TO PRISON FOR LIFE

William Walter MacWherrell Will Not Die on the Gallows

HIS SENTENCE COMMUTED

The Condemned Man Receives the News in Brampton Jail and Expresses His Satisfaction at His Good Fortune

OTTAWA, Sept. 29.—The case of MacWherrell has at last been disposed of by the Cabinet and the result is that the death sentence has been commuted to one of imprisonment for life. The decision was arrived at late in the afternoon.

T. C. Robinson, counsel for the prisoner, telegraphed the news to the jail and MacWherrell was overjoyed.

Mr. Robinson left last night for Toronto, highly pleased with the result of his day's work in the city.

MacWherrell received a telegram from the Department of Justice, notifying him that MacWherrell's sentence has been commuted to life imprisonment.

He at once called upon the Rev. Mr. Clark, who had been visiting the prisoner lately, and accompanied him to the jail to acquaint MacWherrell with the decision of the Minister of Justice. They all fled into the corridor where the prisoner sat.

"Well, Ma, we have brought you the news," said the Rev. Mr. Clark.

The prisoner's face became as an ashen hue. Not a word was spoken as Mr. Clark quietly handed him the message.

When he had grasped the meaning he jumped four feet, and waving his hands in a blank above his head, cried "Hurrah! hurrah!" They all congratulated him on his narrow escape, and shaking hands, they all quietly withdrew.

MacWherrell had boasted all along that he would rather hang than go to prison, and his actions, however pro his insincerity in this particular.

QUEBEC'S LATEST CRISIS.

The Loan Effected by the Premier is Subjected to Criticism.

MONTREAL, Sept. 29.—The Star, which is supposed to speak for Provincial Treasurer Hall, says:

"The new loan just made by Premier Talbot is not a piece of financing it is regarded as an outrageously bad and calculated to have an injurious effect upon provincial securities. It is pointed out that a 3 per cent loan, payable in sixty years at 7.25 is exactly equivalent to a 4 per cent loan at par. Rightly or wrongly the chief responsibility is attributed to the Lieutenant Governor, and it is freely stated that instead of the Lieutenant Governor acting upon the advice of the Premier, the Premier is practically controlled by his honor."

TO PRISON FOR LIFE

William Walter MacWherrell Will Not Die on the Gallows.

HIS SENTENCE COMMUTED

The Condemned Man Receives the News in Brampton Jail and Expresses His Satisfaction at His Good Fortune by Demonstrations of Joy.

OTTAWA, Sept. 29.—The case of MacWherrell has at last been disposed of by the Cabinet and the result is that the death sentence has been commuted to one of imprisonment for life. The decision was arrived at late in the afternoon.

T. C. Robinson, counsel for the prisoner, telegraphed the news to MacWherrell and also MacWherrell's mother.

Mr. Robinson left last night for Toronto, highly pleased with the result of his day's work in the city.

Brampton, Sept. 29.—Sheriff Brody received a telegram from the Department of Justice, notifying him that MacWherrell's sentence has been commuted to life imprisonment.

He at once called upon the Rev. Mr. Clark, who had been visiting the prisoner lately, to accompany him to the jail to acquaint MacWherrell with the decision of the Minister of Justice. They all fled into the corridor where the prisoner sat.

The deputy sheriff said:

"Well, Mac, we have brought you the news."

The prisoner's face became as a shaven head. A word was spoken as Mr. Brody quietly handed him the message. When he had grasped the meaning he jumped for joy, and, waving the telegram above his head, cried "Hurrah! hurrah!" He then congratulated him on his narrow escape, and shaking hands, they all quietly withdrew.

MacWherrell had boasted all along that he would live long and prosper. His actions, however, proved his integrity in that particular.

The sentence, which was only completed in the afternoon, will once more be taken down and stored away for future use. The sentence is commuted to life imprisonment, and the matter has taken this turn and that it will not suffer the disgrace of an execution.

QUEBEC'S LATEST CRISIS

The Loan Offered by the Premier is Subjected to Criticism.

MONTREAL, Sept. 29.—The Star, which is supposed to speak for Provincial Treasury circles, says:

"The new loan just made by Premier Tullin is being vigorously criticized on the streets. As a piece of financing it is regarded as outrageously bad and calculations have an injurious effect upon provincial securities. It is pointed out that a 3 per cent loan, payable in sixty years, issued at 77.25 is exactly equivalent to a 4 per cent loan at par. Rightly or wrongly the chief responsibility is attributed to the Lieutenant Governor, and it is freely stated that instead of the Lieutenant Governor acting upon the advice of his Canadian postmaster and legislator, he was controlled by his honor."

"Enquiries at the office of the Credit Foncier Franco-Canadien, of which Mr. Chaplain is the president of the Imperial administration, or chief executive officer in this country, elicit the fact that, while M. Brodeur, the president of the Credit Foncier, is the general manager of the Banque de Paris et des Pays Bas, the Banque de Paris is also the Credit Foncier's banker."

"The situation is regarded as critical for the government because it is doubtful if any English speaking member of the Legislature will assume the responsibility for the loan and for the Government's general financial policy, as he would have to do if he accepted the treasury portfolio."

THE WAY OF THE TRANSGRESSOR.

An Alleged Canadian Abductor Found Working as a Hostler in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Daniel Campbell, an alleged Canadian postmaster and legislator, was arrested here, charged with embezzlement, and was found working as a hostler. Campbell is alleged to have embezzled $2000 of the Government's money. He sent his wife and daughter to England and he came to Chicago, where he has been living ever since, working at odd jobs. A few days ago Campbell received a letter to his wife in England, giving his correct name and address. He was through that time he was discovered.

"The Ontario authorities are highly indignant and were found doing menial work in a livery stable."

BIG HAZE IN BRADFORD.

Bradford, Ont., Sept. 28.—Fire broke out in the center of Brady & Ross' dry goods store. It started with a fire in the building. Some of the goods were badly gutted and the upper story was burned. EXCITEMENT IN CHINA

Dissatisfaction in High Circles Against the Reigning Dynasty.

THEIR WAR CHEST IS EMPTY

Difficulty in Providing Necessities for the Troops—The Japanese Eager for an Advance on Peking—A Naval Expert Sums Up the Situation.

VIENNA, Sept. 29.—The Political correspondence says the following information has reached St. Petersburg from China and attracts the serious attention of the government:

"The intense excitement in all the provinces of China and the dissatisfaction of the highest officials in the empire have reached points which indicate a probable movement against the reigning dynasty. The spirit animating the regular army is satisfactory, but the discipline has been much relaxed. The irregular troops upon which the government must now rely are committing great and frequent excesses everywhere. The war chest is as empty as the state exchequer and the government has the greatest difficulty in purchasing the latest necessities for the troops in the field."

LONDON, Sept. 29.—The Times publishes this morning an article by a naval expert, who writes that the Chinese fleet, as the Times' advice from Che-Foo and the Central News dispatch from Tokio. The writer concludes that it may be safely affirmed that modern weapons have not materially modified the conditions of naval warfare.

"Japan's next move," he says, "is now a question of the greatest importance. The fleet is divided into two principal divisions: one to guard the coast and the other to be ready to meet the Japanese fleet. A Moral Influence.

A certain cheese factory neighborhood in New York where the Babcock test has been adopted by the patrons for two weeks, two maiden ladies who own a fine dairy farm and a herd of cows had been sending milk which failed to pass the adoption of the test. In three weeks their milk came up to 3.4. The ladies were zealous members of the church. A frank and outspoken young man was asked by his mother to go to church, and not spend his time as assistant at the factory in taking the test on Sunday morning. "What objection have you, mother," said he, "to my doing this honest work on Sunday morning?" "Well," said the mother, "I do not think that Babcock test work has a good moral influence over you." "See here, mother," replied the young man, "there are those who are making, and the minister has been preaching to them for years, and their milk has been as poor as water, but the Babcock test has brought them round to the moral scruple line in two weeks. Who do you think of the last now?" The old lady had never heard before that the Babcock test was considered such an effective means of grace and reform.

The date for Thanksgiving Day has been fixed for November 22.

Mrs. Wesley Chant, of Lyn, met with rather a serious mishap on Thursday last while returning from a visit with friends at Chantry. In company with a little boy she was driving home by way of Athens and had reached the corner of Joseph and Mill sts, when the horse started, overturned the buggy and precipitated the two occupants into the ditch at the side of the road. The little boy escaped injury, but Mrs. Chant was bruised and rendered incapable of further motion. She was promptly taken to the hospital and treated by Dr. S. S. Cornell and has since been removed to her home.

Japan and China are trying on war on a gigantic scale. Dutch are solved to lead a new life as a result of their colonial possessions. Russian troops are pursuing in the territory a gang of marauders who destroyed a Siberian railway station; Portugal has a hide war on hand; and British and French expeditions have been dispatched for the purpose of taking possession of the same territory in Africa, and France is preparing for operations which she clearly intended to reduce Madagascar to the status of a French colony. Beaten to Make a Lyndhurst Hoax.

It was with high hopes of victory that Athens basketball team went to Lyndhurst on Thursday last to meet the Westport boys for the purpose of playing the "rubber" match of the season. The day was fine, the crowd impartial, the ground well prepared. The growth of Oddfellows in Canada in 1893-94 was unprecedented.

At the Ottawa fair a stranger with a common pocket knife offered to bet a farmer that he could not open it in ten seconds. The farmer, after examining the knife, took the bet and offered $50. The stranger had the knife in his hands for a few minutes and then drew the blade open with his teeth; but when he looked up to collect his winning he found that the two men had disappeared.

An Oxford Mills Ghost.

From Kemplville comes a ghost story of the old fashioned sort. It is said that in the house of a farmer named Code, a man well-to-do and intelligent, mysterious noises are heard by night, resembling the rattle of wagon wheels. The source of these strange occurrences is Oxford Mills, small place not many miles from Kemplville. It is said they have been going on these three years, but unwilling to be made the object of rural curiosity, the Codes kept the matter to themselves. The family sacer, however, was betrayed by a visitor. Alarmed by a dreadful rattle in the dead of night, the stranger naturally inquired the cause. He was told that the mystery of these sounds had never been fathomed. About three years ago, said, these nocturnal ruminations commenced, and every possible test was applied to ascertain and locate their source, without avail; and it was not until all theories and devices had been exhausted that the family agreed that the sounds were of unhuman origin. The ruminations are said to resemble the sounds made by a heavy wagon driven rapidly over a heavy wooden bridge, such as loud and distinct as if produced in the very centre of the house.

Frankville Fair

A Great Gathering of Farmers and Visitors Assemble at Kitley's Famous Township Show.

Success, in capital letters, was written all over the annual fall exhibition held at Frankville on Thursday and Friday last. The weather on both days was superb and the result was a large exhibit and a great crowd of visitors. It was thought by some that the Lyndhurst fair taking place on the same day would be felt in a decrease of both exhibits and gate receipts; but as a matter of fact the attendance was fully up to the average and though the number of entries fell slightly behind that of last year no one who examined the big display in all departments would suspect such to be the case.

The lower part of the main building contains the usual great exhibition. The only decrease noticeable being in the display of flowers, and the very poor light provided was in part accounted for that. A window, and a good one, about 10 feet long, was placed in the flower stand out of the semi-darkness in which it now rests; thus, no doubt, the ladies would more than fill it. The roots and vegetables were generally good, but the display of fruit was small but the quality was good as was seen this year. There was a good display of cheese entered for society and special prizes, but its twin sister, butter, was not very much in evidence. That a generous provision for supplying the table during the winter is one of the admirable characteristics of Kitley's fair was shown by an immense display of canned goods. They looked very tempting and we were assured that the quality was quite equal to the appearance. The honey display was the most attractive, and a special comment, being very tastefully arranged, under good conditions as to light and fixtures, in the new wing of the building. Messrs. W. D. Livingston, F. L. Moore and W. G. Lee were the exhibitors in this department.

Upstairs there was a great aggregation of articles of beauty and utility. Domestic manufactures first claim attention. The appliances for the kitchen were of great attraction to many, and there were beautiful samples of nineteenth century new-work and well worthy of the time devoted to their exhibition. Counters, tables, and chairs were shown in great abundance, while in carpeting nearly a score of samples were shown. A few samples of fine looking home-made bread and crisp doughnuts aroused the appetite for more and more, and the building, while at the other a magnificent display of fruit reminded one of desert apples were the chief feature of the exhibit, and among them French and British exhibitions have been taken possession of the same territory in Africa, and France is preparing for operations which she clearly intended to reduce Madagascar to the status of a French colony. There is plenty of inflammable material for a big conflagration.

The piece of road on Sarah st, where it forms a junction with Mill st, at the foot of the big hill, is very dangerous. It has alarmed many and badly frightened a few who have had narrow escapes. The accident at the place on Thursday last ought to be a lesson to the road commissioners. The right across a short curve on the edge of a very deep, unguarded ditch, the ditch, across the narrow grade of the other road is another deep unprotected ditch. The descent to the level is not as safe as it ought to be.

Every night the lights the light casts weird, moving shadows from the swaying branches of the trees across these ditches, playing on the road in a way that would arouse the greatest horror among the people.

I picked up a little piece of broken stone the other day out of thousands of similar ones on the streets of Athens. It was one of the fossiliferous rocks which are so common in the neighborhood of the town.

Some of them lived when this little globe of matter under the impression of the divine fiat, expressed the operation of the eternal laws of matter, was passing through the dreadful convulsions from which this earth emerged in all its charming beauty. During this interval at times the earth was covered with volcanic eruptions, and the fiery darkness, belched forth brilliant colored flames miles in height.

The roar of ten thousand Niagaras, combined with all the tidal waves, and the crashing of the earth-covered volcano mountains. All this lurid light was contained in a ball of fire only a few feet in diameter.

There was no water then—the intense heat had dissipated the oceans in the heavens, and lunar mountains were belching forth the great, the glorious, the awful, the wonderful, the sublime, the majestic, the magnificent, the sublime, the majestic, the magnificent.

At the time a constant rain of tomatoes, and other vegetables, was falling from the world with meteoric swiftness.

There will come a time again when here will be "no more wars," peace shall prevail on earth and in heaven. The nations to pieces as potter's clay.

Here imagination roams over realms, scenes and space eternal that months and years would fail to paint.

CRIMINALS IN COREA.

THE HORRIBLE TORTURES INFLICTED UPON THEM.

Terrible Fate in Store for Rebels in the Present War Should China be Victorious—A Visit to Prisons and an Inspection of Punishment Methods.

Treason is nowhere so terribly rewarded as in Corea. My blood runs cold when I think of the punishment which will be meted out to those who have rebelled against the king should the Chinese become victorious and his country's corrupt officials be allowed to carry out the laws which now exist. I have told you how the body of the dead rebel, Kim Ok Kin, was thrown into the sea. He was cut into six pieces, and how the bloody head, the hands, the feet and the trunk were carried over the country and hung above the gates of the cities as warning to rebels. Not a few of the rebels have already met their fate.

The total receipts from the show amounted to over $400 and the entries to over 1,100. In next week's issue of the Reporter we expect to be able to give a full list of the prize-winners.

Kidney Facts.

In Jan., 1892, my son was taken with kidney disease. Though attended by three physicians, completely unable to get relief, and by '93 had fallen from 195 lbs. to 95 lbs. In 10 days from starting to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills we were able to move him home. In another week he was fully restored to health by the use of this medicine. J. S. Hastings, 23 St. Paul st., Montreal.

Hands and Ankles Raw.

For years I have been a great sufferer from itching skin troubles and salt rheum. My hands and ankles were literally raw. The first application of Dr. Chase's Ointment allayed the burning, itching sensation. One box and a half cured me. It is the best remedy for children. Henry A. Parmenter, St. Catharines, Ont.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

It is a singular probability that twenty-five per cent., or between ten and eleven thousand, women in Ontario will vote at the coming election.

As an indication, it places the conversion of the world at a remote distance. Remember that Ontario is the best country on earth.

"A voice from the country," among other things, wishes to say "amen" to the action taken by Lawyer Everts in the matter of Jesse Thomas. Scores of us are glad to see his efforts in this direction, and we hope to see him petition to modify the proceedings of the Brockville court in this case.

If the good Father of All were, in His providence with man, to proceed as a model to the rest of the world, even a few of those who make strong professions would soon find themselves in a harder reformatory than Pentanguehene.

HELMHOLTZ

One of the Greatest Scientific Lights of the 19th Century.

Professor Hermann Ludwig Ferdinand von Helmholtz, the celebrated physiologist and physicist died on the 8th September, 1894, from the effects of a stroke of paralysis. He was born in Potsdam, August 31, 1811.

Professor von Helmholtz was one of the giants of modern science. Like his illustrious colleagues, Professor Rudolph Virchow, he enjoyed a reputation which extended into all the countries of the civilized world and which drew students to the University of Berlin from the four corners of the globe. His long life—he was born thirty-three years ago—has been one of strict devotion to science. He took little interest in other matters, seldom appeared on the platform, except to speak on scientific subjects, and rarely wrote outside of his scientific work.

The professor was born at Potsdam, where his father was a professor in the "gymnasium," or public school. He studied medicine, and in 1846 was appointed professor of anatomy in the Academy of Fine Arts at Berlin. Later he filled professional chairs at Konigsberg and Heidelberg, and then, in 1871, he was appointed professor of physics in the University of Bonn.

His scientific achievements were many. He was the first to give a mathematical expression to the conservation of energy, and he discovered the principle of the interrelationship of electricity and magnetism. His researches on the sense of hearing, and on the sense of touch, are also of great importance.

He was the first to give a mathematical expression to the conservation of energy, and he discovered the principle of the interrelationship of electricity and magnetism. His researches on the sense of hearing, and on the sense of touch, are also of great importance.

WHIPPING THE BEANS.

Only this man himself was killed, but his whole family and all of his relatives have been severely punished. His father did not die, but he was so badly whipped that he is unable to work. His mother and three daughters were also severely punished. The other three daughters were given over to be the slaves or concubines of the officials.

After this rebellion the mothers, the wives and the daughters of all who have taken up arms against the king will become the common property of the government and of the magistrates of the provinces in which they dwell. They will be dragged from their homes to be concubines and slaves. As their beauty wanes they will be handed from one high official to a lower one until they are finally sold to the lowest bidder. They will be used for nothing but to satisfy the passions of the officials.

Corea lives are desecrated for their crime. They are only cut into two pieces, however, and the law provides that their bodies need not be on the execution ground longer than two days before their relatives can take them away and bury them.

Strangling is done in a curious way. There is a hole in the door of the cell just large enough for a piece of rope about the size of a clothesline. The prisoner is made to lie at the end of the rope, and the noose is placed around the criminal's neck. The other end of the rope is fastened through the hole in the door of the wall, and the police pull at the rope until they bring the man's chest and neck above and below the hole and split the neck breaks and the man is dead.

Another method of execution is by suffocation, and this, strange to say, is done in a house. The man is laid flat upon his back, and a sheet of Corean paper is spread over his face. This has been soaked in water, and fits over the man's face, being pressed down so that it makes a veritable death mask, shutting out every bit of air, and the man dies. Anyone who has seen the paper of Corea will appreciate how easily this form of execution can be carried out. It is made by hand. It is as thick as a sheet of blotting paper and almost as strong as leather.

When moisture is applied to it it becomes exceedingly soft, but does not lose its strength, and it would make an excellent material for the manufacture of paper.

Among the most terrible of Corean crimes are those against your parents or ancestors. There is a prison in Seoul that is devoted entirely to prisoners who commit crimes against their parents. If a rich man refuses to support his father he can be sent to jail, and the boy who strikes his father can be whipped to death. The parents are bound to death, and it is in Corea much the same as in China, where the killing of one's parents subjects the child to be placed into thirty-day cells or carried up by inches.

The torturing of prisoners to make them confess is common in Corea, and it is wonderful what inventions of torture are made up by the officials. Think of tying a man's feet to a stake in the ground and burning his toes with powder. Think of all sorts of flogging and pinching and cutting.

You can get some idea of the powers of the law find magazines. In the prisons you will find iron chains, stocks and all sorts of punishments. These Coreans know how to whip so that the flesh is raveled off of the bones, and I have a photograph of a man tied in a chair, with his knees bare, and his feet so fastened to the ground that he cannot move.

In one of the prisons which I visited I saw three men fastened to stocks. The stocks consisted of a log of wood about fifteen feet long and about four inches in diameter. This had been split in two, and holes had been bored through it just large enough to hold the bare ankle of a man. The three criminals each had one foot fastened in this log, and the jailers, when I appeared with my soldiers and photographer, tried to move them out into the sun so that I might get a good photograph of them. As they pulled them along I heard one of them cry out in pain, and I saw that a feature of his face were contorted with only one eye now left. The eldest is Jean Jacques Salabrier, who was born on the 13th of April, 1792, at Veroux L'Archeveque, where he has lived in retirement for many years. Then come Victor Ballot, Jean Bousquet, and Joseph Rose, aged respectively one hundred and one month, one hundred years and one month and one hundred years and a few days. It is said that all are as hearty and vigorous as can be expected, in spite of their long experience in long imprisonment. They were all members of the great army of the emperor Napoleon, and they were all victors of the great battles of the Napoleonic era.

A Moral Influence.

A certain cheese factory neighborhood in New York where the Babcock test has been adopted by the patron for two years, two maiden ladies who own the factory farm and a herd of cows had been sending milk which weighed 2.8 before the adoption of the test. In those weeks their milk came up to 3.1. The ladies were zealous members of the church. A Frank and outspoken young man was asked by his mother to go to church, and not spend his time as assistant at the factory in taking the test on Sunday mornings. "What objection have you, mother," said he, "my doing this honest work on Sunday morning?" "Well," said the mother, "I do not think that Babcock test work has a good moral influence over you." "See here, mother," replied the young man, "there are those two old maids, and the minister has been preaching to them for years, and their milk has been as poor as water, but the Babcock test has brought them round to the moral scratch line in two weeks. What do you think of the test now?" The old lady said she never heard before that the Babcock test was considered such an effective means of grace and reform.

Some of them were very large and some were inferior. From the lot on the sample packages sold by Nelson Hawkes, of Athens, last spring. The show of hard and soft soap was such as to show that the production of this commodity is still a paying proposition. The exhibit of grain was small but the sample was fair, quite as good as we have seen this year. There was a good display of shoes selected from society and special prizes, but its twin sister, butter, was not very much in evidence. French and British expeditions have been dispatched for the purpose of taking possession of the same territory in Africa, and France is preparing for operations which are clearly intended to reduce Madagascar to the status of a French colony. There is plenty of inflammable material for a big conflagration.

On Thursday evening Mr. Joseph Clow, residing on the Mallory road, was five to a brush heap so large that the flames made Athenians think that his fire buildings were being destroyed, and he was the subject of many expressions of sympathy.

A remarkable cure.—J. W. Jenning, Gifford, in spending between $200 and $100 in consulting doctors, tried various and all other treatments but got no benefit. One box of Chas. K. F. Oatman's Ointment did more for him than all other remedies, in fact I consider myself cured and with a 25 cent box at that.

The sovereign grand lodge of the Independent Order of Oddfellows is in session at Chateaufort, Tenn. The net increase in the order during the past year is 23,000. It is being introduced into Utah and Sweden, in Canada and Newfoundland, the latter Canadian colony not little occupied. The growth of Oddfellowship in Canada in 1893-94 was unprecedented.

At the Ottawa fair a stranger with a common pocket knife offered to let a farmer that he could open it in ten seconds. The farmer, after examining the knife, took the bet and placed $25, all the money he had, in the hands of the stranger's companion. He beat every buckle and opened the blade with his teeth, but when he looked up to collect his winning he found that the two men had disappeared.

A Moral Influence.

A certain cheese factory neighborhood in New York where the Babcock test has been adopted by the patron for two years, two maiden ladies who own the factory farm and a herd of cows had been sending milk which weighed 2.8 before the adoption of the test. In those weeks their milk came up to 3.1. The ladies were zealous members of the church. A Frank and outspoken young man was asked by his mother to go to church, and not spend his time as assistant at the factory in taking the test on Sunday mornings. "What objection have you, mother," said he, "my doing this honest work on Sunday morning?" "Well," said the mother, "I do not think that Babcock test work has a good moral influence over you." "See here, mother," replied the young man, "there are those two old maids, and the minister has been preaching to them for years, and their milk has been as poor as water, but the Babcock test has brought them round to the moral scratch line in two weeks. What do you think of the test now?" The old lady said she never heard before that the Babcock test was considered such an effective means of grace and reform.

Criminals in Corea.

THE HORRIBLE TORTURES INFLICTED UPON THEM.

Terrible Fate in Store for Rebels in the Present War Should China be Victorious. A Visit to Prisons and an Inspection of Punishment Methods.

Prisoners is nowhere so terribly rewarded as in Corea. My blood runs cold when I think of the punishment which will be meted out to those who have rebelled against the king should the Chinese become victorious and his army's corrupt officials be allowed to carry out the laws which now exist. I have told you how the body of the dead rebel, Kim Ok Kin, was brought to Corea; how it was cut into six pieces, and how the bloody head, the hands, the feet and the trunk were carried over the country and hung above the gates of the cities as a warning to rebels. Not only this man himself was killed, but his whole family and all of his relatives were terribly punished. His father died while he was in prison. He was dragged out and his head was cut off. The men of the family, even of the third and fourth generation, were executed, and the women, including King's 17-year-old daughter, were given over to the slaves or concubines of the officials. After this rebellion the mothers, the wives and the daughters of all who have taken arms against the king will become the common property of the government and of the magistrates of the provinces in which they dwell. It is to be dragged from their homes to be concubines and slaves. As their beauty wanes they will be handed from one high official to a lower until they descend to the bottom rung of the government's service. They will have no rights that anybody will be loath to respect, and their only chance of happiness will be in death.

All sorts of crimes are terribly punished in Corea. The truth about such matters is kept as far as possible from the foreign press. You will find little information about prisons and punishments in any of the books on Corea. There is, in fact, little published in the country, and the information which I give you was only accessible to me on account of the letters of introduction which I carried and the help of the magistrates of the provinces and the people persisting in my questions and investigations, notwithstanding the objections of the officials.

Corea does not have a single prison, nor does it have a single prison. The prisoners are only in chains, and they are allowed to work for their food. A Moral Influence. From Kempville comes a ghost story of the old fashioned sort. It is said that in the house of a farmer named Cole, a man well-to-do and intelligent, mysterious noises are heard by night, resembling the rattle of wagon wheels. The scene of these strange occurrences is Oxford Mills, a small place not many miles from Kempville. It is said they have been going on these three years, but unwilling to be made the objects of rural curiosity, the Coles kept the matter to themselves. The family secret, however, was betrayed by a visitor. Alarmed by a dreadful racket in the dead of night, the stranger naturally inquired the cause. He was told that the mystery of these sounds had never been fathomed. About three years ago, as said, these nocturnal rappings commenced, and every possible remedy was applied to ascertain and locate their source, without avail, and it was not until all theories and devices had been exhausted that the family agreed that the sounds were of ungodly origin. The rappings are said to resemble the sounds made by a heavy wagon driven rapidly over a long wooden bridge, quite as loud and distinct as if produced in the very centre of the house.

Frankville Fair

A Great Gathering of Farmers and Visitors Assembled at Kitley's Famous

Success, in capital letters, was written over Kitley's annual fall exhibition held at Frankville on Thursday and Friday last.

The weather on both days was superb and the result was a large exhibit and a great crowd of visitors.

It was thought by some that the Lyndhurst fair taking place on the same day would be felt in a decrease of both exhibits and gate receipts; but as a matter of fact the attendance was fully up to the average and though the number of entries fell slightly behind that of last year no one who examined the big display in all departments would have been so sure of the case.

The lower part of the main building contained its usual quota of exhibits, the only decrease noticeable being in the display of flowers, and the very poor light provided was in part ascribed to the fact that the main building was not so large as the one big one, should be placed so as to bring the flower stand out of the semi-darkness in which it now rests; then, no doubt, the ladies would more than fill the room and the vegetables were generally pronounced excellent.

As usual at this fair, there was a great show of potatoes, over thirty different samples being on exhibition. Some of them were very large and three were informed, were grown from sample packages sold by Nelson Hawkes, of Athens, last spring.

The show of hard and soft soap was such as to attract attention, and this enemy to the small boy's happiness is far from being a lost art in Kitley.

The exhibit of grain was small but the sample was fair, quite as good as we have seen this year. There was a good display of cheese entered for society and special prizes, but its twin sister, butter, was not very much in evidence.

A generous provision for supplying the needs during the winter is one of the admirable characteristics of Kitley ladies was shown by an immense display of canned goods.

They looked very tempting and we were glad that the quantity was quite equal to the appearance. The honey display was the subject of much favorable comment, being very tastefully arranged, under good conditions as to light and fixtures, in the new wing of the building. Messrs. W. D. Livingston, F. L. Moore and W. G. Lee were the exhibitors in this department.

Upstairs there was a great aggregation of articles of the lower Everts Domestic manufacturers first claim attention. The white goods were the chief attraction to many, and they were beautiful samples of nineteenth century usefulness, and their exhibition of the goods devoted to their own use. Countertops, quilts and woolen goods were shown in abundance, while in carrying nearly a score of samples were shown, and a few samples of fine looking homemade bread and crisp doughnuts around the appetite for substitutes at one end of the building, while at the other a magnificent display of fruit reminded one of dessert.

Apples were the chief feature of the exhibit, and among them we noticed several varieties of winter-keeping that in point of size and appearance would compare very favorably with the apples we have seen in the fruit sections of Western Ontario.

The new wing upstairs was devoted to fancy goods, art needle-work and painting. The show of art needles and not to speak of the quite as large as last year, but the articles as a whole were certainly much finer in quality. Miss Annie Barlow, of Addison, exhibited a number of paintings in water-colors of a variety of subjects that were of the high-class character, showing this young lady to be an artist of unusual excellence and versatility. For one, the water-colors were of the first in beauty of design and excellence of execution.

The show of agricultural implements was large, many being brought from the farmers' store-rooms. At the time of our visit the exhibition Mr. H. Brown, agent of Addison, was the presiding genius and was discussing eloquently on the merits of his machines to a crowd of interested farmers.

In carriages and wagons Messrs. Cole Bros., of Row's corners, Brockville P.O., made the chief display and captured seven first prizes. Their display was greatly admired, and the cattle, swine and poultry were all shown and removed the first day, so we had no opportunity of inspecting them, but were assured by the secretary that the exhibition of these lines was fully up to the average.

The program for the afternoon of the second day was such as very agreeably entertained the large crowd of visitors. The games and amusements in the afternoon. When the trotters were not flying around the track, the carriage, general purpose, and roadster horses were being shown inside the ring, and when the trotting and roadster performances were over the boys' sports were brought on. The president, David Dowsley, had charge of the athletics and was as busy as a little boy killing snakes. He started the different sports, Dr. Burns started the races and N. H. Beecher performed the duties of secretary. Following is the result of the competitions, the referees manifestly appearing in order as they passed the winning post.

A Great Gathering of Farmers and Visitors Assembled at Kitley's Famous

Success, in capital letters, was written over Kitley's annual fall exhibition held at Frankville on Thursday and Friday last.

The weather on both days was superb and the result was a large exhibit and a great crowd of visitors.

It was thought by some that the Lyndhurst fair taking place on the same day would be felt in a decrease of both exhibits and gate receipts; but as a matter of fact the attendance was fully up to the average and though the number of entries fell slightly behind that of last year no one who examined the big display in all departments would have been so sure of the case.

DELTAVILLE.

Fine weather favored the fair managers against this year, and as a consequence the exhibits and attendance was good, although we noticed the fact at Delta, as elsewhere, that the attendance at the fair is localizing; that is, patrons who attend their own fair and none other.

The B. & W. carried a very small crowd from Brockville, and had it not been for the 50 odd passengers who got on at Athens the railway managers would hardly have cleared excoombs.

The name fact applied to the train from Westport and Newboro, not more than half the usual number coming from that direction, but this falling off was fully made up by the farmers and others of the surrounding country who flocked to, and loyally sustained, their local fair.

The show of horses, cattle, sheep, swine, and poultry was smaller than last year, but the animals shown were in better condition and of better quality than formerly.

Implements and carriages were in fair quantities and some new features were noticeable in this department.

Inside the hall, the display was good, especially in the root, vegetable, fruit and dairy departments.

In fact, the quantity and quality in these departments have not been exceeded by any fair in this district this season.

The ladies' departments did not seem to be as well filled as usual, although, owing to the large number of visitors, every thing showed good advantage.

The display of painting in oil, pencil and crayon was large and the work good for amateurs.

To go over each department and particularize would require more space than we can devote for the purpose, but, taken together, the Delta fair was a success.

The races were watched with interest by a large portion of the visitors, but but few were in a betting mood.

The score stood as follows: Marshall Franco, 1, 1, 2, 1; Lucy G., 2, 1, 2; Skip, 3, 3, 3.

In the 3 minute race Mimie M took the straight race, and the record.

Absconder Larivee Says He is Not Guilty of Forgery.

HE IS RUN DOWN IN BROOKLYN

He Jumped His Bail in Montreal When He Found Indictments Were Found Against Him for Forgery, and Now He Says He is a Sinner.

New York, Oct. 1.—Louis Larivee, 24 years old, who is wanted in Montreal for forgery, was arrested in this Brooklyn postoffice. Up to January last Larivee was in a brokerage business with a man named Gaither in Montreal. Mr. Larivee was supposed to be in Montreal, but it was discovered that a number of checks had been cashed at the Bank National, of Montreal, and that Larivee had fled to Chicago and arrested. He was taken back to Montreal and placed under $5,000 bail, pending the trial of the grand jury.

In June the grand jury indicted him, and when he heard this, he jumped his bail, and the amount of Larivee's forfeit is not definitely known, but it is thought to be in the neighborhood of $10,000.

Larivee is said to be well connected in Montreal. He was a custom house broker. While the charge against him was pending, he was arrested by a number of hundred dollars Queen's Detective Carpenter, who came to Brooklyn to take the amount of Larivee's forfeit, but it is probably reached into the thousands.

The complainant against Larivee is the National Bank of Montreal, and a friend wrote him a letter addressed under an assumed name to 157 Sands pending the trial of the grand jury.

The charges against Larivee are forgery, and Larivee pleaded not guilty. Larivee is a French Canadian and lives at 157 Sands street, New York City. He is a successful business man and was formerly a partner in the brokerage business.
