Lured to a Terrible Sailors Fate.

Treacherous Solomon Islanders Slaughter the Crew of a German Trader.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 14.-Banking upon the supposed peaceful intentions of the Solomon Islanders, Capt. Kohlshon, a German trader, and the owner of a cutter, called the Sea Ghost, started from Queensland in the early part of September for the Island of Buka, German Solomon group, with the intention of securing a cargo or copra. The telegraph dispatches stated in brief a few weeke ago that the Sea Ghost crew had been killed by natives. The mail from Sydney brings the following details: "Capt. Kohlshon had been warned that the natives were not as friendly as they had professed. He sailed from the Bismarck Archipelago, with two white mates, and a crew of seven natives. The Sea Ghost arrived at Buka in the night, and lay off until morning. Soon after daylight, Kohlshon gave the word that a number of boats were putting from the shore for the schooner, but the occupants were waving palm branches, and giving other signs of peaceful intent. "The anchor was dropped inside, and the sails lowered. Five or six native boats came alongside, and in a few moments the Bismarck men and the white mates were chatting and making friendly signs to the Solomon people. Before the islanders drew knives from under their belts and attacked the crew furiously. Capt. Kohlshon was overcome and his body was run through and through with spears.

"The corpse was then thrown over the side of the schooner. All but three of the crew were killed. The attacking natives then started ashore with their prisoners, taking with them the bodies of the mates and the dead Bismarck men. The prisoners were thrown into a canoe, landed on the beach, and left on the sands.

"When the grewsome feast was being made ready a number of warriors ran the schooner ashore and succeed-ed in finding in her cabin a keg of liquor, and in less than an hour the entire party was stupidly drunk. Two of the prisoners managed to escape, took a boat and put to sea. After floating helplessly about for two days they were picked up by a trader and aftertransferred to the steamer Moresby and taken to Queensland, where they related their adventures."

ELECTION CASES

West York Case Postponed--Misprinted Ballots Cost a Seat.

Toronto, Nov. 14.-The West York election trial was on Saturday adjourned until Dec. 19. The reason for the postponement is the engagements of the judges between now and the date fixed for resuming the trial, the date being in any case provisional.

J. W. St. John, the defeated Conservative candidate for West York, denies the report that he will run for Halton.

Stratford, Ont., Nov. 14.-The South Perth election protest case was concluded Saturday before Chancellor Boyd and Mr. Justice Meredith. principal charge was that regarding fourteen misprinted ballots claimed for Monteith, and so regarded by the county judge, but which were rejected by Mr. Justice McLennan on appeal. After argument, their lordships announced that they had decided that the election of W. Moscrip, Liberal, should be voided, because of it not having been a fair one, owing to the misprinted ballots. They attached recensure to anyone for the occurrence.

The counter-petition was then taken up, and several cases of bribery testified to in Mr. Monteith's behalf, the money for which, it was alleged, was furnished by Mr. Graham, of St. Marys, secretary of the Conservative Association. Wm. Tobin, a bartender, of St. Marys acknowledged having paid out various sums to voters, which, he said, was furnished by Graham. This Graham denied on oath. The judges decided that no corrupt practices been proved on the part of the Conservative candidate, but that the votes of those who had received ribes should be thrown out. Mr. Bristol asked for a scrutiny of these votes, eight in number, which will be taken up then court

Everything Overshadowed by the Dreyfus Case.

Imminent Exposure of a Wicked Conspiracy.

Report in Circulation That the Noted Prisoner Is Dead-France and Russia Unready to Fight-Salisbury Better for the Fashoda Incident.

Paris, Nov. 14.-Everything else in France is overshadowed for the moment by the imminent proclamation of the innocence of Dreyfus. If this is not the signal for serious disturbances, either immediately or when he sets foot in France, all the observers on the spot are mistaken. The whole edifice of lies is about to crumble. The wickedest conspiracy ever known to civilized history is about to be exposed. As the moment draws nearer the temper of the anti-Semitic, clerical and military gang grows worse. Many of the best men in Paris are going armed, living in unknown places, and approaching their offices in the dark, by roundabout ways, for fear of assassination. Only yesterday the foreign minister called upon the German ambassador to apologize for newspaper insults to his daughter, a girl of 15. Paris is a rumbling volcano.

REPORT THAT DREYFUS IS DEAD. It is reported here that Dreyfus is The rumor is understood to be based upon a mysterious telegram re-ceived from Colmar, capital of Upper Alsace, signed by an unknown correspondent. So far as can be ascertained, there is no official confirmation of the report. The father-in-law of Dreyfus discredits it. He says he has re-ceived accounts from the colonial office quite recently as to the prisoner's health. Despite these assurances, there are dark rumors afloat, in view of the curious manner in which the letter from Dreyfus, declaring that he had abandoned all hope, was delivered to Mme. Dreyfus on Friday. Many people believe he is dead. Careful inquiries at Colmar this evening show that nothing is known there as to the death of Dreyfus. It is now believed that the telegram was a hoax.

LETTER FROM THE PRISONER. Mme. Dreyfus, it is said, applied at the office of the colonial minister yesterday to ask permission to send her husband some warm clothing for his return home. Her request was refused, on the ground that the government would do whatever was necessary. At the same time the authorities read to her a letter from her husband, to the effect that, having for five months adthe vessel's crew could make a move dressed appeals for revision to Gen. De to go below for goods and weapons, Boisdeffre without getting any reply Boisdeffre without getting any reply, and being wearied and exhausted by his useless appeals, he would write no more to his family or to anybody. He described himself as ill and dying, and bequeathed to the "generosity of my country the care of rehabilitating my ' Mme Dreyfus then asked memory.' permission to telegraph her husband the decision of the court of cassation. This request also was refused. Then. through a friend, she appealed to President Faure, but with no better result. Her counsel will bring the matter before the court of cassation.

INTENTIONALLY PROVOCATIVE. Lord Salisbury has made it very difficult for France to abandon her pretentions on the Nile. His attitude was intentionally provocative, and there is much disappointment in England that France did not accept the challenge. The chance to say to combined Europe, 'You shall not rob America of the fruits of her victory, as was done in the case of Japan and China," would be welcomed by Lord Salisbury and the entire British nation. Such an opportunity, and very possibly its realization, were almost obviously in Lord Salisbury's mind when making his Guildhall speech

FRANCE AND RUSSIA UNREADY. Most English statesmen are now convinced that it is the distinct purpose of Russia and France, and perhaps other powers, to aggrandize themselves, politically and commercially, at the expense of Great Britain in several quarters of the world. It is equally likely that British resistance to this policy, to be successful, must be made now, and made with decisive vigor. The Fashoda incident has furnished proof. first, that Great Britain has at last determined to force the issue, and, second, that France and Russia are palpably unready and are desirous to postpone the critical moment for at least two years.

BACK TO FASHODA. Major Marchand, commander of the French expedition at Fashoda, has started for that point with Capt. Baratier, who carried Marchand's report to Paris and brought the reply of the French Government. On their arrival at Fashoda, the expedition will immediately retire by way of Sobatt, southwest of Fashoda, at the junction of the Sobatt River and the White Nile, from which point they will move overland to Jibutil, the French post in the Eesa district, on the west coast or the Gulf of Aden. Liberal journals in London are in the habit of describing Lord Salisbury as out of health, overweighted with official cares, moody in temper, and morose and melancholy in mind. Those in daily touch with him say his health greatly improved since his last journey on the continent, and the recent negotiations with France have been a strong tonic for him. He has thoroughly enjoyed the Fashoda affair. and is far from being moody or morose. The best proof of his good spirits was the deft manner in which he played with his Guildhall auditors, dangling the Egyptian protectorate before their eyes, but not letting them have what they really wanted.

RAILWAY'S NAME CHANGED. Port Arthur, Nov. 14.-Owing to some eople imagining that the Thunder Bay, Nepigon and Albany Railway is projected to James or Hudson Bay, the shareholders met today and changed the name to the Thunder Bay, Nepigon and St. Joseph Railway. Lake

Joseph is a lake 50 miles long, north-westerly 80 miles from Nepigon Lake, between here and Nepigon. The railway will open up farms, marble, sandstone, limestone, and iron ore quarries, the westerly big spruce forests and Ontario's lignite coal.

CERVERA'S REPORT.

In his official report to the Spanish minister of marine describing the battle of Santiago, Admiral Cervera gives high praise to the humane, and courteous treatment accorded him and his subordinates by the American authorities. He speaks of the efforts made by the Iowa and Gloucester to save life, of the solicitude shown by the Americans for the comfort of those whom they had taken prisoners, and, finally, of the generosity of the victors in providing so hospitably for them in the United States. The admiral says: "The result of the battle was never in doubt, but I never thought that my vessel would be so quickly destroyed."

THE MOHEGAN DISASTER. London, Nov. 14.-The Mohegan inquiry was continued Saturday. A member of the coast guard testified that he fired a rocket and gave every poscible warning to the Mohegan when he saw her danger. Undoubtedly, he said, the current from the Manacles was setting in shore. The coxswain of the Falmouth lifeboat Aplained the delay in launching the boat. The boat cruised around all night, but never found the Mohegan. The coxswain of the Lizard lifeboat said he believed that they could have eaved many lives if they had put off to the Mohegan immediately. Boatswain Cruickshank said that every effort was made to get out the boats. It was impossible to launch the boats, owing to the list of the ship. The inquiry was adjourned until Nov. 24.

BEHIND THE SCENES

Death of the Veteran Actress, Clara Fisher Maeder.

New York, 'Nov. 14.-Mrs. Clara Fisher Maeder, who was probably the oldest living actress, died on Saturday morning at the home of her daughter in Metucken, N. J. She was 87 years of age, was born in England, but had been in this country since 1827, and until nine years ago was a prominent figure on the stage. Mrs. Maeder was on the stage for 72 years, commanding the attention and admiration of four generations of play-goers. She was the "rage" in London when George IV. was prince regent, and received his applause. She knew Beau Brummell, and acted with Keane, Macready and other historic favorites. Making her debut as a child in 1817, it was not until 1889 that she retired from the stage.

The New Governor General Takes the Oath of Office.

His Arrival at Ottawa Delayed by the Illness of His Son.

Quebec, Nov. 14 .- On the arrival of the steamer Scotsman, Saturday afternoon, with Lord and Lady Minto on board, Sir Wilfrid Laurier proceeded at once to the Queen's wharf, accompanied by General Lord Seymour and staff, Hon. Messrs. Borden, Fielding, Tarte, Blair, Dobell, Fitzpatrick, Sifton and Scott; Lieut.-Governor Jette and staff; Premier Marchand and the Provincial ministers and Mayor Parent. At the Queen's wharf were drawn up a guard of honor from the Royal Canadian artillery with the band of the Queen's Own Canadian Hussars and a mounted escort of 34 men. The party proceeded immediately to the legislative council in the Parliament buildings. They were received with great enthusiasm, and many flags were hung in the streets through which the party passed. The legislative councy hall had been tastefully decorated with flowers and bunting for the occasion. The chamber presented a brilliant scene. Lord Aberdeen was already at the throne when Lord Minto arrived, and he greeted his successor with words of cordial welcome.

The inauguration ceremonies were imposing, and witnessed by a large number of the ministers of the Dominion and Local Parliament. After the reading of the royal commission the new Governor-General was sworn by Judge Sedgewick, of the Supreme Court. Then Lord Minto ascended the steps of the throne, accompanied by the ex-Governor-General, and took the chair. Afterwards Lord Aberdeen introduced to his successor the three lieutenantgovernors and the members of the Federal Cabinet present. After the ceremony of inauguration Mayor Parent presented Lord Minto with an address in both languages in behalf of the city, and Lady Minto with a splendid boquet of roses. Lord Minto answered very happily to the address in the French and English languages. He said that it was not his first visit to Quebec, but although fifteen years had already passed since he arrived here for the first time he had always kept a happy and fresh memory of the fine city. coming back as the representative of our gracious Queen and Empress, and his sincere desire was to fulfill faithfully the duties of his high position. said he was coming here in a period of prosperity, and that in spite of the difference of race and nationality, he was sure that the Canadians had nothing more at heart than to perpetuate the brilliant history of their country. The united people, helped as we are by the marvelous resources of nature, was always sure of a great fu-ture. For his part he would be happy if it was possible for him to contribute to a certain extent to the prosperity of our country.' A royal salute of 21 guns was fired from the citadal after the installation of the new governor-general, and the departure of Lord and Lady Aberdeen.

Miles South of About 200 Juneau.

A Peculiar Formation-New Range of Mountains Discovered.

Juneau, Alaska, Nov. 3, via San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 14.-An almost incredibly rich quartz strike was recently made, and is now being mined, near Ketchikan, more than 200 miles south of Juneau. It is located on the Cleveland peninsula of the mainland. The claim was staked and is owned by a man named Johnson, who lives at Ketchikan, and a young man named Dyer, of Seattle, who has been prospecting in the vicinity for several months.

If the rock continues to produce gold as it has begun, Johnson and Dyer have not only the RICHEST MINE IN ALASKA, but a fortune which nothing can exhaust, unless they shovel gold into the sea as fast as it is pounded out. It is located close to salt water, in a position easy to work. Authority for these statements is A. P. Swineford, who was governor of Alaska under Cleveland's first administration.

Former Gov. Swineford within the last few months came to Alaska from Marquette, Mich., and made his residence here. He is interested in mining property in the vicinity of Ketchikan, and elsewhere in Alaska, and has recently returned from there. He said:

"I never saw anything like that vein. After one week's work with an arestra Johnson and Dyer cleaned up 26 pounds pure gold, and worked only about eight hours a day. They told me it wasn't a very good or very large arestra,

A SURPRISE.

"Previous to this Dyer wanted to go He didn't have enough money to buy a ticket; and so he and Johnson went over to a claim recently located to try to pound out enough free gold to pay his fare. Up to that time they did not know what they had. "After they had knocked a few hundred pounds off the outcropping they came to rock on which the free gold stood out in spots as thick and as big as the perspiration on a man's brow. They began to pound it out with hamin free gold was so astonishing and promising that they kept up the work for more than a week. When they quit they had $3,200 in gold. The formation is peculiar. The gold is not a quartz vein, but in a sort of schist alongside. So far as I know it is unlike anything that has ever been found in Alaska. The boys are now twelve feet down and sixteen feet in on the ledge.' NEW MOUNTAIN RANGE.

The steamer Dora arrived on Sunday et Seattle from Cook's Inlet, Alaska, with about twenty passengers. Among them was Lieut. Spurr, who, with a party of three, had been surveying the territory between the Kuskokawill and Suita Rivers. Lieut. STRIKE SETTLED.

Carlinville, Ill., Nov. 14.-The differences between the Chicago-Virden Coal Company, at Virden and Auburn, and the striking miners, have been settled, and the shafts will soon be in operation. The company agrees to pay the state scale of forty cents per ton, but did not want to tear down the stockade. Finally the company accepted the offer of the miners that they would take it down and charge the company nothing for the labor. OTTAWA STREET RAILWAY EM-PLOYES ON THE MOVE. Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 12.—Encouraged by the victory of the London street railway men, the employes of the Ottawa system will hold a mass meeting to press on the men the importance of the union. Since the recent nego-tiations with the company, and the acceptance of the new schedule, the union has dwindled down to a few men. The recognition of the union by the London street railway will be the theme of tomorrow's discussion, which may result in an effort being made to gain recognition of some such similar arrangement with the company.

PARADISE FOR GAME

Algonquin Park an Excellent Field for All Kinds of Wild Things-Beaver Increasing Rapidly.

Recent reports from the Algonquin Park state that game, including moose and red deer, is very plentiful there. The red deer have become so tame that at Canoe Lake, where Gilmour's large mills are situated, three or four of them are frequently found among the lumber piles. They appear to be quite tame in consequence of the immunity they enjoy from persecution to which ordinary, unincorporated deer suffer. The enemy of the deer is the wolf, which increases in numbers as his prey becomes more numerous. Beaver are very plentiful indeed. Lakes and ponds long since abandoned by the beaver have become restocked, and fresh beaver work has been visible this fall throughout the whole park. Ducks are also fairly plentiful, and pheasants abound. Wild rice is being sown in some shallow lakes in the park to provide food for wild ducks. It is proposed to introduce cariboo, capercailzie and black game from Europe into Algonquin Park, as the forest and chmatic conditions there are believed to be quite suitable for them.

Reports from Rondeau Park, in the county of Kent, state that the English and Mongolian pheasants put into Rondeau Park in 1893 have become acclimatized, and are now running at large in the woods in considerable numbers. The moose and deer placed in the park are also doing well, and are much admired by visitors, as these animals are now something of a rarity in this district, once the home of great numbers of these animals. Wild duck are very plentiful at Rondeau this fall.

A PECULIAR REMEDY.

Something About the New Discovery for Curing Dyspepsia.

The Rev. F. I. Bell, a highly esteemed minister, residing in Weedsport, Cayuga county, N. Y., in a recent letter, writes as follows: "There has never been anything that I have taken that has relieved the dyspepsia from which I have suffered for ten years except the new remedy called Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Since taking them I have had no distress at all after eating, and again after long years CAN SLEEP WELL. Rev. F. I. Bell, Weedsport, N. Y., formerly Idalia,

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is a remarkable remedy, not only because it is a certain cure for all forms of indigestion, but because it seems to act as thoroughly in old chronic cases of dyspepsia as well as in mild attacks of indigestion or biliousness. A per-son has dyspepsia simply because the stomach is OVERWORKED, all it wants is a harmless, vegetable remedy to digest the food and thus give it the much needed REST. This is the secret of the success of this peculiar remedy. No matter how weak or how much disordered the digestion may be, Stuart's Dyspepsiate Tablets WILL DIGEST THE FOOD WHETHER THE STOMACH WORKS OR NOT. New life and energy is given, not only to the stomach but to every organ and nerve in the body. A trial of this splendid medicine will convince the most skeptical that Dyspepsia and all stomach troubles CAN BE CURED. The Tablets are pre-pared by the F. A. Stuart Co., of Marshall, Mich., but so popular has the remedy become that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets can now be obtained at any drug store at 50 cents per pack-Send for book on stomach diseases free.

Winnipeg, Nov. 14.—The cigar man- The Michigan Central May Try to Upset the L. E. and D. R. R. Bonus Bylaw.

> The trainmen on the Windsor division of the Grand Trunk Railway are being examined on the new rules recently issued by the company. A. G. Manley is examining the men, and does not expect to get through with this work for three weeks.

> The Michigan Central Railway will take steps to upset the bylaw granting a bonus of $20,000 to the L. E. and D. R. R. to assist in constructing the Ridgetown extension. The petitioners will allege that bribery was resorted to to secure votes for the bylaw.

Ohatham Planet: The officials of the L. E. and D. R. R. do not expect to commence operations on the extension of the line from Ridgetown to St. Thomas before spring, but the work will then be pushed in order to make early connection with the London and Port Stanley road.

A Toledo dispatch says that General Passenger Agent Houk, of the Ohio Central, has declared war against the C., H. and D., the Hocking Valley and the Pennsylvania roads. As the Ohio Central is part of the Big Four and Lake Shore system, and as the C., H. and D. runs out of Detroit, a rate war on east-bound passenger traffic will ensue, if the dispatch be well founded. It looks as if it was, since the Ohio Central has, it is reported, instructed its Columbus agents to make an open rate to Chicago of $6 until the opposition either cuts it or comes to terms. The origin of the war is the Pennsylvania's violation of a rule usually observed by railroads-that is, that when the passenger association governing a particular territory grants an excursion privilege to one of its members, the other members will not enter into any competition. The Ohio Central is not a member of the Central Passenger Association, but it did the association the courtesy of asking its approval of a Columbus-Chicago excursion for Oct. The Pennsylvania and the Hocking Valley, without consulting the association, bucked the excursion. The Ohio Central tried it again on Nov. 10, and again the two roads spoiled the business. Now it seems Mr. Houk is going to give the Pennsylvania and the Hocking all the cheap business they want by cutting the rates to pieces.

President Franklin has stated, according to reliable information, that Buffalo has not been committed to the Eastern League for another, but the question of joining the Western League will not be decided until after the meeting of the Eastern League at New York on Nov. 16.

BUFFALO MAY BREAK AWAY. President Killilea, of the Milwaukee club, announces that President Franklin, of Buffalo, who recently declared that Buffalo would not enter the Western League, has reconsidered his action, and that negotiations are now under way to take Buffalo in in place of Columbus. The indications are very favorable to Buffalo joining the circuit. A meeting will be held in Chicago soon to settle the matter.

TAYLOR'S PERFORMANCES. Philadelphia, Nov. 14. - Major Tayfor, the colored cyclist, on Saturday, at Woodside Park, according to the announcement of the timekeepers, made three of the most remarkable record rides in the history of cycle racing. He, it is claimed, lowered the mile record of 1:32 3-5, held by Edouard Taylor, the French champion, to 1:32 flat. He took two trials to lower the half-mile record of 48 seconds, held by Willie Windle. On the first trial the time announced was :45 4-5, and on the second trial another fifth of a second was clipped off, he thus, as claimed, lowering the record to :45 3-5. Taylor rode a chainless wheel and was paced by three quintets.

SPANISH FORCE

They Had Demanded Arrears of Pay.

Regulars Refused to Fire on Their Fellow Soldiers.

Havana, Nov. 13 .- The Orden Publico force, cavalry and infantry regiments, was disbanded Friday after a partial payment of arrears had been made, and the organization has ceased to exist. The trouble leading to the disbandment of the force began with the protest of the Third Company on Thursday morning before the palace. At that time, General Solano, chief of the staff of General Blanco, addressed the men and led them back to their quarters, where they gave cheers for Spain and General Blanco. General Arolas, military governor of Havana, ordered more than 4,000 troops quartered in the outskirts of Havana to march into the city, where they arrived at nightfall. At the head of a portion of these troops, Gen. Arolas marched toward the Orden Publico quarters, where the protesting Third Company was drawn up in the street under arms. The regulars refused to charge or fire upon their brother soldiers when ordered to do so in the hope of intimidating the men, who were finally persuaded to retire to their quarters. Minor uprisings occurred during the night among other regiments. Barring these incidents, the military have maintained thorough control of the city.

The sum total of the casualties on Thursday night was a lieutenant-colonel on Gen Arolas' star wounded seriously. The city has again resumed its normal tranquility, although regulars are still quartered in the principal streets and parks of the city as a precautionary movement. It was expected by the leaders of the demonstration that the Guardian Civile and part of the artillery brigade would lend their aid, but they did not.

FAIR VOLUME OF TRADE

Bradstreet's Weekly Review of Business in Canada.

Toronto, Nov. 14. — Bradstreet's weekly review of Canadian trade says: Quite a fair volume of trade has been done by the large distributive houses in Montreal the past week. Holiday goods are beginning to move more briskly, and a good season in that line is anticipated. Orders from the Northwest are a little more encouraging. The change to more seasonable weather has benefited trade the past week, and this week, with fine weather, a further expansion in the business is likely to be experienced. Another week of unfavorable weather has retarded business at Toronto. Still, travelers' orders, calling for supplies to meet the immediate requirements of country retailers, have been very firm, and quite a few buyers have been in the city. There is a fair movement in staple drygoods, more demand for heavy winter goods, and more orders are coming forward for There is a good demand for ly bank shares, notwithstanding the fact that they are 5 to 20 per cent higher than a year ago. There is more grain being marketed in Manitoba, and as the money in circulation is thus increased, the demand for general goods continues to improve. Business men throughout the province now thoroughly realize that early reports of damage to the grain were very much exaggerated, and are at present guided in their gilt-edged investment stocks, especial-preparations for future business by the more reliable reports now at hand concerning the yield and quantity of wheat. Collections are far from satisfactory.

Business at the coast continues brisk. A great deal of British capital has been taking hold of various enterprises, such as tramways, the tele one system on the mainland coast, mines, etc., and the result will, it is expected, be a considerable impetus to progress of the province. . The farmers have had a good season, and the area of land under cultivation is likely to be increased for next year. There is a healthy tone to the job-bing market and values are firm.

TILSONBURG FIRM RECEIVES PRAISE

Editorial Comment by the American

For the past two years The Advertiser has carried the edvertisements of the Tillson Company, Tilsonburg. Being the only newspaper in London and immediate territory to receive the company's advertising, it is gratifying to know that The Advertiser has been the means of increasing the sales of their products. Several letters have been received from the Tillson Company, expressing their thanks for the way The Advertised has advanced their business. The following is taken from two recent letters:

"It is our expectation to continue our advertising with you for another year, as we believe the service you have given us has increased the sale of our breakfast cereals." "We appreciate your care, that we should be satisfied that we are getting full value for the money in every way. We believe we are getting it in our advertisements in The London Adver-

The American Journal of Health, a publication devoted to matters of sanitation and hygiene, editorially speaks of the company's products in a recent number, as follows: HOUSEKEEPERS MORE CAUTIOUS THAN EVER IN SELECTING

FOOD PRODUCTS. [By J. R. Andrews, M.D.] No greater error can be committed by the unscrupulous preparer of food products than to imagine that housekeepers generally are indifferent to the question of quality. On the contrary, the American Journal of Health is daily accumulating further proof that housekeepers are given to studying serlously this very question. Were we to answer separately, by mail, each inquiry that reaches us from a clientele of readers scattered all over the length and breadth of the land, we should be obliged to establish a special depart-ment for that purpose. We therefore adopt the necessary and more effective plan of printing periodically a series of special reports upon food products. From these articles our readers gather the information they seek, and when we address one inquirer we address all. The long and honorable record established by this journal as an authority -absolutely independent, outspoken and competent-upon all matters connected with health and sanitation, is jealously maintained by us, and our readers' appreciation of it is shown by their continued reliance on our statements. It is our prime duty to protect our readers against the conscienceless purveyor of inferior articles, of whatsoever kind they may be. It is equally our duty to tell what are the best articles, and indorse their merits when the same has been proved to our satisfaction. This task we perform with a single object-the good of the large public we address. Proprietors or manufacturers we have no concern with, further than to treat them with impartial justice. In this article it becomes, therefore, our duty to state that our readers may patronize, with the fullest confidence and assurance of benefit, "Flake Barley," offered by the Tillson Company, Limited, Tilsonburg, Ontario, Canada

In arriving at this conclusion concerning these goods we enlisted the best expert talent and experience. Long familiarity with the conditions of such cases enabled our experts to make an analysis which is so thorough and complete that it leaves nothing to be desired. It was also characterized by the simple purpose of endeavoring to ascertain the plain truth, nothing more and nothing less, so that the excellence might be proclaimed if it existed, or inferiority be as quickly exposed. "Flake Barley," however, has responded to the searching tests to which we have subjected it, and it is incumbent upon us to say that for absolute purity, as well as the highest qualities of nutrition and wholesomeness, this is a product which is beyond criticism. And we moreover desire to inform all conscientious housekeepers that they should keep before them, when purchasing supplies, the name of every article, which, like "Flake Barley," has withstood the test of such an examination. If you do not find it in your grocer's stock, ask him to get it for you, and do not rest satisfied with any statement he may possibly see fit to make as to other goods being equally excellent. Your grocer is not necessarily an authority upon such matters, but the hygienic press invariably is. An article which has been hrough the rigid inquisition of our chemical analysis, and earned the indorsement we here bestow upon "Flake Barley" is the article the housekeeper should patronize. It is hardly necessary to add that in offering this suggestion we consider the interests of our readers alone, as no money is ever received for matter appearing in our editorial and the benefits accruing to any manufacturing concern are merely incidental.

Several Hundred Dead From Exposure and Privation-No Fuel-People Eat Their Rations Raw.

Kingston, Jamaica, Nov. 13.—The re-Journal of Health on the Tillson sults of calm investigation have prov-Company-A Searching Test Reveals ed conclusively that so far from being "Flake Barley" To Be Absolutely exaggerated, the first reports of the destructon wrought by the cyclone at St. Vincent were rather short of the actual facts. The island was literally swept absolutely bare of vegetation, the experience of 1780 being repeated; but, the full extent of the devastation was not at first realized owing to the difficulty of communication through the destruction of the roads and the costal shipping.

The governor of the Windward Islands has now sent out an appeal to the neighboring islands stating the facts and asking that roots, slips and seeds of potatoes, cassava, yams, peas and other economic plants be forwarded as soon as possible to enable cultivation to be restored.

His excellency declares in a brief but significant descriptive paragraph that the whole aspect of the landscape has been changed. Instead of the pervading green common to all tropical prospects, it is now a uniform dirty brown color, only relieved by long, white poles—the decapitated columns of palm and cocoanut trees. Nothing in the way of vegetation escaped the sweep of the wind and the subsequent scouring out by the deluge of water, and the island is practically a desert. Perhaps the most impressive feature, he adds, is the absolute stillness that prevails, not only through the absence of the familiar rustle of vegetation as the trade wind sweeps over it, but also because of the absence of animal and even insect life. Birds, lizards, beetles, snakes and, in fact, every form of animal life seems to have been blown away or drowned out.

The immediate result of this on the population is most disastrous. ready several hundred deaths have occurred from exposure and privation, and diseases common to low vitality are rapidly developing among the people, principally in the form of ulcers. At present about 5,000 men are employed on the reconstruction of roads and other public works, but these iepresent only the eighth of the population, and the others are to be provided for by the distribution of daily doles of food as this comes in. But the quantity is barely sufficient to keep them alive, consisting of a few bis-cuits, a handful of rice and a small piece of salt meat or fish. Owing to the compete destruction of vegetation there is not even any fuel to be found, and many have to eat their allowance raw, which tends to augment the sick-

A tourist who visited the island writes to say that amid this fearful state of affairs one feature particularly struck him. That was the devotion of the distressed people to their families and relations. As an illustration ne case of an old man wh he met limping along with bandaged feet. He was taking two biscuits and a little flour and rice to his sister's sick children in the mountains. This had been all the allowance his appeal had elicited, except two other biscuits which he had eaten. On the way he stopped occasionally to gather small ships of wood and dry grass with which to cook the flour and rice, for which he was very thankful, but expressed much anxiety as to whether he would procure any matches wherewith to make fire. On the correspondent handing him a box of matches his gratitude was unbounded

The correspondent adds that he was through the recent Indian famine and spent a year in connection with the relief work, and he had seen heart-rending scenes there, but nothing to approach the distress wrought by the hurricane in St. Vincent. The conditions prove how great is the capacity for endurance of the human frame, for unless he had witnessed it he could not have believed that a population could suffer so much and yet live. He feels convinced that the British public docs not realize the magnitude of the disaster, otherwise their contributions to the relief fund would not have been so inadequate Fifty thousand pounds would not go far in relie ing St Vincent alone; and yet the subscriptions for the three islands promise to fall short of that amount.

Scrofula From Birth.

Scrofula From Birth.

Dr. Radway—Dear Sir: It is with pleasure I take my pen in hand to inform you of the great cure effected by your medicine called Sarsaparillian Resolvent. I have a girl three years old last September who has suffered with scrofula ever since she was two years old. It fact, the doctor told us she was born with it. We had our best local doctors with her, and it seemed like all hope was gone, for they told us if the disease settled on her lungs she could not be cured. This frightful disease scated or scized upon her lungs severely. I began to think that our little girl could not live very long, our physician's medicine doing no good. In the meantime I received a copy of your medical publication called "False and True," which you sent me. After seeing the accounts of so many cures effected by your treatments, I at once resorted to them, and by the time she had used one bottle she was most well. The ulcers that were making their appearance on her body are entirely gone, her lungs almost healed, or at least she has quit coughing. She has begun on the second bottle, and I believe by the time she uses all of it she will be well. She had a very bad cough. I am yours with respect, SAMUEL S. BARKER, Flat Top, Mercer County, W. Va.

"LIFE A BURDEN." Dr. Radway—Dear Sir: For a long time past I have been suffering in the most distressing manner from a long train of symptoms which have baffled the skill of all the medical men down here, and which I feared, if not arrested in their progress, would terminate in the total prostration of my strength. Loss of appetite and desire of stimulating and artificial means of sustanance, at irregular times ment. and desire of stimulating and artificial means of sustenance at irregular times, want of healthy sleep and consequent depression on arising in the morning rendered life quite a burdon to me, until a friend induced me to try your medicine. So I got a bottle of Radway's Sarsaparillian and a box of Radway's Pills and took them according to directions. I soon found relief. I got three boxes and three bottles more and I am in better health than ever before. I remain your humble servant ARTHURD. remain your humble servant, ARTHUR D. WRIGHT, Unionville, Mich.

Source of Typhoid Fever and Diphtheria.

The statement has been made that there has been much typhoid fever in Manitoba this year, and wonder is expressed that this should be so in a country which is possessed of so excellent a climate. The periodical outbreaks of typhoid fever in the country districts-and in this respect Ontario enjoys no immunity-is readily accounted for by the medical experts, who assert that these diseases are entirely preventible, and that when precautions are taken the diseases will disappear. Almost invariably it is found that an outbreak of typhoid fever or diphtheria is caused by dirty surroundings, resulting in a contravention of some sanitary law. Occasionally it is what has been eaten that has caused the outbreak. Much more frequently it is the drinking of dirty water from a polluted well or stream. A few years ago, as many of our readers will no doubt remember, several families in the northwestern section of this city persisted in using water for domestic purposes from an old well in a garden lot. An outbreak of typhoid followed. Members of each of the families using the water were stricken down. Several lost their lives. Investigation revealed the fact that for some time the well had been the repository of one or more dead cats, which had fallen into it during their nocturnal wanderings. Other accumulated rubbish was also found at the bottom. When these facts were revealed, no one wondered that there was an outbreak of typhoid fever of the deadliest type among those who had been consuming the water. The only wonder was that the calamity had not come sooner. There is always danger of this sort from the use of open wells, but in cities and towns it is greater than in rural regions. In East Williams township, Middlesex county, a number or years ago, several children in a farmer's family became very ill of sore throat. The mother treated them, as she had done before, for a cold, but they gradually grew worse, and a doctor was sent for. He found that in the case of one of the little ones he had been summoned too late. It was a virulent attack of diphtheria from which the children suffered; and at first he was puzzled to know the origin of the disease. Eventually he insisted on seeing the source of the domestic water | that physical science has not been able supply. He found that it was only a short distance from the barnyard, terialism is always followed by an exinto the well.

There is reason for the belief that throughout the country the water in many localities, both for man and east, is obtained from sources that tre similarly tainted, and the only wonder is that more diseases do not Lowe, says: "These two ladies were prevail. How many wells are there in every township that are rarely, if ever, cleaned out? This is a matter as to which the local health boards might very fitly be requested to institute a searching inquiry, with a view to an early crusade against all such neglected precautions. It is a notorious fact that a well is very often, unknown to its owner, the depository of dead animals, as in the case cited above. Cats, rats, mice, and other animals tumble into it, and no one knows anything about their presence in the family water supply till someone is seized with violent illness, and medical aid is sought. Then it is often the case that all sorts of fifth is washed into the well, and mixed with the water, and no notice of it is taken, unless severe illness to someone follows its consumption. How it is possible for people taking such a supply of water for domestic use to avoid sickness it is difficult to imagine. It is true that so long as a person is in the full enjoyment of health he may suffer no serious inconvenience from the consumption of impure water. Not so if his system is run down, or he is weakened by nervous anxiety overwork. While, therefore, a healthy man may escape, the weakling readily falls a victim, and an attack of typhoid fever or diphtheria

All wells should be frequently cleaned out, and if there is any doubt as to the purity of the water drawn from them, it is better to abandon them altogether than to run the great risk involved in drinking from the poisoned supply. There is a further danger to us all which we fear is not generally recognized, in the too common practice of permitting cattle to drink water from polluted streams. In this respect too many farmers are careless. We do not expect men and women to remain in gool health very long had its martyrs, and has now gained if they drink water from dirt-loaded wells or streams; no intelligent farmer would believe that it is good for either man or woman to drink dirty water. But somehow a great many owners of cattle act as if they supposed any kind of water was good enought for the live stock. For this cause, we sometimes see cattle, including cows, from which a portion of the milk supply of our cities and towns is procured, obtaining water to drink of a consistency that would turn the stomach of a human being, but yet is regarded as quite good enough for the dumb animale. Surely filthy, microbe-laden water can be no more conducive to the health of four-footed animals than to that of the biped. How can a man expect his cattle to enjoy a full measure of health, and to reach their highest measure of value to him, if they are not at all times supplied with wholesome water to drink, as well as with good food?

It stands to reason that impure water is good for neither man nor beast. It has been proved that it is a propagator of disease and death-Dirty Drinking Water the Chief dealing microbes, and that its consumption is ever attended with danger. In a well-ordered condition of things, where all filth is promptly removed from the vicinity of the dwellings of the people, and where there is a water supply protected from impurities such as we have described, there will be in Canada-in the rural districts without a doubt-a community enjoying immunity from the attacks of typhoid fever and diphtheria, two diseases which essentially originate in filth. It is in the power of the people to practically banish these plagues from the land, if they listen to the advice of the sanitary expert, which tells them in the plainest terms what their duty to themselves and to their neighbor is. It is: Keep clean!

The Wonderful Century.

"The Wonderful Century, Its Successes and Failures," by Alfred Russell Wallace. Toronto: G. N. Morang. The century which is now hastening to its close has already had a fair share of extravagant praise, or equally extravagant censure. Soon it will be gone into the past, and will form a fit subject for sober review. Some have spoken of this nineteenth century as the most wonderful period in the world's history; while others have scorned it as an age of shallowness and shams. We know that the truth lies somewhere between these two extremes, and sensible people recognize, with Mr. Wallace, that this century has had both "failures and successes"; though they may not strike the balance in exactly the same way. The author of this book is "a grand old man" of science; and with respect to many things here treated of, he might appropriately say, "In which things I played no mean part." Thus the book is in a large measure both a review of the century, and a retrospect of the author's life. The book is full of information as to the actual lines of progress during "the wonderful century"; but it also bristles with "heresies"; and many people will be startled to learn that the author is both a socialist and a spiritualist, a champion of the anti-vaccination move- ONLY ITEM OF INFORMATION IN ment, and a pleader for the claims of phrenology. Some will summarily dispose of this by saying that even scientific training will not cure all men of superstitions. Prof. Goldwin Smith erously for several minutes. When maintained, in opposition to Mr. Balfour, that mysticism is not undying; but without entering into the general question, we may now safely affirm to kill it, but that an extreme of mareme of mysticism; and that the close of the century is witnessing just such

And we are glad to think that on many subjects there is a more tolerant spirit than formerly. Mr. Wallace, speaking of Mrs. Weldon and Mrs. incarcerated because they were spiritualists; that is, because they held the same beliefs as Sir W. Crookes, the Earl of Crawford, Gerald Massey, and myself have held for the last thirty years, and for holding which, to be consistent, we and hundreds of equally sane persons ought to have been permanently confined as lunatics." Now, we are not inclined to plead for spiritualism; but we think that so long as men act as good citizens, they should have liberty of thought in matters of philosophy and theology. Appleton's Popular Science Monthly for November deals with this subject in a criticism of Sir W. Crookes. After opposing his views as to telepathy and other "strange elusive phenomena," the editor says: "At the same time, he is entitled to the utmost freedom of thought and utterance; and if he believes there is still hope of important gains to humanity from the side of spiritualism, he is justified in holding his position; and while we may think he is sadly misled, we must accord him the respect due to eminent talents and unquestioned sincerity."

This is the right spirit; but science as well as theology has had its dogmas, and anyone familiar with the history of medical science knows that the theologians have not had a monopoly of bigotry and bitterness. The history of the world shows that toleration in matters of opinion, and a readiness to bow before new facts, is one of the hardest lessons to learn. We have not space to deal with Mr. Wallace's other divergences from what & commonly regarded as scientific orthodoxy.

He devotes great space to the subject of "Vaccination a Delusion," and in that connection it is worth noting that in England the law on that point has recently been modified, as the result of much honest, earnest opposition. The anti-vaccination movement has liberty of a conscientious objection. We cannot fail to admire the writer's sympathy for the poor, and the socialistic proposals that spring out of it, but we are afraid that his proposal of free bread, at the expense of the rich, would not meet the case. In fact, it is much his reticence be understood? If an easier to see the evils, than it is to propose remedies which would not produce greater evils. What we have said will show the manysidedness and suggestiveness of the book; but we have not touched the wonders of the century, which is its positive subject. Let as the reader, then, get the book, and learn how, with respect to traveling and many other things, human life went on in the same fashion during many centuries; but steam, machinery,

Salisbury's Statements a Puzzle to the World--His Guildhall Utterance Regarded as a "Fighting Speech."

Curiosity Regarding the Agreement With Germany-Europe Watching America-The Dons Hope to Find a Friend in the Kaiser-Spain Wants to Sell Her Colonies-Anglo-American Interests Hand-in-Hand-The Kaiser a Rusher -Another Object of William's Trip to Jerusalem-The Irish Question Revived.

London, Nov. 14 .- Lord Salisbury's | tions refer more to some of the terms eagerly awaited speech, says Mr. Norman, London correspondent of the New York Times, can only be compared to the reply of the man who consented to answer the inquiry as to how he lost his leg, on the condition that no further questions were asked, and then said: "It was bitten off." The prime minister emerged from his seclusion to satisfy our curiosity, made a much shorter speech than usual, and has now relapsed into silence again, leaving all Europe bursting with interrogations. Salisbury takes nobody, except perhaps Balfour, into his confidence. Even his most highly-placed officials in the foreign office know little more than the doorkeeper as to what he is doing. He answers dispatches with his own hand, having consequently always large areas of work, and sends his own personal instructions to the diplomatic abroad. When parliament is sitting the country can get information regarding its affairs by the members questioning the ministers; but during the parliamentary vacation no voice pierces the diplomatic cloud.

SALISBURY'S SPEECH. At the Mansion House he mentioned a British protectorate of Egypt, whereupon the whole audience cheered vocifthey had quite finished, he told them that the present was not an auspicious occasion for declaring a protectorate. This is literally the only item of infornation which his speech contained. The papers have since been filled with columns of foreign telegrams, giving as many interpretations as there have been commentators. The continent is generally chiefly puzzled to know how far the speech indicated a common action of Britain and America, for this is the prospect which they regard with the deepest alarm. It is, however, generally understood, despite its pacific tone, to have been

A FIGHTING SPEECH. The extraordinary condition of the British navy at this moment doubtless contributes to this conclusion, but no two agree upon what dangers ahead caused Lord Salisbury to adopt such a pessimistic tone. The change in French sentiment during the week is astounding. From warning England that sh would be isolated, and the empire ruined by war, the newspapers are now imploring each other not to irritate England by epileptic denunciations, just as timid people in a menagerie beg one another not to poke the wild beasts with umbrellas. Another correspondent has this to say: "There is no doubt now that the interpretation placed in England upon Salisbury's speech is such that the outlook cannot be said to be very peaceful. It is universally considered that the premier manifested a strong realization of the serious dangers that are close at hand.

THE SITUATION.

The situation is now considered to stand thus: England refuses to abate one jot of her claims in Egypt, and although the government, to the disappointment of many, does not consider the moment ripe for the declaration of a protectorate, it has good reason to fear that France's temper may force such a step, which would undoubtedly bring matters to an issue, even if the Bahr-el-Ghazal matter can be amicably settled, which seems for from certain. There must be a most critical moment next year when the functions of the mixed tribunals in Egypt will cease by efflux of time. England will then ask the powers interested to acquiesce in the abolition of the tribunals; and France and Russia, unless a great change comes over them, will certainly give an emphatic refusal. England will then either pronounce the tribunals at an end or declare a protectorate, eiither of which courses would be sufficient to make the present naval preparations necessary.

THE AGREEMENT WITH GER-

MANY. A most remarkable thing in Lord Salisbury's speech is the avoidance of all reference to the agreement with Germany. There is no room to doubt that an agreement exists, but its terms have been carefully kept from the world, although some semi-official German journals report that the acquisition of Delagoa Bay by Great Britain is one of its terms, Germany receiving something in return. It is noteworthy with what care Lord Salisbury avoided the whole subject. In what sense must agreement was signed, presumably it must still stand, and, therefore, if we are determined to support the United States' demand for the Philippines, it seemes to follow that the conditions of the agreement with China must be carried out. On the other hand, it was generally supposed that Germany was little pleased with the policy of the United States in the Philippines as Russia and France. Has Germany been brought to look at the Philippine question in a new light, or is Germany Africa? Probably it may prove that electricity and other wonders came and the real cause of the naval preparaof the Anglo-German agreement than to the Philippines and China. THE IRISH QUESTION.

We are threatened with a revival of the Irish question. Mr. Healy has issued from the Nation office a long pamphlet entitled "Why Is Ireland Not Free?" It has already been wittily remarked that his answer may be summarized in two words, "John Dillon." The pamphlet is a fine example of that personal and political denunciation of which Mr Healy is such a past master. The Daily News describes it as a study in political vitriol. Moreover, a lawsuit has already been begun by T. P. O'Connor against Smith & Elder, the publishers, to stop the publication of Barry O'Brien's "Life of Parnell," issued last Thursday. The ground of the application for the injunction is statements regarding O'Connor's action n connection with the election O'Shea for Galway, which Parnell forced upon an unwilling party. The publishers have offered to indemnify anybody for damages incurred through selling the book.

CHAMBERLAIN TO BE HEARD. There is a lively interest and even anxiety now to hear what Mr. Chamberlain will have to say at Manchester on Tuesday. It is thought that he will be more likely to be the mouthpiece of the cabinet than the premier. if there is anything unpleasant to say to France or any other country, while even if uncommissioned to speak plainly, he will as likely as not do so of his own initiative, if it suits him.

BRAVERY RECOGNIZED.

The rewards to British officers and men engaged in the recent successful plays Toulon against Portsmouth. campaign in the Soudan are not ended by the bestowal of medals and decorations. Lord Wolseley states that gratuities ranging from £3 for class five of private soldiers to £228 for the major-general are to be paid to every officer and soldier employed south of Wady Halfa Gen. MacDonald, who took the chief honors in the battle of Omdurman, by splendid defeat of the principal dervish attack on his native brigade. and the masterly manner in which he caused the entire brigade completely to change front during the hottest at-tack, is a "ranker," having formerly enlisted in the ranks of the Black Watch. After a magnificent exhibition of ability and courage years ago, he was offered his choice, a commis sion or the Victoria Cross. He chose the commission, and joined the Egyptian army, and will probably be made an aide-de-camp to the Queen, the most distinguished personal honor open to a man of his career.

TERRIBLE UPHEAVAL!

The College of Wales, at Aberyst with, is now in a condition of terrible upheaval. The women students there. who are very numerous, live in their own block of buildings. Some nights ago, one of them, after dark, held sweet converse with a male student through a window, which, by the way, was well out of reach. The conversation was of the briefest, consisting chiefly of "Good night," and must have been audible to all and sundry. The matron in charge, overcome by the heinous breach of de corum, summoned Juliet's mother to remove her shameless daughter, and also appealed to the principal to expel Romeo. The principal refused. Then an appeal was made to the senate reverend body discussed the matter for more than 30 hours, and decided to reinstate Juliet, but to incarcerate her in a private house, where she cannot contaminate her fellow-students. Romeo, less fortunate, was rusticated for two terms. The students, dressed in deep mourning, and singing the "Dead March" from Saul, and Welsh funeral hymns, accompanied him to the station, where thousands assembled to witness his depar-AMERICAN EXPANSION.

London, Nov. 14 .- During the past week the United States has occupied the attention of Europe to a greater degree than at any time since the battle of Santiago. The entry of the American republic into the arena of eastern colonization has attracted peers, promoters and newspaper men widespread and varied attention, and never before have the phases and issues of an American election been so generally and eagerly canvassed and so intelligently commented on. supposed indorsement of the so-called expansion idea by the electors of the United States has commanded a chorus of approval in Great Britain, while the journalistic spokesmen of France, Russia and Germany exhibit an equal unanimity of disapproval. On eve of election the Marquis of Salisbury threw the chancellories of Europe a portentiously ambiguous phrase which they have not yet suceeded in satisfactorily Then came Emperor William's change of course towards the Spanish shores which Europeans, ever quick to discover political portents in the moveof royalties, are construing as an exhibition of pro-Spanish sympathy. The Marquis of Salisbury remains so pursuing one police as regards the The Marquis of Salisbury remains so Philippines and another with regard to loyal a devotee to the old-style diplomacy, which employs words to confuse meanings, that his deliverance

On the contrary, all signs point to a unanimous welcome of the United States entrance upon the role of a Philippine landlord from the English Government and people, though it is accompanied by the assumption that on the unity of interests on that quarter of the globe depends the maintenance of the policy of the open door.

HAND IN HAND. The American attitude towards the Philippine Islands is also certainly welcomed by the British companies engaged in developing the islands. These companies, in anticipation of a staple, honest government, are already taking steps to enlarge their enterprises. This is the case with the Manila railroad company controlled by English capitalists, which is projecting an extension of its line.

Outside of all this it is highly improbable that the Marquis of Salisbury would antagonize the widespread sentiment of his countrymen that British and American interests go hand in hand, and the correspondent of the Associated Press here has good authority for asserting that he did not intend to do so. Moreover, the correspondent learns that communication or conversation between American and British diplomats have occurred very recently in which a recognition of this identity of interests was displayed, though so far as can be learned the discussions do not go to the length of pledging help or plans for a concert of action in any contingences. Henry Seton-Carr, member of parliament for St. Helens, who has just returned from the United States, has given an impression of the trip to the Pall Mall Gazette. He dwelt enthusiastically upon the friendliness for Great Britain, which, he says, is animating the American people, considers an American-English alliance desirable

EMPEROR WILLIAM'S CHOICE.

While the Spaniards are unquestionably hugging the hope of finding & friend and protector in Emperor Wil- tions, and establish his office of sumliam of Germany, the London diplomats accept his majesty's disclaimers, arguing that the whole trend of British and German policies is converging, particularly since the friendly apportionment of sphers of influence in Africa, and that the emperor, believing his interests lie in the Anglo-American rather in the Franco-Russian camp, will not show any disposition to duplicate the President Kruger telegram. BRITISH NAVAL ACTIVITY.

If the Marquis of Salisbury's speech made clear any fact, it was that Great Britain does not intend to diminish her armaments, regardless of the ezar's proposals in that direction. The energetic prosecution of the work of putting the British navy on a war footing, after the Fashoda incident is closed, inspires speculation, some construing it as foreboding war over the Philippine Islands, and others linking it with the Chinese problem and the presence of 40,000 Russians at Port who might conceivably marched to Pekin for the protection of Russian interests. Others, however, conclude that the British admiralty is utilizing the opportunity for maneuvers for which parliament, under calmer conditions would not authorize the expenditures. France's view of the British armaments may be conjectured from the persistency with which she FRANCE HUMILIATED. The Fashoda incident has unquestionably left a bitter taste in French mouths, which the condescendingly soothing tone of the English papers which have been expressing themselves majeste, says: "Times have changed. as if dealing with fractious children, has only served to intensify. M. Robert de Caix, of the African committee, urges his countrymen not to sulk, but to imitate Great Britain's behavior under a similar rebuff in the Venezuelan affair. He adds that without fear or blame, the conqueror France has given the world in the exhibition of 1900 the strongest hostage that she will not be over-hasty in accepting war in the near future.

THE KAISER IS A RUSHER. The newspaper men who have been accompanying Emperor William in his tour of the Holy Land, say that between that monarch's marvelous ac tivity and the attentions of the Turkish officials, who regard the scribes as suspicious characters, they have been suffering a veritable martyrdom. One of them writes that he has been accustomed to follow hounds afoot and has shared the fortunes of the American army in Cuba. But, he adds, these were mere pastimes in comparison to following Emperor William. a strongly pro-English editorial, in covered the which it said: The latter, it appears, sand road from Haifa to Jaffa in two days, a dash seldom attempted in less than three days. Dead horses strewed the trail and exhausted cavirymen and camels struggled into Jaffa throughout the night.

THE CORRESPONDENT'S LOT. Some of the correspondents who were invited to witness the emperor's entrance into Haifa from the yard of the American consulate, were driven off by the Turks, in spite of the protest of the consul, and the correspondent of an Italian paper who wrote that the sultan was bankrupting his country to entertain the emperor, while he never paid his soldiers, was cast into prison without any charge being made against him, and was beaten and starved. He succeeded, however, in escaping by bribing some of the Turks, and now the Italian Government has demanded an indemnity for the carrespondent's arrest and treatment. THE REVELATIONS OF HOOLEY.

The officials of the foreign office here admit that the acquisition of those Spanish colonies would be a considerable value to Germany, in view of their proximity to Germany's Australasian possessions, but they give no inkling as to their intentions in the matter.

RANDOM SPECULATIONS.

The announcement that Emperor William will call at Spanish ports on his way home from the Holy Land, has given rise to all sorts of political speculations, especialy in view of the statement that the queen regent of Spain has decided to send the Duke of Sotomayor, with an autograph letter, to Carthagena inviting man emperor to visit Madrid and to rejoin the imperial yacht at Cadiz. On the contrary, while it is evident that Spain is keenly desirous that the em-peror should visit Madrid, and, in fact, attempts are already being made to make capital out of the mere fact that he will visit Spanish ports, the foreign office here is doing everything to throw cold water on the idea that his majesty had any political end in view in touching at Spanish ports. The foreign office appears anxious to avoid any steps calculated to wound public feeling in the United States, which, it is fully recognized here, would resent a visit of the emperor to Spanish ports while the peace negotiations are still unconclud-

OBJECTS OF THE KAISER'S EAST-ERN TOUR.

It has now become known that Emperor William, among other objects in view, desired to utilize his trip to Jerusalem to reunite German. Protestantism, now split into a score of facmus episcopus, now held merely over the Evangelical Church of Prussia, over the whole of Protestant Germany. Before starting for Palestine, the emperor thoroughly discussed the idea with the digmtaries of the Prussian The emperor firmly believed he could realize his plan, but nevertheless the project utterly miscarried. The Grand Duke of Baden represented to the emperor that existing circummade it impossible for the other Protestant princes of Germany to yield to the emperor's wishes. This abortive idea of his majesty, it appears, was responsible for the fact that none of the reigning German princes was willing to accompany him to Palestine. although they so far yielded as to send in behalf of each of them an authorized representative of the state church. The emperor, however, still cherishes the hope that his scheme will eventually realize, and he has frequently reverted to it during his trip.

GUSHING OVER SALADIN.

Emperor William, before leaving Damascus, made a speech in which he exalted Saladin as one of the most knightly rulers of all ages, and begged Sultan Abdul Hamid and his 300,000,000 followers to accept the assurance that he (the emperor) would always be their friend. His majesty also commanded his military attache to lay a wreath on Saladin's sepulchre, in-"To the brave and knightly sultan.

AN ANGLO-GERMAN UNDER-STANDING.

Whether it is solely or partially due to the Anglo-German understanding, it is an undeniable fact that there is a decidedly friendly feeling for Great Britain in the leading circles here, not only among government officials, but among the navy and army officers. Nevertheless, a sensation was created by the complete right-about turn on the part of the Kreuz Zeitung, hitherto the most venomous enemy of Great Britain, which this week came out with

"We have for years past resisted all plans aiming at an Anglo-German treaty, giving as our reasons that England is not strong enough on land or sea to be helpful to us. But circumstances have now fundamentally dhanged. Serious Accident to Mr. Thomas Dickison.

Of the Well-Known Firm of Dickison, Nicholson & Co., While Returning From Europe-Now Lies in a Pennsylvania Hospital.

While on his way home from New York on Saturday night, Mr. Thomas Dickison, head of the well-known wholesale firm of Dickison, Nicholson & Company, of this city, fell from the Chicago express at Island Pond, Pa. He was found in an unconscious condition, lying beside the Lehigh Valley Railroad tracks at Island Pond, a few minutes after the train had passed, and identified by means of letters in his pocket, when a telegram was sent after the train to notify the conductor of the accident.

Word from the authorities of the Island Pond hospital, to which Mr. Dickison was removed, states that he sustained severe internal injuries as well as a broken arm. A Toronto dispatch says: Mr. Dickison arrived in New York on Saturday on the St. Louis, after a month's tour of Europe. He met there Mr. Wood, of Gordon. Mackay & Company, Totento, who arrived from Europe on the Umbria a few hours before, and Mr. J. McKinley, of the J. D. Ivey Company, Toronto, who had been on a trip to New York. The three left on Saturday night for home in the company of Mr. Wm. G. Robb, a New York manufac-turer. Mr. Dickison secured a berth in the Chicago sleeper, but joined his friends for the evening in the Toronto coach. At 9 to retire, and in the morning, as the train reached Buffalo, Mr. Robb called for him to go to breakfast. He was told that the London merchant had fallen from the train the night before in pass ing from one sleeper to another. Robb, who had intended coming to Toronto, went on to London and notified the family of the injured man. He returned last evening with Mr. Buchner, a London lawyer, and Mr. Dickison's son-in-law, who went to Island Pond to secure Mr. Dickison's removal home, if possible.

Mr. Robb, who spent last night at the Queen's expressed considerable feeling at the way in which the Lehigh Valley officials had treated the accident. "There was no inquiry made as to Mr. Dickison's friends when the accident was known," said he, "although there were a dozen men in the Toronto car who knew him well. Another traveler was even given the berth that Mr. Dickison had booked, and had not inquired after him next morning. There is no telling when the relatives would have heard what had happened. If we had been told of it when the telegram was received I would have gone back to Island Pond. The train was an hour late last night, and was running very

Further Developments of the Hooley Case.

Sent Sir Wm Marriot a Check for $250,000—An Innocent Man Released and Set Up in Business by the Swiss Government.

London, Nov. 14.—The examination in bankruptcy proceedings of Mr. Ernest Terah Hooley, the company promoter, was resumed this morning. Sir William Marriott took the stand and declared that Mr. Hooley's statement that he had paid the witness £1,000 for introducing him (Hooley) to the Carleton Club was "a pure invention and an abominable lie." Sir William added that he knew nothing at the time about Mr. Hooley's alleged donation of £10,-000 to the Conservative party funds, through the Marquis of Abergavenny, though Mr. Hooley told him afterwards that he had given the marquis £10,000 for the "fighting funds" of the Conservative party, which, Sir William Marriott explained, had nothing to do with the Carelton Club. The witness also said he had helped Mr. Hooley in political and financial matters, but had always declined remuneration for his services. Later Sir William Marriott said Mr. Hooley told him in December, 1896, that he was engaged with an American syndicate which was going to raise an enormous loan for Cuba, and said he, the witness, had been appointed counsel to the company's commission which was to visit Cuba, and that his fee was to be £10,000, in view of which Mr. Hooley paid him

£1,000 on account. On cross-examination Sir William Marriott admitted that he had received a check for £50,000 from Mr. Hooley, which he handed to representatives of the Conservative party. Mr. Hooley believed this would secure him a baronetcy at the jubilee, but he was infromed that he could not have it, and the check was returned to him.

WHY DILKE SAID IT. London, Nov. 14. - An important movement is on foot here to direct attention to an anomalous state of affairs which exists in Newfoundland, where British warships are acting as police in the interests of a handful of French fishermen, as opposed to the interests of the British colonists themselves, Sir Charles Dilke, who is looked upon as specially well informed in foreign atfairs considers the Newfoundland question more fraught with danger than the Egyptian. He declares that England is violating and antagonizing popular sentiment in overruling in the interests of aliens a self-governing colony, which is submissive only because it is poor, but which may at any moment be moved to active resentment.

Destructive Fires in Winnipeg and Montreal.

Record of Ten Months Fire Losses in the Dominion of Canada.

Deloraine destroyed a lot of valuable property. Among those burned out are: The Queen's Hotel, loss $7,000, insurance $2,800; Rockett & Co., saddlers, etc., loss about $3,000, insurance about $2,200; Mainard & Sons, clothing establishment, loss $800, insurance $600; Horn & Traynor, heavy loss, with light insurance, amounts unknown; Henry Bros.' stables, loss about $2,000, light insurance; Boyd & Co., store, loss $3,-500, insurance about $1,800. No particulars as to origin of fire as yet. Montreal, Nov. 14.-A serious fire broke out in the nail factory of the Pillow-Hosey Manufacturing Company on Saturday. The flames spread with great rapidity, and menaced the Ogilviet flour mills close by. Three alarms were sent in, calling out the entire brigade, which had a hard fight to keep the fire within bounds, aided by a force of workmen, who were on duty in the rolling mill. The building in which the fire broke out was totally destroyed, the walls alone remaining, and the machinery is a wreck. It is not known how the fire originated, but it was probably caused by some woodwork becoming overheated. The loss will be between $15,000 and $20,000, fully covered by insurance.

Toronto, Nov. 14.-The losses of the fire insurance companies doing business in Canada for the ten months of the current year show a falling off as compared with the ten months of last year. Up to the end of September the losses were very much heavier, but during October of last year there were some exceptionally heavy losses, while the losses last month were comparatively light, and thus the insurance companies make up on their average of

The total fire losses for the ten months this year were $8,087,520, against $7,718,120 last year, an increase of $369,-400. The insurance losses, however, were $4,213,200, against $4,793,680 for last year, a decrease of $580,480. The insurance losses of October were $293,160, and October last year they were $1,299,760. The leaviest loss last month was by the fire in Vancouver, when $200,000 worth of property was destroyed, the insurance companies los-

FATAL EDITORIAL

This Is the One That Cost a Dozen Men Their Lives.

The following editorial printed in the Wilmington, N. C., Record, the newspaper organ of the colored population in that city, led to the fatal election riots, in which twelve men were killed:
"We suggest that the white guard their women more closely, thus giving no opportunity for the human fiend, be he black or white. You leave your goods out of doors and then complain because they are taken away. "Poor white men are careless in the matter of protecting their women, especially on farms. They are care-less of their conduct toward them, and our experience among the poor white people in the country teaches that the women of that race are not any more particular in the matter of clandestine meetings with colored men than are the white men with colored women. Meetings of this kind go on for some time, until the woman's infatuation or the man's boldness brings attention to them, and the man is lynched. "Every negro lynched is called a big. burly, black brute, in fact, many of those who have thus been dealt with had white men for their fathers, and were not only not black and burly, but were sufficiently attractive for white girls of culture and refinement to fall in love with them, as is well known to all."

LIFE SAVED .- Mr. James Bryson Cameron writes: "I was confined to my bed with inflammation of the lungs and was given up by physicians. A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on this advice, I procured the medicine, and less than half a bottle cured me; I certainly believe it saved my life. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me good.

McLeod for breach of agreement, and the action was commenced at Sandwich, Essex county, McKee laying his damages at the large sum of $40,000. The plaintiff's claim has now been dismissed. T. W. Mc-Kee has lately bought the British-American Hotel at Windsor, and is a large property-owner as well.

REDUCED TO A SHADOW

A Fredericton Lady Tells of Her Sickness and Suffering and of Her Restoration to Health by Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

Messrs. T. MILBURN & Co., Toronto, Ont.

GENTLEMEN.-A year ago last September my health became much impaired, and I suffered intensely from prostration of the nerves, neuralgic headaches and general debility. The pains would shoot up my neck and down my arms producing numbness and a sensa tion as if my arms were frozen, so that I almost lost the use of them. My heart would flutter and palpitate; and sometimes I awakened up out of my sleep with a smothering feeling as though I was suffocating!

"Before taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I was almost reduced to a shadow, and felt worn out, irritable, and melancholy. To add to my sufferings a partial paralysis set in, and, though J doctored a great deal, and took many medicines, I received no benefit. However, on trying Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, which I got through Mr. Geo. C. Hunt, our well-known druggist here, their curative powers manifested themselves almost immediately. I could feel every dose doing me good. They seemed to act upon the heart, and stimulate the circulation so that every tissue of my body received its due share of vigor and strength. "The intense headaches with which I was so frequently afflicted have disappeared, and, instead of being weak, worn out and run down, I am now in my normal healthy condition.

"I give this testimony for the benefit of those suffering from similar troubles, so that they may know there is a remedy within their reach well worthy of a trial.

(Signed) MRS. GEORGE MARTIN, Fredericton, N.B.

OUT OF CUBA

Spanish Troops Are Getting Away as Fast as Possible.

Washington, Nov. 12 — A cable dispatch received at the war department from Gen. Wade, chairman of the Cuban military commission, says that everything is progressing very satisfactorily in Cuba, and that the Spaniards are moving troops out as fast as they can secure transports. Already 200,000 have gone, and 9,000 more will embark from Porto Principe. The department is quite satisfied with the report, and it is believed that the Spanish troops are evacuating as expeditiously as it is possible within the means of the Spanish Government.

Feasible changes in the street railway time table were considered at the special meeting of the board of works Saturday afternoon. Manager Carr was present, and consented to the running the cars both ways on the Hamilton road, but as he intends to be out of the city for a time he wished the preparation of the schedule laid over for a week. The committee agreed to this. No complaint was made against any part of the service but that on the Hamilton road, and Mr. Carr said that to comply with the board's request the company would not be able to run a car every nine minutes as at present. Instead it would be a 12-minute service, and the Oxford street line would be similarly affected. Ald. Carrothers, who was the chief objector, thought the 12-minute service would be preferable for the residents on Horton street and the Spanish Troops Want Their Eack Pay Before Leaving Cuba.

Key West, Fla., Nov. 14.—Private reports from Puerto Principe and Neuvitas, Cuba, say that 70,000 regular soldiers mutinied, demanding their pay before embarking for Spain.

About 4,000 armed soldiers, the report adds, presented themselves in front of the palace, calling on the military governor, Emilio March, for their ery delicacy imaginable. I was critically inspected by the ladies-in-waiting.

The soldiers, however, refused to obey, and some of them, armed with loaded rifles, threatened the life of General March, who returned his sword to his

THEATERS ON RAILWAY CARS

Ingenious Method of Breaking the Monotony of Travel-Vauderville Artists Engaged.

Several of the through trains running out of New York are soon to be equipped with luxurious vaudeville cars fitted up with all the accesories of a regular theater.

This startling innovation which mark a new era in the comforts of railroad travel, will first be tried on the Lehigh Valley system and the Nickel-Plate Railroad.

The first theatrical car will be run on the Black Diamond express on April 1, 1899. One of these cars is now being built for John F. Harley, a well known theatrical manager, who will provide the entertainments.

The various shows given will consist of vaudeville performances and conmake it possible to give these perform- ear. as are asked in the regular theaters.

The novelty of going to the theater while being whirled across the country day or night is expected to appeal strongly to the majority of travelers. The idea of adapting the ordinary day coard in this way was suggested to Mr. Harley by the custom of the Christian Endeavor and other religious societies of holding services while en route to their conventions. The threatrical car will be built with especial attention to the problem of shutting out as much noise as possible, and the

SINGING BEFORE THE QUEEN

Some Interesting Details of That Honorable but Trying Experience.

Singing before the Queen is at once a very delightful and a very trying experience, writes in M. A. P. a lady who had the honor of being summoned to sing before her Majesty at Balmoral a little time ago. The manner in which my appearance in the sovereign's pres-ence was brought to pass was alto-gether unusual, I am told by profes-sional artists who have been received at Balmoral. It came about in this way: I was visiting at a country seat near the royal abode, and one wet day great lady, who was in close relation with the Queen, drove over in her carriage. The noble owner of the mansion asked me to sing some Scottish songs for the duchess, who was much pleased. "How they would interest her Ma-jesty!" she said. "Wouldn't you like to sing for the Queen?" Of course, I assured her nothing would give me greater pleasure, and said that I would go to any part of the kingdom to sing before her Majesty. Six weeks later I received a cordial letter from the duchess, who was one of the Queen's bridesmaids and one of her closest friends, saying her Majesty would be pleased to receive me. An official invitation followed. At 10 o'clock on the night of the day named I drove with my mother to the castle. drew his sword and ordered them to Lady — and other members of the disband. my toilet conformed to the requirements. If there had been the slightest deviation the ladies would have rectified it before my entrance to the drawscabbard, crying out: "Do you wish to ing-room. The corsage must be decolkill me?" lete. Had mine been too low, the ladies would have covered it. Had it been too high, they would have lowered it. That is their business.

Her Majesty objects to suede gloves. Only glace kid is tolerated. She dis-likes artificial flowers in the hair or on the gown. Happily, my coiffure and train were loaded with white plumes, which she greatly admires. At 10:30, preceded by an usher in scarlet coat, knee breeches and powdered wig, and followed by the ladies-in-waiting, I descended through a labyrinth of lofty corridors, every door sentineled by guards in livery, to an ante-room. Presently the Marquis of Lorne came in and told the ladies-in-waiting that her Moderity was seated. Then I was her Majesty was seated. Then I was led into the royal presence.

The great drawing-room was aglow with thousands of wax tapers. Along the walls stood the guests to the number of 42. No guest is allowed to sit in her Majesty's presence. In the cen-ter of the room sat the Queen. Beside her was Princess Beatrice, who was also seated—the only one accorded that privilege. The Queen wore a black satin robe, the front elaborately embroidered in jet. The great train was of striped velvet. On her head was a tiny white cap, the strings of which almost reached the end of her train. From her shoulders hung long sleeves of rare old white lace, through which gleamed her exquisite arms and hands. The effect was beautiful. She wore many jewels, diamonds and certs, the stage being too small for all but the simpler productions. Contracts have already been signed with several railroad companies, which make it possible to give these perform-

When I had made the low obeisance, which had been diligently practiced, and regained my feet without the up-set I feared, I stood by the piano while Princess Beatrice read to her Majesty the list of forty songs I had prepared for her selection. Her first choice was "The Flowers of the Forest," a melody always played over the graves of the servants and retainers of the Queen. Her Majesty beamed with pleasure when I had finished. Then she asked for "Leezie Lindsy," a very old ballad. When I had sung three songs, a waiter in scarlet-all the attendants seemed stage will be provided with a powerful like giants-came in with a silver tray, and tea was served. The Queen thoughtfully asked it I would prefer champagne, as tea was not good for the voice. I thanked her, and said I did not care for refreshments until I called for "Comin' Thro' the Rye," then for "The Keel Row," which she encored warmly, and I repeated it. Then her Majesty rose and walked directly to me, and, crossing her beautiful hands on the piano, she asked who had trained me, and said she had never heard Scottish songs sung so

Embarrassed and apologizing, I turned to retrace my steps to the drawing-room. "No," he said, "having once left her

My mother was invited to dine with me, but she was so overcome by the ceremonial and the splendor that she pre ferred to sip her champagne and goodies in the bedroom, where she stayed throughout the recital.

There were seven servants to wait upon me, and not a soul sat at the table but myself! It was overpowering, but no detail of her Majesty's linen, glass or china escaped me; every piece was marked "V.A." At length with a flourish of the wands, an official announced the duchess, who had been the cause of my appearance at Balmoral. She came without a word-and

Spanish Troops Are Getting Away as Fast as Possible.

Washington, Nov. 12 - A cable dispatch received at the war department from Gen. Wade, chairman of the Cuban military commission, says that everything is progressing very satisfactorily in Cuba, and that the Spaniards are moving troops out as fast as they can secure transports. Already 200,000 have gone, and 9,000 more will embark from Porto Principe. The department is quite satisfied with the report, and it is believed that the Spanish troops are evacuating as expeditiously as it is possible within the means of the Spanish Government.

FATAL QUARRIEL OVER A GIRL New York, Nov. 14. - Because they could not adjust their differences over a girl-a mere child-Martin Kilkeary and Jos. Smith, two wouths, became involved in a series of quarrels, which last night ended in the deliberate murder of Smith. Smith was 21 years old, Kilkeary 18. The former, who had been playing attention to the girl. enlisted when the war broke out, and Kilkeary supplanted him in the eyes of the fickle child. At the close of the war Smith wished to call back the old days: Kilkeary grew threateming, and when Smith sent a note to the girl, asking her to accompany him to a dance, Kilkeary vowed vengeance. Last night, when Kilkeary, accompanied by the girl, met Smith, a fight followed, and Kilkeary drew revolver and shot Smith, the latter dying by the time he reached the hospital. Kilkeary and the girl were arrested.

HAMILTON ROAD CAR SERVICE. Feasible changes in the street railway time table were considered at the special meeting of the board of works Saturday afternoon. Manager Carr was present, and consented to the running the cars both ways on the Hamilton road, but as he intends to be out of the city for a time he wished the preparation of the schedule laid over for a week. The committee agreed to this. No complaint was made against any part of the service but that on the Hamilton road, and Mr. Carr said that to comply with the board's request the company would not be able to run a car every nine minutes as at present. Instead it would be a 12-minute service, and the Ox-ford street line would be similarly affected. Ald. Carrothers, who was the chief objector, thought the 12-minute service would be preferable for the residents on Horton street and the

70,000 SOLDIERS

Spanish Troops Want Their Eack Pay Before Leaving Cuba.

Key West, Fla., Nov. 14.—Private reports from Puerto Principe and Neuvitas, Cuba, say that 70,000 regular soldiers mutinied, demanding their pay before embarking for Spain.

About 4,000 armed soldiers, the report adds, presented themselves in front of the palace, calling on the milireform resolution, and also to adopt or tary governor, Emilio March, for their overdue pay. Thereupon Gov. March drew his sword and ordered them to disband.

The soldiers, however, refused to obey, and some of them, armed with loaded rifles, threatened the life of General March, who returned his sword to his scabbard, crying out: "Do you wish to kill me? Well, kill me!"

The soldiers, in reply, shouted, "No, no; we only want our pay before em-barking for Spain." General March then promised them that they would be paid, and the soldiers returned to their quarters peaceably.

THEATERS ON RAILWAY CARS

Ingenious Method of Breaking the Monotony of Travel-Vauderville Artists Engaged.

Several of the through trains running out of New York are soon to be equipped with luxurious vaudeville cars fitted up with all the accesories of a regular theater. This startling innovation which mark a new era in the comforts of railroad travel, will first be tried on the Lehigh Valley system and the Nickel-Plate Railroad.

The first theatrical car will be run on the Black Diamond express on April One of these cars is now peing built for John F. Harley, a well known theatrical manager, who will provide the entertainments.

The various shows given will consist of vaudeville performances and conall but the simpler productions. Contracts have already been signed with several railroad companies, which several railroad companies, which make it possible to give these performances, charging about the same prices as are asked in the regular theaters. The novelty of going to the theater while being whirled across the country day or night is expected to appeal strongly to the majority of travelers. The idea of adapting the ordinary day coard in this way was suggested to Mr. Harley by the custom of the Christian Endeavor and other religious route to their conventions. The threatrical car will be built with especial attention to the problem of shutting out as much noise as possible, and the stage will be provided with a powerful

A Welcome Innovation by the C. P. R. and G. T. R.

Toronto World.f

The Grand Trunk and C. P. R. have made a pleasing innovation in their sleeping car service. For the last two nights they have sold dollar berths between Toronto and Montreal. The car provided by the C. P. R. for this service is not the richly furnished Pullman, but it is a clean, comfortable car.
As far as health goes, it is probably preferable to the ordinary upholstered her Majesty, "to help their revival?" sleeping car, while in the matter of convenience it is quite satisfactory. The first your Majesty," I replied, "by ingrand Trunk's dollar service is of a higher grade than that of its rive." higher grade than that of its rival. Its cars are genuine Pullmans, and the service is practically the same as that on car service in Ontario that travelers are sure, will highly appreciate the innovation. They are as badly needed in Ontario as out west. We trust the dollar sleeping car berth will soon be put on for good. #### Dorchester Land Deal.

To the Editor of The Advertiser: I wish to have an error corrected that came out in Saturday's paper, to the effect that I had sold 122 acres of land to Robert Sutherland, for the sum of $5,800. #### SINGING BEFORE THE QUEEN

Some Interesting Details of That Honorable but Trying Experience.

Singing before the Queen is at once a very delightful and a very trying experience, writes in M. A. P. a lady who had the honor of being summoned to sing before her Majesty at Balmoral a little time ago. The manner in which my appearance in the sovereign's presence was brought to pass was altogether unusual, I am told by professional artists who have been received at Balmoral. It came about in this way: I was visiting at a country seat near the royal abode, and one wet day which kept everybody indoors a very. great lady, who was in close relation with the Queen, drove over in her carriage. The noble owner of the mansion asked me to sing some Scottish songs for the duchess, who was much pleased. "How they would interest her Majesty!" she said. "Wouldn't you like to sing for the Queen?" Of course, I assured her nothing would give me greater pleasure, and said that I would go to any part of the kingdom to sing before her Majesty.
Six weeks later I received a cordial letter from the duchess, who was one of the Queen's bridesmaids and one of her closest friends, saying her Majesty would be pleased to receive me. An official invitation followed. At 10 o'clock on the night of the day named ery delicacy imaginable. I was critically inspected by the ladies-in-waiting.

Thanks to frequent consultations with Lady — and other members of the Lady — and other members of the nobility with whom I was acquainted, my toilet conformed to the require-ments. If there had been the slightest deviation the ladies would have rectified it before my entrance to the drawing-room. The corsage must be decol-lete. Had mine been too low, the ladies would have covered it. Had it been too high, they would have lowered it. That is their business.

Her Majesty objects to suede gloves. Only glace kid is tolerated. She dis-likes artificial flowers in the hair or on the gown. Happily, my coffure and train were loaded with white plumes, which she greatly admires. At 10:30, preceded by an usher in scarlet coat, knee breeches and powdered wig, and followed by the ladies-in-waiting, I deflute the state of the s scended through a labyrinth of lofty corridors, every door sentineled by guards in livery, to an ante-room. Presently the Marquis of Lorne came in and told the ladies-in-waiting that her Majesty was seated. Then I was led into the royal presence.

The great drawing-room was aglow with thousands of wax tapers. Along the walls stood the guests to the number of 42. No guest is allowed to sit in her Majesty's presence. In the center of the room sat the Queen. Beside her was Princess Beatrice, who was also seated—the only one accorded that privilege. The Queen wore a black satin robe, the front elaborately embroidered in jet. The great train was of striped velvet. On her head was a tiny white cap, the strings of which almost reached the end of her train. From her shoulders hung long sleeves of rare old white lace, through which gleamed her exquisite arms and hands. The effect was beautiful. She wore many jewels, diamonds and certs, the stage being too small for pearls. I noticed particularly her ear-

When I had made the low obeisance, which had been diligently practiced, and regained my feet without the upset I feared, I stood by the piano while Princess Beatrice read to her Majesty the list of forty songs I had prepared for her selection. Her first choice was "The Flowers of the Forest," a melody always played over the graves of the servants and retainers of the Queen. societies of holding services while en Her Majesty beamed with pleasure when I had finished. Then she asked for "Leezie Lindsy," a very old ballad. When I had sung three songs, a waiter in scarlet-all the attendants seemed like giants-came in with a silver tray, sounding board.—New York telegram and tea was served. The Queen thoughtfully asked it I would prefer champagne, as tea was not good for the voice. I thanked her, and said I did not care for refreshments until I had finished singing. After tea she CAR BERTHS called for "Comin" Thro' the Rye," then for "The Keel Row," which she encored warmly, and I repeated it. Then her Majesty rose and walked directly to me, and, crossing her beautiful hands on the piano, she asked who had trained me, and said she had never heard Scottish songs sung so

"Why have the people allowed them to die out?" she asked. I told her I thought it was due to the fact that children were sent nowadays to France and Germany, where they acquired taste for French and German songs, and were ignorant of

When I had sung about seven songs an attendant handed her Majesty a the regular sleeping cars. This is the morocco box. > Soon dinner was announced. Again the procession formed, as it had in descending to the drawing-room. descending to the Through corridors and corridors, everywhere attended by scarlet retainers brandishing wands like magicians in fairyland, we passed in silence, until a grand dining-room was reached. My mother was invited to dine with me, but she was so overcome by the cere-monial and the splendor that she preferred to sip her champagne and goodies in the bedroom, where she stayed throughout the recital.

> There were seven servants to wait upon me, and not a soul sat at the table but myself! It was overpowering, but no detail of her Majesty's linen, glass or china escaped me; every piece was marked "V.A." At length with a flourish of the wands, an official announced the duchess, who had been the cause of my appearance at Balmoral. She came without a word-and the seven servants and the fadies-inwaiting promptly vanished! They recognized in the duchess a messenger from the Queen. It was not etiquette for them to listen. The duchess broke the ice. She was warm

"Then you will permit me to stay?"
"My dear mademoiselle, have I not just assured you that I have nothing to do with my sister's domestic arrangements?"

"But you can say to her that you suspect me to be an adventuress, and advise her to dismiss me. Do so; 1 permit it. I will not resist nor complain; were I in your place, it is what would do.

"Would you?" cried the young man, reddening, and speaking hotly. What, attempt to thrust a young girl out of a house because—and very properly, perhaps—she refuses to confide to you a history of the misfortunes that induced her to expatriate herself and enter the service of an English ady! No-not; you do not-you cannot think so ill of me. You are saying this to test me. Whatever troubles may have driven you to us, mademoiselle, I hope you will learn at Esselyn to forget Mary Delille raised her dark eyes, and fixed upon him an inexplicable look, then, simply saying, "Monsieur is very would have left the room if Aymer's voice had not detained her.

She turned quickly towards him, her face flushing, her dark orbe gleaming with angry light.

."Ah!—you have opened—you have read it! You know who I am, and why I am in England. Your civil speeches are made in mockery! they are taunts, insults, which you know me to be powerless to resent."

'Opened an inclosure confided to me! No; of course, I did not," responded Aymer, astounded at her vehemence. "I might, though, have done so, had I known that it was directed to myself; but I never discovered this till I was delvering it to your messenger." "Why, then, do you speak of it?"

she asked, still suspicious and incre-"Because the sight of a packet directed to myself naturally leads to the question, who intrusted it to you for Aymer cogitated. The explanation sounded reasonable enough, yet some-thing told him it was not the true one; accordingly he waived a direct reply. "I am very glad that someone regards me as the supreme ruler of this house; it will give me courage to assert some of my prerogative. One other lit-tle word before you leave me; you need fear your lady wanting you; at this hour she is safe to be in the conservatory catechising that much-endured man, MacTaggart, the gardener. I only want to ask how it is that you came here so very much prejudiced against your humble servant?"

By this time Marie had quite recovered herself. As soon as she learned that her precious packet was intact her spirits revived, and, asuming an air of innocent surprise, she retorted: "My lord must have been dreaming. Did he say that I have prejudiced myself against an English peer whom I have never before seen? Why should

"Or so patient under the scourge of woman's tongue, eh? You are indulging in little fibs, my fair friend. You don't believe me to be endowed with any of those virtues. Ah! you have tell-tale eyes, mademoiselle; they contradict your set speeches, whenever they're not precisely true ones."

"In future I will keep them fixed on the ground when I encounter mon-sieur," said Marie, primly.

"Do so, if you can. There are starry enough in the sky, so you may very well confine yours to the earth.' But Marie, always restive under compliments, heard this with an impatient tap of her little foot, and a satirical rejoinder:

Does my lord keep by him a stock of these exquisite little gallantries for the delectation of his sister's maids? If so, perhaps, he will oblige the with a copy; it will save him the trouble of repeating and me of listening."

'I am glad you admire my compliments, and think them so neatly turned." was the merry reply. "Unfortu-

Several of the guests invited to spend the first month of the new year at Esselyn Manor House had arrived during the day and the opening and shutting of doors, the patter of footsteps passing to and fro, and occasionally a burst of laughter from the billiard room, in which some of the gentlemen were still lounging, penetrated every now and then to the lady's sanctum. But she was too much absorbed in a new novel of more than ordinary interest to hear these sounds. She read on, while Marie deftly coiled and pinned up her tresses, and answered at random when consulted respecting the wrays of flowers that were to complete her coiffure.

Vivien was taller, and her statuesque figure developed more fully than when passed through those eventium hours at Paris. She was universally acknowledged as one of the most beautiful girls that had ever graced our English court; yet the expression of her face was not so winning as in ear-

From this Lady Esselyn would have dissented. She would have declared that the excitable, unmanageable Vivien of youthful days had at last attained to the repose of manner that her beauty had once sadly lacked; and that the touch of hauteur visible in the imperial pose of head and curve of her delicate mouth added greatly to the refined and patrician loveliness of a face artists were eager to paint, and even women admitted to be nearly per-

FLOWER GARDEN. In Love's Flower Garden there is the full-blown rose of married happiness and the holy perfume of joyous motherhood for every woman who takes proper care of her health in a womanly way. For the weak, sickly, nervous, despondent woman, who suffers untold miseries in silence from weakness and disease of the delicate organs concerned in wifehood and motherhood, there are only thorns, and to her the per-fume of motherhood is the aroma of death. No woman is fitted for the responsibili-ties of wifehood and the duties of mother-No woman is fitted for the responsibilities of wifehood and the duties of motherhood who is a sufferer in this way. Every woman may be strong and healthy in a womanly way, if she will. It lies with herself. She needs, in the first place, a little knowledge of the reproductive physiology of women. This she can obtain by securing and reading a copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. It contains 1008 pages and over 300 illustrations. It tells all about all the ordinary ills of life, and how to treat them. Several chapters and illustrations are devoted to the physical make-up of women. It tells how to treat all the diseases peculiar to women. It gives the names, addresses, photographs and experiences of hundreds of women who have been snatohed from the verge of the grave to live happy, healthy lives by Dr. Pierce's medicines. This book she can obtain free. It used to cost $1.50, and over seven hundred thousand copies were purchased by women at that price. Over a million women now own copies. The pressmen and bookbinders have sent similar notices. These circulars are in conformity with the agreement reached between the three international unions and the National Typothetae.

According to the Tailor, the organ of the Journeymen Tailors' Union of America, great strides are being made. During the present season, since the middle of September, more local unions have secured advances upon their bill of prices than in any period of the same length of time during the last five or six years. In nearly every city throughout the jurisdiction the reductions that were granted from 1894 to 1897 have been regained, and in many instances the bills have been raised, until they are now higher than they were prior to 1893. The effort to secure free back shops is also being carried on quite vigorously, and special efforts are being made to organize the tailors in Cincinnati, Pittsburg, Cleveland, Detroit and Milwaukee. In the latter city 100 stores have recognized the label, and are paying the bill of prices. Prospects are also good in Pittsburg.

TWO DROWNED.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 14.-The steamer Wolcott, from Copper River, Alaska, brings news of the drowning of young woman named Cresp and a young man named Tankerson, in Controller Bay, Oct. 5th. With her sister she ran a dance hall in Controller Bay. KILLED HIS FATHER AND HIM-

Reading, Pa., Nov. 14.—Morris Lutz, aged 44, a shoemaker, was shot and fatally wounded by his son Harvey, aged about 18. Young Lutz came home intoxicated, and his father reprimanded him. This angered the boy, and he fired two shots through his father's head. The boy then committed suicide by cutting his throat.

DIED FOR HIS DOG

Coldwater, Mich., Nov. 14.-William Laughinwell was drowned Saturday at Long Lake, six miles from here. His dog had ventured on to the thin ice, and had broken in ten rods from the shore. His master, desiring to assist him, procured an old gate, and shoved it to him. As soon as both man and dog were on the gate it sank in ten feet of water, drowning both man and dog. Mr. Laughinwell's wife sat on the shore and witnessed the accident. AT THE SUPPER TABLE.

OLD MAN CREMATED. Lansing, Mich., Nov. 14. - Hiram Hoag, an old man 73 years of age, who lived alone in a small house at North Lancing, was burned to death Saturday night. In some manner unknown the house caught on fire, and when the blaze was extinguished the charred remains of the old man were found among the ruins.

THREE PERSONS CREMATED. Perry, Mich., Nov. 14.—This pretty little village is in mourning over the terrible death of three respectable cittzens, who were cremated at an early morning fire. At 2 o'clock Saturday morning the big livery barn of Brown & Co. was discovered on fire. Charles Taylor, one of the members of the firm, with his wife and daughter, and an old man named Wm. Clark, lived in the building over the stables. Dr. A. L. Compton, a veterinary surgeon, and a stable boy, slept in the office. The latter two escaped in their night clothes, but both were badly burned. All were asleep when the flames broke out. When Mr. Taylor finally awoke the flames had gained great headway. He awakened all those on his floor and made a rush for the window. Taylor was the only one to reach it, and he threw himself out, thinking the others would do the same. He was badly cut by the glass and seriously burned. The others were overcome by the smoke, and fell unconscious before they could reach the only means of exit. The dead are: only means of exit. Mrs. Charles Taylor, Miss Taylor, and Wm. Clark.

WHEAT CROPS OF THE WORLD

Interesting Official Estimates-An Inprovement on Previous Reports.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12.—Statistician Hyde, of the agricultural department, has completed the official report of the crops of the world for this month, and a revised review of the world's wheat is an important feature. The Russian wheat crop is now put by the minister of agriculture at 417,000,000 Winchester bushels, an increase of 30,000,000 over the Hungarian official estimate.

An estimate believed to be below rather than above the actual yield, is credited to the Hungarian agricultural ministry, which estimates Hungarian wheat crop at 132,277,200 bushels, of 60 pounds.

An estimate, said to be the preliminary official one, puts the German wheat crop at 8,000,000 bushels more than the 1897 crop. making it, in round numbers, 115,000,000 bushels of 60 The official estimate of the Italian

The official estimte for Roumania makes its wheat crop 58,456,904 Winchester bushels. Official figures for Manitoba give its wheat crop at 26,729,898 Winchester

Preliminary official figures make the crop of Ontario 36,028,079 Winchester bushels, the total for the two provinces being 59,757,887 Winchester bush-As the wheat area of the more eastern provinces was much larger recent years, it seems that the total for Canada will reach the highest of last months! estimates, 36,000,000 imposed bushes.

On the whole, the changes from a month ago increase the total estimate o. the world's wheat coop, but the conditions affecting the crops of the southern hemisphere are scarcely so favorable, as they were commonly supposed to be when the estimates used in the table published a month ago were

If the Australasian wheat crop should fall short of the Roomhall estimates (the largest) it may in any case equal, or perhaps exceed, the very moderate estimates of the other two authorities announced last month. The Roomhall estimate was 54,000,000, and the Hungarian estimate only 37,000,000 bushels of 60 pounds; while the estimate of the Bulletin was 37,000,000 bu-

Severe frosts have been reported from Argentina, but the latest accounts as to the outlook for the wheat crop in that country are not unfavorable.

IN A SUGAR SHANTY Extra Fine

Two Boys and an Odd Collection of Stolen Goods Captured by County Constables.

Two county constables, by the aid of a Westminster farmer, Mr. John Currie, were successful in arresting two boys who seemed to be having a "swell time" in the sugar shanty on the premises of Henry Hart, lot 4, con. 2, West-

Yesterday Mr. Currie saw smoke ascending from his neighbor's shanty in the woods, which was used for making maple sugar. Mr. Currie informed Mr. Hart, and the two made an investigation. They found two boys, William Waddell and Gideon McKinnon, aged 17 and 18, who claim to belong to Dorchester and Westminster respectively. The two boys had a big fire in the brick furnace, and seemed happy, but a little nervous. Around on the floor were scattered half a bag of apples and potatoes, two empty bags, a galvanized iron pail, half full of milk, an axe, one quilt, a buffalo robe, a pair of mitts, a new black shirt, two dead chickens and a Bible.

The constables brought the boys to the city, where they admitted having stolen the "chattels." They said they were in Belmont until 10 o'clock on Saturday night, when they came north on the townline to a barn, where they helped themselves to the quilt and buffalo robe. Two miles further morth they entered another barn and took the bags, the axe and the chickens, and at a third barn they got the pail and milked one of the cows.

Young Waddell says the only property which was not stolen was the shirt and Bible, which belong to him.

The boys were remanded on a charge of trespace with Reider was a stolen was the shirt and Bible, which belong to him. charge of trespass until Friday next, when they will come before Squire

MUSIC AND DRAMA

A PLAY OF THE SOUTH. "At Piney Ridge," a play written by Mr. David Higgins, was presented at the Grand Opera House Saturday afternoon and evening. The principal part is taken by the author. It is a first-class production—a pretty picture of southern life, refined and elevated in tone, and presented by a very capable company. "At Piney Ridge" will be warmly welcomed again.

"THE VICTORIAN CROSS."

"The Victorian Cross," which the Grand offers to its patrons tonight, is an English drama, which has had a run in the English provinces for six years, and is now running. The plot is a strong one, and vividly portrays the great Indian mutiny of 1857, in the far east, where the great battle be-tween the English and the Sepoys took place, and many hundreds were slain. The author, J. W. Whitehead, has made a play from data selected which is full of dramatic interest, and embodies a very interesting love story, intermingled with bright comedy. The opportunity for scenic effects has not been neglected, and the Aubrey Manor, in England, the entrenchment at Cawnpore, the Nana Sahib's house, the embarkation and realistic destruction of the boats are very picturesquely shown. The engagement is for two night and Tuesday matinee. Reserved seats can be secured at the box office.

NO PRIZE FIGHTERS

In the Late Spanish-American War-College Boys Distinguish Themselves.

Appropos of the recent death of a noted Harvard football player from the effects of typhoid taken in Porto Rico, Mr. Frederic Remington writes: "It seems worth noting that while a great many college football men went into the army, if any prize-fighters went I did not hear of them. There may have been prize-fighters among the volunteers, but it would take investiga-tion to disclose any. Yet a favorite defense of the ring is that it develops the manly qualities so necessary to the safety of a nation."

It certainly does seem as though fistfighting was less effectual in the development of the war spirit than bunt-ing with the head, tackling, and the other football specialties, still we must remember that while pugilists were apparently scarce, and football players were numerous, in our armies, the football men had no monopoly of grit. Roy Walter Stover, Harvard, '98, of the First Dakota Volunteer Infantry, whose death from typhoid fever at Manila, is announced, is remembered as a Harvard debater. So, too, the individual whose egregious and irrepressible valor at Santiago made the deepest and most resonant impression on the public mind was a college graduate, but is not known to have been a football player while in college. The truth is, he is believed to have been a good deal of a student, and to have graduated with considerable distinction, a thing possible to football players, but not com-mon.—E. S. There are poor blankets. There are good blankets. Some blankets are made from pure cotton, whilst some are made from waste cotton. There are shoddy blankets-made from such poor material that they are dear at any price. Neither wear nor warmth-simply a delusion. There are union blankets and there are all-wool blankets.
