PUBLIC MEETING FOR PATRIOTIC FUND

Will be Held Friday Evening in the Council Chambers—Every One Should be There

At the call of His Worship Mayor Andrew, a public meeting will be held tomorrow, Friday, evening in the Council Chambers at 8 p.m., to make a beginning towards the organization of a Patriotic Fund for this district.
The business men of the town are urgently requested to be present at this meeting, so that strong committees should be appointed to carry out our share of the Empire's burden. The county of Restigouche has done well in the sending of a large number of volunteers to the front, and it is now up to those who remain to show that there is no mean patriotism, loud-voiced and empty-meaning, but rather, a patriotism which will force them to dig deep down in their pockets. The man who stays at home and pays the bills, can with a little sacrifice, be as much a hero as the man at the front.
Come to the meeting tomorrow night, and show your true colors.

SUNDAY SCHOOL MEETING LAST NIGHT

Good Attendance of Sunday School Workers and Those Interested

In St. Andrews Church last evening an interesting meeting was held by Sunday School workers and all those interested, this being "Rally week" in connection with the work of the Sunday School. Mr. J. M. McLean presided, and in a few words welcomed the Sabbath School workers. Mr. M.
A. Kelly was the first speaker, and in an interesting address dealt with the "Boy Problem" as it is in Campbellton today. In the course of his address he strongly urged both parents and ministers to give this great subject a little more attention than it receives.
He spoke of the usual teaching of boys being negative, teaching in the way of "Don't do this" and "Don't do that", instead of the much better way of "Do this" and "Do that". The average parents sent their boys to Sunday School and that was all there was to it, whereas the better way would be bringing them to Sunday School themselves, thereby showing the boys the example. He instanced several things which came under his own notice, of young lads on the streets at night under the influence of liquor and felt sure their actions were unknown by their parents. This brought back the whole matter to the old story of the necessity of a Y. M. C. A. and what was to be done with the boys at night.
Mr. Kelly spoke pretty strongly on this and said that no doubt he might be criticised for his opinions, but he wished to draw the matter to their attention in the strongest manner possible. He also spoke of the fact that a local paper was carrying liquor advertisements in its columns, a fact that perhaps some did not understand, and which he sincerely deplored.

Mrs. D. J. Bruce read an interesting paper on the Home Department, making a strong plea for religious instruction in the home. Miss Anderson read an interesting paper on the "Teacher Training Class." Mrs. J. H.
Jenner gave an address on the qualifications of the teacher in the course of her remarks, bringing out three qualifications, first "Close living to the teaching of Christ," second "General knowledge of the Bible" and third "Consecration". A general discussion was then taken up on the different subjects of Sabbath School work, Rev.
Mr. Squires, Rev. J. H. Jenner and Rev. J. E. Purdie, who were present, taking part as well as others.

Mr. J. T. Reid then submitted a resolution regarding holding Union meetings, moving that a Union meeting be held on the second Wednesday of each month for the purpose of considering various phases of Sabbath School work, and that a committee be appointed to get the sanction of the governing boards of the churches and arrange for the first meeting. Rev. J.
H. Jenner's idea was to have a weekly meeting for teachers and those interested, when discussion on Sunday School could be first taken up and the latter part of the evening devoted to the various teacher training classes.
After further discussion on this matter, however, Mr. Reid's motion was carried and the Superintendents of the various schools appointed the committee to make arrangements for the first meeting.

ALLIES MAKE GREAT EFFORT TO TURN FLANK

Germans Admit They Have Been Unable to Stop the French Advance Against Their Right Wing, and Fall Back to Other Positions.

London, Sept. 30.—The nineteenth day of battle of the Aisne finds the allied armies pushing with all the strength they can bring to bear in their great effort to outflank the Germans right wing and force it back from its line of communications through Belgium. There is evidence that this movement is beginning to tell and that unless something unforeseen happens this portion of German army must fall back to another defensive line. A French official report issued this afternoon says that action continues to develop to northward, so that French left must now be pushing toward Cambrai as yesterday is was in the neighborhood of Albert. Even further north than this the French cavalry are operating, and last week the German force which was sent to Orchies, sixteen miles southeast of Lille, to punish France for an alleged attack on a German hospital at that place, met with superior forces and had to fall back. The Germans admit that they have been unable to stop French advance against their right wing and also that the allies have advanced on their right front. Indeed, there seems to be some agreement in official reports of belligerents on events in this part of the battlefield.

London, Sept. 30.—For the first time in this war of nine nations, there is to-day some concordance in the drift of the reports from the headquarters of the three armies holding the centre of the stage in France, which is still the theatre where the most consequential operations are in progress. It is, however, to be noted that corroboration by one side of the claims of the other is of course largely negative.

"The French advances from Verdun and Toul have been renewed," is the German official report of yesterday's fighting on the eastern end of the line, and the communication of Gen. Joffe, Commander-in-Chief of the French forces, agrees with it in the statement that his troops "have made slight progress" in that field.

At the other end of the 250 mile line, the Allies "are well holding their own," is the report from British headquarters, and the Berlin announcement seems indirectly to admit this claim by announcing that the battles of this end have been indecisive.

In the centre, the Commander-in-Chief claims slight progress.
According to another version of the report from the German headquarters, the French attacks from Verdun and Toul have been repulsed.

London, Oct. 1.—Slight advances by both wings of allies armies are indicated in official statement issued by French War office at 2.45 this afternoon. At same time, general situation is described as unchanged. "We have nevertheless," says statement, "made progress on our left to north of Somme and on our right in southern Woevre district." Brief announcement from Paris affords only light from official sources thrown on great struggle in Northern France today. London and Berlin were still silent in late afternoon.
What unofficial reports reached this country by way of Capitals of Belligerents, contained little to indicate course of events on different battlefields.

Tokio, Oct. 1.—Officially announced that German torpedo boat destroyer had been sunk off Tzing Tau. There are no details.
It was officially announced late this afternoon that Japanese mine sweep off Kiaochow and was blown up and sunk. Three men were killed and thirteen others were wounded. Another Japanese mine sweeper was damaged, one man being killed and six injured.

The fact that the German army headquarters admit that their efforts to throw back the pressure of the Allies have proved indecisive, is regarded in England as significant.

According to the official bulletin on the war given out in Paris this afternoon, the turning movement of the Allies north of the Somme is developing rapidly.
A German attack on Tracy-le-Mont has been repulsed with heavy losses.

A despatch to the Reuter Telegram Company from Berlin, coming by way of Amsterdam, says that the headquarters of the German general staff made the following official statement last night:

"On our right wing in France indecisive battles have occurred, between the Oise and the Meuse it is generally quiet. The army operating against the forts of the Meuse was repulsed.

"The French have made a new assault along the lines from Verdun to Toul.

"Our siege artillery has opened fire on the forts of Antwerp.
The assault of the Belgian forces against the attacking line has been repulsed.

"In the Eastern theatre of the war the Russian assaults on the Government of Suwalki failed.
Heavy artillery yesterday began a bombardment against the fort of Ossorence."

Washington, Sept. 30.—Official despatches received by the French Embassy to-day duplicated in part last night's official statement of the Bordeaux War Office, and gave no confirmation of the reported defeat of the German right wing.

A brief cablegram from the Foreign Office, dated September 29, announced more liberal conditions for business under the moratorium.

The text of the statement is as follows:

"First—On our left wing, north of the Somme, the action continues to develop and more and more to the north, between the Oise and the Aisne, the enemy has delivered a vigorous attack on Tracy-le-Mont, northeast of the forest of Aigue. They were repulsed with heavy losses.

"Second—On the centre, this is relatively calm along the en-

MUNICIPALITY TO INSURE SOLDIERS

Special Session Unanimously Votes in Favor of This.—Also $500 For Patriotic Fund

A special session of the Restigouche Municipal Council was held in the Court House, Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, to take into consideration what steps the Municipality would take towards providing for these dependent upon the volunteers who have gone to the front.

There were present the Warden, J.
McLean, and councillors Montgomery, Alexander, Harquail, Murdoch, Lawlor, Arseneau, Firth, Peters, Dickie, Levesque, Gillis and Geroux. A number of citizens were also present.

The Warden called the meeting to order, and the Sec. Treas. read the notice calling the meeting.

On suggestion of the Warden, the Council took recess to enable members to attend the funeral of the late Miss McGregor.

Upon meeting again the matter of insuring the Restigouche volunteers was taken up and after discussion participated in by all the councillors and many of the citizens, the following resolution, moved by Coun. Montgomery and seconded by Coun. Ar-seneau was unanimously passed.

Whereas a number of young men, natives or residents of the County of Restigouche, have volunteered, and been accepted for service in the present European War; and

Whereas it is desirable that this Council should in some tangible way give expression to its appreciation of the spirit which prompted them to offer their services on the field of battle;

Therefore resolved, That the Warden appoint a committee of three to effect life and accident Assurance on their lives to the amount of one thousand dollars each for a period of one year, said Assurance to be payable to their legal representatives, and that the Treasurer be and is hereby authorized to pay the premium for said assurance upon order of the Warden and Secretary, and that the Legislature be asked to ratify the use of County monies for that purpose.

After the vote, the Councillors and citizens enthusiastically sang the national anthem.

Coun. Montgomery, Harquail and Alexander were appointed the committee to look after the affecting of said insurance.

Coun. Alexander said he favored the Patriotic Fund, as his fund was intended to assist in providing for those dependent upon the volunteers.

A. E. G. MacKenzie explained the working of the fund.

After some further discussion Coun.
Harquail moved, seconded by Coun.
Montgomery that the Municipality of Restigouche contribute $500 to the Patriotic Fund.

This resolution was also carried unanimously.

Coun. Harquail suggested that a committee of the Council be appointed to meet with the citizens at a Public Meeting which was to be held at Campbellton, Friday evening.

The Warden and Couns. Montgomery and Harquail were appointed such committee.

Each of the councillors agreed to do all in their power in their parishes towards the work of collecting for the Patriotic Fund.

The matter of repairs to the Registry Office was discussed and the Public Property and Lands Committee were given to understand that the work should be done.

Council then adjourned.

tire south, which extends from Rheims to Meuse. Between the Argonne and the Meuse we have made slight progress.

"In the Woevre district there have been severe battles. Our troops advanced at several points, notably to the east of St.
Mihiel.

"On our right wing within Lorraine and Vosgres, there has been no change.

"In Galicia the efforts at sorties made by the Austrian garrison at Przemyśl have failed. The Austrian armies continue to retreat in disorder, losing numerous prisoners, artillery and war material.

"At Duztok, south of Przemysl, in the Carpathians, a Russian detachment has defeated an Austrian brigade and penetrated farther into the mountains.

Berlin, via London, Sept. 30.— Two cigarette factories in Germany, the Jasmatzki concern at Dresden and the Balsehary factory at Baden-Baden, owned by the Anglo-American Tobacco government control for the reason that a majority of the capital is held in England.

"Fruit-a-lives" Keeps Young And Old In Splendid Health

J. W. HAMMOND, Esq.
SCOTLAND, ONT., Aug. 28th, 1913
"Fruit-a-lives" are the only pills manufactured, to my way of thinking. They work completely, no gripping whatever, and one is plenty for any ordinary person at a dose. My wife was marty to Constipation. We tried everything on the calendar without satisfaction, and spent large sums of money until we happened on "Fruit-a-lives". I cannot say too much in their favor.

We have used them in the family for about two years and we would not use anything else as long as we can get "Fruit-a-lives".
Their action is mild, and no distress at all. I have recommended them to many other people, and our whole family uses them.

J. W. HAMMOND.

Those who have been cured by "Fruit-a-lives" are proud and happy to tell a sick or ailing friend about these wonderful tablets made from fruit juices. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. All dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa.

ORDERS FOR CANADA

Ottawa, Sept. 26—The British war office is placing large orders in Canada for socks, sweaters, blankets, boots and other clothing necessary for the troops in the field. The Canadian government has been asked to make necessary arrangements for the supplies required. The war orders will have an important bearing in keeping many woolen and other mills in Canada busy this winter.

Here is a woman who speaks from personal knowledge and long experience, viz. Mrs. P. H. Brogan, of Wilson, Pa., who says, "I know from experience that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is far superior to any other. For cough there is nothing that excels it." For sale by all dealers.

STORIES FROM THE FRONT

Men who Were in the Fight Tell What They Heard and Saw

CUT OFF AT MONS

Sergeant Smith and a private of the British Somerset Light Infantry who have rejoined their depot, state that they were in the fighting outside Mons and their only complaint was that they were taken out of the train and hustled into action before they knew where they were. After some hours' fighting the Germans walked back over their position, and they were left with the enemy between them and their regiment—they being unharmed.

They say that many others of our men were in the same position. It was impossible to form them up into anything. The Germans were then all round them.

Most of the men hid away, and when it became dark they threw away their rifles, and as many of them as could crawled between the German pickets. They presume that the rest could not do that, and were made prisoners.

Sergeant Smith and the private got through the Germans all right, and made their way to the homes of peasants, where they were given civilian clothes. They then endeavored to get back to their own forces, but these had retired so far that it was impossible to reach them.

Therefore they made their way down to the coast. They had many adventures, as they could not speak a word of French. They were constantly held up by French soldiers and by French civilian cyclists, who were on the lookout for German spies. Eventually they found their way back to Boulogne, where they saw the Concorde, or whoever was in charge, and got a pass to England in order to rejoin their depot, which they reached after a long journey.

They think that a good many men must have found their way to safety by the same method, but some may have been shot as spies, and others captured by the Germans. As they could not speak French they were several times taken for Germans.

"THEY HAVE NO PITY."

Sapper H. Muirbridge, R.E., writes to his mother at Uckfield, Eng. The young sapper was among the wounded who arrived at Southampton recently; the following extracts from his letter are printed in the Sussex Daily News.

"We met the Germans at Landre-ecies on Sunday. We had a fifteen-hour battle. It was terrible. There were 120,000 of us, but our men fought well. We blew up six bridges. Laid our charges in the afternoon, and the whole time we were doing that were not hit. After we had got everything ready we got back into cover and waited until 1:30 Monday morning, until our troops had got back over the We retired about thirty miles. The town where we stopped on Sunday was a beautiful place, but the Germans destroyed it. Close to where I was a church had been used as a hospital, and our wounded were coming by the dozens. But, terrible as the Germans blew the place up. They have no pity. They kill our wounded and drive the people before them."

A DRAMATIC RESCUE.

Private G. Moody, writes from Bristol Royal Infirmary to his parents at Crodonroad, Beckenham, England says: "I was at Mons in the trenches in the firing line four days. I was in my regiment was ordered to help the French on the right. Poor old A. Company was left to occupy the trenches and to hold them; whatever might happen, they were not to leave them. There were about 250 of us, and the Germans came, and as fast as we knocked them over more took their places."

Well, out of 50 men only eighty were left, and we had to surrender. They took away everything, and we were lined up to be shot, so as to be no trouble to them. Then the cavalry of the French made a charge, and the Germans were cut down like grass. We got away, and wandered about all night, never knowing if we were walking into our chaps or the Germans. After walking about some time we commenced falling down through drinking water that had been poisoned, and then we were put into some motor-wagons and taken to Amiens."

SAVING THE GUNS AT MONS.

Private Levy, a young Jewish member of the Royal Munster Fusiliers, who has been invalided home, writes to the Leeds Mercury:

"We were sent up to the firing line to try and save a battery. When we got there we found that they were nearly all killed or wounded. Our Irish lads opened fire on the dry Germans, and you should have seen them fall. It was like a game of skittles. But as soon as you knocked them down you came another thousand or so. We could not make out where they came from. So, all of a sudden, our officer gave us the order to charge. We fixed bayonets and went like fire through them. You should have seen them run."

We had two companies of four there against about 3,000 of theirs, and I tell you it was warm. I was not sorry when night-time came, but that was not all. You see, we had no water to get those guns away, and the place was shelled and knocked down. We dragged a good many of our men while lying on the battlefield. They have no respect for the Red Cross. To see women and children driven from home and walking the roads is terrible—old men and women just the same. But our men did fight well. You never saw anything so cool in your life. Anyone would have thought it was a football match. For they were joking and laughing with one another."

To see women and children driven from home and walking the roads is terrible—old men and women just the same. But our men did fight well. You never saw anything so cool in your life. Anyone would have thought it was a football match. For they were joking and laughing with one another."

MEMENTO

Mrs. T. P. Drumm, "The Manse" Moncton, a few days ago received quite a memento of the Empress of Ireland disaster, in the shape of a letter addressed to her mother in Scotland. The letter came through the dead letter office, it having been recovered by divers from the wreck. The letter is in a good state of preservation, excepting for the loss of the stamp, the writing not being the least obliterated.

HORSE NOTES

The Secretary of the Campbellton Driving Association refused the entry of Hal L. in the Free-For-All. Hal L. started on the Campbellton track July 2nd, also raced at the Campbellton Ice Meet in January. He is an expelled horse. The owner has never denied the fact. The only Association that holds anything against the horse is the National Trotting Association. An explanation from Campbellton in regard to the refusal of Hal L's entry would seem to be in order.

A RELIC OF THE "EMPRESS"

(From the Gloucester Northern Light) Messrs. W. J. Kent & Co. received a few days ago through the Dead Letter Office a registered letter which they had mailed last May to a large tea house in England. This letter was recovered from the wreck of the ill-fated "Empress of Ireland" by divers, and beyond traces of having been in the water is little the worse for its sojourn at the bottom of the St. Lawrence.

"Fruit-a-tives" Keeps Young And Old In Splendid Health

J. W. HAMMOND Esq.
SCOTLAND, ONT., Aug. 23rd, 1913
"Fruit-a-tives" are the only pills manufactured, to my way of thinking. They work completely, no gripping whatever, and one is plenty for any ordinary person at a dose. My wife was a martyr to Constipation. We tried everything on the calendar without satisfaction, and spent large sums of money until we happened on "Fruit-a-tives". I cannot say too much in their favor.

We have used them in the family for about two years and we would not use anything else as long as we can get "Fruit-a-tives".
Their action is mild, and no distress at all. I have recommended them to many other people, and our whole family uses them."

J. W. HAMMOND.
Those who have been cured by "Fruit-a-tives" are proud and happy to tell a sick or ailing friend about these wonderful tablets made from fruit juices. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

ORDERS FOR CANADA
Ottawa, Sept. 26.—The British war office is placing large orders in Canada for socks, sweaters, blankets, boots and other clothing necessary for the troops in the field. The Canadian government has been asked to make necessary arrangements for the supplies required. The war orders will have an important bearing in keeping many woolen and other mills in Canada busy this winter.

STORIES FROM THE FRONT

Men who Were in the Fight Tell What They Heard and Saw

CUT OFF AT MONS

Sergeant Smith and a private of the British Somerset Light Infantry who have rejoined their depot, state that they were in the fighting outside Mons, and their only complaint was that they were taken out of the train and hustled into action before they knew where they were. After some hours' fighting the Germans walked over their position, and they were left with the enemy between them and their regiment—they being unharmed.

They say that many others of our men were in the same position, but it was impossible to form them up into anything, the Germans were then all round them.

Most of the men hid away, and when it became dark they threw away their rifles, and as many of them as could be collected between the German pickets. They presume that the rest could not do that, and were made prisoners.

Sergeant Smith and the private got through the Germans all right, and made their way to the homes of peasants, where they were given civilian clothes. They then endeavored to get back to their own forces, but these had retired so far that it was impossible to reach them.

Therefore they made their way down to the coast. They had many adventures, as they could not speak a word of French. They were constantly held up by French soldiers and by French civilian cyclists, who were on the lookout for German spies. Eventually they found their way back to Boulogne, where they saw the Consul, or whoever was in charge, and got a pass to England in order to rejoin their depot, which they reached still in the clothes the French peasants gave them.

They say that a good many men must have found their way to safety by the same method, but some have been shot as spies, and others captured by the Germans. As they could not speak French they were several times taken for Germans.

"THEY HAVE NO PITY."
Sapper H. Murgidge, R.E., writes to his mother at Uckfield, Eng. The young sapper was among the wounded who arrived at Southampton recently; the following extracts from his letter are printed in the Sussex Daily News:

"We met the Germans at Landreies on Sunday. We had a fifteen-hour battle. It was terrible. There were 120,000 Germans and only 20,000 of us, but our men fought well. We blew up six bridges. Laid our charges in the afternoon, and the whole time we were doing that we were not hit. After we had got everything ready we got back into cover and waited until 1.30 on Monday morning, until our troops had got back over the We retired about thirty miles. The town where we stopped on Sunday was a beautiful place, but the Germans destroyed it. Close to where I was a church had been used as a hospital, and our wounded were coming by the dozens. But, terrible to say, the Germans blew the place up. They have no pity. They kill our wounded and drive the people before them."

A DRAMATIC RESCUE.
Private G. Moody, writes from Bristol Royal Infirmary to his parents at Crodon-road, Beckenham, England, saying: "I was at Mons in the trenches in the firing line for twenty-four hours and my regiment was ordered to help the French on the right. Poor old A. Company was left to occupy the trenches and to hold them; whatever might happen, they were not to leave them. There were about 250 of us, and the Germans came on, and as fast as we knocked them over more took their places."

Well, out of 50 men only eighty were left, and we had to surrender. They took away everything, and we were lined up to be shot, so as to be no trouble to them. Then the cavalry of the French made a charge, and the Germans were cut down like grass. We got away, and wandered about all night, never knowing if we were walking into our traps or the Germans. After walking about some time we commenced falling down through drinking water that had been poisoned, and then we were put into some motor-wagons and taken to Arras."

SAVING THE GUNS AT MONS.
Private Levy, a young Jewish member of the Royal Munster Fusiliers, who has been invalided home, writes to the Leeds Mercury: "We were sent up to the firing line to try and save a battery. When we got there we found that they were nearly all killed or wounded. Our Irish lads opened fire on the dirty Germans, and you should have seen them fall. It was like a game of skittles. But as soon as you knocked them down up came another thousand or so. We could not make out where they came from. So, all of a sudden, our officer gave us the order to charge. We fixed bayonets and went like fire through them. You should have seen them run!"

We had two companies of four there against about 3,000 of theirs, and I tell you it was warm. I was not sorry when night-time came, but that was not all. You see, we had no horses to get those guns away, and our chaps would not leave them. We dragged them ourselves to a place of safety. As the firing line was at full swing we had with us an officer of the Hussars. I think he was next to me, and he had his hand nearly blown off by one of the German shells. So I and two more fellows picked him up and took him to a place of safety, where he got his wound cared for. I heard afterwards that he had been sent home, poor fellow."

GERMANS AND THE RED CROSS
The Sussex Daily News publishes another letter from the same writer, sent from the 1st Eastern Hospital, Cambridge: "We were laying our gun cotton—

CHANGE OF TIME ON INTERNATIONAL RAILWAY

On and after Sept. 28th, there will be a change of the train service on the International Railway of New Brunswick, operated by the Canadian Government Railways. There will be one train daily, except Sunday, each way between Campbellton and St. Leonard's, one leaving Campbellton at 12.40 p. m., and the other leaving St. Leonard's at 8.40 a. m., arriving in Campbellton 4.00 p. m. 21st-Sept-24 ten of us were the last to leave, and the Germans stopped us. We had to run for it down the main street of the town of Landreies, and, being dark, we could not see where we were going. We got caught in some telegraph wires which had been put across the street. We had to cut them away with our bayonets. On Monday morning, when things were quieter, we went nearly into the German lines. We could hear them giving orders. Our job was to put barbed wire across the road. I was thankful to get out of it. We could see the Germans burning their dead. They must have lost a few thousand men, as our troops simply mowed them down.

I saw one sergeant kill fourteen Germans, one after the other. They came up in fifties, all in a cluster, and you couldn't help hitting them. They were only 400 yards from us all day on Sunday. They are very cruel. Our people used a church for a hospital, and it was filled with our wounded, but the place was shelled and knocked down. They stabbed a good many of our men lying on the ground in the field. They have no respect for the Red Cross. To see women and children driven from home and walking the roads is terrible—old men and women just the same. At the town where we got cut off from our people—eighteen of us—and the houses were being toppled over by the German artillery. The people clung round us, asking us to stay with them, but it was no good. When we left, the town was in flames. But our men did fight well. You never saw anything so cool in your life. Anyone would have thought it was a football match, for they were joking and laughing with one another.

Campbellton, N. B., Oct. 1, 1914.

The belligerent countries in the present war are calling for large quantities of meat and Europe is not in a position to supply a fragment of what is needed. During the past few years the meat supply has been gradually on the decline and the war now intensifies the scarcity. On this account it would seem advisable that farmers in New Brunswick should at once arrange to put on the market more poultry, more hogs and more sheep. For all these classes of live stock there is a certainty of an abundant market. The Live Stock Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture is pointing out the opportunities in sheep raising for Canadian farmers, and they have issued a pamphlet entitled "Some facts worth serious thought by Canadian farmers" in which they enumerate the advantages of sheep raising as follows: "The sheep is a dual purpose animal producing both wool and mutton. The initial expenditure is small. Every farmer can well afford the investment of the necessary capital in a few sheep. Rapid monetary returns are received. The wool clip and the lamb crop being saleable annually. Expensive buildings are by no means necessary. A warm lambing pen is required, but for the aged sheep, a sheltered shed to protect them from the winter wind is alone sufficient. Weed destruction represents another asset. Sheep will eat and relish almost every class of weed.

Sheep admittedly improve soil fertility. Their manure is rich and uniformly distributed. Except at certain seasons of the year, less time and attention need be bestowed upon the care of sheep than in the case of almost any other animals without thereby endangering successful results. Besides cattle and sheep raising, our farmers ought to impress on their minds the facts stated in a recent editorial article in the Maritime Farmer under the caption of "If England dies you die" which among other things said that "the farmers of the Maritime Provinces should see to it that the approaching few months are put to the very best use in providing for the largest crop that it is possible to raise. There will be need for every pound of foodstuff. Canada's offer of five million bags of flour to England was received with joy and thankfulness. It is not the luxuries of life that will be in demand during the months to come but the commonest necessities. They are produced on the farm. In addition to the food supply for men, the demand for fodder for the tens of thousands of horses at the front will be enormous. Europe, deluged in blood, cannot produce it, and Canada must help. That is why every possible effort should be put forth at the earliest possible date to fit the fields for the crops of next year. No living man knows what the coming months may have in store for us. The summer of 1915 may find the fields of the Maritime Provinces tilled by men and women too old to bear arms. The very produce, which the farmers are urged to make ready for, may be their next year's ration on some distant battle field.

England in her death grips looks to Canada for subsistence. We know what the response will be. Every acre of available land should be prepared this year for next year's crop. We can at least feed the men at the front always remembering that grave warning, "If England dies, you die."

MEETING TONIGHT
A meeting of St. Andrew's Church will be held tonight for the purpose of electing a minister to succeed the Rev. T. P. Drumm.

On Board H. M. S. "Dreadnought"

(From the "Mo'treal Weekly Witness.")
When the sea grows gray and silent, and the moon sinks out of sight, and the stars turn sick and tremble after seven hours of fight, God keep us dirty sailor men, from the Pole star to the Cross, For we need Almighty keepin', an' some high, Almighty Boss.

For when the whole deck's throbbin' There ain't no time for prayer; But it's "Point your Long Tom dainty Over twenty miles of air!"
When they wounded German fellows came a-shakin' up our side I was funny round my stomach, an' my bloomin' British pride Trembled like a silly pennant, they was all so human like; They had eyes an' hands an' faces just like any other like.

But when the horizon's spittin' And we're coughin' back at it, Say it's "Sweep the sea o' Germans!" An' "I guess—that—hit!"
I was walkin' past a cabin where we kept our prisoners tight, The sentry-go says, "Look here," an' I see a funny sight; There was two of them a-lookin' at a picture in their hand, Just as if there's German mothers in the German Fatherland.

But when we're in the fight line, It's "Forget your thought and fire!" While the look-out says beside you, Steady! Nose her up a little higher!"
When I stopp'd an' looked to seaward In a tiny breathin' spell, I see a Dreadnought stagger with her nose deep in the swell; She was struck below the belly, an' she sunk an' gurgled down Very casual like, an' careless; made me sweat to see her down.

But when we're stripped for action, Say it's "Glory! glory!" then, An' it's "Sweep the sea o' Germans!" As we pick the range again.
We were lyin' close in harbor, coalin' up at Halifax, I was messin' with the range guns, streakin' polish down their backs. There was somethin' in the air—fell like a happy English rain; An' my mate, he says "Your hawlin' an' I says, "I guess that plain!"

But when we're sweatin' dirty, An' the sea's unholly red, Say it's, "Mate, we'll fight for Eng-land Till the sun himself is dead!"

Sept. 16th. — ARTHUR L. PHELPS.
The above poem, written for the Montreal "Weekly Witness," is one of the many strong things appearing in that splendid journal, and coming so close upon the wrecks of our own ships grips us hard. The editorials of the "Witness" on the War Situation have the right ring to them, and are the product of a mind more than usually well informed, and foresighted. Those not now getting the "Witness" may have it on trial to the end of the year by sending fifteen cents in stamps to its old time publishers, John Douglass & Son, "Witness" Block, Montreal. It costs little to try it, and people who are not getting the "Witness" do not realize what they are missing. Some

PROFESSOR OF HISTORY RETURNS FROM FRONT

Predicts Inevitable Fate of Hapsburg and Hohenzollerns.—Must Go to the Scrap Heap

New Brunswick, N. J., Sept. 27.—Dr. John C. Van Dyke, professor of the history of art at Rutgers' College, who has just returned from the war zone, predicts that the Hapsburg and Hohenzollerns will "go to the scrap heap with the Bourbons."
Dr. Van Dyke said today that the mobilization scenes were most pitiful. "Coming through Amiens I saw trainloads of dead and wounded soldiers, and flying refugees on every road," he said. "That was to be expected and seemed less pitiful than the tears of the women and children left behind in Austria after the mobilization had swept every eligible man, horse and automobile out of the country. Those who were still left at home to work and starve were fighting just as real a battle as those on the firing line."

"No one believed for a moment that such a crazy performance could take place in this age of the world. But it has taken place, and greater things may come of it than we at present realize. Only one thing seems certain, and that is, there will be a fight to the finish. I learned almost directly from Sir Edward Grey that any and all peace proposals at this time were premature and would not be entertained. The English Government is determined to fight to a finish and to settle the status of Europe permanently, or for fifty years at least."

"One more thing must be added. Everybody in Europe, or in the world, all peace proposals at this time were premature and would not be entertained. The English Government is determined to fight to a finish and to settle the status of Europe permanently, or for fifty years at least."

"The German people are now standing behind their Emperor; but when it comes to a settlement they may think it wise to eliminate the war party. They are no more eager for this war than the French and English. Everybody hates it."

RELIGIOUS CEREMONY AT THE HOTEL DIEU

On Thursday morning, Sept. 24th, at 8 a.m., a large number of relatives and friends had already filled the Convent Chapel to witness the ceremony of two Sisters, Sister Carroll and Sister Audet, making Religious Profession and that of a young Postulant, Sister Stewart, taking the Habit of the "Religious Hospitaliers of St. Joseph."
His Lordship Rt. Rev. T. F. Barry, D.D., Bishop of Chatham, performed the ceremonies, which were according to all present, the most imposing yet witnessed here. In the sanctuary assisting His Lordship, were present Rev. E. P. Wallace, pastor, Rev. Fr. Pacifique, O. M. S., Rev. L. F. Cole, Rev. A. A. Boucher and Rev. J. Wheten.
Rev. J. Wheten who was the preacher for the occasion, pointed out very appropriately, to the newly Professed, the beautiful and practical realities of their noble calling; while Rev. Fr. Pacifique delivered a very interesting discourse on the same beautiful subject in the French language.
Among the invited were present Rev. Mother St. Patrice, Superior of the "Filles de Jesus" of Dalhousie, N. B., with a Sister companion, also two Reverend Sisters of the "Holy Rosary" from St. Anne of Restigouche, both were cousins of the newly Professed.

WEDDING SMITH-McCUTCHEON

(Manitoba Free Press)
A quaint custom of long ago was introduced with picturesque effect into the wedding rites which was observed with all due and fitting ceremony in Fort Rouge Methodist church at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when Eva Mae McCutcheon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan McCutcheon, 187 Oxford street, was married to B. Billingsley Smith, also of Winnipeg.

The four bridesmaids, Miss Irene Gaudet, Miss Della Lemon, Miss Millie McCutcheon, and Miss Olive Irish, entered two by two, through the vestry doors and crossed in front of the altar, where they paused as though looking for the bride. They then proceeded slowly past the guest pews, who came down the aisle on the long isles to the back of the church. Then the usher, Captain Wilson Smith, Allan McCutcheon, brother of the bride, Stockton Smith and Harry Radford, took their places at the altar and half turned, "s' though waiting. Catching the eye of this pretty little prelude, the audience waited expectantly for the appearance of the bride, who came down the aisle on the arm of her father to the joyful music of the wedding march playing under the mastery touch of the organist, Fred M. Gera.

The guests then repaired to the bride's home to bestow their congratulations and wish the young couple good speed. The living room was decorated with American beauty roses and the sun porch with autumn leaves. The wedding cake was enthroned among white flowers in the centre of the dining table. The many beautiful wedding gifts, which quite filled one of the upstairs rooms, were passed in review and duly admired. The groom's gift to the bride was a three diamond ring, to the matron of honor and the bridesmaids came rings, to the best man a gold headed cane with monogram, and to the ushers gold Waldemar chains. The bride's going-away suit was of navy blue broadcloth with black fur trimmings, which was also used on her French waltzer hat of gold lace. She wore a French lingerie blouse. Mr. and Mrs. Smith left at 5.15 from the Union station for a trip to eastern cities of Canada and the United States. They expect to return in about a month to their home at 227 Oxford street, Winnipeg.

The groom, Mr. B. B. Smith, was born in New Canaan and is well known along the Gaspé Coast.

WOMAN IN TERRIBLE STATE

Finds Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Cape Wolfe, Canada.—"Last March I was a complete wreck. I had given up all hope of getting better or living any length of time, as I was such a sufferer from female troubles. But I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and today I am in good health and have a pair of twin boys two months old and growing finely. I surprised doctors and neighbors for they all know what a wreck I was."

"Now I am healthy, happy and hearty, and owe it all to Lydia E. Pinkham's remedies. You may publish this letter if you like. I think if more women used your remedies they would have better health."—Mrs. J. T. Cook, Lot No. 7, Cape Wolfe, P. E. I., Canada.

Because your case is a difficult one, and doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has remedied many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, and it may be exactly what you need.

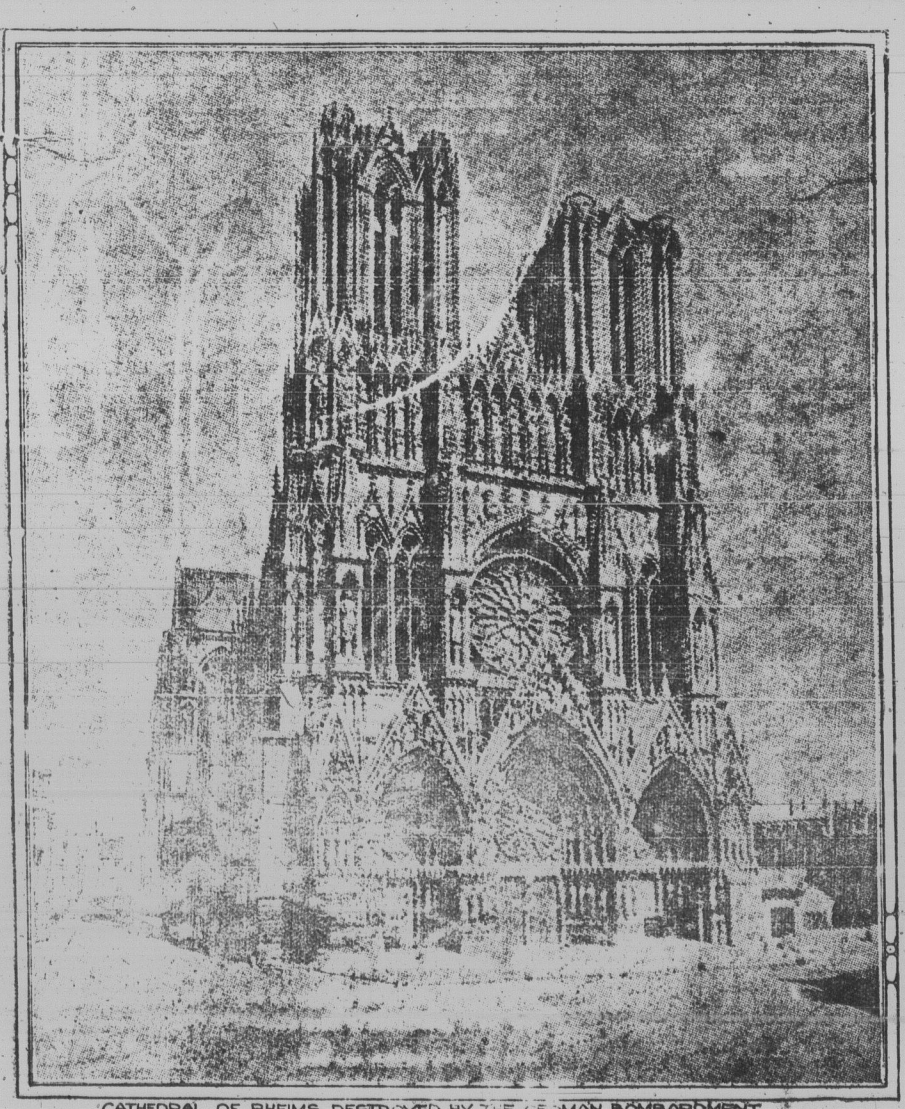

The Pinkham record is a proud and peerless one. It is a record of constant victory over the obstinacies of women—ills that deal out despair. It is an established fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored health to thousands of such suffering women. Why don't you try it if you need such a medicine?

The bride's mother wore an exquisite creation of black satin with overdress of chandilly lace, with jet ornaments, and touches of canary color velvet. She carried yellow orchids. White aspreys and ermine were used to trim her black hat. The groom's mother, Mrs. J. L. Smith, wore white satin veiled in black tulle, and carried a beautiful bouquet of roses.

During the signing of the register, after the marriage vows had been administered by Rev. R. Whitting, of Young Methodist church, Miss Edith Lever sang "Beloved, It is Morn'g." The guests then repaired to the bride's home to bestow their congratulations and wish the young couple good speed. The living room was decorated with American beauty roses and the sun porch with autumn leaves. The wedding cake was enthroned among white flowers in the centre of the dining table. The many beautiful wedding gifts, which quite filled one of the upstairs rooms, were passed in review and duly admired. CATHEDRAL OF RHEIMS DESTROYED BY THE GERMAN BOMBARDMENT Pictured above is the famous cathedral of Rheims, which was destroyed when that city was bombed by the Germans. Rheims is one of the most beautiful cities of France, with 105,000 population, and is an important link in the French defenses. The cathedral at Rheims was one of the most magnificent examples of the early Gothic style of architecture in the world. The building was begun in 1211. The west facade, which was completed in the latter part of the thirteenth century, has been declared to be the most beautiful structure produced in the Middle Ages.

"Now, you must all have one with me. Oh, well, what shall it be?"

"I don't want."

"But you must; it's my turn. Now, then, what shall it be—drinks around?"

There were five of them about the bar of the hotel, and it was just before lunch. They had obviously met by accident, and the suggestion of one for an appetizer had met the response. But as there were five of them—you may see the silly process at every hotel or restaurant bar in the kingdom occasionally—those five had each, as a matter of courtesy, to swallow five "tots" when no one of them wanted more than the single—the fifth of the courteous intake. And one London club, as I learn from the corner of a newspaper, is trying to abolish the custom that concentrates itself into the silly phrase "Now it's my turn."

At the National Liberal Club the great reform is given almost official recognition. The club etiquette no longer demands the multiplication of personal drinks. And, if I read my newspaper aright, a man may drink his single drink in pleasant company of five or six, and be under no compulsion to stand five or six drinks all round—with disaster to himself in pocket and head.

It is only in countries where English is more or less understood that the ritual of drinks round has been established. There are still, as you know from novels places in the Australian bush, places in the West of America where you must stand and take the drink round or die a speedier and cleaner death. You will absorb an arithmetic progression of drinks or be shot. We are not quite so arbitrary in England, but still the tradition lingers. And it lingers to the surprise of those who have not been brought up in the manners of those who speak English. One of the greatest indignities of my life was the start-indignation of a Russian student at Leipzig when I, sitting with many other students—Germans and Poles and Japanese—offered to stand him a drink. It was not the custom. We met, and ate and drank together, but each student paid his own score and if you raised your glass to a friend it meant only friendship for the friend sipped his rep's out of his own pocket.

It is easy enough to see the underlying philosophy of that custom. No man must take an undue advantage of another. A chivalrous idea, perchance. When half a dozen men stand round a bar or in any place where liquors are sold, one man stands drinks around, and the other men absorb them. So far as good. The conversation grows by a single degree of friendliness and confidence and no particular harm is done until the next man announces "his turn." Then comes the difficulty—the absurd difficulty. For when the man who wants but one glass refuses to accept a second as the drinks go around he has the horrible feeling of talking on a higher level than that of the men who have taken a second glass. He is—as the game of standing goes on—a poor sportsman who is like the boxer who keeps his hands ready and demands that his opponent shall tie one hand behind him.

The man who will not accept the standing orders in certain circles is a man who is not playing the game. He is taking an unfair advantage in retaining the pleasant geniality resulting from his single drink as opposed to the fuddled familiarity that results from simultaneous intoxication and is some what suspected as a person who is either a clergyman or a pick-pocket, and the barkeeper closes his soul more tightly than his purse.

One could draw out the philosophy of the matter to many absurdities in order to ridicule the curious etiquette that in these chance gatherings one drink means another, and to prove that the meaning of it is that no man shall keep a clear head when his companions are getting excited—confused—familiar—silly. I am fairly fond of mutter-chops and other such things to eat. But if I take a friend to a grill room and give him a chop (with trimmings) he is not expected, under suspicion of meanness, to insist upon my eating another chop (with trimmings) immediately, under pain of being regarded as a curmudgeon or a person who is trying to take advantage of his pleasant repelition. Even with coffee there is no such etiquette of reciprocity. No man is expected to take five or six cups of coffee when he wants only one. No sensational novelist has ever imagined and described the scene in a far Western or far Southern bar—or even a London bar—where a man incurred bullets or ridicule or unpopularity because he did not drink up the second or third round of mineral waters. You may refuse to be plied with anything but alcohol and here and there, if you refuse that having stood it or accepted it, you are more or less accused of not playing the game.

But this protest I am making has already been made practically by certain friends of mine who had to travel around and wet the bargain. There was one of them who discovered that 16 bargains a day before dinner-time meant 16 drinks. He was travelling in the interest of brewers, and found that 16 bargains, with the usual response, were rather too much for him. He made a bargain with the barman, confirmed with the management. His drink was always gin and soda. And that meant man who stood his business opponent anything demanded, recurred to the simple taste. His was gin and soda. There was a special bottle improperly labelled, which contained water. And whenever he came in with a business friend, the friend was allowed to name his temporary poison and the barman had standing orders to pour the horrid mixture down the sink.

By now you will have understood my protest against this travesty of hospitality, and come to sympathize with the method of social individualism which has prevailed from the early ages of Crete to the "Systitia" of Sparta, and the Bier-Kneipe of Germany. In Sparta 25 centuries ago,

A SPLENDID PLAY AT THE OPERA HOUSE

"Peg O' My Heart" Draws Large Crowd Last Night, and Much Appreciation is Shown

Before a crowded house last evening, the play "Peg O' My Heart" was staged at the Opera House, and was splendidly received by a large audience. From the rise of the curtain till the end, the interest of the large audience was maintained, and the fortunes of Peg, with her rich brogue, and her Celtic humor, were very close to her admirers.

The cast was most admirably balanced and the company deserve all the press eulogy they have received, every one present last night being more than delighted with the presentation.

Mr. S. W. Dimock is to be congratulated on giving the theatre goers here an opportunity of witnessing a really high class play, and more of the same would we are sure, be appreciated by all who were present last night.

The fact that Canada is actually in a state of war is vividly impressed by Newton MacTavish in an article entitled "War Time in Canada," which appears in the October issue of The Canadian Magazine. Mr. MacTavish reviews what has taken place in Canada as a result of the war, bringing together into compact, comprehensible form all the various activities of the Government; in brief, he visualizes the operation of the Canadian governmental machinery which the war has set in motion. From the time of the summoning of the Governor-General and the Prime Minister to Ottawa to the call for further volunteers to go to the front a vast amount of preparation and precaution is here outlined.

They had their common meal. Each family paid for itself and on a fixed estimate. The tables usually accommodated 15. Even the kings had to come and dine, unless excused by reason of State. A cup of wine the table d'hôte fare—the favorite being black broth, with pork to follow—and cheerful conversation, with singing, at the end; but no man ever dreamed of "standing" another an extra cup of wine. The Russians, Poles, Americans, Englishmen, the Japanese, Persians and Spaniards, the Hivites, and Hittites will gather at a table in a German university town and each will at the end of the pleasant evening pay his own score. Even the afternoon Kaffee-Klatch of the ladies in the provincial town means nothing but the individual score. No woman at those meetings will venture to stand or accept the price of a cake or a cup of coffee.

Wherefore my protest comes to this; and it really involves a small twist in the organism of life: that I should be permitted to give or receive one ruttion chop or one drink of alcohol, or one cup of coffee or one glass of water from or to each of my casual friends and when that is done that I should be permitted to depart without the horrible sequence of more compulsory drinks of meat. And if that cannot be managed, why should all do you remember that famous tract?—"Buy your own cherries." The phrase was first fired over a barroom.

Hints on Hair Health

If you use our treatment, we will either stop your hair from falling or pay for the treatment ourselves.

Dandruff is a contagious disease caused by a microbe, which if not removed, causes baldness. This microbe often comes from a comb or brush belonging to someone else.

We believe that probably 60 per cent of the cases of baldness could be cured if people would only use Resall's "93" Hair Tonic for a reasonable time, as directed.

We don't want you to take our word for this. We want you to test the merits of Resall's "93" Hair Tonic at our risk. If you use it and it does not give satisfaction, just come back to us and tell us, and we will immediately hand back to you the money you paid for it. ELECTION EARLY INTERESTS OTTAWA

Ottawa, September 27.—The last issue of the Wall Street Journal contains an article on Canada's political situation which has created considerable discussion in the Capital. This journal strongly hints at the dissolution of Parliament, and an immediate election. The Journal says: "The first Canadian army of 25,000 men is now en route to France. It is fully expected that Canada will eventually have 100,000 men fighting in the ranks of the Allies. Sir Robert Borden's Government, it is said, was desirous to send 100,000 Canadian troops at the outset, but the Liberal opposition, led by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, had for years been preaching against Canada's participation in the Empire's wars, and two years ago Sir Wilfrid Laurier caused an appropriation of $35,000,000 for three dreadnoughts to be rejected by the Senate. The Borden Government had argued with the Imperial Government for the building of these ships in England, and for their being used as units in the Imperial fleet.

"The defeat of this measure for naval defense and the lack of hearty approval in some quarters of the policy of sending Canadian troops to the front left much heart-burning in Canada, and pressure is being put on the Government to dissolve Parliament at once, and seek a mandate from the country to enable Canada to provide for naval defense and for a military expedition to Europe that will be worthy of the Dominion.

"A general election was to have taken place this fall or early next year, but it is now thought that the Government will be forced by its adherents to an immediate election, and the issue will be that Canada will stand behind the Empire, with all her resources.

"In fact, the Conservative party have now all the cards in their favor, for the whole Canadian people have been roused to a pitch of frenzy by the recital of German atrocities, and Sir Robert Borden will, it is said, sweep the country, but this remains to be seen."

GUARANTEED RELIEF FOR ALL BOWEL ILLS

If your bowels are out of order, instead of using some harsh salt or other physic, take a Rexall Orderie tonight, and tomorrow you will feel great. They taste good and act so easily that there isn't a particle of griping or purging, nor the excessive looseness that follows the taking of salts and most pills. The stool is antiseptic on the bowels, promptly relieving the constipation, making it unlikely to occur again.

We don't believe there is any other bowel remedy anywhere near as good, and at the same time so easy and pleasant to take as Rexall Orderies. We know you will agree with us and believe you will thank us for telling you about them. If they don't satisfy you in every way, come back and tell us and we will give you your money with out a word or question. PLOT TO SUPPLY SHIPS DISCOVERED Philadelphia, Pa., September 27.—Proof that the immense coal, ship stores, and food cargoes of two Norwegian tramp steamships, the Somers and Fram, now lying in the Delaware River, were to be delivered to German battleships of the coast of South America, resulted today in the cancellations of the sailings of both vessels from the port and the cargoes will be taken off tomorrow. Dictagraph records of a conference in New York City, which was attended by representatives of the Hamburg-American Line, Hasser Bros., and the real owners of the two ships, brought to light the secret destination of the cargoes, although the port records show that both the Somers and the Fram intended to sail for Bahia, Brazil.

The promise of a substantial bonus running into four figures to both Captain Axelsson, of the Somers, and Captain Grimheim, of the Fram, as well as a guarantee to the owners to protect them against loss of any kind made by an official of the Hamburg-American Line, supplemented by the admission that the cargoes were in reality not to be unloaded at Bahia, but directly on the decks of German war vessels at sea, where other points of evidence adduced at the conference and recorded by the dictagraph.

Suspicion first was aroused in the minds of the owners in Norway by the varied nature of the cargoes, largely made up of from forty to sixty tons of fresh water, large stores of flour, and an immense quantity of coal and seven barrels of sauerkraut. There were large consignments of coffee made to Brazil, but the owners failed to see any reason for their ships to carry coffee to Brazil, in view of the fact that the greater part of the world's supply comes from there. These consignments of coffee immediately raised suspicion in the owners' minds, as also did the great quantity of fresh water. Such an amount, they argued, could be intended for no other purpose than to transfer to another vessel or vessels for use during a long period at sea. On September 25 the owners of both Norwegian vessels protested against the sailings in view of the nature of the cargoes. The owners also based their protests on the information that an English auxiliary cruiser was lying off the port of Philadelphia is waiting for just such contraband war. The two boats were loaded in the early part of September to sail for Cadix, Spain. When it was reported that the German cruiser was sunk off the coast of Spain, the sailing orders were changed, September 22, to Bahia, Brazil, ostensibly to supply the German battleships in the Caribbean Sea. Both ships were chartered originally from the Norwegian owners by Hasser Brothers, of New York, and they in turn leased to the Hamburg-American line.

On September 23, when it was evident that the vessels were not to sail, immediately officials of the Hamburg-American line, it was learned at the conference today, sent letters offering the captain of both ships a big bonus and at the same time guaranteeing the owners against loss. A meeting then was arranged between the officials of the Hamburg-American line, representatives of Hasser Bros., and the representative of the vessels in New York.

The attorney for the owners, Ralph M. Bullowa, of New York, installed a dictagraph in his office prior to the conference there and all the facts relating to the alleged plan to supply the German battleships were recorded. Attorney Bullowa admitted tonight, when called on the long-distance telephone at his home in New York, that he was prepared to prove, by means of the dictagraph records, that the facts in the case were substantially true as stated. While it was impossible to learn the names of all the officials of the Hamburg-American line present at the conference, it was learned that General Director Bunz was there and that the purchasing agent of the line was also present.

GERMAN SEIGE GUN DECLARED A MYTH

Experts Say That Anything Over a 12 Inch Weapon Could Not Be Moved on Dirt

New York, September 27.—Some of the leading ordnance experts of this country are convinced that the stories cabled from abroad, in most instances emanating from German sources that these big siege guns used by the German armies are of a calibre in excess of 40 centimetres (about 15.75 inches) are fantastic. They admit that the calibre of the guns may be 10 inch and perhaps 12 inch but that it is 14 inch, much less 16, 17 or 18 inches, they declare to be an impossibility.

It is pointed out that in the case of the 16 inch gun that is soon to be shipped to the Panama fortifications, it was necessary to build a special car with 32 trucks to transport the gun for Waterliet Arsenal to Sandy Hook, and that this car moved over the roadbeds of some of the world's finest railroads. If it takes such a car to move a sixteen-inch gun on a railroad, they ask, how is it possible to transport it over dirt roads by any means of conveyance ever designed or thought of by man.

Men who are in a position to speak with authority say that the German siege guns are 28 centimetres (about 10 inch) instead of 42, 46 or 48 centimetres, as reported.

In the Army and Navy Journal of last Saturday occurs some comment in line with the statements given above. "The limit on fantastic stories of German artillery," the Journal says, "is one in which Louis Gath-mann, of Chicago, is given as the inventor of the gun the Germans are using so effectively against fortifications. According to the report that was sent out from Chicago, Mr. Gath-mann offered his invention first to this Government, and when it was refused he sold it to the Krupp. Mr.
Gathmann will be remembered as the man who interested Congress in a scheme of building an 18-inch seacoast gun, which he claimed would throw high explosive gelatine shells. After considerable publicity and agitation, Congress appropriated money for experiments with his gun, which were conducted by a joint army and navy board in 1901. The gun was not only a failure, but Gathmann burst a 12-inch army gun in experiments with his projectile. Mr. Gathmann was associated with Isham in his experiments and was a believer in the theory that battleships could be destroyed by exploding high explosives against their sides.

"Mr. Gathmann, so far as the War Department has been advised, never attempted an experiment with a field gun or made any claims that his projectile or gun would be effective in attacking bodies of troops. It was built for coast defense, and not to be used against fortifications. The idea of Gathmann was to fire at a comparatively low velocity from an immense gun a very heavy projectile, carrying a large charge of high explosive sufficiently insensitive to avoid danger of premature explosion in the gun. A mixed board of army and navy officers decided, in a report published as a public document, that Gathmann's idea was valueless. Some of the reasons given were that the fuses or projectiles had at least an experimental trial in our navy, but, so far as we can learn nothing that Gath-mann has ever invented in the line of gun construction has found acceptance in any military service."

COMMANDANT OF CANADA'S ARMY

Major-General Hervey Alderson, C. B., Prominently Mentioned in Connection With Post

London, September 27.—The question as to who is to command the Canadian contingent is one on which an announcement may be expected at any moment, but no information is yet forthcoming from official quarters.
The names of two or three leading figures in English military life have, it is understood, been submitted by the Imperial Government to the Canadian Minister of Militia. Of these, your correspondent has every reason to believe that Major-General Edwin Alfred Hervey Alderson, C. B., may be considered as the choice for the appointment.

Major-General Alderson, who is in his fifty-sixth year, has had a notable career, and is credited with being a most popular officer. He was born on April 8, 1859, being the son of Edward Mott Alderson, of Poyle House, Ipswich. After being educated at the Grammar School, Ipswich, he entered the Royal West Kent Regiment in 1878. In 1886 he married Alice Mary daughter of Rev. O. P. Sergeant.
He served with the mounted infantry in the Boer war of 1881, and in the Egyptian war of 1882, being at Kassassin (both actions) and Tel-el-Kebir, receiving the medal, with clasps, and the Khedive's Star. He accompanied the Nile Expedition with the Mounted Infantry Camel Regiment in 1884-5, receiving two clasps. He served in South Africa in 1896, being in command of the mounted infantry, and mentioned in despatches and receiving a medal and the brevet rank of Lieutenant-Colonel.

From 1897 to 1899 he was D.A.A.G. at Aldershot, and in the South African war of 1900-1 he commanded the mounted infantry, being twice mentioned in despatches and receiving the brevet of colonel. From 1900 to 1902 he was inspector-general of mounted infantry in South Africa, with the rank of brigadier-general, and for the following five years he was brigadier-general commanding the 2nd Infantry Brigade of the First Army Corps.
From 1908 to 1912 he commanded the 6th Poona Division, India. In 1885 he was awarded the bronze medal of the Royal Humane Society.

He was created a C.B. in 1900, and is an A.D.C. to the King. He is the author of the following publications: "With the Mounted Infantry and Mashonaland Field Forces," (1888); "The Scout," (1900); "Lessons from One Hundred Notes in Peace and War."

VISITING EXPERT GIVES HIGH PRAISE

Mr. A. E. Goff, of the Great Indian Peninsula Railway, has just concluded a tour of the Dominion. He declares that he has been greatly impressed with the progress made by Canadian railroads, and by the Grand Trunk and Grand Trunk Pacific, in particular.

The ingenuity of the Grand Trunk System's mileage and the unlimited possibility of further extension first impressed him, he says:—
"Next, the remarkable engineering obstacles of bridging and tunnelling that have been overcome in linking up so huge a system, apart from the venture of the undertaking at a time when the present rapid development could hardly have been foreseen."

I was particularly struck with the good understanding which exists between the executive and the staff.
The result of this mutual confidence was manifest in the local enthusiasm and efficiency of the various departments of work at headquarters in Montreal, as well as elsewhere, and made for a general esprit de corps which is not often met with. Outside the office atmosphere the same spirit could hardly have been foreseen.
The hotels in the world, is suitably located, and a truly magnificent building. The method of dealing with passengers' luggage strikes one as remarkably simple and effective, and is a real time and worry saver. On the commercial side, the grain elevator added to the many things that interested a stranger, and so did the large freight terminal I had the privilege of going over. Another noticeable feature that impressed me not a little was the unsolicited efforts made by one and all to see that the traffic, not merely in a common sense, but in individual merchandise, was expeditiously transported.
This regard for commerce has involved itself into a system known as the "Manifest freight service," whereby it is within the region of possibility to keep an eye not only on each whole train-load of important merchandise, but on each car-load as well, from the moment of despatch from shipping point, as they term it in Canada, to destination."

CLOSE OF TEACHERS INSTITUTE MEETINGS

Northumberland County Institute Held at Newcastle Was Well Attended

Newcastle, Sept. 26.—The 37th annual meeting of the Northumberland County Teachers' Institute closed yesterday, was attended the best yet, 110 teachers enrolling.

Yesterday morning Dr. G. G. Melvin, of St. John, read an excellent paper explaining the current systems of medical inspection of schools and strongly recommending its adoption in New Brunswick. The paper was ably discussed by Dr. B. A. Marven, of Chatham.

The idea of medical inspection was further endorsed by Principal H. H.
Stuart of Douglastown school, and Inspectors Mersereau, who moved and seconded the following resolution:

"Resolved, That in the opinion of this institute it is desirable that the Board of Education enact a regulation making compulsory the medical inspection of all school buildings and pupils." Carried unanimously.

Miss Eleanor Robinson, editor of the Educational Review, gave a very instructive address on the teaching of literature to the intermediate grades.

R. P. Steeves, director of elementary agricultural education, followed emphasizing the importance of, and showing how to impart, agricultural instructions and school gardening.

In the afternoon, and last session Professor F. A. Good, of the N. B.
Normal School, gave a fine address on How to Teach Elementary Astronomy.

It was decided to meet, if possible, with Gloucester and Restigouche Institutes at Bathurst, or failing that, at Newcastle the last Thursday and Friday of next September.

The following officers were elected: President, G. H. Harrison, Chatham; vice-president, Miss Jennie Gremly, Newcastle; secretary-treasurer, H. H.
Stuart, Douglastown; additional members of executive, W. C. Haines, Log-gieville; G. A. Wathen, Doaktown, and the past president, L. R. Hetherington, Newcastle.

FALL EXCURSIONS

TO MONTREAL.
Montreal is always a city of interest and especially so in early autumn when the weather is enjoyable, the many stores crowded with seasonal novelties, and the places of amusement in full swing. A visit there at this time of year cannot be otherwise than enjoyable, and with the very low fares prevailing on the Intercolonial Railway in connection with the annual fall excursions, the round trip can be made more cheaply than at any other time.
On September 17, 18, and 19, the round trip fare from Campbellton will be $11.20, tickets good for return October 5th. On Oct. 1, 2, and 3, the same rates will prevail with the return limit October 19th. Travellers from the Maritime Provinces have the choice of two of the finest trains on the continent, the "Ocean Limited" and the "Maritime Express" both renowned for the excellence of their sleeping and dining car service. 2ins-Sept. 24

IF HAIR'S YOUR PRIDE, USE HERPICIDE

A feeling of uncertainty, a dread of possible disappointment always goes with a "off brand" preparation.
That is part of the purchase, just as much as the label on the bottle.

You don't get this with a bottle of Newbro's Herpicide. It is not an experiment. You number among your acquaintances and friends hundreds who have used Herpicide with satisfaction, and you know that you can do the same. The results are always positive.

For the removal of dandruff and to check falling hair Newbro's Herpicide is reliable and often producing results that are little short of marvelous.
Newbro's Herpicide in 50c and $1.00 sizes is sold by all dealers who guarantee it to do all that is claimed. If you are not satisfied your money will be refunded.

TOUR THROUGH GASPE

BY AUTOMOBILE

Interesting Trip Through This Country Taken by the Manager of the Graphic

Through the courtesy of Mr. Weston Chisholm of New Carlisle, who was the winner of the Ford Auto contest, the manager of the Graphic was enabled to pay a long deferred visit to that section of country between New Carlisle and Gaspé.
Leaving New Carlisle Thursday afternoon, the run to Chandler was easily made in time for supper. Along the road a large number of stops were made and everywhere Mr. Chisholm and the Graphic representative was warmly greeted.
After looking over the bustling town of Chandler Friday morning, the road to Percé was taken, arriving there for dinner. A pleasant hour spent at the Percé Rock House, when the trip over the Percé mountains was undertaken.
Here the power plant of the car received its first severe test. For the first two or three miles the road incised steeply, winding about between the hills until the crest is reached, whereupon there is spread out before the traveller a scene of mountainous splendor not to be surpassed on this continent. Mount St. Anne to the right with its sharp, its steep cliffs and wooded slopes, towers hundreds of feet above, while below and beyond are stretched valleys with quiet farms nestling on the hillside, the apple slopes covered with trees, the foliage of which was just beginning to assume its fall tints of red, green and gold. The bright sun shining upon the whole made a picture which will not soon be forgotten.
After the Percé Mountains is the pretty little village, Corner of the Beach. Although it was still early, the manager decided that we would spend the night here, and the reason was clear. Upon the highway a number of cars were filled with young ladies who it was almost impossible to discern the schooler, but his folk face was wreathed in smiles.
