BRITISH CABINET MINISTERS IN PROLONGED SESSION OVER IRISH PEACE DISCUSSIONS

Government's Written Statement on Proposals Dealing With Ulster Sent to Sir Jas. Craig.

LLOYD GEORGE TO MEET IRISH CABINET MONDAY

Unionist Members Urged to Keep Minds Open Until Full Statement is Made.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The full Cabinet Council held tonight for the purpose of discussing the Irish situation, was so prolonged that several of the Ministers had evidently to cancel engagements elsewhere and apologies for the extreme gravity of the business dealing them.

It is understood that the Government's written statement on the proposals dealing with Ulster reached Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier, at a late hour, and will be debated at a meeting of the Ulster Ministers at eleven o'clock tomorrow morning.

It is believed that the meeting between Mr. Lloyd George and the Ulster Ministers cannot be held before Monday.

King's Speech Significant
The King, in his speech proroguing Parliament tonight, made another appeal, similar to that which he addressed to the people in opening the Northern Parliament of Ireland, to exercise patience and moderation with the object of establishing friendship and co-operation between "my people of that country."

This was particularly addressed to the Ulsterites, who are now in London considering the Government's proposal for the settlement of the century-old problem, in the opinion of all politicians. But all sections come within His Majesty's exhortation, and it is pointed out the Sinn Fein may read it with particular interest and may object to the inference that the dispute is between the two parties in Ireland and is not a dispute between Britain and Ireland, which is the Sinn Fein's contention.

Government Members Exhorted.
Austin Chamberlain, Government leader in the House of Commons, and himself a Unionist, in a message to the "Statesmen" party this evening appealed to the members "not to allow their minds to be biased by rumor, but to reserve their judgment until a full and complete statement is laid before them."

"I believe," he continued, "that there exists throughout all sections of our countrymen and the earnest desire for peace, if it can be obtained on safe and honorable conditions. I believe that, with patience, good will and a spirit of mutual accommodation, such peace is not impossible. Where so much hangs in the balance for Ulster, Ireland, Britain and the Empire—perhaps even for the world—is it too much to ask this measure of confidence from 'my friends'?"

British Parliament Prorogued Until January 30th

It May be Convened Earlier or Later According to Political Exigencies.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Parliament was prorogued tonight until Jan. 30 without ceremony except the reading of the King's speech by the Speaker and the customary procession of the members to shake hands with the King.

There had been some expectation that the Prime Minister would make a statement on Ireland, or other matters, but beyond answering a few questions, he made no speech, and the members had to be content with the formal matter of the royal speech, with its prayer for the success of the Washington conference and the peaceful outcome of the Irish negotiations.

Jan. 30 is only a formal date, and Parliament may be convened either earlier or later, according to political exigencies.

Claim To Have Statement That Will Free Arbuckle

Alleged to Have Been Made by Virginia Rappe Before Her Death.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 10.—Counsel for Roscoe Arbuckle today declared that sworn statements by Dr. Arthur Beardsley and George Glennon, house detective of the Hotel El Presidio, which tend to clear Arbuckle of criminal responsibility in the death of Virginia Rappe, motion picture actress, are in the hands of district attorney Matthew F. Brady.

Glennon's statement said the girl made direct denial to him that Arbuckle inflicted the injuries which resulted subsequently in her death, the defense counsel said.

EXTREMISTS WRECK RAILROAD TRAIN BOUND FOR LISBON, TEN KILLED

Lisbon, Nov. 10.—Ten persons were reported to have been killed and eight injured, when a passenger train from the province of Algarve, bound for Lisbon, was wrecked by rails placed across the track. Many of the killed and wounded were women and children.

Railway workers have issued a manifesto declaring that they had no part in the wrecking of the train. The Government has started an investigation in an endeavor to locate those responsible for the wreck who are believed to be extremists. The director of the railway says that recently four attempts have been made to derail trains. He has requested that the tracks be guarded by soldiers.

CONFERENCE CALL MOST HAPPY INSPIRATION AND OBJECTS CAN NOT FAIL OF ACCOMPLISHMENT

Arthur J. Balfour, Head of British Delegation, Convinced Good Will Come from the Parleys—Says Victories of Peace Are No Easier to Obtain Than Those of War, But the Labors Must be Approached in Spirit of Confidence and High Hope.

Washington, Nov. 10.—In a formal statement, shortly after his arrival here today, Arthur J. Balfour, head of the British delegation to the Disarmament Conference, referred to the Conference, as "a most happy inspiration" which moved him to summon this Conference, as "a most happy inspiration" which moved him to summon this Conference, as "a most happy inspiration" which moved him to summon this Conference.

He recalled four years ago, "It is more than four years," Mr. Balfour said, "since I left this well-remembered scene and said farewell to my many friends at Washington. It was a most critical stage in the great war, and notwithstanding that, there was nothing more to be feared from the enemy's battleships, the submarine campaign, though its intensity had somewhat diminished, was still most formidable. In the West and in the East, the victory by land hung in the balance. America, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, animated by a single spirit, was concentrating her vast resources and preparing to draw her whole strength into the world struggle. We all know the result. It came more completely and more quickly than most of us had dared to hope, and exactly three years ago, the greatest of victories concluded the greatest of wars."

"Nothing could less resemble the work that had to be done in 1917 than the work in which we are all concerned in 1921. Yet they are not only intimately connected, but they form part of the same great international endeavor, and he would be a rash prophet who would say that the victories of peace are easier to attain than the victories of war. But, surely, we may approach these new labors in a spirit of confidence and high hope. We may not, indeed, either ask for or expect the impossible, although what is within our reach is worth our utmost effort. I can say that the wise guidance of your President, which I am convinced that all those who are going to meet here in confidence, will be fortunate enough to attain it. Most happy was the inspiration which moved him to summon this Conference. I am convinced that all those who are going to meet here in confidence, will be fortunate enough to attain it. Most happy was the inspiration which moved him to summon this Conference. I am convinced that all those who are going to meet here in confidence, will be fortunate enough to attain it.

"THE METEOR FLAG OF ENGLAND"

"The flag that braved a thousand years,
The battle and the breeze."

MEIGHEN'S VIMY SPEECH

The following address delivered at Thelus Military Cemetery, Vimy Ridge, at the unveiling of the Cross of Sacrifice, July 2, 1921, by Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Premier of Canada, is worthy of reproduction in print on this day when all Canada is paying homage to the men who fought and died, and honor to those who survived the greatest of all wars.

THE GLORIOUS DEAD

The Great War is past; the war that tried through and through every quality and mystery of the human mind and the might of human spirit; the war that closed, we hope for ever, the long, ghastly story of the arbitrament of men's differences by force; the last clash and crash of earth's millions is over now. There can be heard only sporadic conflicts, the moan of prostrate nations, the cries of the bereaved and desolate, the struggling of exhausted peoples to rise and stand and move onward. We live among the ruins and the echoes of Armageddon. Its shadow is receding slowly backward into history.

At this time the proper occupation of the living is, first, to honour our heroic dead; next, to repair the havoc, human and material, that surrounds us; and, lastly, to learn again and apply with courage the lessons of the war.

Here in the heart of Europe we meet to unveil a memorial to our country's dead. In earth which has resounded to the drums and trappings of many conquests, they rest in the quiet of God's acre with the brave of all the world. At death they sheathed in their hearts the sword of devotion, and now from the oft-stricken fields they hold aloft its cross of sacrifice, mutely beckoning those who would share their immortality. No words can add to their fame, nor so long as gratitude holds a place in men's hearts can our forgetfulness be suffered to detract from their renown. For as the war dwarfed by its magnitude all contents of the past, so the wonder of human resource, the splendor of human heroism, reached a height never witnessed before.

Ours we thought prosaic days when the great causes of earlier times had lost their inspiration, leaving for attainment those things which demanded only the petty passing inconveniences of the hour. And yet the nobility of manhood had but to hear again the summons of duty and honour to make response which shook the world. Danger to the treasury of common things—for common things when challenged are the most sacred of all,—danger to these things ever stirred our fathers to action, and it has not lost its appeal to their sons.

France lives and France is free, and Canada is the nobler for her sacrifice to hero free France to live. In many hundreds of plots throughout these hills and valleys, all the way from Flanders to Picardy, lie fifty-thousand of our dead. Their resting-places have been dedicated to their memory forever by the kindly grateful heart of France, and will be tended and cared for by us in the measure of the love we bear them. Above them are being planted the maples of Canada, in the thought that her sons will rest the better in the shade of trees they knew so well in life. Across the leagues of the Atlantic the heartstrings of our Canadian nation will reach through all time to these graves in France; we shall never let pass away the spirit bequeathed to us by those who fell; their name liveth for evermore.

THE SITUATION IN IRELAND STILL THE CAUSE OF GREAT ANXIETY TO KING GEORGE

Exhorts the Leaders of All Parties in Ireland and All Those in Whose Hands Lies the Power to Influence the Negotiations to Exercise Patience and Moderation With the Object of Establishing Friendship and Co-operation Among His People of That Country.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The text of King George's speech in proroguing Parliament today is as follows:
"My Lords and members of the House of Commons:
"The session of Parliament which closes today has been marked by the financial year will end without a deficit on the budget. Our debts, however, are great, and our taxation heavy and burdensome to industry, and the revenue cannot be maintained on the scale of the last three years. It is accordingly of vital importance of the financial stability of the country that the expenditure should be still further restricted in every department of life, both public and private.

H. M. THE KING

"The government will continue to take advantage of every opportunity to achieve this essential object in the field of public expenditure, and I confidently rely upon my people in their own practice to support the efforts of my ministers."
Irish Situation.

The King discussed the subject of Ireland as follows:
"The situation in Ireland still causes me great anxiety. I earnestly exhort the leaders of all parties in Ireland, and those in whose hands lies the power to influence the negotiations and discussions now proceeding, to exercise patience and moderation with the object of establishing friendship and co-operation between my people of that country."
Industrial Troubles.

"The past summer has been notable for the occurrence of the most serious industrial conflict which ever menaced the prosperity of the realm. I take pride in the calm and serene spirit with which the trials of the war and the freedom from strife and violence which characterized its course. This dispute, unhappily, was aggravated by the adverse effect of the sudden world-wide trade depression, which has inflicted upon the industries of this country the most grievous experience in their history."
The measures recently passed by Parliament for dealing with the problems of unemployment and the revival of trade were reviewed, and the King continued:

"The peaceful settlement of many difficult disputes by mutual negotiations between the employers and the work people, together with some indications of the revival of trade, encourage my hope that the worst may be over and that the state of employment may show from now onward a steady, if slow, improvement. But the position is still full of anxiety and my ministers will continue to devote to this problem vigilant care."
"It is not, however, so much as acts of parliament as to the proved good sense of employers and operatives working together for the promotion of their common interests that I look for the restoration of trade and prosperity."

Concluding with an allusion to the difficult financial conditions, the King said:
"The imperative need for the avoidance of all fresh burdens, and the further curtailment of expenditure, have required the modification of some measures already passed and the postponement to happier times of the completion of other reforms. I pray that the blessing of Almighty God may rest upon your labors."

Without Deficit.
With reference to trade depression, the King said:
"I learn with satisfaction that the estimated surplus for the redemption of the debt will not be realized, rest upon your labors."

STAGE ALL SET FOR OPENING OF CONFERENCE ON ARMS LIMITATION OF ALL NATIONS

Washington, Nov. 10.—The great powers completed their preparations today for the conference on limitation of armaments. Tonight their representatives, laying by the role of negotiators, set aside a period of mourning for the United States soldier dead, the hours remaining before the conference assembles on Saturday.

Feeling of Optimism. As the opening hour approaches there is manifest a feeling of growing optimism among many of the delegates, coupled with a determination not to permit the conference to slip into troublesome talks with which it has no proper concern.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS. For all ailments of the kidneys, bladder, and urinary system.

Donations To Natural History

Valuable and Historical Relics Received from Robert Jardine of Shediac.

Some very interesting and valuable donations have recently been received by Dr. William McIntosh, curator of the Natural History Society's museum, Union street. Robert Jardine, of Shediac, has most magnanimously presented several helmets, which, apart from being of considerable historical interest, are likewise quite valuable.

Among Mr. Jardine's donations is an antique percussion cap revolving pistol, in a handsome mahogany case, which also contains a powder flask, caps, balls, and a mallet for making them, cleaning rods, etc.

The gun is of the type that was in use about 1860, and has a barrel of some four inches long which is set in use by the pressing of a spring, and when not in folded to the side of the barrel. The gun is about eighteen inches long with the bayonet affixed, and weighs about two pounds. It is in a fine state of preservation, and would still prove a formidable weapon.

Mr. Jardine has also sent the museum a pocket pistol, of the old flint lock, percussion cap style, which was brought from Scotland by his grandfather, Alexander Jardine, in 1853.

Another of the helmets from his grandfather's Scottish home is a snuff mill, made from the horn of a large Scotch ram. The snuff box itself is of solid silver, and the tip of the horn is also tipped with silver. The mill is a very fine and unique ornament.

Other articles include two silver table spoons with whalebone handles, and a snuff box made from part of the timber and copper of the Royal George. An oil painting of the "ill-fated ship" has been painted on the cover of the box.

The painting would call to the mind of many of the readers of The Standard an old engraving in one of the Royal Readers of their school days, and the graphic account of the loss of the ship. To those who may never have read the account, it might be well to say that the Royal George was an English man-of-war of 109 guns, which was lost off Spithead, England, in 1782. This was caused by the vessel running into the open ports of the vessel while she was heeled over on one side undergoing repairs. Her commander, Admiral Kempenfelt, the crew, many marines, women, and Jews, some 600 persons in all, were drowned. Parts of the vessel were recovered in 1833, when the vessel was blown up by a charge of gunpowder ignited by electricity.

Another donation which is a memorial of earlier days in New Brunswick is possessed of considerable interest, and is a pair of cutlers for loaf sugar, which were found in an old building in Shediac. In the days when loaf sugar was a common household article, the manner in which a maiden wielded the cutters enabled her suitor to form an estimate of her capabilities as a housekeeper. All sugar came in loaves in those days, and the cutters were used to cut off lumps of sugar for individual use, and whether the maiden cut the loaf in a neat and economical manner or otherwise was supposed to indicate the manner in which she would manage the rest of the affairs of the household.

Good Progress On School Building

Basement of New Structure on Newman Street Almost Completed.

Good progress is being made with the erection of the new Newman St. School and contractor Corbett expects to start the laying of brick some days next week. The basement of the building, which is of concrete, will be completed in three or four days, provided the weather is fit to work.

It had been planned to lay the corner stone of this building on November 15, and the Masonic Grand Lodge of the Province was to be present in full regalia, the corner stone to be laid by the Grand Master. An invitation was sent to them but on account of the lateness of the season the Grand Master felt obliged to decline the invitation and so notified the Board of School Trustees.

The matter will be dealt with at the meeting of the Board on Monday next and they will decide whether to proceed with the laying of the corner stone on the date set or to wait until later.

Business Before Common Council

Water and Sewerage Connections Authorized for Dufferin Avenue.

Water and sewerage connections for the lot on Dufferin Avenue were authorized at the meeting of the council yesterday morning; the distribution of the hydro-electric current was discussed and routine business disposed of.

Commissioner Jones presented a petition from the lot owners in Dufferin Avenue asking for the laying of water and sewerage connections and guaranteeing ten per cent. on the cost of installation, estimated at $4,000. The road engineer reported that this work must be done before the street could be paved and Commissioner Jones recommended to have the work done.

On motion of Commissioner Frink the Stephen Construction Co., was relieved of the construction bond on the Dufferin Avenue work, this having been completed and a maintenance bond having been given for the keeping of it in repair for three years.

In answer to Commissioner Thornton the mayor said he had not received any definite offer from the New Brunswick Hydro Commission, neither as to price or quantity of power which they would deliver. Basing the price per horse power on that said to have been quoted to Moncton, $36, His Worship said if St. John took the 10,000 H. P. said to be available it would cost $360,000 per year.

Commissioner Frink brought up the matter of a retaining wall at 53 Prince Edward street, owned by the Nugent estate. The road engineer reported that the wall had been braced as required but the posts in the foundation were weak and one chimney did not extend to the ground. This should be remedied. The building inspector was present at the inspection. The retaining wall should be renewed in the spring. On motion the report was received and filed.

Commissioner Frink spoke of a retaining wall owned by Mr. Ryan, at 39 St. Patrick street. The engineer reported that any defect in the wall was not the fault of the city, and the city was not liable for any condition that might arise from it. Report received.

Commissioner Frink reported that the New Brunswick Telephone Company had asked permission to erect two poles on Horfield street, an underground lateral, a pole on Mecklenburg street, and to extend the lateral to Charlotte street twelve feet. The road engineer recommended that it should be allowed.

Commissioner Thornton said the city should be careful about granting requests for new poles. Agreed to.

Franco-Turkish Pact Draws British Fire

Memo of Protest from London Will be Sent to Premier Briand.

Paris, Nov. 10.—(Associated Press.)—A British memorandum voicing certain objections regarding the treaty recently concluded between France and the Turkish Nationalist Government at Angora is expected to be sent today and will be called to Premier Briand in Washington. France's reply will await the Premier's consideration of the questions raised.

In official circles, it was pointed out, the agreement does not differ essentially from the accord reached between France and representatives of the Masapha Kemal Pasha Government on March 2 last in London, to which the British Government tacitly agreed. Great Britain, it is asserted, has been constantly in touch with the Franco-Turkish negotiations, and Sir Ronald Harcourt, the British Ambassador in Paris, was aware of the purpose of the trip to Angora of Henry Franklin-Bouillon when he left Paris to negotiate the agreement. French officials declared they saw in the new accord no violation of the Anglo-French alliance.

The reaching of the Franco-Turkish agreement on the eve of the Washington conference is commented upon here as placing France in the position of releasing a large body of troops from duty in Cilicia, thus further debilitating the French army and contributing a practical blow to the reduction of the world's armaments.

Customs Officers Made Big Raid In Boston Wednesday

Seven Chinese Stowaways, 600 Quarts of Liquor and Some Opium Seized.

Boston, Nov. 10.—Seven Chinese stowaways and six hundred quarts of whiskey and gin and a quantity of opium were seized by customs officers in a raid on the Dutch steamer Java late today. The vessel arrived this morning after 75 days on the voyage from Japanese ports.

Government agents tonight questioned the stowaways at the immigration station in an effort to learn whether any of the 41 Chinese members of the Java's crew conspired to aid them in reaching this country. Search of the steamer will continue tomorrow.

The stowaways, one of whom was a 15-year-old boy, were discovered huddled in an empty water tank, suffering from exposure, hunger and confinement in their cramped quarters.

Armistice Ball Grand Success

Given Last Night by Royal Arms Chapter I. O. D. E. in the Pythian Castle.

One of the most delightful dances of the season was the Armistice Ball given by the Royal Arms Chapter, I. O. D. E., at the Pythian Castle last evening.

The large room was beautifully decorated in cedar and flags. The lights were shaded with artistic shades. Excellent music was provided for a programme of twenty-one dances. Tables were provided for those who cared to play bridge.

Presiding at the supper table were Mrs. F. L. Fowler and Mrs. Stephen Curran. The dining room was decorated with flags of all nations. The supper table was centred with yellow chrysanthemums in a silver basket.

Mrs. W. H. Turner and Mrs. Roy Gregory were general convenors. Mrs. M. N. Gregory and Mrs. L. M. Curran cut the loaves.

A very large number of guests greatly enjoyed the evening. Proceeds are for chapter work.

Paris, Nov. 10.—The Hotel Willard in Washington is taking the place in the French mind, that the Hotel Crillon assumed in the United States during the peace conference. Various journals here have stopped calling it the Willard, now calling it the Hotel of the Tower of Babel. One newspaper published a photograph of the hotel, showing two sides of the facade, and in subsequent editions bore the caption: "The Hotel of the Tower of Babel." The windows of American buildings is a source of amazement to the French as windows are always taxed heavily in France.

Real Estate Deal About Completed

Building Will Provide More Room for Seamen's Institute and Navy League.

The real estate deal, which means an enlargement of the work of the Seamen's Institute, by which the Seamen's Institute Society and the St. John branch of the Navy League of Canada jointly becoming the owners of the building between the present institute and the Board of Trade building is practically completed and its deed will be signed in a few days.

It is understood this step has been taken on account of the lack of room so noticeable last winter, and it is the hope to eventually have a seaman's home here second to none in Canada. It is understood the building will not be available for extension until May 1st next. During next summer the lower floor will be remodelled to allow for an enlargement of the present auditorium and provide new offices for the institute.

The building purchased is a four story one and will enable the society to add a number of dormitories as well as recreation rooms for the sailors visiting this port.

Decreased Catch of Fish Month of September

Difference of Million and Quarter Dollars Over Corresponding Month 1920.

Quebec, Nov. 10.—According to a statement issued from the Department of Marine and Fisheries, the total quantity of sea fish landed on both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts during September was 1,026,553 hundredweights, valued at $2,520,047.

In the preceding year, 1,157,870 hundredweights were landed with a value of $3,581,567. On the Atlantic coast the weather conditions were generally responsible for the decreased catch, high winds prevailing during the greater part of the month. In some localities fishing was curtailed on account of the scarcity of bait.

The total catch of cod, haddock, hake and pollock during the month was 603,839 cwts. compared with 682,615 cwts. landed during September, 1920. The catch of mackerel was a little more than half the quantity landed during the same period last year, and the quantity of herring landed was less than half. The quantity of sardines taken on the Bay of Fundy shore was 79,150 cwts., compared with 39,937 cwts. in the similar period of last year.

Since the opening of the lobster season in November last, 332,449 cwts. have been taken as compared with 369,554 cwts. during the similar period of last year.

During the month two fishermen were drowned on the Atlantic coast and one on the Pacific coast.

Only five pacers have won $3,000 this year and one of these is Col. Bidwell, Joe Johnson's double winner at the Brockton fair.

Caldwell was trying to set the brake with a piece of pipe which broke, throwing him beneath the car.

burgh," he said, "explicitly declares Hungary to be a monarchy. Even though it is a kingdom without a king, or even a royal family, it is wiser to maintain the monarchic principle. Elections are too bitterly fought in Hungary to make a choice of a President every four years advisable. We cannot treat politics calmly, as you do. Like the South Americans, we are too hot blooded. It simply would not work."

The economic difficulties in Hungary are described in the reparations features in all the press treaties. "Had reparations never been assessed," he added, "not only would central Europe have fared entirely differently, but France itself would have prospered more."

MR. MEIGHEN'S CREED.

"More than any other country, Canada needs a protective system. She is a young country mostly undeveloped. She lies alongside a great big country tremendously developed. The United States has every advantage that Canada has and tremendous advantages besides. It surely follows, to the mind of every reasonable man, that to abandon the protective system in Canada would be simply to invite the absorption of Canadian industry in the far vaster industries of the United States. The principles of the protection of Canadian industry have been proclaimed by practically every statesman who has shouldered the responsibility of government in Canada. They are sound and they are right and the vast mass of the people of Canada know that they are sound and right."

—From Premier Meighen's Portage Speech.

TODAY.

Three years ago today, Germany bowed her head to the inevitable, and admitted defeat, thus putting the finishing touch to the blackest crime ever perpetrated against humanity. On this, the third anniversary of that ignominious surrender, in the British Empire all activities will, at eleven o'clock, pause for two minutes, and with bowed head give thought and respect, and love and memory to the nighty dead. There will be no official or universal holiday on the occasion; it is scarcely fitting that there should be; for it is more than likely that had such been the case, instead of today being observed as a day of remembrance, it would have been turned into one of enjoyment. Solemn tribute to the memory of those gallant men and women who gave their lives as a free and voluntary sacrifice can be paid in the way prescribed.

"Let us forget." Forget indeed? Will the relatives of the millions of British men and women who lie on Flanders' Fields ever forget? They need no prompt to remind them of where their dead lie sleeping, the very sight of those emblems merely serves to re-awaken grief that in the vast majority of cases has scarcely yet begun to be assuaged. Will they ever forget the days when after some fierce battle, the dreadful casualty lists stretched themselves from column to column, and from page to page in the newspapers, each entry in that scroll carrying a danger to gentle hearts at home, perhaps announcing to parents the end of their lifetime's hope and ambition, and to wives and children the loss of that which they held dearest? No, those things will be remembered without having people flaunted in their faces at every street corner.

That national sentiment must be respected, and so today, in every corner of this far-flung Empire, heads will be bared and duty suspended while a great Empire, ostensibly at any rate, pays a tribute of love and respect and pride to the gallant dead, who counted not their lives dear to them in performance of the duty of defending their country and the world at large from the power that sought their destruction.

The British Empire owes an incalculable debt to those of her children who, from many lands—from many climes and peoples, races and tongues and colors, rushed to the defence of that great democracy which stands for the highest in life and conduct and effort; but it is the imperative duty of the leaders of the modern nations which dream of a warless world, by patent instruments, to lead the way in a general disarmament, for the constant sight of monuments and instruments of war, perpetuates the thought of force and violence and wounds and death; and this paralyses every effort made for the peaceful advance of the world.

In the past three years much has been done to bind up the physical wounds of the world. Less progress has been made in restoring to a normal condition its nervous system. Those who thought that out of the Great War the millennium would suddenly emerge have been disappointed, and in their disappointment have been fretful and fault finding. They had hoped and expected that the burden of the war would be rolled on the shoulders of those who plotted and promoted it; but it has been found that the shoulders of Germany were not strong enough to bear her sins. The burden rests upon the whole world and must rest there for years yet to come. No act of atonement can avert this result. The League of Nations and the Armament Conference are as powerless to alter these conditions as to change the tides or control the seasons. They have their own useful functions to perform, and these we believe they will try honestly and wisely to discharge. The most important of them is the prevention of future wars. With the calamity of the Great War in mind there is reason to expect that this will not be so difficult a task as critics contend. But neither the League of Nations nor the Armament Conference can do much else besides keeping the peace among the nations. The real salvation of the world under Providence rests upon the people themselves, in peace as in war. It is only by hard work and high thinking, by clinging to the guides and standards which the experience of thousands of years have set their seal of approval upon, that we shall at last emerge from the welter into which we were plunged by the Great War.

WHO IS THE FRIEND OF LABOR?

Mr. Calvin Lawrence, legislative representative of the Brotherhood of Railway Engineers, and one of the best known labor leaders in Canada, was recently appointed by the Government as a member of the Board of Railway Commissioners.

This is in line with the Government's policy, maintained from its inception, to give Labor its rightful share in the government of the country. No other Ministry since Confederation has gone as far in this direction. In fifteen years, for example, the Government of Sir Wilfrid Laurier failed to appoint a single representative of Labor to any important administrative post in the country. Even at a time when Mr. Mackenzie King was in the Laurier Ministry, and despite that gentleman's professions of friendship for the working classes, Labor was completely ignored in the selection of administrative heads.

Sir Robert Borden effected a change. He was the first Canadian statesman to realize that Labor must have its share in the realm of government, and he carried his realization into effect by calling to his Cabinet the Hon. Gideon Robertson, the first leader of labor to enter a Canadian Government. His policy has been maintained by Mr. Meighen.

Under the circumstances, which leader in this fight is Labor going to stand by? Hon. Mackenzie King, who ignored Labor when in office, and whose strike-breaking activities for Rockefeller were denounced by Labor's representative on the United States Board?

OR—Hon. T. A. Crerar, opposed to the eight hour day, to old age pensions and unemployment insurance?

OR—Mr. Hon. Arthur Meighen, who has always believed in Labor being given its legitimate share in the government of the country, and who once more gives practical demonstration of his belief by the appointment of Mr. Lawrence to one of the highest administrative posts in the country?

THEY CANNOT BE TRUSTED.

Mr. Fielding says:—"There never has been and probably never will be 'free trade' in this Dominion. No 'platform of any political party proposes free trade. No political leader of any party proposes free trade."

Mr. Fielding's memory is apparently somewhat short seeing that he has forgotten the Liberal party platform adopted at Ottawa in 1912. It is perhaps true that just at present no political leader of any party proposes free trade, for the simple reason that the people of Canada as a whole would not stand for it for a moment. But Liberal platforms, as Mr. Fielding himself has told us, are only to get in on, and once in, there is no dependence whatever to be placed on the verbal professions of Liberal leaders. The Liberal party leaders repudiated a free trade policy in 1908, but a year or two later they were prepared to enter into a free trade agreement with the United States, on such terms as would have made Canada, in President Taft's own words, "merely an adjunct to the United States." The avowed policy of the United Farmers, without whose assistance the Liberal party could neither form nor carry on a government, is out and out free trade in most commodities; and after the experience of the proposed Roddick deal in 1911, who is willing to trust the leaders of the Liberal party not to try the same game again in a few months hence, particularly when they ally themselves with the Farmers?

THOSE SHELLS!

Saturday Night.—"Billy King started in last week to make a lot of 'pokes over some war munitions which were being landed at Quebec. 'Where did we get them? When and where they made? How much did they cost? How many ship loads? 'Why munitions when the Peace Conference was about to be convened? 'Who was meant to be shot? He put all this and more into an envelope and addressed it to Arthur Meighen. And then he gave a copy of the despatch to the newspapers. As 'Billy had been in the newspaper game in his young days he no doubt thought it a great 'woppy.' It would have been better had he waited for a reply before publishing his 'news,' for his bomb not only proved a squib, but it caused numerous otherwise 'friendly' publications to turn on him 'with surprising fury.'"

"The answer to the King insinuations made everything plain. These 'munitions' were owing Canada by the British Government and were simply being repaid; and in due time they 'other point are being reamed, or 'militia' and other military units. 'There was really nothing to hide, but 'presume there had been. All governments at certain periods are given to operating in the dark, so to speak. 'That is to say they do not blurt from the houseposts nor advertise in the 'New York Journal' the information 'that the fleet at Halifax or some other point are being reamed, or 'that a certain quantity of shells are being stored. These are secrets of State and should be considered. But 'Mr. King apparently had a different notion."

The Telegraph and Times just at present are devoting a considerable amount of effort to extolling the policies of the Laurier Government and telling the people what wonderful benefits the country has derived from them. Yet on the 2nd November 1904, The Telegraph urged the people of Canada to turn the Laurier Government out of power in these words:—"But the people of this country can close the Pandora door 'tomorrow for all time, if they stand 'fast for Canadian interests, and hurl 'from power the administration which 'is now making a final attempt to 'foist this iniquitous and un-Canadian 'project upon the country.' The people are going to stand fast for Canadian interests now, and keep out of power the men who put that 'iniquitous and un-Canadian' deal through."

The esteemed Globe undertakes to try to disprove the Conservative contention that an agreement exists between the Liberal and Farmer parties not to oppose one another, and it quotes the utterances of other journals in support. Well, we don't need to go any further than York County to prove that there is considerable truth in the Conservative claims. There was to have been a Farmer candidate in that county, but the gentleman selected refused to say whether he would run or not until it was known whether the Liberals would put a candidate in the field. As soon as it was decided that they would do so, the proposed Farmer dropped out. Further, Col. Osborne, the Liberal nominee, only accepted on the understanding that he would not be opposed by a Farmer.

The Hon. C. W. Robinson would confer a great benefit not only upon his political opponents, but upon his friends as well, if he would, in the course of one or more of his numerous addresses, state in plain language just what his views upon the Railway question really are. It is a very agreeable trait of course to be able to be all things to all men, so as not to wilfully offend any; but in the matter of the railways, it would be just as well if instead of saying one thing to one audience and something else to just the same to another, he would just say out straight just what policy he does favor.

The Telegraph—"The Conservative 'forces, as is generally known, are by no means satisfied or harmonious as regards either Hon. Mr. Baxter or 'his colleague.' This is certainly a piece of news for the Conservative party. If there is any want of satisfaction or lack of harmony it certainly was not apparent at the Conservative Convention, where all the proceedings passed off as smoothly as the most capacious critic could well wish them to. There never was a more united party at any time than the Conservative party is in this province today."

If the report of the proceedings at the Liberal Convention on Wednesday night as given by The Telegraph and Times had appeared in The Standard, the latter would have been accused of deliberately distorting and exaggerating actual incidents for partisan purposes. In view of what the two former papers said about the proceedings, it is not at all surprising that Mr. McLaughlin should have made, in the words of The Telegraph, "an earnest appeal for unity."

WHAT OTHERS SAY

After Twelve Years.

(Ottawa Journal.)—"The Meighen Government is doomed. Therefore a vote for any of its candidates is a vote lost."—Kingston Whig, Liberal.

You will note that the Kingston Whig is no friend of the Government. Perhaps you think that this is because the Kingston Whig feels in common with its leader, Mr. Mackenzie King, and with all the other opponents of the Government, Mr. Crerar and Mr. Loughnan and Col. Leverina, and Mr. Murdoch and the rest, that Canada is in a bad way because of the party which has now been in power twelve years.

So, let us reproduce what the Kingston Whig says editorially in an adjoining column of the same issue in which the above editorial remark appears. In a lengthy article headed "Canada's strong position," the Kingston Whig says:—"According to many public men from Great Britain and some of the European countries who have recently been visiting Canada, the people of this country do not realize just how fortunate they are in living in such a dominion as Canada. It is perhaps strange, but it is nevertheless a fact, that visitors to this country find far more to praise and in which to find hope than do our own people. Time and again during the past few weeks, speakers from other countries, prominent amongst them being Councillor Peter Wright, the great patriot and orator, have pointed out the splendid position which Canada occupies in comparison to the other countries of the world today, and have wondered why our people do not appreciate our good fortune in the way they ought to do."

With the above summary of the ideas which outsiders have about the Canadian position, the Kingston Whig fully agrees. The Whig continues:—"A glance through the columns of any newspaper any day will show the truth of their assertions. In comparison with other countries, the position of Canada is indeed a good one, and our economic life is in a far more healthy condition. In spite of the improved material conditions in most countries, compared with what they were a year ago, they are still far behind Canada in prosperity and in economic law and order."

The Whig proceeds to make comparisons between Canada and many other countries, winding up with the two strongest of them all, Britain and the United States:—"Great Britain, with a deplorable unemployment situation, is staggered under a burden of debt, and with the added handicap of greatly reduced trade. Even the United States has its troubles with unemployment and labor troubles, and is in none too good a position."

And then:—"Now let us turn to Canada. We have, it is true, a certain amount of debt, but that is decreasing, and we are natural resources to be utilized to get rid of this problem then not a man would be without a job, unless he did not wish to work. There is little poverty in Canada, and no starvation, except in perhaps one or two isolated cases in which there are other contributory factors, the present time is singularly free from labor troubles, and the country, although suffering from a slight temporary depression, is in such a position that the wheels of industry can be set revolving at any time, and that it is financially the envy of the world."

"Canada the envy of the world!" Big words, and they come from a Liberal paper. But Mr. King and Mr. Crerar and the rest who want to get into office and jobs run around clamoring about the beauty of something else in the way of national policy than this country has practised for forty years, calling upon us to take some sort of leap in the dark, waiting about unemployment alleged to be due to the tariff, proclaiming that mysterious and unspecified "big interests" are bleeding Canada (and certainly the Grain-Growers Company made 530 per cent profit last year), denouncing our "imperialism" (when we spend less on that than any other country in the world), demanding that "something must be done" with our railways, though they don't know and can't guess what, alleging like the Ottawa Citizen that we don't need a merchant marine and that it is a Government crime to spend money on dredging Canadian rivers and canals, because dredging can't deepen anything, and so on. All the office-seekers and all the cranks in Canada are united in deploring upon political platforms the sad case of Canada, but sometimes by accident a newspaper that works with them tells the truth as the Kingston Whig has done about the position of Canada after twelve years of the administration of the men whom the present Government represents.

NOTES BY THE OFFICE BOY
I took a day off yesterday owing to there being so many good pictures on view at the various theatres, and I could not get them all in in my ordinary time. Besides, the rain was a necessary for my health, no one has any idea how very exciting the duties of Office Boy are until they have actually been experienced.

"Talk is cheap," said one politician to another yesterday. It is as long as you don't do it over the phone.

I see that a hunter recently mistook a dog for a bear and shot him. I suppose he was just practicing up for the guides.

A chap I know who bought some German marks, says he's come to the conclusion now that they don't amount to much more than scratches.

Not being troubled with stage fright Babe Ruth didn't feel like making a home run when he first appeared in his vaudeville act.

I see in a paper that a girl got a fellow fined for kissing her on the front porch. Well, if she was at all pretty, her lips would have done for me.

A Cleveland woman has at last found a use for cockroaches. Because one of these insects was found in a bottle of liquor in her possession, she secured a dismissal of a charge against her of having liquor illegally. The court agreed that the liquid was rendered "unfit for beverage purposes."

Some chronological (good word that) notes:
Tuesday aft: Hon. W. H. Foster goes to Montreal.
Wednesday: Liberal convention.
Thursday morning: Mr. Foster returns from Montreal.

A pal of mine who was at the Liberal Convention says it was more fun than a pantomime. No one knew what was coming next, but there was something doing all the time. He says the Conservative crowd are kindergartners compared with the Liberals when it comes to raising a racket.

A BIT OF VERSE

REMEMBRANCE DAY.
Let not oblivion close in her fell shade.
The faithful heroes, who for their country died,
Recall their names, their deeds let her not hide;
Tell of their sacrifices nobly made.
Too oft men treat the sacred past as dead,
The benefactions of the past as ill—
Deserving memory's warmest hand,
And all their days with greed or vanities instead.

Men of those striving modern days
In chivalrous pursuit of fruitful peace;
In all that tendeth to the land's increase,
In right, truth, love and reverence begin.
For only lands can flourish long
Which own their obligations to the sacred past,
Their present duty and the things which last,
And honor the Eternal on His throne.

Bring, then, affection's tribute of earth's flowers,
Deck grave and cross and graceful monument;
Cherish the loved ones gone, with sweet intent,
And let their virtues brighten future hours.

BRIAND WANTS NOTHING ABOUT FRANCE COVERED
Desires American Public to Know Economic, Military and Political Situation.

Washington, Nov. 10.—(By The Associated Press.)—Mr. Briand's desire in connection with the armament conference is that nothing should be withheld from the American public as to the military, the economic or the political situation of France or the reasons why that government is or might be impelled to one course or another.

The military position and requirements of France are matters of anxious concern and General Bunt, the chief of the French general staff, has brought with him to the conference a chest of documents respecting the present military strength of Germany and her potential power. These, it is said, include copies of secret instructions of the German ministry of war concerning the grouping of former officers of which there are 250,000 into skeleton regimental formations so that without delay military units could be created by summoning to the colors former service men of which there are four or five million.

General Bunt has with him a copy of the latest issue of the German army regulations published Sept. 3, that does not deal, he pointed out, with an army of 100,000 as provided under the treaty of Versailles, but with forces on a vast scale, including corps, armies in groups of armies.

The army section of the French delegation also has brought reports respecting the small arms said to be concealed in Germany. Arms and artillery factories owned by Germans, according to these reports, have been acquired, or are being constructed, in countries around Germany under the supervision of the allied commission of control. Such establishments are indicated in Holland, in Switzerland and especially in Sweden. A large airplane factory is said to be in operation by Germans in Switzerland.

From a considerable documentation the conclusion is reached by the French general staff that the German government and German organizations are determined upon a methodical and long-sighted preparation for war. That preparation, in the French military view, will consist largely in the permanent and increasing industrial power of sixty million people as compared with France's forty million, modern war being that of the organized nation.

General Bunt and the principal officers with him are understood to be prepared to discuss at the conference the French military policy fully with its true aims—security and the necessary means for the execution of the Versailles treaty, as interpreted by the allied supreme council. It will be shown, it is said, that the French army of about 900,000 last year, including 600,000 in Germany, has been reduced to 500,000 of which about 475,000 are on service directly necessary under the peace treaties—that is, 85,000 in the Rhineland, 65,000 in Syria, 15,000 in Upper Silesia, 6,000 in Constantinople and a few other thousands in detachments elsewhere.

The army, it is pointed out, is in process of further reduction to 600,000, as provided in the next year's appropriations. The coming into operation of the 18 months' service law instead of that providing for three years will reduce the army in 16 months to between 400,000 and 500,000. It was said that a reduction below approximately 400,000 would be regarded by the general staff, it is said, as depending upon favorable turn of events, or in the introduction of new elements in the situation.

Such an element, it is held, would be the pronounced "moral support" of the American government.

BRIAND WANTS NOTHING ABOUT FRANCE COVERED

Desires American Public to Know Economic, Military and Political Situation.

Washington, Nov. 10.—(By The Associated Press.)—Mr. Briand's desire in connection with the armament conference is that nothing should be withheld from the American public as to the military, economic or political situation of France or the reasons why that government is or might be impelled to one course or another.

The military position and requirements of France are matters of serious concern and General Bunt, the chief of the French general staff, has brought with him to the conference a chest of documents respecting the present military strength of Germany and her potential power. These, it is said, include copies of secret instructions of the German ministry of war concerning the grouping of former officers of which there are 250,000, into skeleton regimental formations so that without delay military units could be created by summoning to the colors former service men of which there are four or five million.

General Bunt has with him a copy of the latest issue of the German army regulations published Sept. 3, that does not deal, he pointed out, with an army of 100,000 as provided under the treaty of Versailles, but with forces on a vast scale, including corps, armies and groups of armies.

The army section of the French delegation also has brought reports respecting the small arms said to be concealed in Germany, arms and artillery factories owned by Germans, according to these reports, have been acquired, or are being constructed, in countries around Germany beyond the supervision of the allied commission of control. Such establishments are indicated in Holland, in Switzerland and especially in Sweden. A large airplane factory is said to be in operation by Germans in Switzerland.

From a considerable documentation the conclusion is reached by the French general staff that the German government and German organizations are determined upon a methodical and long-sighted preparation for war. That preparation, in the French military view, will consist largely in the permanent and increasing industrial power of sixty million people as compared with France's forty million, modern war being that of the organized nation.

General Bunt and the principal officers with him are understood to be prepared to discuss at the conference the French military policy fully with its true aims—security and the necessary means for the execution of the Versailles treaty, as interpreted by the allied supreme council. It will be shown, it is said, that the French army of about 900,000 last year, including officers, has been reduced, this year to 800,000 of which about 175,000 are on service directly necessary under the peace treaties—that is, 85,000 in the Rhineland, 65,000 in Syria, 15,000 in Upper Silesia, 4,000 in Constantinople and a few other thousands in detachments elsewhere.

The army, it is pointed out, is in process of further reduction to 600,000, as provided in next year's appropriations. The coming into operation of the 18 months' service law instead of that providing for three years will reduce the army in 16 months to between 400,000 and 500,000, it was said. A reduction below approximately 400,000 would be regarded by the general staff, it is said, as depending upon a favorable turn in events, or in the introduction of new elements in the situation.

Such an element, it is held, would be the pronounced "moral support" of the American government.

The form in which this support might be given, it has been intimated, is a declaration recognizing the justice of German reparations and the desire to see them paid. This idea is approached with considerable caution, however, the view being that the American government, upon knowing all the facts of the French situation and giving them due weight, taking into account the French debts to America and the urgent need for saving and the probable tranquillizing effect upon the general economic situation of such an announcement might, in the interests both of the United States and France, express in an authoritative manner its "moral position."

China Ready To Get Down To Real Conference Terms

Peking, Nov. 10.—China's second reply to Tokyo with regard to Shantung is believed here to put the question of restoration on a working basis for the first time. The question of right and wrong seems temporarily shelved while China is apparently ready to get down to concrete terms regarding railways and economic rights.

The Peking leader says the only important issue remaining is whether Japan will share in the management and control of the Shantung railway or China will assume complete control while buying out the Japanese interest. The railway gives Japan an economic stronghold on Shantung which has been missed in the past, contravening the open door.

"With the railway in Japan's hands, the door to Shantung is closed," says this paper, "with it in China's hands the door is wide open." The Yi Shih Pao, an opposition paper, thinks the language of the memorandum conveys the impression that both China and Japan are partly wrong in their respective stands, and that China is anxious to negotiate for further concessions.

MAGIC BAKING POWDER

PRODUCT OF CANADA

The reputation of Magic Baking Powder was not made in a day. Each succeeding year has entrenched it more securely in the homes of Canada's discriminating housewives. There is more Magic Baking Powder used in New Brunswick at the present time than ever before. It has been demonstrated that it is more economical and more satisfactory in every way than cream of tartar and soda.

Magic Baking Powder is scientifically made and has never failed to give the maximum leavening efficiency. Because of this and the uniformly satisfactory results obtained by its use, we recommend it as Canada's perfect baking powder.

British Pastor And War Vet Conceives Unknown Memorial

New York, Nov. 10.—The idea of conferring a nation's proudest honors on the bones of an unknown soldier, as will be done by the United States at Arlington National Cemetery on Armistice Day, was first put forward in England by Nathaniel Ralton, a young clergyman and war veteran.

According to information reaching American Legion headquarters here, England's initiative in holding a great public mourning service at the Bier of one of her nameless heroes, was taken after Ralton had published in a London paper an open letter addressed to the English public.

This article pointed out that many thousands of soldiers had died on the battlefield for their country and their ideals had gone to their graves unidentified, and urged that such a soldier, bravely lost in the great holocaust, typified more perfectly than could any other of the victims of the war the spirit of self-sacrifice and love of flag and country.

Urging a great demonstration in the form of a public funeral for an "unknown soldier," the letter expressed the thought that such a solemn ceremony would rivet forever in the hearts of British subjects the profound lessons of war and a worthy appreciation of the sacrifice of the young men who laid down their lives.

England lead in acting on the suggestion was quickly followed by France, Italy and the United States.

Nathaniel Ralton is the son of George S. Ralton, England's first Salvation Army commissioner, who was found dead in a little railroad station in Germany shortly before his outbreak of the war. Young Ralton, who at that time was a theological student, enlisted at once and served through many of the desperate battles of the early part of the war.

Maine Governor Names Nov. 24 Thanksgiving Day

Augusta, Me., Nov. 10.—"As the family is the unit of the state," said Governor Baxter today in a proclamation designating Nov. 24 as Thanksgiving Day. "I call upon the people of Maine to observe the day, and to strengthen their home ties by gathering together whatever possible in family groups."

"The men and women of Maine," he said, "have reason to be thankful for the inheritance of character and self-control handed down to them from their forefathers, for there is no finer inheritance."

"These early pioneers, coming from across the seas, to this unknown land, erected a free government in the wilderness of its woods and on the bleak shores of its coast, and they builded better than they knew."

McKinnon Loses Another Carload

Captured by Aroostook Deputies While Navigating 180 Quarts to Bangor.

Wypitlock, November 10.—Deputy Sheriffs J. W. Clifford and L. B. Clifford of Wypitlock on Saturday last captured a Franklin roadster, loaded with about 180 quarts of whiskey, which was being driven to Bangor by Pope McKinnon, formerly of Bangor, now residing in Woodstock, N. B. McKinnon was accompanied by James Cassidy of Bangor.

The deputies, having previous knowledge of the movements of the car, had their Ford cars so placed in the road that either a hold-up or a smash-up was inevitable. The latter was the result, both cars being badly crippled. McKinnon and Cassidy were held at Forest Lodge until the arrival of Sheriff Grant, who with L. E. Clifford, accompanied them to Houlton. They were taken before Judge Archibald Monday and placed under a bond of $1,000 each for appearance at the supreme court in Houlton in November.

Hen Mothers Kitten In Brood With Chicks

Atlantic City, Nov. 10.—Margate City is marvelling over the mothering spirit exhibited by a hen in the flock of Mrs. Albert Rogers in adopting a homeless kitten as her "family."

Biddy raised a brood of seven chicks this year and they have long since reached the broiler stage. Mrs. Rogers, feeding her poultry, noticed that this particular hen ducked and frussed about as if calling her chicks and was astonished to see a small black kitten slip out from under her right wing on the "signal." The kitten refuses to leave the hen and the foster mother is perfectly contented to house the kitten under her wings.

Rourke Discharged By U. S. Federal Commissioner

New York, Nov. 10.—George Gordon Rourke, a commission agent of Washington, D. C., held in bail since last September on a charge of conspiracy to ship arms into Ireland, was discharged today by Federal Commissioner Hitchcock. The Government failed to produce any evidence to support its charges.

Fire Turned Out Three Families

Leinster Street House Was Badly Damaged by Fire Early Yesterday Morning.

Three families were turned out of their homes by a fire which occurred early yesterday morning, in the rear of a house at 145 Leinster street, owned by the St. John Real Estate Co. and occupied by S. Bunt, Lt.-Col. Sparling and H. C. Schoolbred.

The fire was discovered by Percy Clark, who rooms at Mr. Schoolbred's, and he at once took steps to rescue Mrs. Schoolbred and her five-year-old son. Before they got out Mrs. Schoolbred was overcome by smoke and carried to a place of safety by Police Officer John McElhinney. The members of the other two families succeeded in getting out and all found homes with neighbors.

The alarm was rung in by Walter Campbell. Before the blaze was extinguished the oil of the house had been practically gutted and the furniture in the front considerably damaged by water and smoke. The loss in all cases is partially covered by insurance.

VISITORS WELCOME

Women of New Brunswick:

Many of you will cast your first vote in Dominion affairs at the coming election to be held on December 6. It is your duty to inform yourself of the issues to be decided on that date and to vote according to your own judgment on that information.

May we submit the following reasons for supporting the candidates of the National Liberal and Conservative party:

1. In Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen we have a leader who is worthy of every woman's confidence, the father of a fine family, able, courageous, truthful and of irrefragable character. He won his way to the front in Canadian affairs at a comparatively early age through sheer force of ability and character, and was a bulwark of strength in Canada's war cabinet, standing firmly for support of the men at the front. On the other hand, instead of being filled with the "Prussian militaristic spirit" as has been represented, he was largely responsible as Canada's representative at the Conference of British Premiers for the calling of the World's Disarmament Conference now being held at Washington.
2. Because, under the Borden-Meighen governments, the right of women to the franchise was first recognized and their rights of suffrage are in every respect the same as the suffrage rights of men. Of this, Premier Meighen says: "This was done voluntarily as an act of justice. The services of women in the war had been, such in the judgment of the Government and the party that supported it, their qualifications for franchise had been demonstrated and their right to franchise had been earned. Nevertheless there were those opposed to us who resisted the Government's action in this regard, and who still insist that such action was wrong."
3. Because the National Liberal and Conservative party policy protects the Canadian home. Whether you live in town or city, on the farm, your peace and prosperity are menaced by the Low Tariff and Free Trade policies of the King-Crerar parties.
- If your husband is a worker in office or factory you slam the door of employment right in his face if you vote for a policy which brings more goods into Canada, either from the big industries of the United States or from the factories of Germany and Japan where the workers receive but a bare pittance?
- If your husband is a farmer there are two points of danger to him and to you if you do not defeat the ambitions of Messrs. King and Crerar. The victory of either would tend to destroy the Home Markets being built up through the development of industrial centres and also open the door of these Home Markets to the rich American farmer while your own produce is shut out of the United States by a prohibitive tariff. Is that a fair proposition?
4. The Meighen government in its treatment of returned men and dependents and in the granting of pensions has been more generous than any country in the world.
5. The Meighen government has been most economical in its administration of the affairs of the country, spending, last year, only THREE PER CENT. more on ordinary account than in 1911. Are your own household accounts not more than Three Per Cent. greater than in 1911, Mrs. Housewife?

The matter has already been considered and an offer made by the Senators to the Trojans that they should each release one of their new players who would be playing with the Alerts for the first time this year to the Alerts, that their line-up might be put more nearly on a par with the two stronger teams.

DECIDES AGAINST MRS. STILLMAN

New York, Nov. 10.—Surrogate Cohen today denied an application of Mrs. Anne U. Stillman, defendant in divorce proceedings instituted by James A. Stillman, New York banker, that she be appointed general guardian of her sons, James and Alexander. The surrogate, however, appointed Mrs. Stillman and her attorney, John F. Brennan of Yonkers, as a committee to take care of the property of these two children.

OILCLOTH ARM-BAGS.

New handbags and purses are so small and dainty that every woman needs a spacious reticule to swing on her arm when she takes her fancy work out to afternoon tea, or far from town to do the morning marketing. A good-looking bag is made of black oilcloth and is about ten inches wide by all twelve deep. The two sections of black oilcloth are bound together with a strip of black and white checked gingham stitched on the machine; and the strap handle that slips over the arm is made of two strips of oilcloth face-to-face, and bound together with the checked gingham. Across one side of the bag a dashing design is painted in oil; a conventional cluster of red dahlias, or shaded yellow chrysanthemums; or a quaint figure of some sort.

WORLD'S BANTAMWEIGHT BOXING CHAMPION RETAINED HIS TITLE

Last Night in Madison Square Garden Johnny Buff Obtained Judge's Decision Over Jack Sharkey at End of Fifteen Round Fight. New York, Nov. 10.—Johnny Buff, world's bantamweight boxing champion, retained his title tonight by obtaining a Judge's decision over Jack Sharkey, of New York, at the end of their fifteen round bout in Madison Square Garden.

Round one—Buff started a winning offensive in the twelfth round and by the power of his biting turned the tide against the Italian-American. Buff opened the fight with a rush, but Sharkey's well placed blows slowed him up for awhile. He was staggered by Sharkey's blows on numerous occasions, but recuperated quickly. Sharkey had the better of five rounds, six went to Buff, and four were even. Buff weighed 114 pounds and Sharkey 116-12. Bert Colina, of San Francisco, received the Judge's decision over George Shade, also of San Francisco, at the end of their eight-round bout.

Tower Wagon Aids Rutgers's Coach

New Brunswick, N. J., Nov. 10.—George Sanford, the former Yale star, is responsible for Rutgers's rise in the football world. He has coached at Rutgers for eight seasons, and last year, for lack of material, had a poor team. In a certain sense, the gridders he had last year were not meant to win games; it was a sort of a farming out for this year's schedule. This year he has been blessed with a wealth of good men and, added to the trained ones of last year, it has given the Scarlet an eleven as powerful as those of his golden days.

Jimmy Smith Rags The Traffic Cop

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 7.—"Jimmy" Smith, second baseman for the Phillies, may be able to raze opposing players and "umps," but when it comes to razing a Pittsburg motorcycle policeman, he is not "there." Last night, in company with a girl friend, "Greenfield Jimmy," according to Motorcycle Policeman Jacob Dorsey, while driving his automobile in Bigelow boulevard near Fourteenth street, was cutting capers.

Tex Rickard Sued By New York Broker

In an effort to recover money said to have been loaned Tex Rickard for promotion of the Johnson-Jeffries bout in 1910 and other big sporting events, Frank D. Armstrong, New York broker, has sought to have the promoter and two corporations in which he is interested thrown into the hands of a receiver. Upon Armstrong's application, Supreme Court Justice Hotchkiss signed an order requiring Rickard, the Madison Square Garden Corporation and the Madison Square Corporation, to show cause next Monday why a receiver should not be appointed for their interests.

It is likely Rocky Kanam's next big bout down New York way will be with Johnny Dundee, the jumping, leaping Italian boy, who stomped the Buffalo boy in their last Milwaukee meeting. Kanam was anxious to get a crack at Leonard, but Tex Rickard says Rocky isn't ready, so secured Kanam's consent to meet Dundee. The date will be about mid-November.

Footballists Talk About The Protest

Mount A. Claims Championship of Western Division—Victory Over Acadia. Amherst, N. S., Nov. 10.—Tonight at Sackville the main theme under discussion centered around the protest against U. N. B. After the six to three victory over Acadia at Sackville this afternoon Mount Allison University naturally feels somewhat elated and they claim that, according to rules, the championship of the western intercollegiate division is by no means settled. While Mount Allison won from Acadia the game was not a sine cure. Apply, the Mount Allison half went over the line for two tries, while Clarke of Acadia scored Acadia's only try in the first ten minutes of the game. The two Mount Allison tries were attempted to cover at impossible angles. Acadia had an easy chance to convert, but missed. Later in the game Clarke of Acadia failed in an attempt to kick a field goal. The field was not covered with an inch of snow, but the ball was slippery and fumbles were frequent. Considering these adverse conditions the two teams put up a wonderful brand of football. Both half lines did some splendid work while the forward lines also kept in constant action. Mount Allison had the territory advantage in the first period, although Acadia scored the first try after six minutes of play. Apply tried before the end of the period, in the second period Acadia kept Mount Allison back of the twenty-five yard line for practically twenty minutes. A long punt, a fumble and a series of short kicks took the ball up the field, and Apply, taking a pass from Lozan, Clark went over the line again in a diagonal run. The Acadia half line made a last effort to tie the score, but in a long run Anthony was pushed out of touch not two yards from Mount Allison's goal line, and the Garnet and gold proceeded to work the oval back up the field.

Golf And How To Play It

It is said that a good professional can teach with a fair degree of certainty every golfer except the putter. That seems to be the one constantly evasive shot. Not long ago Alex. Duncan told me an interesting story about a golfer who was one of the great British quartette of golf masters, Vardon, Braid, Taylor and Hay were practicing putting on the green in a driving golf stroke except the putter. Just prior to the start of a famous match. Putting does not seem to play so important a part in the British game as it does in the American. It is rarely indeed that the British golfers of the very first-class very good putters.

Roddy McDonald Was Knocked Out

With Right Cross to the Jaw Mike McTigue Put Halifax Man to Sleep. Quebec, Nov. 10.—Mike McTigue, claimant of the middleweight championship of Canada, scored a knock out over Roddy McDonald, of Halifax, in the last round of a ten-round bout at the Quebec Arena tonight. The fight was one of the poorest exhibitions of boxing ever seen in this city and the crowd booed and jeered the fighters from the first round up to the sixth session, when McTigue opened up slightly and easily held the advantage over McDonald up to the time of the knockout. Very few damaging blows were struck during the contest, and the crowd yelled at the fighters to open up, and called on Referee Pinault, of Boston, to make them fight. In the first five rounds the men clinched continually and fought a little in the clinches. In the eighth round McTigue was floored when McDonald tripped him and caught him with a back-hand swing. In the tenth, after two minutes of fighting, McTigue floored McDonald for a count of four with a right cross to the jaw. McDonald jumped up and after a few seconds' sparring, McTigue repeated with a similar blow, and the Halifax fighter was counted out. It was after 11 o'clock when the bout started.

Gibbons May Get Crack At Dempsey

Minneapolis Promoter Offers The Champion $100,000 to Box the St. Paul Star. Jack Dempsey, world's champion heavyweight boxer, and his manager, Jack Kearns, arrived in Winnipeg from Minneapolis. Local admirers of Dempsey were at the Canadian Pacific Railway station in force to welcome him to Winnipeg. A big crowd was on deck early and, when the train arrived at 8:15 o'clock, the station was packed with wish boys and "grown-ups" who gave the champion a rousing cheer as he stepped into the rotunda at the depot. Dempsey was kept busy for several minutes shaking hands with the youthful boxing fans.

Championship of Western Section

U. N. B. Wins Honor as Result of Mount Allison's Win Over Acadia Yesterday. Sackville, N. B., Nov. 10.—The championship of the Western section of the intercollegiate rugby league goes to U. N. B. as the result of Mount Allison's win over Acadia here today by a score of 6 to 3. Although the game was played on a wet field, after an all night rain, the play was fast and despite the importance of the game, was very clean. Both teams were evenly matched, although the Acadia half line showed a slight superiority over their opponents in passing. The visitors scored first making a pretty try between the posts, after about ten minutes of play, which however, they failed to convert. Both Mt. Allison's tries were almost impossible to convert, owing to the poor position of the posts. Mt. Allison's star game throughout, his quick thinking saving the situation more than once.

Will Consider The Mt. A. Protest

Representatives from Three Colleges Meet Here Tonight. Special to The Standard. Fredericton, N. B., Nov. 10.—A conference of representatives of the faculties of the three colleges forming the western section of the Maritime Provinces intercollegiate league will be held at the Dufferin Hotel, St. John, Friday night for the purpose of considering the protest by Mount Allison University of the game played here last Friday which was won by the Mount Allison half line brought it toward him. Prof. John Stephens will represent the U. N. B. The representatives of Acadia and Mount Allison are not known here. J. W. Allen of Halifax was referred to the game here has been asked by U. N. B. to attend the conference or if unable to do so to forward a statement of his decision upon the point concerned. Press reports have given the impression that a spectator went on the field of play and collided with a Mount Allison player as he was running with the ball and so prevented him from scoring a try. The facts as ascertained here are almost the reverse. A spectator who had gone on the field of play ran toward the touch line to avoid the ball as the play of the Mt. Allison half line brought it toward him and the Mount Allison man with the ball collided with the spectator. Immediately after the collision both player and spectator were in touch. L. R. Whitaker of St. John who was touched on that side signalled then that the ball was in touch, a statement by Mr. Whitaker probably will be placed before the conference. The contention of U. N. B. is expected to be that a try would not have been scored if the collision had occurred and that Referee Allen dealt with the matter at once and had full and final power to deal with it.

Aberdeen Claims The Championship

Moncton School Makes Claim as Result of Rothersey's Refusal to Play Off. That the day for the Rothersey Collegiate School, St. John High School and Fredericton High School to settle amongst themselves the inter-scholastic championship of the province, has passed, was brought to light by a determined attempt made last Spring to have other schools admitted in the so-called inter-scholastic track meet championships. The Aberdeen High School has again brought the matter to a head by claiming the Inter-Scholastic Football Championship, as a result of Rothersey Collegiate's refusal to play-off for it.

Grand Circuit For Kenilworth Track

It is understood that those interested in Grand Circuit racing may hold a meeting next June at Kenilworth track, Windsor, just before the Cleveland meeting opens. Those interested in the project think that in view of Detroit meeting always being one of the banner gatherings of the Grand Circuit, a meeting of Kenilworth would be a success. If such a meeting is held, it would be held on the law, be only able to race three days a week. If they wished to prolong the meeting further they would have to run into the second week. A pretty good performer was the bay pacer, Friday Q., by Dan Q., who raced so consistently through New Hampshire the past season and took a record of 2:21 1/4.

HARRIS GILBERT VICTIM OF DARING HIGHWAY ROBBERY

Proprietor of Second-Hand Store Assaulted in Front of Union Street Home Last Night—Injuries Necessitated His Removal to Hospital—Robbed of Money and Keys

As the result of a daring highway robbery and a murderous attack, Harris Gilbert, proprietor of the second-hand store, 34 Mill Street was conveyed to the General Public Hospital last night in a badly injured condition. Shortly after ten o'clock Mr. Gilbert closed up his place of business and accompanied by an acquaintance walked up Mill to the corner of Union Street where they conversed for some little time. When the friend left, Mr. Gilbert proceeded to his home which is at 35 Union Street, just a few buildings from the corner of Dock Street, and which sets off the street about fifty feet. It was about 10:40 o'clock when he was suddenly attacked by two men and he did not know of their presence until he received a severe blow and was knocked to the ground. Mr. Gilbert's daughter and a couple of friends were in the house at the time and hearing a noise went out to investigate and their presence caused the two assailants and robbers to run away. Mr. Gilbert was picked up and assisted into his home where it was found that he was bleeding freely from the wounds received and was suffering severely from shock. As well as he was able he told of being assaulted and was unable to defend himself after he received the first blow. Dr. Rowley was summoned and after rendering first aid had Mr. Gilbert removed to the General Public Hospital for further treatment. That the two men were bent on robbery and little care for what the result of the assault would be was discovered when Mr. Gilbert was taken into his home and then it was learned that the robbers had rifled his pockets and stolen some loose change as well as the keys of his store. The detective department were at once notified and Sergeant Detective Power and others are working hard in an endeavor to locate the guilty persons. On examination being made at the Hospital it was found that Gilbert had received severe injuries about the eyes, face and nose and it is thought that the nose is broken. While suffering considerably the case is not reported as being serious.

Breach in Ranks of Liberal Party

Old Party Line Liberals Not Pleased—Will Support Conservative Candidates

That the breach in the ranks of the local Liberal party has been greatly increased since the tempestuous proceedings which marked the convention on Wednesday evening was evident yesterday from the remarks of many of the members of that party. It was very favorably estimated that the choice of the second nominee did not meet with the approval of the old party line Liberals, a large number of whom now intend to support the Conservative party in this constituency for the first time in their lives. Strong criticism was voiced regarding the action of the gathering in going ahead with the convention in the absence of every one of the thirty delegates from Albert county; and the rebuff handed to old political stalwarts of that county is keenly censured weekly ago, these representatives from Albert county had attended en bloc at their personal expense and at the cost of considerable time. Throughout the meeting they had shown a spirit of co-operation with the delegates from the city and county of St. John in the selection of candidates. In view of this, the action of Wednesday evening's convention was very favorably estimated. The absence of representation from Albert county, and the statement made during the proceedings that the meeting could not be held in the absence of Albert county was severely denounced in certain Liberal quarters. Furthermore, it is reasoned by these members that the Liberal party can entertain no hope for success after handing out such treatment to Albert county.

During Wednesday night's meeting one of the speakers declared that he would support the candidature of H. R. McLellan. It was further stated that Mr. McLellan had insulted every man on the streets of St. John, and the recall proceedings which were successfully instituted against Mr. McLellan when he was Commissioner of Public Safety were also mentioned. These matters, it is felt by several of the factions which were openly present at the convention, will not be forgotten by the electorate, and it will seriously hamper the carrying on of a campaign.

Another sore spot that has been made more acute is the fact that not one of the candidates can be termed a real Liberal; and many old party men had hoped that at least one would be placed on the ticket. The failure to do so is considered by certain Liberals as detrimental to the attitude of the Liberal party; and they are exceedingly disgruntled at the developments which have taken place.

The criticism of the Liberal executive and committee which was appointed to place before the convention the names of candidates for second choice on the ticket was again mentioned yesterday, and the opinion seemed to be strengthened that the best thing the party could do would be to call a new convention and make a fresh start. One of the difficulties in this respect, however, appeared to be the question of the attitude which the two present nominees would take in the matter.

ONLY ONE SCHOOL HAD ONE SESSION
Through a Mistake the Pupils of Winter St. School Were Dismissed at One O'clock.

The Winter street school put one over on the other schools of the city yesterday, their scholars getting off with one session while the others had to put in two. Dr. Bridges, superintendent of schools, said it was through some mistake this happened, as the orders had been given for two sessions. He explained that one session was only supposed to be given when there was a real heavy storm raging, and this rule would be observed in all cases. A slight rain fell such as obtained yesterday was not sufficient to call for a curtailment of the school day.

Relic of The Old Fire Fighting Days
Baton Used by First Fire Police, Donated to Natural History Museum by R. Jardine

A relic of the early days of the city, and the first organized force of fire fighters would be called to mind by a donation recently received by the Natural History Society for its museum, which was presented by Robert Jardine of Shediac. The relic is a baton used by the first fire police, of St. John, and formerly the property of Alexander Jardine, a grandfather of the donor, and a former member of the fire police.

The baton is painted red, and is nearly two feet long. At one end the letters "F. P." are painted in letters of gold. The baton differs from those used by the police of today, in that it is the same size at both ends, although rounded down some six inches from one end.
