CARE OF THE HAIR IN COLD WEATHER

(From the Southern Christian Chronicle) "Many women take a needless risk in caring for the hair and scalp in cold weather. In spite of the utmost precautions danger of catching colds and colds is always present when the hair and scalp are washed. It is said that too much moisture in the scalp hard and scaly and the hair comes out in great quantities. A dry shampoo not only removes all dirt and excess oil, but is soothing, refreshing and invigorating to the hair roots. Some use plain corns root for shampooing but it is not so satisfactory as a mixture of 4 ounces of orris root and 4 oz of anything will grow hair, there will and it at least will make any hair light and naturally glossy. Just lift a tablespoonful on the head once a week, or whenever you wish to dress the hair for a special occasion, and brush the orris root and throat completely through the hair."

Daily Hints For the Cook

(Copyright, 1911, by the Brentwood Company.)

MAVROCORDATE is a name which figures so conspicuously in the history of the southern part of Europe, that one is tempted to inquire why A. D. Mavrocordate, who is staying at the Hotel Graham, in New York, should have considered it worth while to assume the title of prince, to which he has no right whatsoever, for all the nobility titles have been rigorously abolished, not only by law, but also by the constitution of Greece, of Rumania, of Servia and of Bulgaria, and their use is forbidden.

Indeed, the ex-protector of Rumania, George Cantacuzene, chief of a house that formerly exercised sovereign sway over the Byzantine Empire at Constantinople, and who distinguished himself as the "Mr." Cantacuzene, and attracted no little attention by declining to address the emperor as prince in the official letter which he issued to him appointing him as principal representative of the Rumanian government at the last international exhibition in Paris.

The Mavrocordate received a title of ordinary nobility, that is to say, the mere right of prefixing the particle "von" to their name, from the Emperor of Germany, who bestowed it upon Alexander Mavrocordate who was the physician and dragoman of the Sultan at the beginning of the eighteenth century, on the occasion of his successful negotiations to restore peace between the Ottoman Empire and Germany, and which culminated in the treaty of Carlowitz in 1699.

His son Nicholas, who also filled the position of interpreter to the Sultan, was appointed by the Sublime Porte to be the hospodar, or Christian governor, of the Ottoman province of Moldavia, and after the death of Wallachia.

The title of hospodar, which is equivalent to the Russian governor, the French "seigneur," or to the English word "lord," was merely accorded by the Sultan to the Christian provinces, because he did not consider them, as Christians, worthy of bearing the Turkish title of pasha, or bey, which in those days were restricted exclusively to Moslems.

The title of hospodar was purely one of office, and lapsed when the governor resigned his post as such, or was dismissed therefrom. It was never hereditary, and the idea of the descendants of those former hospodars, who were not even considered worthy of being mere bays, styling themselves prince, is ridiculous. Nor is their title of prince based on this shadowy foundation, recognized by any of the monarchical courts of Europe.

Perhaps the best proof of what I assert is the fact that none of the Mavrocordate who have served Greece as envoys in Constantinople, St. Petersburg, Paris, London, Berlin or Vienna, have ever been received at any of these courts as "prince," but always as plain "Mr. Mavrocordate."

HEARTBURN, Gas, Dyspepsia and Other Stomach Misery Vanishes Promptly

There would not be a case of indigestion here if readers who are subject to Stomach trouble knew the tremendous antiferment and digestive virtue contained in Diapasin. This harmless preparation will digest a heavy meal without the slightest fuss or discomfort, and relieve the sourest, acid stomach in five minutes, besides overcoming all foul, Nauseous odors from the breath.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on each 50-cent case of Pape's Diapasin, then you will readily understand why this promptly cures Indigestion and removes such symptoms of Heartburn, a feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach, Belching of Gas and Eruptions of indigestible food, water brash, Nausea, Headache, Bloating and many other bad symptoms; and, besides, you will not need laxatives to keep your stomach, liver and intestines clean and fresh.

If your Stomach is sour and full of gas, or your food doesn't digest, and your meals don't seem to fit, why not get a 50-cent case from your druggist and make life worth living? Absolute relief from Stomach misery and perfect digestion of anything you eat is sure to follow five minutes after, and, besides, one 50-cent case is sufficient to cure a whole family of such trouble.

Surely, a harmless, inexpensive preparation like Pape's Diapasin, which will allay the first street car operated by the Montreal Tramways Electricity and Gas Co. was run yesterday in Mechanic street. The will of Joseph Pulitzer, provided for the payment of $100,000 to Justice Charles E. Hughes if he would act as one of the trustees. Mr. Hughes declined on the grounds that it would interfere with his public duties.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

THE lady across the aisle from us had on a summer hat and an unusually heavy winter ulster. Said my companion: "Well, if I were going to have one of those ridiculous heavy winter coats, I certainly wouldn't wear my summer hat with it."

"Wouldn't she?" I wonder. Suppose, for instance, that her one summer suit got caught in a big shower and positively ruined, and she had to buy her winter coat early, but simply couldn't afford a hat. Now just what would she do in a case like that?

Why take it for granted that the lady across the aisle liked the peculiar combination of a winter coat and summer hat? Why not reckon that she was the victim of compelling circumstances, under which we would probably have done the same thing ourselves?

How often we all say loftily, "I wouldn't do this or that." How do we know we wouldn't under the same circumstances? We don't!

It seems to me that one of the big lessons of life is to realize what a difference it makes what side of the fence we are on, and not try to say what we would or wouldn't do under circumstances of which we know nothing.

One of the finest men I know is a baker. Although he abides by it perfectly, he does not approve of the law requiring that every loaf of bread shall be wrapped in paraffine paper. He says it is a foolish law, because the bread is contaminated quite as much while wrapping as it would be if it were left unwrapped. He thinks the people who agitated that law were either short-sighted or self-interested.

Now, this man is a thoroughly sincere, splendidly honest man, and yet I can't help wondering if he were not a baker, if he might not see things differently. What a difference it does make what side of the fence we are on!

It is simply impossible that it shouldn't. Use human equitation can't help but enter into the judgments of the best and most just of men. But I do think we can remember not to say, "I wouldn't," of anything. Perhaps we "would" twice as much if we were on that side of the fence.

La MARQUISE de FONTENOY

A Matter of Title—Lord Ashton and His Employers and His Recent Ultimatum

Mavrocordate was that Alexander Mavrocordate, who, born in 1787, was one of the leaders of the Greek war of independence, and who served several terms as prime minister at Athens, notably in 1841.

Some of them have been less fortunate. Thus, I recall one who blew out his brains some time ago in Paris on being brought face to face with the consequences of an unpleasant scrape. Another one, who represented Greece for a time at Stamboul, became involved in all sorts of trouble along with his wife, in connection with charges, brought before the Greek tribunals, of having kidnapped the wife of the fifteen-year-old daughter of an enormously wealthy Greek banker, Georgios, in Constantinople, and guardian in that city, and having married her at the legation to one of his secretaries named Verinaki, a relative of the ambassador, Mino Mavrocordate.

Then there was the late George Mavrocordate, at one time minister of war in Rome, who had married one of the daughters of the multi-millionaire railroad contractor Sina, who used to make his home in Vienna, and who built so many of the railways in the dominions of Emperor Francis Joseph. One of the daughters of old Sina, who was a self-made man in every sense of the word, became the wife of the Austrian Count d'Empfer, but divorced him when she found that he was making use of his position as postmaster in a manner not conforming to the obligations. It will be sufficient to say that the determining cause of the divorce was furnished by telegraph girls and post-mistresses when the count considered it part and parcel of his duty to recruit.

Another daughter of old Sina married one of the Ypsilantis, former Greek minister at Vienna, and whose son visited the United States with his rich Viennese bourgeois wife, a year ago, and spent the season in New York. The Ypsilanti, who married Sina's daughter, ran through all his own money and his wife's, was forced to undertake a diplomatic mission on account of the financial scandals in Vienna, which he became involved in, and ultimately committed suicide. His wife was grieved as a bankrupt a few years after his death.

The third daughter married the French Duc de Castries, brother of the late Marquis de Castries, and the Duc de Castries, who was the most successful racing stables in France, and the duchess still owns one of the most magnificent racing stables in France. The fourth daughter married the late George Mavrocordate, now in New York.

Lord Ashton and His Men. Lord Ashton, popularly known as the linoleum king, owing to his virtual monopolizing of that industry in the United Kingdom, and who is at the head of the greatest oil-cloth concern in the world, has spent so much of his enormous wealth in philanthropy, and has been so uniformly generous to his many thousands of employees in Lancashire, that his announcement of his determination to close his great works, rather than to consent to an advance of wages, constitutes a rather notable event. It is the first time in fifty years of trouble between this great employer of labor, and his working people. He, moreover, announces that, if conditions of trade become more than they are at present, through railroad and coalmining strikes, or through other labor troubles, the force of workmen will be reduced, and only those men will be kept who have been long in the service of their employers, and who are known to be too friendly to him and too loyal to listen to the appeals of professional labor agitators.

The following little story will illustrate the liberality of Lord Ashton, and his aversion to anything like class distinction. When he was high sheriff of Lancashire, he entertained a party of 10,000 people at luncheon. It was represented to him that a distinction should be made between the drinks of the gentry and those of the rank and file. The masses, it was urged, upon him, would be quite satisfied with ale, and the champagne might be reserved for the gentry. Lord Ashton would hear none of it, and every man at his table, peer or artisan, country gentleman or peasant, great capitalist or factory hand, had as much champagne as he wanted.

He did not seek the peerage which he owns but had it pressed upon him by Lord Rosbery when prime minister in 1885 in return for his generous support of the Liberal party. So indifferent was he to the honor that, much to the dismay of the Royal College of Herald, he neglected for a considerable time afterwards to provide himself with armorial bearings. When ultimately he was induced to comply with custom and tradition in the matter, he had his escutcheon designed in such a fashion as to suggest a linoleum pattern, while he adopted as his motto, "A sound conscience is a wall of brass," as in evidence with his high regard for commercial and industrial honor.

Lord Ashton, who at the age of nearly seventy, married for a third time, the widow of Col. J. Lawson Whaley, of Richmond House, Lancaster, and daughter of the Rev. R. Daniel, rector of Oshaldwick, in Yorkshire, has no son to inherit his title. His immense wealth will go to his sole surviving child by his first marriage, a daughter named Ella, who is married to Hon. William Peel, eldest son and heir of Viscount Peel, the former speaker of the House of Commons, and grandson of the great Sir Robert Peel, the leading statesman of the earlier portion of Queen Victoria's reign.

CURIOSITY Prompted Many Women To Try PURITY FLOUR

THEY were curious to see exactly what results would be produced by flour consisting entirely of the high-grade portions of the best Western hard wheat.

They were curious to know more about a flour that contained none of the low-grade portions, which are found in every wheat berry, but which are separated and excluded from the high-grade in the process of milling PURITY FLOUR.

They were curious to know whether an ALL HIGH-GRADE hard wheat flour was really superior to a mixed hard and soft wheat flour.

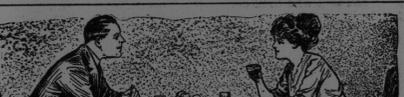

They were curious to see and taste the kind of bread, buns, biscuits, cakes and pies PURITY FLOUR would make.

Curiosity prompts you to seek the knowledge they discovered. It's urging you to try PURITY FLOUR.

REMINDER: On account of the extra strength and extra quality of PURITY FLOUR it is necessary, for best pastry-results, to add more shortening than you are accustomed to use with an ordinary flour. Add more water when making bread.

OVERCOATS THAT WILL LAST

Fabrics and workmanship that will "wear well" are not sufficient for the average man. For of what use is a perfectly good overcoat that is hopelessly out of style. Few extreme styles last more than one season. But there are correct conservative styles that vary little, if at all, from year to year.

Among these are the justly esteemed Chesterfield Overcoat, with velvet collar—as correct this year as ever before. We have these Overcoats in the famous "20th Century" line at $10 and up. Also a line made especially for us, and backed by our usual guarantee, at $9, $12 and up.

PLAN TO BUY FARM FOR THE CAPTAIN OF GENERAL SLOCUM He is 72 Years Old—New York Shipping Men Say He Was Made Scapagoat in Disaster Trial

New York, Nov. 14—Friends of Capt. William H. Van Schaick, commander of the steamer General Slocum, when also burned with a loss of 683 lives, are planning to buy a farm on which the aged man may spend the remainder of his life. The men interested in this are the prominent shipping men of the harbor, many of whom worked long for his release from Sing Sing. It is planned to raise $5,000 by popular subscription and with this sum buy a small farm near Amsterdam, N. Y. Capt. Van Schaick has always been a sailor and now, seventy-two years old, he is unable to follow his calling any longer.

There was no better steamboat master in these waters than Capt. Van Schaick," said Frederick B. Dainell, one of the principal leaders in a movement to provide for the captain in his old age. "He was always a careful man, and when the accident came which ended his career he stood bravely to his post to the last. He was betrayed in his trial and others took advantage of his ignorance of the law. He became the scape-goat. Now, we want to do something to make life easy for him and his faithful wife."

"NO VISIBLE MEANS OF SUPPORT"

A news item says that a census taken by the London County Council revealed that on one particular night there were 5,416 homeless persons in London who had to sleep under a hedge or on the Embankment. The long and complex annals of the poor man who is forced to be a tramp in the streets and to sleep in the open, and of his much more numerous brother who is separated by so narrow a margin from destitution that a month of bad trade, sickness, or unexpected loss brings him face to face with hunger and pauperism, may be traced back to early days before the condition of the English laborer had been continually deteriorated by the acts of government.

The first quarter of the sixteenth century was the golden age for the English laborer, if we are to interpret the wages he earned by the cost of the necessities of life. He passed through no worse period in the downward career than during the forty years from 1782 to 1821, when the manufacturers and merchants accumulated fortunes rapidly, under high protection, and when the rent of agricultural labor was doubled. There is no doubt that the ordinary hardships of life in England were greater and more general four or five centuries ago than they are now.

A Texan congressman proposes legislation providing a prison term and felon's stripes for "trust criminals." That will work more fear into the hearts of those aimed at than will the imposition of any fine.

THE BRIGHTER SIDE

Some one committed a murder last night. But hundreds of thousands were kind. For the wrong that is done is forever in sight. To the good we are fearfully blind. Some one deserted his children today. But millions of fathers are true. The bad deeds are not such a fearful array. Compared to the good that men do. Somebody stole from his brother last night. But millions of honest men live. Some one was killed in a murderous fight. But thousands were glad to forgive. Their brothers the wrongs that were fancied or real. The crimes that we hear of each day. Compared to the good deeds that we could reveal. Make not such a fearful array.

I would answer the men who stand up and declare That the world is much given to vice, That the sum of man's crimes every day, everywhere, Can't compare with man's sweet sacrifice. That for every black soul there are thousands pure white. The sum of the sinners is few. And I hope to see that the world is all right. When I think of the good that men do.

A WONDERFUL CASE

Three Months in Hospital And Came Out Uncured

Zam-Buk Cured Him in Few Weeks

Mr. Fred Mason, the well-known upholsterer and mattress manufacturer of St. Andrews, N. B., says: "I had eczema on my knee, which caused me terrible pain and inconvenience. The sore parts would itch and burn and tingle, and then when rubbed or scratched, would become very painful. When the knee got warm, it burned worse, and the itching and burning and smarting were almost unbearable. I tried various remedies, but got no better, so I decided to go to Montreal and take special treatment. I received treatment at the Montreal General Hospital for thirteen weeks, but at the end of that time I was not cured, and almost gave in. A friend advised me to give Zam-Buk a trial. Almost as soon as applied Zam-Buk stopped the itching and the irritation. I perhaps the intention of kindness, subject to the quarter sessions amendment, when the agricultural laborer was greatly impoverished by being made the residuum of all labor. The laborer was further mulcted by enclosure, and the extinction of those ancestral rights of pasture and soil which he had so long enjoyed. Driven from the country to the cities; displaced to provide room for grouse and deer, he has arrived at his present landless, and often homeless condition, without any visible means of subsistence. Mr. Chester in the Daily News says: "The dawn of medieval civilization found the Englishman a serf; which is a different thing from a slave. He had security; although the man belonged to the land rather than the land to the man. He could not be evicted; his rent could not be raised. In practice it came to something like this; that if the lord down his cabbage he had not much chance of redress; but he had the chance of growing more cabbages. He had direct access to the means of production. Since then the centuries in England have achieved something different; and something which fortunately is perfectly easy to state. There is no doubt about what we have done. We have kept the inequality, but we have destroyed the security. The man is not tied to the land, as in serfdom; nor is the land tied to the man, as in peasantry. The rich man has entered into absolute ownership of farms and fields; and (in the modern industrial phrase) he has locked out the English people. They can only find an acre to dig or a house to sleep in by accepting such competitive and cruel terms as he chooses to impose."

THINK HE IS WORKING GAME

New York Police do Not Put Faith in Murder Confession

Trembling as though stricken with palsy, a well-dressed young man, calling himself Horatio Bertram Moses, pushed his way into Chief Sebastian's office at Los Angeles police headquarters last week and cried: "Send me back to New York. I killed 'Steve' Brooks there and I want to go back. I can't stand it any longer." Calmed by the chief he made a plain statement. It was: "I killed Stephen Brooks on Sept. 10, 1910, because I found him in my wife's company. I had suspected them for a long time, and when I caught them I killed Brooks. Then I fled and have been wandering ever since. I seem to have been haunted by his face and want to go back to New York and face the charge. My father is an art dealer at No. 229 East Fifty-fifth street, New York. You will find that I am wanted by wiring to the New York police."

TWO SERIOUS FIRES

Five families were driven from their homes by a fire in a three-story house in Acadia street, owned by James Gregory, at 12:30 this morning. After about two hours work, the flames were subdued, having damaged the house to the extent of about $500, covered by insurance. The house was occupied by Michael Lavin, Mrs. Alice McFarlane, Bert Wilson, John Pihl and James Creary. Mrs. McFarlane and Mrs. Wilson were overcome by smoke and had to be carried out. In her excitement at seeing the fire Mrs. Henry Tullis, a neighbor fell out of a second story window and received a bad shaking up. A fire of mysterious origin broke out in the Vulcan Iron Works, corner of Broad and Charlotte street last evening and damaged the building to the extent of $500. When an employee of Pender's nail works, who first saw the fire, entered the building he found the night watchman, Edward Slaw, in a dazed condition with his arms and face seriously burned. He was unable to tell how the fire started or how he received his injuries.

REV. MR. LANG ACCEPTS

Will go to Toronto Church—Church Discusses Union, Communion Cups and Choir Gowns

At a large and representative meeting of the congregation of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, last evening, the resignation of Rev. David Lang, M.A., B.D., pastor for the last seven and one-half years, was accepted, the members deciding to place no obstacle in the way of the Presbytery accepting the call to Mr. Lang. The Presbytery will meet on Tuesday next, and Mr. Lang will leave for Toronto to become assistant to Rev. Dr. Wallace in the Bloor street Presbyterian church early in December. At the same meeting the congregation decided to accede to the request of the choir to provide gowns for all members, and also voted to refer the question of individual communion cups to ballot by the congregation.

Church union was discussed, but the ballot will not be taken until the congregation has fully digested the basis of union as prepared by the general committee of the Presbytery, Methodist and Congregational churches in Canada. Judge Forbes, a member of the committee, gave a brief and very interesting summary of the work accomplished by the committee and the arguments in favor of union. Rev. Mr. Lang, as moderator, presided and Mr. Magee was secretary. Rev. Mr. Lang presented his resignation in the form of a letter, in which he dwelt on the importance of the work in Bloor street church, and his reasons for feeling that he was called to undertake it.

Hon. J. G. Forbes moved that no obstacles be placed in the way of his acceptance and after the expression of regret at their loss by several of the congregation, the motion carried. Dr. P. R. Inches, E. R. Reid, D. R. Jack and George Robertson were appointed to wait on the presbytery.

It was decided to accede to the petition of the choir asking that silk gowns and mortar-board caps be provided for the members.

The advantages of individual communion cups were presented by H. H. Macaulay, who moved that they be adopted by the church. The amendment of Robert Magee that the matter be referred until the next annual meeting was carried.

Mr. Lang introduced the subject of church union and asked that a vote be taken at an early date, so that the matter might be settled before the arrival of their new pastor. Judge Forbes spoke at length on the subject, outlining the plans for the union of the denominations and advocating its approval by St. Andrew's church. No action was taken.

Rev. Mr. Goodson, who has been conducting evangelistic services in New Brunswick, was suggested as temporary supply for the pulpit and the matter was left to a committee of the session and trustees.

JAMES CLANCY, FENIAN AND NEWSPAPER MAN, IS DEAD

James Clancy, a well known New York journalist and once an Irish political prisoner, died of pneumonia at his home, No. 127 Union Avenue, Clifton, N. J., last week, after an illness of six days. Mr. Clancy was for twenty-eight years a member of the staff of the New York Herald, and at the time of his death was associate editor of the "Irish-American." He was born in Ireland in 1848, and when young went with his family to London. Mr. Clancy joined the Fenian movement in 1861, associating himself with James J. O'Kelly, now member of parliament for North Roscommon. Joseph I. C. Clarke, another of "The Fighting Race," and Dr. David Bell. In the early sixties Dr. Bell started a weekly newspaper called "The Irish National Liberator." Mr. Clancy became his chief assistant. After spending some time on the staff of the Liberator, Mr. Clancy enlisted in the Royal Engineers, hoping to gain some military experience in this service which would benefit him in the Fenian uprising which he knew was about to take place. In 1867 he resigned from the army and exerted all his influence for the Fenian cause. In 1869 he went to New York, and obtained employment with the Herald. He remained on the staff of the newspaper until 1908, when he became associated with the Gaelic American. Mr. Clancy was always intensely interested in educational work. In 1903 he served as a member of the board of education of New York, and during his journalistic career contributed many educational articles to the Irish-American. He was a member of the Shamrock club of the Clans-Clubs, was chairman of the board of directors of the United Irish-American societies of New York and secretary of the Gaelic-American Publishing Company. He is survived by his wife and one son.

SIR WILFRID CRITICAL AT OPENING SESSION

Ottawa, Nov. 15—The fight for the restoration of the Liberals to power was begun this afternoon. The first day of a new parliament is regarded as an occasion for polite formalities. There was an exception today.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier took advantage of the nomination of Dr. Sproule, head of the Orange order, as speaker, and Mr. Borden, a leader of the Quebec Conservatives and Roman Catholic Nationalists, to criticize the opposition for their adaptability of view, and their demonstration of the fact that the campaign was run for the purpose of gaining power rather than for the defence of a principle.

Evidence was given that this is to be a fighting session however long or short and the Liberals declare that there will be a fight until they are returned to power. Dr. Sproule was nominated by Mr. Borden as a fit and proper person to sit as speaker in judgment over the house.

Sir Wilfrid referred to the fact that although the Conservatives had won their election on the plea of excessive loyalty to British institutions, they were not now maintaining them by continuing in the chair the speaker of previous parliaments, as the British house did without regard to the change of administration. He expressed surprise that Mr. Borden, the champion of the opposition to Orangemen, could stand silently supporting the election of Dr. Sproule.

The reply of Premier Borden was brief and tinged with some brutality. He was not surprised that Sir Wilfrid should feel some dissatisfaction at the situation which confronted him, and if he did not like it he could test the size of the Conservative majority by taking a vote.

THE NEW FIRM WAS LAUNCHED

It took the name of Gourlay, Winter & Leeming. The idea was not to make pianos—not yet. The intention was to sell pianos. Any good piano of any reputable maker would be handled. Customers could have the benefit and advice of the firm to help them in coming to a decision. The different makes of pianos were on the same floor, side by side. They were compared comparatively. Every piano had to meet stiff competition in matters of tone, touch and appearance. And back of this service was the guarantee of Gourlay, Winter & Leeming, in addition to that of the maker.

Yes, they sold pianos. The new firm was a success. The unique service they gave gained sales for them every day. Then things took a turn which at that time looked very much like a misfortune. Dissatisfied in a said firm returned head between the new firm and some of those makers whose pianos they sold.

Things were in this shape when one day Mr. Jno. E. Hoare dropped in. He was a piano builder. He knew a piano as you know the top of your desk, or the top of your sewing table, as the case may be. He announced that he was about to make pianos on his own account—better pianos than had ever been made in Canada. To make a short story shorter, he joined the firm. He knew the greatest piano MANUFACTURERS, as Manufacturing Partner. You will find him down in the new factory doing entry-90, to assist, and the piano

HOW TORONTO PIANO FIRM SET OUT TO OVERCOME A PREJUDICE AND SUCCEEDED

Worked Out an Idea and a Conviction, and the Instrument That Conscientious and Earnest Endeavor Produced Made Good on Its Merits

THE GREAT SUCCESS OF THE GOURLAY PIANO

Looking backward, the success of the firm that is "high priced, but worth the price," seems the most natural thing in the world. The average man, wise in his generation, is apt to say: "Naturally they succeeded. They had knowledge and experience. Why shouldn't they succeed?"

But nine years ago the Gourlay Piano was as it is today, existed only in the mind and imagination of the firm who made it. At that time the equal of Gourlay, Winter & Leeming to equal the world's best was accepted by the trade with certain broad reservations. They sized up the situation like this—"Make a piano equal to the best in the world. Ab, yes. Just so. But it is one thing to sell a picture and quite another to paint it." They admitted the fact that the firm had capabilities as salesmen, but as piano makers—no.

Forty-one years ago Mr. Robt. S. Gourlay had the first touch of competition. He applied for a position as bookkeeper in answer to a "want ad." in a Toronto paper. It speaks well for the virtues of advertising that even in those early days 22 others were gunning for the same position. They were disappointed, however, and Mr. Gourlay made his debut in the piano business.

This was in 1870. The manufacture of pianos in Canada in that time was about as many men and as much capital as the making of any artificial flowers, mosses, or ferns. Their combined efforts resulted in

A Yearly Output. of something over 200 instruments of a quality which we will call "fair" in order to let our honorable forebears down gently as possible. But in those days the manufacture of pianos in Canada meant practically the assembling of imported parts.

A peculiar feature of the piano business in Canada at that time was that an instrument could be purchased in New York for American paper currency called "greenbacks," brought here 15 per cent Canadian duty added, paid for in United States or English gold, and could be sold here for actually less than its cost. This was during the American Civil War, when gold was gold, and "greenbacks" but the name of a Government who had no money.

Mr. Gourlay's father was a Scotman, who had a furniture manufactory in Toronto. He had old-fashioned ideas on the value of practical knowledge, and his son, in conformity therewith, must spend two years "at the bench." He took no note only that furniture was made of oak or walnut and nails and glue, but just exactly how it was made. This training and the working knowledge he gained was invaluable to him when in the fall of '78 he was made master of the firm in which he had joined as a humble bookkeeper.

In '81 the firm received notification from a schoolmaster in Waterloo County that he thought he could sell pianos before, between, and after hours. He was right. The schoolmaster was—he could sell pianos, and what is more, he did it. For some time after this the firm had a regular and profitable agency in Waterloo County. Enter in January, 1882, Mr. F. W. Winter, in the capacity of salesman, which event, while it did not increase the firm's sales, it did increase its reputation. Enter in January, 1882, Mr. F. W. Winter, in the capacity of salesman, which event, while it did not increase the firm's sales, it did increase its reputation.

Some time ago when Mr. Gourlay was speaking at a convention of the National Association of Piano Manufacturers in Detroit, he was afterwards approached by a gentleman, who is president of a prominent piano-making firm in the United States. "That was a good speech, Mr. Gourlay," he said. "It tells a man who can make as good a piano as the Gourlay. You sold one to my brother and I am free to say I never saw or touched a better instrument."

It is for people that appreciate this that the Gourlay is built, those who temper their art sense with business and true economy and select a piano for its tone.

Artistic Value. and stability. A Gourlay piano, if mahogany, is all mahogany; if walnut, all walnut. If something in strength and consistent quality of tone is to be gained by a change of process or material, it is done. The solid tone, trouble, or expense is not considered.

So Mr. Gourlay and his partners were not. They have achieved what they set out to do. There is now a piano made in Canada which is the equal of any in the world, and the Canadian people do appreciate their efforts to build and sell a piano that is high priced, but worth the price.

NEW YORK BAKERIES RAPPED AT COMMISSION

Conditions Declared Filthy and of 145 Inspected, All But Ten Were Closed

New York, N. Y., Nov. 16.—Fifty bakeries, unsanitary public laundries and the fresh air problem in manufacturing plants were matters which were testified to or discussed at yesterday's session of the state factory investigating commission. Commissioner of Accounts Foadick confirmed testimony given as to filthy conditions both as to work in and quarters occupied by bakeries in various sections of the city.

Of 145 bakeries inspected, he said, conditions in 135 were so unsanitary as to cause them to be closed as serious menace to health. Mr. Foadick advocated a law authorizing the board of health by licensing all bakeries, and the appointment of enough inspectors to see that the health and labor laws are not violated.

CONSERVATIVES WIN IN P. E. ISLAND

The Conservative party won both seats in the Prince Edward Island by-elections yesterday, giving them a majority of two in the provincial government over the Liberal party, which has been in power since 1901. In the third district, Dr. De-war defeated Premier Palmer, and in the fourth district, Professor Alexander MacPhail of Queen's University, Kingston, defeated F. J. Nash, editor of the Charlottetown Patriot. J. A. Matheson, leader of the opposition, will be called upon to form a government, but it is not yet known whether he will attempt to carry through the remaining session with a majority of only one apart from the speaker.

ASKED HER DRUGGIST TO GIVE HER SOMETHING.

She Had a Bad Cold, So He Recommended Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

Mrs. James Warren, Edmonton, Alta., writes:—Just a few words in favor of your Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. A short time ago I contracted a bad cold, and tried several remedies, but had no good results. The first dose gave me relief, and I was completely cured of my cough before I had finished one bottle. It is the best cough remedy I have ever tried, and I can recommend it to everyone.

ENTERPRISE OF THE RIGHT SORT

It is elegantly printed, and every article picked out for illustration is intended to make somebody's Christmas happy. It gives an impression of the resources and facilities of the well known jewelry store, and shows at a glance their ability to supply anything that may be wanted in their line. Readers should make it a point to get a copy of this catalogue, which is crowded with singularly appropriate Christmas suggestions.

CANADIAN 'RED CROSS' GIN

AGED IN BOND constitutes a valuable beverage for the upbuilding of the system. The public cannot be too often warned against the raw alcohols that form the base of a large number of the imported spirits. These adulterated mixtures are most injurious to the health on account of the numerous impurities that they contain.

'RED CROSS' GIN is a pure product, from the finest Canadian barley, corn and rye and the best quality of juniper berries. It is made, distilled and aged in bonded warehouses, under Government inspection. It is a liquor that can be highly recommended on account of its purity and valuable diuretic action, a quality that is not possessed by any other alcoholic beverage. Like all other good things, it must be used with discrimination.

Beware of Imported Gin Ask for 'RED CROSS' Gin: each bottle bears the official stamp of the Canadian Government.

ST. PETER'S Y. M. A. Anniversary Celebration Greatly Enjoyed by Large Number

The celebration of the thirteenth anniversary of the St. Peter's Young Men's Association, in their rooms, Douglas avenue, last evening was a pronounced success. It took the form of a reunion smoker, and was greatly enjoyed by a large gathering of members. The society has prospered in the years which have passed, and the members are anticipating another gratifying season during 1911-12. Starting in a small room in the rear of St. Peter's church with but a score of members, the association made rapid and progressive strides, until there are now more than 400 names upon its books, the great majority active and zealous members.

END RIVER SEASON SOON

A Little Earlier Than Last Year—Business Keeps up Well

After having been laid up since Saturday last, the steamer Hampton this morning resumed work on her route, leaving at ten o'clock from Indian town with a large quantity of freight. On going up river on Saturday last the boat met with an accident to her steering gear, and though she was able to reach Hampton safely, it was deemed advisable to let her remain there until the trouble was remedied. This was done, and yesterday afternoon the boat was brought down river, and placed in service again today. It is expected that she will make her last trip on Saturday next.

The closing of the river is looked for at almost any time now, and a still cold night will probably be responsible. Farmers and stevedores men say that the cold spell will probably be more ice than this one this week, because the latter was accompanied by a strong gale. Most of the river boats at present are running on complete courses, but the May Queen on her last trip went only as far as Young's Cove, it being feared if she went the full run to Chipman, there was a possibility of an encroaching ice, but the expectations are that early next week will see the close of traffic.

Expectations are that it will be a little earlier this year than the steamers will be taken off their routes, than was the case last year. On Nov. 19 last year the Victoria made her last trip, the May Queen on the 23rd, the Hampton on the 23rd, the Sincennes on the 29th, and the Champlain and Metacomb on the 28th. The ferry steamer Maggie Miller on the Millidgeville-Baywater route was taken off on December 8. The river was frozen over at Fredericton on December 4.

COMPLAIN OF RATE ON POTATOES FROM THIS CITY TO TORONTO

Vegetable Growers of Ontario Will Send Matter to the Dominion Railway Board

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 16—J. Lockie, W. E. secretary treasurer of the vegetable growers' association at the annual meeting here, called attention to an apparent discrimination in freight rates in favor of the shippers of potatoes from St. John, N. B. to Toronto and against shippers of potatoes from New Lisicard to this city. He said that the New Brunswick rate was twenty-two cents per 100 pounds for 1,000 miles, and the New Lisicard rate twenty-four cents, although the distance is only 334 miles. The association decided to bring the matter to the attention of the Dominion railway board.

MARRIED TODAY AND WILL SAIL AWAY TO SCOTLAND

Miss Lillian Ross Bride of James S. Johnson—Cathedral Wedding

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception this morning at nine o'clock when James Stuart Johnson, of Glasgow, Scotland, was united in marriage to Miss Lillian Ross, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Ross, of Colliedon, who has been spending some time here with her sister, Mrs. E. Flaherty. The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. S. O'Keefe. The bride was charmingly dressed in a grey traveling dress with a white picture hat and carried a white prayer-book. Miss Jennie McAllister, the bridesmaid, wore a pretty blue dress. The groom was supported by Frederick E. Flaherty.

After the wedding the party drove to the home of Mr. Flaherty, 280 1/2 Waterloo street, where a tempting wedding breakfast was enjoyed. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will leave this evening for Montreal to take passage on the steamer Casandra, which will sail on Saturday for Glasgow, where they will spend the winter. They may return to St. John in the spring.

The groom has been for some time chauffeur for W. B. Tennant, and this morning was the recipient of handsome presents from the employees of the J. A. Pugsley garage. Both the bride and groom received many handsome presents.

TO BE MARRIED THIS EVENING

The wedding of Miss Sadie C. Lacey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Lacey of Charlton, N. B., and Frank P. Smith, son of Thomas Smith, of this city, will take place this evening at the home of the groom, 75 Celebration street, at eight o'clock. The ceremony will be performed by Rev. Gordon Dickie. The bride will be given away by her father. She will wear a dress of white mull and will carry a bouquet of carnations and orange blossoms. SCHOONER ELMA IN TROUBLE

The schooner Elma, Captain Hunter, went on Hilyard's reef this morning about ten o'clock. The schooner had been loaded with a cargo on board. At ten o'clock she was taken in tow by the tug Waring. While being shifted she drifted on to the rocks. The schooner had a bad list and was lying in a very dangerous position for a while. She righted somewhat, however, and it is expected that she will float off sometime during the afternoon. It is not known to what extent she is damaged but the loss will be ascertained just as soon as the boat gets clear. A. W. Adams is agent.

Glenwood Ranges for Coal, Wood and Gas

Those that are going to purchase a new range this fall should make it a point to see the GLENWOOD before making their selection. When you purchase a GLENWOOD you have a range that is perfect in every detail—a range that is giving perfect satisfaction to over 2,700 householders in St. John. The GLENWOOD INDICA-TOR on the oven door tells the exact heat that is required for anything you desire to cook. A few special GLENWOOD features worthy of mention are—the removable nickel, which is held on by a patented spring, the sectional top which prevents warping, the easy way of removing the grates from beneath the linings, the convenient clean-out for the oven at the rear of the range and the deep ash pit which the GLENWOODS have constitutes the satisfaction that they are giving.

The GLENWOOD comes in four patterns and fifteen different styles all of which we will be pleased to show you. Write or call for our 1911 Glenwood Catalogue.

Buying Clothing at Oak Hall IS AN ADVANTAGE TO ANY MAN

If It's a Question of Price—no store in the city can give you as much for your money. In buying at Oak Hall you buy directly of the makers and you SAVE the middleman's profit. You get the same or a better grade of merchandise for one-quarter to one-third less than other stores charge.

If It's a Question of Quality—you will get better linings, and better trimmings in Oak Hall Clothes than you get in Clothes of any other make.

If It's a Question of Variety—you'll find more new styles, new fabrics, new patterns and new colors to choose from at Oak Hall than at any other store in Saint John.

We could go on and write columns about the superiority of Oak Hall Clothes, but nothing we could say can offer such a convincing argument in their favor as will a personal examination of the Clothes themselves. See them, take hold of them, try them on. Look them over carefully, inside and out, and you'll realize that you've never got the most for your money if you've never bought Oak Hall Clothes.

Those Rough Finish Hats

We were the first in town to show the comfortable, rough finish hats for Fall and Winter wear—but that was the last of August, and they have been in great demand ever since. Consequently, nearly every week we have been showing something new in them, and just last week the best things yet arrived, both for shapes and colors.

If you have never worn a soft hat, now is a good time to try one. Come in anyway and see the new things in Greys and Browns.
