to hope that the anticipated dangers to the Armenians were greatly exaggerated.

Over, he added, the demobilization would be slow on account of the shortage in shipping and would continue well into October.

Mr. Bonar said he had no other signs of help coming from the United States for Armenia.

Great Britain would gladly accept an American, rather than a British, loan.

He said he was sure that if the United States government in a similar case had asked the British government to hold out a little longer until arrangements had been made the British would have been ready.

The speaker said he was unable to hold out much hope of keeping the British in that region for any length of time.

What War Cost. The war cost forty billion pounds, Premier Lloyd George declared.

Of this sum was spent for purposes of destruction.

The Premier asserted that the changing from war to peace conditions would take just as long as the change from peace to war.

The first outstanding feature of the present situation was the alarming adverse trade balance.

The import restrictions which will terminate September 1, he continued, had given British manufacturers an opportunity of making and dealing in goods which otherwise would have gone to other foreign countries.

Before the war imports had exceeded exports from the United Kingdom by £150,000,000.

Receipts from foreign investments are present are down to £100,000,000, while Great Britain has to pay back an adverse trade balance of £200,000,000.

The national debt, the Premier declared, has grown from £641,000,000 to £1,800,000,000.

Government £100,000,000 yearly. Private expenditure in the aggregate, the Premier said, was more formidable than public expenditure.

One of the factors in the present situation is the increase in expenditure to increase production, but the output is less in everything except agriculture.

Must Keep International Trade. The Premier declared that if the country continues in the way in which it is going, the adverse trade balance would reach £1,000,000,000, compared to £150,000,000 before the war.

"We cannot prosper," Mr. Lloyd George said, "we cannot even exist without recovering and maintaining our international trade. We must bring up the trade balance, adding to our exports and lessening our imports."

He has advanced some figures for the new production of the world, from which we are getting something like £200,000,000 yearly in interest. We have sold £1,000,000,000 of foreign securities to pay for war material for ourselves and our allies.

We have borrowed £1,200,000,000 from America and Canada for the same purpose. Our allies, including Russia, owe us £1,800,000,000.

At the present moment our adverse trade balance is £200,000,000.

"We must bridge that chasm or at the bottom of it is ruin. We are building a temporary bridge by not only stop borrowing, but traders borrowing for raw material, food and so forth. That will only add to the catastrophe. In every direction we are spending more. We are earning less. We are consuming more and we are producing less. These are facts. It cannot last."

Will Be Coal Shortage. The production of coal this year, the Premier continued, would be 200,000,000 tons, compared with 287,000,000 before the war, although 20,000 more miners are employed than present, than in 1914.

A ton of coal, which cost 10 shillings in 1913, now costs 25 shillings.

Premier Lloyd George declared that coal was the chief factor in the industrial situation. He said that the outlook was indeed dark unless the conditions which he stated were changed.

The Premier continued: "In America the wages are higher, hours of labor are no longer and the labor cost in proportion to the articles produced is less. This being the case, competition is impossible and no tariff will remedy this."

After pointing out that the British pound at present was worth in the United States only 17½ shillings, the Premier said:

Must Increase Production. "We shall never improve matters until we increase production, or we will be driven later to reduce even lower the standard of living in this country. There is no other alternative. It is either quitting the country for which we fought for four years. The world is suffering from a shock on a big scale but all our United States will pass away."

One of the arguments in favor of reducing the number of working hours, the Premier said, was that the reduction in time would involve a reduction in output. There has, he said, been a substantial reduction in the hours of labor and it has been found that the output has been reduced almost in the same mathematical proportion.

Labor has made tremendous gains during the last two or three years the Premier added, but he said these could not be maintained if production did not increase.

A 48-Hour Week. During the session today there was introduced a bill that represented an agreement between employers and employees. The bill calls for a 48-hour week and what are considered living wages.

The Premier said this measure was the outcome of the work of a joint industrial council that had been sitting for several months examining minutely the question of hours and wages and that the central committee had reached a fair measure of agreement. The measure would apply to all industries, with a few exceptions, namely, domestic and indoor servants, except where employed for profit, masters and crews of sea-going ships and persons employed in agriculture.

The Premier said he thought there was evidence of intentional slowing down production and that it is necessary for not only the workers but the managers and the foremen to put their shoulders to the task of increasing production. He said it was a dangerous and fatal fallacy that the less men worked, the more work there would be for others, and that it is important that those having influence with the workers to do their utmost to explode this fallacy.

State Purchase of Mineral Rights. Dealing with coal, Mr. Lloyd George said the government accepted the policy of state purchase of mineral rights, on which all the reports of the coal commission were unanimous, but that the government would be unable to give its assent to acceptance of the principles of the Sankey report.

The Premier contended there was no evidence that harmony would prevail with the workers, and that the ownership, he instanced the recent miners' strike in Yorkshire, which he declared was a strike against the government, and the experience of the railways under government control. Therefore, he thought the whole basis of the Sankey report that state ownership would promote harmony had been falsified.

The government, the Premier continued, had accepted the principle of nationalization and re-organizing, and these undoubtedly were cause for giving the miners greater interest and a voice in working conditions; and in order to organize the mines and reduce working expenses to a minimum, the country would be divided into areas, each of which should be undertaken for a limited period. The workers should have direct control of the industry, and the body controlling the policy of the area, he added.

Mr. Lloyd George said the government would prepare measures at the present time, but that the speediest moment possible for mineral rights could be purchased by the state, and that a fund would be raised for the promotion of the welfare of the miners, but that the government would not purchase or operate mines.

Turning to trade conditions, Mr. Lloyd George said:

"We must forget pre-war conditions and deal with actualities. We have decided that regarding the adverse American exchange rate as in itself protection against the importation of cheap raw materials. To deal with the vagaries resulting from the fluctuations in exchange, the Premier said the board of trade would be equipped with the necessary powers to buy and under importations of goods at prices below the cost of production of goods in Great Britain due to the collapse of the exchange. The government had decided, as an interim policy, that import restrictions should be removed Sept. 1.

"Whereas we have protection against unfair competition," the Premier continued, "there will remain obstacles to imports in the shape of low exchange rates and high freight rates. These will remain, because we have decided that we cannot longer keep up exchange. It is better we realize that in the long run the effect of raising prices of food and raw materials, especially those from America. That is the reason for our under-production, and it is needful that it should be brought home to everyone, otherwise it will never be cured.

"The government purposes to abandon the support of exchanges, except where support may be necessary to prevent the complete collapse of any important exchange until our output increases."

To Check Importations. Mr. Lloyd George announced that legislation would be proposed to deal effectively with the dumping of goods at lengths into the powers to be conferred on the board of trade to check the importation of goods at prices below British cost of production owing to collapse of exchange. He said this was an emergency measure, and necessary owing to conditions which had arisen during the war, and which, he hoped, soon would pass away.

Another government proposal, the Premier continued, was to shield unstable industries, namely, industries essential to the nation, such as dyeing and optical glass and the like, which were unable to maintain themselves on an adequate level of production. He said the board of trade should be empowered to prohibit imports, except by license, of such goods, and that in import prices were considerably lower than the home prices.

The Premier declared that the government purposes to submit a bill to the House of Commons for the autumn session of parliament for the development and control of the electric power of the country for industrial purposes. It would be necessary, he said, to supplement coal power by using water power.

In Finance. Mr. Lloyd George asserted that it would be impossible to reduce the army to the peace basis until peace was ratified. The delay in arranging peace with Turkey, said the Premier, was because of the United States' great decision of not knowing whether the United States was prepared to take her share in guaranteeing protection for peoples who, if not protected, would be subjected to terrorism plunder and massacres, the Premier said.

Meanwhile Great Britain had occupied Turkish territory. Economizing on Defences. Dealing with the difficulties of economizing on defences, the Premier said that the great mistake was the fact that the great menace to Europe was that the government was prosecuting its examination into estimates where it was believed it could effect considerable reduction in this matter it was essential that the great nations which had prompted the League of Nations should show their confidence in it and trust it. If they increased their armaments the League would be a sham and a mockery of paper. Those who believed in the League most must trust it most, and the rest would follow. This was a fundamental and firm condition of real economy in world armaments. Great Britain was ready, the Premier exclaimed. Let all other nations follow likewise, and economy would result.

In a moving peroration Mr. Lloyd George appealed to the house for fair treatment for the government. He had had to deal with tremendous issues, where mistakes and errors in judgment were inevitable, and judgments were being made on the basis of the information needed good will if at a crisis like the present confidence was to be restored. It was a matter of generosity to enable the nation to cope with difficult problems.

"The government have done their best in the direction of the Premier concluded. "Let all who will man the boats and save the nation."

was an indication of the fact that Liberals were willing to work together, and that men and women regardless of party were desirous of furthering the common good.

"The government," Mr. Dewart said, "has no right to juggle with the elections and play shuttlecock and butterfly with them. The plain duty of the government is to submit the platform to the decision of the people and submit other issues separately. It is not proper for the government to play fast and loose with the temperance or the liquor interest. It does not propose to allow Prohibitionists to drop out on that platform. Methodist forces or any other forces on his behalf as far as temperance is concerned. Let him come to the platform in the same position as the government should be in any question independently of any question of temperance. This government must have a platform on that platform, balance, and I believe it will be wanting." (Applause.)

Stands Same as Whiskey.

Mr. Dewart said it was not now a question of Liberalism or a party was 14 years ago, when Sir James Whitney was returned to power. Sir James had gone before a convention composed of Conservative and Liberal men who decided what the platform should be. Sir James appealed to the people, "I stand today," emphasized Mr. Dewart, "in the same position as Sir James Whitney did. I stand on a Liberal convention platform representative of the best spirit in the province. I stand on that platform, stand, and I believe you will elect me at the next election."

Mr. Dewart thought that methods for dealing with profiteers should have been devised while the war was on, and prepared for the time of re-establishment and rehabilitation. He expressed himself as a part of the rights of the workmen, and alluded to his fight in the legislature for a separate department of labor, and to have a man at the head who was in sympathy with the cause. The government treated it as a matter of mere expediency of expediency. The question was far from solution now.

For Industrial Council.

Mr. Dewart favored an industrial council composed of employers and labor representatives as representing the interests of the community. That Mr. Dewart would help to solve questions of industrial unrest, which had led to strikes in the past. He believed in collective bargaining, and record in that respect.

Admission of Weakness.

"There has been a great opening for a Conservative convention," continued Mr. Dewart, "and there ought to be a greater admission of weakness on the part of those who are in power today? The government does not represent the Conservative Party of Ontario, which is a people of Ontario. Why this demand for a convention? It is because the leadership of the Conservative Party has been so weak in the past. It is because the Conservative Party has been so weak in the past. It is because the Conservative Party has been so weak in the past."

Engineer's Report.

The engineer's report on a mile of water service work at Swans was accepted. It is proposed to lay 6-inch mains on Morningdale, Kingsway, Garboyl place, Garboyl avenue to Van Horn road, 1525 feet. Plans were accepted for a 24-foot pavement on Pinewood from the city limits to High street, and a 28-foot pavement with a concrete gutter on Glenholme avenue from the city limits to Rogers road. Progress was also made towards securing the following sidewalks: A 4 foot 6 inch concrete walk on the north side of St. Clair avenue from the city limits to Jane street. A 4 foot 6 inch concrete walk on the north side of St. Clair avenue from the city limits to Jane street.

Councillor McDonald gave notice of motion to extend Woodville avenue from the city limits to Danforth street. A 6 inch curb on the west side of Atlas street, from the city limits to Danforth street, and on the east side to Normanna street, east side of Glenholme avenue from the city limits to Danforth street. The Council will hold a meeting on the 26th of the month.

The engineer was instructed to prepare plans for a bridge on Buson road with an 18-foot roadway. The Council was asked to prepare debentures to provide for a $60,000 addition to the school in S. 25, which building is located at the corner of Rogers and Second avenue. The school now has twelve rooms and eight more are needed. It was authorized that the city purchase the property to secure the opening of Coleridge avenue to Danforth avenue.

"The Radnor," as illustrated, is an "Arrow" collar that is proving very popular because of its neat cut-away front and rounded corners, which allow just the right space for the knot of a knitted or silk tie.

Wide knitted ties look to be the thing for fall. At $2.75 are such ties in heather bar striped design on plain grounds of blue, black, purple, green or grey.

The hand-made cravats are in many neat and smart patterns, the shades being skillfully blended into beautiful color combinations of royal or navy blue, purple, green, maroon, tan or grey.

Another distinctive model similar to the above is the Dover at $4.50. It is a young man's body-fitting suit of dark grey cheviot finished all wool material.

Justice Lennox's Report.

Another investigation report is added to the fairly long list of these documents in the archives of the Ontario government by the presentation of Mr. Justice Lennox's exhaustive inquiry into the management of the building department of the Toronto Board of Education. There are no recommendations in the report, but the government can have recommendations if it asks for them. This is too much to expect.

Of the names that have come under inquiry a full account is given C. A. E. Brown, Dr. Steele, George Oakley, and one or two others. Superintendent Bishop is regarded as having no evil intentions, but not justified in concealing what he knew about various matters. In the Hodgson case Justice Lennox says that the most favorable view he can take is that it was a blunder that should not have occurred, and Mr. Waste in this and other matters is allotted blame.

The strongest delivrance in the report concerns the Park School and the connection of Trustee Miles Vokes for four years with the contracts which were allotted to him in the name of his sons who were minors. Justice Lennox says: "It is gratifying to me to find that I need not make one unfavorable comment on the evidence of either Mr. Vokes or his son Oliver," and he continues, "I am not at liberty to adopt Mr. Vokes' interpretation of its meaning where it conflicts with my own, and it is also gratifying to find that I am not compelled to use any harsher language either, as to what Mr. Vokes did or omitted to do. The facts speak for themselves."

"Sales to the board during Mr. Miles Vokes' term of office as trustee, amounting to about $18,000, and other sales, if any, during his term of office, in the name of the said several partnerships, were sales by Mr. Miles Vokes to the board of education." Justice Lennox finds further "that the several contracts in the name of these partnerships were with the board in effect contracts between Mr. Miles Vokes and the board; he expected to obtain and obtained profit and benefit from these transactions, and they were all, at the time, contrary to the provision and subject to the penalties of the act above set out."

As comment on this is reserved by Justice Lennox it may perhaps be left to Dr. Salem Bland, who has a reputation for plain speech which appears to have drawn the disapproval of Mr. Miles Vokes in his capacity of trustee of Broadway Methodist Tabernacle. The Park school contracts appear to have been as shady as anything in city hall politics, and the waste of money on cut stone extras is soundly scored by Justice Lennox. He comments on the slack methods in vogue under Mr. Bishop and Mr. Waste. This is usually the case where a department or an administration remains in office for a long time and no check is kept on its proceedings; there is inevitably a growing slackness and lack of the strong hand which usually comes with new brooms. It is quite clear that the time had come for a reconstructive movement in the board of education, building department, and undoubtedly Justice Lennox's pronouncement will tend to stiffen the spines of members of the board of education for some time to come.

An Alarm Clock Needed.

The government at Ottawa seems to be sleeping on the job. Even so friendly a critic as The Mail and Empire feels called upon to wake them up. The Mail says the government did splendidly during the war, but intimates that it is not addressing itself with the same zeal and energy to after-the-war problems. It delicately refrains from mentioning the high cost of living, but urges the necessity for reconstruction work, and observes:

It is necessary that the heads of the state should throw themselves into this task of reconstruction with the same fiery zeal and the same unsleeping energy as they did to the war business.

Fleary zeal and unsleeping energy are not characteristics of the government at the present time. The one absorbing question on this continent is the high cost of living. In its last issue The Literary Digest says:

No one in Washington seems at all passionately concerned about the peace treaty now, or about the league of nations. A single gigantic issue overshadows everything else, and the press reverberates with denunciations, constructive suggestions, and reports of anti-profiteering campaigns.

President Wilson and his officials have displayed unsleeping energy—they might also say fiery zeal—in assailing the profiteers, ferreting out the hoarders, and attempting to reduce the cost of living. They are being driven at top speed by an aroused public sentiment. The medical health officer of New York city announces that five hundred thousand people are insufficiently nourished in that city because the high cost of living prevents them getting the necessary amount of nourishing food. Meat, eggs, butter and other fats have disappeared from the tables of the poor.

Our prime minister is, perhaps, necessarily absent from the capital, but most of his colleagues are frankly on a vacation. The government is doing nothing to reduce the cost of living, beyond the establishment of the board of commerce. It is come day go day at Ottawa, and the government is apparently taking no interest in the complaints of the people against extortionate profiteering.

What the board of commerce will accomplish we do not know. We do know, however, that the government is not at the moment prepared to prosecute offenders, who may be uncovered by the board.

The Mail and Empire should speak more plainly. It should say what it means, namely that the government has gone to sleep on the job and is doing nothing to reduce the cost of living or punish the profiteers. An alarm clock is needed at Ottawa, and if The Mail is going to act as its warning in a plain tone and in a shriller key, should The Mail not "bawl out" the government in this way, there are some people who might suspect that paper of trying to divert the public mind from profiteering and extortionate charges for food into the channel described by it as "reconstruction," a thing that the ordinary man may not quite understand, although they have had many deliverances, many meetings, and at least one great organization created for its accomplishment. But they know all about the high cost of living and profiteering. Does The Mail advise the government to "go to it"?

Suburban Service and Commutation Rates.

Some years ago the citizens of Brampton made an unavailing effort to secure from the Grand Trunk Railway Company the same suburban service and commutation rates which were then enjoyed by the citizens of Oakville. They found themselves, however, up against the railway act of 1916, which was interpreted by the Dominion Board of Railway Commissioners as giving the railway companies the power to make commutation rates but as giving the board no power to compel the making of such rates in any particular case.

The railway act of 1916 by clause 2, section 345, gives the Board of Railway Commissioners the power to order the railway companies to give commutation rates and the whole spirit and expression of the act forbid any discrimination between localities of corresponding quality. The time is ripe, therefore, for action by our neighboring municipalities say within a radius of thirty miles of Toronto to apply for and secure the same steam service and commutation rates which are enjoyed by many municipalities in the neighborhood of Montreal. The towns and villages adjacent to Toronto should have the same service and the same rates as the towns and villages adjacent to Montreal.

No Change of Venue Possible.

When the cry used to go out in Holland that the dykes were breaking the citizens were divided among those who pushed to stop the leak and those who pushed to the trying moments of the field in Ontario reminds one of the yielding dykes. There are but few who do not realize the pressure and the weakness of the barrier, but it is difficult to convince those who sit in high places and refuse to listen to the news from outside.

Last week's statements in The World have aroused comment all over the country. A few of those who regard the High Self-Appointed as sacrosanct appear to think that it is high treason to tell the truth, but if the Conservative party wishes to save itself, alive it must face the truth in a sensible and courageous way.

An attempt was made last night to change the venue from the provincial to the federal elections. The federal elections are some years off and wise men will not be misled. Mr. Mark Irish is not going to contest a Dominion seat, but he has resigned his provincial seat, with a broadside exchange of ecstatic compliments with the premier. Fine words butter no parsnips, however, and the fact remains that Mr. Irish is not going to face the storm under the Hearst banner.

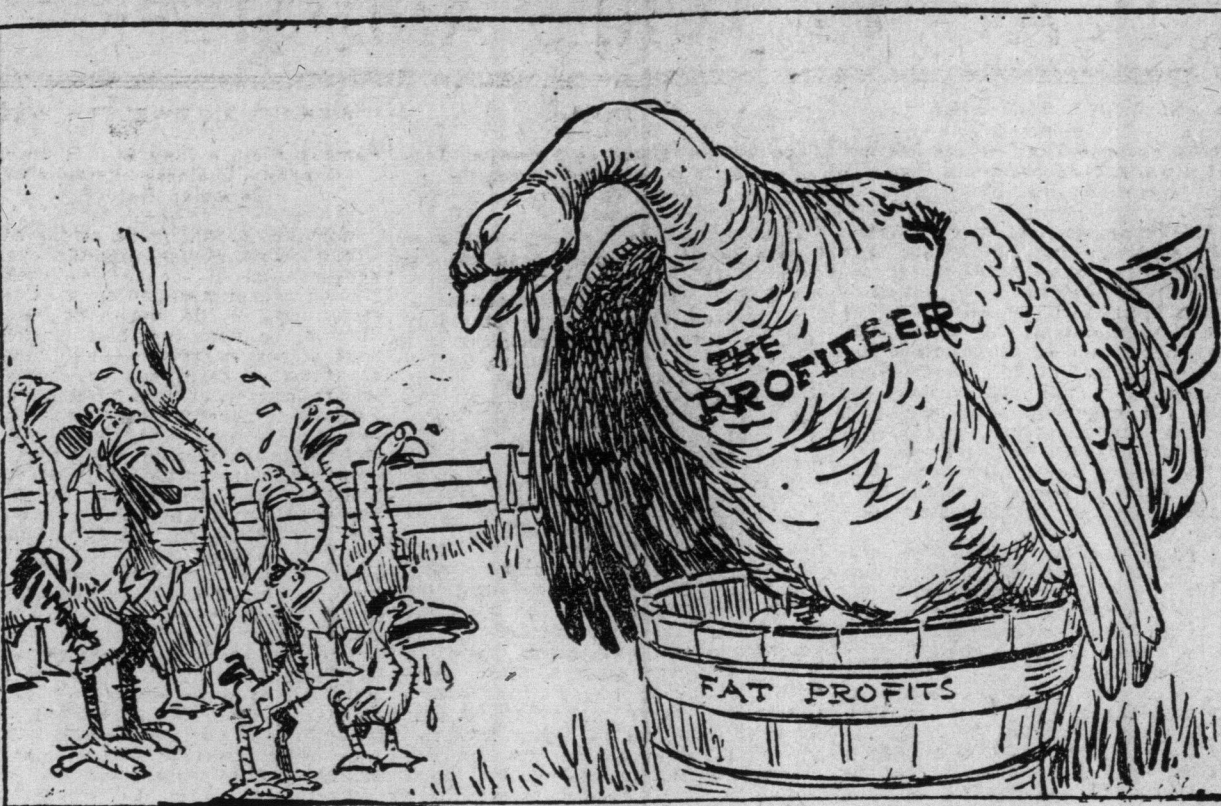

Then Col. Price of Parkdale is announced as having Dominion aspirations. Col. Price refuses to be drawn as to his intentions or his views, but his friends do not leave the public guessing as to what kind of fire is burning from which arose the smoke signaling the disturbed condition of the west end constituencies.

It is the same through the province, and the only remedy is a convention. Of course, if the High Self-Appointed continue to rely on the reports of agents trained to tell what it is pleasant to hear, the inevitable cannot be averted. It is probable, however, that the commotion that is going on will lead to the adoption of wiser counsels.

strengthened by his experience and better able to assist in the work of reconstruction. They have learned to know more of Canada thru their residence and to value their Canadian citizenship higher because of what they had learned while they were away from the Dominion. The war record of the men in all positions in the Canadian army had been such as to justify the belief that every man would "carry on" in Canada as he had done overseas—to the very best of his ability.

"Means so Much to Us."

"Our first feeling on knowing that we were to return to Canada," said General Currie, "was that Canada meant so much to us."

"Canada was engraved on our shoulders," he said, "and we could never have fought as we did overseas were it not for the prayers and support of all those men in all positions in the Canadian army who were with us in the trenches. The great events in which you have been so conspicuous a figure will always be a proud and solemn memory among our people. Yours faithfully, (Signed) R. L. Borden.

ROUSING WELCOME TO GEN. A. E. ROSS

Kingston, Ont., Aug. 18.—Brig.-Gen. A. E. Ross, C. M. G., was this evening given a rousing welcome home, he being returned from overseas yesterday, in the city hall, which was filled with enthusiastic citizens. The city council tendered a reception. Mayor Newman presided. He read an address on behalf of the citizens. It read in part: "You have not only reflected distinction upon your city, but have also enhanced the reputation of Queen's University in its beneficent work for the nation by your successful return to Canada, and the health and welfare of the Canadian corps."

Gen. Ross before beginning his reply was made the target for prolonged cheers followed by three minutes of the singing of "He's a Jolly Good Fellow." The guest of the evening, during the course of a stirring address, referred to General Currie and said: "The spirit of the great commander-in-chief of the Canadians had done much to make possible the great triumphs."

General Ross, addressing himself to the returned men, urged them to stand steady and resist the encroachments of Bolshevism.

MOROCCAN BANDITS AMBUSH SPANISH FORCE

Raisuli Said to Be Organizing an Immense Entrenched Camp.

Paris, Aug. 18.—Moroccan brigands, under command of their leader Raisuli, are reported to have ambushed a Spanish force accompanying a food convoy between the towns of Bagnuadi and Hgala, killing twelve soldiers and wounding a number, four officers being among the casualties. The column, however, succeeded in escaping. Raisuli is said to be organizing a vast entrenched camp between Tangiers and Tainon, near Pondick. Natives report that an elaborate system of trenches and blockhouses has been constructed, all the works being modern in character.

ORGANIZE POLICE ON MILITARY LINES

Germany Said to Be Acting Contrary to Terms of the Peace Treaty.

Coblenz, Aug. 18.—The militarization of German police allegedly contrary to the terms of the treaty of peace has already been begun according to information reaching here. In the city of Cassel the police were recently completely organized on military lines by the Prussian government. It is said, and are now equipped with steel helmets and rifles and follow the routine of a military company in their barracks. Of the 300 state police in office in Cassel, 190 have elected to be transferred to the new organization and the remainder have been given places in the civil service.

The ultimate size of the new militarized police organization has not been announced. Those studying the demobilization and reorganization of the German army say that the significance of militarizing police in Germany is great.

Hope Allies Will Consent
 American officers have records of an announcement that the Russian state government quite apart from the national government, is to organize a "schutzmannschaft" or state police force, through Prussia which would be virtually military units in garrisons with full infantry equipment but would be under control of the Prussian government, and used only for the repression of internal disorders. These troops, according to the plan, were to be quite apart and in excess of the army permitted under the terms of the peace treaty.

A semi-official announcement, however, stated that it is stipulated that these troops are not permitted under the terms of the peace treaty, but the hope is expressed that the allies will be "reasonable" and permit the organization. The Cassel incident it is contended by American officers, occurring long after the treaty was signed, but before the allied and other military commission on military control of Germany had begun to function, shows that the Prussian government is proceeding to organize a military force, trusting that the allies will not take any action against it.

Cost of Living in England Higher Than During the War

London, Aug. 18.—The official Labor Gazette states that the cost of living in England is now higher than at the latest period of the war and that the forthcoming steps against profiteering are more successful than anticipated. The Gazette gives the increase as 117 per cent, as compared with 1914, but this represents only necessities, exclusive of many other everyday articles. For greater efforts are now being made to stop profiteering in fruit, especially bananas, the shippers of bananas are advised that the retail price must not exceed 2 1/2 pence each.

PAY FOR PARADE

Mayor Church has been requested by a resolution passed by the G. W. V. A. to approach employers and ask them to pay for all some lost to the veterans during the review by the Prince of Wales. ### PRINCE IS PRESIDENT.

The Grand Army of Canada now has an honorary president. Dominion Secretary H. Parsons of the Grand Army was yesterday officially informed that H. R. H. the Prince of Wales would be only too pleased to accept the position.

HOUSING A FAILURE.

The veterans are of the opinion that the housing act of the government is a distinct failure. Some 20,000 houses, they state, are required throughout Canada and none are forthcoming. If the Soldiers' Settlement Board had been entrusted with the money and been empowered to loan it out to returned men so that they could build their own homes, the scheme, they argue, might have been a success.

"NOTHING BUT LIES."

Sustains Promise That Robins Players at Royal Alexandra Would Play Nothing But Best.

E. H. Robins promised when his season in stock opened last spring that every piece he put on would be an improvement on the last. To say that "Nothing But Lies" excelled all the splendid productions of the past month is to state the whole truth, but certainly last night's performance sustained Mr. Robins' high average for genuine fun, ingenious and laughable situations, and a general lack of humor that kept the audience alert all the time, and a Royal Alexandra audience is appreciative of a bright performance to judge by last night's applause.

The story is a foil to the play produced earlier in the season, "Nothing But the Truth," and depicts the difficulties of a lover whose sweetheart insists on the strictest veracity on every occasion.

The first two acts are undoubtedly the best, but the new interest in the third act is along nicely and the stage is so charmingly set that it is a pleasure to remember. E. H. Robins himself is the cheerful liar, who lies to please the people he loves.

AT SHEA'S.

"The Girlies Club" is Principal Feature of Vaudeville, Hilariously Worth Going to.

If Shea's vaudeville show was good last week, it is doubly good for the present six days— and that in spite of the quality of the talent produced at the opening session. The star turn for the present week's program is a short musical comedy, "The Girlies Club," produced and written by W. B. Friedlander. The comedy is well set, the music is tuneful, the numbers are well rendered, it is well dressed and the chorus are—well and see, there will be no disappointments. They are well drilled, sing and dance in rhythm, and there is not one of them that does not do good work.

"MICKEY" ON TWELFTH WEEK.

Famous Picture Play Still Running to Capacity—Establishes Canadian Record.

"Mickey" is still going strong at the Grand Opera House, and the opening performances of the twelfth week attracted capacity audiences, a flattering testimonial to the merits of the production. To command the attention for such a long engagement, and continue to attract a patronage unprecedented in the history of film productions in Canada, is a record that has never been equaled on the continent, and is a wonderful achievement for a theatrical entertainment. This engagement of "Mickey" has also brought forcibly to the attention of amusement interests the possibilities for extended engagements for popular productions, and in fact it is not every photographer who can attain the following that "Mickey" has. This is a picture out of the ordinary with a well-constructed story, an abundance of rich, natural comedy and cleverly worked out climaxes. It appeals to both the old and the young.

TIMELY BINGLES BEAT READING NINE

Spencer and Schulte Chief Bang Artists in Monday Fixture.

The Leafs are home and off on the right foot. The Gibson crew entertained Reading yesterday and squeezed out a victory between the showers. The score was 5 to 1. It was discovered around the noon hour that two games were on yesterday's bill. A little later the news was sent forth that the first one of these fixtures was given the go-by on account of the witness and grave doubts were entertained that the second could be staged. Finally at four o'clock the teams got under way before a couple of hundred fans.

Bobby Heck handled the Reading visitors nicely. Five runs was their afternoon's loot. One run along with the small lot did not make the two hundred of the faithful howl any weight. On the other hand young Spencer and the veteran Schulte showed the Leafs they had a tidy time with the old willow man. He was just about responsible for the whole credit side of the ledger. A double, a single and three times across the plate was the way Spencer earned his salary yesterday. Schulte drove in two runs with a double and a single.

Eddie Onslow crowded the two outfields for the glare of the white light. Edward scored a run and clouted home another. His best hit was in the field. The only first-sacker in the league was said here that Onslow had the first fourteen putouts for Toronto. Seven more came his way before the game was over. This left very little for the others to do.

The playing field was soggy, but the brand of ball pitched was up to the average. The Leafs continued their good hitting and gave some sign of a return of the regular batting line. Gibson can get the champions to get together in the old fashioned way. He hopes to happen. A few solid base strokes and perhaps another long winning sock. It is getting late in the season but the fans are willing for another dizzy whirl of sixty.

The tale of the Reading batting spree is easily told. They bunched a double and a single in the first, but failed to score. The heavy going favored them here. Altenberg turned third on the double, but went down and was unable to recover in time to make the stable. Two singles with an infield out sandwiched in between the visitors' batsmen. Brantford..... 4 BATTLE CREEK..... 2
All other games postponed.

The champions' sportiveness was more to the liking of the regulars. Spencer worked Kette for a walk in the second and he scampered home on Sandberg's invitation. In the next Ben Purcell did the unselfish act and Whiteman fanned, much to the disgust of the Captain who punished one to right and in error of the Havana gentlemen.

K was by no means in the sixth. Twice was the mark made on the tally and Onslow opened the service with a single and Ed Purcell started the second run. Schulte followed with a two-run cushion connection over the fence. Spencer completed the circuit. Schulte tried to make the circuit on a short batted ball, but Reading stopped him.

The last time to round the loop was in the eighth. Spencer bunched a pretty good right hit again Schulte did the act and the counter. This ended the day's good work, and the final was five to one.

Went Well in Early Stages—Tigers Are Victors Again.

At Cleveland (American)—Cleveland defeated New York, 2 to 1, yesterday. It being Mays' first defeat since he joined the Indians. He led Cleveland to one hit until the eighth when a pass to O'Neill, Bagby's sacrifice, Bode's two-base miff and Baney's fly and Chapman's scratch double gave Cleveland two runs. At Detroit—An eighth inning rally, aided by a wild pitch and Agnew's error, gave Detroit three runs and a 3 to 2 victory over Washington. Menosky hit the ball over the right field fence in the sixth inning. It was the second time this has been done since Navin Field was built. Score: Detroit..... 3 Washington..... 2

BEAT MOONEY GIBSON'S RECORD

Chicago, Aug. 18.—Ray Schalk, catcher for the Chicago American League Club, today set a new mark when he went behind the plate in his team's game with Philadelphia. It was the 100th game he had caught this season.

He marked the seventh consecutive season that he has accomplished this unusual feat. Schalk's nearest rival was George Gibson, who caught 96 games in 1912.

Chicago is now a successful manager in Toronto, former catcher for the Pittsburgh National League team, for which he caught 100 games for six seasons, but not consecutively.

ONE CANADIAN STAR IN U. S. TENNIS TOURNEY

Also an Englishman, Four Australians, Two Japs, and the Rest Americans.

New York, Aug. 18.—With the leading lawn tennis player of America, Australia and Japan entered, the drawing for the thirty-eight annual national singles championship tournament was made here today. The luck of the blind draw distributed the 123 entrants with fair regularity through the eight sixteen and with an occasional exception the leading experts should advance several rounds without serious opposition in the matches which begin at Forest Hills, N.Y., August 25.

PEG VETS ARE EASY FOR THE SCOTTISH

Toronto Scottish played the G.W.V.A. of Winnipeg at the Varsity stadium last night and defeated them by seven goals to none. The Connaught football club did not display the vim and dash they showed at Montreal and were no match for the Scots, who put up a brilliant display. The whole team played in great style. The Scots led at the interval by 4-0. They added three more in the second half and ran out easy winners by the above score.

IDA AT THE BALL GAME

Looks Like Group for Weston—Beaches and Maitlands on Monday.

The McCafferty tribe arrived at the island yesterday looking very little the worse for wear. In fact from the stand they seemed to be full of the old pep. However, we were not surprised because we had been tipped off early in the game by Thomas Daly Esquire that they intended to gallop onto the field "full of life and confidence." Even our old friend Mooney did not look worried and appeared almost smiling as he looked toward us in the stand. Heck did the twisting for our mob, and as a starter he seemed to walk, but that was about the worst of it, because during the rest of the afternoon, or rather for the most part, he was steady and had loads of control.

IDA AT THE BALL GAME

Looks Like Group for Weston—Beaches and Maitlands on Monday.

The McCafferty tribe arrived at the island yesterday looking very little the worse for wear. In fact from the stand they seemed to be full of the old pep. However, we were not surprised because we had been tipped off early in the game by Thomas Daly Esquire that they intended to gallop onto the field "full of life and confidence." Even our old friend Mooney did not look worried and appeared almost smiling as he looked toward us in the stand. Heck did the twisting for our mob, and as a starter he seemed to walk, but that was about the worst of it, because during the rest of the afternoon, or rather for the most part, he was steady and had loads of control.
