My Mother.

O for the olden days!
Those were the golden days—
Days that have fied.
O for the mother love!
Earth has no other love
Born in its stead.

Still, as it seems to me, Comes she in dreams to me, And her soft hands Comb my hair for me, With tender care for me Fashion its strands.

Is love a pain to me? Whispers at prayers with me "God bless my child!"

Sings like the birds to me, Speaks loving words to me, Covers my bed; O I have need for her! My heart doth plead for her— Mother is dead!

What are life's thorns to her? Life's sunless morns to her? Moons that must wane? Spring has no breath for her, Lights are in vain. What are my prayers to her? Cumbersome care to her?

Cumbersome care to ner.
She is at rest;
Roses bloom over her,
Snow-blossoms cover her, Down through the dreary years, rrowful, weary year

Hears she my cry?

Are her hands holding me?

And her arms folding me?

Is she still nigh? Sees she my yearning tears— Pitiful, burning tears? From heaven's height Comes she to talk with me, Stealthily walk with me Morning and night.

Ah! as it seems to me, These are not dreams to me; Still thou art here, Walking beside me, Whatever betide me,

Whatever betide me, Mother most dear. When life's "good-night" to me Heralds new light to me, In the unknown, Unending bliss for me, Shall be the kiss for me,

A CLOSE SHAVE.

A gentleman, conspicuous in the white tie and leng coat of the Established Church, came forward. and, having commanded silence by a motion of his hand, delivered a short extemporaneous prayer, to which the vast audience uttered a sonorous "Amen." Then a second gentleman, in dubiousiy tinted linen, generally like a cari-confrere, gave out a and looking generally like a carihymn, two lines at a time, which as he could, and waited. The damshymn, two lines at a time, which was sung with a somewhat rude and genuine fervor. The Chairman the announced that Mrs. Rachel Pounder, an economically constructed lady clad in shining and crackling silks, advanced to the handrail, with the aspect of a feminine policeman beat on taking her whole andience into instant custody. George had never dream ed of anything like her, even in alightmare, and listened to herom minatory periods, delivered in a woice like a steam whistle, with a short-lived interest which speedily degenerated into boredon. Mrs. Pounder, having few ideas, hid poverty of thought under fluency of language. Such ideas as she had were chiefly disagreeable, and comprised the questionable dogma that everybody not belonging to the peculiar branch of the Tampersance League of which she was a member would discover his mistake, too late to rectify it, in a future state of considerable discomfort. However, she subsided at last, apparently to the statisfaction of the raudicine, who and statisfaction of the raudicine, who and statisfaction of the raudicine, who and the statisfaction of the raudicine, who and statisfaction of the audicine, who and statisfaction of the audicine and the statisfaction of the audicine, who are statisfaction of the audicine, who and statisfaction of the audicine, who and statisfaction of the audicine and shall be pare. Dyspepsia of Thirty Years' Standing.

From J. T. Bowen, of East Aurora, N. Y.

"I was troubled with dyspepsia for thirty years, and tried several medicines advertised for the cure of this distressing complaint without deriving any benefit from them. About a year ago I commenced the PERUVIAN SYRUP, and after using altogether twelve bottles I find myself entirely cured. I consider my case one of the worst I ever heard of, and I fake great pleasure in recommending the Peruvian Syrup to all dyspeptics, believing that it will be sure to cure them." ining clements. It is the purest, safest, and most effectual alterative medicine known or available to the public. The sciences of medicine and chemistry have never produced so valuable a remedy, nor one so potent to cure all diseases resulting from mpure blood. It cures Scrofula and all scrofulous diseases, Erysipelas, Rose, or St. Anthony's Fire, Pimples and Face-grubs, Pustules, Blotches, Bolls, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald-head, Ring-worm, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Mercurihi Disease, Neuralgia, Female Weaknesses and Irregularities, Jaundice, Affections of the Liver, Dyspepsia, Emaolation, and General Debility.

By its searching and cleansing qualities it purges out the foul corruptions which contaminate the blood and cause derangement and decay. It stimulates and enlivens the vital functions, promotes energy and strength, restores and preserves health, and infuses new life and vigor throughout the whole system. No sufferer from any disease which arises from impurity of the blood need despair who will give AYER'S SARSAPARILLA a fair trial.

It is folly to experiment with the numerous low-priced mystures of chem motorials.

It is folly to experiment with the numerous low-priced mixtures, of cheap materials, and without medicinal virtues, offered as blood-purifiers, while disease becomes more firmly seated. AVER'S SARSAPARILLA is a medicine of such concentration. mind scatce. All as a sassavantal as a medicine of such concentrated curative power, that it is by far the best, cheapest, and most reliable blood-purifier known. Physicians know its composition, and prescribe it. It has been wheley used for forty years, and has won the unqualified confidence of millions whom it has benefited.
