MANITOBA VERDICT WILL MAKE THE GRAFTERS SHIVER

Hats off to Manitoba.
Every lover of honest government must rejoice with the people of the prairie province.

Every boodler in Canada, Grit or Tory, will shiver at the indignant verdict of outraged Manitoba.

The voice of the people is the voice of God. The public conscience is not dead. The Rogerses and the Robins, the Flemmings, et al, wherever they are, must disappear from public life.

The honest friends of good government for New Brunswick will have new heart and new courage because of the Manitoba verdict. All they want is the opportunity and the public conscience of this province by the sea will respond just as the western electors have spoken.

Take notice, then, you big and little grafters in New Brunswick.
You have been robbing the crown lands.

You who have been stealing money from the highway grants; You who have been terrorizing and plundering liquor licenses;

You have padded pay lists with the names of infants and fictitious persons;

You who have sought and been paid big retainers from railway contractors building railroads for the province while you sat in the legislature sworn to protect the interests of the people;

You who were willing to make a legislative steal of the foreshore rights of property owners everywhere in the province;

You who sought and obtained exorbitant profits by handling the patriotic gift for the destitute and needy in England and grief and horror stricken Belgians;

You who place your personal advantage before the people's interest, while representing them in the legislature;

You who are pandering to large corporations and sacrificing the transportation needs, promised and agreed upon before the last general election in order to stifle competition at the bidding of a rival company;

You who took bribes from contractors, from government licenses and lessees in order to corrupt the electors;

You who sold your honor for few or many dollars from the Valley Railway funds;

You who, by deception and manipulation, have remained in power after the premier and leader of your government was condemned by a royal commission chosen by his colleagues and the governor of the province.

You who have wasted large sums and many resources of the people on yourselves and your political favorites.

You who condoned the guilty conduct and practices of Premier Fleming by a resolution in the legislature which made you as worthy of condemnation as he;

You who profit at every turn by the granting of franchises and privileges, who plunder from the resources and profit by the needs of the people;

Take heed that your day of reckoning is coming and that the people will serve you and all the smaller grafters who surround you as they did Roslin and Rogers and their limpets.

SO LONG.

Boys of Company E, 67th Bat- talion Who Have Enlisted

Major C. Humphrey Taylor submits the service roll of Company E, 67th Battalion, showing those who have enlisted for overseas and for home service. Major Taylor claims to have enlisted a greater portion of men who have been in training under him at Camp Sussex than have gone from any other company of the regiment.

All the following list, with one exception, were enrolled by Major Taylor and have been sent to the front:

Roy DeWitt, James Gillin, Anson Major, Holland Major, Guy Sanborn, Bob Scott, Frank Owens, Edmund Hanning, Vinal Thornton, Ralph Colwell, Arnold Steeves, Clifford Campbell, Chas.
Hollis, Rufus Choice, Charles Barkous, Carty Adams, William Haywood, Eric Haywood, Roy Hallett, Arnold Blunsard, Addon Major, Edward Downey, George Bartlett, Coy Campbell, Kenneth Wilson, Roy Stevens, Curtis Simms.

The following have been enrolled for home service:

Charles Stewart, Lorne Downey, Elmer E. Avery, Bonnie Drake, John R. Glass, Fred Mc-Kiel, James Sewell, Wilford
Keyes, Lorne Guddard, Jack Andrews, Jarvis Cook, William Burrell, Alton McIlroy, Joseph Wilson, Minto Wallace, Edwin Underhill, Harry Mercier, William Nolls, John Taddy, Percy Saunders, George Long, William Oates, Allie Shaw.

The "Sharp" Orchard Yielding Well

Apple picking has again started in the large orchard in Woodstock owned by John N. and S.
B. Chute. A part of this orchard has lately been sold to Thos. and Peter Harris, two enterprising young Scotchmen who have lately come to the province. The crop in this orchard is reported to be a very good one, being estimated at nearly 1,000 barrels.
Some thirty men will be employed to pick and rack the fruit.
This large orchard is practically of the Crimson Beauty variety, which is one of the earliest of apples and was originated by the late Franklin P. Sharp, who set the orchard and to whom the province of New Brunswick owes more than to any other man for the founding of its fruit industry.
These early varieties are a decided advantage as they give a supply for the market early in the season, and also being the hardest of all varieties they are especially suited to the province of New Brunswick.

PRESENTATION AND ADDRESS

E. Roy Hunter, a native of East Florenceville, who has been in the Bank of Nova Scotia at that place for some time, left on Friday for Prince Edward Island, where he will do relief work for the bank. As he stepped aboard the train he was handed a handsome club bag by F. T. Atkinson, who also presented the following address:

Aware of the regret which exists on all sides over your contemplated departure from your native village, and knowing that expressions of this regret have reached you, the undersigned, representing an inner circle of your friends, and especially the church with whose work you have been so helpfully associated during an extended term, desire to say that though many will miss you, we will miss you most of all. We know that your fellow workers in the Bank will miss a courteous and unselfish associate, the promoters of organized sport, a game and enthusiastic lover of clean play, and local society a cheery and accomplished participant in its varied functions; but the important service which the church has received from you, especially in the Sunday School and in the choir, causes those who must carry on the work without you to feel their loss the greatest of all.

The occasion warrants us in claiming the privilege of friends and congratulating you in the place you have won for yourself at your early age. You have not only reached a position of trust in an important profession, but we feel fully justified in saying that you have increasingly established yourself in the respect and confidence of the people, and this honor you have achieved not in a strange place but in your own country and among your own kin. This is something we know you will prize and from which you will gather impulse in your future work in new and larger circles. Wherever you go and whatever you may achieve we know that you will always believe that none rejoice more sincerely in the prosperity and happiness which come to you than those who recall the happy days in old Florenceville.

We ask your acceptance of this expression of the sincere feelings of those who have been with you in play and in work, and who are now called upon for a time to say farewell. The accompanying gift is simply intended to be a visible symbol of the admiration and good will which follow you as you now venture abroad.

The address was signed by P.
R. Sample on behalf of the Sunday school, by Rev. Geo. A. Ross on the behalf of the choir, and by F. T. Atkinson for other friends.

Primitive Baptist Church Re-Opened

The Primitive Baptist church a mile north of the village was on Sunday re-opened for service after undergoing extensive repairs.

The morning service was largely attended, the preacher being Pastor P. J. Quigg. In the afternoon Rev. Kilcollins preached, while Rev. J. M. Mallory was the chief speaker of the evening. Other ministers present, all of whom took active part in the services were Elders C.
H. Orser, D. E. Brooks and Brown.

In spite of the rainy day there was a very large attendance at all services.

A WORD FOR MOTHERS

It is a grave mistake for mothers to neglect their own health. It is only by keeping in good health that they can best care for their children. ## A WOODSTOCK BOY WRITES OF BLOODY SKIRMISHING

From the Duchess of Connaught Hospital at Clivedon, England, Corporal Burdette W. Harmon, of Woodstock, (N. B.), who was in the marine and fisheries department at Ottawa, gives complete descriptions of fighting when he was wounded.

It was in that engagement that the 1st Canadian battalion lost 800 of their 250 men and that Corporal Harmon was eight times wounded by a German bomb. The letter, written under date of July 28, to Dr. W. O. Kierstead, of U. N. B., follows:

"I am not such a quixotic hero as the Ottawa papers would have you believe. Let me relate a true story of an attack, and while I try to interest you, I hope to clear my name from the charge of bravado."

"We knew for several days before June 15 that an attack was imminent. The bombardments, while largely spasmodic, had been very destructive because we had some very heavy howitzers hammering away at the enemies' trenches. The night before the attack, part of our company placed two 18-pounders within 150 feet of the German trenches. This was a very clever trick, and the boys who took part in it deserve credit."

"Seven of us were told off to report to Colonel Hill, of the 1st battalion. He talked to us for over an hour, and explained by maps the plan of attack. There were to be five bombing parties, one sapper to be attached to each party. The two remaining were to look for mine leads and cut them. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon we fell in with our respective platoons, and marched towards the Duke's Hill. We had to round in and out for a mile and a half, in what was exactly like a deep sewer ditch. At 4.30 p. m. we were in the front trench and prepared to rest until 6—the mine was to go up at 6. At 5.30 the artillery lieutenant in charge of the field gun told us to pull away the sand bag barrier that hid his gun from the Germans. We expected a fusillade of shot as we exposed ourselves in the gradually increased opening. We were agreeably surprised. The move drew a very slight addition of rifle fire."

"That gun began to speak. We were right under the muzzle—what a noise! It was sure ear-splitting. I stood and watched the gunner. Without hat, shirt only, and sleeves rolled up he flung those shells into the breach with marvellous skill. Crouched on bended knees with sweat rolling down his face, he looked to me like a warrior of old. He truly was a hero. He fired twenty shots, and was blown to pieces by a shell that exploded backwards when he opened the breach. Our grinning of which we were proud, was stark and cold. It was an encouragement at such a time. Some score of German crack-shots with machine guns were within 150 feet."

"Lieut. James spoke calmly. 'Boys, in a minute the mine goes up.' I climbed on the firing platform to be ready for a quick spring up the three step ladder. I called Corporal Talbot in charge of the bombing infantry to come up near me in order that the men might better follow, having his familiar figure as a guide. And now the explosion! Can you imagine it? Three thousands pounds of an explosive, as powerful as nitro-glycerine. Lumps of earth as big as barrels went hundreds of feet in the air. I watched it with childish curiosity. The sun, a crimson red, was setting. The rays glistened in the falling curtain, and lit it up so that it looked like many rainbows. Now the Angel of Death began to reap. A large lump beat the man behind me to his knees. Lieut. James falls, killed. Our trench is rocked and buried and some scores of our own men are killed and wounded. The rainbow has no interest. I bend my head each moment expecting to have my brains knocked out."

"At last the sky ceased to rain lumps of earth. We leap for the parapet. I notice that Talbot is beside me and we rush forward. As quick as we were, others were much quicker. The short space between the trenches is already filled with charging Canadians. A few fall as we rush forward. I stop for a second beside the yawning crater and try to estimate its extent. I conjectured it was sixty feet deep, and 200 feet across."

"I ran on and the first German I ran across was a little fellow, about twenty, with his leg shattered. He was in the edge of the crater, high up on the mound. Horror and fear were painted on his face. With a broken leg he could not move, and he pitifully moved his hand to his eyes. I thought of all the vows I had sworn, and I knelt to shoot him. Thank God I did not do it, but ran on. The next sight almost made me laugh. About twenty hands seemed to move from the earth. They did not have time to run down their trench and they waited for our rush with heads up. We stopped to shoot a few who were running through the grass towards their second line."

"Our job was to bomb down the front line trench as far as possible. We ran down the trench for about fifty yards and came across a group of about six infantry with another engineer named Boyle. Boyle was boss and he told us that the lieutenant had told him to stay there. Some of us were chagrined. Our orders were to go down the trench to 'Hell.' Col. Hill's orders surely were more reliable than the commands of a lieutenant. A big, splendid looking sergeant says, 'Come on, who will follow me?' I ran after him, followed by the bunch. Boyle included. He didn't lack spunk, but he thought the word of a lieutenant could not be questioned. We ran down the trench for about one hundred yards. We came across two huge cables about one inch in diameter made of many small wires and the whole insulated. Boyle asks how we are to cut these wire clippers were no good. I told him to get a shovel and put it under the cable. We hammered with another shovel until the wire is almost cut. He goes ahead with that job, and the sergeant, aided by myself and others, build a barricade. Boyle had the cables cut by this time and I asked him to go back for reinforcement. He started back, and in a few minutes about ten men came along."

"We climbed over our barricade and advanced. We must have gone over 100 yards when I noticed that the sergeant and myself were alone. He was ahead and one would think he was hunting deer. We passed dead and dying Germans, but did not stop to look in dugouts. It is risky to pass such places, but we thought them empty and chanced it. The sergeant stopped and seized me by the shoulder. 'Do you see them opposite?' he said. The trench was built like a snake fence and they were in the opposite angle. I saw several heads and one fellow out of the trench. The sergeant and I started to shoot shoulder to shoulder. We fired about four rounds when I felt a pull and heard a thud. I turned my eyes and saw the sergeant bent forward on his rifle with his head blown off just above the eyes. Blood and brains rolled down his face, and his rifle was stained a bright scarlet from the stock to the muzzle. In a glance I saw that he was dead. I was alone and down the German trench. It did not take me long to decide what to do. I beat it back over dead Germans and around corners, further than any Germans would dare come until I met three of our fellows behind our barricade."

Centreville may present a gun. Committees from the Red Cross Societies along with others met on Friday evening in DeLong & Clarke's commodious store to discuss ways and means to purchase a machine gun. There was a great variety of opinions as to the need of guns and the way to provide the money. The meeting broke up with no definite result, all due to the lack of one good organizer among either the men or women. It is hoped this matter will again be taken up when there will be less talk and discussion and some definite work done. The Red Cross societies in this section have been well supported and deserve great credit for the work they have done. They all are willing to ably assist any favorable prospect of buying a machine gun, but they ought not to be asked to solicit subscriptions for that purpose which is outside the work of their organization. Let the men get busy and organize, form a line of campaign, and then they will have able assistance from the members of the Red Cross. Do it now! There should be no difficulty in raising $1000 for a field gun in the parishes of Wicklow and Wilmot and the upper part of Peel.

[The Observer suggests that Wicklow and Wilmot together try for a gun and the upper portion of Peel and Kent provide another.]

Centreville people on Saturday received The Victoria Observer for the first. It compares very favorably with the Hartland paper, the readers of which will be pleased to know that both Observers may be obtained for the price of one—1 per year. It is understood that Mr. Stevens, who is back of both enterprises, is now sending the Victoria paper to all subscribers of the Hartland paper, within the county, who pay in advance. Thus The Observer in reality now comes twice a week.

Howard Reid and Dr. Brown, while speeding to Florenceville to attend a ball game, collided at the top of Buchanan hill. The forward wheels of Mr. Reid's car were damaged while Dr. Brown got off with a bent mud guard.

Mrs. McIntyre and Mrs. (Dr.) Owens are visiting their mother, Mrs. Mary Harold.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Stevens are for the present boarding with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Hoyt.

Miss Inman, Miss Mollie Cody's guest, sang a solo in the Methodist church on Sunday afternoon. It was a treat for the congregation.

Miss Fannie West, matron of a Massachusetts hospital, is home for vacation.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Tweedie, passed away on Friday morning.

Prof. Watson to Lecture in Aid of Red Cross

The members of the local Red Cross Society are congratulated on having secured Prof. W. F. Watson, who is spending the summer here, give a lecture to raise money for their work. Prof. Watson, whose special work has been chemistry and biology, and who has gained a high place on the public platform in both north and south, will take for his subject The European War. He has been over practically all the territory that is now the seat of war and is quite familiar with all the towns mentioned in despatches. His discourse is certain to be of high interest and instructive. The lecture will be given in Lyric hall on Monday evening. There will also be some special music and Miss Laura Curtis will render a reading. The event is advertised in another part of this issue.

Rideout—Nevers

A quiet wedding took place at the home of Ernest Alsollizem's, Lincoln, on Thursday, August 12, when her daughter, Wilma Blanche Nevers was united in marriage to Wilford Almon Rideout of Peel. Rev. J. A. Cory officiating. After the wedding supper, Mr. and Mrs. Rideout left on the C. P. R. for St. John on a short trip through Nova Scotia. The bride's going away suit was a tailored suit of navy blue serge with black and white picture hat. They will return to Lincoln for a few days before leaving for Florenceville, where they will reside, the bridegroom being the principal of the Florenceville Consolidated School for the ensuing year.

ANOTHER LETTER FROM THE FRONT

France, June 10, 1915

Dear Mary:

I will write again. I am well and have not got a scratch yet and have been in some hard scraps and come out all right so far. I think now I will come home all right and if I do I will be wiser than when I left.

Well, dear, I have seen some of the world since I left. I have been in Belgium, Flanders, France and England. England is the best of them all, but can't come up with Canada. We have the best country in the world I think. Men's wages are small here—a good man that can drive team gets 20c per day; a common man gets 10c per day. They live cheap—just eat soup and potatoes.

I suppose you have heard of Sam Glespy getting wounded. He was shot in the arm and his arm broken. I had a letter from him and he said he was doing fine and would soon be with us again.

Well, dear, the Canadians have won a name for themselves here. If you have a Canadian badge on you are welcome to anything, they can't do enough. I was walking through town the other day and passing a dressmaking shop a lady came out and grabbed my arm and said hello! Canadian! I stopped and had to go in and have a cup of coffee and a fine dinner. I did not know the people but their names were Clark and from Canada. I can tell you I was pleased for they were the first people I have met I could talk with. And maybe we did not talk some, but we did. There were father, mother and three daughters. They all wanted to talk at once. I did not see much of the town, for they would not let me go. I had to tell my experience in this campaign and that took me some time. When I got through the girls took their horse and took me back to camp. They gave me a nice pair of gloves, 3 pairs silk socks and a pair of slippers and fruit and chocolate. I treated all the boys when I got home. Have been offered $3 for the slippers, but will not sell them as they are just what I need around the house. The major and I are in the house most of the time, so you see I am well cared for.

The shells are falling close to us, but we have got so used to them we do not notice them.

Well, dear, I was standing beside the canal the other day and saw a little head in the water. I dove in and brought it out and found I had saved a little girl about the size of Edna. I tell you the tears flowed freely when I had brought her to life. I just thought how I would feel if it had been Edna. I got her in the house and her mother came crying. She did everything to show her thanks. She could not talk English but took my hands and kissed them to show her thanks.

There is heavy firing now on the line. We are about a mile from our big guns and it is like thunder all the time. I expect there will be a big charge tonight and if there is and we are successful we will have to move again. Our company is working nights now, so that gives us more time to write you see. I hope this thing will soon be over, for it is terrible to see the graves of so many good men. Every farm is a grave yard and lots lying on the ground that can't be buried and the smell is terrible. Those that are buried are being torn out by the shells that explode and you cannot get a drop of water unless it is boiled and then you don't like to drink it. I am getting so I can go as long as a camel without water. Give my love to all and write often.

Ever your loving husband,
James B. Tompkins

Americans Praise Our Country

The following article is by a writer in the Caribou Republican:

An auto ride to Woodstock, N. B., branching off from the main Houlton road at Bridgewater Corners, and passing through Centreville, Lakeville and Jacksonton, is a ride through a beautiful farming community, one which is a close second to the far-famed Aroostook. The houses are well kept, barns in excellent state of repair, and there is an air of thrift and prosperity abounding seen in no other section of New Brunswick bordering the St. John. Indeed, this section had it not been denied the markets privileged the American husbandman, would today undoubtedly be as wealthy and prosperous as is our own thriving and progressive county.

The residents of this section are thrifty, industrious, enterprising, frugal, honest, square dealing, courteous, hospitable, warm-hearted. They are good farmers, good neighbors and good citizens. It is this portion of New Brunswick which has furnished so many good citizens for Aroostook.

The highways from Centreville to Woodstock and from Woodstock to Florenceville compare very favorably with those of this county in the rural sections; they are smooth, well rounded and afford good drainage, without which requisite no road can be successfully maintained.

In one respect, which does not escape any autoist, these are superior to the average Aroostook highway; and that is, the culverts. The track is as smooth and level at the foot of the hills as any other portion. There are no rough boards sticking up from two to six inches, nor are there any drops or holes, caused by the planking having settled lower than the main roadbed, to give the auto or wagon a savage bump. And this is the result of a different method of construction; the road work of the culvert, usually cedar logs, is placed about a foot under ground and gravel placed over it conforming to the surface of the road.

A particularly noticeable characteristic is the nature of the crops raised. While in Aroostook the potato fields predominate, there grain and hay form the bulk of farming operations, although many good potato fields are observed. Haying, last week, was practically all done, the yield being slightly under the average. The grain outlook appears good.

Another noticeable thing is the almost total absence of autos in the farming section. While almost every Aroostook farm must have its garage, the reverse is the rule there. Riding from Centreville but two automobiles were passed, one displaying the red number plate indicating New Brunswick, and one from Houlton, while on but one farm was a garage noted.

The ride from Florenceville to Andover, on the east side of the St. John, is less interesting from an agricultural viewpoint. The land is more rocky; in fact, on many farms rocks and boulders predominate. It is in striking contrast to the section above mentioned.

[In the last paragraph it may be said that the road from Florenceville to Perth follows the river closely, and except for the verdant intervals the farms are not really visible because of the high hills that border the river.]

Had a Close Call

Lt. Harvey T. Reid, of Hartland, N. B., is on the firing line in Belgium with the Royal Ar### tillery of the British Expeditionary Force.

When war broke out he was at Oxford University as a Rhodes scholar from Acadia University. He volunteered for active service with the British forces and secured a commission in the Royal Artillery and is now attached to D. Battery, 51st Brigade, 9th Divisional Artillery, B. E. F. He writes to a friend in Fredericton: "We are in the hottest bit of the line at present, and the Germans give us many a nasty knock. As you see, I am in the artillery, and we have rare sport shelling the German trenches. Last Sunday I came very near doing the trick. We were firing on the German trenches with the aid of aeroplanes when they dropped a 4-inch high explosive shell about five yards from me. I was so certain that I was for it that I could only smile, but fortunately it did not burst, and hence I am here to tell the tale. This is a very cruel war. The Canadians have been doing splendid work, and have won the admiration of the whole army." —St. John Globe.

Work of Hartland Red Cross

Hartland Red Cross Society is still doing excellent work as it has been from the start. It is good to learn that interest is increasing. Socks are acknowledged from the following: Mesdames Scott Rideout, S. L. York, W. E. Thornton, each 4 pairs; Mesdames Vinal Thornton, R. Day, Allen Ward, Geo. Crabb, E. On July 27 there was sent to the Provincial Branch a box containing: 12 towels, 60 pairs socks, 8 day shirts, 8 pyjamas, 8 sheets, 16 bandage rolls, 55 pkgs. cigarettes, 4 lbs. tobacco, 24 cakes soap.

Lunn—Gee

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Gee, Wicklow, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Wednesday, Aug. 4, when their eldest daughter, Ruby, became the bride of Lewis T. Lunn, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lunn, Summerfield. The bride wore a beautiful dress of white silk, and looked charming as her father led her to the altar where the happy groom awaited her. The ceremony was performed at 4 o'clock by Rev. G. A. Ross, pastor of the Methodist church.

The wedding march was played by Mrs. Percy Hamilton, sister of the groom. Only immediate relatives of the contracting parties were present. After the ceremony the guests repaired to the dining room where supper was served. As twilight began to close in the bridal party was greeted by a rousing serenade after which the guests returned to their homes leaving with

The Oliver Cultivator stands in a class by itself, by reason of the fact that it is built right, with larger range of adjustments so it can be adapted to do good work under all conditions in the potato field. Oliver quality has a name the world over.

In Aroostook County alone sixty-five per cent. of the Potato Cultivators used are Oliver's. The feature of the Oliver Cultivator that appeals to all farmers who have used it or have seen it at work is the excellent work that this implement does. By an ingenious arrangement the gangs are held parallel, and therefore always cut a uniform distance apart, no matter how far they may be shifted to the right or to the left. On the Oliver Cultivator neither of the gangs leaves an uncultivated strip between the shovels, nor does one gang cut a narrower width than the other when the cultivator is shifted to the side.

Penny and the Garter

A German knight of the garter perplexed Mr. Penny some 250 years ago. On June 19, 1608, he records in his diary: "To Whitehall, where we attended the Duke of York in his closet, on our usual business. And thence out, and did see many of the knights of the garter, with the king and Duke of York, going into the privy chamber, to elect the elector of Saxony, in that order, who I did hear the Duke of York say, was a good drinker; I know not upon what score this compliment is done him."—London Chronicle.

On Talking Too Low.

"We Americans are of two kinds; we either talk too loud or too low, particularly in public places. A European family will sit down in public without feeling the necessity of putting a mute on the voice and retreating as though behind a wall. They are not noisy or gay, they are not too low, but they say what they wish without lowering the tone to that painful depth which we mistake for a cultivated note. Let us be brave and be ourselves, for nothing can be better than that."—Louise O. Hale in Century.

Turkey's Unit of Value.

In Turkey the unit of value is the piastre, which is divided into 40 paras, while the para is divided into 3 aspes. As the piastre is worth only 4.4 cents, the para is worth a little more than a tenth of a cent, and an aspe is worth a trifle over one twenty-seventh of a cent. When an American in Turkey wants to feel rich he goes forth and buys some 2,700 aspes, which he spends with lavish hand over the bazaar counters of the oriental bazaars.—Exchange.

Four Kinds of Pupils.

The Talmud says there are four kinds of pupils—the sponge and the funnel, the strainer and the sieve. The sponge is he who taketh up everything, and the funnel is he who taketh in at this ear and letteth out at that; the strainer is he that letteth go the wine and retaineth the dross, and the sieve is he that letteth go the bran and retaineth the fine flour. The student who begins at least to wish to belong to the last named class will not have been sent to college in vain.

A Great Blessing to be Freed of Indigestion

For Many Who Suffered After Almost Every Meal—Afforded Complete Cure to Use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

The experience of many people who suffer from indigestion is like that of the writer of this letter. Stomach troubles may bring some relief, but chronic indigestion is almost invariably the result of derangements of the liver, kidneys and bowels, and cannot be actually cured until these organs are set right.

When the liver stagnates there is constipation, and the food ferments in the bowels instead of being digested. This is the source of pain and suffering, and the cause of such dread diseases as appendicitis, peritonitis, etc.

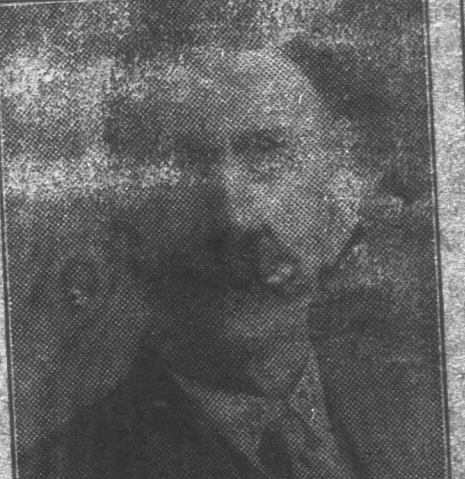

and kidney disease. It is much better to be on the safe side and prevent such ailments by the timely use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Mr. J. D. E. Barrett, Nelson, B.C., and formerly of Twillingate, Nfld., writes:—"For several years I was a great sufferer from indigestion. The least bit of food caused me considerable trouble, and often I could scarcely eat a meal a day. The many remedies I tried proved futile until I began the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and after using about eight boxes I was completely cured. Since that time I have not been troubled with indigestion, which I consider a great blessing. I feel grateful for this cure, and shall gladly answer any inquiries from persons suffering as I did."

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 28th, 1914.

"For over two years, I was troubled with Constipation, Drowsiness, Lack of Appetite and Headaches. I tried several medicines, but got no results and my Headaches became more severe. One day I saw your sign which read 'Fruit-a-Lives' make you feel like walking on air. This appealed to me, so I decided to try a box. In a very short time, I began to feel better, and now I feel fine. Now I have a good appetite, relish everything I eat, and the Headaches are gone entirely. I cannot say too much for 'Fruit-a-Lives', and recommend this pleasant fruit medicine to all my friends."

Military Rate.

An old military dictionary tells us that rats were sometimes used in war for the purpose of firing powder magazines by means of lighted matches tied to their tails. We cannot offhand recall any historical instance of this, but presumably it did occur, seeing that Marshal Vanbaen laid down special rules for counteracting it. Anyhow, the dodge is as old as Samson, who, you may recall, used foxes in a similar way for a somewhat similar purpose.—London Standard.

What Roads Owe to Salt.

Roads, we are told, owe a great deal to salt. According to one theory, the oldest trade routes came into existence as a result of the traffic in salt. One of the oldest roads in Italy is the Via Salaria, along which the people of the Sabine country obtained their salt from the salt pans of Ostia. Salt was the main merchandise carried in the trans-Libyan caravans in the days of Herodotus, and salt is one of the chief elements in the trade along the Saharan caravan routes today. Salt and salt fish, it is interesting to remember, entered largely into the commerce of the Carthaginians. The latter, by the way, was considered a delicacy in those pre-Christian days.—London News.

Happiness.

Happiness is the shortest distance between two disappointments. It is the background of hope, the reaction from despair and the illusion of forgetfulness.

Happiness is the brief moment after something attained. It is something we remember to have had after it has gone.

Happiness is what we often envy in others, who make us think they have it. It is a transient in the house of your mind who is gone before you have shown him to his room.

You are always waiting for his coming. When he comes you never know how to treat him.—Life.
