PRINCE AT WEDDING.

London, Nov. 30.—The Prince of Wales was present at the wedding, at St. Mark's Church, Mayfair, of Lady Joan Muhlolland, lady-in-waiting to Princess Mary, and General the Earl of Carnarvon, chief of the imperial general staff. The Prince, who is still limping after his recent hunting accident, was cheered by a crowd and bowed acknowledgment with his usual happy smiles. The church was packed with a fashionable gathering.

SEEK ON OCEAN BED CAUSE OF EARTHQUAKES

U. S. Navy Department and Carnegie Institution Join in Use of a New Depth Finder.

Washington, Nov. 29.—The Carnegie Institution of Washington and the Hydrographic Office of the Navy have joined hands in an effort to discover the cause of earthquakes on the California coast by means of a sonic depth finder.

Two American destroyers—the Hull and the Corry—have been equipped with this novel apparatus at San Francisco from which part they are about to start on voyages during which they will make about 7,000 miles of continuous soundings between San Francisco and Point Descenzo on the Mexican coast. They will make a complete map of the ocean floor along the California and Mexican coasts, and it is believed by scientists in Washington that this new survey of the sea bottom, which can be made almost automatically by the newly perfected sonic finder, may reveal the cause and effect of seismic disturbances along the West coast.

The Carnegie Institution and the Navy Department will work in close co-operation on this research expedition. The former has arranged for two of its foremost geological experts to represent the institution on the two destroyers, having detailed Professor Bailey Willis, geologist of Stanford University, and Professor Andrew Cooper Lawson of the University of California, for that duty. Both are authorities in geology and seismology.

The Corry is commanded by Lieut. Commander B. H. Bierd and the Hull by Lieut. Commander S. F. Hein, both of whom have received special instructions in the use of the new depth sounding device, so that they are well qualified to conduct the tests.

To map the ocean bed. The soundings will be run on parallel lines approximately at right angles to the 2,000-fathom curve at intervals of five to ten miles, extending from as near the shore line as possible to the deeper floor of the Pacific. After obtaining these soundings—and this can be done easily and rather quickly by the new apparatus—a map of the continental shelf from the shore line to the floor of the Pacific will be developed.

The new sonic measurer of ocean depths is the invention principally of Harry C. Hays, physicist of the United States naval engineering experimental station at Annapolis, who made recently a cruise aboard the destroyer Stewart from Newport to Gibraltar during which the device had its first practical application. On that voyage the instrument gave immediate measurements of depths of water across the Atlantic, and as the deepest hole found in the Atlantic on the cruise of the Stewart was 19,200 feet, there is practically no limit to the depths that can be found. The device measures ocean depths by automatic registration of the time it takes for sound to travel from the bottom of the naval vessel to the floor of the sea and return.

Professor Lawson and Willis have for several years been studying the cause of earthquakes. The Carnegie Institution became interested in the matter because of the fact that the sonic depth finder when the results of its first practical test by the destroyer Stewart were announced. The navy decided to co-operate with the institution in the scientific research in the question of seismic causes. Scientists identified with the Carnegie Institution believe that the successive and severe earthquakes that have assailed so much of the American hemisphere have their origin in the supposed receding movement of the contiguous coast of California, and that the measurement of ocean depths will reveal that the same is true of earthquakes that have recently occurred along the Chilean coast.

May examine the Chilean Coast. It is probable that after the survey along the Mexican and California coasts has been completed naval destroyers will be sent to the Chilean coast to measure the depth of the ocean floor there and ascertain to what extent there has been a shifting of the continental shelf in connection with the recent Chilean earthquakes.

The Hull and Corry are attached to the Pacific fleet. They were diverted from their regular work and sent to the Mare Island Navy Yard for installation of the new sonic device. It cost the navy about $18,000 to install the apparatus in each of the destroyers.

Two methods of obtaining soundings will be used—one for depths up to 640 feet and the other for greater depths. The first is known as the angle method. It uses the ship's propellers as a sound device, and the echo is received in a compass from the sound receiver. The depths scale is graduated by obtaining several points on a curve when the set is calibrated. After calibration the depths may be read directly from the scale.

The second, or deep sea method, uses the speed of sound in water as a means of measuring the depths. An impulse is sent out on the oscillator. The elapsed time between the sending and receiving of the oscillation is recorded automatically when the echo completes the electrical circuit. The apparatus to be used will be a standard navy sound receiver, a submarine signal company's Fessenden type of sound oscillator for transmitting sound signals and the navy sonic depth finder.

With the old method of dropping the lead it would take about three hours to and the result is equally accurate. I get a single sounding at the depth of 3,200 fathoms, which was the deepest found by the Stewart on its cruise to Gibraltar. The new method takes about four minutes to measure such a depth, not more.

From Gibraltar the destroyer Stewart proceeded through the Mediter-

The new method takes about four minutes to measure such a depth, not more.

From Gibraltar the destroyer Stewart proceeded through the Mediter-

ranon to Chefoo, China, and used the sonic finder in both deep and shallow water all the way. On this cruise to Chefoo the device was put through a most thorough service test and the results were reported by radio to Washington for comparison with hydrographic charts on which depths had been charted by the old method had been based.

Worked Without Error.

These radio reports showed that during the whole of the cruise from Newport to Gibraltar the apparatus on the Stewart worked with no apparent error. The machine obtained rapid and correct soundings at ease. During the nine days that it took the Stewart to go from Newport to Gibraltar more than 600 soundings were taken at intervals varying from two to twenty minutes.

The Stewart's movements, while steadily steaming at fifteen knots an hour, were not interfered with except for two-hour intervals. During this interval it was proved that successful sea soundings could be taken at intervals of one minute in the deepest water.

Naval experts believe the outline of the depths along the trade routes of the world is being mapped by the ship's position. The exploration of the whole sea floor is possible by the use of this new device, which bids fair, in the opinion of hydrographic experts, to revolutionize ocean piloting and navigation.

FLUNDER SQUADS FORMED TO TRAP BERLIN LOOTERS

Robber Bands Begin Their Winter Raids in Many Sections of Germany.

Berlin, Nov. 30.—(By The Associated Press) The first pinch of winter weather, with its attendant suffering among the poorer classes, has given number of sections of Germany, and the Berlin police are making special preparations to head off similar disorders here.

"Flunder squads" being organized, their sole duty being to squish attempts to loot shops. It has been arranged that, upon the outbreak of any looting, the suffering tradesmen or any citizen witnessing the outrage shall merely lift the receiver of the nearest telephone and shout the word "flundering," whereupon he will be given immediate connection with the nearest squad captain.

Motor patrols also have been instituted in the business sections.

BOOTLEGGING BECOMES A FINE ART IN NORWAY

Christians, Nov. 30.—As dryness increases, so in equal ratio does bootlegging. It obtains in the United States, and so, it appears, it does in Norway. Thus in Norway the same phenomenon is observed, to such a point that actually in this prohibitionist country wines and spirits are only one-fifth as expensive as in Denmark, where they enter free, but where the fiscal taxes cause the prices to be higher than in any other country.

MORNING NEWS OVER THE WIRES At a meeting held recently in Grand Falls, the question of government loans to the farmers was discussed. T. W. Caldwell, M. P., promised to bring the matter to the attention of the Provincial Government and has taken it up with Premier Foster. He will attend the next meeting of the government to advance his idea.

Premier Foster last night said that Canada had taken no part in the Louisiana conference and would take no part. He had wired to Hon. P. Larkin, Canadian High Commissioner in London, who was reported as having been called into conference to discuss some of the political problems presented by the Turkish Nationalists. Mr. Larkin had said that he really had discussed with members of the British government the steps necessary to protect Canadian trade in the Near East.

It was decided at a meeting of the Ontario Cabinet on Tuesday that the province was not satisfied with and would not accept as final the offer of the Federal Government in regard to its natural resources. The Ontario Government takes the stand that Alberta is entitled to compensation for the 600,000 acres taken before the formation of the province for federal purposes.

President William Sherman of District No. 18, United Mine Workers of America, yesterday said that about 1,100 miners of the Edmonstone district would strike on December 1 for a wage and working agreement similar to that of District 18 and for recognition of the union, which were refused by the operators in this district.

REVIVAL OF "RAG" RUGS ADDS TO FAMILY INCOME Farm Women Take Special Interest in Manufacturing of Floor Covering.

With the return to vogue of the rag rug and "crazy" quilt, farm women in many sections of the U. S. have found another means of adding to the family income. Thus the art of making these rugs and quilts, started in the rural sections in Colonial days, returns again to the farm.

It is reported that the women and girls themselves started the rejuvenation of the art and now extension agents are spreading and encouraging it. In Arkansas and Mississippi especially the farm women have taken up rug making. A woman near Little Rock has been devoting her spare time to making pulled or hooked rugs, in designs and counterpane patterns, using flowers and forest leaves for her models, and is finding a ready market at good prices for her output.

In another part of the same state another woman, using a wooden loom brought from England many years ago, not only is making rug but weaving beautiful woolen coverlets of unusual design.

In addition, many of the popular rag rugs are being made, including the braided and crocheted types. Crazy quilts and counterpane patterns, work also are being revived. The women, however, are not confining their efforts toward the manufacture of the articles, but are teaching their neighbors and have even organized classes for the renewal of the pioneer art.

CANADIAN SCENERY (Toronto Globe)

Controversy over the merits of Ontario scenery, provoked by Prof. McLaughlin's recent address, is a reminder that in beauty, as in food, it might be said: "What is one man's meat is another man's poison." The learned scientist who has started the trouble is an admirer of mountains, and few will gainsay their beauty and overpowering beauty. Some are satisfied with scenery more quiet, like vistas under arching elms, as in Prof. McLaughlin's native Thames Valley in western Ontario. Others are rested and inspired by an early morning glimpse of Lake Ontario from Scarborough's Heights, or the Rouge Valley near Markham, the Blue Mountains near Collingwood, or the Dundas Valley near Hamilton.

The Laurentians, as seen from a score of points between Ottawa and Riviere du Loup, would gratify the most exacting scenery tourist.

The scenic top-notchers of Canada would make an imposing list, but it is worth a moment's tarry to consider the boasts of some of the cities. From Citadel Hill and from Point Pleasant Park there are memorable views of Halifax Harbor, wherein shipping is the attraction, to and from the Atlantic. Fredericton's pride is in the pastoral beauty of the St. John River, winding between elm-lined banks. If the Matapedia Valley were near a city it is easy to imagine how it would be crowded, until the wary salmon were no more. The Dufferin Terrace at Quebec is one of the world's greatest promenades, overlooking the St. Lawrence and the Laurentians, today bathed in sunshine and shadow, tomorrow obscured by clouds or rain. Mount Royal at Montreal divides interest between the ship-docked river, and the shadowy lines of mountains north and south. Ottawa has a similar commanding view of the Laurentians, beautiful at all seasons, and he who is not moved by a March sunset there has lost all the poetry from his scene.

Of Ontario cities little need be said there. The beauty is of a quieter order, but it is there for those who do not require the strong medicine of mountain scenery to stir them. The prairies have a majesty of their own, and a British Columbia is built on great lines which would impress the most materially minded.

The trouble with our scenery is largely that it has not yet been sufficiently advertised. When the country is older and we have had a succession of Scots, Burnses, Wordsworths, Byrons, Tennysons, Merediths and a host of others to weave a literature around it, no one will dare discount its merits.

There is plenty of beauty here, much of it surpassing world-famous bits in the old world, but it has not yet been made precious for the generations of all ages by the magic touch of literature or the association of historic events. That day is coming.

A POLITICAL CONTRAST (Ontario Globe)

The United States Constitution was framed in the days when most people traveled on horseback over bush trails or ordinary roads. The "fathers" therefore, decreed that a new congress should not be obliged to meet until months after the election, so that the members-elect would have plenty of time in which to reach the Capital from the remotest parts of the Union, even if it expanded beyond the original thirteen States.

The Constitution is still on a horse-traction basis in an age of steam and electricity. A new Congress was elected on November 8th, 1922, but it will not meet until December, 1923, unless the president chooses to call it together next year before the regular December session. But the old Congress embracing scores of members beaten last week at the polls, will meet in special session almost immediately to act on a Ship Subsidy Bill which it

MONCTON SETS EXAMPLE

Why should the City of Moncton be able to get profitable results from the operation of the federal and provincial housing act and St. John be unable to do so? St. John certainly needs more houses, and the housing act that helped Moncton should not be less effective here.

With regard to the housing scheme, in 1919 the first appropriation was made to the provincial government for the different corporations to provide homes for those who might not otherwise be home owners. It was certain that over fifty per cent of the owners of the 103 houses built in Moncton under the scheme would not have had homes of their own outside of that help.

Even in the Philippine Islands, which only within comparatively recent years came under the direct influence of civilization, public health nursing is coming into vogue. Miss Fitzgerald, adviser in nursing to the governor of the islands, writes to the League of Red Cross Societies: "I have been able to establish the first course in public health nursing in the Philippine Islands, and we start next Tuesday with twenty-nine graduate nurses."

The late Mr. John P. MacIntyre will be remembered by many persons in this city as one who gave help when help was needed. He did it in the most unostentatious manner which characterized him in all things, and he shunned publicity. The sum of his beneficence over a long period of years would reveal him to his fellows as a truly good and generous man.

As if in reply to Mr. E. M. Macdonald's assertion that the C. N. R. is not left with houses on its hands, Sir Henry Thomson, the new head of the C. N. R., says: "The headquarters of the Canadian National Railways will be in the place from which the national lines can be most economically and most efficiently operated."

A SORRY SPECTACLE. The Labor Party in England did not cover itself with glory when it went to the House of Commons. Mr. Jack Jones, who on Tuesday described the members of the House, excepting possibly the Labor members, as "a lot of dirty dogs." Such language has no place in the mouths of parliamentarians, and the man who uses it without provocation is worthy of contempt.

Montreal Gazette.—There is a good deal of co-operation yet to be made of the several units constituting the National Railways, and scope for economy may be found in abolishing overlapping staffs. Much of Sir Henry Thomson's success will depend upon his conception of his duties and responsibilities, and the front he opposes against political interference. He has the choice of being master of the situation, or the mere administrator of a policy fashioned by politicians for partisan purposes.

La Patrie.—"The latest report on the receipts of Poppy Day show that a sum of upwards of $31,000 was raised in a short time the sum of $350,000 was raised. The workers who showed such intelligence and devotion will no doubt consider they are completely recompensed. What a large amount of good they will be able to do for our heroes who are in need. It is likewise opportune to congratulate our English fellow citizens on the success of the campaign in support of their federated charities. In sales of $1,000,000 they have given proof of an admirable spirit of solidarity and a profound attachment to their philanthropic and benevolent institutions. The people of Montreal do their duty nobly and well every time a deserving appeal is made to their generosity."

Unusual System of Rosenblum Store Largely Responsible for Success. Makes No Delivery—Customer's Second Call Gives the Credit Department a Chance to Check Up.

SIX RULES FOR DOING $1,000,000 CREDIT A YEAR. The Rosenblum store in Cleveland has built up a deferred payment business running more than $1,000,000 a year by: 1. Buying for cash, and so maintaining turnover.

There is nothing very unusual about selling clothes on the dividend payment plan; but when a single store builds up a trade of this character, which runs over $1,000,000 a year there are a number of points which are credit creating of vital interest.

One of the most important features of the policy and routine upon which the business is based is the fact that the store makes no deliveries. It is a "cash and carry" proposition at Rosenblum's.

There is, of course, an obvious advantage in the no-delivery policy, that of getting out a very distinct burden of expense from the overhead. But this is by no means the principal advantage of the system, which is this: It is a great deal easier to deal with credit customers when they are not in the store, whereas if the terms of the contract had to be changed, larger deposits demanded, or further questions asked, it would be decidedly more difficult and laborious proposition to handle the situation by telephone, mail or by the calls of store representatives.

With the customer calling for her own goods (the store does 75 per cent of its business with women), a tactful presentation of the Chinese civilization, followed by a talk with the credit representative, rarely produces a sale. The Chinese civil-ization is not allowed to worry about the terms until after the selection has been made.

At the completion of the selection the clerk accompanies the customer to the office, where she is allowed, within a reasonable time, to return to the store, and subject to the tactful suggestion of the credit man, to arrange her own terms, all of which, together with the pattern, she takes home with her.

THE PEACE OF CATHAY. In his "Problem of China" Mr. Bertrand Russell finds the Chinese civilization to be a really superior one to our own, and he is not the first European to do that. Dr. Johnson, who was a student of the habits of the Chinese, was of the opinion that the Chinese in his day, when every Chinaman was supposed to be a philosopher, raised a little above the level of the West.

CONCERT IN ZION CHURCH. A very enjoyable concert was held in the Sunday school room of Zion Methodist church last night. Mrs. Thora Hamble presided. The attendance was large and an interesting program was carried out, which included singing, piano solo, and recitation.

HE WILL REMEMBER. The members of the Society for the Protection of Animals of Salvador have an interesting sense of humor. Recently a citizen of this Central American republic was denounced to the court for ill-treating his horse which he loaded excessively and feebly, while exacting crushing work from it.

Guard Against Fire. La Presse: "There is a natural tendency to think that a misfortune which hits our neighbor cannot happen to ourselves. Nevertheless, experience has demonstrated over and over again that it is dangerous to joll ourselves into a false sense of security and then neglect to take prudent precautions against the possibility of fire. Prudent precaution should be everybody's constant care, and that if we do not wholly escape ill-fortune, we may at least be able to attribute the effects, which are always not suggested by what has just happened at St. Boniface College. If anything was lacking there it does not seem to be the interior organization, but rather in the absence of sufficient help. What we say now is inspired by the thought of the numerous big fires that have caused such disaster during the present year."

JUDGE PEOPLE BY THEIR MINDS. A great many hearties would be averted if we remembered that many persons whose age advertises them to be old, are in reality young. FIFTEEN MINUTES OF RADIO EACH DAY

By Edward N. Davis Formerly Technical Electrical Expert For U. S. Government

Lesson No. 166. POINTS TO REMEMBER.

REMEMBER THAT:

Armstrong advises that amateurs become not over enthusiastic over his new super-regenerative circuit and scrap their old equipment in order to install the new system.

Radio-telephone stations broadcasting on a wavelength of 360 meters can often be tuned in on wavelengths around 180 meters and stations on 1,450 meters can often be tuned in a little above the 360 meter stations.

Good results can be obtained with properly utilized crystal detector receiving sets. It was not unusual for amateurs in New York to hear the Naval Station in Colon, Panama, on crystal detectors on winter evenings in the days before the vacuum tube came into general use.

Best receiving is usually accomplished on a clear cold night in the winter time, when there is no static and distant stations may be heard louder than at any other time of the year.

Miniature radio receiving sets are little more than novelties and usually lack many of the important features of a good receiving set.

The Federal Law requires that the operators of all radio transmitting stations be properly licensed and a license must also be secured for the radio station itself.

Amateur station licenses are issued only to citizens of the United States, but operators' licenses are issued to anyone who passes the required examination which consists of a ten word code test and a written examination covering the operation of the transmitter and receiver and a knowledge of the radio laws and regulations.

Any transmitting station which is capable of transmitting messages beyond the jurisdiction of the state in which it is located or which is capable of causing interference with the reception of messages from beyond the jurisdiction of the state is required by the Federal Law to be licensed.

Operators of receiving stations are subject to a fine of $200, or imprisonment for three months, or both for the disclosure of the contents of any messages to other than the person for whom the message is intended.

Lesson No. 166. REGENERATION WITH ELECTROSTATIC COUPLING.

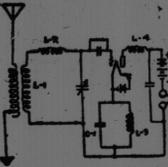

The popular idea of a regenerative receiver is an audio tube receiver with a tickler coil to couple to the grid circuit or two variometers to tune the plate and grid circuits.

In the diagram "L1" is the coupling coil of the secondary circuit by which the energy is transferred from the primary or antenna circuit, "L2" being another portion of the secondary circuit and may be a variometer also.

The telephone and the plate battery are shunted by a fixed condenser to pass the radio-frequency current. "C1" indicates a fixed condenser common to both the plate and grid circuits inserted in the common filament lead constituting the feed back condenser.

The radio-frequency current is shunted by an iron core inductance coil having a very high value of inductance. The purpose of this coil is to complete the plate circuit for the continuous or direct current flowing into this circuit, at the same time not allowing the radio-frequency energy to pass.

The radio-frequency currents find a path of low impedance through the condenser "C1."

When a positive charge is on the grid there is an increase in the plate current and the alternating component of the plate current charges the condenser "C1." The condenser "C1" discharges through the grid circuit reinforcing the oscillations in that circuit.

The condenser "C1" discharges through the grid circuit reinforcing the oscillations in that circuit.

The circuit herein described is excellent for the reception of the longer wave lengths, that is, the lower frequencies. The ordinary regenerative receiver employing two variometers and dependent upon the capacity of the tube to secure regeneration works very efficiently on the shorter waves, and in order to secure best results the secondary shunt condenser must be of small value.

Applications of the circuit shown have been extensively made in certain types of navy tuners which employ condenser feed back systems in the form of beam oscillators. It is noted, however, that the tuners which have this feature are designed principally for long wave work and will not oscillate on the shorter waves.

WOMEN'S COUNCIL
ROSEBUD DAY

The Local Council of Women yesterday made plans for Rosebud Day, the annual tag day in support of the Children's Aid Home, at a meeting in the Board of Trade rooms with the president, Mrs. E. Atherton Smith, in the chair. Mrs. Smith made a few opening remarks. Miss H. T. Melick-John spoke regarding the new health centre.

Mrs. G. Wilford Campbell was appointed secretary for the meeting. Mrs. H. B. Peck announced that the recurring secretary, Mrs. G. C. Poole, had undertaken to carry on her duties if no extra work was asked of her. An announcement was received with pleasure. Miss Grace W. Leavitt reported the balance of the Leavitt fund of the recreation centre had been used to buy thirty pounds of grapes for the soldier patients. Thanks were extended Mrs. Leavitt and to A. E. Goodwin, who had given a generous gift of grapes.

Miss Evelyn Peters, sister of Miss Mabel Peters, founder of the playground movement throughout Canada, was present and honorary membership in the council was conferred upon her. St. Vincent's Alumnae sent a list of delegates. Miss Bertha Brittain sent thanks for the letter sent to her mother on her nineteenth birthday.

H. Usher Miller, of the Social Service Council of the Church of England in New Brunswick, endorsed the efforts of the Women's Council in its effort to have two women put on the board of the Municipal Home.

The letter of former Mayor McLellan granting the Rosebud Tag Day was extended Mr. McLellan for the permission and his gift of $25 as the first contribution towards the tag day.

Mrs. Smith referred with much feeling to the recent bereavement of Mrs. A. W. Estey. A resolution of sympathy was extended to Mrs. Estey. The request of V. C. Thimberley, that the council's tag day banks be loaned for the Boy Scouts' tag day was granted and good wishes extended to the scout.

Speaking of a recent interview with Rev. J. V. Young regarding women on the board of the Municipal Home, Mrs. Smith said the council's objective had always been to have women on the boards of all institutions where children and children are cared for. Mrs. Carleton Lee had already been appointed as one of the council's nominees as a woman member of the board of the Municipal Home. She suggested the Catholic nominee should be appointed by the members of the Catholic Church and the Catholic Women's League representative, Miss J. Lynch, undertook to send in a name list.

Miss H. T. Melick-John, director of public health nursing service, spoke on behalf of support of the new health centre, whose chief object, she said, had been to train public health nurses and nursing attendants as well as giving accommodation for voluntary health organizations and the clinics, where school children could have defects corrected after school medical inspection had detected them. She stressed the importance of health, especially in St. John's, "Canada's front door." The health centre had been rented for five years at $1,500 a year. No government or city grant was received, but the organizations and individuals which had rooms in the building paid rent.

Miss Melick-John was heartily thanked for her address and, on being asked, expressed her willingness to appear again and address the Council. Mrs. Harold Lawrence, as convenor for immigration, asked to speak on immigration at a later meeting. She read a letter from Miss C. Whitten, who is the secretary of the Minister of Immigration, and Mrs. Smith told of Miss Whitten's splendid record in social service work. Although only about twenty-two years of age she had been appointed as the first woman private secretary to a federal minister.

Miss Alice E. Estey, as treasurer, reported $54.98 in the general fund and some contributions to the milk fund. Tag Day Plans. The preparations for the Rosebud tag day in aid of the Children's Aid Home were to be arranged and Mrs. W. B. Tennant as a member of the board, spoke of the work of the Home. There are now twenty-three children in the home. In the year eight had been sent to foster homes and thirteen to other institutions. Eleven were committed to the Home as wards. Eleven were attending school and fifteen attended Knox church. The per capita cost had been reduced from $1.28 in 1920 to 96 cents in 1921 and was now 84 cents. The city grant of $5,000 and the tag day was relied upon to add at least $2,000. This institution which cared for homeless and neglected children was a most appealing object.

Plans for Rosebud Day were then carried on and the conveners were appointed. Mrs. Richard Hooper, as convenor for tags, said 15,000 had been purchased. She called for volunteers to string tags and the following offered: Mrs. G. Wilford Campbell, Mrs. H. B. Robertson, Mrs. Flaherty, Mrs. James

WILL CHANGE
TOMORROW

Alterations due to change in Road Rule—Slight Interruption on the Haymarket Route.

The cars of the New Brunswick Power Company have practically all been renumbered to conform to the change in the rule of the road going into effect tomorrow and those which have not already been changed will have work on them completed tonight by a large staff, according to an official of the company. It is expected that thirty cars will be ready for their new routes tomorrow. The motorcars have been renumbered in the utmost caution. In order to avoid misunderstandings and to where cars, white bands have been painted on the poles.

The cars will stop at heretofore on the near side of street intersections in the Haymarket Square area, and the only change being that the passenger will enter or leave the car on the opposite side from what has been accustomed to in the past.

The only changes in routing of the cars will be as follows: King street cars will operate as at present to the corner of Britain and Wentworth streets, thence via Wentworth street, James and St. James to Prince William street.

Prince William street cars will operate via Prince William and Britain streets to Wentworth and through Wentworth street as at present. Haymarket Square cars, going up King street, will be routed along the north side of King Square, down Edward street, up City Road to Stanley street, thence via Stanley and Water streets to Paradise Row.

Haymarket Square cars going down King street will be routed as at present to Wall street, thence via Wall street to City Road, Prince Edward street and Union to Charlotte street.

West St. John cars will be routed along the north side of King Square, Sydney street, up Union and Charlotte streets to the head of King street. While the city water department is effecting repairs to the Haymarket street company will be unable to run its Haymarket Square cars over the whole circuit but resuming the schedule from the head of King street, and from the corner of Main and Mill streets. Passengers of course, use any of the main line cars through the centre of town, transferring at either of the main junction points.

BIRDS DRIVEN TO SEA
TAKE REFUGE ON LINER
Several Thousand Board Ship While 400 Miles Off Atlantic Coast.

London, Nov. 29.—(By Mail).—When the Cunard liner Scythia, on a recent trip from New York, was about 400 miles from the American coast, with a strong easterly wind blowing, several thousands of birds took refuge on the vessel, reports The Westminster Gazette. They included wild canaries, redwings, thrushes, starlings, snipe, plovers, juncos, three owls and carrier pigeons.

It is presumed that the birds were blown to sea during their migration from North to South America. One of the owls was of a particularly ferocious type, with a sick-like face and two horns. The owls and pigeons were captured. A number of the smaller birds died from exhaustion. Many of the birds found their way to the engine room, where they flew out. The birds were seen at some of the ship's garden lounges, with their growing trees and shrubs. A number were still flying about the deck at Liverpool and had become so tame that they were feeding from the passengers' hands.

BOSS LEAVES GLASS EYE TO KEEP GANG AT WORK
Ruse Used to Make Natives Stick to Job in East Africa.

Berlin, Nov. 29.—(By Mail).—East African reputation and ingenuity are amusingly illustrated in an incident related by the German colonel, Dr. E. Nigemann, who is in charge of colonial administration in that part of the world. One of his native rickshaw boys, says, was a native lieutenant colonel, who had lost an eye during one of the local expeditions, and wore a glass eye in its place. The lieutenant was assigned to superintend the erection of a post-office in a rural district. The inhabitants had long been delinquent in tax payments, and consequently each male adult was required to meet his civic obligations by putting in a week's labor on the new government building.

ARAB TRIBES
PALESTINE

London, Nov. 29.—(Associated Press, by Mail).—Very serious trouble is brewing in Palestine, according to the "News of the World," which states that General Tudor and other officials on the spot regard the future with "grave apprehension."

The Arabs on the border and in Palestine itself, the paper says, may at any time attack the Jewish immigrants whom they regard with "deep-rooted hostility." The government's authority is being openly flouted by what is known as the "Moslem Christian Association."

A manifesto has been issued calling upon the population to disobey the instructions issued for the taking of the census, and the association has decided to invade the aid of Kemal Pasha, the Turkish Nationalist leader.

"Our position," continues the "News of the World," "is amazing. In effect, without any advantage to ourselves, and under a mandate from the League of Nations, we are holding Palestine at a cost of many millions a year for the benefit of Jewish immigrants, and thus incurring the hostility of the Arabs."

"We may soon find ourselves faced in Palestine with a situation similar to that in Turkey. We shall either have to fight or give way. The question is, what would we gain by fighting?"

"The problem is not an easy one," the paper adds. "Owing to the action of Great Britain, America and France, thousands of Jews have gone to settle in Palestine. It would be interesting to know how much a head per annum each Jewish immigrant is costing Great Britain."

The scheme for the settlement of the East has broken down, in a great measure, owing to the neglect of the United States to back up the treaty which she took so great a part in preparing. But whatever may be the cause, now is the time for peaceful action and for the definition of a policy."

PILOTLESS PLANE SUCCEEDS.
French Aviators Test New Wireless Control in Heavy Fog.

Paris, Nov. 29.—In a fog so thick that the machine often was lost to sight of the controllers, French aviators carried out a successful experiment in wireless control of airplanes.

During an hour the plane—a 500-horsepower Voisin biplane loaned by the Government—was made to describe all difficult evolutions in the fog and finally was brought safely to the ground some ten metres from the control station.

Despite the recent feat of American aviators, the result of the experiment, because of the difficulties under which it was carried out is considered a triumph for French aviation. Officially declare it a conclusive test of the perfection of the application of wireless control of airplanes of pilotless planes in mail and freight service within the next few years.

SUPPOSED CORPSE REVIVES
AS LIGHTNING HITS HOME
Frightened Family Returns to be Greeted by a Voice From Coffin.

Paris, Nov. 29.—In the Jugo-Slav city of Agron a prominent landowner, Mr. Lank, died, and was supposed to have died, and his family and friends were watching over his corpse when a tremendous storm came on. The thunder rumbled, the wind raged and suddenly the lightning struck the house. The relatives fled in all directions.

When they returned home they hesitatingly opened the door.

"Well, where have you been?" the deceased asked in a surprised voice.

"Why have you left me alone?"

"The members of the family rubbed their eyes. Was it a dream, an illusion? No, it was a reality. The electrical disturbance had been so strong that it had given back to the body, which was only in a cataleptic state, its heat and flexibility.

At least this is the story that appears in the Agron newspapers.

THIS LAXATIVE WORKS
FINE ON OLD PEOPLE

Thousands have kept themselves healthy with Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin. Advancing age with its attendant ailments and strivings could be made very happy if only good health accompanied it, and health, as everyone learns upon reaching the age of 60, is the regular daily movement of the bowels. If it can be effected through the food you eat, the water you drink and the exercise you take, so much the better. But if nature will not operate it must be assisted or sickness will follow. Neglected constipation causes the blood pressure to go up 25 per cent, and this is the forerunner of hardening of the arteries. It makes rheumatism and gout worse, too.

The ideal constipation remedy for people of advancing years is Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin, a vegetable compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with pleasant-tasting aromatics. It is gentle and mild, and does not cramp or grip; it is a mistake to think you need a violent salt or powder or pill, calomel, coal-tar drugs and such things. They purge and weaken you, and their reaction tends to make you more constipated than before.

New try the milder method. Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin does not lose its good effect with repeated use, and increased doses are unnecessary. Mrs. Ellen Laird of Pictou, N. S., who is 87, keeps herself in good health with it, and Mr. Chas. N. Nicholas of Winnipeg, Man., finds it both helpful and beneficial, and everything that can be desired from a laxative standpoint.

Use Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin yourself the next time you suffer from constipation, biliousness, headache, sleeplessness, indigestion, piles or night cramps. Many thousands of elderly people use nothing else, and it costs them less than a cent a dose. Druggists have sold it successfully for 30 years, and it is the most widely bought family laxative in the world.

C. N. R. MATTERS

AT MEETING OF COMMISSIONERS

Quebec Writes Here in Claim to be Divisional Headquarters

Bond Dealers' Telegrams

Come in for Some Attention—Unemployment Matters—Some $10,000 Coming from Ottawa.

Questions relating to the administration of the Canadian National Railways under the new board of management were brought before a committee meeting of the Common Council here this morning. The subject was brought up by the presentation of a resolution, passed by the Quebec City Council, urging that another division of the C. N. R. be created with headquarters at Quebec. A copy of this was received by the Mayor.

In the resolution it was stated that the understanding was that there were to be three divisions with headquarters at Winnipeg, Toronto and Montreal respectively. The Quebec people asked that St. John endorse their sentiment.

The Mayor was of the opinion that this was a matter which might be dealt with by the Board of Trade. During a discussion Commissioner Bullock remarked that, if the C. P. R. and C. N. R. could bring grain to the Atlantic ports in the winter time, they could well afford to give its share to Quebec in the summer. He said that the traffic that was offering and the only way that port could handle more was by increasing the facilities. He quoted the general manager of the Montreal Harbor Commission, M. P. Fennell, Jr., as his authority. The year just closing, he added, was a record year in the history of the port, the grain handling having totaled 15,000,000 bushels. He hoped that the new board of the C. N. R. would see to it that Canadian trade was handled through Canadian ports, as appreciated by the stand taken by Quebec, he said.

On recommendation of Commissioner Frink, it was decided that a resolution of sympathy be extended to the City of Quebec and the Mayor be informed that the matter had been referred to the Board of Trade.

The Bond Dealers

Mayor Fisher reported that he was hearing more from the Bond Dealers' Association, but he did not propose to take any further action. He had received a reply to his letter addressed to the Montreal office of the association.

"If the amount which has been spent in sending telegrams to members of the association is not considered and a representative sent to St. John to talk the matter over with the council, the association might be better answered," observed Commissioner Frink.

The bond dealers, he continued, had no objection to the City of St. John, last year they bought the city's six per cent. debentures at 98 and the next day they were selling at 102. They were quoted at 97 and 97 1/2. There was some talk of the matter with the city's credit, he said, and if there had not been something in the nature of a stampede last year and the bonds had been held until now, they would have realized from 102 to 107 for them.

Unemployment Matters

The Mayor submitted a copy of a proposed agreement between the city and the D. S. C. R. forwarded from the department's headquarters in Halifax, by which the employment of handicapped ex-service men might be handled through the local branch of the federal employment service. The agreement proposed that the city should place the matter over to the federal office if the city would undertake the placement of handicapped veterans, the department to reimburse the city for the additional expense of carrying out the work. It was decided to place the matter over for further consideration.

Commissioner Frink, in this connection, reported that he had understood an order-in-council had been passed, providing for payment to the city of $10,000 due from the Dominion Government for extra costs incurred by the city in making employment for the unemployed last winter. He expressed gratification that the matter had been disposed of satisfactorily.

Telephone Co. Changes

Commissioner Frink presented a report from the road engineer on the application of the N. B. Telephone Co. for permission to erect two poles in Dufferin avenue, to conduct a lateral at the corner of Main and Elm streets, and to enlarge a manhole at the corner of Prince William and Union streets.

The engineer recommended that, as the N. B. Power Co. has erected a pole line in Dufferin avenue and this might be used by the Telephone Co. by moving one pole about twenty feet, this suggestion be carried out. He said that the company had agreed to this suggestion.

As the laying of the lateral in Main street would necessitate the cutting of the water getting in under the surface, he saw no objection to the enlargement of the Union street manhole.

The report was received and approved and referred to Commissioner Frink with power to act.

Seven New Hoses

Commissioner Frink reported that, on an inspection of the horses in the Public Works Department yesterday, he found there were some not fit for use. He was authorized to purchase three horses in addition to four already provided for, the cost to be taken care of from appropriation. He was also authorized to sell the horses replaced by those purchased.

Musquash Cordwood

Mayor Fisher reported that the sale of the hardwood cut at Musquash last year to Allan MacIntyre at $3 a cord, would leave a deficit of about $1,100 on the year's operation, according to figures compiled by the Chamberlain's office. Mr. MacIntyre was the only tenderer for the wood, but since that he had received an offer of $3.50, which would reduce the loss by $150 to $950. He had given Mr. MacIntyre an opportunity to meet the new offer but had refused. He suggested that if Mr. MacIntyre were willing to go half way, he should get the preference. The matter was left in his hands to act.

Red Cross Will Co-operate With D. S. C. R. In Workshop Scheme For Disabled Men

At a meeting of the St. John Red Cross Society yesterday afternoon it was decided to carry out the recommendation of the executive and to co-operate with the D. S. C. R. in establishing a workshop in the city to provide sheltered employment for disabled soldiers. Mrs. Alfred Morrissey, president, was in the chair. Under the arrangement agreed upon the D. S. C. R. will pay eighty-five per cent of the cost of establishing the workshop and seventy-five per cent of any deficit in operation up to $25 per month per man. If a new building should be needed the department would provide it.

E. A. Schofield, who was chiefly active in the establishment of the present Memorial Workshop in the city, was in the chair of its inauguration with funds provided by the Soldiers' Association, the Travellers' Association, its aim had been to keep men busy and pay them money for work rather than to make doles to them. It would be two years in April since the shops were opened and the funds still on hand might amount to between $1,000 and $1,500. The Provincial Red Cross had voted another $1,000, which had never been called for. He had been in communication with the D. S. C. R. with regard to the department's assuming charge of the workshops and had understood two representatives were to have been in the city to take up the matter. He paid a special tribute to the men who had been employed in the shops. They were the most willing that he had ever known and turned their hands to any work that offered. Comparatively few had been employed in the workshops and it was now being run with a deficit of only about $2 to $3 a week.

He strongly advocated co-operation with the D. S. C. R. to establish the proposed workshop, as he considered it the only way to care for the disabled cases. However, he recommended going slowly at the beginning and renting a building rather than erecting a new one to start with. He considered much depended on the superintendent, and while he did not think it could be run at a profit, it might be run with a comparatively small loss. The D. S. C. R., he believed, had spent $38,000 in relief for these cases in St. John last winter and would be willing to back heavily a project that would keep them working.

As to the absorption of the present memorial workshops, he said that the governing board would be delighted to co-operate. The tools and equipment were also available and would be handed over if the absorption was effected. John R. Gale, formerly of the D. S. C. R., spoke of the success of Red Cross workshops in British Columbia, which had a larger number of returned men because many after demobilization had accepted transportation to that province. Referring to the payments made by the department in relief for disabled men, he said in 1919-1920 the department spent $72,000 in New Brunswick in two and a half months and St. John received more than $40,000. The year the Dominion voted $1,400,000 for relief and St. John received $38,000 of this. The government was very anxious to get away from a system of doles, which had a demoralizing effect on the men. He had no doubt but that the St. John Red Cross workshops would be a huge success, and he considered that conducting a workshop for disabled men in St. John would be easier than in Montreal or the west as there was only an all-Canadian element to deal with. It would be a tremendous mistake not to accept the department's offer.

Lieut.-Colonel Norman P. McLeod endorsed the remarks of the two previous speakers and said he thought the contract read was a fair one.

C. B. Allan told of the experiences of other Red Cross branches in operating workshops and he emphasized the fact that the society, in entering the agreement, must be prepared to face a deficit of fairly large proportions. It must realize what responsibility it was assuming. He also spoke of the marketing of the output and the proposal that a central selling agency for all the workshops should be established. The Central Council of the Red Cross Society had passed a resolution at its last meeting giving the D. S. C. R. full rights to enter into agreements with the various divisions and branches in regard to establishing the workshops.

A Definite Responsibility.

Mrs. Harold Lawrence expressed the opinion that the local Red Cross Society should take up the work. She pointed out that there were about 2,000 members in the St. John branch and that, unless it justified its existence by taking up definite work, it would lose the interest of those members. The relief work which had been undertaken last year was not to be carried on this winter, and the workshops would be a cause which would readily call forth support. If there was a deficit she believed it would be easily met. George Warwick discussed the matter of securing work for the men. Lack of community interest he said, was the greatest obstacle. The workshops would be a factory proposition, not dependent on the interest of those members. Mr. Allan explained that the proposed Red Cross workshops would be a factory proposition, not dependent on the interest of those members. Mr. Allan explained that the proposed Red Cross workshops would be a factory proposition, not dependent on the interest of those members.

Carried Unanimously.

Mrs. George F. Smith said that, in view of the satisfactory reports presented, she would move that the meeting adopt the recommendation of the executive and enter into an agreement with the D. S. C. R. to establish a Red Cross workshop for disabled soldiers. Mrs. J. H. Doody seconded the motion and a standing vote showed that the motion had carried unanimously. As the next step, the secretary, Miss Alice Walker, was asked to write to H. W. Heaslop, who on behalf of the D. S. C. R. had first introduced the matter to the society, and ask that he notify the department of the society's decision. Mr. Allan recommended that the executive consider carefully suitable names to put forward for the committee of management of the workshops and the meeting then adjourned.

ANNIVERSARY IS CELEBRATED BY CHURCH SERVICE

The annual service of the Church of England Institute, held last evening in Trinity church, was a most interesting and successful one. There was a large congregation present and the music was appropriate to the occasion. Rev. A. L. Fleming, rector of St. John's (Stone) church, was the preacher, and in his eloquent address he made reference to the fact that it was the first time in twenty years that a rector of St. John's church had preached from the pulpit of Trinity. The last rector of his church to preach from that pulpit was Rev. John DesSoyes. Rev. A. E. Gabriel, the curate, conducted the services and the lessons were read by Rural Dean Rev. W. H. Sampson, and Ven. Archdeacon A. H. Crowfoot. The benediction was pronounced by the rector of Trinity, Rev. Canon H. A. Armstrong. Following the service the annual auction of the periodicals of the institute reading room took place in Trinity school room. Rev. Canon R. A. Armstrong was in the chair, and Heber Vroon was the auctioneer. The bidding was brisk and the proceeds of the auction compared well with the amount realized in other years. There was a record attendance at the sale as the ladies of the Institute served refreshments afterwards, when those in charge

DO DIFFICULTIES BRACE YOU UP?

(Forbes Magazine)
Do difficulties depress you or brace you up? Really, if you will stop to think of it, wouldn't life become monotonous, colorless, deadening were we to cease to have to battle against obstacles and sweat and scheme to solve hard problems? Wouldn't such a position or condition be very much the same as being retired? Frankly, haven't you noticed that you are inclined to slump, to become flabby, to become lackadaisical, to become rather listless when things move along ultra-smoothly for any length of time? To the healthy man, difficulties should act as a tonic. They should spur us to greater exertion. They should strengthen our will-power. They should steel our purpose. Difficulties, like work, are blessings in disguise, and if we study this subject through to the bottom, we would arrive at this conclusion: Thank God for difficulties!

FAIL TO GET CZARIST GOLD

Government Informs French Bondholders That it Cannot be Touched Without Agreement of Allies.

Paris, Nov. 30.—The efforts of French holders of Russian bonds to get possession of the $20,000,000 gold francs deposited in the Bank of France under the guardianship of the United States and the allied powers, and belonging to the old Czarist regime, have finally failed. The French Government has informed the bondholders that the money cannot be touched for any purpose, unless under agreement by the allied and associated powers, in whose hands it was placed under the provisions of the Treaty of Versailles.

The American State Department has taken a certain amount of interest in the money, and several months ago was informed that it was still safely in the vaults of the Bank of France. The Bolsheviks have displayed keen interest in the gold, and the Russian Constituent Assembly party, which transferred itself to Paris after the Bolsheviks came into power in Russia, has looked upon it with longing eyes. The French, however, have no intention of disturbing the money until some Russian Government receives general recognition.

The gold was originally exacted from Russia by Germany under the Treaty of Brest-Litovsk. It was taken to Berlin in a heavily guarded train and deposited in the Reichsbank. The Allies in turn forced Germany to hand it over to them under the Versailles Treaty, and it was brought to France by an escort of allied troops. Shortly after the money arrived, early in 1919, France proposed that it be used to repay the loan made by America to England and France in 1918. The American Government, however, objected on the ground that the money should be held until a new Russian Government should be recognized. With the present decision the holders of the

COMES BACK TO CANADA

Famous Painting by London Boy Bought by Resident of That City.

James Colerick, an art lover and critic, of London, Ontario, has purchased from the government of Hungary the painting "After the Bath," which was painted by a London boy, Paul Peel, and exhibited in the Paris Salon of 1890. It was bought at that time by the Hungarian National Art Museum at Budapest and has been there ever since. Necessities of the Hungarian Government have compelled its sale. The Toronto Telegram says: "The return to its native city after many years absence in Europe of Paul Peel's famous painting, 'After the Bath,' is looked forward to with interest by Canadian painters. It now hangs in the Hungarian National Museum at Budapest.

Paul Peel was born in London, Ont., and was a student in the Academy of Fine Arts, where he stayed three years. He then went to the Royal Academy Schools in London, England, and from there to Paris, where he studied under some of the foremost French artists. "Life is Bitter," "Boy and Dog," and "The Tired Model" are other pictures of his. Peel was particularly happy in French peasant life.

In spite of the protestations of his friends, Peel formed the adventurous resolve of selling all his productions in Toronto without reserve. The result was ridiculous. He brought $18,000. It gained the gold medal at the Salon of 1890 in Paris. It shows two nude children standing facing a fire with their backs to the spectator. At one side stands a screen.

A somewhat similar painting is that of "The Tired Model."

GROUPS OF THINKERS CAN AID HUMANITY

Speaking on "Christian Fellowship" last Sunday in the sermon to University of Toronto students in Convocation Hall, Bishop C. H. Brent, Buffalo, N. Y., said that the United States either should enter into organic union with the League of Nations or else discover a superior substitute. The preacher maintained that the heart of the people of the United States was sound on this matter; that the country was half awake now, and would be fully awake soon. Bishop Brent urged upon the students to seek God and try to comprehend Him. They should do this, he said, whether in studying philosophy or in economics. The latter science had become humanized, and had ceased to be the cold abstract study it had been. He urged conferences together of little groups of thinkers to help solve problems facing humanity. He warned against the accepting of apparently splendid ideas, simply because they were associated with ideas of bigness. At one all, he said, the world needed today the fellowship in God with Christ.

DRIVE TO THE RIGHT

New Rule of Road Goes Into Effect at Midnight Tonight—Stimulation of Tourist Traffic Expected.

The new rule of the road by which all traffic will turn to the right after midnight tonight was brought into existence chiefly through the efforts of the members of the New Brunswick Automobile Association.

The members of the New Brunswick Automobile Association had seen a golden stream of tourist traffic flowing all around this province but stopping at its borders.

Committee after committee was sent to the Legislature and finally, after years of hard work, the necessary legislation was adopted by the House at Fredericton and was left to be brought into force by order-in-council.

Nova Scotia Delays Action. There was considerable opposition by influential members of the Legislature, who thought the act should not come into force until Nova Scotia also changed the rule of the road.

Letters and committees went from the Automobile Association to the Premier and members of the government, urging that the necessary law be passed there. It was thought at one time that the sister province would change the rule of the road in conjunction with this province, but there were some difficulties which had not been foreseen and Nova Scotia will not be in line in the movement at present.

Members of the New Brunswick Automobile Association, in looking back over the work, feel considerable satisfaction that their efforts have at last been successful. It is believed that the change in the rule of the road will be of special benefit to the merchants and hotel owners, as well as to all automobile owners and the general public.

Effect on Tourist Traffic. The last season saw a large tourist traffic but next year is looked forward to with the belief that it will be the ness, Mr. Regan pointed out that in the state of Maine eighty per cent of the business comes by automobile, and during the season of 1922 tourists to that state left $80,000,000 in cash.

New Brunswick was the logical place for this business to spread, and this province is now able, with its good roads, to take care of the overflow from the sister state. The New Brunswick Automobile Association has done much to advertise the province. It has been a big factor in securing good roads in the province and also in inducing motorists from the United States to come here.

Mr. Regan was sure that the change in the rule of the road would be a great inducement for motorists to come from the United States in greater numbers than ever.

bers than ever. In times gone past there was always a feeling on the part of visitors that the drive to the left rule would be the cause of accidents but now with the same rule in force as in the neighboring states traffic in New Brunswick would be less hazardous for visitors than in the past.

No Parade.

In regard to the proposal for a parade around the city streets at midnight in order to inaugurate the new rule of the road, Mr. Regan said yesterday that the matter had been considered by the members of the New Brunswick Automobile Association but the plan had not met with general approval.

Besides the weather, the citizens must also be considered. With a large parade of automobiles in the middle of the night there would naturally be much noise and in case of sickness this would be objectionable.

Mr. Regan also said that many of the automobiles had been put away for the winter months. Finally he pointed out that the change of the rule of the road was not just a city affair but it was province wide and therefore a benefit other parts of the province. He thought the proposal could not be carried out.

MUSCLE SHOALS HOPE OF RICHES BASED ON FORD

Work of Building Gigantic Dam Progressing Steadily Under Federal Guidance.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Nov. 30 — A golden haze has settled over this region since the government has resumed work on the much debated Muscle Shoals power project. With the mirage of unprecedented prosperity hovering into a well defined business boom, the people of Florence, the little city near the base of the mighty Wilson Dam, have left the days of dollar and cents behind and now talk in fortunes. The end of the rainbow is in sight—to them.

Although the activity of the government is accepted by the property owners as a forerunner of prosperity, they have their real hopes of wealth on Henry Ford, whom they regard as the Midas of industry, the man whose touch means gold. They believe that if his offer for Muscle Shoals is accepted money will flow into their coffers with the speed of water rushing through the sluiceways of the colossal dam.

Farm Land Values Jump. Farm lands soared to unexcelled heights in the summer of 1921, and have declined slightly since that, but still are several times pre-war value. Within a twenty-five-mile radius of the dam sites they are up 400 per cent; land bringing $12.50 an acre six years ago is $20 now, and so on. Business property in Florence is selling $100 to $1,000 a front foot. Subdivisions near the gates to the nitrate plants are being opened and sold in cities throughout the region, one owner conducting campaigns in Chattanooga, Atlanta, Birmingham, Nashville and other cities, with offices and extensive advertising campaigns.

The revised constitution as prepared by a special committee and approved by the board of deacons and the trustees and finance board was unanimously adopted by the Ludlow street Baptist congregation last night at a special meeting held after the mid-week prayer service. Rev. W. A. Robbins, the pastor, presided and there was a large attendance of members.

The enemy of every woman's charm

Vivacity—animation—the radiant charm that comes from perfect health—Every normal woman can possess them. Yet thousands lose them through neglecting to keep the body free from poisonous waste.

Many seek relief by using cathartics—never realizing that in time drugs actually weaken the intestinal muscles and render the body unable to function normally.

Unlike drugs, Fleischmann's Yeast actually removes the cause of the trouble. The fresh, living cells of Fleischmann's Yeast contain a natural food—with the very elements which help the body perform its two vital functions: (1) Remove regularly all of the poisonous waste; (2) Build up the living tissues from day to day.

Like any other plant or vegetable, yeast produces the best results when fresh and "green"—not dried or "killed." Fleischmann's Yeast is the highest grade living yeast—always fresh. It is not a medicine, it is a natural food. Results cannot be expected unless it is eaten regularly.

Everywhere physicians and hospitals are prescribing Fleischmann's Yeast to correct constipation, skin disorders and to restore appetite and digestion.

"The radiant charm that comes from perfect health"

"So thin I weighed only 94 pounds"

"For twenty years," writes a California woman, "I have been bothered with gas and constipation. White of egg, wheat biscuits, and malted milk was all I could eat. I became so thin I weighed only 94 lbs., and I am 5 ft. 5 in."

"Then I began to eat two cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast every day. I gained 10 lbs. in four weeks, and now weigh 110. Constipation has completely disappeared, and I can eat almost anything."

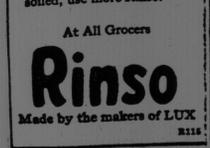

Eat two or three cakes a day regularly—plain or spread on crackers, or mixed with water or milk. If you prefer, get six cakes at a time. They will keep in a cool, dry place for two or three days. Begin at once to know what real health means! Be sure you get Fleischmann's Yeast. All grocers have it.

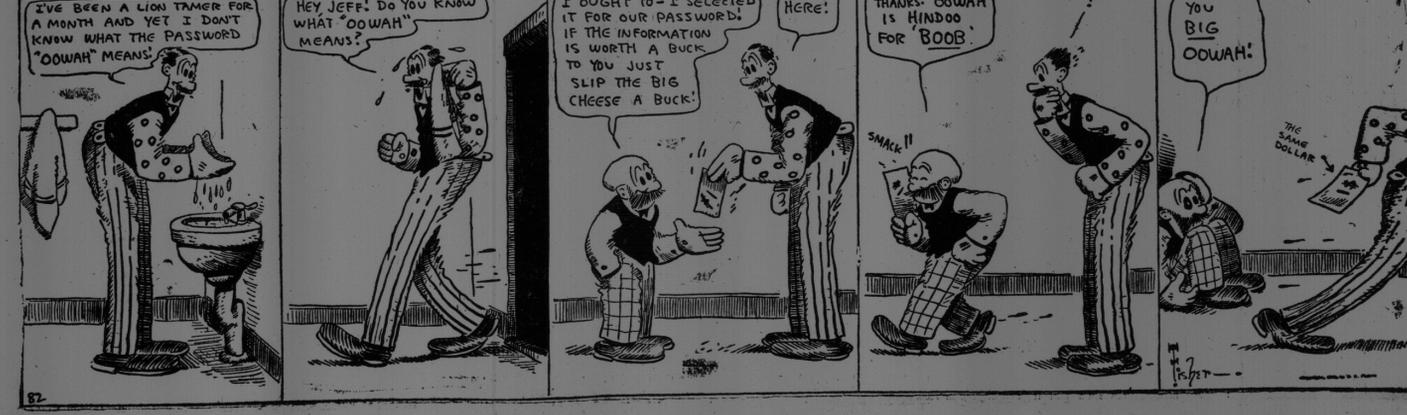

BED sheets and counterpanes—bath towels and bath mats that you dread to clean on wash day.

Just let them soak themselves perfectly clean with Rinso—the new scientific form of Soap in granules. Do not put the Rinso direct from the package into the tub. Make the Rinso liquid first.

Mix half a package of Rinso in a little cool water until it is like cream. Then add two quarts of boiling water and when the froth subsides put it in a tub of cool or lukewarm water and you will have enough for a batch of clothes. If the clothes are extra soiled, use more Rinso.

LIMIT IN POPPY CULTIVATION

Government to Approach British Authorities on the Problem of Narcotics.

With the desire of dealing an effective blow at illicit drug traffic the Executive of the National Council of Women of Canada, at their business session in Toronto recently, passed a resolution as follows: "That the National Council of Women petition the Dominion Government to approach the British authorities with a view to limiting the acreage of poppy cultivation in India to such a quantity as will supply the legitimate need of narcotics but make unavailable the great surplus which at present is used illegally, and provides the material for the narcotic drug evil which the Dominion is called upon to fight."

The Hamilton Local Council, which introduced the above resolution, also brought forward several others in the same connection, all of which were approved. They are as follows: "Whereas the increase in the number of narcotic drug addicts in Canada points to a growth of the illicit traffic in narcotics, and this evil is the moral, health and efficiency of the nation, now, therefore, we the N. WHAT'S DOING IN THE MONEY AND STOCK MARKETS TODAY

BRITISH SHIPPING SHOWS BIG GAINS IN WORLD TRADE

Idle Tonnage Decreases 286 Vessels of 471,612 Tons; Demand for Coal and Pig Iron From U.S. is Cause.

(From N. Y. Tribune's European Bureau.)

London, Nov. 28.—There are now nearly 500,000 gross tons of ships under the British flag in excess of the total a year ago which are competing for business in the freight markets of the world.

The report gives some support to the views of those who maintain that the deepest point of the trade depression has been sounded.

There have been fluctuations during the year, but the general trend is downward. Over this period there has been a decrease in the idle ships of 286 vessels of 471,612 tons.

It is recognized that the abnormal economic conditions in the United States are chiefly responsible for this better employment of British vessels.

These conditions not only provide work for British ships but help prevent a glut of grain tonnage at export centres.

It is foreseen, however, that the employment of British tonnage is now bound to shrink, due to the closing of the St. Lawrence season and the binding in the Baltic ports.

California is the home of the only surviving son of the American Revolution, Judge Lewis Patrick Phillips, ninety-one years old, of Downey, Cal.

BIT EASIER ON THE MONTREAL MARKET

Majority of Leaders Steady and What Declines There Were Nearly All Fractional.

Montreal, Nov. 30.—(10:30)—Prices eased off slightly on the local stock market this morning after yesterday's upward tendency.

The majority of leaders, however, were steady and the declines were all of a fractional nature, with the exception of Bell Telephone.

Abitibi registered a drop of a point, and was the only member of the group to receive any attention.

Canadian Pacific appeared 8-8 weaker at 48-1-2. Cement was one of the few strong issues today, rising a half from its close of 77.

Power, the strength and activity of which has brought it very prominently into the limelight during the last two days, was somewhat easier at 89-3-4.

Yield on the 10-1-2, the highest price reached in the history of the present consolidation.

National Breweries, one of the weakest issues of the whole list and which has suffered considerable liquidation throughout the last fortnight, registered the greatest loss this morning.

As it is known the share touched this year, yesterday this stock fell from its opening quotation of 49-1-2 to 47-3-4.

RAILROAD ORDERS KEEP MILLS BUSY

Growing Demand of Automobile Makers is Another Factor in Activity in Steel.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 29.—An improved volume of buying in railroad steel has given slight impetus to mill operating schedules in the last week or so, and with the automobile industry increasing in activity all the time, a much better operating rate than had been expected seems likely for the winter months.

Steel output since Oct. 1 has been running from April 1 to Oct. 1. There is some discussion in the trade as to whether consumption has increased in proportion.

Manufacturing consumers in general are not buying steel to any extent, and what their operations are fairly large they are making deliveries on old orders.

The security of small-sized merchant ships, particularly half-inch to two-inch, has grown greater. Mills in effort to ship are probably running practically to capacity, but the demand is quite in excess of what they are able to supply.

Some recent production had it that the market would soon start to slide, even though it is only a few weeks since the preliminary shipments were bringing 2.30c and prompt bars 2.28c.

Structural shapes seem to be going at approximately 2c right along, not much business being placed, and there is not much new buying.

The most active buyers are the automobile, agricultural implement factories and agricultural implement shops, named in order of their importance.

The automobile factories as a whole are shedding their work to make December their low month for operation, with monthly increases thereafter.

Independent sheet mills, at more than 10 per cent of capacity in October, are understood to have had a favorable operating conditions this month.

The American Sheet and Tin Plate Company is doing as well this week, with no let-up in new buying of merchant steel bars, while specifications against old contracts continue to be shipments are interrupted from time to time.

The Pennsylvania Railroad has been a buyer of a fair tonnage of bars lately, while others were awaiting a first-quarter price announcement from the Carnegie Steel Company.

BIG CHANCE FOR U. S. IN CHINA

Deputy Trade Minister Brings from Honolulu Word of Canadian Trade Opportunities.

(Special to The Times.) Ottawa, Nov. 30.—Opportunities for trade between Canada and China are being investigated, says P. C. T. O'Hara, Deputy Minister of Trade and Commerce, who is just back after attending the Pan-Pacific Commercial Conference in Honolulu.

He met there representatives of all the Pacific countries and was especially impressed with the trade opportunities offered with China.

"They are prepared to buy everything we are prepared to sell," he said, "and they have a population of 400,000,000. The U. S. finds a market in China for nearly everything it produces, and the Chinese students who go back home after attending U. S. universities prove to be links between American and Chinese commerce."

There is no reason why a large trade should not be built up between us and that country, even allowing for the fact that most Canadian factories are in the east, whereas the shipments have to be from the Pacific Coast."

CALIFORNIA SHIPS VAST OIL CARGOES

Tankers are Going to All Parts of the World as Production Grows—Hunt for Fields Goes On.

The changed conditions in the petroleum industry during the last twelve months have brought about a renewed demand for this product from California, and according to official statements, this state which was submerged by a flood of oil a year ago, is now sending tankers loaded with oil to all parts of the world, much of which is going through the Panama Canal.

Since the curtailment of production in the Mexican field, California has been called upon to supply much of the demand for heavy grade of crude and fuel oil.

"Under the caption, 'A World Game,' The Standard Oil Company of California, in its current bulletin, says: 'Only two years ago the supply of petroleum products here was insufficient to meet the demand. California's current production is not enough, and imports were made into reserve stocks which reduced them to a point near depletion. The Pacific Coast was compelled to go eastward for its supplies, to the mid-continent field, the Gulf and to Mexico. Now it is utterly different. California's production has mounted. The diminished reserve stocks have been replenished. A flow of oil has started outward. Great tank-ships are carrying California oil through the Panama Canal to the Atlantic seaboard, sailing right by the formerly prolific Mexican field to which it once turned in distress. California oil is going also to Great Britain, and the markets of the west coast of South America, formerly supplied from California, and then from Mexico, are again being supplied from California.'

It is pointed out that the mere production of a surplus, with consequent lower prices, is not wholly responsible for the condition. "A vital factor is the existence of a great fleet of tank-ships," says the company. "Tanks of increasing capacity were built in great numbers during the war, and, owing to the existence of these tankers, petroleum may be moved in huge volume from one part of the world to the other. Hence, the shifting scenes of today."

"Although California's supply now exceeds local demand, this may be no more than a momentary phase, as such things go, and the quest for new oil goes on without cessation. This company, for example, is searching in the far places of the world for new oil fields—in the Philippines, Alaska, Ecuador, Colombia and the Argentine, as well as in Montana and Texas. It is indeed a world game, and costly, but well worth the cost."

The company points out that its Alaska expedition shows the magnitude as well as the difficulties and hardships of wildcatting. In the Philippines the company has been drilling for nearly two years—so far no oil. The cost of that expenditure is more than $750,000, which again illustrates the magnitude of wildcatting business. But if oil is finally discovered the money will come back, and with something far more highly prized by the true oil man—the accomplishment of the industry's greatest possible achievement, the production of crude oil where man was produced before."

In connection with its prospecting expedition to the Alaskan Peninsula the company states that it took seven days to get a cargo from Seattle to Portage Bay, where it was lightered from the ship to the beach, where a temporary camp was established. The equipment consisted of everything necessary to drill a well 4,000 feet deep, and included one eighty-four foot California oil-well rig, casing, tools, including fishing tools for nearly every emergency encountered in oil-well drilling, engines, camp buildings, camp and commissary supplies, dynamo for electric lighting, wireless outfit, two sixty horse-power tractors and three trailers, road-building machinery and about sixty tons of plants and timber for the construction of bridges and edverts.

FROM TORONTO SHOW TO THE AMHERST FAIR. Toronto, Nov. 30.—The judging of prize winning Clydesdale mares for the female championship of that breed brought the livestock show at the Royal Winter Fair to a close yesterday, so far as breeding stock exhibitors were concerned. Thirty carloads were loaded for Chicago with cattle, sheep and horses to compete at the international.

Practically a train load of show stock, largely Ayreshires, will go to Amherst, N. S., for the fair there.

SAYS STATES MADE A GREAT MISTAKE

New York Speaker Condemns U. S. Senate's Attitude on League of Nations—Opposed to Hearst Papers and Ku Klux Klan.

Montreal, Nov. 30.—Apart from the negro problem in the south and the Oriental question in the west, the two great evils which must be fought in the United States today are the Hearst press and the Ku Klux Klan, according to James Morton, Jr., of New York, who addressed the members of the Reform Club at their weekly luncheon.

Among those who attended the luncheon were Premier Taschereau, Officers at the head table were Senator Mitchell, Leon Garneau, K. C., Alphonse Decary, K. C., Dr. R. Bourlet, Theodore Riessman, M. P., S. W. Jacobs, M. P., Peire Casgrain, K. C., M. P., and Allan Smith. Dr. Jean F. Decarie presided.

Made Colonial Mistake. While broadening his subject to the political field, Mr. Morton came to the attitude of the United States towards the League of Nations, and had the following to say about the Senate:

"One of the greatest mistakes ever made by anybody in the history of the world was made by the United States Senate when they refused to ratify the League of Nations proposal, and preferred a policy of isolation." He was all praise for Georges Clemenceau, and hoped that the "Tiger's" mission would bear fruit and clear up the differences which now exist.

The two greatest agencies of evil in the United States at present, he continued, are the Hearst publications, and the Ku Klux Klan. Both, he said, are systematically invoking hatred to gain their purpose. He characterized William Randolph Hearst as "a clever sort of a fellow, who has picked groups of people hostile to Great Britain and France, such as certain types of Irish and the Germans." As for the Ku Klux Klan they are undermining organized society, he stated. Their attack is in the main directed against Catholics, negroes and Jews, with the "imperium in imperio" spirit of demanding the country for the "free Caucasian Protestant."

He traced race prejudice back in history, and pointed out that the dominating races invariably inflicted their superiority by virtue of conquest. Mr. Morton thought it quite possible for two big races to live peacefully and without prejudice side by side. Universal Language. "In the domains of science and literature," he said, "there is no such prejudice. No matter where a man comes from, be it Sweden, Tokio or Argentina, there is no boundary line. We should rejoice exceedingly in the spread of Esperanto. The teaching of this universal language will sooner break down these barriers than anything else."

WHITE ELEPHANTS. LOSE FANCY MENUS AND CASTE IN SIAM. Animals Once Revered by People, Decked in Silk and Jewels, Now Relegated to Common Herd.

Bangkok, Siam, Oct. 22.—(By Mail)—White elephants are losing prestige in Siam, the country which made them famous. Although several of the animals are kept in captivity in Bangkok, the capital, they are no longer revered by the people as in former days.

dream, met him in heaven in that shape. No elephants are entirely white. The so-called white elephants are only a little lighter in color than ordinary elephants. Sometimes one has a few white hairs on the head or tail. In olden days, the discovery of a white elephant was a source of great joy to the people. After the animal had been tethered with allan cords, leaves would be sent to the king. Then a body of nobles would visit the place and escort the elephant, in stately procession, to the capital, where a palace would be erected for it.

After a period of taming the elephant would be given covers of velvet and silk, embroidered with gold and precious stones. A gold plate, bearing his name and titles, would be fastened on his head. Slaves, priests, musicians and dancing-girls were set apart for his amusement. The finest vegetables and fruits were given him as food. But nowadays white elephants have gone out of style. At the present time they are brought to Bangkok by train, without any guard of honor. They are housed in ordinary stables, with no priests or dancing-girls in attendance. Hay, leaves and young bamboos are given them to eat. The white elephant now lives the same work-a-day life as his darker-skinned fellows, though in the legends of the Siamese and in their national life he will be honored for centuries to come.

an examination by physicians. Since her marriage, Mrs. Fiedelbaum states, her husband has been exceedingly sick, nervous, dull and irritable. She says that physicians have told her that these conditions would continue to grow worse. Dr. Fiedelbaum, in his answer, denies that he ever suffered from "sleeping sickness," and states that he suffers slightly from nervousness as a result of his services with the A. E. F. in France. He asserts that his condition is only temporary. Justice Lewis reserved decision.

A MURDER OF 20 YEARS AGO STILL A MYSTERY

Slaying of Edward L. Burdick of Buffalo in His Home is Recalled.

An unsolved murder mystery is that of Edward L. Burdick of Buffalo. It occurred nearly twenty years ago. The victim lived on Ashland avenue, a good residential part of the city, and was a prosperous citizen; head of a thriving business concern. At the time of the crime, February, 1903, his wife, whom he was suing for divorce, was living in Atlantic City, and the Burdicks consisted of Mr. Burdick, his three young children, his sister-in-law, Mrs. Hull and two servants. On the afternoon of the 20th, Mr. Burdick went home at the usual time, carrying a bottle of cocktails, which was never seen thereafter.

The Crime Discovers The children and Mrs. Hull retired early and Mr. Burdick retired to his "den." One of the servants, passing the room at 10 o'clock, caught a glimpse of him, and a little later heard him shaking the furnace. At eight o'clock the next morning the two maids went down stairs and found a rear window and the front door open. They suspected burglars, but a careful search showed that nothing had been taken. They went upstairs to inform the master of the house, but were startled to find his room empty, while the bed had not been slept in. Mrs. Hull opened the door of the "den," but seeing a huddled pile of clothing on a couch, was afraid to go in. Dr. Marcy was called, and going to the couch he removed the pile of clothing and found underneath the body of Burdick. The back of his skull was crushed in, and two fingers of his left hand were broken as though in a struggle. He had nothing on but his shirt, the rest of his clothes being scattered around the room.

The Murderer Visited Examination of his coat disclosed a loaded revolver, which indicated that Burdick went in fear of someone. On the table were a small bottle of whiskey and the remains of a light lunch, crackers and imported cheese-foed that Burdick never ate. It seemed obvious that he had entertained some murderous guest, that the house had not been broken into, and that Burdick had been preparing to retire for the night when he was killed. The police hoped to the conclusion that Burdick had been murdered by some woman whom he was secretly entertaining in his room. A variation of this theory was that the woman had been followed into the house by a man who had committed the murder. But at the end of the inquest a month later Judge Murphy said that the theory of a woman was not supported by the ev-

WIFE SOUGHT INDIAN CURE

Ohio Authorities Convinced She Killed Others in Religious Despondent Mania.

Lancaster, Ohio, Nov. 28 — Dr. Karakas Red Wood, a Circleville "Indian healer," who says he cures by "thought and prayer," was appointed by Mrs. Florence Henderson, who, with her husband and four children, was found dead in their home here, in an effort to rid herself of real and fancied ills, it was revealed here after a search of the Henderson house. A letter from Red Wood, dated Sept. 1, offered to cure Mrs. Henderson by the "Hindoo occult absent method."

This helps to substantiate the theory officials are working on now, they asserted, that the woman killed herself and her family in a fit of mental depression, brooding over imaginary ills. Red Wood's letter acknowledged the receipt of $1 and a lock of "auburn hair" and asserted that his "new star" could be cured. An unmailed letter found in the Henderson house, written by the dead woman, dated Sept. 9, noted the receipt of Red Wood's missive and expressed gratification that "it can be cured."

As a further indication of a motive for the tragedy, officials said a scrap box was found with a notation in pencil on the bottom reading "Ezekiel, 16-6." This reads: "And when I passed by thee, and saw thee polluted in thine own blood, I said unto thee, thou must in thine blood live. Yes, I said unto thee, thou must in thine blood live." This would indicate, said the officials, religious fanaticism entering into a mind brooding over physical ills. Officials here are marking time, pending the result of chemical tests of the vital organs of the adult Hendersons, being made at Columbus by State chemists, and the completion of a series of other examinations. They still hold to their belief that the dead woman was responsible for the tragedy.

SHOOTING FIANCEE; KILLED NEAR HER

Northport Man Mortally Wounds Girl Who Jilted Him in Her Home—Menaces Her Landlady.

Huntington, L. I., Nov. 30.—John J. Letich, twenty-five years old, of Northport, was shot and probably fatally wounded in his seven-month-old fiancée, Miss Sandrissa of Louises avenue, Huntington. The girl is dying in the Huntington Hospital with a bullet wound in her temple. Letich had driven to the house in his automobile, to receive back an engagement ring, Miss Sandrissa having told him she had decided not to marry him. The girl and Letich went to the living room and had been sitting there a short time when there was a shot and a scream.

Scudder and his wife were in the kitchen. Mrs. Scudder sprang from her chair when she heard the shot and almost collided with Letich as he ran from the living room. "You big brute," she said to him. "What have you done?" Letich pointed his pistol at her, she said, but she struck the weapon as he fired, the bullet just missing her. Letich fled into the yard, where he had his automobile. Scudder grabbed a shotgun and followed. He said he fired into the air to frighten Letich, but that Letich circled the house several times. Scudder then fired directly at him. Letich was killed as he sat in his automobile.

Scudder was taken to the office of Deputy Sheriff Wanzel, not under arrest, to be questioned by the Deputy and Special Officer Walker pending investigation by the coroner. Meantime the girl, unconscious and badly wounded, had been taken to the hospital, where she immediately was placed on the operating table. Surgeons said she probably would not recover. She had been employed in a dress factory here. Letich had been wooing her for several months. According to Scudder, they had been engaged to be married, but they were out automobile riding on Sunday night and when Miss Sandrissa returned to the Scudder home she was crying. Scudder questioned her, and the girl is said to have told him that Letich had jilted her. She told Scudder that Letich had agreed to call to get his ring. Scudder said he did not hear any loud talking or arguing after the young man arrived. It seemed to him scarcely a minute after she got up from the dining room table that he heard the shot and the scream. Immediately after the double shooting, Scudder, shotgun still in hand, ran into the home of Mrs. W. W. Nickerson

CONSTRUCTIVE LEGISLATION FOR SWEDEN

Stockholm, Nov. 6.—(A. P. by Mail).

The Swedish Riksdag in 1922 will deal with a number of new bills of national importance, according to a public announcement by a member of the present cabinet, K. J. Schlyter, minister without portfolio. Among the significant proposals to be submitted is a bill calling for extensive agrarian grants and reforms. This bill deals with ways and means of apportioning arable crown lands as homesteads to individuals, with safeguarded rights, for an unlimited period of time. It provides also for more extensive colonization of public domains by small farms, and for the expropriation of privately owned land, especially parts of the holdings of large companies and mismanaged agricultural estates.

Among the other issues to be considered next year is the eight-hour law, which will be disposed of in one of three ways either abolished, continued as a provisional measure, or enacted into a statutory law; a bill proposing that the police force in the cities and the provinces be reorganized; a new forestry conservation law designed to give the small timber owner greater privileges of cutting for personal use as well as for the market, and a new bill providing for the important reforms in the rent regulation law, aimed especially at abolishing rent profiteering. Laws giving women greater opportunities for holding public offices also are expected.

ARREST BOY GLOBE TROTTER. Syracuse Youth Wore Goggles in Beating Way—Held in Yonkers. New York, Nov. 30.—When asked by the police in Yonkers when arrested how he could travel so much free of charge, Edward Leinward, a fifteen-year-old globe-trotter, exhibited a pair of wind-goggles. "These do the trick," remarked the policemen. He was arrested accused of trespassing. He told the police he traveled hundreds of miles a month free. He exhibited the goggles, which he says he wore to keep dust and wind out of his eyes, and then sat in a chair behind locomotives. He asserts that he rode the Twentieth Century Limited, the Wolverine and other crack trains in this fashion when the train employees were not looking. He was held by the police until relatives living at 226 Cleveland street, Syracuse, determine what is to be done with the wanderer. The second of a series of weekly dances was held last evening in the "Pentice Boys' Hall on the West Side. The dance was largely attended and a very enjoyable time was spent. A special orchestra furnished music for the occasion.

Boston, Nov. 30.—Stanley Kistigrid, 15, styling himself a Prince and saying he could have been King of Uganda in British East Africa had not the British deposed his late father, was held by immigration authorities on his arrival here from Calcutta on the City of Benares.

He said he was on his way to Tuskegee Institute, Ala. He has attended school in Colombo, Ceylon. He traveled first class and was in care of Miss Margaret N. Wilson of Chattanooga, Tenn., who had been engaged in Y. W. C. A. work in Madras. Immigration officials said he was held because he was without a legal guardian and also because the African quota of immigrants for the year had been exceeded.

CODICIL WAS AMBIGUOUS. Ottawa, Nov. 30.—A curious will case from British Columbia has divided the Supreme Court of Canada evenly in every respect save insofar as any part is inconsistent with this codicil. The point was: Did the codicil give the two nieces $25,000 additional, or was the $25,000 to be in substitution of the bequests under the will? The British Columbia courts held that the gift under the codicil was not inconsistent and therefore additional to the gift under the will. Appeal was taken to the Supreme Court against this ruling, but as the Supreme Court divided evenly the appeal is lost. Judgments were rendered in two other British Columbia cases: Premier Lumber Co. vs. G. T. P. By., appeal dismissed with costs; MacDonald vs. Pier, appeal dismissed with costs, Mr. Justice Duff dissenting.
