GOING TO WORK

The Chatham journeymen tailors' strike seems gradually coming to an end. Several of the merchants have already signed the schedule of the men. The name of A. Sheldrick was the most recent acquisition this morning, and at noon the tailors resumed work in his establishment.

DANISH MAID FINDS FRIENDS

Through the Instrumentality of the C. P. R. Her Brother
Has Been Located.

Local Agent Downey Supplied
her with a First Class Ticket

Much interest has been taken locally in the tale, published exclusively in The Planet, of the Danish girl who was, by some mistake, landed and stranded in Chatham last Sunday. Unable to speak a word of English, Wm. R. Peck, the kindly proprietor of the Hotel Rankin, furnished her with a temporary home and, through the instrumentality of C. P. R. Agents Harper and Downey, initiated an investigation which last evening resulted successfully.

Mr. Downey communicated with the District Agent of the C. P. R. at Toronto, who ascertained from the Cunard Line Co. that through error she had been booked to Chatham, instead of Dalhousie Mills. A telegram to the agent at the latter place brought the intelligence that she was expected by D. C. McRae, of Bridge End, Glengarry County, and that her brother had gone to Montreal to meet her and missed her.

Last evening Mr. Downey received instructions to issue her a free ticket to Dalhousie Mills and Mr. Peck supplied her with necessities for the journey. Miss Fredrickson left on the night C. P. R. train.

Her baggage arrived in Chatham in bond yesterday and will be forwarded on by Mr. Downey.

The girl actually wept with delight when the fact was conveyed to her that her brother had been located and she was going to him. She was also very profuse in her endeavors to express her gratitude to Mr. Peck for his hospitality.

SOUND SURPLUS

City Water Commissioners are Steadily Building One up —A Business Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the Water Commissioners was held last evening and the general monthly business was transacted.

An estimate of the cost of an extension on Queen street south, for J. M. Gardner and Geo. Pindley, was approved. The work will cost $31, and the annual revenue will be $12.

A refund on her rate was granted Mrs. E. M. McGregor.

The request of St. Andrew's Church for an extension for their new organ was granted, at a cost of $25.

A communication was read from the T. H. Taylor Co. offering to make a flat rate of $75 for water per annum.

The Commissioners thought that a meter would be a great deal better way, and the matter was referred to the superintendent.

"Have you ever got anything from the Dowley Co. for water?" asked Chairman Bray.

"No, we've been so busy that we've not been able to put a meter on," replied Supl.

"There must be about a year's water coming from them and the matter ought to be attended to at once and have the meter put on," said Dr. Bray.

The following accounts were passed:

Hamilton Engine Packing Co., $15.97.
Queen City Oil Co., $8.
Neptune Meter Co., $47.50.
Park Bros., $303.86.
Doherty Mfg. Co., $11.25.
Lake Erie Railway, $491.28.

The cash statement for August is as follows:

To cash balance in bank, $3,502.07.
Dr. Hall, meter, $12.
Mrs. Keigo, 50c.
City of Chatham, $113.19.
City of Chatham, $251.61.
Water sales, $200.56.
Total, $4,079.93.

CONTRA.

By operating, $391.02.
By maintenance, $22.73.
By extensions, $333.97.
By extensions to service, $158.68.
By refund of rate, A. G. Miller, $1.16.
Balance in bank, $3,179.37.
Total, $4,079.93.

William Coyle appears to answer the charge of swindling $25, a gold ring and a key from Tilly Wilkins on the 18th of June, 1901. Coyle wanted to see his lawyer before he pleaded, and was remanded till Monday for trial. Coyle was arrested in Windsor and was brought up from there last night by P. C. Dezella. Judge Houston offered to take $200 bail.

TERRIFIC IN ITS GRANDEUR WAS MONT PELEE'S OUTBREAK

Pillars of Flame Flashed Through Pitch Black Clouds, Followed by Showers of Fiery Sparks—Tremendous Earth Rumbblings and Explosions—Soufriere Again in Eruptions.

Kingston, Jamaica, Sept. 4.—The German steamer Castilia, which arrived here from St. Thomas, D. W. I., to-day, reports encountering a heavy fall of volcanic dust while 800 miles at sea. She also reports that the coast of Hayti was completely obscured by a haze caused by dust.

TERRIFIC GRANDEUR.

London, Sept. 4.—The correspondent of the Daily Mail at Castries, St. Lucia, has cabled the following account of the phenomena witnessed at the time of the recent outbreak at Mont Pelee, Martinique:—"Between 8 and 9 o'clock in the evening of Aug. 30, a spectacle of terrific grandeur was witnessed from here. A pitch black cloud hung over the Island of Martinique through which shot at intervals pillars of flames in the sky, which broke in fantastic forms of colored fire and scattered as showers of fiery sparks. At about night-fall clouds were darting about like millions of monster fireflies, and above all those large aureoles appeared in the sky." The correspondent then proceeds to confirm the details of the eruption, as already known, and says:

"There were tremendous earth rumbblings and explosions. The ground rocked, and nothing could stand on tables or shelves. Boats for St. Pierre were unable to reach the town, owing to the fall of hot ashes, and a tidal wave destroyed the whole of the sea front of Le Carbet. People returned here from Martinique only last week to take back their families to Fort de France."

THE ZONE OF DESTRUCTION.

Paris, Sept. 4.—The Ministry for the Colonies received this morning a cable despatch from the Governor of Guadeloupe, M. Merle, reporting the zone of destruction in Martinique, resulting from the recent eruption of Mont Pelee. After recounting facts already known, it says that Morne Capote was much damaged, and that flames surrounded Morne Farnasse, but stopped at the St. James House. Basse Point Heights were burned.

SOUFRIERE IN ERUPTION.

Castries, Island of St. Lucia, D. W. I., Sept. 4.—The coast telephone service reports that a violent eruption of the Soufriere volcano, on the Island of St. Vincent, was observed at midnight.

THE CARE OF REFUGEES.

Paris, Sept. 4.—The minister of the Colonies, in placing $100,000 at the disposal of the Governor of Martinique to relieve the distress in that island, has urged him not to congregate refugees at Fort de France, but to distribute them in the south, where their necessities can be most easily supplied.

Recognizing the danger of a tidal wave at Fort de France, the Colonial Minister has instructed the Governor to adopt all measures necessary to enable the inhabitants to immediately evacuate the place in case of necessity, and seek refuge on the heights above the town, where food depots should be established. The minister has also recommended the establishment of observatory posts, whence the least signs of fresh outbreaks of Mont Pelee can be immediately reported to the authorities.

COVERED WITH DUST.

Castries, Island of St. Lucia, D. W. I., Sept. 4, 8 p.m.—The British steamer Savan, Captain Hunter, arrived here to-day from the Island of Trinidad. She was covered with dust, and reports that she ran into a dense cloud of dust while 20 miles south of St. Vincent.

FINE COUNTRY

Ex-Mayor Smith Eulogises the Wild West—Compliments the Municipal Management.

"What is your opinion of Winnipeg and Manitoba in general?" ex-Mayor T. A. Smith was asked by The Planet this morning.

"My opinion of Winnipeg is that it is an up-to-date city," was his reply, "and from a municipal standpoint is well managed. All city work is done on a permanent basis and one system they have adopted, and one that might be successfully followed by Chatham, is in regard to their streets. When a pavement or sidewalk is to be laid, they not only lay the pavement or sidewalk, but they also level the boulevard and fix everything up in a uniform manner. If that system was adopted in this city, what a vast improvement it would make! As we have it now, everybody fixes their fronts at their own sweet will, and consequently we have nothing uniform. I was also at Brandon, and they are also standing their municipal work on a permanent basis and in a very short time will have a beautiful city. I also noticed at Brandon the fact that they have an excellent binder twine factory erected at a cost of sixty thousand dollars. The difference between the Brandon factory and the Chatham one is that the Brandon factory is run by a superintendent and workmen, the Chatham factory by able bodied lawyers. I had the pleasure of meeting at Brandon an old and genial friend, W. B. Wallace, at one time a respected citizen of Chatham. He is now a shining light in Brandon and the same broad smile spreads over his classic features, or perhaps more so, as now that well-groomed moustache, that was the admiration of all and sundry has disappeared, and now alas, he is a bare faced guileless child of the prairie. I also had the pleasure of meeting Mr. and Mrs. Atwell, late of this city. They are citizens of Brandon, enjoying good health, and incidentally gathering in quite a bunch of the current coin of the realm. Another of our old citizens, J. R. Stone, is a bright, particular star in Brandon, and speaks in the highest terms of the Prairie Province. He is the same old Stone, smooth and polished. I am greatly indebted to T. M. Perceval, one of Brandon's leading merchants, for many acts of kindness. He is a fine type of an English gentleman. He and friend Wallace made my visit to Brandon highly interesting, and through their kindness I was able to judge to a great extent the magnitude of the wheat fields of Manitoba and I must say that a person has to see the wheat fields to realize their magnitude. Manitoba and the Northwest is a glorious heritage—a heritage that Canadians should be proud of, and I can safely say it's a good country for the capitalist, the farmer and the merchant."

RECRUITING POOR

German Army is Chiefly Drawn From the Agricultural Districts.

Berlin, Sept. 3.—Appropos of the annual exaltation of the army, which will be seen in this week's Imperial manoeuvres at Posen, the Agricultural League publishes figures emphasizing the importance of the German country population in maintaining the strength of the army. It states that the percentage of men thoroughly fit for service in Berlin during the last five years, was only 32, whereas the Province of Brandenburg, outside Berlin, had 53 per cent; East Prussia, where three-fourths of the people live on the land, 67 per cent., while the percentage of all Germany was 53.

It is added that large numbers of men who would have accepted service in the great cities migrated to the rural districts on account of the depression in all trades. The war office has not yet made public the plans for the operations the Kaiser will carry out at Posen, but it is expected they will represent what would take place if the German army were attempting to meet an invader from the Russian frontier advancing through the Polish provinces.

The members of the 21st Regiment of Essex, who are shooting at the D. R. A. Matches at Ottawa, are making records. James Smith, of Stewart, has qualified for the Bisley team. Dr. Oliver, Merlin, and Neil Smith, of Stewart, are also making splendid scores, and gathering in much money in prizes as a result.

A LANDSLIDE'S AWFUL HAVOC

Village After Village Swept Away—Nearly Seven Hundred Were Killed.

Fierce Hurricane Raged at the Time—People and Animals Dashed Against Rocks.

Vienna, Sept. 4.—Correspondence received here from Tiflis, Transcaucasia, Russia, gives a graphic account of a disaster which occurred Aug. 17, when as the result of a landslide, supposed to be caused by seismic disturbances, some twenty villages were destroyed and nearly 700 persons were killed. On the northern slope of Mount Kasbek lies the watering-place of Tmenkau. Early in the morning of August 17, subterranean disturbances were noted at Tmenkau, but the hundreds of bathers in the hot springs there scouted the idea of a catastrophe, and in spite of warning continued their bathing. At 7 o'clock of that evening the entire valley where the hot springs are situated was filled with a deafening noise resembling thunder, and loud underground rumbblings were heard. The valley stream swelled to the dimensions of a mighty torrent, and sweeping down it carried with it huge blocks of rock and ice. Then the bathers tried to escape, but it was too late. The entire northern slope of Mount Kasbek, with the glacier above, began to move rapidly. Village after village was swept away, and everything in the path of the landslide was destroyed. Within a few minutes the valley, which is nearly 12 miles long, had been devastated by a wall of rock, ice and earth. The valley was completely filled up in some places to a depth of nearly 1,000 feet by the matter which was hurled into it. A fierce hurricane raged at the time of the landslide, and the bodies of people and animals were flung by the wind to a great cataraet and dashed against the rocks.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 5.

AN INDEPENDENT VIEW.

The London News, Independent, sizes up the political situation as follows: According to the interview published in the Globe, Premier Ross found it easier to talk of England and things British than he did of Ontario and things electoral. Mr. Ross is a most astute leader, and by far too wise to show his hand to anyone unless it is to be a bluff. However, the Premier's arrival once more sets the political pot boiling. Upon the efforts of the party in regard to a speaker, and the handling of by-elections will depend the chances of another election this fall. If the stories of our early morning local friend are to be believed the Grits may yet be able to induce some uninitiated Conservative member to accept the speakership, in which event Mr. Whitney will be weakened to the extent of one. That would place the government with a majority of two, and if Renfrew goes Liberal in the bye-election, Mr. Ross' majority will be increased to three. But this is figuring everything from a safe Liberal standpoint. The Conservatives figure on the other hand that the Liberals will be unable to find a hole in the Tory armor; that they will be compelled to elect a speaker from their own ranks, and that even if they should win Renfrew, which is doubtful, they would still have but a majority of one. And we do not see where else the Liberals can look for strength. Whilst there are more Liberal than Conservative protests, we cannot see that the Liberals will make much out of them in the long run. Bye-elections usually go with the government, but in the present crisis the Conservatives are at a keen edge, and carry as much weight as the well-known pull and influence incidental to the party in power. Every time a seat is opened up, the Conservatives will stand an equal chance with the Liberals of carrying it. We do not believe there are many seats in Ontario to-day, which can be truthfully termed safe for either party. It will be a high old game of chance, with even money every shot. Mr. Ross and his colleagues are and have been well aware of this, and it was this fact which caused the members some time since to seriously entertain the proposal to go to the country and settle the matter whilst Mr. Ross held the reins of power. There are wheels within wheels in this game of Ontario politics, and whilst Mr. Ross has said nothing as yet it will not be long ere the premier will be compelled to show his hand. In the meantime we notice that the contentions of certain papers that a second appeal to the country would be unconstitutional and without precedent, has as yet failed to deny that the Liberals entertained the idea of going to the country again.

CANADA'S PULP.

The Oswego, N. Y., Palladium says that the International Paper Company, one of the largest trusts of the United States, is increasing its holdings on timber lands in Canada to 1,900,000 acres, and that the next movement, probably, when the spruce is all gone on the United States side, will be to get the Canadian supply into that country free of duty.

That "next movement" has already been going on for too long for the prosperity of Canada, and any government in Canada is derelict in its duty to permit such movement to continue.

Again and again it has been pointed out by the press of Canada, irrespective of party, that this one of Canada's most valuable assets has been and is yet being exploited for the up-building and maintenance of large United States manufacturing, and yet but very little has been done by the authorities in Canada to check or restrain this huge drain upon Canadian wealth. The Kingston Whig seems to think that the Ontario plan of insisting upon the reduction of the wood to pulp in the province where the wood is cut would be a perfect means of preventing this drain. This we know would be but a partial prevention, for the pulp itself is but an advanced stage of raw materials. In the huge Clergue paper manufactory at Michigan now in course of erection we can see one of those large United States manufacturing concerns that must depend upon Canadian raw material for its existence.

What is wanted in Canada is an export duty on pulp wood and pulp that will ensure the manufacture in Canada of Canada's own raw material. When this export duty is placed high enough to make it more profitable to manufacture in Canada than to carry the raw material into the United States to feed American factories the spoliation of Canada's wood will cease.

GAMBLING AT SARATOGA.

Julian Ralph.

I, who am familiar with what passes as fashionable dissipation in nearly every corner of the world, have never before seen such publicity and promiscuousness in these follies, have nowhere else known gambling to begin close upon breakfast and be carried on, in varied fields of chance, until after midnight; have in no other place found young maidens, new brides and family domestics risking bets side by side with the heads of families. And never before or elsewhere have I seen fathers and mothers teaching the tricks of gaming to callow children, or fathers looking with smiling faces at their sons beside the faro tables in a gambling resort.

HIGH ART.

Exchange.

Jean De Reszke receives the highest salary paid to a male singer. His contract for sixteen appearances during his last American tour amounted to $36,000, an average of $2,250 for every time he appeared on the platform. Madame Patti, however, can claim even a better record. For singing at Covent Garden in 1870 on sixteen nights she received $43,000, an average of $3,000 for each appearance. But the famous prima donna beat this record while on her American tour, for while in New Orleans in the eighties she received as much as $6,000 a night.

INDEPENDENT AS THE HISTORIC PORKER.

Star-Enterprise, Eganville.

A MEAN GRIT SUGGESTION.

Bellefonte Intelligencer.

A pronounced Grit this morning proposed that a deputation "consisting of George Washington Ross" majority should be sent to welcome him home on his return from England. This suggestion is only worthy of some old fogey Tory.

Sinister Motives.

Two men—William Jones and John Smith—were neighbors and deadly enemies. They often crossed swords in court and out of it, and Jones, being what might be called more clever than Smith, invariably got the better of the encounter. In the end so cowed was Smith that the slightest move on the part of Jones made him nervous and suspicious, and with the remark, "I wonder what object he has in this?" he called up all his reserve faculties to combat the fresh attack which poor Jones never contemplated.

One day a friend called on Smith and greeted him with:

"Well, old man, have you heard the news?"

"No," said Smith. "What news?"

"Jones is dead. He died last night at midnight," replied the other.

Smith paused, drew a hard breath, raised his hand to his forehead and thought, then blurted out:

"Dead, did you say—Jones dead? Great heavens, I wonder what object he has in this?"

The man with the striking autograph is not always as important as he would thus make believe.

Bleeding by Bowshot.

That all diseases can be cured by bleeding is still firmly believed by several savage tribes, and especially by the Papuan negroes.

When one of their physicians becomes convinced that it is necessary to bleed a patient, he goes several feet in front of him and then, drawing his bow, he fits a sharp pointed arrow to it and after a careful aim fires the arrow into the vein which he desires to open. The arrow, it is said, invariably goes straight to the mark, and the thorn or splinter of glass with which it is tipped does the work as successfully as a lancet.

Moreover, the patients never show the slightest fear, since they are convinced that from the moment the arrows pierce their veins they will begin to recover.

Why Savages Turn In Their Toes.

In the first place, the foot naturally takes that position when it has never been confined by boots or the ankle distorted by high heels. Convenience is also on the side of the natural position of the foot in the case of the savage, for he has to do much walking through long grass and undergrowth in forests. Consequently his progress would be much impeded if he turned his toes out to catch these obstacles instead of brushing them aside and outward, as he now does. Lastly, the savage uses his foot much more as a help to his hands than we do, and it is obvious that in doing this he must turn his toes in.

European Arithmetic.

At the custom house we were obliged to make a deposit of 8 francs 40 centimes on each wheel before entering Switzerland. Since that day faith in the advantages of higher education has wavered. There were nine bicycles, and the government official found the entire amount of our indebtedness by putting down 8.40 nine times and then adding up. Why should one vex one's self with the multiplication table when straight addition combined with unlimited time reaches the same result?—Caroline S. Donnet in Chautauquan.

FIRING A SALUTE.

The Way Two Naval Greenhorns Did It on a Warship.

"On one of Uncle Sam's warships once," said a naval officer, "we had enlisted among our able seamen two Irishmen, Mike and Barney. They had come aboard three days after they had landed in the country, but they learned some things so quickly that they had acquired a very definite idea of the meaning of the Fourth of July long before the day arrived, which was something like a month after we had sailed on our cruise. It chanced that the two were on an early morning watch together when Independence day dawned, and they at once began to plan for its proper welcome. They seemed to realize, you see, that there was necessity for an unusual display of patriotism."

"Barney suggested they fire a salute from one of the forward eight pounders, but Mike feared that would rouse the entire ship. 'Niver mind,' answered Barney. 'Do ye hold a bucket fernist the muzzle, an' 'twill deaden the sound.' And three minutes later that gun went off with such a roar as brought every man of the crew out of the midst of peaceful dreams."

"I sent for Barney. 'Now, my man,' said I, 'tell me everything.'"

"Sure," he faltered, "it was only a bit of a celebration because uv our independence."

"And where's Mike?" I demanded.

"'Captain, dear,' he groaned, 'he went after a bucket uv water, an' if he comes back as quick as he went he's due right now.'"

And then the officer closed his story with the simple statement, "But Mike was never recovered."

FACT AND RUMOR.

The Story of One Postponed Cabinet Council in England.

Cabinet councils give rise at times to rumors that do more harm than good. One of Lord Beaconsfield's supplies a case in point. Queen Victoria, so runs the tale, was anxious about the state of wind and wave in the mid-Atlantic, which the Princess Louise happened then to be crossing. A lord in waiting knew a professor who was a weather diviner, and to him he went with a message from her majesty, who sent also a message to Lord Beaconsfield. The lord in waiting was sent to a theatrical supper—it was Sunday night—in search of the professor. Him he found in this lively company and was himself constrained to listen to the game of words that was passing round. Which would they choose if they had, a mar-ry, Gladstone or Disraeli? All said "Disraeli" except one, and she said "Gladstone, so that I might elope with Disraeli and break his heart."

The lord in waiting, much diverted, went forth and, finding Disraeli in rather low spirits, told him this tale as an instance of his great popularity with all classes of the queen's subjects. The whimsicality of the thing was congenial to Disraeli, who was kept waiting next day at a cabinet council for the arrival of an important colleague. To pass the time he told the assembled ministers the story of the theatrical supper. Lord Cairns (abstinent), hearing, did not smile, and his solemnity put out of countenance the prime minister, who at once made the nonarrival of the colleague an excuse for postponing the council for a couple of hours. The "balance of power" was then unstable, and that afternoon the papers had headlines: "War Imminent. A Second Cabinet Council Summoned." For once the ladies of the stage made history and staggered the Stock Exchange.

When a woman is nervous her imagination gives fantastic and threatening shapes to the most familiar objects. By day she starts in fear at every sudden sound. By night the furniture of her room takes on affrighting forms of ghost or goblin. You can't encourage the nerves, neither logic nor love can quiet them. They must be nourished and then the outcry of the hungry child ceases to cry when fed. For nervous women there is no better tonic and nerve than Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It cures the diseases which produce nervousness in women, irregularity, debilitating drains, inflammation, ulceration and female weakness. It tranquilizes the nerves, encourages the appetite, and induces refreshing sleep.

"When I began taking your medicine I was not able to stand on my feet ten minutes at a time," writes Mrs. Hattie Bormade, of 313 Spring Street, Nashville, Tenn. "Had falling of uterus, and kidney and liver disease, and was so weak and nervous I could not keep still. Would take nervous spells and almost die at times. I had several different doctors attending, but they could not do me any good. The last one I had said I would never get up again. Told him that I was taking your 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery' and he said, 'Might just as well take that much water each day.' But I thought I would give the medicine a fair trial. Before I had finished the first two bottles I was able to get outside the house and walk around the yard. I kept on taking the medicine and they cured me."

THE HOME OF SONG.

Sanford said: "Carnie, you're a brick." Daily Paper.

Shake, Josh Sanford. You're a brick. Of the richest, rarest clay; Golden-garbed such stuff would live Forever and a day. Pity tho, that pick like yours Wasn't labelled "gorgeous wars"; Hadn't fought where shot and shell Four their thousands of bell. Yet, Josh Sanford, duty calls Kings in smoke and overalls. Writes their lauders imperishable Even on an old farm well.

Young Josh Sanford. Sixty feet. Bows a hole of treacherous sand, Where this merry heart aglow; You and I would make a stand; Digging, digging, whistling, perhaps, Just like lots of other chaps. Then that awful whistling swell Cared the notes that groined and fell. Then Josh Sanford—where were you? God in heaven only know, Swift was death and burial In that deep sepulchral well.

Dead? Josh Sanford? Yes, they said. Like the well pipe, good and deep; Till a tapping on the pipe Made a hundred pulses sing. And a hundred shovels ring. Last tap came like a knell Mated to a marriage bell. And Josh Sanford—all oriel "Save Dig him from his living grave." And they dug for your grim cell—Dig, till sank again the well.

Faith! Josh Sanford—You shall show In your soul's extremity Valor, such as scores all fear. Stoggers all humanity. Fight a hundred tedious hours All death's namesakes, hideous powers. Make men best to say, farewell Dare the demagogue! Hold! Josh Sanford—Saved! Well done—Dare the demagogue! These have wrought a miracle, Snatched you living from the well.

Shake—Josh Sanford. You have crowned With the laurels of your fame Everything that sounds brave In a truly ballowed name. Pity, tho, that pick like yours Wasn't labelled "gorgeous wars"; Think what homage you'd compel, And the grand things possible! Stay, Josh Sanford—One and time Know no struggle more sublime Than the one that you would tell. Dauntless hero of the well. —T. C.

JEALOUSY AND PRIDE.

Through One Writer's Spectacles These Two Appear as Virtues.

There is a little jealousy in all persons and especially in all women. It springs from deep love, which always desires to be first in the affection of the one beloved. A lover, whether man or maid, who is not susceptible to occasional twinges of jealousy is not truly in love.

While jealousy, considered with reference to its origin, is not an ignominious emotion, it is frequently a source of outbreaks. A father is sometimes upset with jealousy because he imagines that his wife loves the children more than she loves him. Mothers are frequently jealous of the husbands or wives of their daughters or sons. Wives become jealous of the sisters or mothers of their husbands. No one is immune against the little green bacilli of jealousy.

Generally the tears or frowns of jealousy are swept away with a few kind words and a caress, but there are some unhappy persons whose jealousy is chronic and who make themselves ridiculous and annoying by their fits and storms of jealous passion. The jealousy of such persons is beyond reason. Indeed, it is a form of dementia which begets every sort of violence.

Pride is the strongest controller of jealousy. The theologians reckon pride among the seven deadly sins, but as a matter of fact pride is at the bottom of much of the virtuous action in the world. Pride is the root of most bravery, fortitude, courtesy, magnanimity, humility and industry. Pride is the essential spirit of thorough breeding, and in spite of being enumerated among the deadly sins pride is not connected with turpitude.

ONE MAN'S FINE CONCEIT.

Massing of Men, He Says, Means Strength of Women, Banquets.

"It's an odd thing about women," remarked Jones to his wife as he settled himself for a special effort. "We admire you intensely in the individual. We adore you when taken singly, but it's a strange, sad fact that when a few hundred of you get together you lose distinction. A multitude of rare women brought together in one building for a common cause are far from venerable. Look at Sorosis. The club is undoubtedly made up of ideal mothers and wives, but one resolutely refuses to find it anything else than a convocation of bonnets. Earnest, intense women recruit the ranks of the Woman's Christian Temperance union, but its mass meetings only amuse the rest of the world. An exclusively feminine tea was never an object of envy to those who pass it by."

"And what of you men?" suggested Mrs. Jones. "Are you all so much finer in a crowd?"

"Undoubtedly," replied Jones. "It isn't open to dispute that a 'gang' of men is at all times convincing. If it is only a mob with a rope looking up a criminal, the sight does not lack impressiveness. The imagination plays about a 'smoker' and speculates as to the quality of the cigars and the stories. And a good share of the world's work has been done by men in mass for a purpose. Union to us is strength, and the novelist has always remained below when the door of the banquet hall was opened for the filing out of the ladies."

Small Things That Count.

It is said that Caesar chose his generals according to the length of their forefingers in comparison with that of their second fingers. No man whose forefinger was over one-eighth of an inch shorter than his middle finger had a ghost of a show. Men with very short forefingers are supposed to be effeminate. I believe it is so. Napoleon's generals were selected by their noses. Cromwell believed that bowlegged men made the best soldiers. Washington preferred men with high cheek bones. Receding foreheads were the rule among his generals. Alexander the Great judged men by their teeth, those having very large canines being preferred as commanders.

Life in New York.

Nobody living outside New York knows how difficult it has become in that city for people of moderate means to bring up their children in the love of genuine things. It is still done by many, but with increasing effort and only by dint of a strong will and an inheritance of the truest graces of life—simplicity, the domestic affections and the love of nature and one's kind. It is to the cultivation of these graces that we must look for a rescue from the artificiality and the vulgarity of the pitiable circle in every American city known as "the smart set."

Tannoform.

Tannoform is an insoluble powder of pinkish color. It is without odor and flavor and is practically nonpoisonous. When applied to the skin, it stops sweating and destroys the odor of sweat already secreted. Hence its utility in case of offensive secretion (bro-midrosis). For allied reasons it is useful when the feet become tender by overheating. Pedestrians and others will find it useful.

Worse For the Politicians.

"Do you think that sugar is unwholesome for children?" asked the anxious parent.

"Well," answered the physician, "my observation is that it isn't likely to do children nearly as much harm as it does politicians."

One of the commonest forms of lunacy is that when the insane person imagines all others have no sense. Members Commercial Appeal.

WORLD OF SPORT

THE TURF

Tommy Burns rode "Girdle" in the little handicap Wednesday at New York and won by a head. Girdle is owned by Whitney and was a 15 to 1 in Wednesday's race.

BOWLING

The Blenheim lawn bowlers are very desirous of having the last Thamesville-Chatham game for the VonGuten trophy played out in Blenheim and promise to give the visitors a splendid good time.

LACROSSE

The lacrosse management is trying to arrange a game with the St. Thomas Club.

There is no doubt that it was an unwelcome move on the part of the management of the local lacrosse club when they imported Blenheim players to play against Wallaceburg, notwithstanding the fact that Wallaceburg was alleged to be playing four or five ex-London players. It would have been much better to have met defeat than to play outsiders, especially in an exhibition game. After for the whole season playing local men entirely, the bringing in of assistance for the last game leaves the local club open to such jibes as the following from the Wallaceburg Herald-Record.

In brief, is the story of the game: Chatham three goals, two scored by Shillington and one by Blewett, while Wallaceburg scored one, neatly placed between the poles by Chas. Rose.

When a city with a couple of hundred lacrosse players has to import and pay players to defeat a town the size of Wallaceburg, it is hard to figure out the percentage of glory such a victory gives them.

The night before last, Chatham, winners of the district championship, whose boast has been that they won with home players, were on Monday forced to import players to save themselves from defeat. What a fall, my brother!

What do the hundred or so Chatham players who were forced to stand aside on Monday to make room for the imported contingent, think of the treatment accorded them?

Well, here's to you, Chatham. We made it 8 to 0 here, and would have repeated it at Chatham but for your imported players.

In addition to the money paid them Chatham should tender their Blenheim players a hearty vote of thanks. They certainly saved them from defeat.

There are a few people around here mean enough to contend that Blenheim, assisted by Chatham, won the game.

With both teams playing all home players Wallaceburg won by 8 to 0; with Chatham playing their fingers and Wallaceburg a purely home team, Chatham won by 3 to 1. Thanks, Chatham, we are satisfied with the result, if you are.

Let us consider now, wasn't it a Chatham player that remarked that if the league was broken up the imported "ringers" could be blamed for it? Or was it some other fellow?

CORNER STONE

New Public Library Will be Formally Dedicated on Monday—The Proceedings.

Great preparations are being made by the Public Library Board for the laying of the corner stone of their new library.

The ceremony will be performed by his worship Mayor Sulman, and will take place at three o'clock Monday afternoon. A solid silver trowel, which will be used by Mr. Sulman on this occasion, is now being engraved by E. J. McIntyre, jeweller. After the laying of the stone a program of speeches will be given. The gentlemen who have been invited to speak are George Stephens, M. P., T. L. Pardo, M. P., P. Frank Rankin, Warden of Kent, D. S. Patterson, Principal of the Collegiate Institute, J. W. Flew, Principal of the Central school, James Brackin, Principal of the Separate school, Lt. Col. J. B. Rankin, B. A., K. C., Dr. T. Holmes and N. H. Stevens. A platform will be erected for the speakers and their friends.

Chairman Thibodeau is unavoidably caused to be absent and his place will be taken by either Dr. Charteris or Thos. Scullard. The Library Boards from Windsor and Sarnia have been invited to attend.

A small tin box will be put inside the stone. In this box will be a document, giving the names of the King, the Governor-General, Lieut.-Governor, the M. P.s for the Upper House, and the Legislature, the mayor of the city, the members of the Library Board, the builders and the architects, a set of the postage stamps now in use, a full set of silver and copper coins, a copy of the correspondence between Mr. Shuldriek and Mr. Carnegie, which resulted in the offer from Mr. Carnegie, a copy of the rules and regulations of the Library, a catalogue and supplementary catalogue, and copies of the Planet, Globe, Mail and Empire and Banner.

The ceremony promises to be a very impressive one and will no doubt be witnessed by a large number of citizens.

KICK COMING

"What's the matter with that Sixth street sidewalk?" was the indignant query of a well-known citizen this morning. "It has been torn up for two weeks and nothing has been done with it. If the city engineer didn't have the material to go on with the work, why did not he leave it until he had?"

"There is no light left out there at night and any old person is liable to fall and break a limb and as a result the city will be sued for damages."

Edwin Dickie, general merchant, Stewiacke, N. S., was a visitor at the office of the Chatham Flour Mills Co., this morning. Stewiacke is an Indian name given to the river there. It means "Rippling as it goes." Where Mr. Dickie lives is a great dairy country. The crops are good this year, oats and hay being the chief products.

Judge Houston says he was standing talking to ex-Mayor Hugh Malcolmson in front of the latter's place the other evening, and Mrs. Malcolmson was with them. Some young fellow on a wheel came whirling by narrowly missing Mrs. Malcolmson. It was too dark to see who it was. The grade from Mr. Malcolmson's residence is down hill and bicyclists take advantage of this to speed up. Had Mrs. Malcolmson got excited the Judge thinks that there would have been a serious accident as a collision would have been unavoidable.

MRS. LYDIA HART GREEN.

An Illinois Woman Who Paints Insects For Scientific Works.

The problems and difficulties confronting the scientific worker who would produce on paper or canvas the beauties and peculiarities of moths, butterflies, fishes and similar small creatures could only be successfully solved by an artist of no mean ability, as well as of an unusually exact and well regulated state of mind. There are scarcely half a dozen individuals in the world who dare or care to grapple with these problems, and one of the most strikingly successful and famous of these individuals is an Illinois woman who has scarcely hidden her work for some time.

Mrs. Lydia Hart Green, the woman mentioned, is a devoted nature student, a colorist of no mean ability, a scientist who revels in details and detailed expression, a tireless, indefatigable worker, who considers no care or pains too great to produce the desired result. She was born in Quincy, Ill., and received her education in the grammar and high schools of that vicinity. While still young her work attracted the attention of a scientific illustrator attached to the Illinois State university at Urbana, Ill. Because of the "delicate touch" for which Mrs. Green is now famous she was intrusted with the duty of assisting the official illustrators of the state laboratory, which finds a home in one of the university buildings. When a little later this man left Urbana, Mrs. Green, Miss Lydia Hart at that time, slipped into his place. Although her work has improved remarkably since that period, it was considered of sufficient and unique interest to form part of one of the state exhibits at the World's Fair.

The scientifically accurate portrayal of butterflies, moths and other insects presents difficulties that are perplexing, since the necessity of securing exact color renders a living specimen of concomitant necessity, and the living creature knows few moments of actual repose. But the delicate perceptions, equally delicate touch, perfect sense of color and unerring reproductive powers of the devoted worker enable her to reproduce in a water color painting all of the beauty and wonderful markings of the subject under consideration, and to do work with a brush and wet color which looks as though it were a photographic reproduction of those made by a lead pencil with fine point.

Some of her microscopical work is almost incredibly fine and delicate, every varying shade and color tone, every tiny line and every infinitesimal detail of an insect no larger than the head of a common pin being shown in exquisite perfection. The velvety texture and satiny sheen of a beetle's body or a butterfly's wing she reproduces exactly. Her colors and texture values are at once the admiration and the despair of her fellows, and she herself cannot always tell exactly how they are attained. While possessing all a scientist's depreciation of mere emotional feeling, she says that a peculiar "feeling" of evidently intuitional origin is her safest guide as to the manner in which a certain piece of work is progressing.—Chicago Tribune.

Do Not Excite the Baby.

There is no wonder if a young child is overexcited that the doctor is often summoned to prescribe for a crying child who turns night into day and makes life hideous to the family. By a little inquiry he oftentimes finds the poor baby is given its daily bath in public, other children standing around to make a noise to draw the baby's eyes and distract his attention, and often the nursing—instead of being a period of quiet retirement on the part of the mother, with concentration of thought toward the good of her child, is attended to in the midst of family cares or amid the distractions of company. Some years ago I was attending a meeting of the prominent women of the country in New York. We listened to some papers on education and on hygiene and the wise management of the home and the development of the child, and at the close of one of the sessions three or four of us were invited to come the next day to a beautiful home on Fifth avenue and "see the babies bathed." We did go, to our shame be it spoken, and a pair of twins were given their bath before half a dozen ladies, who stimulated the little victims of eight months to extra exertions in the tubs. I have not heard anything from those children since, but if they do not develop into neuroathetic creatures I miss my judgment.—Dr. Julia Holmes Smith in Pilgrim.

Kitchen Comfort.

I am not very strong, so when washing dishes, making bread and doing numerous other things I sit on a stool some four inches lower than the table. All housekeepers who are not strong should try this. They have no idea what a help it is and how much more they can do and with so much less fatigue. When working in the kitchen, I wear a large apron with a bib; also oversleeves made of duck or anything suitable and durable, made a little full, reaching above the elbow, with a band buttoning at the wrist. These may be fastened by means of a pin or a rubber band. They are easily and quickly put on and save one's sleeves so much.—Good Housekeeping.

Lingerie Trimming.

In trimming underwear try this method of treating the lace: Let it be an inexpensive novelty lace or an imitation and outline the figures with coarse wash silk. Go around them in a running stitch, and when you have finished note the elegant appearance the lace will have, says the Brooklyn Eagle.

It will look curiously like net lace with applique figures, and the beauty of it is that it will launder a thousand times as well after the treatment, so that the second estate of that lace will be better than the first.

Pretty Table Covers.

A pretty table cover is made of one inch insertion around plain muslin slips. Crochet edgings, especially of Irish make, are used as borders to muslin covers, embroidered in white or in natural colors. Darned net and guipure d'art are once more fashionable for the purpose, with the introduction of tinsel threads and daisy ribbon bows. The strongest slips are perhaps those consisting of a deep scroll border, fashioned with coarse half inch braid and connected with crochet work instead of lace stitches.

Earthenware Jars.

There is one thing about the American kitchen that might be remedied—too many tin receptacles are used. An Armenian kitchen is supplied with innumerable earthen jars, some with handles and some without. There are jars with broad, round bases and jars built on the slender order, but they all have covers and are kept sweet and clean. It is almost impossible to avoid a musty odor in tin, but earthenware can be made wholesome and dry, and it does not cost such a lot of money either.

Cushions and Color.

When care is used in grouping cushions on a couch so that the color scheme is harmonious, the result is ample compensation for the extra trouble. Thus green, yellow and golden brown make a good blending for a couch in a room furnished in weathered oak. Where oriental rugs showing a touch of blue, as many of them do, are used for the floor covering or the wall covering or draperies are of bluish tint, a cushion or two of blue combine well with pillows or brown and yellow.

Feminine Courage.

Women are more courageous than men, and for a very good reason—namely, that they have to suffer pain so much more frequently. The majority of women suffer physically so much more than the majority of men that they learn to endure pain with comparative fortitude. The mere fact that men suffer so little causes them to dread the very idea of pain and when it comes to bear it badly.—Fall Mail Gazette.

Smoothing Irons.

Where there are many starched clothes to be done up weekly it is a good plan to wash the irons once a week, but where plain clothes and only a few starched are to be done once a month is often enough. Take some clean ammonia soap and with a cloth wash the irons well afterward wiping with a dry cloth; then put them on the back part of the stove to dry thoroughly.

Meats.

When ordering meats, remember that beef when boiled loses one pound of weight in every four and when roasted eighteen ounces. Mutton loses even more than beef. This should be thought of where much meat is used.

When a candle-wax, sperm or paraffin—is too large to put in the candlestick, dip the end in hot water for a few moments to melt down to the required size.

Clover for pillows needs to be well dried, and only the blossoms used, and should be packed first in slips of stout muslin.

Almost a quarter of the women of Germany earn their living by their own labor, mostly in farm work.

If you can get some cedar dust, sprinkle it on your stove while cooking vegetables that have a strong odor.

GROWTH OF A CITY.

Now the Capital of the Province Has Become a City of Homes.

It is a significant fact that the building permits issued for the City of Toronto during the past six months of the year represent an increase of more than fifty per cent. over the permits for the corresponding period of last year. The figures for 1901 were $1,154,265, while those for 1902 are $1,901,144. Here we have an increase of $746,879, of which $225,000 is attributed to the new hotel, and $133,500 to the industrial buildings. Most of the additions to the city are in the residential quarters. We have been making Toronto more than ever a city of homes, says The Toronto Mail, and homes that are in every respect an adornment to the city. That there has been a brisk demand for these new residences is the best possible evidence of the solid growth of Toronto. Population has come in of late years so rapidly that the house accommodation of the city has been greatly overtaxed. It was stated recently that there were some fifteen hundred families in Toronto who had stored their furniture and were boarding because they could not secure suitable dwellings. This is merely an estimate, but it has behind it the fact that vacant houses of a desirable character are no longer allowed to wait for tenants. They are rented and occupied so soon as a tenant moves out. This has not long been the case. A few years ago Toronto was noted for its untenanted houses. We had overbuilt and for the time the tide was against us. Not only have those dwellings come into brisk demand, but thousands of structures since erected are now occupied. More than ever before the people of Toronto are becoming their own landlords. The inducements to buy are many, and the difficulty of securing a good house at a rental has increased. During the present season the added cost of material, and the unsettled state of the labor market have militated against extensive operations, but still we are making a remarkable advance. It is not in the nature of a boom, for it is very much within the actual requirements of the city. Toronto has grown and is growing rapidly in population and in wealth. It has large and flourishing industries and great concentrations of trade, which in their own lines serve the whole Dominion. Every increase in the national prosperity makes additional demands upon this city. There is, therefore, abundant reason for recognizing that the growth of this city is of natural and permanent character. We are simply keeping abreast of the times, and those who do that are bound to flourish.

The man who is on the level ought to get along smoothly. It is easy enough to be a philosopher—provided you are rich. Some people are contented with their lot when it is only a little. Money and trouble are both a bother if you have to borrow them.

Theatrical

ED. F. DAVIS' UNCLE TOM'S CABIN.

The performance of this play will be given, from all information furnished, in a manner that has seldom been equalled for elaborateness in this city. There will be several in the cast, too, who will add to the general interest and attractiveness of the performance, as among others are the two famous Cook-Twin Sisters, who will be seen as Topsy No. 1 and Topsy No. 2. Then there will appear Herbert Church as the gospel reading and faithful Uncle Tom, while little Bessie Troy, a child artist who has gained favor on the stage, will appear as little Eva. The grand allegorical transformation scene in the fifth act is described as being particularly gorgeous, and in its entire requires the utilization of some nine especially painted drop scenes. As the final drop is carried to the top of the stage, there is shown in the rear

Abraham Lincoln giving freedom to the colored man. There are countless numbers of people who practice good old staid ways of our ancestors, who are never seen in a theatre. When "Uncle Tom's Cabin" comes along, however, the mother of the family takes the children of the household to hear the pretty lessons taught by little Eva, and listen to the comic sayings of Topsy, the child who never was born, and the risible, tickling remarks of Marks, the lawyer. At the Grand, matinee and night, Saturday, Sept. 6.

Public School Leaving Exams. to be Continued in Kent-Decision of Board.

The county board of examiners met in Harrison Hall at 10 a.m. on Saturday, Present W. H. G. Colles, I. P. L., Robert Park, I. P. S., and Geo. Miller Esquire.

Under the provisions of 87(a), the certificates of I. R. Shepley, Carrie Burns, Minnie McCreary and Fred Tobey were renewed.

Moved by Mr. Colles, seconded by Mr. Miller, that the public school leaving examination for the fifth classes in the public schools of this county be held by the county board of examiners, at the same time and at the same centres as the high school entrance examination, year by year, until such examinations be resumed by the Education Department. That candidates passing this examination be given certificates of having completed the course for part I, junior leaving, as required by the department, and that each candidate shall pay a fee of one dollar towards defraying the cost of the examination, instead of two dollars as heretofore. Carried unanimously.

The subjects of examination will be the same as before—Arithmetic, grammar, geography, history and composition, with one additional subject to be chosen from among the other obligatory subjects upon the curriculum for Fifth Form, as found upon the outside cover of the school registers.

There has been no changes in the regulations governing continuation classes in the public schools.

The action of the county board of examiners with a view to saving the continuation classes appears to be most opportune and will give confidence and aim to teachers and pupils in advanced work in public schools.

FINE BAND

25th Regimental Organization Presents a Splendid Program in the Park.

It is very seldom that the citizens of Chatham have the opportunity to hear and enjoy such excellent music as was given by the 25th Regiment, Band on Tecumseh Park last evening.

The Park was crowded with people, which is undoubtedly evidence of the fact that the music is appreciated. These park concerts have been very popular this summer, and it is a pity that we could not have had more of them.

The concert last night was given as a rehearsal of the music which the Band will play at the Toronto Exhibition, and the program was part of the one which will be played there. The Band have been working hard on this music during the last few weeks and they certainly deserve credit for the showing they made last evening. They are very rightly called "Chatham's Crack Musical Organization."

One disgraceful feature of the concert was the presentation of a bouquet of "flowers," to the bandmaster, by Jennie Kettle, a well-known character around town, who went up on the stand and while the band was playing and gave a free exhibition of sleep dancing and "artistic" posing, much to the amusement of the large audience.

"You may announce to the people that this ends the band concerts," said Bandmaster Philp at the conclusion of the program. "We don't come up here to give people a chance for making free burlesque exhibitions of themselves, and of turning the concert into a farce. I would like to know what the police force send a man over here for if he is not supposed to keep order while the music is in progress. A member of the force was here on the park at the time and laughed at the whole proceeding, while he could have easily prevented her from coming up in the band stand."

Bandmaster Philp was certainly placed in a very awkward position when the bouquet was tendered him from the hat of its fair donor, but his gallantry saved him and he responded by doffing his regimental cap and performing an elaborate salutation. The following was the program rendered:

March, Gate City—A. F. Weldon.

Overture, La Croix De Jerusalem—M. Bieger.

Gavotte, A Fairy Tale—Dalbey.

March, The Seal of Society—Leroy Haines.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN

"UNCLE TOM'S CABIN" never grows old. It runs through it a vein of pathos peculiarly touching and sweet. It speaks the universal language of the heart. It reflects, like a mirror, the innermost phases of human emotion. It is more than a play; it is a moral classic. It carries for two of the greatest themes that can engage the mind—human liberty, and immortality of the soul. It is so pure that its touch alone is chastening. Like the kiss of a child, it conveys by the very innocence of its truth. By the character of Eva, it is unique, too pure for us? "Was there ever a child like Eva? Yes, but her name is written on grave-stones." This good old play is unique because it is the only one that portrays that character. The scenery is excellent. In the river scene, one sees the floating cakes of ice slowly moving down stream. One can see, in the splendid perspective of this scene, several miles up the frozen river, and the undulating snow-clad hills on either side like the drowsy sentinels in the soggy winter day. The plantation scene represents a typical Southern home, with its mansions, its log cabins, and its cotton-field. It is the sunny, sunny South. It is a warm, mellow, beautiful scene. The last scene in this most picturesque drama has, perhaps, taxed the skill of the artist and the mechanic more than any other spectacle of which the stage can boast. Indeed, it is not flattery to say that the "Beautiful Gates Ajar," as depicted by this company, is one of the most entrancing spectacles ever seen. The scene opens with a mass of clouds, through a rift of which is seen a passing group of angels bearing Uncle Tom to heaven. A large "gloria" of iridescent splendor is brightly twinkling in front. The clouds disperse, revealing Uncle Tom, with angel escort before the golden gates, on either side of which, poised upon magnificent pillars inlaid with pearl and gold, stand angel sentinels with expanded wings. Change follows change. Numerous angels appear from out the fleecy clouds which now surround the scene like a halo of glory. In the deep center a sudden movement of the clouds is seen, and like a morning star, like the central jewel in a crown of diamonds, surrounded by whispering angels, little Eva, with beaming hands, smiles down upon Uncle Tom, while the beautiful gates slowly open to the great city that lies beyond. It is a splendid sight to see. During the interval of this exquisite spectacle the mellow strains of an "invisible" choir float faintly upon the ear, and the curtain descends upon a picture of the imagination that one is loath to call unreal.
