All Railroads Will Run Special Trains For Exposition

Entries For the Different Events Are Far in Excess of What Was Expected.

Starting Friday the special trains will start running to Calgary, but before that time the history will start on their journeys on the regular trains, which will all have extra coaches on, and the special rates will reduce the cost of the trip very materially. The splendid list of attractions and the large number of entries which are reported in all classes, ensure the trip being worth while for anyone who is interested either in the progress of the country or feeling the need of a holiday.

There is a special excursion train on the Grand Trunk on June 30. The Canadian Northern will run an excursion on Dominion Day, July 1. There are two excursion trains to be run on the Canadian Pacific from Bassano and intermediate points, and another starting from Banff, which will bring the people from the main line down.

Every indication of a Big Time representative of the Western Standard has just been over the grounds, and as far as it is possible to judge by outward appearance there is going to be a splendid fair. The stock cars were starting to come in, and from every stable there were the sounds of the animals which were vowing their objection to be taken away from the ranches. But their condition is quite satisfactory, and there is nothing which can be done for their comfort which has been overlooked.

There are in all 150 more entries in the livestock branches than there were last year, and last year's display was a good enough one. The large number of entries in the cattle, sheep and swine classes, which have been made by Ontario exhibitors, has added very largely to the entries and will make the interest in the stock match greater.

Many exhibits of special interest to the farmers and stockmen are being put in readiness for the opening this week. One of the largest features will be made by the Dominion government in Canada is the wool exhibit which has been placed in the art building. It is particularly interesting just now, when mutton and wool are both such a splendid price. The big wool sale which is to be held in Calgary again this year, is receding about double the amount of wool and the information which the sheep breeders can obtain at the government exhibit will assist them in getting more money for their efforts, and without any additional expense or loss of their time.

Messrs. McCrimmon and Semmens, the two officials in charge, will be pleased to give all information regarding the industry, and they are also supplied with a large number of pamphlets which are full of information on the sheep question.

Farmers Will Be Interested. The government egg exhibit will also be very interesting, as it will show the eggs graded according to the new classification, which it is hoped will be generally adopted, and by which eggs will be sold in the future. This will be to the advantage of the

SIR SAM HUGHES SAYS "BOSH" TO RUMOR ABOUT REMOVING CAMP

Well Pleased With the Appearance of the Soldiers—Pays Them Splendid Tribute.

Sir Sam Hughes, Canada's minister of militia, arrived in town almost in coming Tuesday morning, and before anyone knew he was here, he was on his way to Sarcee, where he inspected the troops at that point.

Sir Sam said the rumor that Sarcee camp was to be broken up, "what flights of imagination some men have," and the major-general, and continued by saying that it was "utter nonsense" and "nothing to it." "The western camps are all right, and why should we change?"

Saturday, July 1, the mixed farming special train which has been touring the province, will be at Victoria park and this will afford those who have not had a chance to see the train and hear the lectures an opportunity of looking the train over.

Many of the attractions which will be on the program for the fair arrived early in the week and are preparing for their turns. The big elephants which will appear in the comedy act which has been arranged by John Robinson, the famous circus man, have been occupying space in the horse show building since Sunday last.

Other attractions will all be here which have been advertised, and, in fact, most of them are already at Victoria park in readiness for the opening.

CANADA WILL LIKELY BE CALLED UPON TO MAKE MORE MUNITIONS

In the Event of War With Mexico Allies Will Get No Help From United States.

According to George Bury, vice-president of the C.P.R., Canada will be called upon to redouble its efforts in the making of munitions, should the United States and Mexico go to war. Mr. Bury came to Calgary Tuesday morning, and he was accompanied by D. C. Coleman, assistant general manager of western lines, and Mr. Little, the famous research expert of Boston, who, upon the request of Lord Shaughnessy, has a quest of Lord Shaughnessy, has a quest of offices in Montreal with a view to exploiting the resources of Canada. Mr. Bury thought it was too early to predict as to the possibilities of a crop this year. Last year he thought he was making a very liberal estimate, but when the yield came, he found that it was one and one-half times more than he stated. Having thus acquired a reputation as a conservative estimator, he preferred not to make any at this time.

More cattle are being raised in Canada now, according to the vice-president, and in view of the fact that cattle, all over the world, are being exhausted, this was considered a move in the right direction by him.

As to Mr. Little's mission here, Mr. Bury said: "One of the objects of Lord Shaughnessy in asking Mr. Little to inquire into the resources of our country was that Canada may take its place in the world and capture a large portion of the trade that is now being enjoyed by our enemies, that is after the successful termination of the war."

Among those who made the trip were Mayor Costello, Mr. Hansen, of the Northern Crown bank; Messrs. Campbell, Trannwaiser, McArdie, McKenny, Dickinson, and Fowler; Dr. Millican, and others.

The Prudential company was represented by President John Graham, Vice-president R. E. Neve, and Treasurer A. H. Schurer.

THE PRUDENTIAL WELL NOW PRODUCING COMMERCIAL OIL

Calgary News-Telegram (June 19, 1916)

An old-fashioned barbecue, at which roast buffalo cooked to a nicety, was served, was held out at the Prudential oil well on Sunday. The guests for the occasion were a large crowd of members of the Calgary Automobile club.

It has been persistently rumored for months that the Prudential Oil company had oil in large quantities. These rumors had little effect on the stock; however, as Calgary was wary of oil rumors until convinced by practical demonstration. . . . President Graham decides to show the public the great discovery, and invites the people to visit the plant where active operations are in progress.

The business interests of all Calgary are bound to be benefitted as this discovery opens beyond question of doubt that Alberta is an oil producing province.

Remember oil has been one of the greatest wealth producers the world has ever known. We consider this stock a golden opportunity for investors. We can fill your orders for Prudential or any other leading oil stock.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Special attention of the readers of The Standard is called to the advertisements of the Hudson's Bay Co. on pages 19 and 21 of the second section.

Never in the history of Calgary has such a generous offer been made by any merchandise firm neither have to many bargains been offered than those advertised on these pages. Read the Hudson's Bay Advertisements.

The man who directs Canada's military affairs refused to be drawn into a lengthy discussion about the matter, but he made it eminently plain that at the present time no change was being contemplated.

However, he would not speak at length on that subject, he would on the Canadian soldiers. Words failed him when he tried to express his admiration of the fine men who were giving their lives in the trenches in Flanders. He didn't care to talk about conscription, saying that "it didn't worry him." The invasion from the States was dismissed by a wave of the hand. Even the trouble in Mexico was merely mentioned, and Sir Sam announced he didn't quite know where Mexico was.

"What shall I say about the Canadian soldiers?" said Sir Sam. "Haven't they proved themselves to be the best in the world? One thing is certain, Canadians now know and feel that they can accomplish things which were unheard of before. The boys at the front have confidence in themselves. They know they are superior to the tried veterans of the Kaiser, and for that reason they have been writing the page of history in letters of gold."

The minister made a hurried up inspection of Sarcee. Just before noon he informed his attendant to get the train ready and he told the newspaper men that he was on a business trip and not visiting.

PRUDENTIAL HAS OIL!

This fact has been demonstrated beyond the question of a doubt. After a thorough investigation read what the newspapers of Calgary say :-:-

Big Party Sees the Prudential Well Pumping Oil.

The Morning Albertan (June 19, 1916)

More than 100 persons motored down to the Prudential Oil and Gas company's well, and were treated to a convincing demonstration of the capacity of the well by the company's officers, who were on hand to do the honors.

Incidentally, the visitors were made the guests at a banquet, the principal dish of which was roast buffalo, cooked to a turn, and tender as the proverbial spring chicken.

The run was made under the auspices of the Calgary Automobile club, and some 16 cars got away from the rendezvous at the Palliser at 10:30 a.m. There were many ladies in the party, and they all enjoyed themselves to the limit. Other cars joined the procession en route.

It made an imposing trip.

Pump C was found to be going in its sty.

At the well, a stream of oil was gushing in a steady stream from the orifice of the well, which carried it to the side more than one pair of eyes with astonishment. It was no intermittent flow, but a steady stream.

There are seven tanks at the Prudential well, and they are all full to the top, the last one being filled yesterday. The company has 275 barrels of oil on hand in the tank, and no one knows how many thousands down below in the well waiting tanks.

What struck the visitors, and especially the oil men present, was the beautiful color and appearance of the oil. It is a rich olive green, and the numerous champagne-like bubbles which effervesced through it showed that it was full of "life." It possessed the characteristic "gasoline" odor of the oil which has been found in the south field.

Among those who took advantage of the occasion to examine the A. P. Costello well, was H. O. Schultz, one of the officials of this company. There are two tanks of oil at this well.

Mayor Costello was one of the interested visitors.

President Graham further told the Herald that he had made arrangements to market a quantity of the company's oil in the crude state at $6 a barrel.

Other interesting facts about the company are that it has in the neighborhood of 19,000 shareholders and that the stock is now listed and being traded in on the New York curb market the latest quotations being in the neighborhood of $2.

The general opinion expressed by those who went out to the demonstration was that it looked very much as though the Prudential had a commercial proposition. There was nothing of a spectacular nature, no predictions of "striking gushers" or bringing in "lakes of oil," but the oil was there; everybody could see it being pumped from the well, and one could not refrain from thinking that the Prudential situation is just one more indication that the Calgary oil field is being slowly, if surely, "proved."

Practical test made before a large party from Calgary and surrounding towns, who visited the well last Sunday in company with Mayor Costello, President Graham, Manager Hanson, Northern Crown Bank; R. E. Neve and A. H. Schurer.

Result of the personal inspection of the well and plant proves highly satisfactory to all parties concerned.

The examination was thorough and proves beyond question of doubt that the Calgary oil field is a paying investment.

What anxious investors in oil stocks in Calgary and throughout the country have been waiting for has finally arrived.

One Hundred and Ten Entries Will Compete in the Horse Races

The Free-For-All Will Have Some of the Best Horses Ever Seen Here.

The best race that was ever held on a western Canadian track, not only Calgary, said Fred Johnston, the popular and well-known local horseman, to a representative of the Western Standard. "That 2:09 pace and the free-for-all being of the best horse-flesh in the west, not only Canada, but the United States as well."

There is no doubt but that Fred is sincere in what he says, and anyone who knows him can rest assured that he means what he says. Look at it yourself! Just glance over that field and see what wonderful possibilities there are in the 2:09 pace and the free-for-all.

SEE OF GOOD CHEER! VICTORY FOLLOWS THE FLAG

PLANT MORE TREES IN CALGARY
If there is any doubt in the minds of the people regarding the necessity of planting trees in Calgary it will surely be dispelled after a casual saunter through the streets of the city. Could anything be more beautiful than the general attractiveness of the streets that are beautified with shade trees? On these warm summer days the shade trees are as soothing as a mother's lullaby to a sleeping babe. They are a comfort to man and beast alike.

A TRAIT OF GREATNESS

Perhaps as great a tribute as has been paid to the memory of Earl Kitchener was that of the Marquis of Lansdowne, who told the House of Lords that the late war secretary was a believer in the voluntary system, but abandoned it when he found it would not supply Britain's military needs.

It takes a big man to give up his own theory when he finds it doesn't work and go upon the other fellow's tack. The voluntary system would be the best system everywhere—if it produced the results. When it fails to produce them men like Kitchener do not hesitate to accept the alternative of compulsion, no matter at what sacrifice to their previously held opinions.

PRINCE OF WALES MAY MARRY ITALIAN PRINCESS

Bonds of friendship between Great Britain and Italy may be cemented by marriage of Prince of Wales to Princess Jolanda. Prince Edward of Wales, the heir apparent to the British throne, and Princess Jolanda of Italy, to whom he is reported engaged. The prince is 22 years old and his reported fiancée is but 15 years old, having celebrated her natal day June 1. A few weeks ago the prince visited Rome and then made a trip to the Italian front, where he was the guest of King Victor Emmanuel. After his return the king is said to have summoned the princess with the queen to army headquarters to extend his congratulations. Should the report of the impending wedding of the young royal folks be true, it will be necessary to obtain a special dispensation from Rome, as the young princess is a Catholic.

SHOULD HELP WORKINGMAN

Now that prohibition has gone into force and the prohibition worker will have nothing to do along this line it is hoped that he and she will exert themselves in behalf of providing suitable amusements for the poor workingman for his one day of rest—Sunday. The Lord's Day Alliance worker should come out of his shell and try and look at the subject from the other fellow's point of view.

Open wide the drug stores and ice cream parlors. Take the ban off ball games and all open air sports. Let the picture plays be shown at the theaters. Incidentally make the churches so inviting that the people will look forward to a pleasant hour or two spent in the portals of God's home. It is within the province of the members of the alliance to do much real good to the community if they will only broaden their narrow vision in this direction, and the churches will undoubtedly be the gainer by many new converts.

BUY FROM STANDARD ADVERTISERS

An advertisement to a merchant is very much like what sowing seed is to a farmer. It may take a little time for the results to show but they are bound to come. The wise farmer does not expect big returns unless he sows wisely and generously, likewise the wise merchant knows he must take generous space to get large returns from his advertising.

This week's issue of The Standard contains many of the most progressive firms in Calgary, concerns who have special bargains to offer and who stand back of their advertisements with proper guarantee of quality, price and service.

Whether you are a country reader or a city subscriber it will be to your interest to glance over the advertising columns of this issue. You are bound to see something of interest in the advertisements—something that you want or are in need of, something that is going to make life a little happier for you or your family if you should buy it. The Standard guarantees that you will save money by purchasing from its advertisers and likewise derive much pleasure from association with firms of Standard character and reliability. Buy from Standard advertisers.

SEE CANADA FIRST

As early summer breezes are wafting the fragrant scent of flowers through the open windows of home, office, store and shop they bear to the occupants therein glad tidings of great joy; invisible, intangible the message is nonetheless a definite notice of the advent of the vacation season.

The tired business man, sniffing the air, is suddenly stirred to a realization that his annual rest is due. He pushes aside his business cares for the time being, and his pencil jots down figures while he calculates how much time he can spare from the office, how much money he can afford and where he will take his family for a vacation.

Real duties have weight during the past winter season perhaps on members of society, and its dull routine makes a vacation in the office a most welcomed change.

The girl clerks in the department stores, the professional man, the bookkeeper and the laborer, all of those who are fortunate enough to be allotted time for a vacation, are anxiously waiting for the day when they can drop their daily tasks and go forth to spend the nickles and the dimes which they have hoarded for the last few months for this particular occasion.

"Where shall I go?" and "How much shall I spend?" are the questions uppermost in the minds of all those who are planning vacations. "See Canada First," is the answer of the agencies and bureaus which have to do with summer tourist travel in the Dominion. Europe's war prevents a pleasure jaunt abroad, they explain, and anyway what real patriot would not prefer to know his own country before delving into the mysteries of a foreign land.

They add that for less money the tourist of Canada can see just as much magnificent scenery, encounter as interesting historic associations and enjoy all the charm of quaint old-world travel within the confines of the Dominion.

Canada has all the attributes to make up an ideal summer resting place, especially in respect to its mountainous territories, seashore and inland water sheets. The longer one stays in the vicinity of its mountains, the more impressive and attractive the picture becomes.

The Dominion with its railroads, broad highways and other facilities make its most picturesque regions easily accessible. Clear skies and pure air are wonderful, and the problem of sleep and food is met with little or no inconvenience to the traveler. Why shouldn't Canada be seen first?

COMMENTS OF A CYNIC

Could anything be more beautiful than Calgary is these days.

We know folks who actually think their troubles interest others.

June, albeit though she was somewhat tardy, rightfully came into her own before the month expired.

Speaking of well preserved women there are some we know that we should like to see preserved or ossified; we wouldn't care which.

Illusions are the grand ideas we have about ourselves; delusions are the silly ideas other people have about us.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Two editions of The Standard will be published of this issue. The home edition will be published on Thursday night in time for early Friday delivery. This has been found necessary to satisfy the great demand of the country subscribers, who contemplate visiting Calgary during the exposition as well as the home readers who desire to take advantage of the week-end shopping inducements which The Standard advertisers have so generously favored us with. The second or last edition will be issued Friday evening and will be on sale on the streets Saturday, also throughout Sarcee camp and the exposition grounds. The last edition will be the only one to contain the story of the Iron claw, a copy of which will be mailed free upon request to any subscriber who fails to secure same.

A GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY BEFORE CANADA

Within the last ten years, cattle and swine have increased in Canada in numbers, but not in anything like equal proportion to the increase in population. The Commission into the Cost of Living tersely describes the situation: "The increased cost of livestock is due to under-production. The more emphatic way, as regards sheep, and even as regards swine, the depletion last year being of such extent to produce a certain measure of scarcity this year. At the present time, there are great difficulties in shipment of meat products across the Atlantic, owing to the commandeering of ships for the transportation of munitions of war; yet the market remains buoyant, and all live stock are fetching higher prices on the hoof in Canada than they have ever done before. If such can be the case, it is surely reasonable to expect that when the warring nations shall have come to an agreement, and flocks and herds that have been decimated have to be renewed and revived, the livestock industry in Canada will be greatly accelerated. When peace comes, not only the twenty million men under arms but a large part of the general population of Europe will hail with eager anticipation the chance to once more enjoy fresh-killed beef, mutton and pork. Breeders, too, will hasten to restore their vanished or decimated stocks.

A dozen countries will then clamor for cattle, sheep and pigs. Canada, with her channels of supply open, with her nearness to the sources of demand, will then be in a most favored position to avail herself of the situation to the full and to obtain an export reputation that will last.

Western Canadian farmers must benefit because land is cheap in Western Canada, the opportunities for raising feed cheaply unequalled, and conditions for the livestock industry ideal.

ROAD ALLOWANCE NOT DEDUCTED

There is one thing you want to remember if you contemplate buying land in Western Canada, and that is that you get full measure. July Clearance Sale

The Master Bargain Event of the Year!

A great, big business during April, May and June, has made us feel like celebrating during July. Besides, every good merchant considers that his profit-making time is mostly over by July 1st, and turns his attention to adjusting stocks, cleaning up all left overs that usually result from a big season of selling, in preparation to our annual inventory.

Yet, we find our shelves, counters and racks filled with thousands of dollars' worth of summer goods, which must be cleared promptly—even though considerable loss of profit results. We never allow goods to accumulate from one season to another. It is for this reason only—that we hold this, Drastic Price Lowering July Clearance. You help us to accomplish our task, and we will help you to some of the most remarkable bargains, and remember the summer has just begun—you'll want and need many of these splendid reasonable goods long before the summer comes to an end. Buy them now—think of the great savings.

This Great Clearance Movement Starts Monday

And for ten busy days the store bids you welcome. Best selection will be assured by attending promptly.

YOU'LL WONDER AT THESE EXTRAORDINARY COAT AND SUIT BARGAINS

Suits and Coats that were a credit to their department, to our store—and we harbored them for their style and tone. But the end of that has come. Into the hopper of the bargain mill they go to be ground out alongside of commoner styles. A ridiculously low price probes fun at their exclusiveness of style, but it can't effect the quality. They are just as chic, handsome and stylish, but less expensive—that's all. In every instance prices are but a mere fraction of former values. That's How We Conduct a Clearance!

$25 to $32.50 Suits for $15.95

35 only Suits in the lot, and they will likely go to the first thirty-five Suit buyers early Monday. The materials are fine serges, fine poplins, smart tweeds, checks, etc. Colors are new and desirable, styles are the season's latest, new flare and belted effect. Suits are tailored to perfection. All sizes included. Regular values $25.00, $27.50, $30.00 and $32.50.

AT THE PANTAGES

Next week at the Pantages Theatre, where a splendid line of attractions will be offered. The bill is composed of a most dramatic playlet with a moral, a musical offering that shows class from every angle, and some very funny comedians.

playlet of a timely subject. It treats of the evils of divorce, the subjects being taken from life and reproduced in a most capable manner by a cast of well known actors. The action is intense and the language used in very plain, there being no chance to misconstrue the meanings. It is a sketch that will make everyone think regardless of their personal views as to this grave problem which has not been solved up to this day.

A musical treat will be offered by the Six Kirksmith Sisters, a dainty half dozen of instrumentalists and singers who are all accomplished artists. They will offer a repertoire of carefully selected instrumental and vocal numbers that is sure of a hearty welcome, as artistic offerings always received much approbation from the discriminating audiences that composed Calgary's attendance to theatres.

Sheldon Brooks, the composer of popular hits, and his partner Clarence Bowen an artist at the piano, will offer a combination of singing and comedy as seldom seen. This pair are colored gentlemen with all the vim and temperament of their race; a lively fifteen minutes is assured while these two comedians are on the stage.

Freeman and Dunham will offer a singing and talking skit entitled "A Day at Brighton" which abounds in clever humor and good singing.

Black and White is the billing used by two charming young ladies who are very clever in the acrobatic line; the fourth episode of "The Iron Claw" will also be shown depicting and revealing some sensational situations in a masterly manner.

AT THE GRAND

"BABY MINE" The Best Comedy Ever Written at the Grand All Next Week as Special Fair Week Attraction

The idea of "Baby Mine" which is the fair week attraction at the Grand all next week, was suggested by the following newspaper article in the New York Times of July 26th, 1916.

Chicago officer says many women pretend children are their own. Special to the "New York Times". Chicago Ill., Jan. 28.—There are in Chicago today fully 500 husbands fondling infants that are not their own, but have adopted by their wives, and the deluded fathers are none the wiser.—This statement was made today by Lyman W. Rogers, treasurer of the National Maternity Hospital, from which institution, he says, some 250 children are adopted into good homes every year.

William A. Brady realized the immense possibilities, if a comedy could be produced dealing with this subject, and when "Baby Mine" was first produced in New York at Daly's theatre its success was immediate. Allan Dale in his review of the show said "From start to finish of "Baby Mine" there is laughter. The longer I listened the longer I laughed. This really sums up the whole situation to what "Baby Mine" really is and as a relaxation from the care of everyday life is the best attraction that could have been selected for fair week by the Grand management for the entertainment of Calgarians and out-of-town visitors.

AT THE PRINCESS

Dreaming by day and night, at work or in her lonely attic, the little girl found at last that dreams though in modified form, are sometimes converted into realities. The Prince of her dreams walked into the department store where her allotted work was to sell handkerchiefs to all who would buy—and then a beautiful photoplay resulted; a Bluebird feature filled with thrills, fascinating in its love theme, gripping in the tenderness of its interest and brimming with optical delights in the brilliancy of its photography. Such is "The Crippled Hand" to be exhibited at the Princess Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday with Robert Leonard the Princess of the Dreamer's dreams, and Ella Hall the little dreamer. "The Crippled Hand" contains a story that embodies the real life and fanciful in greatly interesting measures. Trick photography will provide some of the most be-

AT THE ALLEN

MARGUERITE CLARK IN A DELIGHTFUL ROMANTIC DRAMA Little Marguerite Clark, who has traced the path of Prince's pauper, orphan, Spanish girl, little Irish lass, Swiss maiden, and others too numerous to mention, will be seen for the first time in "Silk and Satins." This beautiful photo romance will be shown at the Allen shortly. Watch the papers for dates of this extraordinary Famous Players production. In support of Miss Clark, who plays Felicie in both parts of the play, there appear such well known players as Thomas Holding, Vernon Steel, Clarence Handyside, W. A. Williams and Fayette Perry, and others of equal prominence in the motion picture world. "Silk and Satins" is the next Marquette Clark photoplay booked to play at this theater shortly, and is one of the biggest attractions ever produced by the Famous Players company.

PEGGY HYLAND IN

"SAINTS AND SINNERS"

Miss Peggy Hyland, the favorite of the English stage, who has lately arrived from England to appear in the Famous Players productions, and who makes her premier American appearance in this subject, "Saints and Sinners" a superb dramatic photoplay.

When the story opens, Letty is a contented little village maid, living with her father and Lydia, their housekeeper. She is the life of the family, and by her innocent pranks keeps the two old folks young. George Kingsmill, a farmer, is vainly calling on Letty for her hand in marriage, to the regret of her father, the minister. Letty like most country girls has a desire to see the city, and is attracted to Captain Fanshawe, a gentleman of worldly experience and questionable reputation. The Rev. Fletcher and George finally persuade her to refrain from meeting the interloper again, however so lured by the many painted stories of the gay city life she is lead away, Letty realizing her sad predicament too late, confesses all in a letter to her father, the enraged minister and George leave for the city to aid the unfortunate girl. In the meantime a relative of Captain Fanshawe's calls at Letty's room to tell her of the Captain's double life, upsetting all her hopes of redeeming herself. Fortunately she is rescued by her father and the young farmer.

From this point many interesting and pathetic scenes are portrayed in this wonderfully strong picturization of "Saints and Sinners," with this celebrated English actress, Peggy Hyland.

GEORGE BEBAN GREAT

ITALIAN CHARACTER ACTOR

IN "PASQUALE"

George Behan, widely known for his wonderful Italian character acting is seen in his strongest photodramatic play "Pasquale" now showing at the Allen.

This photoplay is based upon the life and experiences of Pasquale, the Italian grocer. He is called back to Italy to the battle front, scenes of which are realistic in this late Morocco feature play, showing the great conflict raging heroically and Pasquale is seriously injured in one of the great trench battles, and invalided back home.

One of the most extraordinary features noted about this strangely fascinating play is that George Behan has the animals, dogs, birds and cats, in fact, all the animals used.

In several scenes as he goes to leave, the animals of their own desire turn to watch what their human friend and master is doing.

This affection is understood when the kindly character of "Pasquale" is comprehended.

From the first to the end the photoplay is full of pathetic and intensely gripping incidents, which cannot be explained, but must be seen to be appreciated. The auto smash-up, thrilling battle scenes, explosions, and many other exciting scenes are shown in George Behan's greatest Italian photodramatic play "Pasquale."

Watch Satisfaction

In buying a Watch it is reasonable to suppose you will get a better price, and a more satisfactory timepiece from a firm that has made Watches a study, than from a dealer who knows little or nothing about Watches.

This firm started in business with only a repair bench and a kit of tools, and the only business done for a number of months was watch repairs. Our knowledge of watches is worth something to you in the purchase of a watch, and the very fact that our business grew from nothing to its present volume is proof that our watches and our watch repairs have given satisfaction.

We do not sell a watch that will be unsatisfactory, because we know we would have to repair it or replace it before long. We sell only the kind we KNOW will give satisfaction, and back every sale with a guarantee.

Our Watch Repair Department also must give the same satisfactory service, and every repair job is guaranteed.

It will pay you to see us about your Watch.

SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR
The 15th military dance took place at the Al Ash Temple on Tuesday night last was a most successful
one. The large floor space was filled to its capacity, and our "Tommy" turned out in goodly numbers. The ball presented a spectacular sight, being prettily decorated with colored lights and the band was specially worthy of praise.

Refreshments were served at 11.30 and the dance continued until 2 o'clock. Special arrangements were made so that the cars were waiting to city.

FREE SWIMMING LESSONS FOR GIRLS AT Y.W.C.A.
The Y.W.C.A. announces that they will give three free lessons to all girls between the ages of twelve and fifteen years of age, beginning Monday next.
After these lessons, a special rate for classes for fifty cents, or individuals will be given twelve lessons for a dollar. The swimming classes will be continued throughout July, August and September, under the supervision of Miss Hulbert, the successor to Miss Eria Glass, who is an expert swimming instructor.

These classes were held last year, and proved a most successful feature of the association's physical development department, over 300 girls having taken advantage of the opportunity. And greater success is anticipated the coming season.

WHY THE TABLES ALWAYS TURN
Who is the lady sitting in the pew in front of us? asked a woman of her seatmate in church.
"Oh, she sat there in that same seat last week, all dolled up; everybody was laughing at her. Not the slightest idea who she is?" * * * There was an involuntary shrinking of the older woman. It seemed a sort of blow. Her thought had been far from critical.
And the young girl who had spoken was such a "dear" herself.

Then it reminded the old lady of the time she had entertained the minister and his wife to dinner and how with the afternoon coffee the pastor had spoken of a prominent woman who had been much in their congregation of late and had said, "I think Mrs. X. is on the verge. With the right handling we may be able to get both herself and her husband into the church," and almost immediately the good woman breathed, "But she is such a mischief-maker."

The minister bowed politely and soon excused himself. He was hurt, and his

WEDDINGS

Tait-Smyth
The marriage was solemnized at Biggar, Sask., on Wednesday June 21, of Miss Katie Belle Smyth and Mr.
Howard A. Tait, of Calgary, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. John Smyth. The bride wore a travelling suit of gaberdine serge and was attended by her sister, Miss Jennet, while Mr. Harold Rowan, of Calgary, was best man.

The ceremony was performed by the groom's brother, Rev. W. B. Tait, of Red Deer. Mr. and Mrs. Tait will reside in this city at 1320 Fourteenth avenue west. * * *

Robinson-Mewburn
A wedding of interest to Canadians took place in New York on Friday, June 16th, at high noon, at the Church of St. Mary the Virgin, the Rev. Mr.
Delaney officiating, when Helen Chilton, only daughter of Dr. and Mrs.
Hamilton Mewburn, of Calgary, and granddaughter of Dr. Francis C. Mewburn, of Toronto, was married to Norman Beverley Robinson, youngest son of the late Mr. C. C. Robinson and Mrs. Robinson, of Toronto, and grandson of the late Sir John and Lady Robinson. The bride, who was given away by her mother, wore a smart French costume of champagne taffeta, the deep collar and cuffs heavily braided in blue and gold, a large cream net hat with ermine, and carried roses and lilies. After the ceremony, a wedding luncheon was served at the Knickerbocker Hotel, Mr. and Mrs. Robinson leaving later for a short honeymoon before returning to Welland, Ontario.
Mrs. Hamilton Mewburn sailed on the 17th to join her husband, who is on the staff of the Duchess of Connaught Hospital, Taplow, England. Mrs.

Champion Rider Will Perform at Moose Jaw Stampede

Moose Jaw, Sask.—"Maple Creek," considered by western cattlemen to be the best crooked-bucking horse in the world, and the animal that gave Emory LaGrange, the world's champion bucking horse rider, the hardest ride of his career at the Gleichen, Alta. Stampede last year, has been secured to test the skill of the cowboys who will ride at the big Stampede here July 11th to 15th.

"Maple Creek" is a three-year-old, and is owned by Ad. P. Day, of Medicine Hat. Originally he was the pet crooked horse of an Alberta rancher's daughter. One winter she left him in the stable on an oat diet, and the first time she mounted him for a spring ride he bucked her over the fence into the ditch. The rancher couldn't understand this, as he was always a gentle horse, and he mounted "Maple Creek," and was likewise precipitated over the fence. Three of the young woman's cowboy admirers then sought to conquer the beast, and were themselves conquered, so that he was given up as an incorrigible outlaw, no longer fit for riding. It was then that Day learned of him and purchased him for the Gleichen Stampede, and his reputation has been growing rapidly ever since.

This famous horse, and a dozen of others of great reputation as buckers, will be here for the Stampede, and there are many who are wagering that more than one cowboy will wish "Maple Creek" and his kind had never been heard of before the four days of the Stampede have elapsed.

TRAP SHOOTING

The following article on trapshooting by Chief Bender was published in this week's Sportsman's Review:

I can't see why every man should not be a trap shooting "bug." Certainly I must confess that the microbe "has got me." And there is a logical reason why.

Without a doubt the love for trap shooting and hunting is inherent with every man who lays claim to the throbs of red blood in his veins. The "fever" is just naturally bred in the bones. It may lay dormant for a while, but sooner or later it's bound to assert itself.

What man is there who cannot look back over the years and recall an irresistible youthful desire to own a real gun? What man is there who hasn't heard the call of the big outdoors? And surely what man is there who could play the role of spectator at a real trap shooting competition without experiencing a desire to take a crack at the flying clays himself and show the other fellow how to smash 'em? The old adage that a man is only a grown-up boy still holds good. The latent desires of youth are bound to crop up. If you doubt it just visit the nearest gun club some day.

Personally, I like all outdoor sports. The hunt between baseball and myself is practically unbreakable. Golf, too, comes in for its share of attention. But trap shooting is my hobby. There's something irresistible about the whirring, swerving, elusive clays that fairly challenge one's skill. And there's no limit to the progression. It is not only interests, but grows on one.

I have been banging away at the clay targets for more than thirteen years, and even today every new competition—every new trial at the target—inspires me to the score with increased desire and ambition to outdo all previous efforts. And, as a matter of fact, lately I have done my best work. For the last few weeks I have been exceptionally favored, and right here let me confess a pride in having "gotten my hundred straight."

From the standpoint of clean, wholesome, invigorating sport surely trapshooting is worthy of every man's attention. And it is surprising to note the number of women who are daily indulging in it. Also it is remarkable to hear of the many "crack" shots to be found among the women. One seldom glances up the trapshooting news today without finding surprising records made by some woman novice. This in itself is ample evidence of the wholesome nature of the pastime. In fact, if one wished he could undoubtedly consume many pages on the merits and virtues—the educational and tendency toward physical and mental development of the sport at large. It's a big, invigorating recreation that is growing greater every day. If you have any doubts on the subject visit some gun club on the day of a shoot. Incidentally, see if you, too, don't get the "fever."

NORWEGIAN GIRL STILL CHAMPION

Miss Molla Bjurstedt, the national tennis champion, successfully defended her title by defeating Mrs. Edward Raymond of New York in the national tourney on the courts of the Philadelphia Cricket Club. Apparently Miss Molla will have the opportunity of defending her title for a good many years to come. There appears to be no one produced thus far whose skill seems to match that of the Norwegian girl.

In the events of the season to date Miss Bjurstedt's victories have been decidedly won. Only once has she been put to a three-set match, this by Mrs. Edward Raymond in one of the rounds of the metropolitan championships at Forest Hills.

Last winter Mrs. Bundy (the former Miss May Sutton, champion of the world) defeated the Norse girl in two out of three matches out in California. This is her only defeat since coming to this country the latter part of 1914. However, Mrs. Bundy is not participating in this year's tournament. Neither is the other existing Western player, Miss Mary Browne, three times national champion.

Everything now seems to point to Miss Bjurstedt's scoring a hold-over victory in this season's competition. And meanwhile the Norwegian is growing better and stronger, and the future will find it more of a tax than ever to bring about her downfall.

CANOE REGATTA WILL BE HELD ON JULY 29

At a meeting of the Western Division of the Canadian Canoe Association at the Toronto Canoe Club, it was decided to hold its regatta here on Saturday, July 29th. The idea is to encourage the new and younger members of the canoe clubs, as ninety per cent. of the older members have enlisted.

The crews of paddlers who have won in the senior or intermediate races must be composed of at least 50 per cent. of novice or junior men. This,

MILK MAY FORM MAIN DIET FOR STARS

San Francisco—Will milk in the future become one of the athletic trainer's principal aids in turning out lusty performers in the various branches of sport?

According to press dispatches, the Pasteur Institute of Paris has just made the declaration that one of the most powerful stimulants known is milk. It has been in use for months now as the stimulant for the French soldiers in the trenches, and its effect on them is said to amply justify the statement made by the famous institute in regard to it.

Milk has been used liberally to stimulate the French soldier before they go into battle, and its effects have been such that the French government has urged the sale of milk in preference to other soft drinks, behind the trenches when the soldiers go off duty for their spells of rest and recreation.

Whether or not this information will induce the men in charge of the physical rebuilding of the athletes to try its effect on men in training remains to be seen. While milk has, for many years, been an incidental on the training table menu, it cannot be said that it has been regarded in the past as a beverage with any particular "punch" to it.

However, the engineer of a train of thought should stop to think occasionally.

Exhibition Visitors

Do not fail to look up my exhibit at the Dog Show of June 29th, 30th and July 1st.

I will be pleased to show and explain to you anything concerning the most popular breed of dog in Western Canada.

These fellows make the best pal, guard, or house dog on earth. Arrange to pay a visit to the largest, finest equipped and most sanitary kennels in Canada.

I have a dandy lot of these classy, racy, game fellows now coming on—all weights and all ages.

KENNEL CLUB WILL HOLD DOG SHOW AT ANNUAL FAIR. Arrangements have been made by the Edmonton Kennel club to hold a dog show on the Exhibition grounds during the exhibition, July 10-15. This is one of the numerous attractions which are constantly being added to those primary arranged by the Exhibition association for the fair. The dog show always attracts a large concourse of interested admirers, and as in the past, this promises to be an exhibit well worth visiting.

THIRTY NEW ELEVATORS To be Built in Saskatchewan of Which Six Are Already Completed

Of the thirty new elevators to be built this season by the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Co. at various points throughout the province six have already been completed and six additional elevators are in course of construction, the company having been enabled to make an earlier start with this work than in any previous year. Commencing operations in the season of 1910-11 with forty-seven elevators, the company has now two hundred and thirty elevators in service, and the total number will thus be increased to 260 when the present season's programme of construction has been completed.

MEN AND EVENTS OF IMPORTANCE IN WORLD'S HISTORY

CROWN PRINCE DANIL OF MONTENEGRO, the heir to the throne of the little Balkan state which is now in the possession of the enemy, was born forty-five years ago, June 30, 1871. The Prince is the brother-in-law of Grand Duke Nicholas Nikolaievitch, former commander in chief of the Russian army, as well as of King Victor Emmanuel of Italy. He is the uncle of Crown Prince Alexander, the regent of Serbia.

The Montenegrin Crown Prince has inherited none of the qualities which have won such wide fame for his aged father, King Nicholas I. He has been fond of dissipation since his early manhood and has figured in a number of amorous affairs not greatly to his credit. It is alleged that Prince Danilo's actions inspired the composer of "The Merry Widow," a fact which scandalized the Montenegrin court and led the ruler to drop his old patriarchal customs and assume all the airs of a strict royal regime.

While Montenegro was making its desperate stand against the Austrian invaders, the Crown Prince was living in idleness and ease on the Riviera, spending most of his time at the summer tables of Monte Carlo. It is felt any call to go to the assistance of his struggling country, he contrived to repress the impulse.

The Crown Prince married, in 1899, a Teuton woman, Princess Jutta of Mecklenburg-Strelitz, a sister of the reigning grand duke of that German state. She has given him no children. Owing to his wild ways, Prince Danilo has never been popular with the Montenegrin people. His younger brother, Prince Mirko, is a stronger character than Danilo, but even more unpopular with the Montenegrins. Mirko is said to have gone over to the Austrians, and it is predicted that he will be elevated to the throne in the event of victory for the Central Empires.

It is probable that the Petrovitch dynasty in Montenegro is at an end. King Nicholas has been blamed by his people and by the Allies for not offering a firmer resistance to the enemy. The Crown Prince is so unpopular that he would scarcely be permitted to assume the crown, and Mirko is denounced as a traitor, and in the event of a victory for the Allies would not be permitted to ever set foot again on his native soil. Mirko, like his brother, has been mixed up in many affairs of an inglorious character. He is separated from his wife, a Serbian woman of the Obrenovitch dynasty. Mirko has three sons, Michael, Paul and Emmanuel, the eldest being eight years old.

Whether it is to become an Austrian province or a part of Serbia, Montenegro's fate is seemingly sealed. It is understood that the Allies propose to award the country to Serbia—a project which would doubtless be quite acceptable to the people, since the great majority are Serbs.

Marquis de Polles Chauffeur

WELLINGTON BIRNDELL, sixth Earl of Downshire, Baron Hill, Viscount Hillsborough, Viscount Kilwarlin, Lord Harwich, Viscount Fairford, Hereditary Constable of Hillsborough Fort, owner of Hillsborough Castle, East Hampstead Park and Murlough House and 120,000 acres, is probably the wealthiest chauffeur in the world. Lord Downshire, who will be forty-five years old on Sunday, July 2, was unable to enter the army, so he offered his services as a police chauffeur, taking the place of a man physically able to go to the front. The Marquis had driven police officials

1867 DOMINION DAY 1916

Our Creed
WE believe in Canada. We love her as our home. We honor her institutions. We rejoice in the abundance of her resources. We have unbounded confidence in the ability and enterprize of her people and we cherish exalted ideas of her destiny among the nations of the world.

THE STORY OF OUR DOMINION DAY—WHY IT IS CELEBRATED

DOMINION DAY. It is the greatest day in the history of all Canada. It is the anniversary—the forty-ninth anniversary of the confederation of the British North American provinces, and is most unique among national patriotic festivals. It marks the birthday of a nation, and not that of a monarch, as do the great celebrations of most European countries; and it commemorates the launching of a constructive policy instead of the beginning of a revolution such as is commemorated by France, the United States and most of the American republics. Between the methods of the observance of the First of July by the Canadians and the Fourth of July by their neighbors there was formerly a wide difference, but the "safe and sane Fourth" movement in the United States has resulted in a nearer approach to the Canadian style of celebration.

No such dramatic incident as the Declaration of Independence or the fall of the Bastille is connected with Dominion Day, when Canadians honor the memory of those "fathers of confederation" who brought to a successful issue the long considered plan for a union of the provinces. When the Dominion was instituted on July 1, 1867, it consisted of only four provinces—Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. In 1870 Manitoba entered the Dominion, and in the following year British Columbia followed its example. Little Prince Edward Island held aloof until 1873, when it joined the sisterhood. It was not until 1905 that further additions were made to the number of provinces by the admission of Alberta and Saskatchewan.

While the war has interfered with the plans for the celebration of the semi-centenary of the Dominion next year, Canadians hope that the war may be brought to a successful issue in time for a great peace celebration in connection with the nation's fiftieth birthday. In the great struggle now being waged in Europe Canada has demonstrated as never before its unflinching loyalty to the empire.

That the confederation of the provinces has been of inestimable value there is no room to doubt. "In union there is strength" is as true of Canada as of the United States. From the day that the confederation act went into effect Canada received a great impetus toward progress and prosperity. Under the new form of government the great West was quickly wrested from the Indian and the trapper and transformed into a vastly productive agricultural country.

The principle of union, for which Canada supplied the precedent, has been adopted with equal success in other parts of the empire. The Commonwealth of Australia, instituted in 1901 and comprising the six original Australian colonies, worked immediate and continuous benefit to the Australians. Even more important to the empire, in view of the present war, was the federation of Cape Colony, Natal, the Transvaal and Orange Free State in the Union of South Africa six years ago. The far-sighted statesmanship which brought about this union insured the loyalty of the Boers in the present war, so that now the strange spectacle is presented of Britain's recent foes now leading Britain's armies in the war against the Germans in Africa.

Canada's present population of more than eight millions is more than double that of 1867. In 1871, four years after confederation, the four original provinces had a population of only 3,485,761, and the addition of Prince Edward Island, Manitoba, and British Columbia scarcely brought the number to a half of the present mark.

PREMIER OF CANADA

SIR ROBERT LAIRD BORDEN, LL.D., K.C.
 The Premier of Canada, Sir Robert Borden, celebrated his sixty-second birthday on Monday last, being born on June 2, 1854, in Grand Tree, Nova Scotia. Sir Robert, irrespective of party affiliations, is one of the most popular men in Ottawa. His administration will rank among the most memorable ones in Dominion history.

GOVERNOR-GENERAL OF CANADA

H. R. M. THE DUKE OF DEVONSHIRE
 Accompanied by the Duchess and Princess Patricia His Royal Highness will pay a far-well visit to Calgary and the western country the early part of the week. The Royal party will spend a fortnight at Banff and Victoria, when they will return to Ottawa preparatory to their return to England.

17,000 miles before his identity was disclosed. His only daughter, Lady Kathleen Hill, is serving as a nurse, having taken the nursing course at Newark.

The oldest of the titles of the Marquis were created about two centuries ago, when one of his ancestors was created Baron Hill and Viscount Hillsborough. The title of Marquis of Downshire was created in 1789, the first of the line having been colonial secretary during the American revolution. The family traces its descent back to Sir Moyses Hill, who served with the Earl of Essex in O'Neill's rebellion in 1573. The present Marquis succeeded to the title when he was three years old. He has been twice married, the present Lady Downshire being a daughter of E. Benson Lister, of Clover Manor, Windsor.

The first Marquis of Downshire, known in American history as the Earl of Hillsborough, has been charged with a share of the responsibility for the American revolution. Soon after assuming the office of secretary of state for the colonies he manifested a disposition to bring about the revocation of the charters of the colonies, because of his belief that under these charters the people of the colonies enjoyed too much independence. Later he came into prominence in connection with the "Massachusetts circular letter," a document offensive to the British ministry. The Colonial Secretary demanded that the Massachusetts Assembly rescind the circular, and called upon the assemblies of the other colonies to pay no attention to it. The result of this was to bring the matter prominently before the attention of the colonists. Massachusetts defiantly refused to rescind, and the assemblies of all the other colonies not only upheld Massachusetts in this stand, but some of them issued circulars of their own.

Haggard, Novelist and Farmer
SIR HENRY RIDER HAGGARD, the English novelist, who left early this year on a tour of the world with a mission from the Royal Colonial Institute to investigate the opportunities for agricultural development and empire-building after the war, is unusually competent to tackle such a task, for he is an expert agriculturist as well as a famous writer of fiction. Sir Rider is a native of Norfolk, and is sixty years old. He began his career as an author in 1882, achieving his greatest fame with "King Solomon's Mines," published in 1886 and "She," published the following year, although his list of popular novels runs into the dozens.

Sir Rider is a practical farmer of long experience, and he knows crops not only in England, but has made a close study of agricultural conditions in South Africa, Australia, Canada and other parts of the empire. His present duty is to report on the possibilities of employing veterans of this war on the land after the conflict is over. It is expected that as a result of his investigations and reports from other sources the British government will be able to intelligently direct steady streams of these ex-service men and their families to South Africa, Canada, Australia, New Zealand and other parts of the empire where the chances of success are best.

It was more than forty years ago that Sir Rider first visited Africa as secretary to the governor of Natal, and he resided in various parts of the dark continent for many years thereafter. In 1884 he was admitted to the bar, but he soon abandoned law for literature. His first important book, "Dawn," was refused by six publishers. His three earliest stories realized less than $50 for the author, but "King Solomon's Mines" and "She" brought him a small fortune. In the opinion of literary critics, however, Sir Rider will be remembered not by his popular romances, but as the author of "Rural England," a work which seems destined to take rank among the agricultural classics. Capt. Haggard, a favorite nephew of the author, was one of the early victims of the war, having received a fatal wound while leading a bayonet charge. It is expected that Sir Rider will not only make a report to the Colonial Institute, but will write a book on the agricultural resources of the empire.

HOT WEATHER RULES OF THE BOSTON WORK HORSE RELIEF ASS'N

1. Load lightly, and drive slowly.
2. Stop in the shade if possible.
3. Water your horse as often as possible. So long as a horse is working in moderate quantities will not hurt him. But let him drink only a few swallows if he is going to stand still. Do not let him water him at night after he has eaten his hay.
4. When he comes in after work, sponge off the harness marks and sweat, his eyes, his nose and mouth, and the dock. Wash his feet but not his legs.
5. If the thermometer is 75 degrees or higher, wipe him all over with a wet sponge. Use vinegar water if possible. Do not turn the horse on him.
6. Saturday night, give a bran mash, cold; and add a tablespoonful of saltpeper.
7. Do not use a horse-hat, unless it is a cony-top hat. The ordinary bell-shaped hat does more harm than good.
8. A sponge on top of the head, or even a cloth, is good if kept wet. If dry it is worse than nothing.
9. If the horse is overcome by heat get him into the shade, remove harness and bridle, wash out his mouth, sponge him all over, shower his legs, and give him four ounces of aromatic spirit of nitre, in a pint of water; or give him a pint of coffee warm. Cool his head at once, using cold water, or, if necessary, chopped ice, wrapped in a cloth.
10. If the horse is off his feed, try him with two quarts of oats mixed with bran, and a little water; and add a little salt or sugar. Or give him oatmeal gruel or barley water to drink.
11. Watch your horse. If he stops sweating suddenly, or if he breathes short and quick, or if his ears droop, or if he stands with his legs braced sideways, he is in danger of a heat or sun stroke and needs attention at once.
12. If it is so hot that the horse sweats in the stable at night, tie him outside. Unless he cools off during the night, he cannot well stand the next day's heat.

DAIRY

The careful management of the calf for the first year will have all to do with its further usefulness, either as a sire or as a milk producer. Avoid sudden changes in the diet and practice regularity in feeding. These small points are too often overlooked by farmers, who later awake to ponder over the problem why their calves are not as good yearlings as those of their neighbors who exercise due care and consideration in calf management.

Whole oats are recommended for young calves less than six months old. After this age there will be less waste of grain if the oats are ground; for when the calf will eat plenty of rough feed to furnish all the bulk that is necessary in the ration. The amount of grain that should be fed will depend, of course, upon the age and size of the calf, and will vary from only a handful for the six-week-old calf to three or four pounds of the helves that are bred and soon due to calve.

On high priced lands farmers have to make their cows pay. This necessitates a knowledge of the individual cow in the herd. The only accurate method of obtaining this knowledge is to make proper use of the milk scale, the Babcock fat test, and the feed record throughout the whole lactation period. Every man who milks cows should keep a record of their production; this is the only way to distinguish between good and poor producers. He who does not keep such records cannot expect to increase the productivity of his herd from year to year, for his knowledge pertaining to the relative excellence of his various cows is inaccurate.

A good grain mixture for young calves is one that consists of 20 pounds whole oats, 30 pounds bran, 10 pounds corn meal, and 10 pounds oil meal. Ground barley may be substituted for the corn meal if this appears the more convenient and economical thing to do, but a little corn meal, like skim milk, is a great conditioner and developer in young calves and heifers.

The expense incidental to the keeping of records of the butter-fat and milk production of the cows should be considered as an investment, and its worth many times over its first cost. Very often, a bull from a tested herd can be sold for enough more to more than pay for one year's testing. Testing also tells the owner when he is feeding economically. If the feed is worth more than the butterfat and skim milk, the scales and tester will tell it. It also points out the cows that should be sold and the ones from which to save the heifer calves.

SHEEP

Early shearing is the best shearing but this does not mean that early shearing is the best under all conditions. Actual losses or serious setbacks may come to sheep which are shorn too early without having warm quarters in which to shelter afterward. Patterning sheep seem to thrive especially well when shorn and an added advantage where the sheep are to be shipped is that a greater number of shorn sheep may be shipped in a car.

The future of the lamb crop is largely determined by the start each individual is given. No better evidences of this can be given than instances in the flock where the ewes are poor milk producers, and their lambs fall

From the start to obtain enough nourishment to supply the needs of their body. In every flock there are some ewes that are inferior milk makers and if they are not carefully looked after and well fed they will fail to properly nourish their lambs.

Because it is possible to fit sheep as highly as necessary for showing, without curtailing their usefulness, it is highly probable that we are on the verge of a general reform, as far as breeding classes are concerned, but under the present system, it is often highly dangerous to pay big prices for the blue ribbon winners unless one understands the proper method of "letting down." This letting down process should never include a sudden curtailment of the ration. The feed should be reduced gradually and the animal should be forced to take exercise. By such judicious handling a ram or a ewe in the pink of condition can be "let down" naturally and easily and can be used very successfully for breeding.

POULTRY

ROOM AND FRESH AIR

Even when the hens are allowed range and are in the house at night, it is advisable to have the house of sufficient dimensions to insure plenty of fresh air at all times. The effects of overcrowding are injurious during all seasons. When crowded into limited quarters during the summer months, the hens become overheated, which is likely to result in weakness and disease. The effect of overcrowding during the winter months is just as disastrous. When crowded on the perches the hens become warm, if not hot, and on leaving the perches in the morning and going outside the house, the change is so severe that colds, catarrh, bronchitis or roup are likely to develop.

A large amount of glass in the front of the poultry house makes it warm during the day, but cold at night, as glass radiates heat very rapidly. Some glass, however, is helpful in providing light when the curtains are closed. Some ventilation should be given in a poultry house on the coldest night. It is usually best secured by leaving a small window open or having muslin curtains in the front of the house. If the house is shut up tightly without any muslin curtains in the front there is a tendency for moisture to collect in the house and condense on the rafters and other woodwork on frosty mornings. It is not necessary to close the muslin curtains in the front of the house except in very cold or stormy weather. Hens are protected by nature with warm feathers and a high body temperature so that they are better able to withstand dry, cold air than warmer air which is damp.

METHOD OF MARKETING

Every person who keeps chickens, whether he be a breeder of prize winning stock or a farmer with an ordinary utility flock, requires some system of identification for his chicks if he is going to keep poultry intelligently. The two most common methods of identification now in use and applicable to farm conditions are leg-branding and the punching of holes in the footwebs of newly-hatched chicks. The former method consists in placing on the leg of the chick small numbers or lettered bands of aluminum or wire. As the chicks grow the original bands have to be replaced by larger bands, but usually two changes are all that are necessary.

Such a system is entirely satisfactory for the man who makes a specialty of poultry raising; but for the average farmer, who can devote only a small portion of his time to the flock, the web hole method is quicker, less expensive, and more practical. One operation marks the chick for life. Using this method over a dozen ways of marking the feet are possible and if it is desirable to use more than this number of variations an additional number may be obtained by splitting the web instead of punching and using the same series of combinations.

Both operations are quite simple and are practically painless. To perform the former one should have a small poultry punch, which can usually be procured from the local hardware dealer, or an ordinary awl about one-sixteenth of an inch in diameter.

When using the punch the chick is held in the hand and the toes spread apart until the web is perfectly flat. Then the punch is inserted between the toes; care being exercised not to punch too far back.

In punching with the awl the simplest method is to hold the chick in the left hand and bring the feet against a small wooden block. This tends to flatten out the web so the hole can be made quickly and easily. Splitting the web is best done with a pair of sharp, blunt-pointed shears, the chick being held in the left hand and the web split in half, cutting close to the centre. It is not necessary to use antiseptics in either case as there is hardly a trace of blood and the slight wound made heals very quickly.

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts at first sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative system clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead, your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

Governor-General Pays Visit to Calgary on Farewell Tour of Western Canada

Came to the City Saturday and Inspected Boy Scouts and Overseas Battalions—Makes Official Visit to the City Hall—Welcomed by Mayor and Leading Citizens—Entertained by Col. Cruckshank

Calgary was decked with flags and bunting on Saturday in honor of the visit of His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught, the governor-general of Canada, who is making a farewell visit to the West preparatory to his return to England.

During the day the Duke visited the Ogden Convalescent home as well as making an official call upon the mayor in the afternoon he reviewed the Boy Scouts at the exhibition grounds, and later the R.N.W.M. Police. Maj. Fitzharris's men made a particular fine showing, and that the Duke was well pleased was evident from the expression of approval upon his face.

The official program of the day's activities, which had been provided by the committee, and which was carried out was as follows:

- 1. Inspected guard of honor provided by the 127th Overseas battalion at C. P. R. station. Left station at 10.30, city time. Motored to Convalescent home, Ogden. Inspected home. Left Ogden at 11.40.
2. Arrived at city hall 12.15. Received by mayor and council. The mayor made an appropriate address. Left council chamber at 1.30.
3. Called at Veterans' home, Seventh avenue.
4. Arrived football enclosure, Victoria park, about 2 p.m. Review and address provincial boy scouts. His honor Lieut.-Governor Brett was in attendance.
5. Inspected Royal North West Mounted Police.
6. Luncheon to his Royal Highness by Gen. Cruckshank and officers of Canadian overseas units and active and reserve militia of military district No. 13 at Palliser hotel.

Sir Rider Haggard Will Visit Calgary

Will Make an Address on Wednesday Before the Canadian Club—Great Success Attends His World-Wide Tour.

Sir Rider Haggard, the celebrated author, will visit Calgary on Tuesday and give an address before the Canadian club, at a luncheon which will be given at the Palliser in his honor.

Sir Rider has been making a world wide tour, at the request of the English government, to ascertain how different parts of the world would receive disbanded soldiers who wished to travel to other lands after the war, but who still wished to remain under the old flag.

In an interview, Sir Rider said that his visit to Canada was a matter of great importance to him, and he is sure that wherever a servant of the crown-in-arms may wander within British realms, that he will be greeted as a Britisher and meet a welcome equal to that given one born within the land itself.

He stated that the desired end has been achieved—that the doors of Australia are now wide open to that event, and every state will welcome such servants of the crown, some by specific gifts—but everywhere as one would welcome a returning one of its own.

New Zealand also, he said, is most friendly and will bear her part of the desired end to every best endeavor. Sir Rider Haggard will leave Calgary the middle of the week for Winnipeg and other eastern cities en route home. In each city he will make an address and endeavor to arouse some interest in the subject of his visit. So far his trip through Canada has been most encouraging and much good will result to the returned soldiers.

RESERVE BATTALION ORGANIZED

The platoon organization of the Reserve battalion has practically been completed and the following appointments announced: "A" company—Captain J. M. Carson, vice-Captain W. H. Butters, transferred to overseas service at Montreal; Lieut. R. MacGillivray, F. H. Kemp, A. E. Shurer, Bruce L. Robinson. "B" company—Captain Allan Cameron, Lieut. W. B. Laycock, J. M. Cheeser, R. F. Richardson. "C" company—Captain A. T. Short, Lieut. R. C. Chapman.

For the present each company will consist of three platoons. The fourth platoon will be organized as soon as sufficient numbers have been recruited. No. 2 and No. 3 platoons of "C" company will probably be organized next week.

The bankers' platoon will be attached as No. 4 to "B" company, but its officer has not yet been appointed. A great number of the men turned out for drill last night.

Lieut.-Col. Dennis announces that there will be a parade of the East Calgary members of the battalion at St. George's Island on Thursday night, at 8 o'clock, for organization. They will be No. 1 platoon of "B" company.

WHAT VERDUN HAS DONE

Paris—In announcing the Russian successes in Galicia to the French troops at Verdun on June 2, General Joffre issued the following order of the day: "The plan opened in the council of the coalition is now in full operation, soldiers of Verdun. We owe it to your heroic resistance which has been indispensably a condition of success and the basis of our approaching victories. For it is this resistance which has created on the whole European war theatre, a situation from which will emerge the final triumph of our cause."

BULLETINS Board of Trade Trip to Kananaskis

Will Run Excursion to Inspect Plant of Calgary Power Company—All Calgary is Invited for the Trip.

Notwithstanding the fact that electricity is used either directly or indirectly by practically every resident of the city few of them have but a vague idea how it is developed and turned into power. This fact will make the excursion of the Calgary board of trade to the plants of the Calgary Power company at Kananaskis next Wednesday all the more interesting.

The two plants of the company at Kananaskis and Horse Shoe Falls cost about $3,000,000, and up to 20,000 horse power can be developed by No. 1 plant at Horse Shoe Falls during the summer months when the volume of water is large. During the winter months when the water is much lower it requires the two plants to develop sufficient power for the company's purpose.

The board of trade have made arrangements to take up 200 people Wednesday and they will be shown over the two plants of the power company by members of the staff. Two gigantic water turbines that can develop over 5,000 water power each, the governors that regulate the speed of these turbines and also control the big water gates that withstand several tons pressure so accurately that the speed of the turbines never varies more than one-half of one per cent. are among the most interesting features of the big plant at the Horse Shoe Falls. Then there is the tunnel 45 feet under the dam over which all the water passes, the four big generators which deliver the power at 12,000 volts to the transformers which step it up to 55,000 volts for transmission to Calgary, where it is again reduced by transformers and delivered to all parts of the city.

Kananaskis, though one of the beauty spots that lie near Calgary, being only fifty miles away, is practically unknown to the average citizen, and few have ever been afforded the chance that will be given next Wednesday.

The scenery is most picturesque, and some of the finest fishing in the province can be had right at hand. Besides the fishing, visitors will be able to enjoy themselves in various other ways, as Secretary Campbell of the board of trade is arranging for a program of sports, that will include baseball, golf, tennis and other amusements.

The whole afternoon will be spent along the Bow, the big plant of the company being inspected, and the guests left free to spend the remainder of the time as they wish. The train will leave the C. P. R. station at 1 o'clock in the afternoon and returning will reach the city about 10.30. The board of trade has arranged for a return fare of $2.95 for adults, and $1.05 for children. It is expected that a dinner will be carried on the train to allow of the business men and any others who wish to do so taking their luncheon on the way up. Other arrangements will be made by Secretary Campbell and the committee for refreshments at Kananaskis.

The excursion will be in the nature of an informal picnic, and everyone will be free to enjoy themselves as their individual tastes dictate. It is expected that R. B. Bennett, M.P., president of the Calgary Power company, will be present to extend the hospitality of Kananaskis to the Calgary visitors.

As the party is limited to 200 it would be well for those intending to make the trip to notify the secretary of the board of trade so that reservations can be made for them.

WAR WITH MEXICO AVERTED

Official reports from Washington state that the reply from Mexico is satisfactory and that war has been averted. The United States troops will be withdrawn but militia will remain at border for a while.

Races at This Year's Fair Best Ever Seen in Calgary; Great Many Close Finishes

Carson Horse Won Nearly $700 During the Big Race Meet; Nellie G. Was Second; Rubicon Second, Owned by Houde of St. Paul, Was the High Money Winner Among the Thoroughbreds

"The Fair races, as a whole, were the best that have ever been seen in Calgary," said Fred Johnston, one of Calgary's foremost horsemen and a prominent official in all the leading horse associations of the country. From the time the first heat of the 2.22 pace got away until the final event on the running card Wednesday, there was not a single instant which was not teeming with action.

It was unfortunate that rain had to come on Monday, but despite that fact the races were run off on schedule time and showed to the Fair visitors that whenever they pay their money to see Calgary events, they are sure to get their ood's worth.

Just think that the first race of the fair; the 2.22 pace had thirteen entries at the start and twelve at the close of the race. The first place in this race was taken rather handsily by the big Denver entry, Zombino, but there was a merry fight for second position. There were seven starters in the 2.25 trot, the second race of the program and again a Denver horse carried off the honors, this time A. R. G., piloted by Smiling Joe McGuire, being the winner.

The 2.15 pace, the first harness race of the second day was perhaps the most hotly contested event of the entire meeting. There were seven entries, and no single horse won more than one heat. Grey Ghost was given the palm, but he had to go like sixty to beat Dick Mayburn. It was in this race that the fastest mile of the entire meeting was paced; the first heat being Grey Ghost negotiated two rounds of the track in 2.13 1/2.

The second harness race of the second day was supposed to be the big attraction, and it would have been had not Homer Mac gone lame and College Gent been able to start. Fans had hoped that College Gent would get going right and set a record better than 2.12 1/2, which is held jointly by Knight Onwardo, Oviedo and Hal Boy. However, neither of these stars appeared in the horizon and Nellie G. won the event with Strathell a close second.

The third day's races were held in a veritable downpour and the drivers or jockeys looked like native Africans, when they had made one round of the track. A few ingenious ones, placed a gummy sock between them and the horses hind legs to stop some of the shrapnel, but others took everything that came their way. The track was a veritable quagmire, but there certainly were close finishes that day. Copious, the big bay gelding owned by Russ Taber, of Grande Saek, and piloted by Russ McHenry, one of the best drivers in the business, won the event by taking two heats and second one. The Pace a fine looking roan mare from Victoria finished in second place.

There were twelve entries for the 2.30 pace and Joe Gaspoint's The Wilkmer was the best of the field. His veteran driver, Barney Barnes, played a big part in winning the race. Sir Achi-bald, one of the gamiest colts in the business, was second and Bertie Mac third. The 2.12 pace saw Arcobotta, a horse from Williston, North Dakota, who has been touted as a world beater, won the first heat with Strathell second. However, the Carson nag won the next two and the race.

The 2.18 pace went to Ross Director, who was considered an outsider before the race started by the talent. Sir Whirlig was the second heat and paid big money. This same Sir Whirlig had won a heat on Saturday, when there wasn't a single ticket on him. There were only four entries in the five-for-all Wednesday and Nellie G. again demonstrated her superiority over Strathell. King Bond was third. A.R.G. won the 2.17 trot Wednesday by taking two rounds. The first heat was won by Midnight Oro, but he was disqualified and set back to last place for running. This gave the heat to Joe McGuire. Cannon, the big bay favorite, from Brandon took second money.

The judges were Dick Roche, of Winnipeg, president, J. B. Miller, Edmonton, and A. R. Morrison, Calgary associates. Archie McKillop was starter until the rainy day, and Alderman Ruttle officiated the last three days. Fred Johnston was clerk of the course and the timers were H. B. Somerville, Harry Procter and Chas. O'Brien.

CLINIC IS BECOMING MORE POPULAR WITH CALGARY MOTHERS
Each Wednesday brings more mothers who are anxious for their babies welfare during the summer. Last week over a dozen children were treated, and the babies who have been brought to the clinic for the past three weeks are showing a marked improvement. This improvement is very gratifying to the promoters of the clinic, for they have been working hard for the babies' welfare.
As all mothers know, the summer is the hardest time for babies to pull through, and at the least sign of an ailment, these mothers should seek the advice of the clinic; and the clinic is proving very popular, new cases being presented each week.

PRESS CLUB ENJOY WEEK-END AT LAKE LOUISE
A large representative party of the Calgary Press club left on Friday for Lake Louise to spend the week-end as guests of the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. Stewart, Miss Daisy MacGregor (of the Alberta), Miss Eleanor McLennan and Miss Mackle (of the Herald), Miss Garnett and Miss Burnett (of the News-Telegram), and Miss Evelyn Sinclair.

WOMEN REGISTER FOR NATIONAL SERVICE
Following the meeting for the registration of women, held a few days ago, two hundred names were registered, and it is expected in the course of a couple of days facilities for registration will be provided at the Y. W. C. A. In registering their names, the women should fill in each of the following questions very carefully, which is a form that has been found very satisfactory in other places:
1. Christian name and surname.
2. Full address?
3. Age?
4. Married, single or widow?
5. Nationality?
6. Have you ever done war work? If so, what?
7. If so, when? (Give date as nearly as possible, with employer's name or names.)
8. Are you free to work (a) whole time? (b) part time? (c) to leave your home for work if pay is sufficient and housing satisfactory?
9. What work are you willing and able to do?
10. If you have never done paid war work, what kinds of work do you think you could do?
11. Are you prepared to be trained for work which you have not previously done?

PROVINENCE OF CALGARY'S SOCIETIES IN WAR WORK
Alberta is just one of the most bustling like provinces you ever knew, with every one of its 372,819 population able and willing to do a share of war work. The head office of the Red Cross Society, this Alberta, blessed for its prompt reports and optimistic spirit. Even the statistics sent in from Alberta seem to dance with vigor and look livelier than ordinary lists of figures.
In the Alberta Provincial branch of the C. R. C. S. are two most effective women officials—Miss Finkham, hon. secretary-treasurer and Mrs. C. H. Waagen, hon. superintendent of supplies. Since the annual meeting thirty-three new branches of the society have been organized, making a total of eighty-nine organized branches in the province of Alberta. The provincial depot is now in touch with 230 towns and villages.
Up to date, the province has sent forward 2,764 cases containing 695,547 articles, of which 398,258 have been forwarded since the annual meeting in November. The shipments made this year amount to over 100,000 articles more than were forwarded during the whole of last year. During the year ending October, 1915, the Alberta

For the Higher Education of Young Women, Preparatory Department. President—Rev. James Barclay, D.D. (L.D.). Archdeacon of Montreal; Principal—Miss Mary Elizabeth Windsor, B.A., assisted by a highly qualified staff of English and Canadian teachers. A limited number of resident pupils is received. The Institute reopens THURSDAY, 14th September, at NOON. Entrance examinations for new scholars will be held at the school on Saturday, 15th September at 10 o'clock a.m. The Principal can be seen at the school on September 15th, 21st, between 12 and 12.30 p.m., and 5 and 6 p.m. For prospectus, etc., apply to the principal, Mr. F. branch sent to the head office $30,000, and to the British Red Cross Society, $3,281. Since November 1st, 1915, they have sent forward to the head office $26,747 and to the British Red Cross Society $1,341.
In addition to this, the work of the Alberta Provincial Branch includes the up-keep of the Convalescent Home for Returned Soldiers, under the joint management of the Military Hospitals Commission, who are allowing a per capita grant to the Red Cross Society for this work.
The amount remitted to the central committee on November 30th, 1915, from the Women's Auxiliary to Belgian Relief, was $11,171. The Calgary Women's Canadian club, $200 and the four Calgary chapters I. O. O. E. (Tanisuk, Military, Sir Richard Grenville and Colonel Macleod), $14,159, with other donations to the Red Cross; the Local Council of Women, $3,000 garments to the Belgians, also $13,000. When the war broke out, Calgary had no branch of the Red Cross, but with characteristic Alberta promptness, one was formed on August 17th, 1914, and on September 8th was in full working order. There are now 47 life members, 308 active members and 578 associate members, with sewing groups of 2,206 members—also 40 auxiliaries in rural districts. The business men have contributed $25,000 for purchase of supplies and, of course, the usual variety of appeals and entertainments have meant additional funds. Since the work began, more than 275,000 articles have been sent to headquarters. Special contributions of work and money have always been made cheerfully by this branch, whether for Trafalgar, a linen shower or a sock shower. Mrs. J. S. Dennis is president, Mrs. J. Cairns, hon. secretary of this flourishing branch, with Mrs. P. J. Nolan and Mrs. R. R. Jamieson as vice-presidents and Mrs. Bruce Robinson as hon. treasurer.

LOOK OUT FOR OWN MISTAKES
The fellow who is always looking for mistakes on the part of others is sure to make glaring ones himself, and he naturally brings more censure upon himself because he is so critical of others.
It seems to be a general law that the man who is continually looking for little slips of the other fellow does not give full time to his own work, with the result that he leaves more "openings" than the man who attends to his own business.
It is a dangerous thing to draw attention to the shortcomings of others. It has a boomerang effect. If you keep yourself out of wrongdoing and conduct your own affairs properly, you will find that you have a job which requires all of your thought and time.
The man who scatters his shot never gets anything worth while. You can never advance your own interest by drawing attention to the failures of the other fellow.
The man who wins out is the one who aims at a certain spot, keeps this as his beacon light, and uses all his energies in an attempt to reach it.

A CALGARY WORKER
"Give name and address of two persons (not relatives) to whom reference may be made, one of whom should be a doctor.
Already women qualified to take men's places in numerous lines of work, including that of farm, office and school, are registered, while many are giving their names. Once the books, with the names properly classified, are given to the Y.W.C.A., it will be a simple matter for the employer desiring help to telephone there, state his requirements, and if possible secure the female labor.
This has been attempted in Calgary, as in other cities in Canada, to make easier the way for men physically fitted to enlist. The possibilities and classification of the labor which can be of service to the nation is felt by the committee to be one, and one of not the least of the nation's resources.

WIT and HUMOR

DIPLOMATIC
It was evidently her first visit to the hair department of the great emporium, and she was noticeably embarrassed.

"I wish to look at some—or false hair," she stammered.
"Very well, miss," rejoined the diplomatic saleswoman. "What shade does your friend desire?"

Made His Mouth Water
Irvin S. Cobb is a Kentuckian and proud of it, though he can't resist poking fun at the Blue Grass State once in a while. He joshed his fellow Kentuckians at a banquet in New York one time, telling them that every one of them cried or applauded when the orchestra played "My Old Kentucky Home," but that not one of them could be taken back until the extradition papers had been fought through every court.

Cobb delights in stories that have a Blue Grass flavor, that portray some of the characteristics Kentuckians have or pretend to have. Here is one of his favorites:

A Kentucky colonel always closed his eyes when he took a drink. When questioned concerning this habit he readily explained:

"The sight of good lickah, sah," he said, "always makes my mouth watah, sah, an' I do not like to dilute my drink, sah."

FROM DUST TO DUST
It was the glorious autumn, but it was windy and dusty, and the dust beat mercilessly into their faces as the young man and maiden turned the corner of the street.

"Did you get any in your eyes, darling?" he asked fondly, drawing her closely to him.

"Yes, sweetheart," she murmured, searching for her elusive handkerchief.

"Which eye, beloved?" he pressed. "The right one, love! Did you get any in yours?"

"Yes, dear heart!" he responded, using the same corner of the handkerchief that she had used.

"How sweet!" she exclaimed. "And yours was in the right eye, too?"

"Yes, dearest."
"Ah," she thrilled, "do you suppose it could have been part of the same piece of dust that got in our eyes?"
"I hope it was!" he exclaimed fervently, blinking a pleasurable beam with his good eye.
"Wouldn't it be lovely, love?" she cried.
"Oh, love, wouldn't it?" she wiggled.

And the wind howled as though in pain, and from the house opposite a "Vote for Women" board fell with a sickening crash upon the pavement.

AT THE ALLEN MME. OLGA PETROVA OPENS AT THE ALLEN MONDAY "The Heart of a Painted Woman," in which Mme. Petrova plays the stellar role. This talented and brilliant screen star in this strong dramatic production scores another great triumph. The story has to do with Selma, the beautiful daughter of poor parents leaves her home and secures a position in New York as a painter's model. The artist becomes greatly infatuated with her beauty, as does Selma, falls in love with the young artist, however, some time later he abandons her to marry an heiress. Selma discouraged by her treatment, falls lower and lower in the call of life, and when she reaches the bottom-most straits, fascinates a young spendthrift, and he follows her to her home and offers her wealth if she will be his. Selma declines the honor and tells the spendthrift how differently she would have cared for her life had she had her opportunities and wealth, and deciding to give her a trial, he presents her with huge cheques. Selma then opens a hospital for crippled children. Spendthrift, in a drunken stupor, falls into the clothes of wealth, and in order to rescue him Selma goes back to her former life and seductive wife exerts a confession from wealth which exaggerates Spendthrift and herself, and together they begin a new and happy life. This wonderfully strong screen play is one of Mme. Petrova's many great successes, and is a production of the highest order, and will appeal to the most critical.

Rev. Fletcher. For the purpose of securing the most exact appropriate atmosphere for this subject Miss Hyland was sent with a well-selected cast of players, including Hal Forde, Clarence Handyside, Horace Newman and William C. Laupe, under the direction of James Kirkwood, to the beautiful city of Jacksonville, Florida. The play is also studded with innumerable elaborate interior settings which serve to dress the drama with a richness that invests the minutest detail with pictorial beauty and interest.

MARGUERITE CLARK IN "SILKS AND SATINS" Famous Players Star in thrilling romantic drama of past and present. Miss Marguerite Clark in "Silks and Satins" which plays at the Allen next Wednesday and Thursday, is one of Miss Clark's greatest successes. In this unusual romance Miss Clark is a modern girl who is to marry a certain young dandy against her wishes. Through the careless manœuvring of a table, a drawer is dislodged, which had heretofore been unseen, revealing a diary with an avenue of escape from her predicament inscribed in it by an ancient relative, of the eighteenth century, who had been in a like predicament. The plot is a combination of an old love with one of modern origin. Little Pelletie, the stellar figure in both romances, portrayed by Miss Clark, reads the following love affair from the newly discovered diary.

AT THE EMPRESS EDWARD CONNELLY IN "MARSE COVINGTON" Edward Connelly the late star of the stage play "Marse Covington" has transferred his personality to the screen and will be seen at the Empress theater, on Friday and Saturday, in B. A. Rolfe's picture production of the famous George Ade fiction document, "Marse Covington". "Marse Covington" is a great big human interest story of a beloved southern character, which is typified by the uncanny accomplishments of Mr. Connelly, who originated the role on the spoken stage.

AT THE PANTAGES "That's My Horse," a nifty song revue featuring Max Bloom, the inimitable comedian, Alice Sher, a dainty comedienne, Johnny Gilmore, a funny Irishman, and a chorus of eight pretty girls, will be the feature attraction of

AT THE GRAND A high class road company will visit the Grand Theater for a three days' engagement next week in a magnificent scenic revival of the old favorite "Uncle Tom's Cabin." A number of years have passed since this great old story of Civil War days has been presented in this city, and the announcement of its coming has excited pleased comment from young and old. Already inquiries regarding seat reservations and the scale of prices have begun to pour into the Grand box office and this unusual interest would indicate that instead of becoming dim with age the old familiar characters of "Little Eva," "Ann Ophelia," "Uncle Tom," and the redoubtable "Topsy" have become very firmly entrenched in the hearts of theatergoers than ever before. Certain it is that the younger or adult who has not witnessed this wonderful masterpiece of wartime literature has missed even more than the proverbial "half of his life" and that this grand old play carries a message that will literally live forever. "Uncle Tom's Cabin" will be the attraction at the Grand theater for three days only, the dates being next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, June 15th, 16th, 17th. A special matinee performance will be given on Saturday and the management realizing the tremendous appeal the story makes to the little ones, have arranged a special price of 15c for children for the Saturday afternoon show. "Uncle Tom's Cabin" has played to record breaking business everywhere this season and the Grand is sure to attract big audiences during its engagement here next week.

GATEWAYS TO ITALY ARE NOW ALL BARRED

German Warning to Switzerland Turned Out to Be Boomerang

Rome.—A formula has been found to describe officially Germany's position with respect to Italy. As Italy and Germany are not at war the definition of enemy country cannot be applied to Germany, when Italy decided to seize German ships in Italian ports and prohibit the exportation of foodstuffs and other articles to Germany, besides resorting to other measures which practically amounted to hostile acts, a definition justifying such measures was indispensable. Accordingly Germany is now described as "the ally of a country at war with Italy," and this convenient description is invariably used in royal decrees sanctioning reprisals against Austria, Turkey and Bulgaria. "The ally of Italy's enemies" has spared no effort to create complications between Italy and her allies and her neighbors. The most recent attempt on Germany's part was aimed at creating complications between Italy and Switzerland. The Germans resorted to the tactics which were attempted without success in the case of Holland. Just as Germany confidently warned Holland that England intended to force the Scheeld and offered aid for the defence of Holland's neutrality and territorial integrity, Berlin has warned Switzerland that Italy is aiming at occupation of the Canton Ticino and offered to help her. Germany pointed out to Switzerland that the Italians were erecting fortifications on the Swiss frontier which were obviously a menace to the Canton Ticino. Germany's warning caused a certain amount of "nervousness" in Switzerland. Possibly the Swiss Government demanded explanations from Italy, as inspired statements appeared in newspapers here to the effect that Italy's fortifications were solely a defensive precaution. This attempt is merely the repetition of rather the sequel of the tactics followed by Germany nearly a year ago. When Italy declared war on Austria the report was spread that Germany was going to punish Italy by invading her across Switzerland. It was hoped that the Italians instead of assuming the offensive against Austria would concentrate troops along the Swiss frontier and hold large reserves to check German invasion through Switzerland. Moreover as Lombardy was threatened with invasion the inhabitants of this region were expected to be kept in a state of alarm. Great Failure. Precautions were taken to check a possible German invasion across Switzerland and the frontiers were strongly guarded, but as time passed and the Germans did not arrive, such precautions gradually began to be considered useless and the reserves concentrated in Lombardy were sent elsewhere. Germany's menace, lost its value the more so as it failed to avert or slacken the Italian advance against Austria. Italy started work recently on fortifications along the Swiss frontier.

These fortifications existed since the outbreak of the war, and are merely being strengthened. There is every reason to believe that the covering troops held by Italy along the Swiss frontier can be considerably diminished when the work is concluded. Germany expected Switzerland to be alarmed in order to have a chance of offering to help her. The advantage for Germany in case her offer to help Switzerland had been accepted would have been enormous. Military collaboration with Switzerland would mean simplifying the question of an invasion of Italy to such an extent as to render it an easy matter. The Swiss Government was not alarmed when warned about Italy's aggressive intentions against the Ticino, but merely solicited explanations in a friendly way from Italy and got them. As a result the Swiss troops concentrated along the German frontier have been reinforced while those guarding the southern frontier where the Italians are strengthening their fortifications have been diminished. Even since the outbreak of the war Italy has taken into consideration the possibility of an Austro-German invasion of Lombardy across Switzerland of the Trentino. Along the Alps the Italians have advanced positions with successive lines of reserves behind them to resist an invasion. The formation of the Italian army has been compared to a warrior equipped with offensive and defensive weapons. He stands facing Austria, wielding his spear against the enemy in front while with his shield slung on the left arm he is ready to parry the blow of any adversary attempting to attack him by surprise. All the doors through which Italy has been invaded in years gone-by have now been barred and are defended.

READS BY VOLCANO LIGHT
Can See Newspaper Print in Glow of Lava From Maunaloa
Honolulu.—Maunaloa, which was in eruption in May, has broken out again. A flood of lava which burst forth at an elevation of 7,000 feet is flowing down the mountain side, travelling southwest at the rate of about a mile an hour. The flood of lava has divided, following two channels. The glow illuminates the entire landscape at night. Newspapers can be read by its light many miles away. The course taken by the lava is that taken by the last previous eruption, about nine years ago. The sea is about fifty miles from the mountain in this direction, and there is little property of value in between.

SOMETHING ABOUT TURBULENT BUT INTERESTING MEXICO

RANGERS ROUNDING UP BANDITS

Personal Impressions Gathered By F. W. White During a Recent Sojourn Through Mexico, and Published in The Denver Post.

It exerts a large and perhaps a benign influence in preventing confiscation, and the ruin of vast investments.
But there is always a limit to a mild protective policy. It now seems to have been reached.

We must not think small beer of Mexico. True, it is a land of revolution. It is a sad fact that it has never been in a condition of peace. It has been torn by dissension since the day it was born.

Nevertheless, although utterly without tranquility since President Diaz fled to Europe in 1911, there is still a certain stability in that distressed country.

And we must bear in mind that it has the sympathy of all Latin America; that it will be given encouragement and support, and that, in its favor, there is always that menace from the Orient.

Under his autocratic direction—and no monarch reigned so absolutely as he west of Constantinople—he built up Mexico; he constructed railways, invited the American with his money to come in and develop the rich resources. He gave away valuable concessions. What was the result? The peon who was getting 17 cents a day had his wages doubled.

The American came in with two hundreds of millions of money in five years to build and operate railroads and smelters, exploit mines, to farm over vast acres and raise enormous droves of cattle.

Mexico's population continued to grow. It now numbers nearly 16,000,000, and yet nearly half that number will not do a stroke of work. There are less than 5-

And, if you will permit me to continue, observation shows that these people, and especially those humble ladies of the Southland—who are never troubled with our ever-changing fashions, wearing, as they do continually, the soft, black shawl and skirt among the middle class—are nevertheless human, and manifest the eternal feminine.

Of course, their external graces of dress cannot be many. For one thing, they adore face powder, which they use dexterously, while their languorous eyelashes seem, to the man on the street, to have the aid of witching artifice.

"But why shouldn't they be vain? Isn't it a sex attribute? The only way to kill vanity in a woman is to kill her, and cynics have said that even then—in her

U. S. MOUNTAIN BATTERIES IN MEXICO

Photo shows the disposition of the United States troops in chasing Villa through the mountains of Mexico. Part of the army equipment consists of mountain batteries packed on the backs of mules so as to get through the steeper passes.

MEXICO is just now attracting considerable attention to itself. War-ridden Europe looks upon the dark republic as a sort of companion in misery.

It is generally regarded as holding the same relationship to the United States, in the matter of physical strength, as Serbia does to Austria.

The cockiness of Mexico is admired by the central powers much more than its judgment. The entire world, indeed, senses at the audacity of our neighbor to the south in even hinting at war with the United States. The contest is regarded as so unequal, the result so inevitable. But not so Mexico, itself. I have been through that land several times, once no later than January of this year, and imagine I know something of the temper of the people—the common people.

They sincerely imagine they can vanquish the United States and are keen to do it. They are people who respect, if they do not love, power. They feel that if they have the strength to conquer a country it is their duty to do it.

They have seen our country insulted by their people; their solitery during the troops of the United States to "come across." They have offered many indignities to the Americans and have found no practical resentment.

This state of affairs, going on for two or three years, has led the average Mexican to assume that "America is afraid."

That being the case, it has led to the logical conclusion, from the Mexican viewpoint, that the thing to do is to declare war on the timorous big neighbor, show them how valiant and brave a united Mexico can be, and take from this country, by way of compensation, two or three of our rich border states, especially Texas.

This sentiment in our sister republic may seem incredible, but it exists—and is quite general, while the hatred of America grows in intensity as the months flit by.

Today the people regard Villa as a second Bolivar. He is admired much more than Carranza. He is a great hero because he was the man who struck the first blow at the Despised Gringo. The Columbus raid is magnified into a deed of the grandest valor. There is not a peon in the north and west that would not willingly lay down his life for the bandit chief.

Such is the sentiment of the common people as I found it during the early part of the present year. It is well for our countrymen to know this and bear in mind that, should a contest come, the Mexican will not tamely submit, but will fight hard and long, urged on by the passion of hate and what he considers patriotism.

That the United States has been too lenient with Mexico is the strong belief of many. But, on the other hand, watchful waiting has had its cordial advocates, who bear in mind that America has today over five hundred millions of dollars invested in the mines, oil wells, lands and industrial of Mexico; that England, Germany and France have as much more, and that big business at all times

Photo shows a typical street scene of many of the smaller Mexican cities. In the vicinity of this city was where the American troops were attacked and is now the Southern End of the U. S. Army line extending from Columbus, New Mexico.

Japan—which at heart, bears no love for the United States.

It has statesmen and excellent financiers. Its feudal system, which still exists, fits into the life of the Indian and peon. Any other form of government would not do. It has been tried.

The unfortunate and kind-hearted Maximilian deposed the peons free; he lifted from them the curse of vassalage. Then the people starved. Revolution failed to improve conditions, and it was not until the strong Diaz came and made evolution take the 100,000 producers in the country. There are, or were a few years ago, in domestic service 2,000,000 men and women toiling for one-sixth that number of employers.

But during the last twenty years education has come the last generation can read and write and with education has come ambition and a desire for improved forms of living.

The arts and sciences have advanced; the aesthetics of life have been considered. Music is beloved of the population, for there is not a town or a city in the misnamed republic that there is not a fine band playing soft, lovely melodies afternoons and nights in the great plazas, which are thronged by the populace, even during these very disturbing times.

I have been in these cities frequently and listened with joy to the fine music—the best the world knows is played—and watched the people walking round and round in endless procession—men and women—the latter, as always, the more interesting. Their voices are never raised. They talk in low, musical tones, their liquid words are rich in melody, and when an English-speaking person is heard among them indulging in his own language, his or her voice sounds strangely harsh, strident, discordant. It is like rippling music to hear the muchachas chatter among themselves. You then most thoroughly appreciate the expression of "a voice soft and low" as being the most admirable thing in woman.

The people seem to have continuous joy in their hearts, although very little ready money in their purse. Possibly they are content because they know of no better life, but to all appearances they are happy, and that, after all

One never would recognize its truth until visiting Italy. South America or the lands of the melodions tomorrows.

There is no more beautiful city anywhere than Mexico City; no cathedral in Europe with a more magnificent interior than the one at the capital. The archaeological features of the country are abundant in extreme interest, while its undeveloped resources are the marvel of careful investigators.

The people, of course, are crushed in spirit, are now deadly poor, are also easily led by officials and clergy. They are cunning, treacherous, crafty and pious but pious after the manner of Louis XI.

The churches are really wonderful in their extravagant grandeur, considering the poverty of the people, while there are enough of these edifices to take the whole world—if so disposed—heavenward.

Of course, since the days of the liberator, Juarez, who separated church and state, and indulged in violent confiscation, the power of the priesthood has not been supreme, but it is still a mighty force, and naturally for good, although it demands unquestioning obedience from those who follow it.

It is always a delicate subject to touch upon religion, but clergy and laity are very different from our liberty-loving land, and I don't think this Latin priesthood is entitled to the same amount of respect.

They are a strange lot of men, with their shaven heads, and the report is general that they are of the earth earthy. The Mexican public revere them and the Americans declare they are "good fellows," whatever that may mean.

"The priests are all right," said a mining man to me a few years ago, "but you get to know them. You see, my mine is of a character that requires constant attention and they have so many feasts down there—San Marcos, which lasts for twelve days, and many other things, when everybody quits work and attends to the business of saving their souls—that it upsets me awfully. The water would get ahead of me, and I would have all sorts of trouble. The Mexicans simply wouldn't work on feast and fast days. So I went to the priest, transacted a little business with him, put him on the payroll, and I have had no more trouble. All he has to do is to tell the men to go to work and they'll work. They never disobey the church. Up in our country, you know, the priest or the minister wouldn't have that power, but here it is his, and he exerts it for the benefit of everybody, as you can see in this instance. Yes, I'll stand for the Mexican priest every time. He is different from any other kinds of folks."

It is my impression, however, that the American priest traveling through Mexico with his fine, exalted ideas of things religious, his veneration for the highest type of morality, would be scandalized and shocked by the doings of his brother of the cloth in our sister republic.

FANCY FABRICS FAVORED FOR SUMMER LINGERIE

Beautiful Models Fashioned in Exquisitely Fragile Materials Are Furnished For The Enthusiastic Summer Girl.

Even more amazing than the "Juvenescence" of Worth's fragile frocks or the airy bouffancy of Arnold's mid-summer skirts, are the glories of luxurious "underlings," negligees, tea-gowns, and lounge robes fashioned for the modern daughter of Eve. Only second to the quaint frilly frocks of June, are these vanities of magic beauty being prepared for the summer girl's vacation wardrobe.

New styles, new fabrics and new trims are constantly arriving to augment the lovely things already here, and despite the fact that good material and workmanship have advanced somewhat in price, women of fine tastes are willing to meet conditions because of the absolute satisfaction to be had from the possession of beautiful underlings.

FOOTWEAR FASHIONS ARE OF UTMOST IMPORTANCE

Faithlessly Gowned Women of the Moment Take Infinite Pains in the Correct Choice of Their Shoes

Boots have come to be chosen among the "tremendous trifles" of the feminine wardrobe—not tremendous in size, of course, but in importance. So many and so varied are the styles from which to select and so essential in the choice of the correct one for each costume that a great deal of care must be given to the subject.

ENJOYING LIFE in WESTERN CANADA

(1) Making Hay. (2) C. P. R. Station at Red Deer. (3) On Sylvan Lake. (4) Honeymoon Bay, near Red Deer.

WESTERN Canadians certainly know how to enjoy life. Red Deer is situated about midway between Calgary and Edmonton. It is beautifully located and is one of those thriving and prosperous western cities surrounded by many square miles of some of the finest wheat-growing land in Canada.

through the extremely smart woman chooses the tobacco brown pump in its stead, and gray kid and buckskin pumps which conform to the present mode for gray in all articles of dress are in high favor.

CAPABLE WOMEN AND WHAT THEY ARE DOING

Missouri has 30 women dentists. Chester, England, has women lamp-lighters. New York has a "scrubwoman evangelist."
