WILL FIGHT TO FINISH

President Palma Announces
No Terms to Offer

PLENTY MONEY

Has the Cash to carry on Long Campaign—Crops
May be Ruined

Havana, Sept. 3.—The hopes of those who on Saturday night ten a lively suggested a project of mutual concessions as a means of ending the rebellion, were shattered yesterday when President Palma called General Cebre, one of the proposed peace commissioners, to the palace to inform him that the government had no concessions to offer or accept and no intention other than fighting the matter through and suppressing the insurrection. The promoters, however, are not entirely discouraged and another meeting may be held later.
The Associated Press learned from a source ordinarily so reliable as to be absolutely beyond question, that the inner circles of the government had about reached a tentative understanding that if the government was unable to control the insurrection by September 15 it would ask for the assistance of the United States, but when this assertion was broached to members of the government it was met with such an emphatic denial as to leave no room for doubt that whatever the government may have discussed it was decided to see the thing through by all the force of arms it can command and abide by the results.

One of the main reasons why the government feels encouraged to pursue the fight to the end force is, as outlined to the Associated Press by Font Sterling, secretary of the treasury, it has abundantly of money.

"We have nineteen million dollars on hand," said the secretary of the treasury. "Don't overlook that. And we have a monthly income of two million dollars. The August receipts and customs duties were greater than before. We will not need to negotiate loans for some time to come at least.
Yes, most of what we have has been appropriated by congress, but those appropriations must wait.
We shall use the money in putting down the rebellion."

What is beginning to disturb business interests more than anything else is the increasing evidence that tobacco planting, sugar cultivation and crop preparations will begin so late as to be ruinous to the coming winter crops.
War preparations in Havana are increasing, but the Sunday night gaily is unabated and the lightheartedness of the people was the same last night as it always is.

ST. JOHN EXHIBITION OPENED SATURDAY NIGHT.

The St. John exhibition was formally opened on Saturday evening by his honor Lieut. Governor Snowball, after a number of addresses had been delivered by prominent public men. Over four thousand people were on the grounds and as many of these as were able were present at the opening exercises.

SWINDLED

Mr O F Stacy of Bathurst
Said to have Lost
Some Money

New York, Aug. 31.—O. F. Stacy, of the O. F. Stacy Company, Limited, of Bathurst, New Brunswick, is alleged to be one of the biggest victims involved, as reported by police here, in a swindling scheme known as the Boston and Nova Scotia Coal Company, incorporated in Massachusetts and floated with a capital stock of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars at ten dollars a share, but which had no tangible properties.
S.P. Kelsey, assistant postmaster at Portland, Maine, is reported as another victim. The coal company was the share-selling scheme of the notorious Mrs. Izella Mason-Brown, the Halifax adventuress who with Bina Finnegan Vervult has been running here a confident matrimonial "widow" scheme and entrapping avaricious single men with a great show of wealth. Mrs. Mason-Brown's brother George Allen Mason, alias Sir Wallace Montgomery, and half a dozen other aliases, was secretary-treasurer and chief promoter of the scheme, which had luxurious offices at 52 Broadway here. A warrant is out for his arrest, but he is said to be hiding at the home of the father of his wife, with whom he does not live. W. D.

AMERICANS WANT THEIR WORKMAN

New York cannerymen Complain that Skilled Men have been Induced to Cross Border

Ottawa, Sept. 2.—The Ottawa authorities have received a letter from United States cannerymen in New York state complaining that Canadian cannerymen in eastern Canada were inducing United States skilled labor to come to the dominion.
This the United States cannerymen say is in violation of the Canada labor law which ought to be put in force against the Americans.

Whatever grounds there may be for protest one thing is clear and that is on account of the great prosperity in Canada workmen are being attracted from the United States because of the higher wages they receive here.

WEDDING

LEMIEUX-BOUDREAU

A quiet but very pretty wedding took place Monday, Sept. 3rd in the Church of Our Lady of Snows, when Miss Mary Louise Boudreau, eldest daughter of Mr Francis Boudreau of this town and Mr John Lemieux, eldest son of Mr John Lemieux were united in marriage. Rev E P Wallace officiating.

The bride who was given away by her father looked charming in a navy blue broad cloth with white trimmings and hat to match. She carried a bouquet of sweet peas.
Miss Georgina Lemieux, sister of the groom, was maid of honor and Mr J Belanger was best man.

The music was rendered by Miss Maria Roy and appropriate hymns were sung by the choir.

After the ceremony the happy couple left on the maritime express for a wedding tour to Moncton and St John with the best wishes of their friends. We wish them a happy journey through life.

FOREST FIRES

Premier Tweedie said yesterday that he had received a wire that a large forest fire is raging at Dungarvon, Northumberland county. He had given orders for a large staff of men to be put to work to endeavor to put it out. The fire, he added, started before the recent rains, and it was thought had been extinguished, but it had evidently broken out afresh.—Telegraph.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT

Four Lads met Death at Stellarton

EXPLOSION

Caused by Lighting Match
In a Deserted
Mine

Stellarton, N. S., Sept. 3.—A terrible accident occurred here this afternoon, in which four boys between the ages of 12 and 16 years lost their lives. The lads who were killed were the two sons of Neil Gunn, a son of Joseph Frey and a son of Neil Patterson. They with another boy by the name of Kornett were playing ball near what is known as the English Slope, at the west end of the town near the Episcopal church, when the ball entered the slope and they went in search of it. After entering one of the boys lighted a match which ignited the gas in the mine which has not been worked for a number of years, having been abandoned, and a terrific explosion ensued, which could be heard distinctly throughout the town. Frew was hurled nearly 400 feet, falling in the picnic grounds beside the high school, while one of the Gunn boys was thrown over the top of a grove of trees some distance away and his body terribly mangled.
Patterson and the other Gunn lad were still alive when found, but died shortly afterwards, when Kornett, who began to ascend when he heard them talk of lighting a match, sustained a broken arm and severe bruises. The bodies were brought to McQuarrie's undertaking rooms, here they were prepared for burial.

SUDDEN DEATH OF PREMIER'S BROTHER.

WRECK ON I. C. R.

Driver Quinn Killed—railway Employees were Exonerated

In a collision between an express train and a freight, at St.
Charles Junction, Quebec Tuesday
Driver J. Quinn, was instantly killed beneath the wreck of his engine. The wreck occurred between eight and nine o'clock yesterday morning. It appears the freight train was at St.
Charles Junction when the express train, No 150, came along. The electric semaphore signal is reported to have showed "all right" while the station semaphore was at danger. As near as can be ascertained the freight was on the main line and the express running at the usual rate of speed, crashed into her. The express engine was ditched and badly wrecked.
Driver J. Quinn was buried beneath his engine and was instantly killed. So far as can be learned no others were injured.

Seven or eight cars on the freight were smashed up and the postal car on the express was somewhat damaged.

The track was badly torn up and the wreck was one of the worst that has occurred on the road for some time.

Traffic was not interrupted for any length of time as trains were able to pass through the sidings.

An inquiry into the accident was held, and the jury exonerated the railway employees for all blame in the matter.

ITS MERIT IS PROVED

RECORD OF A GREAT MEDICINE

A Prominent Montreal Woman Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Completely Cured Her.

The great evil Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is doing among the women of America is attracting the attention of many leading scientists, and thinking people generally.

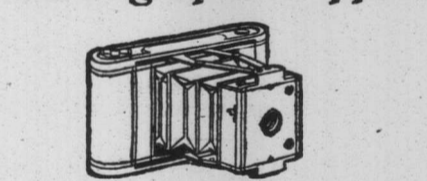

The following letter is only one of many thousands which are on file in the Pinkham office, and go to prove beyond question that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound must be a remedy of great merit, otherwise it could not produce such marvelous results among sick and ailing women:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
Soon after my marriage my health began to decline. My appetite failed me; I was unable to sleep, and I became very nervous and had shooting pains through the abdomen and pelvic organs, with bearing-down pains and constant headaches, causing me much misery. The monthly periods became more and more painful, and I became a burden and expense to my family instead of a help and pleasure. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me within three months. Soon after I began using it I felt a change for the better, and at the time of my next period I noticed a great difference, and the pain gradually diminished until I was well. I am stronger and look better than I did before I was married, and there is great rejoicing in the house over the wonder your medicine worked. Mrs. M. A. C. Letellier, 732 Cadieux St., Montreal, Quebec.

If you have suppressed or painful periods, weakness of the stomach, indigestion, bloating, pelvic catarrh, nervous prostration, dizziness, faintness, "don't care" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feeling, excitability, backache or the blues, these are sure indications of female weakness, or some derangement of the organs. In such cases there is one tried and true remedy—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

FRENCH AND ENGLISH

Interesting Statements regarding the French in Canada

Two interesting statements regarding the French in Canada, from quite opposite standpoints, have lately been made.

Dr. Hannah, late president of Kings College, Windsor, N. S., speaking in England, at the Cambridge University summer meeting, declared that by staying in or near their native communities and raising large families the French were gradually extending those communities beyond Quebec province, and practically making the whole of eastern Canada French again.

"There was no doubt, whatever," he said, "that in a few generations eastern Canada would be French again, simply with the English communities in the towns."

There is no doubt that the French are over-running the rural communities in Quebec province, while the English speaking population is growing proportionately less. There is also a growing French population in a section of Ontario. It is also to be noted that there is a gradual movement as yet small, of Quebec French people into the northern part of New Brunswick. It would seem, however, that while the great stretches of northern Quebec and Ontario are unpeopled the movement toward the maritime provinces would not be large, while these provinces ought, within the next quarter of a century, to attract many settlers from Europe.

The other side of the case is set forth by Le Nationaliste, a French-Canadian journal, which laments that within a quarter of a century French-Canadians will have ceased to be an important political factor in Canada. Estimating an increase between 1901 and 1911 of over 2,000,000 in population by the immigration of people who do not speak French, Le Nationaliste says:—

"This increase will necessitate seventy-eight new English-speaking members in the House of Commons, which will stand at sixty-five to nearly three hundred instead of 65 to 214 to-day. Let this increase continue till 1921 and we will have ten million. The French Canadians will then have 65 members in the House of Commons out of 600 or 700. In 1931, Canada having a population of twenty-six millions; at least, it will be decided in order not to reduce too numerous a parliament to reduce the Quebec representation to twenty or thirty out of four hundred."

Without going into any analysis of these estimates it may be said that the movement indicated is in progress. French Quebec, as a factor in Canadian politics, enjoys in Sir Wilfrid Laurier's time her golden age. The increase in not French speaking population will notably change the complexion of parliament within the next quarter of a century. Many things may happen before the French invasion of the maritime provinces, which Dr. Hannah appears to predict, could possibly be accomplished. The complexion of life in Quebec itself may undergo much change in twenty-five years.

GRAND FALLS POWER

Latest Regarding Plant extension of Time Given

Fredericton, Sept. 1.—Charles McLaughlin, of New York, proprietor of the United Grand Falls Power Company, was in the city yesterday interviewing the members of the government regarding the project of harnessing Grand Falls. Under the previous arrangement the company was under obligation to commence operations not later than to-day, Sept. 1st, but the troubles between the provincial and federal companies made it necessary to delay, but since then the companies have amalgamated and the engineer's plans will be approved at Ottawa at an early date. The government decided to extend the time for commencing the work until May 1st, 1907. Mr. McLaughlin stated that the work of erecting the power plant would be commenced before May 1st next, and if possible this fall. The first work to be done will be to build a dam, and then the power house would be erected. The idea is to get a pole line erected to St. John at as early a date as possible so as to be able to supply power at the metropolis of the province. The company proposes to spend from $4,000,000 to $5,000,000.

On Tuesday of next week Attorney-General Pugsley, with Mrs. Pugsley will leave for the Canadian West.

Commissioner of Agriculture Farris says that what it had been felt would be one of the best seasons in recent years had been spoiled by the long continued extremely hot and dry weather.

The provincial government yesterday took up the matter of the appointment of a chancellor for the University of New Brunswick. Their committee will meet the University senate on September 5th to confer with that body regarding the appointment of professor and chancellor. Dr. Pugsley last night gave it as his opinion that the government was against the plan of making a temporary appointment, and in referring to names mentioned said Prof. Cecil C. Jones had been highly recommended. Continuing, he said that he thought that Prof. Jones was the type of man wanted. His appointment would be made easy through his being a mathematical professor, while the appointment of Dr. Walter C. Murray, who had also been prominently mentioned in connection with the position, would meet considerable trouble. The Attorney-General stated that Dr. Murray was not an applicant for that position, and gave the reporter to understand that the application of Dr. Jones was receiving most favorable consideration.

VERY HEAVY TRAVEL

An I. C. R. official in conversation with the Globe to-day said that the travel on the trains through Moncton on Saturday was estimated as having been the heaviest in years. By some it was held to have been the heaviest in the history of the road save perhaps on some days on which excursions were being run. Many of the passengers were tourists from the United States homeward bound; others were enroute to the exhibition here, but there was beside these an unusually large number of east bound passengers. All the trains were crowded to their utmost capacity. The largest crowd was probably that on the express from Point du Chene to St. John, in charge of Conductor Harry Williams. This train was made up of ten or eleven cars hauled by two engines. It carried, so the Globe had it on excellent authority this morning, more than seven hundred adult passengers, as well as a couple of hundred children. Most of these people were on their way back to the United States. The cars had to be crowded, so that they were hardly so comfortable as they might have been and it was sometimes difficult to pass through them freely.

To-day, too, the travel to St. John is proving very heavy. That, of course, is due to the attractions offered at the Exhibition. Both on the I. C. R. and on the C. P. R. the number of persons travelling to the city is large. On several of the trains extra cars have been found necessary.—Globe, 3rd.

LITTLE PABOS

This community received a shock on Saturday last, when the news spread that Mr. James Jones, a former mayor of Little Pabos, and one of the best known residents of Gaspé county, had been found dead in his bed. Only the previous day he had been at work on his farm apparently in the enjoyment of perfect health, and the terrible andness of his end cast a gloom on the whole community in which he had been long a leading figure. Coming home at night, after a hard day's work, he had eaten a hearty meal among the ingredients of which were: hot bread, cold milk and raspberry preserves. He was in the best of spirits and manifested his joy in life by stepping off a jig. He went to bed within a few minutes, and about two o'clock in the morning was heard gasping. Mrs. Jones and her son Michael, who were alone in the house with him at the time tried to awaken him, but without avail. Neighbors were called in but they too failed to restore consciousness and it was found that life had departed.

The late James Jones was born at Port Daniel Que., sixty years ago. Early in life he went to the United States, where he worked for some years. On his return he bought the farm which was his home up to the time of his death. He married Anula, daughter of the late James Flynn, and sister of Mr. E. J. Flynn, former Premier of the province. For 27 years he was forest ranger in this district, but like so many others, he was removed from that position on the advent of the Liberal party to power.

The funeral which took place last Monday at Grand River, testified more loudly than could anything else to the esteem towards the deceased and the sympathy felt for his family throughout the communities where he was known. From Port Daniel to Perce, and even beyond, people turned out to attend the obsequies. A hundred and fifty vehicles took place in the cortege and most of them were filled with people. One of the largest turnouts ever seen in this vicinity. The carriers, cross bearers, and pall bearers were Messrs. Guilanville, Caron, Mayor of Grand River, David Dugas, Pabos, Louis Rebel, Cape Cove, Gabriel Myles and William Suttire, Pabos; George Couture and Alex Shannon Grand River, Patrick and Peter J. Laine, Perce.

The chief mourners were Messrs. Michael and Edward Jones, Philip Dea, son-in-law; Henry Thomas and Jeremiah Jones, brothers; Jeremiah Dea, Port Daniel, uncle; Michael Murray and Oswald Jones, nephews; John Flinn and F. B. Caron of Perce, brothers-in-law; David Dea of Port Daniel, a cousin.

Rev. Caie Ouellet, of Grand River officiated, with the choir aided by Mr. J. B. Blonde, of Perce, and Miss Kate Sirois, of Grand River, rendered the solemn Requiem Mass, with appropriate hymns.

ARMED TRAMPS

ON THE WAR PATH

FREDERICTON, Sept. 1.—Premier Tweedie received a telegram last night from Father Richard, of Rogersville, stating that two armed tramps were terrorizing the people of that section. The premier promptly wired Deputy Sheriff Irvine to proceed to Rogersville and endeavor to round up the visitors.

The members of the local government left for St. John by the nine-thirty train this morning. Attorney-General Pugsley is to leave next week on a trip to western Canada.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circular and testimonials. Address: F. J. DOUBLE TRACK I. C. R.

Minister of Railways announces Plan for Next Year

Among the plans of Hon. H. R. Emmerson, minister of railways and canals, for improving the I. C. R. and which will be of special interest to St. John are the double tracking of the road eastwards from this city, which is to be commenced next spring and the proposal to establish a frequent service of steam motor cars to give increased facilities for suburban passenger traffic to and from St. John.

Speaking to a representative of The Telegraph yesterday Mr. Emmerson said both these important improvements would be started next spring. With regard to the double track it would necessarily take some time, but he hoped to see the rails as far as Rothsays, even if Hampton could not be reached during the first year. The motor car service would not be depended on the progress made in the double tracking but would be put in operation as early as possible.

THE MOTOR CAR SYSTEM

The cars would run probably as far as Hampton, and the minister laid stress upon the point that it was his intention that the service should be frequent. He foresaw, he said, a considerable increase in suburban traffic and a consequent building up of some of the favorite summer resorts along the line. It would also be possible he pointed out, especially when the double track was well advanced to accelerate the through trains by cutting out local stops to take up passengers coming into the city or to set down outgoing suburbanites. The motor cars would handle all the local traffic as far as possible.

Asked for some details as to the system to be used Mr. Emmerson replied that G. R. J. Joughins, the superintendent of the mechanical department of the I. C. R. was now in France studying the systems employed there. It was generally conceded that France was easily first in this method of traction, and the minister intimated the motor line from Paris to Orleans as about the most perfect in operation anywhere.

Until Mr. Joughins' return he said, further details were not available beyond the fact that the cars were driven by steam, and that each car would be capable of hauling a trailer. Mr. Emmerson added that the cars from St. John would be the first in use on the I. C. R. He understood the C. P. R. ran motor cars to suburban points near Montreal but it was not intended to use the same system as they employed.

Mr. Emmerson will receive a delegation from the local freight handlers in his private car at 10 o'clock this morning. Speaking of these meetings with employees of the road, he referred with satisfaction to the interviews he had recently had in Moncton with representatives of all the departments. He believed, he said, that the men had learned from the conversations they had held, what his aims were in the management of the railway, and he had no hesitation in saying that he himself had derived great benefit from meeting them.

In reply to a question the minister said the work of rebuilding in Moncton was being rushed in a most satisfactory manner. The I. C. R. had been fortunate in being able to let nearly all the contracts to one contractor. Some of the buildings would be completed this fall but there was an enormous amount of work to be done, and among others the locomotive machine shop would not be ready until next year.

McLELLAN CUP APPEARS AGAIN

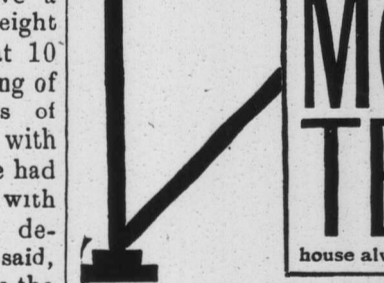

Former Emblem of Maritime Curling Supremacy will be Again in Competition

The McLellan Cup, offered many years ago as a curling trophy by the late Hon. Mr. McLellan, Provincial Secretary of New Brunswick, and won by the Truro Curling Club, has not been in competition for years.

The association to which it was originally given became defunct, so there was no real owners for the trophy.

It has been agreed among the curlers of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick that the cup shall again be put into competition. This agreement has now been signed by the curling clubs of these provinces, so this winter McLellan Cup will be competed for, likely with three rinks of four players each.

The first game must be played in Truro as the Truro champions now hold this cup.

There isn't anything in the world much more refreshing than A CUP OF TEA; that is—if the tea is good quality.

MORSE'S TEA

ANSLOW BROS., Publishers,
CAMPBELLTON, N. B. Sept 6th 1906

Fatherly is sweeter to the taste than candour, but His Honor, W. Martimer Clark, Lieut Governor of Ontario, did the whole Dominion a marked service when, at the British Medical Association Dinner he drew attention to the apathy and indifference with which Canada was too generally regarded in the United Kingdom. The eminent representative speakers from the Mother Country pleaded guilty to ignorance but denied indifference. Let it go at that. The evidence of ignorance in at least some respects was too clear to permit of evasion or denial. It seems so utterly absurd that cases of exhibits, in August, should have been conspicuously marked: "Keep from cold and frost." Yet this was done by uniformed shippers and cannot be excused even on the score of over-solicitude. It was a complete "give-away." The sweltering days of the sessions doubtless removed the possibility of recurrence, but on our part it will be some time before recovery is complete from a feeling of disdain that our overseas kindred did not know any better. It is hard to escape the thought that common sense should have prevented the odious reflection. Canadian fruits and cereals exposed for sale in Great Britain ought to have been sufficient. These do not mature and ripen in a climate where frosts in mid-summer are likely to occur. The London Daily Telegraph pleads guilty to the indictment, which is a more hopeful sign than the Standard's declaration that the Lieut-Governor displayed needless pessimism. Canadian opinion is that the doctors were the pessimists.

— Canadian Graphic

The reports from Commercial Agents in England of the "doctoring" of Canadian wheat shipped from United States ports are easy of belief in view of past happenings with cheese. The big farmer to the south is mean sometimes and never meaner than when he schemes to undermine for his own profit the better product of the soil and methods of the smaller farmer, his neighbor on the north. The remedy is shipment by the all-Canadian route. The gain hereby is so apparent that probably a little persistent publicity will lead to its speedy adoption. The grain grower, the railway, the elevator, the shipping, the port of exit, all participate in the advantage accruing, and the Government will doubtless take such measures as may seem most advisable to safe-guard Canadian interests in the matter. The Canadian press is doing its part and doing it well.—Ex.

The unsavory reputation that the meat scandals have gained for this continent, is forcibly brought to our attention by the action of an editor in Germany. It appears that the German Government has discovered that Prussian pork-packers and bakers are not above suspicion. The butcheries were found unclean; one baker admitted that his vats and floor were scrubbed but once a year; in another bakery, cats and hens lived at night. The editor of a prominent newspaper outdressed his brain to find a suitable heading which would express the horror of such a situation, and the result was the caution across the front page, "America in Prussia."—Ex.

Town and Country.

Capt. Forbes of the 73rd regiment is the only New Brunswick to secure place on Bisley team this year.

Geo. H. Seeley, of St. John, has been engaged as policeman for Dalhousie, and he was appointed liquor inspector for the town at this week's meeting of the government.

The Supreme Court is setting at Bathurst this week, Mr. Smith charged with stealing a ticket from the I. C. R. ticket office is being tried Judge Hanington is presiding.

James Neilson, aged eighty-eight years, has been awarded the contract to erect a smokestack seventy-two feet high and five feet in diameter for the Miller Extract Company, Millerton.

Mr. E. Tennyson Smith, the famous English temperance worker, will visit New Brunswick in October. Word to this effect has been received by leading temperance workers. Mr. Smith will spend about ten days in St. John after which he will visit Fredericton and Moncton.

While Stewart McAllister, of Jacques River, was driving on the station highway bridge here last Wednesday afternoon, his horse ran away, throwing him out of the wagon and dragging him a considerable distance. Mr. McAllister was taken to Dr. Duncan's office. It was found that though he was badly cut about the head and face his injuries are not serious.

Mr. Fred Robideau, of Shediac, editor of the Montserrat Acadien, had the misfortune to have his hand badly injured yesterday morning while at work on a printing press in his office. In some way Mr. Robideau's right hand became caught and the result one finger was severed and two others badly smashed. Mr. Robideau came to Moncton yesterday morning and received medical attendance.—Times.

Considerable important business was transacted by the local government meeting at Fredericton Friday evening. Solicitor General Jones, who investigated the charges against the liquor inspectors and commissioners for Gloucester county, submitted his report. The charges were that the inspector permitted wholesale licenses to retail liquor, etc. The charges in many cases were found true and the commissioner recommended that no wholesale licenses be issued this year in Gloucester and that the inspector be not appointed.

A Bangor Maine, man who was at the Brunswick Hotel yesterday says that not for years has there been such a starving demand for woodmen as there is at the present time. All through the Maine and New Hampshire lumber woods there is a cry for good lumbermen, and wages for chopping range from $30 to $35 and $40 per month and board included. This has never been known before. The Bangor Maine man, said that unless the demand was supplied from the Maritime provinces that Poles, Scandinavians and other foreigners would have to be secured from the big cities.—Transcript.

Judging by the way things look now woodmen will be getting better wages this winter than they have before. Wages were away up to the top notch last year, but they seem to have kept pace with other things in the lumber line and have climbed up the scale. Employment agents in Bangor say they expect the operators will have to pay $32 and $35 for men whom they hired last year for $28 and $30 a month. The men are no better but they think that lumber was high and stumpage is still high that the operator is making a good thing and can afford to give them a little more of the profits.—Gleaner.

Travel on the I. C. R. on Friday and Monday was very heavy. All trains were crowded.

The Upsalquitch picnic under the auspices of the Caldonia Society was a failure. Many persons who had intended going changed their minds in the morning as the weather looked bad.

The Provincial Normal School will open to day. It is said the attendance this year will be larger than last, as already 280 applications for admission have been received.

A handsome catalogue of Kerr's Business College, St. John has reached our desk. This institution has been growing in popularity until now it is one of the best known of its kind in the Maritime Provinces.

The report that the French fishery at St. Pierre is a total failure has been confirmed. Residents are leaving for Canada, and all who can possibly do so will quit before the winter sets in Newfoundland's enforcement of the bait Act is reported to be largely responsible for these conditions.

The third exhibition under the auspices of the Miramichi Agricultural Exhibition Association will open at Chatham on the 17th and close on the 21st. The number of exhibitors will be much larger than previously, and the prizes are generous.

Dr. William Crockett, who retired today from active educational work, today handed over the keys of the Normal School to Dr. J. R. Inch, the chief superintendent of education, who will place them in charge of Mr. Hedley V. B. Bridges, the newly appointed principal.—Gleaner, Aug. 31st.

Since the appointment of a dog catcher by the city council, there has been something doing nearly every day among the canine population. Upwards of three hundred pups have paid their head tax, and nearly two score curs have suffered the death penalty.—Sydney Post.

Mr. Wm. Johnston, Chatham, was installed as Grand Standard Bearer at the recent session of the Masonic Grand Lodge of New Brunswick. Mr. W. R. Gould is District Deputy Grand Master for this district. Mr. Gould was also elected Grand King of the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons, and Second Vice President of the Grand Council of High Priests. His Masonic brethren evidently delight to honor him.—World.

I. C. R. Driver A. R. Price is credited with the champion moose story. One day this week Driver Price was sent out from Campbellton with a light engine to take the place of the disabled engine on No. 76, the fast freight. Between Jacques River and Belledune, while running at the usual speed, the driver saw ahead of him on the track what he took to be a team attached to a hay cart. He kept his eye on the object, expecting the team to move off on the approach of the locomotive, but it did not stir. Seeing that what he took for a team would be struck he slowed up and brought the engine to a standstill within a short distance of the object, which turned out to be the largest moose Driver Price ever saw and he has seen quite a number. The dimensions of the antlers may be judged when it is stated by Mr. Price that he took them to be body of a hay rack. This is the champion moose so far heard of this season.

There will be a special meeting of Christ Church congregation on Monday evening next at 8 o'clock to consider the tenders for the new church building.

The band held its outing to Morressey Rock on Monday and were accompanied by quite a number of our citizens. The rain, however, compelled them to return to town early.

The largest number of passengers yet carried by the Lady Ellen, came up on Monday the number being 327. This boat is fast becoming more and more deservedly popular with the travelling public.

On Saturday afternoon of last week the three year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Porter of Athol died by poison. The child found a bottle of carbolic acid among some groceries which had been left on the platform outside the door and drank nearly half of it. Dr. Pinault was summoned and did everything possible to save the child's life but to no effect. Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved parents.

The Adventurers

By H. B. MARRIOTT WATSON.

COPYRIGHT, 1898, BY HARPER & BROTHERS.

"You are more expert," said I. "I thought you took me," said he. "It's plain enough. Let us piece the document together, read it and start fair on the knowledge. That places us again on equal terms, only with this difference, that the best man wins. Whereas now a man may be Satan himself and fall till the crack of doom."

Sheppard threw an eager glance at me, and I read assent in it. Nor was I indisposed to agree to the proposal, odd and unexpected as it came and involving us, as I foresaw, in all the outrages of actual warfare. Yet upon so pregnant a proposition I dared not make up my mind on the instant, and I suppose the man saw this, for, turning, he moved to the windows again and looked out upon the lawn, humming to himself. Ere he had turned again and faced me with his question in his eyes I had made up my mind.

"I agree," I said. Sheppard whistled softly and, as if imitating the captain, leaned forth upon the window. A light of satisfaction played in Sercombe's gray-green eyes for an instant. As for Montgomery, I do not suppose that he had any clear notion of what it was all about.

"Then," said Sercombe, "the sooner the better, and what time better than today?" "I agree to today," I replied. "Good! And now there remain only the place and time," said he.

"I have no wish to have my head broken," said I blurtly, "or to be mistaken for a hare, and so I say the castle. If you grant that, you may fix your own time."

"I was in hopes," he said, smiling, for he took no offense at my plainness of speech, "that we might have settled the matter over a little dinner. Hood, an excellent host, I find, is anxious to show you what the Woodman can do when he spreads himself. And a full stomach, warmed with wine, is better for business, as my young friend here knows. But you shall have it your own way."

"By all means let it be a dinner," said Sheppard, suddenly springing up from his seat. "Mr. Greator, I am sure, would be loath to rob you of your pleasure, Captain Sercombe, and in his name I make bold to offer you the hospitality of the castle."

I started in amazement and opened my mouth to refuse, but was saved the trouble by the captain's answer. He was a good deal disconcerted.

"I fear," said he, "that the hospitality would be reluctant on Mr. Greator's part."

"Not at all," said I gracefully. "A distinguished soldier like Captain Sercombe is always welcome to my house." He hesitated, and then, coloring slightly, "I am not alone," said he.

Sheppard shot me a glance of triumph, as who would say, "I thought we should corner him."

"No doubt," Mr. Greator would gladly entertain the other gentleman," he suggested.

The captain looked at him, and a grin spread slowly over his features.

By his side stood Hood.

"No," he said; "but, with Mr. Greator's permission, the other gentlemen shall entertain us," said he.

"I fancy," he continued, smiling, "that Hood is not a stranger to the castle ways, and he makes a good waiter."

The idea tickled me. "Let us have Hood by all means," I said. "I had an excellent character for him from Mr. Kesteven."

black velvet, and his appearance was carefully under restraint. The situation became a little disagreeable, and I thought the time had arrived to end it.

"Captain Sercombe," I said, "formally, 'I fancy our dinner, such as it is, is over, and if you will take no more wine perhaps we had better get to business.'"

"Certainly," said the captain cheerfully and draining his glass. "I am at your service."

I looked at Hood. "It is time now," said I, "that we were alone." And I waited to see the man move.

A quick exchange of glances took place between them, and then the innkeeper turned his back on us and busied himself with the plates upon the sideboard.

Sercombe colored angrily and was visibly disconcerted. "I beg your pardon, sir," said he, with a slight stammer, "but I have already had the honor of informing you that I am not alone in this matter."

"Really," said Sheppard gently, "I do not think we can invite our servants to discuss this matter with us."

Sercombe bit his lip, and after a glance at Hood, who still kept his attitude, "I understand your feeling, gentlemen," he replied, "and, in fact, I sympathize with it. But—"

He hesitated, and I began to perceive for the first time how far he was involved with the other and to what extent he was under his control. It was evident that he was chagrined by his position.

"Leave the room, Hood," said I, not that I had any certain intention that he should quit us, but rather out of curiosity as to what would ensue. The issue surprised me. Hood turned obediently on his heel and made for the door. As it closed upon him Sercombe turned to us and broke out with embittered:

"You are right, gentlemen. I agree with you. These things are better managed between gentlemen. But—"

His perplexities struggled in evidence upon his face, yet he had an uncommon gift of recovering himself, which I had had occasion already to admire, and I was to admire him still more at that moment.

"You will perceive, Mr. Greator," he said abruptly, but with a sudden suavity of voice, "that, as you have just pronounced, we have concluded our friendly dinner, and it is to business that we turn. I take it, therefore, that we are no longer here in the capacity of hosts and guests."

"True," said I. "Then," he exclaimed triumphantly, "Hood, I take it, is no longer a servant?"

"Captain Sercombe is right," said Sheppard promptly, turning to me, "and, by your leave, Ned, I will ring the dinner bell."

"I accept your theory," I answered. "Let us have him up, certainly."

Sheppard rose and when the man returned ushered him with some ceremony to the table. "A chair for Mr. Hood," he said. "Where will you sit, Mr. Hood—by the captain? That's right. Please make yourself comfortable. We have just enjoyed an excellent dinner very well served, Mr. Hood, but I fear you are too late. Montgomery, a glass of wine for Mr. Hood. Business is business, and I must conduct a piece without the usual sherry."

If this elaborate irony disturbed Sercombe, as it seemed to do, it had no effect upon Hood.

"No wine, thank you, sir," Such was his brief reception of the courtesies.

He assumed a place at the back of the captain, commanding a view of the table. Sercombe spread his hands up to his ears, and then he said:

"Gentlemen, let us show our cards," he said.

There was a momentary silence, and then Sercombe, with a slight burst of excitement that stirred the room into sound, Sheppard looked at me, and Montgomery's gaze was riveted upon the captain. Sheppard coughed gently and sipped wine.

"That is a very proper demand, Captain Sercombe," I said, "seeing that it is what we are here for, but I hardly yet see my way clear to table all my tricks and sleight of hand."

Let us understand one another better."

The captain did not color, as he might well have colored under this implication. He had said, he had said, he singular in the partial hold he kept upon his gentility. Instead he laughed, but somewhat awkwardly.

"I see," he answered and looked down at his hands, appearing to consider. He lifted a big and somewhat clumsy hand and scratched his swollen cheek, smoothing a long wisp of red hair across his naked crown. "I cannot pretend to misunderstand you," he declared at last and shot a glance aside at Hood, who had fallen slightly away from the table and stood intently watching the scene. "But I think it is somewhat unnecessary, Mr. Greator," he said, again very awkwardly, and he laughed shortly, and again his eyes flew to Hood, directing it at a draft and turned to Hood. The innkeeper glided to his chair, and something passed from hand to hand. Sercombe put the torn fragment upon the table before him. He looked at me, as if inviting me to a similar demonstration. We were to proceed by moves, then.

"I have no evidence that this is the document," I objected.

"Nor I, in your case," he retorted. "Very well," I assented. "We will take it point by point, but I fear we shall find it a tedious job."

I drew the paper from my pocket and laid it before me. At the other end of the table I could see Sercombe's green eyes bulging in his head as they fastened upon the white thing under my hand. His mouth dropped, and a portion of the glow receded from his face. Montgomery stared. A tense feeling stiffened the attention of all. I felt my heart throb in the silence, and then suddenly there was a sharp exclamation from Sheppard, and the next moment I was conscious of a clatter and two figures struggling beside me. The affair lasted but a few seconds, and then Hood was hurled dertly back against the window, and Sheppard flung upon the floor with a crash a long Spanish dagger.

A hush fell on the room. Sercombe turned pale, and his eyes shifted uneasily. "Had it been murder that was intended?" he asked, from the corner that Sercombe was no party to it.

"It appears that we can't do quite without the law," said Sheppard, placing his heel upon the weapon. Hood, breathing deeply, remained in the shadows of the window.

"What does this mean?" I asked. Hood, black and lean, but immovable as a feature, stepped from his corner. "I beg your pardon, sir," he explained, "but I suppose the gentleman objects to my wearing it. It isn't a pretty weapon, sir, exactly, but I have found it useful. I thought there would be no objection. Mr. Greator, sir, more especially as the gentleman here carries a revolver." He indicated Montgomery, who grew red and stammered:

"I beg your pardon. Awfully sorry. I—I—here it is," and extracting a Colt from under his waistcoat he threw it on the table in front of me.

Sheppard and I exchanged glances. "Come, sir," said Sercombe's voice, rising in an imperative cry, "but this remarkable scene requires an explanation. Why may not Mr. Hood wear what weapon he likes?"

"Was there anything?" I asked of Sheppard in a whisper.

He frowned in embarrassment. "To have waited for anything would have been too late," he answered in the same tone. "I had to forestall. I guessed, but I'll swear I guessed right. I can't prove it. I caught the gleam. Then he turned, and I saw him and picking up the dagger offered it to Hood. 'I am sorry for this misunderstanding, Mr. Hood,' he said sweetly. 'If I had stopped to think I should have known that a man like you would only carry a weapon for some good purpose. But I am a creature of impulse, full of mistakes, but of a warm heart below all, and I offer you the dagger back in token of my trust in you,' with which he sat himself down in his seat and ostentatiously played with Montgomery's revolver for the rest of the dinner."

"Come, come. That is well said and well ended," said the captain genially, and he was evidently very much relieved at the conclusion of this scene.

"And now, Mr. Greator, may I show that it is not both sides that are so unnecessarily suspicious, if you will be so good as to take this paper from me. It will trust you to read out the whole document."

This proposal, coming on the top of what had happened between us, astounded us all, as you may suppose. But Sercombe was rarely at a loss for some amazing movement, and he knew well enough that he was perfectly safe with me, whereas he was also aware that I knew I was absolutely unsafe with him. Therefore he assumed a gay air, a courtesy and lofty faith, as between gentlemen. But these reflections are not to the point, for there was I, with the two parts of the precious document in my hands and four pairs of bright eyes burning upon my face with their eager interrogation. You may conjecture my emotions and the way my pulse ran. I spread the paper, and I had received from Sercombe upon the other, smoothed it with the back of a knife and, forthwith, deciphering the following composition, read it slowly aloud to the company:

The Pandora Thermometer

The thermometer on the Pandora range oven means precisely in accuracy to the cook what the square and compass mean to the draftsman. Without the square and compass the draftsman would have to work entirely by guess, just as you do without an accurate and reliable thermometer on your oven.

The Pandora thermometer reduces cooking to an exact science. You know precisely how much heat you have and what it will do in a given time. It is one of the small things which makes the Pandora so much different and better than common ranges.

Jewel Troubles of Childhood

It is impossible to exaggerate the value of FRUIT-A-TIVES as a medicine for children. They contain no alcohol—no morphine or cocaine—no dangerous drugs of any kind.

Fruit-a-tives are "fruit juices—concentrated and combined with the most valuable tonics and internal antiseptics known to medicine.

Fruit-a-tives are free of colic, gas, acidity, and the host of violent purgatives that simply act by irritating the bowels. Fruit-a-tives are made from fruit and tonic and are pleasant to take, and so mild in their action that they never give or pain.

During the summer, when children are so apt to eat improperly, mothers should have a box of Fruit-a-tives always handy.

At the first sign of Diarrhoea, Indigestion, Headaches, Biliousness, Peevishness, Vomiting—give Fruit-a-tives according to directions. These splendid "fruit liver tablets" will instantly correct faulty digestion—clean and sweeten the stomach—regulate the bowels, kidneys and skin—and so invigorate and strengthen the whole system, that the little ones can quickly throw off the "temporary illness."

Among the Lepers in the Lazaretto Near Tracadie

Sixteen Inmates Reported Cured, but Others Have Lost Noses and Fingers.

Toronto, Aug. 29.—A correspondent of The Star writes from Lower Neguac, N. B.

We find the little fishing village where we have established ourselves, and which we claim to have discovered—although when hard pressed we are obliged to own to not being the first explorers—is only about twenty miles from Tracadie, where the leper lazaretto established by the Government is located. Our host and hostess, desirous of furthering our explorations, offered to drive us, an offer with which we promptly close.

We pass on the drive thither the usual country scenes, not as thriving nor as prosperous as we might see in Ontario, but dominated in our minds by the glimpses of the distant sea. We pass the "black lands," a wide stretch of boggy marsh, thick with a low growth of evergreens, we pass the river and hamlet glorying in the high sounding name of Tabusintac, and then across a stretch of land covered with blueberry bushes, where the berry pickers are at work. This is the place if you want blueberries in their glory, plump, whole, with the bloom still on, and the juice inside instead of out, as we Torontonians too often get them. Every wharf has its load of barrels or half barrels, full and waiting for shipment, or empty and stained a deep purple. If their is one berry more than another which the Lord meant to be eaten right on the spot it would seem to be the blueberry.

NEW RULE OF THE ROAD.
We notice that as we meet and pass a vehicle our driver turns to the left. It is a mistake, of course, a mix-up. But when he does it the second and third time we ask for an explanation.

"You don't mean to say," he exclaims, turning right about in his seat and staring at two ignorant people from a distant land, where queer customs prevail, "you don't mean that you turn to the right when you pass?"

In these days when such a dire uniformity exists in shirt waists and furniture, and all they stand for between the big city and the remote country, it is refreshing to find something different.

After three hours' driving we first reach "big" Tracadie, a hamlet on the larger outlet of this river, and later come to "little" Tracadie, a larger place on the smaller mouth of the river, and this is the Mecca of our pilgrimage. When we went to school we remember pronouncing Tracadie with the accent on the middle syllable, so we immediately "do in Rome as the Romans do," and reverse our pronunciation.

The leper lazaretto is a large long building of warm, brownish grey stone, with ample verandahs with its grounds reaching right all round. It is situated several hundred yards from the road, with its grounds reaching right round to the sea, and was put up by the Government for that purpose a number of years ago to take the place of the old lazaretto, a wooden building, which was nearer the sea and was destroyed by fire soon after it was vacated. There are few diseases more to be dreaded for its loathsomeness and its so far at least incurability than leprosy. There is an inspiring picturesqueness, a horrible fascination about it, that none other of the hills our flesh is heir to possess. It has a remote genealogy, a Biblical dignity about it, because of the precautions taken against it in the Mosaic law, that put it in a class by itself.

Only one other institution in Canada, we are told, does the work similar to this lazaretto, and that is on the Pacific coast.

IN THE LEPER'S HOUSE.
As we enter the grounds one case of a leper about a month ago who was shipped to New York from another state because that city had no prohibitive measures against such disease, and was taking no precautions in the matter as other States were. The discussion in the papers of that city waxed very hot over the case, and over the attitude of the Government in the matter.

But the building is reached before the topic is exhausted. The lazaretto is in the care of the nuns of the Order of St. Joseph, and a pleasant "sister" is soon piloting the party through the large building. The number of lepers cured for is at present sixteen, divided equally between the two sexes. There have at times been over twenty, but some have died and some have been dismissed as cured, not, it is supposed, of leprosy, but of something closely resembling it. The cases are always afterwards watched carefully, however.

It rather startles the inlanders to find that under the same roof with the lepers, although rigidly separated, is a small orphanage as well as a small general hospital. The terrible disease loses a little just a very little of its terrors when it is learned how little danger of contagion there is if proper precautions are used. The party is conducted through dormitory, medical rooms, and refectory of the men's, and after the women's part, the rooms of the flat above the men's in precisely the same order. The dormitories are cheerful rooms, with windows on opposite sides and ten beds in each, five on each side, each with its blue counterpane and white curtains to seclude the inmate if desired. Everything is spotless, immaculate, polished dustless, odorless.

ALL BLIND AND DISFIGURED.
All the men lepers are out in the grounds, sitting about or working as the case may be, and all the women but three are in their own garden. These three are seated in the women's refectory rocking, one terribly disfigured with the disease, one minus a nose, all blind.

On each flat is a medical room, where sores are dressed and patients attended to, as the lepers under no consideration leave their own suite of rooms or go beyond their own bit of garden until on their last journey to the little burying ground beside the sea.

Provision is made so they may take part in the services of the church through a glass partition in the dormitory on each flat, where the inmates may look into the small chapel in the heart of the building without coming near other worshippers.

But, exclaimed one of the inlanders, turning to the placid-faced man who is acting as cicerone, what about the nuns who wait on the lepers and dress their sores? What about those who do their washing and cooking? Is there no danger for them?

But the sister only shakes her head and smiles. "We take all possible precautions," she says, with her pretty French accent, "and in all the many years the nuns have cared for these afflicted ones, not one has taken the disease, not one."

"Oh," says the inlander, relieved. Then she recalls the loathsome faces she has seen in the women's ward, disfigured and eaten with disease, and shudders.

GRIEF AND DISPAIR.
Fragments of life histories come to us—the grief and despair of those who enter on a life-long separation from those they love. One of these was an Icelandic mother, whose nursing babe was taken from her, leaving her in tearful grief until she died before long of a broken heart. One or two are quite young, mere children. One woman had been for years in domestic service in Quebec, and strangely had not until recently been suspected of being a leper in spite of the fact that she only had a single finger on one hand.

"I should imagine," remarks one inland, "that that Quebec family would have a good many uneasy moments far some time to come."

On the way out we look into the dispensary, which is for the use of the whole building, not the lepers only, and the other quaint old jars and urns which hold the various drugs. The jars are of a peculiar various blue, and the urns or jugs of an odd shape, with naive blue decoration.

DAMAGING EVIDENCE AGAINST COLLINS

St. John, Aug. 31.—For the first time since his arrival Rev. Father McAulay discussed with a reporter last evening the New Ireland tragedy. He told in detail of the finding of the body of his cousin, of his meeting Collins at Elgin on Monday evening and of subsequent developments hitherto unpublished.

"My conviction," said Father McAulay, "that Collins has been lying. I feel that when I met him at Elgin he did not give truthful answers to my questions and I believe he has been telling falsehoods ever since."

Collins in the escort of Sheriff Lynds was taken to Albert County yesterday, and Attorney General Luskey says the preliminary examination will be held at Hopeville Cape a week from Monday next. The attorney general has instructed Mr. Dixon, clerk of the peace, to be present at the examination. The attorney general has further instructed Dr. Addy to make an analysis of the stains on the garments in the valise carried by Collins.

Two most important pieces of evidence now come to light for the first time, namely, the finding of Collins' clothes in the Garland's hotel, among which was a blood-stained skirt, and also the finding of the overalls covered with blood in the back kitchen of Father McAulay's residence at New Ireland. The latter piece of evidence would tend to show that the murderer was careful to remove, as far as possible, all signs of the tragedy from his person.

TRUE BLUES ELECT OFFICERS

St. Catharines, Ont., Aug. 31.—The Grand Lodge of True Blues concluded its business last evening after elected officers as follows:—Grand Master, J. J. Hart, Orillia; Deputy grand master, W. Grant, Picton; grand secretary, N. Ingram, Port Perry; grand treasurer, E. W. Sheriff, Picton; grand chaplain, Rev. C. O'Brien, St. Catharines; director of ceremonies, W. S. Wilson, St. Catharines; grand lecturers, F. Finley, Owen Sound, and H. Wyse, Newcastle, N. B.; grand tyler, H. P. Wilson, St. Catharines; and T. Willis, Toronto Junction; grand auditors, J. D. McGill, Toronto; G. L. Moxham, Port Perry; Sister Wyse, Newcastle, N. B., was elected associate deputy grand mistress. The grand officers reports showed the order had increased in membership, and financially had a balance on hand of $2,977.

NEWSPAPER'S INFLUENCE.

The report on the South African war stores scandal, just issued in England, is a surprising reminder of the services that may be rendered to a community, or to a whole nation, by a newspaper's laying it self open to an action for libel. The entire war stores scandal was raised by the Times by way of a libel suit in which that paper was mulcted in $1,250 damages. It would probably have been quite impossible to open the matter up in any way that would not have involved a libel on someone, for the newspaper is debarred from the investigating rights and the privilege of statement that belong to the lawyer in court. But the publicity that the newspaper alone can give is indispensable to the awakening of public opinion that must precede such court investigations; and as in this case, many a newspaper that is convicted of a technical libel is really performing a great and necessary service to the country.

There are two ways of avoiding libel suits, one is never to say anything that is not right, the other is never to say anything.

Opie; other circuits to make local arrangements.

SPAND CANADA WITH PRETTY ROMANCE

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 19.—"All the world loves a lover," and the world is also glad when the lover is successful in his suit and the lover's story ends with "and they were married and lived happily ever afterwards."

From fax off Newcastle (N. B.), there arrived here yesterday a charming young woman, Miss Margaret M. Elliott, who traveled from the Atlantic to the Pacific ocean—more than 3,000 miles—to become the wife of S. Graham Jardine, manager of the East End branch of the Royal Bank of Canada. Mr. Jardine was unable to return east for his bride because of business, so she came to him, the marriage yesterday afternoon being the happy culmination of their engagement.

The ceremony, which united these two faithful hearts, was performed by Rev. W. A. Wyllie, of St. Andrew's, Kamloops, at the residence of W. S. Archibald, Barnaby street. The happy young couple left on a short bridal trip to Seattle and other coast cities.

The groom who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. James Jardine, of Rexton, Kent County, (N. B.), is a young man of sterling worth and is one of the most popular banking officials here. Mr. Jardine was formerly employed in the Royal Bank in Newcastle, (N. B.).—Vancouver paper.

A traveller complains that the car exit was blocked for five minutes at Chatham station the other day, by a hugging and kissing reception to fellow passengers by friends who met them on the car platform. He should have joined in the kissing and thereby hastened the raising of the blockade. Country people who meet incoming friends should not inquire after their relatives and begin to hug and kiss them till they get on the station platform.

Helps Men To Work Hard.

That's what Ferrozone does; it supplies the additional strength that enables a man to maintain health under difficulties. "Last spring I was so completely fatigued I could not work," writes J. W. McNichol of Turnbull, Man. "In the morning I was tired—limbs ached all over. Had no appetite, was sleepless, nervous and unhappy. Ferrozone put new life into me. Now I eat heartily, nerves are strong, I sleep well. I know the joy of health." It's by supplying nourishment and good blood that Ferrozone builds up; try it—50c. per box at all dealers.

CAPE COVE

General regret is felt throughout the parish at the announcement that Rev. Father Cote, the parish priest is to be removed from this field of labor. At his return from the annual retreat of the clergy of the diocese at Rimouski, he announced to his people that he had been appointed parish priest of Ste. Anne, near Rimouski. Coming to Cape Cove in the autumn of 1894, Father Cote took charge of the building of a new church, and without imposing too heavy an obligation on the property holders erected a building worthy of the purposes to which it is devoted. He also built a suitable presbytery which has been paid for mainly through voluntary monthly contributions. Fortunately for the parish, his successor Rev. Father Poirier is also a good business man as well as a zealous priest, since his ordination eighteen years ago, he has been steward of the seminary of Rimouski, and has managed the finances of the institution with prudence and success. His will be the task of providing for the completion of the interior of Cape Cove church, and it is hoped he will be as successful in this work as has been his predecessor Father Cote in all his undertakings.

Considerable activity is being displayed in connection with the work on a new wharf being built by the Dominion government here. Mr. Thomas P. Charleson, of Ottawa, has obtained the contract, and already two hundred and fifty feet of the wharf has been sunk and one hundred and thirty feet has been ballasted, though work has been in progress only three weeks. Mr. A. Beutner so long and favorable known on the Gaspe coast and in Northern New Brunswick as a commercial traveler, is in charge of the business end of the undertaking and is making a decided success while Mr. Harry Quinn, of Ottawa, who is in charge of the practical portion of the work has shown himself a most capable superintendent, accomplishing much with a minimum fuss or worry.

Mr. Edward Bourget, Mayor of Cape Cove, is the inspector appointed by the government to look after the work. The wharf will not be put out far enough this year to allow the "Lady Eileen" and the "Campana" to tie up, but it is hoped that further votes will be passed by the Federal Parliament for an extension of the work.

Mr. Reginald Robinson, of Granby, who has been visiting Rev. Mr. Hardinge here, left on Thursday last by Lady Eileen for his home after a pleasant vacation. He, along with his host's son will return to take up their studies anew at Lewiston, on September 13th.

Mr. P. Thomas Ahern of the Montreal Star, who spent a couple of weeks with his mother, Mrs. Philip Ahern, here, left by Lady Eileen on Thursday, with his wife and children, to have been here since early in July.

Dr. J. J. Lemieux, who represents Gaspe in the Quebec legislature visited Cape Cove lately, and addressed gatherings in different parts of the municipality. The meeting at Cape Cove was presided over by Mayor Bourget and was attended by some thirty electors. The object of this visit, which was the first since his election in 1904, has been revealed by the announcement that Mr. Rodolphe Lemieux who was elected for Gaspe and Nicolet, in 1904 has chosen to sit for Nicolet. His brother the doctor is therefore a candidate for the Gaspe representative in the House of Commons. The Liberals of Gaspe who elected Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux a stranger in 1896, thus enabling him to attain the position and prestige which he now enjoys, feel that they have been rather cavalierly treated, and declare that they will not accept his brother as a candidate. Some of these favor Mr. N. K. Laflamme K. C. of Montreal as a candidate, while a large proportion declare that they will support a Gaspe man and no other, regardless of his party affiliation. The situation is therefore rather complicated, but it appears certain that a fight will take place for the representation of the county. Should Dr. Lemieux succeed in his present designs, it is his intention to bring forward Ald. Harvie Merrier a son of the former Premier, as a candidate for the local house, but it still remains to be seen whether the electors of Gaspe will stand calmly by and allow the Lemieux family to choose and elect their own candidates in the county.

One of the oldest residents of this district passed away early on Sunday morning, through the death of Mr. John Ahern, who had reached the ripe old age of 88. He had been illing for some time, but though the end was a question of days for a week before his death, he was expected to last for some time yet. Rev. Father Cote, who had administered the last rites of the church on Saturday evening, declared that he expected to pay Mr. Ahern another visit, but about mid night, he weakened considerably, and shortly after one o'clock quietly breathed his last.

Deceased was born at Caraque, N. B., but came to Cape Cove as a child with his parents. All his life since that date, he has lived on the old Ahern homestead, at Cape Despair, from which his brothers and sisters went forth as they were married. He was for forty years a partner of the firm of D. J. Ahern, but his brother David was the active member of the firm, while uncle John, as he was known by many men outside his numerous circle of nephews and nieces always looked after the farm, and was a most successful exhibitor in the fairs held under the auspices of the Gaspe Agricultural Society, of which he was one of the oldest members.

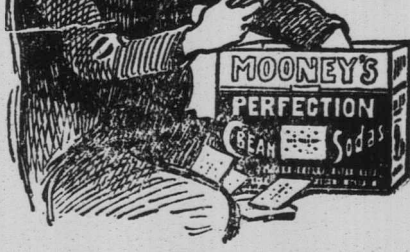

His brother Daniel passed away eight years ago, and since that date he has lived with the latter's widow and sons.

The funeral, which took place last Tuesday, called forth a large crowd of people from the neighboring parishes. Rev. Father Cote, parish priest of Cape Cove, officiated, while Miss Kate Scrois, of Grand River, presided at the organ. The chief mourners were Messrs. Daniel and Ernest Ahern, with whom the deceased lived, J. Ahern, manager for John Sealey, Grand River, Wilfred and John Ahern, of Cape Despair, P. Thomas Ahern, of Montreal, nephew, Sylvain Lancup, of Little River, East and Philip Dumas, of St. Pierre de Malabie, nephew by marriage, Ernest and Edmund Myles, Rupert Carbery, of Grand River and Charlie Ahern, of Montreal, grand-nephew.

Mr. Alexis Rehel, a friend from boyhood, carried the croses before the remains, while Messrs. Philip Tracy, Daniel Dooling, Joseph Delair, Peter John Ferguson and J. Bie. Leveille and Baptiste Collin were the pallbearers.

"Can we get any like those, do you suppose?" she inquires of the guide. But the nun shakes her head. "They are relics," she says. "For a very long time they have been here, and there are none others like them."

"It was ever thus, murmurs the would-be collector.

Appetite comes with eating and each square of crisp deliciousness seems but to make room for more.

Mooney's Perfection Cream Sodas

are different from any other cracker. Nothing heavy or doughy about them but so light and crisp that they are transparent. Mooney's biscuits will be a regular dish on your table if you will try them.

Say "Mooney's" to your grocer.

...FOR...

Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Stomach Cramps and all Summer Complaints take

Don't experiment with new and untried remedies, but procure that which has stood the test of time. Dr. Fowler's has stood the test for 60 years, and has never failed to give satisfaction. It is rapid, reliable and effectual in its action and does not leave the bowels congested. REFUSE ALL SUBSTITUTES. THEY'RE DANGEROUS.

Mrs. Bessie Lutz, Ayles, Que., writes: "I have used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for Diarrhoea for several years past and I find it to be the only medicine which brings relief in so short time."

Are You Satisfied

To live in a poorly painted house that will soon look dingy and dirty and prove shabby from peeling paint? Then go to the man who offers to work cheap. But if you want your house well painted, the colors clear in tone, the materials the best that can be bought, the labor done in a skillful manner—in short—if you want the work done so it will last, then come to me. My reputation, gained by honest dealing is a guarantee that the work will be done right.
