With the American Army in France, Sept. 14.—(By the Associated Press)—Troops were used in the drive on the St. Mihiel salient, but not to any great extent, the chief reason being that it was unnecessary to call upon them. The Germans in most cases retreated without waiting for the wiping out machines to force them.

ROSS QUITS THE PENSION BOARD

Ottawa, Sept. 14.—V. K. L. Ross, chairman of the Pensions Board, has tendered his resignation. He has headed the board since its inception, giving his services gratuitously. His resignation, which in view of the recent discussion is not wholly surprising, arises out of a difference of opinion in regard to the method of appointing the staff last spring. When the new civil service act abolished all patronage and so appointments not only to the service but also to the staff of the various commissions were put under the civil service commission, Mr. Ross objects to this regarding the pension board, holding that it exercises functions outside of the ordinary scope of the civil service for whose work it is responsible.

DID IT TO EARN THE SUSTENANCE FOR FAMILY

Sad Case of Wife's Plight Comes Up in Police Court

Of late there have been complaints sent in to the officials of the Red Cross and the Soldiers Comfort Association, regarding a woman who has been selling lottery tickets, saying that the proceeds were for these associations. The police last night arrested a woman residing in the centre of the city. She admitted being guilty.

The case was aired this morning in the police court, and owing to the circumstances on an appeal to the magistrate by the ladies representing the societies, the woman was allowed her freedom on suspended sentence, after being warned.

The woman's husband, who is a hard working man, has been laid up for several weeks with illness and as the wife was the only one in the house who could get out and earn bread, she had some lottery tickets printed and has been selling them for ten cents each. She freely told of what she was doing, and said to every person who had given her money she intended to return it when better days came.

All names and addresses she had entered a book, and she was in court and had the appearance of being a very sick man.

The case so deeply impressed the magistrate that if he had not given the woman up for trial he would defend the case free of charge. The case was very sympathetic and every one in court from the magistrate down was in a sympathetic mood during the hearing.

EXPRESS MEN AT POSTS AGAIN

All is serene and happy in Dominion Express Co. circles today as a result of the settlement of the employes' strike at a late hour yesterday. The settlement was effected through a heart to heart talk between F. Winter, Branch Manager, Atlantic Division superintendent of the company—formerly located here—and representatives of the employes union, Division No. 84 of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees.

Mr. Branscombe arrived from Montreal at noon yesterday with authority to deal finally with the matter under certain conditions, which conditions arrived later in the form of a telegram from Montreal, as follows:

Through the intervention of V. G. R. Vickers, vice-president of the Golden Age, a meeting was arranged this afternoon between the representatives of the messengers and Montreal employes of the Dominion Express and T. E. Macdonell, vice-president and general manager of that company, which resulted in an undertaking by the men to get back to work, to drop all questions of the recognition of the five brotherhoods and to wire to all men who had quit work to get back to the job.

Mr. Macdonell, on behalf of his company, said that the men might get back without prejudice and that he would meet a committee of employes representing eastern or any other employes at any time for the purpose of discussing discrepancies which might be shown to exist under the present schedule.

The local brotherhood received a telegram last night from A. H. Mosher, grand president of the C. B. of D. E. as follows:

"Advise all employes to return to work at once. General manager signed agreement to meet committee and discuss schedule. Strikers to be reinstated in former positions without prejudice or loss of any rights."

(Sept. 14, R. MOSHER. In the offices of the Dominion Express Company today and at the depot and customs houses there was evidence of much relief and satisfaction that the trouble was over, at least that the men and corporation had agreed to arbitrate their wages matter.

RALLY TO ARMY HUTS

Lieutenant-Governor Pugsley Commends Object of Next Week's Campaign to the People of New Brunswick.

St. John, N. B., Sept. 12, 1918. My attention having been called to the campaign which has been launched in this province by the Knights of Columbus for the purpose of erecting Army Huts, I deem it my duty to urge upon you as strongly as possible the desirability of giving a generous response to this appeal, which is for a most patriotic and praiseworthy object.

The campaign will close on Monday, the 28th instant, and it is hoped that a sum of $75,000 will be raised in this province.

The Knights of Columbus in the United States have proved most helpful to our great ally in this war, and their splendid work has elicited strong approval from President Wilson and members of his cabinet.

Other provinces are responding nobly to the call now being made, and I am confident that in proportion to its population and wealth, New Brunswick will not be behind the others.

I am, Yours faithfully, WILLIAM PUGSLEY, Lieutenant-Governor.

CAPTAIN AND MATE QUESTIONED ABOUT LOSS OF THE DORNFOUNTAIN

A—No; but I did see in the papers that there were submarines along the coast.

He said he saw the submarine a great deal in the cases of the vessel. He did not look at the vessel when he came up as he knew then that the craft he had previously noticed was a submarine. "After the first shot was fired I put my helm up to run in closer to shore, but I had no sooner done so," he said, "than he fired another shot which came within fifteen yards of us and a piece of the shell went through the counter, which was torpedoed off."

In answer to Captain Demers, he said the submarine fired at his ship when she was about four or five miles away. He did not look at the vessel when he came up as he knew then that the craft he had previously noticed was a submarine. "After the first shot was fired I put my helm up to run in closer to shore, but I had no sooner done so," he said, "than he fired another shot which came within fifteen yards of us and a piece of the shell went through the counter, which was torpedoed off."

Q—When you received those instructions were you told to destroy these instructions in case of an enemy attack? A—I do not remember, but don't think so.

Q—How near to you was the submarine when you got into the boat? A—About a half mile.

Q—Was there any excitement on your ship? A—No, sir.

Q—Were you afraid? A—No, sir.

The captain said that after hearing the submarine the crew were ordered below and some Germans took charge of their boat and went back to the ship and removed everything except the cargo from it. He considered it took them four hours to strip the ship. He was then himself ordered below and when he came on deck his ship was in flames. He said there were more than seventy of a crew on the U-boat. She had two very big guns and he estimated she was about 270 feet long.

Q—Did they appear by their behavior that they expected you? A—Oh, I could not say that.

Q—As far as you know you did not see any action that looked suspicious on the part of the crew. A—No, Sir, I did not.

"The submarine had in sight since nine o'clock that morning," he said. Q—You have no occasion to doubt your mate?

A—No, I have not.

In answer to Captain Mulcahy he said that this was the second ship he lost by enemy craft. He was commander of the Sunlight, which was torpedoed off Georgia Sound.

He said he knew the papers should have been destroyed, but he forgot all about it in the hurry and rush. Q—Prior to getting your sailing did you not read the document, did you not have it explained to you? Did you not sign that document? A—Yes, Sir.

Q—Now, about the submarine. Did you not know that vessels were destroyed one month before you sailed? A—I knew they were destroyed down south, but did not think they were up here.

Q—Did you know what you had to do with these instructions? A—Yes, Sir.

Q—Why did you put the paper in the ship's box, especially when your course was marked out for you? A—Well, I just put it there with the other papers.

"Then," said Captain Demers, "you did not seem to attach much importance to these instructions."

In answer to Captain Hayes, the captain said one member of his crew, a Swede, was able to speak a little German.

In answer to Captain Mulcahy he said he came here in May from the old country to take charge of the Dornfontein.

Q—When you were torpedoed in the Sunlight, how long did it take you to abandon your ship? A—Just about five minutes.

Q—In this instance how long did you have to save anything? A—About ten or fifteen minutes.

The Mate.

Charles Olsen, mate on the schooner, was then called. He said he had been in this country three years. He was a native of Denmark.

Q—Did you leave Denmark after the war broke out? A—About ten or fifteen minutes.

Q—Can you speak German? A—Yes, Sir, a little.

Q—Did you ever meet any Germans here in St. John? A—No.

Q—Did you know this captain before?

A—No, I have not.

In answer to Captain Hayes the witness said that the captain told him that if he saw anything, but had a warning him to look for submarines.

The court then adjourned to give findings this afternoon.

CANADA STRONGER THAN BEFORE WAR

(Montreal Herald.)

"Canada is in a stronger position today, financially, commercially and industrially, than five years ago," declared Sir Thomas White, in an address at the Ritz-Carlton last night before new appointees and proprietors of the province.

"I say to you, as minister of finance, that, although we have necessarily increased the national debt of Canada, still, if you take the wealth of Canada today and compare it with the wealth of Canada four or five years ago, making all allowances for the national debt, the country is very much wealthier today than four years ago."

Sir Thomas attributed this position to the immense natural resources of Canada and to an intelligent and enterprising population as there is in the world.

Before the Canadian Club in Montreal.

SHOULD MAKE A MILLION FOR HIM

Cincinnati Man Discovers Drug That Loosens Corns So They Lift Out.

Local druggists are having a tremendous call for freezons, the drug which is said to shrivel a corn, root and all, without any pain.

A few drops applied directly upon a tender, aching corn relieves the soreness at once, and shortly the entire corn, root and all, lifts right out with the fingers.

This new drug is being dispensed at small cost in quarter ounce bottles which is sufficient to take off every hard or soft corn from one's feet. It is a sticky substance which dries at once, and does not inflame or even irritate the surrounding tissue or skin. There is no excuse for anyone inflicting death by infection or lockjaw from cutting their corns now.

LOYALIST CHAPTER MEETS.

A special meeting of Loyalist Chapter, I. O. D. E., was held yesterday afternoon to arrange for the chapter's next patriotic entertainment which is to be a "Chinese evening." In the absence of the regent, Mrs. Hugh Mackay, Miss Alice Schofield presided and the special guest was Miss Choy Wong, a Chinese lady who is visiting one of the members of the chapter. Miss Wong undertook to supervise the forthcoming event and plans were made for engaging a Chinese band and for having a Chinese tea served in real oriental fashion in the evening. It was decided to include a Hawaiian village as a special attraction and a series of dances by flower girls.

WHAT GERMAN DOMINATION WOULD MEAN

Mr. Balfour Sets Forth Clearly Why Germany Must be Utterly Defeated

(Rt. Hon. A. J. Balfour)

Of Belgium, I will say nothing now, except to remind the House that never yet, even when the war in which the war was going gave the greatest impulse to the pacifist element in Germany, never even at that moment could a German statesman bring himself to say plainly, clearly, definitely, and without ambiguity, "We took Belgium without excuse; we mean to give it back, and so far as lies in us with all we have taken from her." Never once were they said that. They have introduced qualifications, they have invented history, they have spread calumnies about Belgian policy, they have made mendacious statements on British policy in connection with Belgium, they have endeavored to divert Belgian opinion. But never yet have they clearly stated the only policy which the extremist pacifists on this side have determined that they shall carry out before the war is brought to an end.

The Object Lesson in the East.

There is an even more striking example of the carrying out of German theories, when Germany has the power, on the eastern frontier of Germany. I think that Germany's action in the east is an even more instructive subject to study than Germany's action in the west, and it will repay the closest study. Consider what influence Germany now has from the north of Finland right down to the black sea. She has gained by the collapse of Russia. How has she used it? You have there a specimen on a large scale of what Germany does, and she carried out a single aim in different manners, according as the situation happens to direct her policy. The policy which she favors is that of a liberator. Next to being enslaved by Germany there is no worse fate than being liberated by her. Finland now finds herself in the grip of Germany. Germany insists on dictating what form of government she is to be under. Germany, as far as I can make out, is stripping her of copper and other materials, and not supplying her with foodstuffs, but garrisoning her with troops, and attempting to drag her into the war, and to use her as an instrument for further aggressions on Russia and still further interference with the forces on whom Russia must depend for her regeneration. Go a little farther south, to the Baltic provinces, Estonia, Lithuania, Poland, and the Ukraine, and you will find Germany proclaiming herself anxious that they should be free from Russian domination, but pursuing one end. Steadily, remorselessly, without wavering, without pity, she endeavors by every means in her powers, by force, by treaty, by treaty extorted by force to bring these people under German economic and military domination, so that they shall be merely her handmaids in matters of commerce and supply her troops in times of war. (Cheers.) So determined is she to keep these nations under her to rearrange the map of this part of Europe as she pleases, she has been ready to arrange it according to national or ethnic limitations. I do not believe it is possible to exaggerate the cynical and unscrupulous nature of her policy, and it is pursuing this method. (Hear, hear.) She does not want to win the war, she wants to win the war, because if she absorbs them as German states she will have to give them representation, and they will have representation for what it is worth, in the German Reichstag, and that is the German Empire. She wants them to be united under a personal tie to the Prussian monarchy, which she requires by Prussian soldiers, with no voice in the Prussian parliament, and no power of directing Prussian policy. I cannot conceive any peace being assented to by the Powers of the Entente which leaves that state of things unremedied. If it were unremedied, the future would be an absolute certainty, and Germany's power of war, increased. Towards these provinces she professes to be the part of a liberator, for instance, of corn from the Ukraine, and the moment she endeavors to compel the Ukraine, I fear, to come to her arms as she is endeavoring to make Poland contribute to her armies.

Treatment of Roumania.

If you go to Roumania you see her methods written in even larger and more unmistakable characters. She has not merely forced Roumania to give immense contributions, indirectly perhaps, but she has forced Roumania to give up her Roumanian industries, railways, and so forth, and the moment she endeavors to compel the Roumanian people, if it is allowed to stand, for generations, and which demonstrates if anything is required to demonstrate, that when a German talks of peace, he means only a domination compared with which some of the worst dominations of the world seem to me to be merciful because they have been less successful, less effective, carried out with less systematic method, and with less absolute indifference to the feelings of the subject population.

I do not believe anyone can study these treaties which Germany has made or is in the act of making without understanding for the first time what German domination means, and what a German peace for the world really signifies. In our own fair districts, both on the east and on the west.

German Menace In Russia Emphasized By Mrs. Pankhurst

Ottawa, Sept. 14.—"If Germany won Russia, she could control the world. I am terrified to think that you in this country are taking part in that pioneer expedition to Siberia—it will be a wonderful adventure for any young man who wishes to play an important part in the final victory, when the principles for which we are fighting to triumph—those things spiritual and unseen, without which human beings are as brute beasts and perish as such."

Speaking in Knox Presbyterian Church under the auspices of the Ottawa Women's Club and the Ottawa Women's Canadian Club, Mrs. Pankhurst emphasized the danger to civilization arising from the existing reign of misrule. In so doing, she discussed the whole scheme of German propaganda, and stated out how Germany, almost beaten now in the battle line, is striking at the heart of her enemies, through strikes and internal unrest fomented through internationalism and class warfare.

It was a thrilling and vivid picture she gave of the dark days in the British consulate at Moscow, the story of the French revolution repeated, when strangers were suspected of belonging to the hated upper class hunted out as such, and the reality of it was emphasized when she told of how the British consul stuck to his post, and added, "Remember the name—Woodhouse—"

She was in the sixty-fifth year of her age. She was of a lovely disposition, who enjoyed the friendship of a large circle of friends.

JUST THINK OF IT.

Oh, when they put a tax upon the luxuries of life, just think of all we'll have to do without. We shall not be permitted to make presents to our wife of furs that cost a thousand or thereabout.

And when we go to Margate for our little annual trip, no princely yacht will bear us down the tide. No half a quid Corona will be dangling from our lip, at a crowded third pier forced to ride.

Our humble little homestead now no billiard-room can boast, no statuary or sculptures rich and rare. And as for the front hall, all we can hope for, well—at most is a little bit of line on the slabs. No precious stones will nestle in the depths of our cravat, no pearls upon our waistcoat will repose. No twenty-guinea slumber suit, and very cheap at that—will woo our perfumed body to a dose weekly. (The rest is tears)—Lloyd's Weekly.

LEMON JUICE TAKES OFF TAN

Girls! Make bleaching lotion if skin is sunburned, tanned or freckled

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle, sunburn and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of Orchard White for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles, sunburn, windburn and tan disappear and how clear, soft and white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless.

Grandmother Gave It To Mother, Mother To Me, I To My Baby

Read what Mrs. Wm. Gray, Jaquet River, N.B., has to say about Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. She writes: "There is no medicine I know of that can come up with Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It has been in our house for forty years. My grandmother gave it to my mother, she to me, and I to my baby. For summer complaint it has no equal. I never mix a chance of a wilding my neighbors about it. I would not think it safe to go to the country in the summer without a bottle of it. It has saved us many a doctor bill."

For the past 72 years Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has been recognized by both the people and the medical profession as the greatest remedy known for all cases of diarrhoea, dysentery, cramps, colic, pains in the stomach, cholera infantum, cholera morbus, sickness and all bowel complaints.

There are so many spurious "strawberry" preparations on the market today that it would be well for you to see that the name "Dr. Fowler's" is on every bottle you buy.

Our guarantee, that it will do what we claim for it, stands behind every bottle. But the imitations—what is their record, where the guarantee? Put up only by The T. Millburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont. Price, 25c.

Proof that Some Women do Avoid Operations

Mrs. Etta Dorion, of Ogdensburg, Wis., says: "I suffered from female troubles which caused piercing pains like a knife through my back and side. I finally lost all my strength so I had to go to bed. The doctor advised an operation but I would not listen to it. I thought of what I had read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and tried it. The first bottle brought great relief and six bottles have entirely cured me. All women who have female trouble of any kind should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

How Mrs. Boyd Avoided an Operation.

Canton, Ohio.—"I suffered from a female trouble which caused me much suffering, and two doctors decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well."

"My mother, who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it before submitting to an operation. It relieved me from my troubles so I can do my house work without any difficulty. I advise any woman who is afflicted with female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and it will do as much for them."—Mrs. MARIE BOYD, 1421 6th St., N. E., Canton, Ohio.

THE IMPERIAL WAR CONFERENCE

Statement by Sir Robert Borden in Ottawa—Britain's Stupendous Efforts

In an interview at Ottawa, referring to the work of the Imperial War Conference, Sir Robert Borden said: "The Canadian representatives carried out a definite policy of preserving complete freedom of action to the government and parliament of Canada in the policy and methods to be adopted for co-operation with other parts of the Empire in any common purpose."

He referred to conclusions of great moment having been reached, adding that "the Canadian representatives will year further important decisions must necessarily be taken."

Military Efficiency Appreciated.

All were impressed, the prime minister said, with the thoroughness of the Canadian military organization, and with the earnestness and devotion of officers and men to their duties. "The magnificent spirit and efficiency of the Canadian Army Corps," he proceeded, "were never more manifest than in the signal victory which they recently won in the successful offensive of a few weeks ago. Striking on a wide front, they penetrated the German lines during the first two days to a depth never equalled on either side in the history of the war."

Work of War Conference.

"During our stay in England," Sir Robert said, "my colleagues and I were actively and exclusively occupied in the work of the Imperial War Conference, a summary of which has already been made public, covered the most important subjects in some instances definite and final conclusions were reached; in other cases, committees representing Great Britain and the self-governing Dominions and India were set up, with authority to investigate and report; and in other cases resolutions were passed recommending to the consideration of each government the steps to be taken. With respect to the subjects embraced in these reports, the Imperial War Conference carried out a definite policy in preserving complete freedom of action to the government and parliament of each of the parts of the Empire in any common purpose."

Nearly All Confidential.

"Nearly all the conclusions reached in the Imperial War Conference were of a confidential or secret nature, and hence cannot be made public. They had a very intimate relation to the conduct of the war in the various theatres."

FOR SALE—HOUSEHOLD

FOR SALE—EXTENSION TABLE, sideboard, stove, lamp, 78 Sewell. 84773-9-21

FOR SALE—ONE UPRIGHT detachable oak writing desk, with compartments and drawers neatly carved, $5.00. One Fittner gasoline lighting outfit, complete with mantles, cost $100, rare price $20. Three New Williams Sewing Machines, good running order, all attachments, $10 each. F. A. Dykeman & Co., 18 Haymarket square.

Unity of action, further preparation, co-operation in the utilization of resources, the most effective employment of striking power, whether on land, at sea or in the air—these and many other cognate subjects were under most close and prolonged consideration from first to last in this recent year further important decisions must necessarily be taken. Several of these subjects were specially considered by a committee of the Imperial War Cabinet, consisting of the prime ministers of the United Kingdom and of the Dominions, together with General Smuts, representing the prime minister of South Africa. Lord Milner, as secretary of state for war, was also a member. The deliberations of this committee continued up to the moment of my departure, and even then had not been absolutely concluded.

Britain's Stupendous Efforts.

"From these labors one gathers a vivid realization of Britain's mighty effort in this war. Not only in the creation and organization of immense armies, but in financial aid to Allied countries, in furnishing them with absolutely essential supplies and with the means of transportation, in providing equipment, munitions and implements of war, cannon, rifles, tanks, airplanes of a hundred different types, in the worldwide scope of naval operations covering the immensity of the ocean, in the successful fight against the submarine menace, and in the construction of numerous British ships, without which such task could have been accomplished."

Linking the Premiers.

"Useful arrangements have been effected for closer communication between the prime ministers of the United Kingdom and of the Dominions and the prime minister of the United States. In London, such communication takes place around the great variety of subjects, and such communication will still be possible through the arrangement which makes continuous consultation possible with a minimum of delay."

Matters Under Deliberation.

"Besides the work of the War Conference and the War Cabinet, my colleagues and I took up with many departments of the British government questions which could not be effectively or thoroughly dealt with by correspondence. Among departments with which important subjects were discussed in the Imperial War Office, the Ministry of Shipping, the Ministry of Food, the Ministry of National Service, the Ministry of the Air Force, the Ministry of Munitions, and the Board of Trade. The organization of the Canadian Expeditionary Force, both in Great Britain and in France, the more effective co-operation with the department of the Ministry of the Air Force, the marked improvement in conditions as compared with those of eighteen months ago, the earnestness and efficiency of officers and men in the discharge of their duties."

Meeting the Sub Menace.

"Although the submarine menace still remains, and is not to be disregarded, the marked improvement in conditions as compared with those of eighteen months ago, the earnestness and efficiency of officers and men in the discharge of their duties."

Premier Borden Praises K. C. Army Work and Contributes

Premier Borden, who saw the work of the Knights of Columbus on the battlefields of France, has sent the following telegram: Ottawa, August 31, 1918.

Am glad to commend the efforts of the Knights of Columbus raising a fund for supplying the Canadian troops on battlefields with war hats and comforts. The purpose of the fund must command the support of all our people. Am forwarding by first mail my contribution.

INSURANCE LOANS TO AMERICAN FARMERS

Total of Nearly $400,000,000 by Life Companies in Less Than Three Years

(Correspondence Associated Press.)

New York, Aug. 27.—American life insurance companies loaned $390,000,000 to American farmers, within two years and nine months ended October 31, 1917, enabling them to increase their supply of food for the Entente nations. About $270,000,000 of this was loaned to farmers on farm mortgages in nineteen states of the west and south. These states are supplying the bulk of American foodstuffs to this country and its Allies in the war. The average interest rate on farm loans up to 1917 was 5 1/2 per cent or less.

These facts are shown in a report submitted to American life insurance companies today by George T. Wright of New York City, manager of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents. It is compiled from original statistics and covers 1915, 1916 and nine months of 1917.

If this increase in life insurance loans to farmers has continued since September, 1917, Mr. Wright indicates, life insurance companies have invested in farm loans about $1,000,000,000. This more than one-half of all their real estate mortgage loans, which amount to nearly $2,000,000,000.

The report shows that the real estate mortgage loans of the companies on both farm and city property increased from $1,108,000,000 to $1,892,000,000 during 1917 and 1918. During the same period, continues the report, "the life insurance companies increased their farm mortgage loans in round figures from $25,000,000 to $450,000,000, a net increase of 1800 per cent. The rate of increase of all assets of life companies for the same period is 12 per cent. It shows, therefore, that farm mortgage loan investments of life insurance companies have recently increased about 2 1/2 times as much as the concurrent rate of increase of their assets generally. During the same period there was a 2 per cent reduction—$20,000,000—in the amount of money loaned on real estate mortgages on other than farm property. The great agricultural sections of the country were those which attracted

OUR LENSES ARE CAREFULLY GROUND

The grinding of a lens is a matter of the greatest importance; the work must be absolutely accurate. Couple this careful grinding with the searching examination given you by our expert optometrist, and with our uniformly low prices, you must be convinced that it is to your best interest to let us take care of your eyesight.

K. W. HESTER & CO., Optometrists and Opticians, Open Evenings, 193 Union St.

most of the new farm mortgage money of the life insurance companies during these two years, the Northwest leading with $86,000,000, an increase of 80 per cent; the Southwest shows an increase of $46,000,000, or nearly 25 per cent; Central North 819,000,000, or 16.8 per cent; the Gulf and Mississippi Valley $11,000,000, or 64 per cent, which is the highest rate of increase in any section of the country. The South Atlantic shows an increase of $9,800,000, or 46 per cent. It thus appears that while the largest amounts of money have gone into the northwest and southwest, the rate of increase has been greatest south of the Potomac and Ohio rivers, and east of the Mississippi.

The nineteen states having the great bulk of life insurance farm mortgage money produce nearly seventy-five per cent of the country's essential food crops. In addition, according to the Agricultural Year Book, these nineteen states produce nearly 80 per cent of the food live stock (cattle, hogs and sheep) of the country. It, therefore, appears that the life insurance companies have loaned about 93 per cent of their farm mortgage money in the states that contribute approximately 80 per cent of the bulk of the country's staple food production.

THE PRICE OF COAL
 D. H. Smith of Chesley street writes to the Times enclosing a receipted bill showing the price of Sydney coal at Fredericton to have been $9 in July. He also states that hard coal in Fredericton is $14. Furthermore, he says a local concern got Pictou coal through a St.
 John dealer and sold it to their employes at $6.50 a ton.

PORTER-WARD.
 On Wednesday, Sept. 11, a quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Ward of Glassville, N. B., when his daughter, Jennie Josephine, was united to Charles W. G. Porter of Bristol, N. B. The ceremony was performed at 10.30 o'clock a. m. by Rev.
 M. Mansel in the presence of a few of the immediate relatives of the bride.
 After a wedding repast, Mr. and Mrs.
 Porter, amidst hearty good wishes, left by auto for Bath, where they took the train for a short honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Porter will reside in Bristol.

This is a picture of Sergt. John F.
 Bastain, who went overseas with the 132nd Battalion and was killed in action on Aug. 28. Besides his loving parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Bastain, of Rogers-ville, N. B., he leaves four brothers—Herbert of St. John, Charles, now in hospital at Regensburg, William and Ernest at home; and four sisters—Mrs. John Wells and Mrs. Harry Scott, St. John West; Mrs. R. Wood, Acadville, N. B., and Mrs. R. Wood, Campbellton.

OUT OF THE HEART OF THE BATTLE

Word From Husband Comes to Mrs. E. Ougler; Also Cards
 Found on Dead German Lad

Right from under the barrage of victorious Canadian guns comes a pencilled greeting of good cheer to Mrs. E. Ougler of Lombard street, one of the staff of matrons in the Imperial Theatre. The brief letter from her husband states that it is his eleventh day of continuous fighting and twelfth day without taking off his clothes or even unlacing his boots.
 The missive expressed the sincere thanks of the St. John lad to kind Providence at his being spared through such a carnage as he had seen, a battle in which his chums were picked off on all sides.

Enclosed with his letter were two picture postcards taken off the body of a dead German lad. One was from a sister named Elsie and the other from a brother. The postmarks were Legnitsa and Georgensvalde and the colored views showed pretty home scenes which doubtless stirred the emotions of the chap who cherished them. A little light on the two-sidedness of war from the domestic viewpoint was mutely conveyed in these cards so soiled with affectionate handwriting.

Private Ougler enlisted in western Canada and was allowed home on sick leave. He returned about three months ago to re-enter the struggle. While he is fighting in France his wife works industriously at home for the sake of the family of small children and in the fond hope that soon the nightmare of war will be over.

NEW GOVERNOR OF BARBADOES IN CITY

Lieut. Col. O'Brien Fought in South African War—Came Here From Indian Ocean

Lieut.-Colonel O'Brien, son of a former governor of Newfoundland, and late governor of the Geychelle Islands in the Indian Ocean, passed through the city at noon en route to Halifax to embark for Barbadoes, British West Indies, to which gubernatorial post the gentleman has recently been promoted. Colonel O'Brien succeeds Sir Leslie Probyn, who is promoted to government house in Jamaica, B.W.I.

The visiting dignitary explained to his interviewer that it was his first visit to this side of the ocean. His arrival in New York and his brief stay there, also his journey through to the eastern provinces had been a delightful revelation to him. He was sorry not to have more time to view our country.

Lieut.-Col. O'Brien says he has many warm friends and acquaintance in Canada whom he met and fraternized with in the South African war. He trusts soon to be able to return to the mainland and seek them out, also to get in closer touch with the Canadian colony and nation.

The new governor of Barbadoes was accompanied by his wife, several children and aide-de-camp. The children were deeply impressed in all that was going on.

BACK TO THE OLD HOME AFTER 41 YEARS AWAY

St. John Has a Visit From
 T. Vesey DeLue

HELPING TO WIN THE WAR
 Resumes Business at Call of Washington to Make Army Tents and Hammocks—Meets Old Friends
 Here

One of the most interesting visitors the city has welcomed in a long while is T. Vesey DeLue, who, with his wife, is at the Clifton House. Mr. DeLue has not visited St. John for more than forty-one years, and naturally sees many radical changes.

The former resident has been engaged in sail-making, tent, hammock and other manufactures of that class in Boston since he left here before the Civil War.
 He has succeeded in generous measure and although he retired from active work a decade ago, the exigencies of the present great war forced him into business again.

Almost four score years of age, Mr.
 DeLue is executing for the United States government an order of 100,000 military tents and 40,000 hammocks. A son is assisting in the superintendence of the twenty-four-hour run of the factory, where double shifts are rushing the army equipment into shape.

To convey some conception of the immensity of an order of this size, Mr.
 DeLue says that the brass required to make grummetts (eye bolts) for the hammocks alone weight eight tons and cost more than $600 a ton.

It is a noteworthy fact that the visiting Bostonian did similar work for the Northern armies during the American Civil War, for it is not often a span of years amounting almost to two generations intervenes between government contracts of this unusual character in the life of the same manufacturer.

Speaking of old St. John and new St. John, Mr. DeLue claims for the city astounding strides. "I must say," he asserted, "that when I left here we had what we would call a 'mean' city. Now I am delighted to say the city is really beautiful and alert, surprisingly so to me. Your buildings are substantial your people look happy and prosperous your soldiers are splendid."

Nearly all his landmarks are gone and old friends and acquaintances practically wiped out. George Holder, sailmaker, Colonel A. Blain, J. N.
 Gouling, Sr., are about the nearest of the old friends still alive. Mr. DeLue was best man for Mr. Gouling's wedding more than fifty-three years ago. The two spent a reminiscent afternoon and evening yesterday.

Though nearly half a century of strenuous business might be expected to have dulled recollections, from the mind of a former resident, Mr. DeLue recalls with exactness many important incidents of long-ago days when wooden shipbuilding flourished and he was active in sailmaking, even back to the days of apprenticeship under John Gardner at fifteen sterling a year.

It is good to hear the white-haired visitors tell how the old town has changed for the better and doubly good to have the opportunity of renewing the friendly sentiments that even the place-less St. John fails to retain for the sake of a great boy to Mr. DeLue that he is able to participate indirectly in a war of freedom in which his old flag and the flag of his adoption are side by side nailed to the masthead.

OLD GARLETON CORNET BAND WINS NEW HONORS OVERSEAS

The band of the 140th Battalion, formed chiefly from members of the Garleton Cornet Band, who volunteered in a body, is winning fresh laurels since it has been attached to the famous "Princess Patricia." One of the members writes that the band has improved wonderfully since crossing to France and has received much praise in every place where it has played.

The time of writing, the band was filling a six weeks engagement at the Hamilton Gault theatre, one of the military theatres behind the lines. One recent engagement, of which the bandmen are inclined to be proud was their selection to play at the Royal Air Service Headquarters on August 8. This was regarded as a great honor and that the band was worthy of it was shown by the ovation received.

As their old friends here may be interested in the class of music the band is playing in France, the programme rendered at this engagement is given. It is as follows:

 It is unjust to the undersigned, I desire to draw attention of the many friends in the city and throughout the province to the fact that although the several newspapers have described the above case as a charge of theft, I wish it understood that the charge against the undersigned was not one of theft, but of buying goods knowing some to be stolen, the result of which a jury completely exonerated the undersigned with their only justifiable verdict of Not Guilty.
 Yours truly, destruction used in modern warfare. And because they had love it will profit them much. One factor in deciding the contribution they will make is the opportunity they are getting to test the theories of the lecture-room in the arena of the great war. The theories of the noble sacrifices of the tens of thousands of young men, throbbing with the hope of a useful life, who willingly gave their lives for the world's good and salvation. The question of total depravity will be viewed in the light of the noble sacrifice of the tens of thousands of young men, throbbing with the hope of a useful life, who willingly gave their lives for the world's good and salvation.

GERMANS USE WOMEN AS AIR FIGHTERS

With the American Army in France, Sept. 14—(Associated Press)—That the Germans are using women as military aviators is indicated in a report that in a machine recently brought down by the Americans the pilot, who was killed, was a woman. The captain of a company of the 167th infantry says the pilot of a German plane brought down near Serzy Aug. 28 by Lieut. Miller Thompson of the American air force was a woman. The discovery of the sex of the aviator was made, the captain says, when his men buried the enemy pilot and her observer.

WAR MAKES ITS INFLUENCE FELT UPON THE PULPIT

Canada a Holy Land? 'From the trench-trained ministers we can expect unconventional methods and language. The pungent phrases of the boys will be brought into action and used as watchwords and battle-cries. The petty bickerings which unfortunately have characterized some church meetings will be dealt with decisively, for such smallnesses will be intolerable to those who were members of the Allied forces. The spirit of adventure which has characterized the soldiers will be gloriously used by those who continue on trial. Those who had a tendency in pre-war days to become ideal divines will, by the process of war, be humanized. It is too much to hope that our fighting persons will become leaders of a new crusade, mercilessly attacking evil whether it is veiled or seen, challenging the Turkish forces of retrogression and oppression that attempt to make Canada other than a Holy Land.'

SECRETARY FOR SOCIAL SERVICE

Maritime Councils Will Unite to Place Man in the Field—Meeting Yesterday

The appointment of an active secretary to carry on the work of the Social Service Council in the provinces of New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island was authorized at the meeting of the Social Service Council for New Brunswick which met yesterday afternoon in the board of trade rooms. Rev. Dr. T. J. Fullerton, of Charlottetown, was present and told of the willingness of the people of Prince Edward Island to co-operate financially and to a great extent if the right man was chosen. He also spoke of the lack of vocational training at the Boys' Industrial Home. Rev. H. A. Goodwin, the president, was in the chair, and introduced Dr. Fullerton, who is the president of the Prince Edward Island S. S. C. Dr. Fullerton said that the provinces represented would contribute $1,200 towards the expense of having a paid field secretary for the two provinces, and he thought that if the right man was found that this sum would be increased. He considered it essential to the success of social reform work that there should be such a field secretary who could devote his whole time to it. He severely criticized the Boys' Industrial Home in that it did not provide vocational training for the boys and did not remove the boys from the environment of crime, though at the same time he recognized that the institution was given excellent management. On his return to his own province he intended to urge the need of a reformatory in Prince Edward Island, unless a general one for the three provinces were provided by the dominion government, and of a training ship either at Halifax or St. John. In conclusion he referred to the necessity of a medical inspection of school children, saying that in one day at Halifax ninety pupils had been found to be medically unfit to pursue their studies. Judge Forbes said that he felt the appointment of a joint field secretary for the two provinces was a necessity, and on his motion it was decided that such a secretary should be appointed and that the appointment be made by a special committee of six. T. H. Estabrook put the motion that the committee should be named by the president, and those chosen were Rev. H. A. Goodwin, president; Rev. F. S. Dowling, secretary; Mr. Estabrook, treasurer; Judge Ritchie, Mrs. J. A. McAvity and A. M. Belding. The proposed budget was considered, and on motion of Judge Forbes it was agreed that it should not exceed $5,000, and that $1,200 of this sum should be contributed by Prince Edward Island. Rev. J. G. Shearer, general field secretary of the federal council, asked that the annual meeting of the New Brunswick council should be held in December when the general secretary could attend, and Mr. Estabrook put the motion, which was agreed to. Judge Ritchie said, in defence of the Boys' Industrial Home, that boys above sixteen years of age were not committed to it, though they remained there till their term was complete, and that he knew of many individuals who had come from the home and turned out excellent citizens. A. M. Belding said that the fact that there was one common dormitory at the home encouraged the spirit which it was intended to kill, and he agreed with Dr. Fullerton that training should be given.

TAKES CHARGE OF COAL MINING

Industry in Maritime Provinces Placed in Hands of Dominion Fuel Controller — To Increase Output

Ottawa, Sept. 13.—Charles A. Magrath, fuel controller, has been appointed director of coal operations for Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. The powers given to him are wide. He has power to make all necessary investigation and inquiries respecting wages, holidays, hours of labor, the utilization of labor to the best advantage, and respecting all other matters necessary to and connected with the cost of and production of coal and "the increase and continuance in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick during the present war and after the end of the war." The order-in-council under which the appointment was made states that the production of bituminous coal in the maritime provinces is diminishing in comparison with last year; that the supply does not promise to be equal to the needs of the country dependent thereon and it is therefore necessary that efficient means be adopted to increase the output. It is further provided that: 1. The price to be paid for coal and coke produced in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick during the period mentioned shall be subject to the approval of the director of coal operations. The director, with the approval of the governor-in-council, may take possession of any mine or mining plant within the provinces aforesaid and may undertake and carry on the management, operation, and use of any such mine or mining plant; but such possession by the director under this regulation shall not affect any liability of the actual owner, agent, or manager of the mine, or mining plant as the case may be under any law or statute in that behalf. The director may appoint such officers and agents as may be necessary to assist him. The director, for the purpose of any inquiry or investigation made under the order will be specially for soldiers' wives. Mrs. Hooper and Mrs. W. E. Raymond have had charge of the season's programme and have provided a very varied and practical series of demonstrations.

Institution at River Glade Leased for Use of Invalided Soldiers—Will Care for Civil Patients Also

The Jordan Memorial Hospital at River Glade, yesterday passed into the hands of the Invalided Soldiers' Aid Commission, or in other words is now under federal control. This matter has been under consideration for some time and the federal authorities finally decided that it would be best to take over the institution for the benefit of invalided soldiers. The meeting was attended by Dr. A. F. McAvenny, a commissioner of the hospital; Hon. G. W. Robinson, representing the provincial government; E. H. Scammell, secretary of the returned soldiers' aid commission, and G. H. Boyd, of Fredericton, also connected with the invalided soldiers' aid commission. The federal authorities have decided to take a five year lease of the hospital with the privilege of renewing it if they so desire. In the agreement it is stipulated that the invalided soldiers' aid commission look after the civil patients placed there by the province at a maximum charge of $15 per week. The opinion is expressed in some circles that this change would indicate that at the conclusion of the war the hospital will pass entirely under federal control. It is understood that the need of such an institution by the Invalided Soldiers' Aid Commission is very great at the present time but the arrangement made at the meeting yesterday provides that the civil patients shall suffer no inconvenience by the change, but shall be cared for in the regular way. It is altogether likely that the federal authorities will add to the accommodation at the hospital for it is understood that the demands will be very heavy upon it and that this will necessarily demand increased facilities for the soldiers, particularly in view of the fact that the civil patients must be cared for. The first lot of soldiers were received into the hospital for treatment this week. The Jordan Memorial Sanitarium was established and opened for business on March 10, 1912, although Dr. David Townsend, the first superintendent, arrived in 1910 and took charge of the work of preparing the institution for activity. The Jordan Memorial Sanitarium was presented to the province by Mrs. J. Clarke Jordan and Commissioner Dr. McAvenny has received a letter from Mrs. Jordan, of recent date, in which she states that she is quite willing that the soldiers have the River Glade institution and that she will be in St. John some time this autumn.

THE vital elements that give beef its special place and value as a food are concentrated and stored in Bovril. Just as the equivalent light of 32 candles is concentrated in one electric lamp, so the vital elements of beef—of many pounds of beef—are concentrated in a single bottle of Bovril. REVIVAL OF THE CHANTY SONG

United States Appoints An Official Singer

Start Again the Lusty Chorus as Work is Done Aboard Ship—The Good Old Days of "Blew a Man Down"

(J. N. H. in Rochester Post-Express.) A Yankee, one Stanton H. King, has received a unique appointment from the government. I use the overworked word "unique" advisedly, in its original sense of "only one of its kind." And Mr. King's appointment is the only one of its kind in this country at least. He has been appointed official chanty-man (take notice, ye landsmen, the salt and tarry follower of Poseidon pronounces the word as if it were spelled "shanty") for the American merchant marine. His particular job it is to revive chanty singing among sailors who will join the new cargo ships. This is interesting news. Chanty singing went out of fashion when sailing ships gave way to steam. In the old days of clipper ships, when the American flag ripped to the wind in every port of the seven seas, the chanty-man was one of the most important men on board. A captain could get along without a second officer, he could do without a first mate at a pinch, but when it came to sailing his vessel down to the deep sea he could not get along without a chanty-man, for it was the chanty-man's lusty voice lifted in song that insured team work when the crew were weighing anchor or pulling on ropes. And chanty singing is to be revived because the new schooners of the merchant marine mean an increased demand for men who can "reef hand and steer." Mr. King's job is to give work-

ly entertainment in chanty singing to Jack ashore and to initiate him into the melodic mysteries of "Shenandoah," "Bound for the Rio Grande," or "Blow the Man Down." Because music is the language of tenderness and the companion of merriment, people are prone to regard it as unrelated to the humdrum occupations of daily life. But this view is wrong. Music is one of the grave concerns of life, like housekeeping, business, or the carrying out of great engineering projects. Men turn to sing in the face of death, on the battlefields, or in the depths of the water-besieged mine. If this is not so, why is it that when we are so deeply moved that words are inadequate to express what we feel, we turn to song? Why does patriotism need a "Marseilles"? Why does the American and the British soldier chant "The Lone Trail" and "Tipperary" on the way to the trenches? Why does the French poet, just before going over the top, hum to himself the sprightly words of "Madelon"? And why, to bring the matter back to the practical issue of chanty singing, does labor so often inspire music and music ease the toil of the laborer? For, ever since man went forth into the fields to gather his bread in the sweat of his brow, he has made him a song to ease his toil. Before the widespread use of machinery music was regarded as a necessary accompaniment to industrial life. The old guilds and craft societies had their marches and their songs. Till silenced by the roar of machinery men and women sang at their tasks. The man who tends a power loom has little inducement to sing. It was different when the good wife sat at her spinning wheel and the children, seated at the spinning wheel she dreamed dreams of fairyland and romance—dreams of the whir of the wheel and the click of the thread turned to song. Before gasoline reapers and binders invaded the fields the husbandman lightened his toil by an old ballad or a love ditty. Before the steam engine was installed on shipboard, to raise and lower the anchor, the deep sea chanty took their time and inspiration from the chanty-man: North and south and east and west,

Round the world and all, We're gypsies of the deep blue sea, And we've heard the ocean's call; We love the wild and rain, We leave the fogs and reefs, We love the wild and rain, Windjammers all, we heed the call: "Take your time from the chanty-man." No men appreciate the industrial value of music better than sailors do. Nothing will enable the crew to concentrate their energies and give a long pull, a strong pull, and a pull altogether as will one of their far-sung chanties. These songs are true music of the sea. When the men are worn out from long exertion, the mate will call for a chanty, and the chanty-man rolls out lustily: We'll haul on the bowline, The bully ship's a-rolling, and the whole crew joins in the refrain: We'll haul on the bowline, The bowline haul.

The pull that actually does the work is made while singing the last three words. Much the same effect is got in the song of sea-singers of the Volgas, familiar to us through the playing of the Balalaika Orchestra. The sense of toil is expressed in a note of uncomplaining melancholy. It is the music of men who eat bread in the sweat of the brow and find help and grave consolation in song. Some day an American composer will do for our deep-sea chanties what Russian composers have done for the boat songs of their great rivers. Where the word "chanty" originated is not known. It is not in Admiral W. H. Smyth's "Sailor's Word Book," published in 1867. It first appeared, so far as I can discover, in an article entitled "Sailors' Shanties and Sea Songs," printed in Chambers' Journal for Dec. 11, 1869, which article I have in my collection of sea songs. "I once heard," this article begins, "an old salt remark that a good shanty was the best bar in the captain's and he spoke truly." The first nautical dictionary to record the word was W. Clark Russell's "Sailors' Language," published in 1888. In a notice of a book called "Sailors' Songs, or Chanties," by Frederick J. Davis, R. N. R., and Ferris Turner, a writer in the Saturday Review for Aug. 27, 1887, page 281, said "A shanty," or as pedants call it chanty, is a song sung by sailors at their work." In her "Music of the Waters," printed in 1888, Miss Laura A. Smith has nothing to say about the origin of the word, although she uses it. Some writers claim that it is a diminutive of the English word "chant," but against this view is the argument that the earliest form of the word is "shanty." Perhaps this pronunciation indicates a derivation from the French word "chant." However, where etymologists fear to tread is not for a layman to rush in with theories. But if my readers are at all interested in the subject, as I am, I cordially recommend John Macfield's book, "A Sailor's Garland." In this collection of sea songs you will find out a good deal about chanties, and the words of many of the best. Certainly there is no one better qualified than John Macfield to write on this particular subject. Perhaps some day when we have passed through the grosser phases of materialism and electricity has been applied to the service of man, as Marconi prophesies it will be applied, men and women will sing more songs when they work. Many of the old songs will have disappeared. But the race genius that gave them being has virtue to breed new songs. The miller who watches his wheat milled by smoothly-running machinery operated with electricity will not sing the same songs that his forefathers sang when the grain was crushed in the quern stone. The engineer of an electric locomotive will not hum the sort of song the old position shouted loudly to the morning wide attention. Defenders of the author's rights and of his character's integrity, who are open to persuasion, clothes have assailed the undaunted producer with evidence that the attempt must be a burlesque and a travesty calculated to warp the imagination of perhaps millions of film connoisseurs. Whichever is right, the producer, who is evidently sincere in his reasoning, or his literary critics, the issue is significant, partly because the producer, who films development in their art, and there is no certainty where their final decision will lie. The matter affects not only Dickens, who will, nevertheless, always repose in his original form in the library and home, immune from modern influence, but also the millions of the value associated with the names found in it. It may prompt the theatregoer to read the book, devoting to it the time and effort needed to measure its worth, having first dismissed from memory the vivid portraits of the producer's undated version. The effect of the production will be good to this extent, though the knowledge of a few literary names, and the incidents connected with them, so readily obtained from the screen, has little educational value in itself. But there is no short cut to education, and the patient and careful reading of a great work can alone communicate its rightful influence. Therefore, so far as a picture pageant of incidents from Dickens promotes a desire to read the works themselves it is by no means without merit.

GERMANY GIVES UP ANY HOPE OF INDEMNITIES

Purpose of Peace Offensive Becomes Plain With Von Payer's Offer to Restore Western Conquests in Return for Domination in East—Now Willing to Bear Entire Cost of War.

Amsterdam, Sept. 12.—Retracting that Germany "as the innocent and attacked party," in the war, had a right to demand indemnification, Friedrich Von Payer, the German imperial vice-chancellor in his speech today at Stuttgart said that "We prefer on calm reflection, and even with our own favorable military situation, to abandon this idea."

Turning to the question of the occupied territories the vice-chancellor said that as a preliminary condition of peace for Germany and allies those nations must have all their pre-war possessions, including the German colonies, restored. Then Germany, he declared, could evacuate the occupied regions and could give back Belgium without encumbrance and without reserve, providing no other state was more favorably placed in regard to Belgium than was Germany.

He asserted that Germany would not submit to the Entente Powers for approval or alteration the peace treaties which Germany had signed with the Ukraine, Russia and Rumania. Russia, Herr Von Payer thought, might have remained in capable existence if she granted tolerable conditions to the enslaved races by a federal constitution. "She collapsed," the vice-chancellor said, "because she could not maintain internal cohesion. Our victories and those of our allies now have given the subjects of that colossal empire an opportunity to liberate themselves."

The vice-chancellor said it was unthinkable that Germany would contribute to the restoration of the "despotic Russian empire, which, by its mere existence, always incensed the world."

"We cannot hand over Poland to Russia," he added, "nor can we assist in having Finland again placed under the Russian yoke. We cannot leave to their fate the border states which lie on the German frontier and the Baltic to be subjected again to their will to Russian imperialism or thrown into the perils of civil war and anarchy."

"In fact, these states having come to an understanding with us as those most nearly interested, can only be an advantage to the world, and we can never permit anyone to meddle with us in this matter from the standpoint of the present European balance of power or rather British predominance."

Declines to Revise Treaties. Herr Von Payer asserted that Germany had peace in the east and would not submit to the Entente for its approval or alteration the peace treaties with the Ukraine, Russia and Rumania.

"For the rest, the territorial possessions which existed before the war can everywhere be restored," the speaker added. "A preliminary condition for us and our allies is that all the territory should again be restored which we possessed on August 11, 1914."

"For the rest, the territorial possessions which existed before the war can everywhere be restored," the speaker added. "A preliminary condition for us and our allies is that all the territory should again be restored which we possessed on August 11, 1914."

"We Germans, as soon as peace is concluded, can evacuate the occupied regions. We can, when once things have been got to that stage restore Belgium; if we and our allies are once again in possession of what belonged to us and if we first are sure that in Belgium no other state will be more favorably placed than we, then Belgium, I think I may say, can be given back without encumbrance and without reserve."

The vice-chancellor said a requisite understanding between Germany and Belgium was easier because their economic interests frequently were parallel and that Belgium was directly dependent upon Germany as a hinterland. He said he had no reason to doubt that the Flemish question could be solved in accordance with the dictates of justice and wise statesmanship.

"It is hypocrisy to represent Belgium as the innocent victim of our policy," Herr Von Payer said, "and to clothe her as it were in the white garment of innocence. The Belgian government—and that is what matters, not the Belgian people—took an active part in Great Britain's policy of encircling Germany."

The vice-chancellor said there was still the question of war indemnities from one of the other party and had Germany been allowed to pursue her work in peace there would have been no war or injury.

"There can be no question, therefore, of our paying," Von Payer said, "but only whether we should receive compensation for the injuries inflicted on us. We are deeply convinced that as the innocent and attacked party we have a right to indemnification. To go on prosecuting the war, however, to that point would cost us such sacrifices, irreparable by money, that we prefer, on calm reflection, and even with our favorable military situation, to abandon this idea, quite apart from the question of jeopardizing a future peace which would be inevitable if compensation were forcibly urged."

FOURTEEN MILLION REGISTER IN U. S.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Yesterday's registration of men between eighteen and forty-five for military service was eight per cent. above the advance estimate and may have added close to 1,000,000 men to the man-power roll, according to reports that commenced coming from state draft executives.

The first group of states to present partial or complete totals all showed well over expectations.

NEWSPRINT PRICES. Ottawa, Sept. 13.—A more detailed and definite statement by Commissioner Pringle as to his intention to issue a new order before October 1, fixing a new price for newsprint, and the announcement that the inquiry would be adjourned from today until Monday, September 23, when the commissioner hopes that the publishers will be represented, were the features of the resumed newspaper inquiry this morning.

The commissioner explained today that the new order would be for thirty days, but that it would be renewable from month to month, probably until July 1, 1919. The order, he said, could not constitute a hardship for anybody concerned because of the fact that provision has been made for a reference to an appeal tribunal in case either the publishers or the manufacturers are not satisfied with it.

ST. JOHN SOLDIER TELLS OF AIR RAID

Men Awaiting Medical Boards Were Hit

A TRYING EXPERIENCE

Some Fifteen Bodies Taken Out; Soldiers Were Absolutely Without Fear; Six Boche Planes Followed Each Other and Dropped Bombs; Girl Drivers Brought up Ambulances

The following impressions and experiences of an air raid in France was written on July 28 by a St. John soldier:

It was about 11.45 p. m. when the warning was given and I hurriedly donned all my clothes before leaving the hut.

We had been told to go to a certain dug-out if a raid occurred. We went and found the dug-out full and men crouched all round the entrance.

We therefore decided to hug a sand-bag barrier. It sheltered us from shrapnel on one side, but we were entirely without protection if anything came down on our right.

No sooner were we in position than the first raider could be heard approaching in the distance, and our nerves put up a terrific barrage.

He came straight on and passed directly overhead, luckily for us he dropped nothing then. Within two minutes he had reached his objective or else our barrage was too close. At all events he released five large bombs.

The explosions were severe and shook the camp. We realized he was dropping "big stuff." We crouched up against the sandbags to escape the shrapnel which was coming down thicker than I had ever experienced before.

As soon as he had released his load he immediately made off with our searchlights and "Archie" in hot chase.

We stood up and breathed easier and conversation sprang up along the line. We were not to rest for long and in about two minutes from the departure of the first, the second arrived.

We went through the same programme again, crouched down and hoped the falling shrapnel would miss us and that Fritz would not "kick out his tail board" until he had passed over our position.

There was absolutely no sign of fear and the men carried on a running conversation with mostly humorous topics.

The older soldiers related cheerful tales of how they narrowly escaped death at such and such a place. The younger soldiers (fresh drafts from Blighty) sat tight and waited for whatever was in store. They paid no attention to the stories of the older soldiers.

This second Fritz dropped his load several hundred yards from us and only the shrapnel kept us hugging our partner.

We again stood up for two or three minutes and then the third raider appeared.

This time he came much closer and the bursts of flame and falling debris warned us that we were uncomfortably close and in a line with the falling bombs.

We crouched even lower and each man must have realized that another minute would spell life or death. The conversation ceased, I hardly breathe, so acute was my hearing. I was listening for the whistle of the next one. It came, we heard the whistle and that meant we were alive when the bomb struck. It was behind and slightly to the left. We heard the crash of breaking glass and the twang of shrapnel rushing to imbed itself, where?

Luckily we were on the right side of the sand bags and so received nothing. This one now made off and again we breathed freely. We began to look round for a trench, because we now realized we were in for a systematic raid by relays. The planes were arriving at the rate of one every five minutes, which meant you had three minutes crouching and two minutes to stretch and breathe easier.

Before we could find a more suitable protection the fourth plane arrived and was immediately engaged by our "Archie." He was caught by the searchlights and the sky was literally plastered with bursting shrapnel. It was too hot for this fellow; he was forced to turn off before he reached his objective.

We watched him as he tried to out-manoeuvre our defences. He was unable, however, to elude our beams and he dropped his whole load and made off much faster because much lighter.

This load, dropped on our right and unprotected side, luckily they were too far away to harm us, but they at least showed us the folly of remaining any longer and trusting to luck.

We found a man who had an idea of where to find a trench and off we started on the double. We found a very poor one and debated as to whether we should stop there or go farther on. The fifth Hun arrived and settled our argument. We stopped.

We stretched out in the ditch and waited. This one made good progress and reached his apparent objective. He let go and then made off. We knew they were at least half a mile from us. We again started on the search and found a trench about four feet deep. We climbed down and awaited further events.

The sixth arrived on time, but was immediately caught and held by our searchlights. He was turned away and there he was directly overhead and in the lights. We immediately crouched and this time I thought we were really to get it. He invariably drops his load if unable to dodge our searchlights.

He attempted to dodge and passed a little ahead. Then, unable to lose our lights, he unloaded three large ones and made off. One hit directly in the centre of a depot of men awaiting medical boards. The two others lit right beside a large cinema and blew the sides in and roof off and buried the three men who ran the cinema. They were dug out alive and can be considered very lucky. This was the last raider for that night. The alarm was blown at 11.45 and the all clear about 1 a. m.

At 2.30 I stood beside the hole in the centre of the medical depot. I watched them dig out several bodies. In all I saw fifteen dead bodies and several wounded. The ambulances were early on the scene and it was surprising to see the girl drivers, they backed up their cars and stood down while the wounded were loaded.

The courage of our English girls is wonderful and it was an example for coolness and quiet determination. It is not permissible to state the number of our casualties, but it was a very severe raid.

JURY DISAGREES

In the case of Walter Pike, a soldier charged with breaking and entering, which was tried before His Honor Judge Armstrong in the county court yesterday afternoon, the jury could not agree as to a verdict and the defendant was remanded for a new trial. They brought in a recommendation that the prisoner be handed over to the military authorities.

HAVE LEVELLED THE SALIENT

U. S. Forces Complete Promptly Initial Task Assigned to First Army—The War Summary

New York, Sept. 13.—The Associated Press tonight issued the following: The American First Army has carried out with the utmost despatch the initial task assigned to it.

This task was the leveling of the famous St. Mihiel salient in Lorraine, and it was done in less than twenty-four hours not alone had the work been accomplished, but General Pershing's men had all the important towns, villages and strategic positions in the sector within their hands and were standing on the banks of the Moselle River at Pagny, looking across the stream into German territory and the southern outer fortifications of Metz, the great German stronghold in Lorraine were only four miles distant.

Large numbers of Germans had been taken prisoner—more than 12,000 had been counted and others were still on their way back to the prisoner cages—many many guns and machine guns and tons upon tons of ammunition and other war stores were in American hands.

From Hattenville, situated in the foothills of the heights of the Meuse, on the north, across the salient eastward to Pagny, the Americans have closed the mouth of the big sack that extended southward to St. Mihiel, trapping within it by their rapid advance all the enemy forces who failed to take refuge in flight when the great bombardment, Thursday morning, heralded the approach of the offensive.

In addition, along the eastern side of the heights north of Hattenville the Americans have debouched from the hill region and are astride the railroad running from Commercy to Verdun. Likewise the Thiaucourt-Metz and Nancy-Metz railways are in American hands.

Beginning in the northwest and crossing the salient eastward Les Eperaves, Hattenville, Pagny and Pagny and all the ground lying between them are in American hands. The town of signaux, Thiaucourt, Punt-A-Mousson, and St. Mihiel are far in the rear of the present line.

Montze, the dominating height in the centre of the salient and from which much trouble had been expected fell without striking. Among the numerous prisoners taken were men from Austro-Hungarian armies.

Although the operation of the Americans has been described as having "limited objectives" it nevertheless cannot but have a more important bearing on the future of the war. From the straightened line, growing out of the obliteration of St. Mihiel salient the Americans now are in a splendid position to act with their brothers-in-arms on territory from which it is possible to get behind both the Meuse and the Moselle River and thus make null the reported plans of the Germans to strike their front along the Meuse should they be unable to hold the Allies in the west in check.

Already allied airmen are heavily bombing the Moselle region around Metz and its outlying fortifications, having dropped many tons of bombs on the strategic railways leading from the great fortress. They are not without reason to expect that with apparent supremacy in the air Metz and the surrounding country henceforth is to be

DOMESTIC PROBLEMS.

(Sir Robert Borden in Toronto)

"Three months ago victory never seemed more distant; today it never seemed nearer, although the struggle may still be long. But we have domestic problems which must not be forgotten. In so vital a struggle, and for so transcendent a cause, no man's part can be regarded as small or insignificant. Upon each of us devolves therefore the greater responsibility. The nation's effort is the sum of the individual effort; thus the national effort becomes mightier or feebler as each man realises and fulfils his responsibility or fails to do so. In all the annals of history there never was a war like this; every ounce of power, every atom of human energy, of skill of mechanical and applied science, of natural resources, is being thrown into the scale. Subtract from the national effort what you will by controversy, by division, by discord, by so much have you weakened the national purpose and the national endeavor. There is a direct and unmistakable relation between the labor of every man engaged in an essential industry or occupation and the hardship and sacrifice of those who stand in our battle-lines. Surely it is not necessary when the world's destiny hangs in the balance to emphasize the fact that united effort is stronger than discord. I do not overlook the fact that if there be injustice or unfairness it must be considered and dealt with and removed; but may we not all agree that this can be accomplished without resorting to crude and wasteful methods, which diminish the national endeavor and weaken the national purpose?"

DOMESTIC PROBLEMS.

To every home there comes a time when every thought, every hope, every prayer for the future centres on the recovery of one loved one. In that hour of anguish, every means to recovery is sought—the highest medical skill, trained nurses, costly treatment. Does the price matter?

It may be so great as to stagger the imagination—a sum beyond the possible. But does anyone ask, "Can we do it?" Money or no money, they do it. And somehow they pay.

It may mean doing without things they think they need. It may mean privations, sacrifices, hardships. They make unbelievable savings, they achieve the impossible, but they get the money to pay.

To-day in this critical period of our nationhood, there is imperative need for MONEY—vast sums of money. Only one way now remains to obtain it.

The nation must save, every community, every family, every individual Canadian must save.

CANADA "SHOWS" UNCLE SAM HOW

(Toronto Star.) When Hon. N. W. Rowell made his Newcastle speech two Quebec members of parliament and some others raised the question as to whether he spoke for the government or only for himself. They asked whether his speech might be taken to mean that further drafts would be made after the 100,000 had been raised. Mrs. Rowell had declared that the union government had been elected to reinforce the Canadian army at the front, was doing it, and proposed to do so, and see the war through. "Do you mean," asks Mr. Rowell's critics, "that the government is going to keep the Canadian army reinforced until the war is won?" That is what the union government was elected to do, and that is what it means to do.

On Saturday last, with only two dissenting votes, the American congress adopted a bill extending the draft age so as to include all fit men in the United States, whether married or single, between the ages of 18 and 45. The public men and newspapers of the United States give Canada high praise for her part in the war, and those Canadians who have done their part have done it well and deserve the best that can be said of them. But in this country the draft law was not adopted with only two dissenting votes in parliament. There were more than that.

When Americans are praising Canada for her part in the war it is fitting that we should perceive that the United States has gone into the war in a great way. It was a bold and far-seeing stroke for the United States to adopt conscription and the draft at the very outset. It was not done here nor in Great Britain although, of course, our neighbors had the benefit of the experience of other countries in choosing her method of army raising. "But the fact remains that the American people assented to that method, and now, with only two dissenting votes, congress extends the draft law to include all fit men, married and single, between the ages of 18 and 45, whose services may be required.

There is a thoroughness about the way the Americans accept the fact of war and meet it. They mean to win the war, and they approve of such action being taken as will insure the winning of it. They see that the best course is for the whole nation to go to war, with all its power, and get the whole load business over and done with as quickly as possible.

The government and people of Canada, notwithstanding the questions asked and views expressed by some, as determined to reinforce the army and see the war through to the end. The questions as to the government and people of the United States or any of the Allied countries. Our critics and commentators do not represent the true sentiments of the country. They like to fight with a pencil in one hand and the United States will have to send before that country will, according to population, have done as much as we have done. But they forget that the 1,600,000 men the republic has sent overseas, the equal number now enrolled, married and single under 45 now subject to draft, represent a national effort made with national assets. There we had no unemployment, and if any went to war they made use of that system to avoid going. They stayed at home, kept their homes in the best of order, and in no way interfered with the war effort. The excellent records of other towns or townships, is no more to their credit than the valor of Belgium or France.

Miss Elizabeth Wallace was tendered a novelty shower last evening at the home of Mrs. E. McLaughlin, 30 Cliff street.

"PAN-MUNCHHAUSENIUM" (By James G. Randall in the North American Review.)

By her domination of the press Germany has attempted to crystallize the thought of her people and to isolate them from foreign opinion. A sort of military censorship has been set up to keep out the currents of world-wide thought which all the internal channels bring. The whole press of Germany is placed under military control. Editors receive their instructions every few days from the military commanders of their districts as to what their sheets may or may not contain. Some fine editor may arrive at his office to find a brief official notice of the suppression of his paper—merely a printed form on which is filled in the date of publication and the period of suspension, the commander's name being affixed with a rubber stamp.

In theory the censorship has been supposedly limited to military matters, but in actual operation has been such as to stifle political criticism as well. For instance, all discussion of the future conduct of the Alsace-Lorraine under the ban; no mention must be made of conditions of pay and work in government territories; no reference to the suppression of living in Germany or in occupied territories is to be reported. No information must leak out regarding violence and unrest in Bohemia and East Prussia. "The Reichstag" must not be discussed and under no circumstances is the "big" committee (the Hindenburg) to be introduced into the discussion of political questions. Most of the suppressed labor diaries have been branded as traitors.

Not only written opinion, but spoken opinion as well, it is a liberal sort, the forced publication of official news. Despatches from abroad are published only after they have undergone a process of "fitting" which may take the form of the elimination of significant passages, or unfair translation, or of explanatory comment. In the case of President Wilson's war address of April 2, 1917, more than half of the text, by an actual counting of the lines, was omitted in the Wolff Bureau's version. The convincing recital of the causes which provoked us to war was curtailed and distorted while the denunciation of Germany's system of intrigue, with the reference to the Mexican note, was dropped. The declaration that "the world must be made safe for democracy" was deleted and the passage, claiming any desire to seek selfish compensation for American's sacrifices was struck out. The blue pencil was also run through the expressions of friendship for the German people and the eloquent statement of what we are fighting for: right that is more precious than peace, democracy, the principle of self-government, the liberties of small nations and of a universal dominion of right by a concert of free peoples.

The Germans even extend this campaign of "Pan-Munchausenism" (as an American editor aptly put it) to their own troops. Captain German soldiers, supplied only with official news, have disclosed the most fantastic lies, even as late as November, 1914, German troops in Belgium were led to believe they were in the vicinity of Paris. One of the soldiers near Houders in Flanders, having understood that he was within eight miles of Paris, asked to be shown a place from which he might see the Eiffel Tower. News of different sorts is served on different fronts. Two sets of what purported to be the same edition of the "General Anzeiger," of Dusseldorf, were prepared with identical dates and serial numbering, but one was intended for circulation in occupied Russia and the other in Belgium, the news matter varying according to the audience. Such tactics, according to the German theory, would weaken the troops, improve their morale and develop a will to victory.

Use of the Hearst Propaganda. It is a matter of interest to notice German quotations from the enemy press. Only those things seem to be copied which the Germans like to believe. From American papers they select items which "prove" that Washington's war policy is half-hearted, that the country is in the grip of the I. W. W., that strikes and everywhere impeding government activity. German propaganda is undermining the American morale. The alleged report of an American military commission to the effect that the German position in the west is eagerly copied, and LaFontaine's "disclosures" are reported as seriously embarrassing the administration. German editors like to copy items about the St. John agitation and the immense number of troops that England must send to Ireland. Naturally they welcome indications of dissension among their foes, but in attempting to prove this they resort to the most flagrant selection of the most unscrupulous perversion. The complaints of a United States senator regarding financial contributions to the Allies, the alarm of France because of England's designs upon Calais, Portugal, the "inevitable" clash between Japan and England over Chinese problems and the enlarged reputation of the United States and that of England—these and similar items are given wholly unimpaired emphasis. In some cases if such reports were traced to their source they would be found to have originated in German propaganda. The German public relations propaganda plants in their own camp secure only the most grossly distorted notion of LaFontaine opinion.

THE BEASTLY RUPPRECHT. (Gertrude Atherton, in The New York Times.)

There is another reason why it is an abomination for Crown Prince Rupprecht to marry the young Princess Lucretia. He was the cause of the death of his beautiful first wife, partly from reasons which the Times would not think fit to print, partly neglect and general unkindness. His wife was the only beauty among the Bavarian royal women. Many of the young German princesses are pretty, but quite inane. Princess Rupprecht had a dark, spirited face, full of intelligence but tragic and sad. Her unhappy story was quite well known in Munich and the subject of constant talk and indignation. Men liked Rupprecht, he was 100 per cent male, and a "good fellow," but no woman defended him. As a husband he was below even the German standard. As an example of the delightful life that royal women lead, Princess Rupprecht told my Swedish mistress that never in her life had she known a single person that she wanted to know; that if she had been permitted to enjoy normal health the intolerable ennui of her existence would have been enough to kill her. Crown Prince Rupprecht, by the way, believes that he is entitled to the throne of England through his descent from the Stuarts. So, when this war ends, he will be disappointed in more ways than one.

ANOTHER GOOD ONE AT OPERA HOUSE

New Programme of Vaudeville Has Fine Feature

There is another high class and interesting vaudeville bill at the Opera House this week. At the two performances last evening the participants in the various acts were accorded rousing receptions and the applause of the large and appreciative audiences was so persistent that many of those taking part had to respond to encore.

There are five acts on the programme and all are exceptionally good. They include dancing, music, songs, instrumental selections, acrobatic feats, comedy and another episode of "The Lion's Claws."

One of the features of the programme was that presented by Sparks & Co. in "Kat Tales," a novel pastime with all kinds of eccentric dancing, a little music, some catchy songs and animal impersonations. This act appealed to many and those taking part were warmly applauded.

Allen and Clark in a comedy singing and talking act made quite a hit. Both have a knack of putting over their subject matter in a manner which is amusing and highly entertaining. Emily Boyd kept the audience arrested when she performed brilliant and difficult feats on the rings, etc. She is a clever performer and was given hearty applause.

The Abyssinian Three brought down the house when they took the stage and began entertaining on a grand scale. They are all kinds of popular songs and then showing a few new dance steps. They are all exceptional in their own way and promise to be one of the hits for the coming week.

Banks and Gay in a singing and playing offering gave a pleasing and highly appreciated entertainment. The songs were well chosen and equally well received by the audience.

THE ST. PAUL OUT OF THE MUD

Sunken Liner, Now on Even Keel, Presents a Strange Sight

At 5 o'clock on last Tuesday morning eight men were seen to be engaged in the work of the American liner St. Paul at New York started to work, and by noon the bow of the vessel was out of the water for the first time in five months and the ship was on an even keel. It was decided to pump out the water and by 5 o'clock that night the stern had been raised and the entire vessel was lifted from her muddy bed, so that the promenade deck was six feet above the waterline. It was expected to have the St. Paul ready for towing away from the slip at Pier 61, North River, next afternoon.

Without masts or funnels and her deck and hull covered with barnacles and weeds, the vessel presented a strange sight. On arrival at Robbins dry dock, all the woodwork will be stripped out and in two months it is expected she will be ready to re-enter the transatlantic service.

PROTEST AGAINST USE OF ONE-MAN CARS

Employees of the street railway interviewed Commissioner Bullock and other commissioners yesterday regarding the intention of the New Brunswick Power Company to introduce one-man cars. They pointed out that such a system would give the citizens a much slower service and also on steep grades prove very dangerous. The matter will come up before the council on Monday morning.

CONCERNING PLAYGROUNDS

The South End Improvement League, the Rotary Club and Playgrounds Association set in motion the movement that gave the west side a public playground. The Rotary Club planned a field day for this afternoon for the benefit of the Playgrounds Association. As one of the features they asked the two most prominent teams playing baseball in the west side to play this afternoon on the Barrack Square.

They were met with a refusal, and the two teams in question put on a double-header on the west side public playground as a counter attraction. No doubt the mayor, who is a member of the executive of the Playgrounds Association, and Commissioner Fisher, who is commissioner of parks and playgrounds, will have this matter brought to their attention. There may also be the question of the disposal of the funds collected by men on a public playground which was primarily established for the pleasure and physical training of boys and girls. Now that the city has several public playgrounds the question of their control and supervision becomes one of special interest and importance. The citizens all know what profession is due to the St. John on more than one occasion in years gone by.
